Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Lots of people are taking vacations these days.

k-k
Vacation time, it seems, extends from the closing of school in the spring until the new term opens in the fall. At least, that's the school vacation time for the kiddies, with swimming, picnics, Boy Scout outings, a visit to Grandma's and lots of other things that are far different from school days.

k-k
We don't know of anyone less qualified than we to write about vacations. During our nearly 30 years of being associated in the newspaper business, we've had three such luxuries. One was spent down in East Texas, another close to Shreveport, La., and both places were hotter than the place we left from. The third — and that was about 20 years ago — was a trip into North Carolina. So from the standpoint of taking vacations, we are rather limited in experience.

As we've said before in this column, though, we believe a vacation is something to look forward to and to rest up from.

A lot of enjoyment is in the planning, which goes on for days, and maybe weeks, before the vacation starts. When the time arrives, we know it will be limited, so we rush to get things loaded up and take off at breakneck speed to get to the place we've planned so we can stay as long as possible. Staying longer than we intended, we start another mad rush and burn up the highways to get back home and on the job before the deadline. Then's when we need a few days rest from our vacation.

k-k
People have different ideas about vacations. Take folks here in Munday. They are plumb anxious to get far away from their surroundings. Some, like the Lee Haymes, take off for far-away but scenic Oregon. Others go to Canada, or California. Still others take to the cities — like Houston, Galveston, or even way up to New York City.

k-k
And then we know people who are plumb content and most happy to come to Munday to spend their vacation. Some seek a secluded spot like, maybe, a small cabin on the shores of some lake.

k-k
We well remember the trip on our last vacation. Three of us took off one afternoon after closing time. We drove all that night, all next day and until around nine o'clock the next night without the benefit of sleep. We took off again next morning and drove until around 10 p.m., when we arrived at our destination — the little town of Shelby, La. By the time we had completely rested up from that driving, it was time to begin the homeward journey. Returning we spent one night in a little town in Georgia, the next in New Orleans, the third in Austin, and on home the next day — ready to take up our regular duties again, and begin our resting-up period.

k-k
We guess that's another good thing about vacations. We can reflect upon an enjoyable one for as long as twenty years.

k-k
Ruidoso, N. M., is a favored spot for many local people who have a limited time for vacation. We had a card recently from vacationers who were in Ruidoso. "We enjoyed the races yesterday," they said, "but they proved rather expensive." But think of the poor horse. How could the little fellow win a race with so much money on his nose?

k-k
And speaking of Ruidoso, we understand a group of local people are taking off for that vacation land this week. Among them are our neighbors, the Lamone Blacklocks, and the grapevine has it they will be joined by the J. D. Gillespies and E. B. Littlefields. A good time is planned by all.

k-k
When are you taking your vacation?

Mr. and Mrs. Payne Shannon and daughters of Manhattan, Kans., came in last Tuesday to spend their vacation here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Shannon and Mrs. Clarise Mitchell.

Fire Destroys Knights Of Columbus Hall At Rhineland Tuesday Afternoon

Fire early Tuesday afternoon completely destroyed the Knights of Columbus hall at Rhineland. Local firemen, who rushed to the scene in answer to the fire alarm, said just a portion of the building remained standing when they arrived. Nearby buildings were being threatened by the blaze, and firemen had some difficulty in extinguishing a grass fire which resulted from the flames. Some difficulty was experienced in getting the call for help through to local firemen, as the call had to come over the rural line and callers received a "busy signal" for some time.

The hall, one of the oldest structures in the Rhineland community, was once used as one of the first school buildings there, it was stated. The building and all its contents were destroyed by the flames.

The building reportedly caught from a nearby trash fire.

Board Votes Improvements To School At Vera

The Vera Consolidated School Board in a recent meeting voted to make the following improvements to the Vera school system:

The athletic department will purchase all new equipment for high school and junior high school teams. The science lab is being completely worked over, with gas and water being run to each of the tables. This will give each student an opportunity to conduct his own experiments. New demonstration and science equipment is also being purchased for the students.

The board also elected Mrs. N. B. Brown and Mrs. Alma Rabe as lunch help for the school term. They are to attend a state luncheon cooking conference in Denton in July.

Supt. M. J. Kirby has announced that Earl T. Powers, who was junior high school teacher, has resigned to accept a position as math teacher in the Seymour high school. This leaves a vacancy, and the school board is now receiving applications for this position. Junior high school coaching goes with this opening, and it pays above state schedule, Kirby said.

Munday Truck Driver To Receive Hobbs Knight Of The Road Award For Courtesy

Billy Mitchell of Munday was named this week in the July group of commercial drivers due to receive the Hobbs Knight of the Road courtesy award. Mitchell will receive the honor in recognition of his assistance at the scene of a highway accident five miles east of Sherman.

