

Kracker Krumb's

Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

We couldn't help but reminisce a little while attending services at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

k-k

Our association with the layman, R. F. Curry, who "preached" at the service, and his friend who accompanied him here, J. B. Catleberry, dates back some 35 years or more. Mr. Curry, a schoolman and beloved church layman, was serving a postmaster when we left Wellington. We had heard him many times in Sunday school classes and in the church pulpit, and we told him after Sunday's talk we believe he can preach just as well today as 35 years ago.

k-k

If memory serves us right, the first automobile we had an interest in was purchased from J. B. Catleberry and his partner, M. M. Kern. It was a Model T, of course. We did some "acting" with J. B., too. We two helped entertain a big crowd in a Negro Minstrel one time, and J. B. and I had lots of fun with each other for many weeks afterward. Any time you meet up with R. F. Curry and J. B. Catleberry, you have been in contact with two good men.

k-k

C. L. Mayes recently loaned us the picture you see on the front page of the founders of Munday. It is supposed to be the only one now in existence, and Mr. Mayes acquired it recently from a relative. Because of its historical value, we asked the loan of it to send to the engravers.

k-k

We knew Mr. Mayes valued the picture very highly, and we were kind on needles and pins until its return. It doesn't happen very often, but one time, at least, we had the misfortune of getting a picture and engraving completely lost in the process.

k-k

It would have been wonderful if this picture had shown up about a year ago, so we could have run it in connection with our Golden Jubilee celebration. Mr. Mayes, quite a "dapper youngster" in the picture, is the only surviving member of the group.

k-k

We'd noticed brown spots and dying spots in wheat recently and thought it was for lack of moisture. These half-inch showers are scarcely enough for rank wheat, but that's not all that's bothering. Wheat farmers are talking it, and the county agent says, too, that brown wheat mites are after the wheat. It seems, though, the little mite is not so mighty when wheat has plenty of moisture.

k-k

The threatened slashing of postal service may not come to pass, but higherups have already ordered a slashing in help at the local post office, in the number of hours put in by substitute clerks. Look like they're getting ready to operate on less money and less help. The P. O. will open at 8:30 a. m. and be closed all day Saturdays.

k-k

You have a date with Uncle Sam next Monday, unless you have already "dated" him during the past few weeks. He likes for his customers to keep their dates promptly—ahead of time if possible, but never late. If you owe him money, he likes your name signed to a nice, fat check; if he owes you a refund, he'll pay if you'd rather have it that way instead of the money being applied on the next date—and he knows you'll have another with him if you live.

Water Authority for the construction of the Miller Creek Reservoir, located about 16 miles southeast of Munday, for the purpose of furnishing municipal water for the towns of this area.

The move was started several months ago. Proposal to develop the reservoir was originally launched by Haskell, Seymour, Goree and Munday, but was later broadened to include Knox City, Rochester and Rule.

The engineering firm of Freese and Nichols of Fort Worth stated after a preliminary survey that the proposed Miller Creek lake would furnish ample water for the seven towns, even if the population should double in the next 10 years. In their opinion, all the towns involved "will have to go to surface water before too long."

Passage of this legislation means that the towns involved, after the governor's approval, may determine by majority vote whether or not they will stay in the authority. In the event any town votes not to become a part of the authority it will be automatically dropped from the program, according to information received.

OUT OF THE IVORY TOWER

Thousands of American physicians are disproving the misconception that medicine is "an ivory tower papered with greenbacks." They are doing it by joining other groups in community service projects.

The story is told in an editorial and an article in the March 15 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association. More and more doctors are finding the time to serve on chambers of commerce, school boards and better governments committees. All such activities are linked in one way or another to the great cause of better health for the community. But more than that, as the editorial says, they offer a means of putting the doctor's practice "in the proper perspective of many doing together what cannot be done alone or separately."

The range of activities in which doctors in specific communities are participating is a wide one indeed. They include such obvious health measures as blood banks and disease control programs. From there, they far afield—to Little League Baseball teams, high school science fairs, civil defense, slum clearance, fire prevention and so on down a long and variegated list.

