

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Kracker KrumbS

Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

This is January 1, 1959.

You woke up this morning facing a brand new year. What it will hold for us no one, not even the most learned, knows. What will develop during the 365 days ahead of us, individually, will depend a lot upon us as individuals.

Our constitution reminds us of the fact that "all men are created equal," and so the new year has given each of us an equal number of days, and what we do with them will be determined by our willingness, our determination, our health, our capabilities, our hopes and our foresight.

We can count the days ahead of us in 1959, but how will we count the days behind us as they pass by in that steady procession? We like this little poem by George Eliot which we found just the other day:

YOU MAY COUNT THAT DAY

If you sit down at set of sun
And count the acts that you have done

And counting, find
One self-denying deed, one word
That eased the heart of him who heard—

One glance most kind,
That fell like sunshine where it went
Then you may count that day
As well spent.

But if, through all the living day
You've cheered no heart, by eye or ray—

If, through it all
You've nothing done that you can trace
That brought sunshine to one face—

No act most small
That helped some soul and nothing cost—
Then count that day as worse
Than lost.

And while on the thought of deeds, etc., this little quote is rather fitting: "The distance on life's journey is marked not by the number of leaves torn from the calendar, but by the number of good deeds done."

So for all of you, we hope the new year will add to your courage strengthen your hopes, increase your friendships, brighten your future and give you all the prosperity you can stand. Most of us mortals couldn't stand a lot of prosperity, you know — and maybe that's why we don't have more of it.

All in all, we reckon the old year that bowed out of the picture just last night was pretty good to us. We made better crops than in several years, both in the summer grain crops, and in the winter harvest. Weather was very favorable to us at harvest time, prices for farm products stayed up pretty good, and lots of fellows paid more debts than they thought would be possible. Any way, 1958 is gone — and we have no way of recalling any of its days.

Next day after Christmas, the Mrs. came by the office after her personal mail. We handed her an invitation to a wedding shower as her only piece of mail that day. "That's a bad thing to get right here after Christmas," she said. "What about this?" she asked, and held up some two or three government tax return forms. A grim reminder that Santa Claus had done come and gone.

Mrs. Lillian Blanton and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Middleton and daughter of Lamesa were week end guests of Mrs. Cora Hatha-way. Sunday guests were Miss Emma Burroughs of Winoboro and Mrs. Bess Wright of Vernon

Drop In Farm Population Shows Reverse In 1957-58

The sharp decline in Texas farm population which occurred in 1956-57 does not appear to have continued during 1957-58, reports R. L. Skrabanek, professor, Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, Texas A&M College.

Skrabanek attributes this temporary reversal partly to the economic recession which tended to retard movement from farms because of a drop in the number of off-farm job opportunities. He said there also is some evidence that the recession caused the return of some workers to farm areas.

The 1958 farm population figure of 1,052,000 represents a decline of 335,000, or 24 percent, from the estimated farm population in 1950. It represents an increase of 34,000 from the 1957 estimate of 1,018,000.

As Texas' total population continues to grow, the proportion of farm population to the total population continues to decline. In April, 1958, farm residents comprised 11.3 percent of the total population, as compared to 17.9 percent in 1950.

This decline represents a continuation of a long-time trend. In 1910, about three of every five persons in Texas resided on a farm. The proportion living on farms continued to fall during intervening years, interrupted only during depression years and brief periods since World War II.

U. S. farm population in April, 1958, was 20,827,000. The proportion of the nation's farm population living in Texas remains relatively the same. In 1957 about 4.99 of every farm people in the nation resided in Texas. In 1958 the state's share was 5.05 out of every 100.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

If you own or operate a farm you will probably want to get and read the "Farmer's Tax Guide", Publication 225. This is a free booklet that tells farmers in a dirt farmer's language how to prepare their farm tax return.

Preparing a farm return on Form 1040-F and on Form 1040 is a complex business. It is probably the most important piece of paper work the average farmer has to do every year. Knowing how to prepare your tax return for a farm can save money as well as trouble.

All of the County Agents and the Internal Revenue Service offices have this free booklet. Go by and get your copy and then study it carefully.

COLD COMFORT

What kind of a system of medical care do the people of this country want?

The answer is that more than three-quarters of them want a system whereby they have the right to choose their own doctor — and, in addition, they want to assume all or part of the responsibility for paying their doctor bills.

These are findings of a recent survey conducted by the Opinion Research Corporation for the American Medical Association. It was also found the 88 per cent of the population believes the right to see the same doctor regularly is of vital importance, and that 89 per cent believe that medical care in this country has improved over the past 20 years.

On choosing the doctor, 76 per cent said they wanted to make the choice themselves, as against 13 per cent who saw no difference whether they or someone else made the choice, 8 per cent who preferred to have someone else choose, and 3 per cent with no opinion.

On the matter of paying the doctor bills, a hefty 79 per cent said they wanted to carry all or part of the load, either by direct payment or by paying a share of insurance premiums.