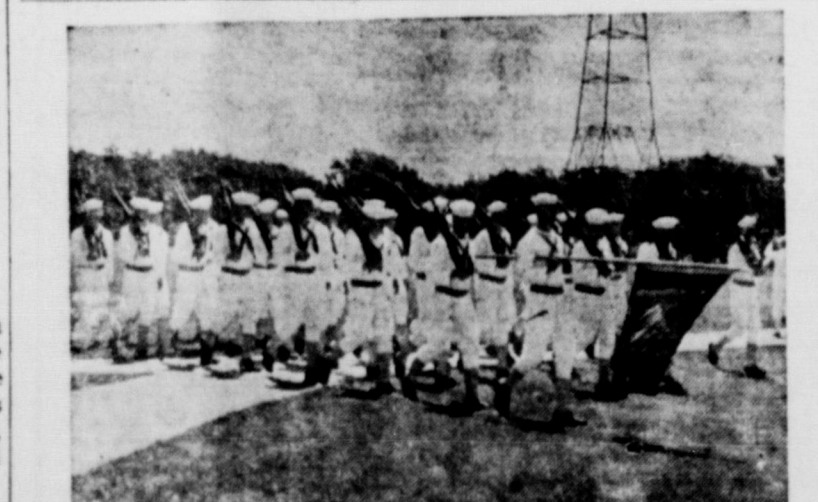

The accident occurred last May when a car overturned into a muddy ditch. When Mitchell drove by, he saw a man trying to free a woman, trapped inside the car. Upon investigation, Mitchell saw that the victim's foot was pinned between the steering column and the left side of the car. He got two pry bars from his truck, and the two men tried in vain to get the woman from the wreck. A wrecker soon arrived, and Mitchell was instrumental in moving the auto so that the woman could at last be helped out, and into a waiting ambulance. The two wreckers were unsuccessful, however, in pulling the car from the ditch; their cables broke under the strain. Mitchell used heavy chains from his truck and pulled the vehicle back onto the highway so that it could be towed into Sherman.

His courtesy, and helpfulness were reported to the Hobbs Knight of the Road awards committee in Austin by Inspector Robert E. Jones, of the Texas Department of Public Safety, License and Weight Division. Mitchell was named for the award.

Massey Is Named Chief Of Police

Joel W. Massey, former chief of police in Munday, was again named to this position Tuesday night at a regular meeting of the city council.

He succeeds Lee Bivins, who has served for the past three years and who resigned the position Tuesday night, effective August 1. Bivins came here from Rochester, where he served on the police force. He indicated he would look into possibilities of a job as gate guard in a New Mexico mine.

"I sincerely appreciate the fine cooperation the people of this area have given me," Mr. Bivins said Wednesday, "and without this, I could not have done the job I have done."

"You have a good man in the one who is taking the chief of police job. I know he will do a good job if you will give him the cooperation you've given me."

Massey served as chief of police several years before resigning some three years ago. Since that time he has been employed as a local mechanic and has been with Frost Chevrolet Co. for about 18 months.

Mayor M. F. Billingsley stated Wednesday that T. H. Clark, an employee of the city, will become the city's paid fireman and he and his family will occupy the apartment in the city hall, where Bivins has been residing for several months.

Licensing Speech And The Printing Press

The right to express one's opinions through advertising and other means, without undue or unusual restrictions or penalties certainly is a fundamental right in a free country. It is inextricably tied-in with the Constitutional rights of free speech and the free press.

Yet that right now seems to be in danger. This danger comes from recent announcements made by the Federal Power Commission and the Internal Revenue Service. It concerns 59 electric utilities which have used "opinion" advertising and pamphlets to oppose socialization of their industry, and to present the private enterprise side of the public-private power issue. The FPC now holds that these companies improperly charge the advertising and pamphlets to operating expenses. The IRS adds that the cost of the advertising and pamphlets is not an allowable deduction for tax purposes.

M. S. Rukeyser, the International News Service commentator says: "These seemingly innocuous bureaucratic ukases strike at the roots of our American competitive system, which rests on cultivation of a free market in ideas and ideologies." Editor & Publisher says: "It strikes us that this is a two-pronged assault to eliminate eventually the use of advertising to express an opinion or a political philosophy." And Robert U. Brown, writing in a later issue of the same magazine, says: "It seems to us that some people in Washington are not only intent on imposing a tax on published opinions . . . but also are treading dangerously close to licensing speech and the printing press."

The precedent the FPC and IRS are establishing — if allowed to stand — is staggering. Under it, any group in power could restrict and in many cases prevent expression of opinion by any opposing group, on questions of economics, politics or anything else. That is one of the ways dictatorships are created.

SPEAKING FOR FREEDOM

The inaugural address of Dr. David B. Allman, new president of the American Medical Association, was a thoughtful and compelling document. At the end he said this: "When the physician ventures into the realm of public affairs, he frequently is accused of being too conservative. Of course, he is conservative — in the best sense of the word. All of his education and training — all of his experience in practice — all of his exposure to human nature — all of these have given him a profound respect for certain proven, fundamental principals that should be conserved — in medicine and all of human life.

