"Pul-ay Ball!"
Soon those words will be echoing in the Munday athletic field.

Baseball season is here, and with it comes prospects for some good games among the promising Babe Ruths, Ty Cobbs, etc.

Kirby Fitzgerald, ardent baseball fan who loves to work with youngsters, announced the other day that the American Legion has put him head of the Legion-sponsored baseball activities again this year.

Prospects are for at least four local teams, Kirby said, and that ought to promise lots of summer activities for the players and fans alike.

Three will be a team of 7-year-olds, if plans work out, and other teams will range on up to the boys who play football.

But Kirby wants, and needs, some assistance and backing.

He's asked all those interested and all those who want to play baseball this summer to meet him at the American Legion hall at 8 p. m. Thursday. That's today!

Soon after this meeting, activities are expected to get under way.

There'll be other activities in Munday this summer, too.

What with the swimming pool opening next Tuesday, you're going to see lots of cars, lots of boys and girls, and quite a few grownups heading for the southwest part of town to go swimming in one of the nicest little pools in this area.

Everything is ready to go, and Coach Stewart, who will be manager, lifeguard, swimming instructor, and what-not at the pool, is expecting a large crowd on opening day.

In fact, the whole town will probably be out there.

Members of the City Council have requested that all places of business in Munday close for one hour—from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m.—to join in the celebration.

Found a place—and in Texas too!—over the week end where they didn't want any more rain right now.

Up Plainview way, farmers had just done a batch of irrigating to have moisture to plant cotton. Then the rains came and the first of last week amounting to better than five inches.

Now they have too much moisture, but they got more Sunday and quite a bit more since then, from newspaper reports.

Here's a movement that we sanction most heartily and are devoting space to it:

First Load Of '55 Wheat Comes In On Tuesday

Munday received her first load of 1955 wheat last Tuesday, according to M. H. Reeves, who operates the Farmers Elevator.

The wheat was brought in to the elevator by Bert Weaver, who farms two miles north of town. The load contained 105 bushels of wheat and was graded No. 2, 58 test, with 14 per cent moisture content. It was purchased by the Farmers Elevator at $2 per bushel.

This was the early triumph variety, and Weaver said the field was yielding about eight bushels per acre.

"This load of wheat was possibly the earliest we have received in our 36 years of operation," Mr. Reeves said, "but it was only one day ahead of some other years."

That Planting Rain Came on Wednesday

It made the frogs holler and the people smile!

Just as farmers in the Munday area had settled down to worrying about not having enough moisture to plant their crops and insure a stand, the rain clouds began to settle down to business. And those who feared the weather would clear before Munday received any moisture had their fears done away with. It was a typical spring rain, with the dark clouds forming in the west and the rain beginning around 3:30 p. m. For nearly two hours the steady downfall continued, to be followed later by another shower. Water stood curb-to-curb in front of the offices of Billingsley and Bullington and on other low streets where drainage was slow. And some of it went through the town's drainage ditch. Farmers are now assured of planting moisture, and planting will be the "theme of the day" as soon as the ground dries. Oh, yeah! The precipitation amounted to 1.25 inches, according to the official records of H. P. Hill, local U. S. weather observer.

Missionary To Speak Here On Sunday, Monday

TOWARD WIDER FARM MARKETS

An editorial in the May issue of Better Farming observes: "The greatest need of farming is for more markets . . . Where are the wider markets to be found? Farmers, who have seen the tremendous gains in production caused by research, ask why a comparable emphasis has not been put on research to develop new uses and markets for farm products. This kind of research hasn't got much attention and, judging by U. S. Department of Agriculture appropriations, it isn't going to soon."

Then the magazine describes a different approach, which has been proposed by the head of one of the leading private research institutions. It lies in providing industry with the necessary incentives—such as tax concessions, rapid amortization of capital investment, and depletion allowances—to undertake the job of developing new uses and wider markets for farm products, particularly those in surplus.

