Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

It's getting to where a cool front means something, now.

k-k

For some weeks, and months, as we sweltered in the heat and hoped for some relief, we'd listen to weather reports on radio and TV. Those cool fronts would appear far up in the north, cause one to mop a sweating brow and look forward to their appearance in this vicinity.

k-k

Finally, they would arrive but we'd scarcely know it if we hadn't been taking careful cognizance of reports from the weather prognosticators. Sometimes, too, they'd make so little difference in the temperature that even those putting out the weather reports would offer apologies. And we'd go wearily along our way and watch carefully for indications of another cooling off spell.

k-k

But the one that came in last Saturday was kinda like we'd been expecting and hoping for. Made one walk more briskly and with a little more springing step, and feel like that "git up and go that had got up and went" had returned again.

k-k

Then Tuesday morning, we awoke and that other cool front had arrived. It had a little more vigor and nip than the other one and caused one to believe that those who'd been talking about getting your heavier clothes ready might be right, after all.

k-k

And as we started off for the office, the "lady of the house" offered a suggestion that we substitute a long-sleeved shirt for that short-sleeved summer sport model. At first we declined, then decided that maybe she was more right than wrong. When the time comes that she begins to dig out more bed cover and dons a sweater, jacket or coat, it's time for us to begin thinking of discarding said sport shirts, however reluctant we may be to the idea.

k-k

So we donned a shirt that covered our arms and with a tail that needed tucking into the britches, picked up our hat and started for the door. "Oh," she says, "you're going to wear that straw hat, anyway." We replied, "Yep" and departed.

k-k

Seems kinda funny how a fellow can become attached to an inanimate article like a straw hat. Just like an old shoe — when they become greasy and dirty, with perspiration spots showing through all around and somewhat wilted from taking too many local showers, the more comfortable they feel to the noggin.

k-k

We've never been too eager to change too quickly, and we figure that those who start setting "felt hat days" when the temperature still hovers around the 100-mark are just trying to promote some merchandising schemes and boost sales. And we don't believe they'll run completely out of winter felts before we've gotten the maximum use out of our comfortable straw. We never did like to observe "felt hat day" before October, and Tuesday was only September 30.

k-k

They say around town that we and "Appleknocker" Harpham are always the last to make the transition from straw to felt in the fall and the first to blossom out in straws in the spring. It's been several weeks, now, since J. C. first mentioned that some agitation had been going on at his house for the change, but he was sticking to his guns.

k-k

Another friend, J. J. Keel, we believe is just about as ardent. We've seen him with a coat on and hunkered up at the shoulders, but sticking to that faithful old straw.

k-k

But since the prognosticators are becoming more accurate about the cool fronts, it looks like we'll go through a spell of long-sleeved shirts and felt hats — and before long those coats and jackets that hamper the free movement of arms and shoulders.

Budget Goal Is Announced In First Methodist Church Campaign For Funds

The budget educational campaign at the First Methodist Church in Munday has moved into its second week.

Already, many of the committees have begun functioning. The over-all budget goal has been set at $20,000. It is hoped that the budget for the church year, 1958-59, will be completely underwritten with pledges when this campaign reaches its climax on October 20.

W. R. Moore, Jr., is serving as chairman of solicitation. Working with him as division leaders are John C. Spann and Russell Penick. These two division leaders will, in turn, select captains of visitation, and each captain will select those who will be working with him on his team.

The actual period of solicitation will begin Monday, October 13, with a kick-off dinner and will terminate on Monday, October 20, with "Victory Night" at which time the final results of the canvass will be announced.

Our Needs Stressed
Last Sunday the topic of the day was "Our Needs." Each Sunday school teacher was asked to spend five minutes of the class session on this topic.

The needs were further brought to the attention of the congregation by means of the church bulletin and signs and posters.

M. L. Wiggins, at the morning service, and Russell Penick, at the evening service, gave further short talks on the church needs.

It was indicated that the church hopes to spend some $20,000 during the year. The budget not only provides for local operating expenses, but also includes such things as missions, orphanages, hospitals, relief for the poor, colleges and other benevolences.