"In medicine, for example, he knows that first rate medical care — including humane consideration for the problems of the individual — cannot survive if patients and physicians are shackled by rules, regulations, controls and assembly-line procedures. Applying the same principal to the broader aspects of human and public affairs, he knows also that people's minds, hearts and souls cannot find true expression if they are oppressed by rigid ideologies or systems which bury the individual in the mass."

What Dr. Allman spoke so eloquently against is totalitarianism, in any and all its forms and disguises. What he spoke for is that old philosophy of freedom which has been responsible for the greatest achievements in the professions, in business, in representative government, and in the arts and sciences. We need more voices with a comparable message.

Bikes Have Safety Rules, Too

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

TEACH YOUR YOUNGSTERS to handle bicycles with as much skill and safety as an adult drives a car. Safe driving rules, they should learn, apply to bicycles just as traffic rules of the road are observed by mom and dad.

With the help of these 10 rules for bike riding, compiled by the National Safety Council, you can assure your children safety now and build future correct automobile driving habits.

Miss Smith

1. Obey all traffic signs and regulations. Remember that red lights are meant for bicycle riders, too.
2. Keep to the right side of the road at all times and always ride single file.
3. Stop to see that sidewalk or streets are clear, before riding out of alleys, driveways or from between parked cars. Look carefully for cross traffic at every intersection.
4. Dismount and walk your bike across a heavily traveled street. Always dismount at the - extreme right of the roadway.

5. Signal your intention to turn.
6. Carry parcels and books in a basket or luggage carrier. You need both hands to help keep balance.
7. Never ride two on a bike. Passengers interfere with vision and safety. Never drag children on skates or in a wagon or tricycle.
8. Do not stunt on streets and highways — or weave in and out of traffic. Stunting and racing should be confined to vacant lots or to protected areas where there are no other vehicles or pedestrians.
9. At night have a white light on the front of the bike, a red light or reflector on the rear, and wear white or light colored clothing.
10. Keep your bike in good condition. Be sure to have handle bars, grips and pedals tight, saddle fastened at the right height, chain and sprocket guarded, tires hard and strong, and brakes in good working order.

MODERN HOMEMAKING

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

July is peak month for peaches! Just the word "peaches" brings visions of mouthwatering dishes. You may think of peaches and cream, of spicy peach cobbler, of peach ice cream or of any one of a great number of golden good dishes.

Serve the family an old-fashioned treat — fresh peach shortcake. Make your favorite pastry recipe, roll the pastry to 1/8-inch thickness and cut it into 3-inch squares. Place the squares on a baking sheet and prick them with a fork. Bake in a hot gas oven (425 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from the oven and spread the squares with butter or margarine. Arrange short cake fashion with sweetened sliced fresh peaches. Top with whipped cream and dust with cinnamon.

Peach Tarts Supreme can make any party a success. Place a peeled sweetened fresh peach half in each of six unbaked pastry tart shells. Mix with rotary beater, 1/3-cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1/4-teaspoon salt, 1/4-teaspoon cinnamon, 1 egg, 1 cup sour cream. Pour mixture over peach halves. Bake in a moderate gas oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes. While tarts are baking, combine 1/2-cup chopped peaches, 1/4-cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine and 1 tablespoon light corn syrup. Spoon mixture on tarts. Continue baking until filling "sets," about 10 minutes. Serve warm or cold topped with whipped cream.

For future reference, put up peach preserves. Cut peeled peaches in halves, quarters or eighths. Add two cups sugar to each four cups prepared peaches, arranging fruit and sugar in layers. Let stand 8 to 10 hours or until syrup forms. Boil over full gas flame until preserves are thick and clear. Remember, they will be thicker when they are cold. Pour into hot jars and seal with paraffin.

Recipe Of The Week
PEACH KUCHEN: Sift together 2 cups sifted flour, 1/4-teaspoon baking powder, 1/2-teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons sugar. With a fork or pastry blender, work 1/2-cup butter or margarine into the sifted dry ingredients until the mixture looks like coarse corn meal. Pile mixture into an 8-inch square pan. With hands, pat an even layer over bottom of

COTTON AND ROW CROP PROSPECTS

Texas farmers are depending on late July rains to "put them over the top" this crop year. It is a gamble — and an important one. Only a very few areas lacked enough moisture to start their plantings earlier this spring. The first few days in July saw much of the row crops hitting their peak stride from these initial rains. Now, more rain is a vital necessity — particularly in the western portion of the state. Many crops that thrived from downpours of April and May developed root systems close to the surface of the ground. Although subsoil moisture is adequate, these shallow roots are not reaching it and crops in West Texas are beginning to wilt in some sections.

Hot weather has been ideal for harvesting wheat and corn, baling hay and cultivating row crops. But cotton remains the question mark in the low rolling plains, parts of East Texas and larger areas in the west.