There certainly seems to be much merit in this idea. Beyond doubt, research could greatly broaden the farm market as a whole, and make a big contribution to the solution of the ever-growing, ever-more-costly surplus problem. To quote Better Farming once more, "The packing industry, with 140 different by-products from the livestock it buys, has demonstrated what can be done by research." It is almost literally true that, in the packing process, nothing is wasted. Practically everything goes for some useful purpose, and the by-products range from fertilizers to medicines. And the consumer is also a major beneficiary here—for the revenue the by-products bring the packers makes it possible to substantially reduce the cost of the meat itself.

CAMEL IN THE TENT

For 17 years retail and certain service businesses have been exempt from the federal minimum wage law. Now it is proposed that the law be extended to those businesses which operate units in more than one state.

If that is approved, certain things will inevitably happen. First, it will be only a matter of time until the law is extended to more and more of the businesses, including even the smaller ones—once the camel gets his nose in the tent, his whole body will eventually follow. Secondly, unskilled, marginal workers will find fewer and fewer jobs open to them—for retailers and others, operating in intensely competitive fields, will be forced to pare their payrolls to the utmost. More important still—government will have taken another long step in controlling our lives.

ABUNDANCE OUR MIDDLE NAME

People in other lands wonder why the United States produce in such volume, thus making it an enviable place in which to live. The first thought is that the U. S. is naturally wealthy and blessed with abundant resources. But automobiles do not just grow from iron ore anymore than do crops from raw land.

Individual initiative and the chance to earn a profit explain why the people of the United States produce in the volume they do. An example is found in the financial report of a coal company for last year. While demand for coal was low, this company completed a modernization program during the first half of the year, plus other expense reduction measures. Its cost of production was reduced. In the fourth quarter earnings exceeded the total net profit of the first three quarters. The urge to earn a profit inspired this company to seek to meet its problems with an increase in productive capacity through greater efficiency and service to customers.

Not all coal companies have been able to do this well. But it illustrates what the industry is doing to meet competition and supply our needs. Nothing takes coal's place, and the public has a great stake in its profitable operation and expansion.

FIRST RESPONSIBILITY

Writing in Harper's magazine, Peter F. Drucker makes this point: "I think that we can agree that the first responsibility of management is always to the business enterprise and that, since it is the primary job of any business enterprise to make a profit, management must see to it that it does . . . If an enterprise fails, it is not just the stockholders who take a loss; we all lose. Jobs are gone and wealth is wasted. It is the community bears the brunt, and we are all part of the community."

Everyone's livelihood depends upon profit. It makes the wheels go round.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

JEFFERSONTOWN, K.Y., JEFFERSONIAN: "It is well enough to say that something has to be done. But it is well, too, to remember that something has to be paid for . . . We have been talking progress and growth, big figures and vast dimensions. All right, now we are in the midst of it. The dance is on. And the fiddler is waiting, as always, for his check—to be signed by John Q. Public. Is the weary old citizens ready with the dough?"

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

Think on these things:

If one can be saved without faith, why are we told that it is impossible to please God without it? (Heb. 11:6.)

If God promised to give faith when we ask for it, why are we told that faith comes by hearing the word of God? (Rom. 10:17.)

If "faith only is a most wholesome doctrine and very full of comfort," why did James say that we are NOT justified by faith only? (Jas. 2:24.)

If God has promised to save men regardless of the kind of faith they have, why did Paul make it so plain that there is ONE faith? (Eph. 4:5.)

If one becomes a Christian the very moment he believes, as many teach, why was not King Agrippa a Christian? (Acts 26:27-28.)

If one can be saved without wholehearted obedience to the Lord, why did Paul say, "Obey from the heart?" (Rom. 6:17.)

If the Lord will save us without baptism why did he command us to be baptized? (Mk. 16:15-16.)

If he Lord has promised us salvation without baptism, as many teach, why did Peter say, "Baptism doth also now save us"? (1 Peter 3:21.)

If scriptural baptism is not a burial, why did Paul say it was? (Col. 2:12.)

If we receive remission of sins without baptism why did Peter say that baptism was for the remission of sins? (Acts 2:38.)