There's cold comfort in this for the advocates of socialized or government-run medicine. And there's equally cold comfort for any medical care system, whether governmental or otherwise, which deprives the patient the freedom of choice.

The nation's gasoline service stations have chalked up a notable record of fire safety. In a recent year, there were only 0.52 fires for each 100 properties operated. By contrast, there were 1.05 church fires for each 100 buildings; 2.65 school and college fires; 5.6 restaurant and tavern fires; and 48.3 hotel fires.

MILLERTON, N. Y., NEWS-REPUBLICAN: "One may assume that a proper understanding of the history of the world is necessary if citizens in a self-governing country are to pass intelligent judgement upon the issues that present themselves daily in connection with the modern world."

Changing Times reports that the cost of running state governments may total $25 billion this year — five times the 1946 figure. It adds that, as a rule, increased costs must be met with higher taxes, as most of the states have used up their surpluses and are in debt to the hilt.

NEW TARGETS

During the month of January, the annual March of Dimes campaign will be conducted again. And the 1959 observance will be the most important in its long history—and the most deserving of universal support.

The March of Dimes was originally directed at polio, and out of it came the great Salk vaccine. The polio fight is not over—as the Detroit epidemic of this year demonstrated. It will be continued until final victory is won.

But now the March of Dimes is to do much more. It is sponsored by The National Foundation, hitherto known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. That change in name is mightily significant. For the March of Dimes is moving against new targets. The first of these are two of the greatest cripplers of all—arthritis and birth defects. At least 11 million Americans suffer the pain of arthritis and rheumatism, and some 250,000 infants are born each year with some sort of defect. The National Foundation will now bring its great resources to bear in seeking victories over these cripplers—even as it continues its work in the field of polio.

The March of Dimes needs your help. Give it—enthusiastically and generously.

THE QUESTION IS HOW

Lyndon Johnson, the Senate Majority Leader, says: "Americans are a can-do, will-do people. They believe in progress and growth. They believe in ever-higher income and earnings for all the people. And they want tomorrow to be far better than yesterday."

Everyone will agree with such general objectives. The question is how to reach them. If we are to have ever-higher income and earnings, and if tomorrow is to be better than yesterday, we must have an expanding and improving economic machine. That means we must have tax policies, for instance, that will encourage investment and risk-taking. It means, above all, that we must have a climate which is favorable to the growth of businesses of all kinds and all sizes.

Whether we will have such a climate will in large part depend on the actions and attitudes of the Congress of which Senator Johnson is so influential a member.

Fans used to play a colorful part in the American scene in the summer-time. This was of course in the days before air-conditioning.

In churches you would see dozens of cardboard fans (on a handle) bearing the name of a local merchant or the undertaker, in motion as the minister spoke.

W. J. Bryan and the other orators of political or Chautauqua gatherings piled a palm-leaf fan with vigor while seated on the platform during the introducer's speech.

A good many girls had Japanese fans, made of silk bearing a bright scene; and other young ladies carried fans which they unfolded and used in a fluttering, decorative way. And did a pretty girl ever peer at you over the top of a fan placed against her demure face?

Texans are accused of being aggressive in proclaiming the greatness of their State; but Californians started these tactics. Can you remember when the "news-butcher" came through the train, calling, not "figs" but "California figs" and "California oranges"? And there was a brand of chewing gum called "California Juicy Fruit."

Yes, the Californians started this state-boasting business; Texans took it up and beat 'em at the game.

A man who had, for most of his life, drunk more than a little, always had an eye for the ladies and experienced a stormy political career, was tricked with a heart attack. A brother, of Puritan-like mold, said, "I warned you, time and again; and now you might go at any time." The other exclaimed, "H—! I've lived a dozen lives."

DRYING GRAIN WITH SOLAR ENERGY

A practical way has been found for drying grain with energy from the sun. It is a relatively simple method of converting an unheated-air grain-drying system into a heated-air operation without the necessity of artificial heat. Here's how!

Begin by fastening plywood to the underside of the grain bin roof rafters, leaving an open space about five inches thick. Then paint the bin roof black. The roof absorbs the sun's heat and the 5-inch thick area collects it. Next, reverse the bin fan, pulling the warm air down through the wet grain.

What are the results? On a 70-degree day, with bright sunshine, temperature of the air drawn through the roof "heater" was about 85 degrees. The 15-degree difference is the key to the whole system. Each cubic foot of the 85-degree air takes about twice as much moisture out of wet grain as the same amount of 70-degree air.

If the sun doesn't shine, keep the fan running to cool the grain until it does. In tests, engineers dried shelled corn down from 21% to 14% moisture content with only 3 sunny days out of 23 that it was in storage.

HAULING MILK IN A BAG

A giant rubber-fabric container resembling an over-sized tooth paste tube offers big promise of cost saving for dairymen. Called "Sealdtank", it has been developed by joint effort of the rubber, trucking and dairy industries, and measures 55 inches in diameter, 35 feet long and holds 3,800 gallons of milk. When empty, the container lies flat or can be rolled into a compact package.