Most farmers are counting heavily on a good cotton crop already heavily reduced from the 10-year average by acreage allotments. Cotton in cultivation on July 1 was estimated at 6,250,000 acres. This amount is one-eighth smaller than the 7,065,000 acres at the same time last year and compares far below the 9,093,000 acres averaged from 1946 through 1955.

This puts the Texas cotton crop acreage at the lowest amount in 62 years.

The record year for plantings was in 1925 when 18,443,000 acres were standing on July 1. And as recently as 1951, acreage was double the estimate for 1957.

A vast number of areas in South and Central Texas is late. Repeated plantings were necessary because of washouts. But cotton's future is promising this year — provided those July rains materialize.

son is distributed according to a detailed formula fixed by law. In some cases this may be the way you yourself would divide it — but in many cases it is not.

The provisions of the law concerning the distribution of the property of a person who dies without a will are rather complicated, and all of the possibilities cannot be covered by a general statement.

There are different rules for real estate and for personal property, for community property and for separate property, for homestead property, and for all of the many possible combinations of surviving relatives. Each situation must be carefully studied to determine the correct distribution of the property.

For example, here is a general idea of how the community property which you and your spouse have accumulated will be divided if you do not make a will prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and there are no children, the surviving spouse receives all of the property.

If, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of deceased children, they would divide one-half of the property, while the surviving spouse would receive the other half.

Of course, grandchildren do not share in the estate unless their parent who would inherit is deceased. And when descendants of previously deceased children do inherit, they receive only the portion that the child would have received, regardless of the number of such descendants.

An odd note, perhaps, is that the surviving spouse already

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

No Will? Who Inherits Property?

What will happen if you should die without executing a legal and proper will? Who will inherit your property? Your husband, wife, mother, father, children, your wife's relatives? The best way you can say who will have it is to provide a will which will protect your rightful beneficiaries and dispose of your property in accordance with your wishes.

When a deceased has no will, or dies "intestate" as the law calls it, the property of that per-owns one-half of the community estate prior to your death, and the law adds nothing to this share where there are children surviving.

When there are only children and their descendants surviving, they divide the entire community estate between them.

Reserve Unit In Haskell Relocated

The U. S. Army recently announced that men from 17½ to 25 years of age who were subject to draft and are now classified 1-A could enlist in the reserves for six years with six months active duty time and 5½ years active in ready reserves, would be reclassified to 1-D and be draft deferred. Being active in ready reserves means one night each week with ready reserve unit and two weeks summer in camp.

The 375th Replacement Battalion, U. S. A. R. unit, located in Haskell, has priority in the Fort Worth Area to accept these men who wish to enlist in the ready reserves for 6 to 8 years.

Several men in the Munday and Knox City area have taken advantage of this opportunity, some of whom are: Hilton Stubblefield, Terry Harrison, Joe Phillips, William Allred, A. C. New, Bennie Ledbetter, Claud Hill and Palmer Campsey.

By contacting Sgt. Joe Lane Munday; Capt. Terry Diggs at Haskell, Capt. Clifton Cobb at Stamford, or Major R. C. Couch, Jr., the commanding officer, at the ASC office in Knox City, or in Haskell, you can receive information on this matter. It is a way in which young men may fill their military obligation without being drafted for two or more years.

This unit meets each Thursday night in Haskell, and is now in the process of moving to a new location, a building formerly known as Dodson Motor Co., two blocks south of the square.

The 375th battalion will leave July 29 for Fort Chaffee, Ark., to attend the annual two weeks summer camp.

If interested in fulfilling your military obligation, please contact the above personnel for full information.

Mogul Cheerleaders Attend School At Wichita Falls

The Munday Mogul cheerleaders for the 1957 football season are: Ava Mary Taylor, head cheerleader; Lorene Armstrong, Mauryce Tidwell, Audrey Trammel and Sandra Harper.

These girls spent the week of June 30-July 5 at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls at a cheerleading clinic conducted by Laurence R. Herkemer, who conducts clinics all over the U. S. and has trained over 40,000 cheerleaders.

Enrolled in the clinic were over 200 cheerleaders from schools in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

The different schools were judged each day on their yells, and the best three groups in each division were chosen.

Munday girls were in competition with such schools as Lubbock, Ardmore, Okla., and Ar-

Scholarships In Texas Tech Are For Ag. Students

LUBBOCK—There's a $6,000 "treasure" awaiting two agriculture students planning to enter Texas Tech and so far it's unclaimed, according to Agriculture Dean W. L. Stangel.

The treasure consists of two $3,000 scholarships to be given by the Western Compress and Storage Co. of Abilene. Each of the grants will provide $750 annually for four years for an agronomy student who will emphasize study of cotton, irrigation and water sources.

Eligibility for the scholarships is limited to students in nine counties: Taylor, Nolan, Jones, Haskell, Fisher, Scurry, Knox, Mitchell and Callahan.

The scholarships are awarded only upon written application made before August 1, prior to the freshman year. No qualified applications have been received so far, Dean Stangel said.