If one can get into Christ without baptism, why did Paul say that we are baptized into Christ? (Gal. 3:27.)

If baptism of infants is scriptural, why did Christ command us to baptize individuals who have heard and believed the gospel? (Mk. 16: 15-16.)

If God has promised salvation outside the church, why did Christ die for the church? (Acts 20:28.)

If the church has nothing to do with our salvation as many teach, why does the Lord add us to the church? (Acts 2:47.)

Knox Prairie Philosopher Invites Touring Russians To Inspect His Farm, Mainly Just To Confuse Them

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has an interesting idea this week, but he won't get anywhere with it. He never does.

Dear editor:
 As I understand it, in the interest of international harmony, a group of Russian editors and students are coming over to the United States to study us farmers this spring or summer, and I have been giving the matter some serious thought.

The reasons the Russians want to study us is that in Russia, try as hard as they will or as hard as the government can make them, the farmers haven't been able to grow enough food, whereas in this country we have succeeded in growing more than we know what to do with.

Now I don't know what the intentions of the United States are in this matter. I suppose they are entirely above-board, just a friendly gesture to let the Russians see how a free country farms, but if any body is interested in confusing them, I know how it can be done.

Just let em visit my Johnson grass farm out here.

If they can look at my farm operations thoroughly and then figure out how America has produced more food than it knows what to do with, they've got bigger electronic brains than we have.

And if we want to use a few cold war tactics in this matter, give em to understand my farm is a typical one, and after they spend a day taking notes on my methods and go back home and spread the word, it'll set Russian agriculture back two generations.

However, I don't look for anything to come of this, as I don't believe the Russians would ever understand my farm methods. In the first place, they may not even have bailing wire in Russia, and without bailing wire the foundations would fall out from under my system. You take all the bailing wire off my farm and two-thirds of the fences would fall down, all the gates would swing open, the tall gate would fall off my trailer, my tractor would scatter parts from the backdoor to the north end of the farm, and I'm not even sure my pants would stay up.

If though, the visitors insist on coming by my place, I'll be glad to show em around, and will give each one a small handful of Johnson grass seed. If we can get it back to Russia, and dropped in half a dozen places, in five years we'll have em begging for mercy.

Yours faithfully
 J. A.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

This week the Agriculture Committee has been considering the bill which would take in account the extreme drought conditions that have existed throughout the Southwest in making the cotton and wheat acreage allotments. Under the terms of the proposal, areas which have been in the drought area for two years would be given some additional acreage to be allocated to the farmers for cotton and wheat. There were two or three different approaches to this problem being considered by the Committee. The Agriculture Committee did not see fit to report a bill after the hearings; however, I am hopeful that during this session of Congress some legislation can be enacted that will recognize the extreme weather conditions that have existed for the last four or five years and will provide some means whereby the farmers in the drought area can have some additional acres.

The Treasury Department has said there are some seventy to seventy-five mistakes in the Tax Bill that was passed by Congress last year which will have to be corrected during this session of Congress. We were told that most of these were of a technical nature; however, there seems to be a growing sentiment here, in view of these errors that have been pointed out, that general hearings be held sometime this year on the complete tax law. These hearings would be beneficial in that it would provide a place for the inequities of the present law to be brought out in the open and discussed so that they could be corrected more quickly than if they were taken up individually.

Each year at this time, literally thousands of high school students come to Washington. Most of the students that do come are those from the Northeastern part of the country. For the last few days and continuing up through June, every day you see anywhere from fifty to one hundred school buses parked in front of the Capitol. These trips are, I think, generally very beneficial to the students. The only school out of our District that has made a practice of coming to Washington is the Bowie High School, and I was pleased to learn that they will be here on Monday, May 30th. I know that the Texas Delegation in Congress will be glad to see them.

Light Hearted

The beautiful things of nature make every one light hearted in May. In that beauty, God reminds us, "Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things. He calleth them all by names by the greatness of His might." It is this wonderful God who can give you strength and joy all year round.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Most people are partial to months of late summer and fall. But not State Health Department birth record keepers.