As a past president of the AMA has said, "The ready and constant willingness of the medical profession to take part in civic activities will be helpful to the community in solving health problems and will make the community ready to turn to the profession for advice rather than look to other, less qualified groups."

PEOPLE WANT TO BE PEOPLE

Joseph Alsop warns that Soviet military-industrial power is growing, and that we must not lag behind in the race.

At the same time, he finds grounds for long-range hope. Here, in his words, is why: "The Soviet failure, which has only been really proven in the last year, is the failure to produce the famous 'new Soviet man' so long envisaged by the Kremlin's masters. The moral laws have not been repealed in the Soviet Union, even although they were temporarily suspended by sheer terror. Men and women have not lost their desire to be free. . . . People still want to be people, instead of a higher form of ant."

In this way lay the seeds which will bring ultimate destruction to the communist tyranny. Meanwhile, we must watch and wait—and carry a big stick.

SUMMER IS TOO LATE

The chances are that somewhere in your vicinity next summer an ambulance may go clanging down the street and the next day you will learn that a neighbor has been stricken with paralytic polio.

Then you will remember that in the spring you had read about a polio vaccination drive. Of course, you had meant to get your family and yourself inoculated. But somehow you had put it off. It wasn't convenient just then; you'd do it later; it slipped your mind.

So, at the height of the summer polio season, you find yourself unprotected. A cold shiver comes over you as you recall pictures of young limbs in metal braces, young faces protruding from iron lungs.

Anxiously you telephone your doctor. Yes, he says, the Salk vaccine is effective against paralytic polio. "But," he adds, it takes seven to 10 days for the first shot to take effect, then a wait of two to six weeks for the second shot that will provide reasonable protection for this polio season.

You load your family in your car and you get your first injections. But days pass while you wait—and fear gnaws at your heart. Suppose the disease strikes before the vaccine builds up its defenses? How could you ever forgive yourself?

If you act now, you need suffer no such fear and guilt. This is one time when delay may literally be fatal.

TWO FACTS

Prospective electric power needs in this country are so vast that atomic energy, at best, will supplement, not replace, conventional fuels.

That was one of the forecasts made by the Panel on the Impact of the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy, in its report to the 84th Congress. By 1980, it said, our total electrical output may rise three to five times. It added: "Using forecasts favorable to a high rate of atomic-power growth, atomic reactors would, in 1980, still be generating less than a fourth of our power. Using forecasts pessimistic to the use of fossil fuels, steam powerplants then will still be burning more than 60 percent more coal than they do today."

This is a tribute to a fact—that coal is an efficient, economical and dependable source of energy. It also highlights another fact. The coal industry must expand, at heavy cost, to be prepared for soaring future demand. It can only do that if it gets a price for its product sufficient to pay the operating costs and return some profit.

R. J. Duncan Family Moves To Munday

NEW MUNDAY RESIDENTS: The R. J. Duncan family, new Munday residents, line up for the camera: Left to right, Jimmy Mrs. Duncan, Shirley, R. J. Duncan, and Beckie. Mr. Duncan comes to Munday as route salesman for Mrs. Baird's.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Duncan and their three children—Shirley 14, Jimmy 11, and Beckie 9—are new residents of Munday.

Mr. Duncan, or "Blacky" as everyone calls him, comes to Munday as route salesman for Mrs. Baird's. He has an interesting ambition. "I want to meet everybody in Munday," he explains, "and my goal is to know each person by his first name." That's a sizeable task, but Blacky is already working at it. So if you meet him on the street, you might just test him and see how well he's doing on this special name remembering project.

Blacky is the son of Jess Duncan of Anson. During the war he served as Staff Sergeant in the China-Burma-India Theatre. Before joining Mrs. Baird's in 1951, he was employed by the City of Rochester.

Blacky's wife Lydia is the daughter of Mrs. Alma Oates of Rochester. Her favorite hobbies are church work and sewing while Blacky's spare time during baseball season has been spent with son Jimmy in Little League Baseball activity.