He Found His Cow, But She Was Dead

Claude Hill was riding out and walking on his pasture several days ago, searching for a missing cow. She was a young cow, valued at around $200, and Mr. Hill didn't want to lose her.

After extended search, he came upon the valued cow. She didn't run from him or to him. She didn't move. She was dead as a door nail.

She was found in a place in his pasture, about six miles southeast of Munday, where lots of hunting has been taking place. Mr. Hill surmises his cow had been shot. He isn't prohibiting hunting on his place, but he is urging hunters to be extremely careful when shooting around livestock.

Moguls Open District Play Friday Night

After a week of rest so far as actual games are concerned, the Munday Moguls will open their conference football schedule next Friday night when they entertain the Paducah team on the local field.

Despite the fact that no game was played last Friday night, Coaches Hill and Snyder have had the Moguls in daily workouts and scrimmage plays in preparation for the game. Hope is running high this week among both the team and fans, as the Moguls continue strenuous workouts for shaping them up for this first conference tilt.

While the Moguls rested last Friday night, the Paducah team was taking a 7 to 40 defeat at the hands of Floydada.

IF THERE WERE NO OIL

Suppose — just suppose — that tomorrow not a single drop of oil or any oil product was available.

All transportation would stop — every automobile, every train, every plane, every truck. In oil-fueled electric plants throughout the country the dynamos would fall silent. Work on the farms, dependent as it is on oil-burning machines, would slow to a crawl. Homes would grow cold, and factories would close their doors.

Without oil total paralysis would descend upon the nation.

This little flight of fancy may serve to help emphasize the significance of Oil Progress Week, which is to be observed during October 12-18 period. It is an annual observance, in which the oil industry reports to the nation. Its purpose is to tell oil's own particular story — and also the story of the competitive free enterprise system that makes possible the existence of the industry.

The Week's slogan reads: "Today — oil builds your tomorrow." It will be a tomorrow in which more and better oil products will make this country a finer place to live.

THE BIBLE — THE WORD OF LIFE

The 18th annual National Bible Week will be observed during the week of October 20-26. Once again it is sponsored by an all-faiths group, the Laymen's National Committee, Inc. This year's theme is: "The Bible — The Word Of Life." It is taken from the 2nd Chapter, 16th Verse of the Philippians.

National Bible Week is dedicated by men and women of all faiths as a tribute to the world's greatest Book. By a daily reading and study of the Bible we may hope to arouse a newer and greater spiritual force — a force that is desperately needed in today's troubled world. Those who know and follow the precepts of the Bible will always fight the effort to substitute the pagan state as arbiter of what is right and wrong in our lives.

Eli Lilly & Company, the principal producer of the Salk polio vaccine, has earned a profit of but 6 1/2 cents per dose.

There are 105 companies with common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange which were founded a century or more ago.

AN OLD STORY

Four major food companies just reduced their prices for coffee simultaneously.

But there has been no cry about "controlled" prices such as we heard when steel and oil prices had to be raised recently.

Apparently it is not considered "collusion" by the politicians when prices drop. It seems to be pretty well understood that over-supply or lack of demand can cause reductions. But if prices go up for good and sufficient reasons, such as higher charges for raw materials, increased wages, crop shortages, etc., that's a different story — then the vote seekers cry plot to rob the consumer.

The steel and oil industries were hauled over the coals recently when they had to raise prices due to uncontrollable increases in the cost of production, over which they had no more control than did the food companies over conditions that caused the drop in coffee prices. Steel and oil will drop as well as increase in price. Our free market system calls for such adjustments.

"COVER-TO-COVER READERS"

From the Belmont, Ohio, Chronicle: "A strong voice of approval for advertising in weekly newspapers spoke out recently at a Milwaukee Press Association meeting.

"According to a front page article in The Publisher's Auxiliary, Alan R. McGinnis, chairman of the board of a Milwaukee advertising agency, stated: ' . . . It is my opinion, although not officially documented, that subscribers of weekly newspapers will come closer to being cover-to-cover readers than any other print medium available . . . .

"I don't subscribe to the thought that the way to get maximum return on the client dollar is necessarily that of buying as much circulation as possible."

"Along with the obvious advantage of reasonable column rates, is the fact that a full-page ad in a weekly will hit the reader's eye like a rocket burst and he will remember that advertiser's name and product because it is not buried in forty or fifty pages of newspaper."