To the staff of the department's Bureau of Vital Statistics, August through October is the roughest time of the year.

The reason: parents who know their children must have birth certificates before they can enter school for the first time but who put off making requests for certified copies until the last minute.

Last year bureau personnel processed more than 40,000 requests during those three months. For a limited staff, that means hours of night and weekend work without overtime pay.

Bureau personnel shudder when they think of the estimated 227,000 kids who will be eligible to enter the first grade in September.

Many of them have copies of birth records already and will create no problem. Others live in areas where local boards do not require proof of age before admitting the child to the hallowed halls of learning.

But the majority don't have certified proof of age, despite the fact that they live in areas where school officials insist on such proof. It's this category that gives bureau statisticians and clerks sleepless nights.

Says Bureau Director W. D. Carroll: "We're ready to give immediate service to applications which come in before the fall rush."

Carroll, a long-time veteran of vital statistics work, directs the affairs of the bureau where more than ten million birth and death records—some dating back to early 1903—are on file.

Several hundred parents have already taken advantage of the spring lull in bureau activities by requesting and receiving certified copies of birth records for their children, Carroll says.

The first one came in on March 24 from Mr. and Mrs. Alvin M. King of Port Lavaca. Their son is due to enter the first grade in September. They wanted to make sure they could prove he is six.

"All we need is the child's name and date and place of birth, and the mother's maiden name and the name of the father," Carroll said. That information, together with the statutory fee of fifty cents, will buy anyone a copy of their birth certificate—provided the bureau has the certificate on file.

There's just one more thing: if you don't want to write to Austin, check with your local registrar. Chances are he can supply the record for you.

In either case, do it soon. That fall bind can get mighty tight.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

Texas 4-H Club Boys And Girls Have Part In Texas Friendship To Korea

COLLEGE STATION—Texas 4-H club members, cooperating with the Christian Rural Overseas Program, American-Korean Foundation, Church World Service and Heifer Project, Inc., are out to prove to the world the true meaning of the spiritual part of their 4-H pledge.

The day of proof will come June 20 when the Texas Friendship to Korea sails from the port of Houston loaded with livestock, poultry, rabbits, garden flowers and forage seeds, garden tools, bees and beekeepers supplies, poultry and dairy equipment, a team of mules with harness, pick-up trucks, a combine and at least 200 pedal type sewing machines. Other items which can be used in youth work in Korea are also included. Total value of the cargo may exceed $2,000,000. The contributions made by 4-H members, their friends and supporters in Texas will go to 4-H members in Korea. The enrollment in Korean 4-H clubs now exceeds 100,000 and their great need for demonstration or project materials was called to the attention of Texas members by Col. C. A. Anderson who is known as the "Father of 4-H in Korea." He spent several weeks in Texas and has returned to Korea to make plans for the distribution of the 4-H part of the cargo.

The program is being handled through the CROP office in Fort Worth under the direction of Walter Parr. He has received invaluable assistance from Harris County Agent Dan Clinton, L. D. Cain and from church and lay leaders as well as district and county Extension agents and 4-H leaders. Local pastors and extension agents can supply information on the program.

"Despite the continuing drought," Parr says, "the response to appeals for aiding the thousands of homeless and orphaned children in Korea has been excellent. It is a demonstration of the feeling Texans have toward helping those who have suffered from causes beyond their control. Texas 4-H members have put their shoulders to the wheel and have not permitted it to stop moving. The whole effort hasn't been matched by any other state and its value to war-ravaged Korea is unestimable."

Pigeonholes for Hats

A HANDY pigeonhole file for men's and boys' hats and caps, women's small hats, gloves and purses can be placed on the closet shelf. This collection of separate compartments is simply constructed like the dividers in an egg-crate. Use sheets of long-wearing Masonite one-eighth inch Presdwood that's smooth on both sides. It may be obtained at any lumber yard. Cut slots with a power saw the thickness of the boards so they will fit together at right angles. A good width for each compartment is 13 inches. The height may be varied, depending on the closet. This pigeonhole storage rack should be made to fit the available space quite snugly, so that it will be steady. Slots for the "legs" may be cut into the wood shelf as an additional bracer.