I once met William Jennings Bryan. It was on a Sunday afternoon, in 1920 as I recall, the occasion being a lecture in the Goodwyn Institute in Memphis, Tenn. Many members of the audience went up to the platform to shake hands with him afterward. When I introduced myself as a reporter for the Commercial Appeal, he said, "Your paper was not for me in 1896." I replied, "I wasn't born in 1896"—which was not, strictly, true; but I was born after the election.

My father had supported the Peerless Leader in that campaign; I can remember a souvenir he had kept: a Bryan-and-Sewall badge. Also he had a paperback book of Bryan's speeches which I used to read.

When I was in high school, I copied Bryan's "Cross of Gold" speech six times in longhand and, as it was a half-hour speech, that was quite a bit of writing. I have always considered that the two greatest speeches ever delivered—considering the consummate skill with which the orators played upon a variety of emotions—were Marc Antony's speech over the body of Julius Caesar and Bryan's "Cross of Gold" speech.

Bryan's Memphis lecture drew a capacity crowd. I was one of the last arrivals and stood at the

News From The U. S. Congress

Senator William Blakley will be leaving Washington within the next few days. Even though his tenure in the Senate has been short, I know of no one that is as well liked and is a genuinely respected as Senator Blakley is. He has rendered a really great service to our State and the country during the time that he has been in the Senate. The Senator's colleagues in the Senate paid him a great tribute this week when a number of the Senators called attention to his valued service in that Body by making speeches.

It was somewhat shocking to note in the recent report of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures that the regular civilian pay roll of the Government in January of this year came within one percent of hitting a Billion Dollars. This is the highest civilian pay roll of all times. These figures were certified by the Executive Agencies of the Government to the Joint Committee and showed that the pay roll of civilian employees totaled $989,549,000.

Roll was called fourteen times one day this week in the House. This was the record so far as I am concerned for roll calls in any one day. All of these votes were on an appropriation bill, and each vote occurred on an amendment that would have reduced some item in the bill. To get some idea of the attitude of the House, eleven of the votes resulted in cuts in addition to those that had already made by the Committee. As has been pointed out heretofore, almost a Billion Dollars have been cut out of the President Budget so far, and the largest appropriation bills have not yet come to the Floor. There now can be little doubt but what the House will make very substantial reductions in the President's Budget.

The world-famous cherry blossoms are in full bloom in Washington at this time. Each year when the cherry trees bloom, literally hundreds of thousands of people come to the Capital to see them. Also the very colorful Cherry Blossom Festival is held. The only thing that mars the event is the cool, rainy weather that has to some degree hampered the parade and other festivities.

Mr. W. L. Richardson of Quana was a Washington visitor this week, as was Midshipman Brooks G. Bays of Denton.

IT'S THE LAW
★ in Texas ★
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

CONTINGENCIES

In this unpredictable life of ours, it is the law's business to take a long look into the future and say what would "happen if." For in your contracts, leases, wills, insurance policies, escrows, and the like, you had better say what would "happen if" some of your best laid plans go awry. Such events the law calls "contingencies."

Who gets the "earnest money" you put down, if you cannot go through with buying that house? What if you want to pay up that loan and save interest? What happens if a partnership goes sour, a partner gets sick or dies? What happens if the people you name in your will should die before you do, or, if you all perish in a common catastrophe like a car smashup?

The law is wise but it cannot do your thinking for you. It settles such questions—but not always to your liking. If you don't make a will, the law says who shall get your property. If you leave certain things out of a contract, the law assumes that you meant to put some certain things in. But how much better it would be in the first place to put them in the way you want them, by asking "what if."

Take your will now: Your first desire, of course, is to take care of your wife and children—those nearest to you. But it won't hurt anything to put "contingent beneficiaries" in your will in case something happens to thwart your first intentions.

Review your will every year or so to see if it meets the new things that have come up, or arrange with your lawyer to write in "contingent beneficiaries"—those who will receive your property if your first beneficiaries should die before you do.