Sealdtank means that for the first time a dry-liquid two-way haul can be accomplished transporting dry cargo in one direction and liquid cargo on a return trip — in the same standard trailer or truck. The upshot is that it converts thousands of trucks, railroad box cars and gondola cars into potential liquid carriers of milk.

"Bagged milk" may mean a saving in cost of getting milk to market. Since the milk can be hauled on the regularly scheduled run of a common motor carrier, rates need only cover the actual cost of the milk haul, an estimated saving of 20% or more.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hayley and children of Fort Worth were week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Henslee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bell of Lovington N. M., visited her mother, Mrs. Kate Browning, and other relatives here over the holidays.

People, Spots In The News

'COOLIE HATS' actually are metal roofs of granaries showing above floodwaters of Grand river near Triplett in north central Missouri.

PARIS models use a real potato sack imported from U.S., printed with few simple "cut here" dotted lines, to get sack effect.

ANOTHER FLOOD, this one of grain, starts journey to Europe from giant Cargill elevator near St. Louis. Full-time loadings prevent "plugging full" of elevators.

POLAR PLUNGE looks like ideal hot-weather pastime, and these bears in Cologne, West Germany zoo are just the ones that can do it with aplomb and abandon.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

KEEP RECORDS — SAVE TAXES

There is no time like the present to start a procedure that will aid you with next year's income tax calculations. That is to maintain a record of your income and outgo. Such a record can be simple and brief but it may save you tax dollars and many hours of work in filling out tax forms.

The average man who works for a wage or salary doesn't have to concern himself about keeping books and records — at least so he thinks. His employer keeps a reliable record of his earnings and Uncle Sam looks primarily to the employer for information on his earnings and for the withholding of various taxes out of his wages.

But whether or not you run a business of your own, you have a partner who each year is claiming a substantial interest in your personal income. And the law requires that you keep books for him in case he ever asks for an accounting.

Perhaps you own your home or are paying it out in installments. It's likely that some day you may sell that house. When you do you'll want to be able to prove whether you realized a gain or a loss on that sale. If a gain in capital resulted, it probably will add to your income tax. If a loss was suffered, it may possibly reduce your income tax. You may have made certain capital improvements on the house while you lived in it, but unless you can show what out-of-pocket expense you incurred while making them, you may not get credit for them in your cost basis so as to prove that you had no capital gain or that you had a loss.

Or perhaps you received that little summer cottage on the lake as a gift from your father. If you ever sell it, you should be able to show Uncle Sam not only the cost of improvements you made on it while you owned it, but also what it was worth for tax purposes before Dad gave it to you.

It may be that you are receiving an annuity on an insurance policy. If so, do you know how much that policy costs you and how much of that cost you have recovered tax-free to date?

There are many kinds of transactions you enter into that may some day affect the computation of your personal income tax. The best proof of the cost of anything you've purchased is a receipted bill or canceled check. If one of these pieces of evidence relates to any transaction that may affect your income in later years, it's a good idea to keep it. Your "partner" may some day ask to see it.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Harrison during the Christmas holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Voss and children of Dublin, Terry Don Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harrison and daughter of Houston and Capt. and Mrs. Stephen Harrison and children of Fort Sumpter, S. C.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Looks Forward To 1959; He's Prepared To Withstand Any Form Of Progress

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has found out a new year has arrived. Obviously somebody gave him a calendar.

Dear editor:
A lot of people, especially those who worry about the hydrogen bomb, were afraid 1959 wasn't going to get here, but if you'll look outside you'll notice it's here, and I have an idea New Years will keep on coming, there's not a thing man can do to stop it.

And as usual, most people are making resolutions and mapping plans for the next twelve months, except me. I don't intend to change much. It's not that I couldn't, I just don't want to.

I will go so far as to say though that I will match Washington when it comes to financial planning. According to an article I read last night, Washington officials, in looking over the prospects for the new year, have taken a confident attitude and have announced the Federal government "will come as close as possible to balancing the budget."

Now that's the kind of planning I admire, and I don't mind saying I will get up on the Washington level in regard to my own financial affairs in 1959. I too will come as close as possible to balancing my budget, and in proportion to size, I'll bet I don't miss much further than Washington. At any rate, I'd like to say I have enjoyed writing for readers of The Times during 1958, and am looking forward to getting their minds off of serious things again in 1959. It beats working.

I don't know any more about what the future holds than anybody else, but I'm banking on human nature's standing up against anything that turns up. Human nature has stood up unchanged against the airplane, the radio, television, automobiles, central heating, air conditioning, public and private debt, time payments, progressive education, cake mixes, the hydrogen bomb, etc., and I believe it can do the same against guided missiles, space travel, foreign cars, inflation, Russians and rain or drought.

Human nature has a habit of swallowing up all progress and coming out about the same. I don't see any reason why it should change much in 1959. Personally, I'm looking forward to the next twelve months. I can take anything science has to offer, without being swept off my feet. It's hard to sweep a man off his feet when he's sitting down anyway.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.