"We're not going to award these grants to just anyone," Dean Stangel pointed out. "But surely in the counties mentioned there are some top students who are interested and can qualify for these scholarships."

Hot Weather Hints Given By Safety Council

The "good old summertime" is here and with it come higher temperatures and bright sunlight. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council warns that too much sunlight and overexposure to high temperatures can cause trouble unless precautions are taken.

They point out that heat sickness will occur when the body's heat regulating system collapses during prolonged heat or overexposure to the sun. In sunstrokes body temperature rises, the skin becomes hot and dry, the face reddens and a shooting headache develops. Heat exhaustion is an entirely different thing. Its symptoms are below normal body temperature, cold clammy skin, palor dizziness and dull headache.

The Council offers the following suggestions for preventing summertime troubles caused by heat. Avoid overexposure to direct sunlight and wear a hat while out-of-doors; avoid overexertion; wear light, porous and loose fitting clothing; increase the use of salt in food and use salt tablets or salt in drinking water; drink plenty of water during the day but avoid ice water and alcohol; eat nutritious food but don't overeat; drink fruit juices or eat fresh fruit for a plentiful supply of Vitamin C and get plenty of rest and bathe regularly.

The Council offers this simple rule if first aid treatment must be given to a person suffering from heat sickness. If the patient is cold, make him warm; if he is hot, make him cool.

Taxes On Farms And Ranches Up

Farm and ranch taxes in Texas have risen for 10 consecutive years and agricultural prices have declined for four consecutive years, almost doubling the tax load of Texas farmers and ranchmen during the 5-year period.

L. P. Gabbard of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Tommy W. Smith of the Agricultural Research Service, USDA, who made the survey said that the average tax per acre on farm and ranch real estate in Texas last year was 31.8 cents, an increase of 8 cent, or 2.6 percent over 1955.

It is the highest average tax per acre yet reached in Texas, they pointed out.

While the average tax increased 2.6 per cent for the state, it declined as much as 17.1 per cent in some sections of the Rolling Plains, and increased as much as 22.4 per cent in the Corpus Christi cotton producing area.

The distribution of farm real estate taxes to the various types of governmental units remains practically unchanged as public schools, including junior colleges, received 56.7 per cent of the total.

Farm personal property tax declined slightly, probably because of declining prices for agricultural commodities and prolonged drought.

Areas in which the average tax per acre decreased are, for the most part, devoted to grazing. This may reflect the economic stress on ranchmen because of falling cattle prices and drought conditions.

Taxes have risen in Texas generally because of rising costs of local government. Property taxes are the main source of local government revenue, the economists concluded. Therefore, no relief is in sight for farmers and ranchmen, at least so long as property taxes are the primary source of support of local government.

MOTOR MAIDS

Children Set Fine Record

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

STUDENT SAFETY COUNCILS, patterned after adult safety groups, are responsible for the saving of countless young lives in Hamtramck, Mich.

In this bustling, industrial community, located entirely within the city of Detroit, there has not been a single child fatality in three years, and only two in the last 19 years.

Lt. Stanley Supina, in charge of the Hamtramck Traffic department, gives much of the credit for this fine record to the school safety councils, assisted by the police department's safety officer, Val Bednarski.

Student leaders, safety patrol boys and a sponsoring teacher compose the safety council membership in each school. They conduct regular meetings with the students to impress upon them the importance of safe, sane conduct — whether walking, driving a car, or riding a bicycle.

Skits, in which youngsters demonstrate right and wrong pedestrian practices, are an extremely effective way of getting the safety message across, Lt. Supina told me.

The councils also prepare and distribute pamphlets, showing the safest routes to and from school. In many cases, where there are busy, dangerous streets to cross, members of the council actually accompany the younger children.

The Hamtramck police department works closely with national safety organizations to obtain material for the schools and set up new programs.

But the success of the school programs is due largely to the youngsters themselves, who have taken on an adult job—and proved they can handle it.

News From The U. S. Congress

The question of granting statehood to Alaska is one that will shortly be considered by Congress. Many people have indicated that they feel that Congress should approve Alaskan Statehood. However, we should consider that the population of the whole of Alaska is not a great deal more than Wichita County. Most of the Alaskan population is in the Southeastern corner of the territory. Could we expect this population to support an adequate system of roads, courts, schools, etc.? It is important to realize that as a matter of practical fact, the Federal Government would have to carry out these burdens. It is also rather startling to think that so few people as now reside in Alaska would have such a large degree of influence in the Government if Alaska became a state as they would have two Senators and at least one member of the House. One hundred years ago it was not so much out of line to admit states with small population; however, today, with our great increase in population it would be grossly unfair to the more populous states. One vote in Alaska, for instance, would have the same influence in the Presidential election as about 60 votes in Texas would have.