You may long ago have had your son provided for in your will, but what about those lovely grandchildren he and his wife have presented to you since you wrote the will? What would happen to them if things go wrong and your son should die before you?

Or take your widowed sister and her children now. Suppose you and your immediate family should be wiped out: Would you want your property to go equally to her and to your well-heeled bachelor brother? Or would you prefer to leave your brother some token of your affection, and then really take care of your sister?

You may be impatient with the law's long memory. Such things never happen, you think, but the court records are full of plans which failed. And so the law has ways in which you can provide for "what happens—if." One way is the device on contingent beneficiaries in your will and insurance policies. (This column, based on Federal law and prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Prairie Dog Refuge On Acre Of Land Established At Midwestern University

Prairie dogs facing eviction and extinction have found a new home on the campus of Midwestern University in Wichita Falls.

An acre of ground behind the women's dormitory area has been converted into a refuge for the small animals. Dr. Walter W. Dalquest, professor of biology at Midwestern, is in charge of the resettling of the colony on the campus.

The dogs are being trapped with spring traps that have carefully taped jaws to prevent injury. The traps are watched constantly so that none of the small animals will remain longer than necessary in the traps.

Dr. Dalquest and students are securing the prairie dogs from a 100 acre colony about five miles south of Wichita Falls. The owner is preparing to kill the inhabitants so Midwestern will give refuge to 16 of the animals.

The prairie dogs are expected to multiply rapidly, and a nice-sized colony will soon be in evidence.

A wire fence has been erected some three feet above and below the ground to keep the animals in the colony until they become used to their new homes.

Many persons have never seen a prairie dog and the colony should become an object of interest for the entire area surrounding Wichita Falls.

Dr. Dalquest said that the chances of the colony are excellent. "The dogs will be fed and observed by Midwestern students and will probably become quite tame in a short while," remarked Dr. Dalquest.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By Roy England, Knox County Agent

Brown wheat mites are building up to damaging numbers in many fields of wheat in Knox County. These infestations are especially heavy on land that has been in wheat for two consecutive years. Crop rotation is still the most effective means of preventing heavy build-ups of this insect.

Controls should be initiated whenever a stand of wheat is threatened and adequate moisture is present. For control of the brown wheat mite, as well as the winter grain mite and greenbugs, one pint of parathion should be applied by spray when temperatures are above 50 degrees.

Aphids are doing some damage to the cabbage recently planted in the Munday and Knox City areas. This insect may be controlled by use of parathion, malathion, lindane or TEPP. Special precautions are absolutely necessary when using either parathion or TEPP.

TEXAS FIGHTS CANCER

A Texas scientist shows that in at least some cases hormones are the difference between health and cancer.

He feeds rats butter yellow, the compound used in some parts of the world but not in the United States to color butter. The rats develop liver cancer after several months on this diet.

If the master gland, the pituitary at the base of the brain, is removed, however, the rats do not develop cancer.

Something in the pituitary — one or more of the many hormones it produces — apparently permits the butter yellow to cause the cancer.

The scientist has been giving various hormones to rats whose pituitary hormones are responsible for the cancers.

When he gives the animals either ACTH (the pituitary hormone which stimulates the adrenals) or growth hormone, the pituitary-less rats readily develop liver cancer from eating butter yellow.

Help Texas scientists fight cancer. Address your contribution today to: CANCER % Postmaster Munday, Texas.

Scruggs, associate editor, Progressive Farmer, Dallas, president; Harold Freeman, agricultural representative, Humble Oil and Refining Company, Houston, vice-president; Mrs. F. C. Wood, president, Texas Home Demonstration Council, Port Lavaca, vice-president and Dr. W. L. Ulich, agricultural engineer, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, secretary. Various committee chairmen will be named at a later date, said Sruggs.