An article in The Exchange Magazine states that business aircraft owned by corporations and individuals now exceed 26,000 — 15 times the fleets of all airlines combined. The business fleet flies nearly a billion air miles a year.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer

Texas' senior citizens stand to get a better shake in nursing homes as far as care, safety and comfort are concerned with the latest action from the State Board of Health.

Revisions in existing "standards for nursing and care homes" were adopted by board members at their recent quarterly meeting in Austin. More than 9,000 elderly persons residing in 560 licensed nursing homes in Texas stand to benefit from improved nursing care.

The board's action will prevent future applicants for state licenses from using existing buildings as nursing homes unless electrical wiring conforms to national electrical codes and unless all walls and materials are capable of resisting fire for at least one hour. Too, roofs must be constructed of non-combustible material and the building's heating system must be vented.

The new standards also discourage occupancy of upper floors of multi-storied homes unless they are equipped with automatic sprinkling systems.

New nursing home construction or remodeling plans must be submitted to the State Department of Health for review and approval, according to the Board of Health's new rulings. In new construction, private rooms must contain at least 100 square feet of floor space, and at least 72 feet must be devoted to each bed in wards of multi-bed rooms.

The revised standards require that nursing home laundry rooms be separate and screened, with washing machines connected to sewer systems. Invoices must be kept on foods purchased for patients. The new code asks that daily meals include the basic foods contained in "Texas Food Standard", prepared by the Texas Nutrition Council.

Other provisions set up in the new standards are aimed at keeping the State Department of Health informed as to the policies concerning the operation of the homes. This will include information on types of patients, restrictive rules and charges or refunds.

The upgrading of nursing homes standards is the aim of the new standards. All future applicants for state licenses to operate nursing or care homes are required to be graduates of an

MODERN HOMEMAKING Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

Start the day right! Start the day with a good breakfast. Good breakfasts make good sense. After the consecutive night hours without food, usually about 12 hours, the body needs refueling. Breakfast can mean an increase in mental and physical efficiency. Get 1/4 to 1/3 of the day's food at breakfast time and you'll be more alert, you won't tire so easily.

The percentage of non-eaters of breakfast is far too high. In most cases they say they don't have time to eat breakfast. The fifteen minutes it takes to eat a pleasant, nourishing breakfast are far more beneficial, far better spent on breakfast than on sleep.

Breakfast need not be monotonous. There is no real reason for confining the menu to fruit, cereal, bacon, ham, sausage, eggs, toast, coffee and milk. From this list can come a very fine menu indeed, but other foods fit equally well into the breakfast pattern.

Recently, there has been much promotion of soup for breakfast. May not sound good but try it. A steaming mug of tomato soup as a breakfast starter on a cool morning is as pleasing as a glass of cold tomato juice on a hot morning.

The crisp new apples of the season baked to tenderness are delicious for breakfast. Center a cereal bowl with a plump baked apple then surround the apple with a favorite ready-to-eat cer-eat. Serve with brown sugar and milk or cream.

Vary the bread at breakfast time. Make toast from a variety of breads. Split hamburger buns and hot dog rolls, spread them with butter or margarine and toast them to a golden brown. Follow an old-fashioned practice and serve piping hot, crisp corn bread. A variety of foods in breakfast menus may turn the trick in getting a non-eater to become a breakfast enthusiast.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Poppy Seed Cheese Sticks: Prepare 2 cups biscuit mix according to package directions or prepare biscuit dough from any favorite recipe using 2 cups flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and roll or pat into a rectangle about 8x12 inches. Spread dough with 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with 4 tablespoons finely grated American process cheese and 2 tablespoons poppy seed. With sharp knife, cut dough into 1x3 inch sticks. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in hot gas oven (450 deg. F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 32 sticks.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Snyder and Paula last Saturday and Sunday were Ralph Snyder and son, Larry, and Roth Anderson of Walters, Okla. Ray accompanied them to Lubbock and attended the Texas Tech-West Texas football game on Saturday night.

BOYCE HOUSE

New York jottings: Prices are sometimes surprisingly reasonable in the big town. For instance, at a cafeteria across the street from Madison Square Garden oatmeal with milk is 20 cents.