President Accepts USO Honorary Chairmanship

President Eisenhower receives a scroll in appreciation for his acceptance of USO's honorary chairmanship from Harvey S. Firestone, Jr. (far right) of Akron, Ohio, USO's Board Chairman, and Emil Schram (second from right) of Peru, Indiana, USO President. At the meeting in the White House, Admiral J. L. Hall, Jr. Alexandria, Va., was announced as USO National Campaign Chairman. The USO this year will seek $13,934,444 for operational expenses in 1956 through community chests and united funds and an independent campaign in New York City. Adm. Hall commanded the Amphibious Forces at Omaha Beach, Sicily, North Africa and Okinawa in World War II. USO has 208 operations in this country and 24 overseas located in Alaska, Guam, Okinawa, Philippines, Japan, France, Greece, Turkey, North Africa, Italy, Korea, and the Canal Zone.

She's high and dry but ready for sunny weather. Cotton canvas, traditionally used for awnings at windows and doorways of American homes, fails old Sol in more ways than one. When this smiling dry land sailor and her boat take to the water this summer, it will be smooth sailing under sunny skies. Her gay awning striped canvas jacket by Foster-Hochberg and the canvas awning atop the boat will protect her from solar rays despite soaring temperatures.

have accumulated will be divided if you do not make a will prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and there are no children, the surviving spouse receives all of the property.

If, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of deceased children, they would divide one-half of the property, while the surviving spouse would receive the other one-half.

Of course, grandchildren do not share in the estate unless their parent who would inherit is deceased. And when descendants of previously deceased children do inherit, they receive only the portion that the child would have received, regardless of the number of such descendants.

An odd note, perhaps, is that the surviving spouse already owns one-half of the community estate prior to your death, and the law adds nothing to this share where there are children surviving.

When there are only children and their descendants surviving, they divide the entire community estate between them.

A free pamphlet containing useful information on wills and related matters has been prepared by Texas lawyers. To obtain a copy, merely print your name and address on a postcard and mail to State Bar of Texas, Colorado at Fifteenth, Austin 1, Texas.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts many change the application of the law.)

Local Businessman Presents Success Booklets To High School Graduates

Joe Bailey King of King's Cleaners has presented the 26 seniors of Munday High School with a series of success stories in what made famous people successful.

What Makes People Successful is the result of reviewing hundreds of biographies of successful men and women of the past in many lines of business throughout the world. Its purpose is to help all solve our daily problems encountered in getting along with people. Mr. King has employed the National Research Bureau staff to review over 500 biographies of successful men and women and condense into brief form, the outstanding qualities that made them successful. This covers every human element problem known to men. Few things contribute more to anyone's success in life than an ability to get along with people. Here is a list of sources and traits: For instance: George Washington—Courage. An ordinary man. Singleness of purpose. A natural born leader.

Diamond Jim Brady—Showmanship. Salesmanship.

Henry Ward Beecher—Effective speech. Voice.

Oliver Wendell Holmes—Knowledge. Genius. Keeness.

Woodrow Wilson—Student.

The biographies reviewed in this series covers the strong qualities of men such as Shakespeare; Longfellow; Lincoln; Caruso; Henry Ford; Bruce Barton; Thomas Jefferson; Elbert Hubbard; Ulysses S. Grant; J. P. Morgan, Jr.; Dwight W. Morrow; Mary Pickford; Admiral Byrd, and hundreds of others.

What Makes People Successful booklets show why one person is more successful than another—why people differ.

As an illustration: Edward Jenner's great interest in people caused him to conquer smallpox. "Stonewall" Jackson, of Civil War fame, concentrated on one thing at a time until it was finished. Through persistence and hanging on, he won battle after battle.