Mrs. Agnes Beaton, Automobile Safety Foundation, Washington, D. C., told the group attending the meeting that the surface had barely been scratched so far as traffic accident prevention work was concerned. By 1966, she said, the experts are now estimating that some 53,000 deaths will be caused by traffic accidents. Engineering, enforcement and education were listed as major factors in solving the problem of traffic deaths. "We have all got to get into the fight, individually and collectively, to stop mass slaughter on our streets and highways," she said. "Our economic losses now amount to some $5 billions each year and are rising. And the situation will not improve until every driver assumes his responsibilities for safety to himself and all others."

Agriculture
Released by
The Texas Department of Agriculture
By John C. White, Commissioner

Why An Independent Farm Agency?

Texas has one of the few independent farm agencies remaining in the United States. That is, one of the very few whose leader and activities are responsible only to the people of Texas—not to a board, a special interest group, or a higher government.

This is because the Texas Department of Agriculture, headed by a Commissioner elected by the people, works to promote all phases of Agriculture relating to Texas and its citizens. And Agriculture is still our most basic industry, affecting more Texans than any single phase of our economy.

A proposal has been introduced with the Texas Legislature to place the affairs of Texas agriculture into the hands of a board who would "select" a secretary as their head. This would likely take away the independence of the Texas Department of Agriculture and place it directly under the watchcare of the federal government.

Nothing could be more damaging. The people of Texas have a right to select the leader of their farm agency just as surely as they have a right to pick their governor.

If this ill-timed, poorly thought-out plan should pass into law—and the people of Texas are certain to prevent this from happening—then the day might come when the voice of the people is lost in selecting its state leaders.

It would be like having a group of lawyers to pick an attorney general, a board of bankers to select a state treasurer, or a bunch of big shots to pick a governor.

The leaders of Texas must be chosen by the people. Any effort to change this Democratic process must be combatted.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE!

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

Spring Lamb Top $24.00, Greek Lambs at $26.00.

FORT WORTH—The Easter lamb market opened at Fort Worth Monday with a minimum of fireworks, and at the conclusion of the day most fat lambs were around 50 cents higher. A few lightweight lambs sold for the special order for Greek Easter lambs topped at $26.

Trade was rather slow developing as most salesmen priced lambs considerably higher in hope of getting more premium for the lambs which will be processed this week and rushed to the Eastern Seaboard in time for the Easter trade.

However, slaughter interests held the line after the modest advance of 50 cents.

The Greek Easter lambs are little fellows scaling 40 to 60 pounds, and usually bring a sizable premium over the heavier lambs, and this year it was only $2.

Tone of the trade was good on older sheep, and stocker and feeder lambs enjoyed a much better outlet than last week.

Comparative prices: Good and choice Spring lambs $22 to $24, few lights $26. Cull to medium Springers $15 to $20. Good and choice old crop lambs $19 to $22.50, latter price for Fall shorn pelts. No. 2 and No. 3 pelts sold from $21 down, with some fresh shorn choice fat lambs at $20. Cull to medium old crops $12 to $18. Stocker and feeder woolled lambs $21 down; shorn feeders $19.50 down, some of these lambs were $1 to $1.50 above feeder bids last week, but not that much above their packer value at that time. Yearlings and two's sold from $17 down; aged wethers cashed at $14 down; slaughter ewes drew $7.50 down to around $5.50 or $6.00.

agencies have part time or permanent representatives in those areas.

Proves again the old saying that livestock moves around a lot nobody knows just when or where to the next moves will be. However, it is a cinch it be either toward a market or toward some feed. Knowing just which and when is what makes the livestock business interesting, and profitable for the folks in it.

Cattle Trade Very Active, Prices Strong.

Trade in the cattle division at Fort Worth Monday was very brisk, with steady to stronger prices all down the line. Top grades and high quality were again rather scarce.

Good and choice steers and yearlings drew $19 to $24, and common and medium sorts sold from $13 to $18.50. Fat cows cashed at $12.50 to $15, with canners and cutters from $9 to $12.50. Bulls sold at $10 to $15. Good and choice fat calves cashed at $20 to $24, and cull common and medium kinds sold from $12 to $19. Stocker calves and yearlings sold from $15 to $22.