Along the sidewalks are litter baskets. Intended to keep the streets free of trash, these baskets also serve as the source of free reading material. You will see, every now and then, a man salvaging a discarded newspaper.

The lobbies of the Astor, the Algonquin and several other hotels did not look especially hospitable — the chairs must have been out for re-upholstering; but the Piccadilly presented a small jewel-like lobby with, to one side and up a few steps, the parlor; it was a scene of subdued splendor; silver encrusted beams, paneling in reddish wood, three paintings in the Gainsborough tradition.

An old-time hearse, horse-drawn, stood in front of a movie house. Along the street strolled a man in a long dark cloak accompanied by a brunette in full black dress that almost swept the sidewalk. Their eyes were sinister. The attraction at the movie house? "The Bride of Dracula."

"Tony Canzoneri's Bar" — and the sign brought back memories of the once-great boxer — lightweight champion of the world, wasn't he?

And there is Mickey Walker's Bar. "The toy bulldog," he was called and he held the welter and middleweight titles. He used to fight Harry Greb on even terms — and Greb once defeated Gene Tunney. Legend has it that both Walker and Greb trained in unorthodox fashion and that after they had fought each other, they met that same night in a bar, had an argument as to who really had won, went into the alley and resumed the fight where they had left off.

And Jack Dempsey's Cafe — the Manassa Mauler, still "the Champ."

Touches of Texas: Spindletop Cafe, with an oil derrick painted on the door; and opposite Madison Square Garden, a cowboy shop.

Quaint expression: A waitress turning in an order for a hamburger plain called, "Hamburger! Cancel the mustard!"

And a waiter with the features of a bar-room bouncer and a growling voice said, when this visitor ordered a sirloin, "It's big — but it's tough; I'd rather bring you the filet mignon." So I took that.

Seeing tiny turtles with painted backs for sale at several stands made me wonder what happens to all these creatures — for you see them on sale as souvenirs in every city. And can you think of a more useless gift?

A bellboy, confronted by five suitcases, sized up the situation, then grasped the handles of two in his left hand, after much grappling, succeeded in grasping all three handles in his right hand and lifted all five. I broke into spontaneous applause.

Oat Pastures Can Be Improved By Use Of Nitrogen

The application of nitrogen fertilizer at seeding time in the fall will increase the grazing value of small grains and step up their forage production during the fall and winter months. Too, says W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, the quality of their forage will be improved.

Nitrogen needs will vary, points out the chemist. Some soils will require no additional nitrogen while others will need from 20 to 40 pounds an acre.

Phosphorus is another plant food that is often needed by fall sown small grain. The amount may vary from none to 40 pounds an acre. On sandy, light textured soils, potash may also be needed, says Bennett.

If fall seeded small grains are to be used for grain production and not grazed, Bennett says nitrogen should not be applied at seeding time in the areas north of Waco, because of the possibility of winter killing. An early spring application of nitrogen is recommended for these areas.

In order to determine the exact fertilizer needs for a particular field, Bennett recommends soil testing. Complete details on how to take soil samples and prepare them for mailing to a soil testing laboratory may be obtained from local county agents, he says.

TAKE BACKACHE OUT OF CLEANING JOBS

Do you usually end up with an aching back on cleaning days? If so you may be interested in a study made by Rhode Island Experiment Station. Several types of cleaning equipment were used by tall, average height and short home makers for various regular cleaning jobs to find the easiest and best methods.

Vacuum cleaners under low furniture proved one of the more difficult jobs. The study showed that it is much easier to kneel so that you can see and reach the area to be cleaned and use the stronger leg muscles instead of the back muscles for lifting.

Arrangement of furniture counts, too, in easy cleaning. About 4 feet of space is needed in front of any item of furniture that stands close to the floor in order to run the vacuum tool underneath conveniently. Exactly how much space is needed depends somewhat on the type of cleaner and the clearance under the furniture. That is another point to be considered when buying furniture. The choice would be furniture built to the floor or with considerable clearance above it.