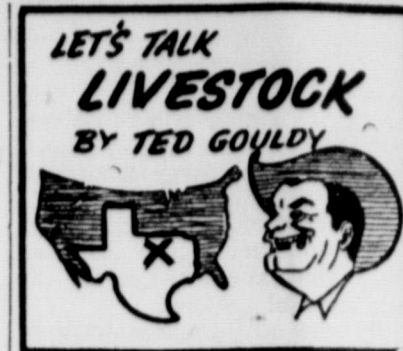

James J. Corbett, with the same qualities, tapped his way to the world's heavyweight championship. Everyone should read James J. Corbett's autobiography, "The Roar of the Crowd."

The name of Alexander Graham Bell will live forever in the echoes of these familiar words, "Number, please!" His outstanding qualities were patience, optimism and enthusiasm.

David Sarnoff rose from a $5-a-week messenger boy to the chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America.

This series of booklets will consist of:

1. Getting along with People.
2. Understanding Human Nature.
3. Handling People—How Men Differ.
4. Cooperating With Others and Getting Cooperation From Others.
5. Studying People.
6. Analyzing Yourself.
7. Winning Your Way Against Opposition.
8. Concentration on Your Job.
9. Liking People and Taking an Interest in Them.
10. The Traits of Leadership—

Cattle Stronger In Opening Session

FORT WORTH—Rains and threats of rains strengthened the hands of cattle producers in the Southwest and prices were strong to 50c higher on most kinds at Fort Worth Monday.

Cows, slaughter calves and stocker and feeder cattle and calves were in the forefront of the advances. Contrary to the usual Monday trade, the movement was fairly active as order buyers, shippers and independent packer buyers showed their strength early in the day and had cattle crossing the scales shortly after the starting siren wailed.

Fed beef cattle were in small supply and cleared at firm prices. Bulls also held well up to last week's strong close. Some fed cattle topped at $23 to $23.50, those at the higher figure from McClung Land and Cattle Co., Johnson County, averaged under 1,000 pounds. A load of choice fed steers from Clint, Texas, averaged 1,107 and topped at $23 and were sent to Fort Worth by Paul C. Davidson. Grassy steers, yearlings and heifers bulked at $13 to $18, some rannahs below that range.

Fat cows sold from $11 to $13.50, some very fat old registered cows at $13 to $13.50, and some of their younger mates in choice butcher flesh to $14.50. Canners and cutters bulked at $6.50 to $11. Bulls mostly $10 to $14, some above or below that.

Good and choice slaughter calves cashed at $16 to $21, while plain and medium butcher sorts sold from $12 to $16 and culls drew $9 to $11.

Good and choice stocker steer calves cashed at $18 to $22, the higher figure for load of choice steers calves from J. R. Condron of Clay County. These steer calves at $22 and their heifer mates cashed at $19, and a three dollar spread between steers and stocker heifer calves was generally the rule. Stocker yearlings drew $21 down, and older replacement steers sold from $20 down. Some stocker cows went back to the country at $7 to $12.

Mexican Cattle Not Likely To Hurt Much!

Reports received in Fort Worth last week indicate that the shortage of cattle in Mexico may be more acute than suspected earlier. You recall the story we carried about the need for 100,000 heifers and cows in the Mexican State of Sonora?

Here's the latest as we get it here. Mexican packing houses in the border states of Sonora, Chihuahua and Coahuila face closure soon unless something can be done to increase their supply of cattle.

The supply of these native Mexican packing houses has become critically short since the border was opened and exports to the United States were resumed last January. You can be looking for some action from Mexican authorities as soon as the beef shortage hits their people and some of those "relaxed" export quotas are likely to have some of the slack jerked out of them!

Spring Lambs Top $22; Best In Month!

Spring lambs opened 50 cents or more higher at Fort Worth Monday, with top lambs at $21 to $22, the latter the highest price since April 21, and a price of $22 has not been beaten since April 12!

Shorn old crop lambs were slow starting, but topped at $15 to $16, full steady on Monday. Older sheep ruled steady. Feeder buyers still have a hard time beating packer prices on just about everything as feeders in other parts of the country are still rather pessimistic unless they see a big "spread" between prices on feeder and fat lambs.

Improved pasture conditions in the Southwest could help sheep prices more than anything else, especially in view of the number of yearling ewes coming to market now.