Hogs Top At $18.25; Sows Sell $16.00 Down.

Butcher hogs sold steady Monday at Fort Worth Monday with choice meat type hogs at $18.25, and the medium grades and less desirable weights from $16 to $18. Sows sold from $15 to $16.

Mississippians Get Fort Worth Market.

We had a call from a Mississippi packing house Monday morning wanting market news regularly from here, which indicates once again the close tie between Fort Worth and the flourishing livestock business that is developing in the Mid-South.

For many years the cattlemen of Dixie have been steady buyers of stockers and feeders at Fort Worth, and in the past few years the outlet for breeding sheep and stocker and feeder lambs has been growing by leaps and bounds.

In the past year there have been numerous shipments of fed steers to the market here from Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas as those once giant farms and plantations switched from row crops to roughage and feed as a part of their transition from a cotton economy to a livestock farming operation.

Often these cattle are shipped from the Mid-South to feedlots near Fort Worth where they rest and recover from the long journey and then move in to market when receipts and other factors look favorable.

We feel that this trade between Southwest and Mid-South will continue to grow, and already many Fort Worth market service

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says He Operates His Farm On International Level; Which Explains Shape It's In

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek explains his farming operations this week, or at least we suppose that's what he's doing.

J. A.

Dear editor: A lot of people tell me I don't know how to run my farm out here on the creek, and they may be right, as most people are experts at not knowing how to do things anyway, but the trouble with these people is they don't understand the level I'm operating on.

I operate on the international level, and when you get up on that plane, it take a different kind of sense.

For example, take the Suez Canal. It's an example of operating on the international level. As I understand it, Mr. Nasser, the president of Egypt, took over the canal last Fall from its builders, England, France and a few others, and England and France started a war to get it back.

Then Nasser sank 47 ships in the canal, and that blocked it off from everybody.

Well, then the United States and the United Nations talked England and France into calling off the war, which they couldn't afford to wage anyway, and everybody agreed to something. What it was, nobody seems to know for sure.

At any rate, the United States put up 17 millions dollars to have the canal cleared of those sunken ships, and now that the canal is open, nobody still knows on what terms Nasser is going to let ships sail through it, except everybody feels sure he intends to collect the money.

This is what I'm talking about. You'd think we'd had some binding agreement with Nasser before we put up to money to open up the canal, or we'd have let him clear it out himself, since he said it was his.

The way it stacks up now, somebody built the canal for Egypt, Egypt took it over, Egypt sank those ships in it, we paid for having them cleared out, and Nasser is still in charge without tural cause in children between 9 and 12.

Cancer is not inherited, except in perhaps two rare types. A tendency toward cancer may be passed from one generation to another, but the actual cancer cell is not inherited. This we also know.

We know that cancer is not contagious or communicable from one person to another. We know that certain agents or conditions will cause certain types of cancer or are factors in causing cancer. For example, exposure to sunlight over long periods of time (farmers, seamen) is known to cause certain types of skin cancer. Certain chemicals such as aniline dyes may cause cancer in experimental animals. An injury or prolonged irritation of the mouth or lip area such as sometimes comes with habitual pipe smoking is also a factor in causing cancer. Prolonged exposure to x-ray or radium may also cause cancer of the skin or other parts of the body.

We know that certain malignancies are self-limiting; that is, they have the curious property of curing themselves without treatment. This is an unusual happening, but it does occur for some unknown reason.

Perhaps the most important thing we know about cancer, many cases can be cured by early removal by surgery or by irradiation with x-ray or radium or a combination of these techniques. Rapid strides are now being made in treatment of certain types of cases with chemical compounds.

Since it can be cured, why do more than 10,000 people die in Texas with cancer each year? Because by the time the disease is recognized it is too far advanced for effective treatment. Half of these persons could be saved by early and adequate treatment.

If this one cardinal fact could be drilled into the minds of people until it moved them to action at the appropriate time, cancer deaths would skid downward almost overnight.