How you use the cleaner on the floor counts, too. Many women try pushing the cleaner as far as they can reach. Bending, stretching and back strain can be saved by keeping each stroke within easy reach and stepping back and forth with each stroke.

Many lovely fabrics are available for school, sport and dress garments. With so many blends of synthetics and natural fibers to choose from, the label becomes more important than ever. Look for a good descriptive label when you buy. It should tell you what the fiber is, how to handle it, and what service you can expect from it. — S. C. Kinsey

Cotton Quiz

WHERE DOES COTTON KHAKI GET ITS NAME?

KHAKI IS THE EAST INDIAN WORD FOR "EARTH COLOR".

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Searcey and Miss Debbie Clowdis visited Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barnes and Sus and Mrs. Ella Clowdis in Abilene last Sunday.

Roughage Feeding Cuts Dairy Costs

Increased milk profits may be received by feeding dairy cows all the good roughage they will eat says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman.

This is true because nutrients in roughage cost less than nutrients in other forms. Meekma adds. He points out that a cow on pasture will give more milk if she receives supplementary feed, but the amount of supplement needed depends on the quality of pasture she is grazing and the quality of other roughage she receives, such as hay or silage.

So for an economical dairy ration, Meekma advises beginning with high-quality pasture or other roughage and adding concentrates which give the most protein value for the least money. Naturally the type of concentrate used will depend on the type which is most plentiful in the operator's particular locality.

The husbandman suggests contacting the local county agent for more advice on how to produce and preserve high-quality roughage and on which concentrates to feed with the roughage to make the most economical ration. He reminds that any decrease in the feed bill is an increase in net profit.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

Travel and transportation expenses have been a big subject of conversation between tax men and business travelers during the past year. The Internal Revenue Service has always made thousands of audits of traveling men's expenses each year.

The Service takes a dim view of personal vacations and non-business travel being charged off of the taxpayer's income tax as a business expense.

If you have business travel expenses you should keep a careful record of your expenses. This record may come in handy for discussion purposes when the Internal Revenue Agent calls.

New mix and match sets for the kitchen include cotton terry cloth dish towels and aprons in coordinated colors and patterns. The towels and aprons may be purchased together as a set or separately.

THE BRAZOS RIVER AUTHORITY formally takes possession of its new six-acre building site at the fair grounds in Waco as J. H. Kulgen, the president, turns over a check for $20,000 to Mayor Joe Ward. The B.R.A. bought the land from the city and hopes to start work on its new headquarters by the first of 1959.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

LEADING QUESTIONS
Many think that no court will allow a lawyer to ask leading questions. But under some circumstances leading questions are proper, and it may be a lawyer's duty to ask them — to get the truth before the court.

For example, in examining a "hostile" witness or in cross-examining his opponent's witness, a lawyer may be compelled to "lead" the witness to the critical points at issue.

A leading question is one that suggests the answer. Like: "Isn't it true, Miss Jones, that you saw the defendant beat his wife?"

What makes leading questions sometimes improper?

To a friendly witness they may well suggest the answer the lawyer was fishing for, instead of getting the witness to tell unaided of the facts as he saw and heard them.

When a lawyer first asks questions of his own witness the testimony is given on "direct" examination; when the same witness answers his opponent's questions, the testimony is given on "cross-examination."

So as a rule a leading question is proper on cross-examination but improper on "direct" examination; when it might lead a witness to testify on material or important facts at issue in the trial.

On cross-examination the lawyer may be duty bound to test, by leading questions, the witness' memory or credibility, or to remind him of certain things to correct mistaken testimony.

Of course, to save time the court may also allow leading questions on direct examination to get certain background facts out of the way or to aid a child or certain other witnesses.

The judge may have to stop improper leading questions. He may let the lawyer ask the question again in non-leading form, or come back to the subject later on.

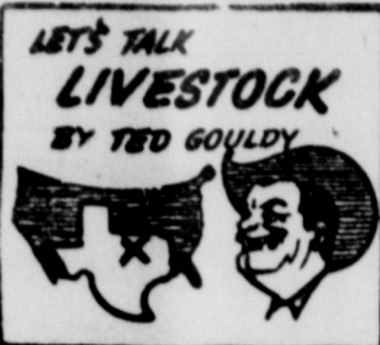

The main thing is to allow questions which will get at the truth for the sake of a just verdict.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Busby of Anson visited friends here last Thursday.