Hog Top Aa $17.75 At Fort Worth Monday

Top butcher hogs scored $17.50 to $17.75 Monday and sows staged a good rally. The first sows have shown strength in some weeks. Sows drew $10 to $14.

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harpham and Claire were Mrs. C. M. Joines, Miss Madalyn Joines of Brownwood, Mr. Eugene Campbell and Mr. W. D. Raney of San Antonio.

Whatever happened to welter-weight wrestlers, anyway? There are only heavyweights these days.

And the new generation of fans who have seen only the giants in action have missed something. The 145-pounders could move with far greater speed.

One of the best was Jack Gorman, who lived, I believe, in San Angelo. King of the welters was Matty Matsuda, a Jap, of course, who glided with such smoothness that he made every action a picture of grace. He was physical perfection—a stat-

HERE'S PROTECTION FOR YOUR LAWN

Your lawn represents a big investment in time, labor, and seed. It is worth every bit of its cost for the enjoyment it brings to the whole family and for the real value it adds to your home. From all of which you may gather that I have been having something of a wrestling follow-er—and, for that matter, still am.

I recall especially vividly a match I attended a good many years ago in an open-air arena in Fort Worth as one of the thousand or so there to see the gladiators in action. The main match pitted a villain against a noble athlete. The referee could not see any of the villain's dirty work but was always quick to stop the hero if it looked as though he were going to retaliate. The villain won.

There was an irritated fan who, as he was passing the ring on his way out, yelled, "The referee is a rascal; we ought to get the referee." This idle remark, to the great astonishment of the one who had uttered it, brought instant response. From all around there rang out shouts, "That's it! Let's get the so-and-so!"

And it took five policemen with clubs to clear the way for

OUR FARMING INDUSTRY NEEDS A GOOD PRESS AGENT

The term "publicity man" had a bad ring to the ears of the average farmer. Nevertheless, no other segment of our economy has had such adverse publicity in the past two years as our farm people.

Most farmers would be repelled by the idea that an "outsider" should champion his cause with the people of the nation. A farmer prides himself on being a rugged individualist—the man supporting the basic structure of our national economy. He prefers to make his own way, grow his crops, care for his land and make a little money, without outside interference.

But in these days of complex interdependence of one industry on another, rugged individualism is slowly becoming a thing of the past. The farmer needs someone to tell his story to the city people. He needs someone to explain that high prices today don't necessarily start on the farm. They are largely the result of increased cost in transportation, processing and marketing of farm goods.

Even some of our national farm leaders have contributed to the official to reach the safety of the dressing room. The amazed man who never dreamed that he would set off a riot had, meanwhile, tucked his head in his collar and had silently disappeared in the darkness.

For his identity, see the name appearing as the author of this "column."

the distorted idea that high farm prices are the main factor in the present high cost of living. What is the true story?

During the past four years, the price the farmer has received for his produce has decreased 24 percent. Yet the cost of foodstuffs has not decreased in a like amount. A loaf of bread still costs the same although wheat prices have dropped drastically. This fact is true of most other commodities which originated on the land.

City people have been sold the idea that the farmer is responsible. They have been told that high support prices mean burdensome demands on their salaries for needed foodstuffs. Yet how much of this 24 percent drop in farm prices was passed on to them in food dollar savings? About 1/2 of one percent.

The difference came out of the farmers pocket. He has had to cut back by one-fourth the amount of goods and services he needs to maintain his living standard. His buying power has suffered a similar blow.

This is the story that needs to be told. The farmer isn't a gouger of the salaried dollar. He is the victim of bad publicity. The result has been the end of a guaranteed price program for his goods by the federal government which once served as a kind of "minimum wage law" for the farm population.

Eggs having off-color yolks usually can be traced to hens fed cottonseed products. Such eggs are appearing in Texas retail markets and are objectionable to consumers. Most cases of such yolks are traced to hens having access to cattle or hog feeding operations where a cottonseed product is being fed or hens may be eating cottonseed or cottonseed hulls used as nesting litter.