We can expect a new look in the Dollar Bill about September 1st. One of the most noticeable differences will be that George Washington's picture on the bill will make him appear fatter. This will be because of the fact that the new money will be printed on dry paper when at the present time our money is printed when the paper is wet, and subsequent shrinking, as it dries out, has the effect of contracting and distorting Washington's features. The new bill will also bear the slogan, "In God We Trust," which has not heretofore appeared on the dollar bill. Another change will be that it will bear the signature of R. B. Anderson, the distinguished Texan, who will be Secretary of the Treasury.

Last week the House was very active. The Conference Report on the Agricultural Appropriation Bill was among the measures approved. This agreement restored the acreage reserve part of the Soil Bank which I didn't favor. Visitors from home this week were Mr. Hugh L. Petite and Mr. Tommy Laughon and family of Wichita Falls.

Up-to-date Wiring Of Homes Needed As Safety Measure

Almost everyone has experienced that helplessness which is felt when the electricity goes off, for more and more household chores, from dishwashing to clothes-drying, are being shouldered by electrical servants. And through air conditioners and radio and TV sets, those ready kilowatts are providing a lot in the way of comfort and entertainment, too.

But many homeowners are discovering that their houses are inadequately wired to handle the extra load of appliances, says W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer. Blowing fuses, flickering lights, and shrinking TV pictures when additional electrical appliances are turned on are all signs that circuits are over-loaded.

For safety's sake, call in an electrical contractor when this occurs, advises Ulich. Don't play "handy-man" with something that can be as dangerous as electricity. Don't use heavier than 15 ampere fuses unless your circuits are built to handle them.

GIFT FROM THE SEA—Stretching as far as eye can see, salt beds of Guajira Peninsula in Colombia, S.A. are harvested by some 2,000 Guajira Indians who are cattle and sheep ranchers rest of the year. These salt beds, in use since 16th century, will yield some 42,000 tons of salt this year.

And never use a coin to establish contact after a fuse has blown. Fuses and circuit breakers operate on the basis of flow of electric current. Excess flow of current not broken by a fuse or circuit breaker causes heat greater than insulations on wires can resist. The overheated wires can easily cause a fire.

If your house needs additional wiring, it will pay to take care of this need promptly. All appliances will work more efficiently and satisfactorily and may use less electric current to do the same work. Cost of wiring is small compared to the safety and convenience of a properly wired home, points out Ulich.

SAYS MILK HAS CURDLED
Speaking before the Rotary, Lions, Optimist and the Trinity Valley Boat clubs in Liberty, Inspector C. O. Layne, CD liaison officer for Department of Public Safety, said "it would appear that the milk of human kindness has curdled in our veins." He added: "Civil Defense today is just being a good neighbor. We need to go back and renew some of those bonds of civil defense that were welded by our ancestors, because the threat to our well being in peace and in war is greater than ever before. Tornadoes and catastrophes will be with us as long as man lives on this globe, and civil defense is nothing more than preparedness for the protection of lives and property when such tragedies occur."

There's Still No Time To Waste!

FLEAHOPPERS have moved in on us in large numbers during the past week and will cause serious loss of early fruit unless controlled.

FLEABEETLES are showing up in damaging numbers in some fields. They feed on the leaves of cotton and if numerous will completely destroy it.

We Suggest....

Check your fields at least twice a week. If fleahoppers are present, start treatment at your earliest convenience. If large numbers of fleabeetles are showing up and cotton leaves are being destroyed, treat them immediately.

Use Dieldrin or Toxaphene dusts or sprays in preference to DDT or other poisons.

Follow your Experiment Station recommendations.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Hollie, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Domestic flies are suspected of playing an important role in the spread of filth diseases due to their indiscriminate movement from human and animal excrements to human foods. Recent studies in the Lower Rio Grande Valley by the U. S. Public Health Service and the State Department of Health have shown a significant reduction in cases of bacillary dysentery by applying effective fly control measures.

Included among the domestic flies are the house fly and numerous species of blow flies and flesh flies. The house fly is by far the most important species which enter homes.

House flies develop prolifically in animal excrement, although any warm, moist organic material will support some breeding. The length of time from egg to adult is dependent upon such factors as availability of food and the temperature. During summer eggs hatch in 8-12 hours; the larvae feed for 5-8 days; and 2-3 days are spent in the pupal or resting stage. In Texas, fly breeding occurs throughout the year, although at a reduced rate during the winter in the northern half of the state.

House flies live for a month or two during warm weather and for longer periods during winter if protection from extreme cold is found. Adult house flies have been shown to be capable of flying 10-12 miles but are not believed to do so if favorable breeding sites are more accessible.

Fly control is the responsibility of private citizens as well as cities. It is essentially a matter of maintaining adequate sanitary conditions, with the use of insecticides being strictly a supplementary measure. Chemicals are of doubtful value in abating flies when they are produced in enormous quantities in favorable breeding media.