BRAZOS VALLEY FARMERS, harvesting near-record crops this year, are looking ahead to an even better year in 1959. Here Harry H. Moore, prize-winning farmer of Navasota, is supervising clearing of 250 acres of scrub timber to make new cotton land in the Brazos bottoms. The Brazos River Authority is cooperating with the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and the U.S. Soil Conservation Service in developing more such new irrigation possibilities along the Brazos.

CATTLE BUSINESS LEADS TEXAS FARM COMEBACK

FORT WORTH — Figures just released this week by the USDA reveal that in 1956, cattle and calves put $424,325,000 in Texas stockmen's pockets. In 1957 the total was $426,298,000.

With cattle and calf prices at Fort Worth this week ranging from $3 to $4 up on fed steers and yearlings compared with a year ago, and other classes up even more the results of 1958 indicate cattle and calves were a best bet for Texans.

Just a year ago this week, fat cows at Fort Worth sold for $13 to $15.50 and canners and cutters drew $8 to $13.50. Cows Monday sold for $13 to $22 here. Fat calves topped at $20, compared to $28 top today. Stocker calves at $24 on lights and $23 on heavies one year ago compare with $34 down today. The ten-dollar rise in stocker calf prices is echoed in yearling rates. One year ago fancy yearlings drew $21.50 and that's $10 or more shy of this year. Feeder cattle at $18 to $19 a year ago, compare with $26 feeders and down today. A few stocker cows sold from $10 to $15 last year at this time, comparable cows today would bring $18 to $25.

A climax for the good Fall season in cattle prices will take place at Fort Worth October 16-17 when a special two-day stocker and feeder sale for all breeds of cattle will be held. The sale and show will be sponsored by the Market Institute.

Coming at a time when demand for stockers in the Southwest has seldom, if ever, been greater, the sale offers stockmen in the Southwest an excellent opportunity to get set for winter.

In view of the higher prices for cattle and calves in 1958, farm income from that source should go far above the $500,000,000 mark this year.

Incidentally, one year ago this week top hogs closed at $19. Sows sold at $18 down a year ago. Fat lambs closed at $22 a year ago this week. Shorn lambs $21.50 down. Feeder lambs sold from $22 down.

Goats show a sharp increase over last year when the top was $5 to $5.50 against $8 for wether goats at Fort Worth Monday.

CATTLE OPEN FULLY STEADY TO STRONG

Cattle and calves were generally steady to strong at Fort Worth as stocker buyers were numerous and aggressive and shippers and independent packers also set a fast pace. There was some ineffective lower bids offered on the early rounds but these bidders were quick to surrender or go empty-handed.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings sold from $25 to $27 and medium and lower grades scaled from $18 to $24. Fat cows drew $19 to $21.50 and canners and cutters sold for $13 to $19. Bulls brought $18 to $22.50.

Good to choice slaughter calves ranged from $24.50 to $27.50 and common and medium sorts drew $19 to $24. Culls sold from $15 to $19. Medium and good stocker steer calves cashed at $27 to $32 and light weight stocker yearlings scaled from $31 downward. Feeder steers sold from $22 to $26, a load of strictly good feeders weighing 803 pounds from Les Ringo of Gordon at the $26 top. Heifer calves sold mostly from $29 downward, a few light weights above that range.

HOG PRICES IN SHARP BREAK, TOP $21.00
The delayed set a break in swine prices which featured the close of livestock trade at northern centers last week struck at Fort Worth Monday. After considerable delay in getting trading started, during which it was well past midmorning before any movement toward the scales started, salesmen were forced to yield.

At the close butcher hogs and packing sows were 50 cents to mostly $1 per hundred lower. Shippers took about a deck of choice hogs at $21 and the other choice hogs sold at $20.75. Medium to good butchers cashed at $19 to $20.50. Sows sold from $19 to $20.