Here again are cancer's seven danger signs. It will pay to memorize them; irregular bleeding or discharge from body openings, unexplained change in normal bowel habits, sore that does not heal properly, persistent cough, any lump especially on breast, constant indigestion, unexplained weight loss, and change in moles.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holtz, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Ever since the first spark of life appeared on this earth, cancer has been one of the most fearsome, most enigmatic diseases mankind has had to contend with. But we know more about it than is generally realized. We know enough, in fact, that a diagnosis of cancer need not be considered a sentence of death.

We know that all types of cancer are different since they affect different tissues of the body. We know cancer has no respect whatever for age, although it does occur more frequently after 40. Conversely, we know it causes more deaths than any other na-hatched, the Stamford office quarters will be displayed to any one who cares to see the new building, or those who missed attending the formal open house when the building was occupied in September 1936.

The Stamford Production Credit Association serves the financial needs of farmers and ranchers in Jones, Shackelford, Haskell, Knox, King, Kent, Dickens and Stonewall Counties, with offices in Stamford, Anson, Haskell, Munday and Spur. The Board of Directors is composed of C. G. Burson, Sr., President, Haskell; J. F. McCulloch, Vice President, Stamford; Lasater Hensley, Guthrie; Mack T. Claburn, Anson; and J. C. Moorhouse, Benjamin. Mr. Moorhouse was appointed by the Board following the death of J. B. Pumphrey in November 1936. The other officers are J. L. Hill, Jr. Secretary-Treasurer, and J. R. Gleaton and R. C. Cobb, Assit. Secretary-Treasurers.

At the present time the Association is engaged in the renovation of a building in Spur which will be used as office quarters there. The completion of this building will mark the complete ownership by the Association of its quarters, having previously erected buildings in Anson, Haskell, Munday and Stamford. The Association has grown from an organization with a few hundred dollars in loans in 1934 to one with loans near $3,000,000.00, and a capital structure of more than $1,000,000.00 at the present time. It serves the needs of more than 1000 farm and ranch families in its area and will finance during the course of one year more than $5,000 of the needs of these farm families.

lifted when a storm of protest arose from all over the country.

The story of the film is an historical account of the Protestant Reformation which took place in Europe in the 1500's, under the leadership of Martin Luther, an Augustinian monk. The production of "Martin Luther" was done in Germany, among the castles and monasteries where the Reformation began. It features a musical background by the Munich symphony orchestra. Each of the actors was chosen to look as much as possible like the original characters.

The film has won a number of awards and citations for excellence of content and production and is an unforgettable experience.

Oil Activities

Several wildcats had been staked in the county the latter part of last week.

Harold Shappel No. 1 J. M. Bradberry, two miles southwest of Knox City, will go to 2350 feet.

Ajax Oil and Development Co. No. 1 John W. Goode, three miles south of Goree, is slated for 1999 feet.

J. A. Lavender Jr. and W. K. Manning of Wichita Falls will drill No. 1 Mary K. Homer in the Rhineland area to 2000 feet.

Leland Fikes and V. E. Powell of Dallas have filed amended depth on two projects in the Goree Township, making both of them wildcats. New contract depth of 6,000 feet was announced for No. 1 B. Thompson and No. 1 T. D. Harlan, both slated originally for 2,000 feet.

Staked in the Pepper (Tannehill) Field in the Sunset school area is J. C. Mann, Jr., et al. of Wichita Falls No. 7 Emmett Partridge, slated for 2,200 feet.

The same firm recently completed No. 2 Emmett Partridge, which pumped 65.09 barrels of 36 gravity oil per day from open hole at 2065-66 feet. It had a daily pumping potential of 73 barrels from open hole at 2211-25 feet.

In the Voss (Tannehill) Field, Lomax and Maxwell of Dallas finished No. 10 J. K. Johnson for daily pumping potential of 21 barrels of 35 gravity oil and 50 per cent water. Pay was perforated at 1972-78 feet and hole was bottomed at 2024.