Homeowners should strive to prevent fly breeding on their property or holding odoriferous materials which attract flies bred elsewhere. Pets and other animal dejecta should be disposed of promptly. Metal garbage cans with tight lids should be used. Compost piles should be checked regularly to insure that flies are not breeding, and fly-tight doors and screens should be maintained.

The organic phosphates especially malathion, are now widely used in fly control. A 2 per cent solution of malathion may be spread around garbage cans or other attractants. Commercially prepared baits using malathion are available for use in areas of adult fly concentration. Space sprays of pyrethrins are sometimes useful in knocking down adult flies in homes when they are present in numbers. Caution: These insecticides should be used in accordance with the manufacturer's directions.

An experience to be prized: In the summer of '54 engaging in a story-telling spree on the King Ranch, during the Southwest Writers' Conference. After a barbecue on the famous ranch, the crowd of several hundred listened to several brilliant story-tellers and me.

One was a renowned lawyer-author, another a Mormon writer and another a New Mexico poet and fiction writer.

"The best-laid plans . . ." A band of criminals was going to rob a bank. After the "joint" had been "cased" and each man assigned his place, the robbery was pulled and the outlaws made their getaway.

It so happened that two little children were playing nearby and they noticed an automobile which was parked for a good while. They wrote the license number in chalk on the sidewalk. Policemen learned of this and they rounded up the gang. The license number was that of the get-away car.

There was a classic retort that Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn baseball club, made when a surgeon who had charged $9,500 for an operation on a Dodger's hand said he was willing to leave the reasonableness of the charge up to a committee of doctors. O'Malley said, in effect, "We will take our chances with a jury made up of men who are used to receiving doctor bills instead of those who are in the business of sending them."

The poet wrote, "I am part of all I have met." Wouldn't it have been more accurate, "All I have met is a part of me"? The places you've seen, the songs you have heard, the people you have known — all these have shaped your philosophy, colored your thinking, altered your life.

You've got to admire a man who may be down and out and who asks for money but offers to do some work in return. Last summer in Fort Worth, such an individual said to me, "Friend, I need money; do you know of any lawn that needs mowing?" We were in the Hotel Texas lobby at the time and I couldn't see a lawn in any direction but I admired his willingness to work so I handed him a quarter.

EXPRESSWAYS MEET in this gigantic interchange in Detroit, a key part of the freeway system which could carry some of the Motor City's auto-riding populace to rural safety. Although civil defense studies show that COMPLETE evacuation of large cities after warning of likely attack is not generally feasible under today's warning times, a big start toward more evacuation capacity is being made in urban freeway construction under the new National Interstate Highway program. 4-H Club Members To Get Safety And Citizenship Awards CHICAGO—Two 4-H Club activities in full swing throughout the state will benefit many families and bring honors to club members as well. They are the national 4-H Safety and Citizenship programs arranged by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Popular with 4-Hers, participation in the programs enables them to help themselves, their parents and neighbors. Furthermore, they have a good chance to earn well deserved rewards for doing an outstanding job. Records are judged by the State Extension Service, which conducts the programs.

In safety there are county, state and national awards. To each of the eight national winners will go to a $400 scholarship to be used at any accredited college or university. The 1957 state winner will be a delegate to the five-day national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago with all expenses paid. General Motors is donor of these and other awards in the safety program.

Among the many phases of the activity are those which pertain to some of the more hazardous aspects of rural life such as farm machinery, animals, automobiles, swimming, and firearms. Under the direction of local 4-H leaders, members also conduct campaigns to correct unsafe conditions in the community.

This year marks the 10th anniversary of the citizenship program, and all awards will again be given in honor of Thos. E. Wilson, Chicago, pioneer sustainer of 4-H work. National awards are $400 college scholarships for girl, and the best in the state will each receive a laudatory certificate of honor.

ROADS TO SURVIVAL

New Interstate Highway Net to Aid CD Evacuation

A line on a drawing board today may someday save your life. That line might be one of CIVIL DEFENSE auxiliary police will be needed in great numbers to help control traffic if warning of impending enemy attack ever forces cities to evacuate. Banning of cross traffic, and permitting one-way outbound traffic only on arterials and the great urban freeways now being built will aid these men in their thankless task. (FCDA Photo)

America's roads to survival, a part of the 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways that will be carefully laid out over the continent within the next 12 years.

THIS INTEGRATED $33,000,000,000 network — the world's greatest public works project — will include freeways running from the heart of major cities to the outskirts and beyond. Over these roads, the millions who live and work in cities could seek the safety of distance from a nuclear bomb blast if adequate warning of impending attack were given.

In normal times, restless Americans drive 550,000,000-000 miles a year in private autos. Families must also rely on cars to flee from danger in the event of civil defense emergency.

The automobile is a rolling home in an emergency, the Federal Civil Defense Administration points out. You can eat and sleep in it, keep warm and dry, receive vital instructions by radio, drive out of danger areas, and even get some shelter against blast or fallout.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Can't Understand This Hard Money Talk; He Asks "What Other Kind Is There?"