SHEEP AND LAMBS STEADY, GOATS FULLY STEADY

Sheep and lambs sold steady at Fort Worth Monday and several lots of goats also commanded firm prices. Good and choice fat lambs cashed at $20 to $22, some woolskins at $21. Top prices were paid for No. 1 pelt lambs. Cull to medium lambs sold from $14 to $19. Stocker and feeder lambs sold mostly from $19 to $21, a few higher. Slaughter ewes sold from $7 to $8. Aged slaughter bucks sold for $6 to $6.50. Goats ranged from $6 on hard canners, up to $8 for fat wethers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bill Pierce and children of Midland visited her mother, Mrs. P. V. Williams, over the week end.

EGG LICENSES OVERDUE FOR MANY

September 1, 1958, marked the deadline for Texas egg industry men to secure 1959 licenses required under the Texas Egg Law, and some 1500 firms who haven't complied face possible cease-business action by Texas Department of Agriculture inspectors.

About one-third of Texas egg dealers, wholesalers, processors and brokers required by law to be licensed before doing business failed to make application for renewal or initial license by September 1, when 1958 licenses expired. Licensing for the 1959 period began August 1, and all licenses issued prior to August 1 were valid only for the remainder of the 1958 licensing period just ended.

Whereas total 1958 egg business licenses issued up to July of this year were more than 4500, applications for 1959 licenses received up until September 15 totaled below 3,000. This lag in applications is partially due to the relative newness of the licensing law which first became effective a year ago.

Egg firms which have not made application for 1959 licensing should do so immediately to avoid any difficulty in their operations. Licenses can be obtained by writing to the Texas Department of Agriculture, Capitol Station, Austin 11, Texas.

TEXAS ROSE BUSINESS BOOMS

Business is booming in the Texas rose belt. The area around Tyler is Smith County, known everywhere as the "Rose Capitol of the World" is covered with countless acres of field-grown rose bushes numbering into the millions.

Evidence of the growth of this important agricultural industry is borne out in the increasing volume of rose field inspections conducted by Texas Department of Agriculture nursery inspectors. The latest inspection period from August 15 through September 5 of this year required 11 inspectors to cover 2,034 acres in Smith County containing some 19,623,000 rose bushes.

Safety Scores At the Half

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

TRAFFIC SAFETY is receiving "the old college try" these days at many campuses throughout the country.

Students at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa, for instance, have staged several safety demonstrations during football games when, as one campus leader put it, "We have a captive audience."

At one game last season, three police squad cars lined up at the goal post during half time to attract the attention of spectators. An announcement over the loudspeaker informed students that they were about to see the distance it takes to stop a car at various speeds.

When a siren sounded teams of students picked up the ends of eight-foot-wide canvas strips placed in front of each car and went into action.

For a stopping distance of 20 miles per hour, one strip was pulled out 15 yards—for 40 mph, a strip was pulled to the 50 yard line (150 feet) and for 60 mph, the third strip was pulled the full length of the football field.

During another game, fans were surprised to learn at half-time that tires, glass area, side-view mirrors, etc., on their cars had been safety checked by a team of students during the first half... more than 200 cars were inspected in the stadium parking lot.

Another half-time safety feature was a driving "roadway" in front of the grandstand. Tests included straight-line driving, backing, stopping and parking. Participants were judged by a group of students.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own!

Adventures in ADVERTISING

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hid himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER

(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgin English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

"Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makeni side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

and two cups of coffee — 60 cents.

I sat in the lobby and reveled in thoughts of the history of the famous old hostelry, construction of which began in 1859. (The unfinished building was used by the Confederates and the Federals as a barracks and as a prison.)

Tradition says that Col. John Overton was riding by, "before the War", saw an auction in progress and the auctioneer waved in the direction of a cow that was tied to a stump. The colonel called out, "Fifteen dollars," and rode on. Later, he learned that he was the high bidder — but, instead of the cow, he had bought the lot. It was on this site that the Maxwell House was built.

The lobby is conducive to meditation. It is rather dimly lighted; there are big columns; the floor is marble, of ancient gray, fringed with pink stone; a broad stairway has a balustrade with a huge knob which is half a globe, of glistening stone.

In a red leather chair with a high back, I sat and thought about the statesmen who had stood in the lobby, talking to a circle of admirers; and the banquets they had addressed; and the rooms, smoke-filled of course, where conferences of leaders meant the realization of some man's ambition to become governor or United States Senator — or the shattering of such a dream.