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses money this week, a subject he seems to have mostly a theoretical knowledge of.

J. A.

Dear editor:
I was out here on my farm yesterday afternoon sitting in the shade of a tree meditating on the hard money policy I understand is now in effect, which puzzles me as the newspapers are full of talk about this as though it was something new, whereas I always thought a hard money policy had been in effect ever since I learned it took a nickle to buy an ice cream cone. Is there any other kind?

At any rate, I got to watching a newspaper blown along the ground and was speculating on whether it would blow over close enough for me to reach it without getting up, I don't mind getting up to get a newspaper if it's time to get up and stretch anyway, but this ruck-through-life philosophy never did appeal to me and I kept sitting there and sure enough the wind maneuvered it around and finally it did land right at my feet and I reached out and got it and opened it up and ran into a hard money article that disturbed me.

According to this article, a financial expert in Washington testifying before a Congressional committee, admitted that higher interests charges on home mortgages "might have increased monthly payments to home buyers by as much as $10 a month, but if that helps to hold down other costs, and I think it does, it is well worth while."

As I understand this, if a man paying for a home has to pay

$10 a month more interest, he's better off. He won't get through paying for the home any sooner but it'll save him money because he can thus spend $10 less for groceries or clothes or a television or gasoline or other essentials.

though if the experts really want me to get ahead, they could go one step further and shave $12 instead of $10 off the latter, or whatever item it is I'm buying, and give me a margin to play on. I have found though that when a theory comes up against hard money, hard money generally wins.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Brother Of Local Woman Killed In Truck Collision

Barney Stark, 69, farmer in the Kress community and brother of Mrs. Lola Cartwright of Munday, was killed on Monday morning, July 8, when his pickup truck collided with a truck partially loaded with cement sacks.

The accident occurred at the intersection of a county road and FM Road 598 between Rock Creek and Lockney.

Briscoe County Sheriff Johnny Lanham said the vehicles collided when Stark's pickup pulled onto the highway into the path of the Tomlin Fleming Gin Co. truck driven by Leroy Bardell of Silverton, who was not injured. Lanham and highway patrolmen from Tullia investigated the accident.

Stark was taken to a Lockney hospital, and was pronounced dead on arrival. A native of Grayson County, he had lived in Swisher County for 57 years.

Funeral services were held July 10 from the Silverton First Baptist Church with A. C. McIlroy of the Kress Church of Christ officiating. Burial was in the Silverton Cemetery.

Other survivors include his wife; five sons, Frank of Tullia, L. D., Edwin, Argel and Bobby, all of Kress; three daughters, Mrs. Bernice Stark of Tullia, Mrs. Louise Rowell of Plainview and Mrs. Datine Vineyard of Kress; one brother, Pete of Tullia; three sisters, Mrs. E. R. Lovvorn of Lockney and Mrs. Ollie Stark and Mrs. Bun Stark, both of Kress, and 10 grandchildren.

BURNISONS RETURN FROM VACATION TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Burnison returned home Monday night from a 15 day vacation in New Mexico. They were accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thompson, Sandra and Wayne, of Dallas, Dr. and Mrs. Elmo Anderson, Kay and Sherry Ann, of Albuquerque and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Anderson, Linda and Debra June, of Clovis.

They visited Eagle Nest, Red River, Sand Hill Mountains and Cimaron Canyons. Horseback riding up the cool mountain trails was one of the enjoyable highlights of the trip. They reported cool weather and a wonderful time.

GRAYS RETURN FROM ENJOYABLE VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Gray have just returned from an extended trip through Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, and Georgia. They went through the cavern on Look Out mountains, also visited the old battlefields where Mrs. Gray's grandfather and father fought in the Civil War. They visited Mrs. Gray's old home in Alabama, which she left 62 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. King and daughters left Wednesday for a weeks vacation in Ruidoso, N. M.

Mrs. W. C. Hertel and Henrietta returned home last Tuesday from a week's vacation trip to points in California.

Two Accidents Are Investigated In June

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated a total of two accidents in Knox County during June, Capt. K. B. Hallmark, Jr., commanding officer, reported, with the following breakdown: one property damage, one personal injury and no fatal accidents.

Capt. Hallmark reported a total property damage of $3,755 with two persons injured. This is a decrease of four accidents for the same period of 1956.

Patrolmen of the Wichita Falls district contacted a total of 2,331 traffic law violators during the month. Capt. Hallmark reported that 639 were arrested, while 1,692 were warned of violation of the state's traffic laws.

Speeding was the leading cause of arrest, with no operators' license, second, and improper passing ranking third.

Former Rhineland Resident Passes

Word was received here this week of the death of Sister M. Thersia. She is a former resident of Rhineland and will be remembered by many of the older ones as Cecelia Fetsch.

Sister M. Thersia had been in ill health for several months and passed away on Tuesday, July 9, in Jonesboro, Ark. Burial was in Jonesboro on July 11.