But suddenly there was a burst of activity and the "gallery" encircling the lobby was filled with a hundred lads, talking and laughing as they emerged from their home in Midland for a State Future Farmer breakfast.

And maybe it is just as well that one should keep in touch with the reality of the present and not become completely lost in the shadows of the past.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Is Up In Arms Over Scientist Who's Glad He Has Escaped Becoming A Farmer

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek seems a little riled up this week. He'll get over it.

Dear editor: There are some days when I'd just as soon not have seen a newspaper.

Yesterday I was reading along fairly contentedly, some people get excited over world events but I've been going on so long I've gotten used to them, when I ran into a statemnet that flabbergasted me.

A famous scientist was leaning back in his chair recalling his early days and he said a school teacher was responsible for his being a scientist.

"If it hadn't been for her, why I probably would be farming now," he said, with considerable self-satisfaction, as though he'd escaped ditch-digging or the penitentiary.

As I understand this, the better the teacher you have, the less likely you are to become a farmer, and I'll admit that at first this made me mad. One of the louisest arguments I ever heard for improving the teaching profession. Then I began to ease up a little.

Maybe some farmers had rather be scientists than farmers, and maybe some teachers measure their failure by the number of their pupils who fall into farming, but I don't believe I'd be willing to swap. I haven't won any gold medals for scientific achievement, but on the other hand you can't pin the hydrogen bomb on me. I haven't sailed a submarine under the ice at the North Pole, but on the other hand I've spent some mighty comfortable times under a tree in the shade on this Johnson grass farm. Every man to his own taste, and if every teacher had been as good as that scientist's teacher, and there weren't any farmers left, a lot of scientist would be getting mighty hungry.

On the other hand, I don't mind if this scientist figures he escaped a terrible fate because he had a good teacher. After all, if I'd had a different set of teachers when I was in grammar school, maybe I wouldn't be farming now. No telling what I might be doing. Might be a banker, a lawyer, a store keeper, an insurance salesman, why I might even be editing a newspaper or even teaching school. I'll tell you, a man never knows what a debt of gratitude he owes his teachers.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

WHAT HAPPENED TO ALL THOSE GRASSHOPPERS?

The late spring of 1958 will be remembered by many midwestern farmers as the "year the grasshoppers came". It was the worst invasion for Texas in 40 years and the heaviest in many neighboring states since 1949.

Spraying of nearly 5 million acres against the hoppers in 10 states apparently prevented any significant damage to wheat and other small grain crops. Rangeland, idle lands and roadsides were sprayed by planes and ground equipment in the cooperative federal-state-rancher program in all these states.

Migratory grasshoppers caused the major outbreaks this year. Weather conditions last fall and spring were ideal for their development, producing some freakish events over the West.

In April, one large migration converged on Las Vegas, Nev. The accumulated dead grasshopper bodies made a special city clean-up campaign necessary, but there was little damage to vegetation.

In May, swarms of flying hoppers descended on Tucson and other Arizona cities. Attracted by the lights, they flew into Phoenix en masse during the early morning hours, blanketing the city. Some were observed by commercial airline pilots at eleva-

Women Leaders to Kick Off 1958 "National Business Women's Week" Oct. 5

Miss Grace B. Daniels (left), president of The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and Miss Bertha Adkins, the new Under Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare of the United States, will kick off the nationwide celebration of 1958 "National Business Women's Week" in Washington October fifth. Founded 30 years ago by The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, "National Business Women's Week" is celebrated in 3400 home towns across the nation.

tions as high as 5,000 feet.

Texas highway right-of-ways and rangeland erupted with new hatched hoppers beginning in May. Quick action by the Texas Department of Agriculture, the federal government and local authorities resulted in some 924,000 acres of land being sprayed to prevent damages. In addition, many more thousands of acres were sprayed by individual land owners.

It is hoped that the spraying will keep down a possible heavy outbreak this fall and next spring. Department inspectors are keeping a close check of fall hoppers and an egg-count survey will be made early in 1959.

If another heavy infestation appears likely, preventive measures can be planned in advance and once again prevent a truly disastrous condition which grasshoppers are capable of creating.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.
