Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Are you anxious to find out about that "new look" on 1965 auto license plates?

Then hurry on over to Mr. John A. Smith's office in Benjamin, and they'll let you see it. They'll also let you have one set, or more, of those 1965 license plates—provided you have the price. And most of us manage to rake up the price some time or other, somehow or other!

These new license plates went on sale last Monday. Of course if you want to wait a while, it is likely that Mr. Smith's crew will be coming to Munday for this purpose pretty soon. They have been for several years.

The new plates had been on hand for several weeks, but they couldn't be ditched until last Monday. C. L. McAfee was bragging some two weeks ago that he'd already bought his, but the tax office couldn't make delivery. It seems C. L. was in Benjamin to pay his taxes, so he just "tended to that other chore, too."

The first of the year nearly always seems to be a time of heavy expense!

Unless you're fortunate enough to have been on a cash-as-you-go basis, the year starts off with having to pay those Christmas bills. Then there follow periods of paying taxes, maybe an insurance premium, auto license plates, vehicle safety inspection, income taxes, and then next year's estimate and the first quarter payment on that.

It seems it's on up past mid-April before we quit working for the government, or taxing units, and start working for ourselves again!

The deadline you should start worrying about—and it isn't so very expensive to get it all over with—is that safety inspection on your motor vehicles.

Many of us wait, to our sorrow, until the last day for this little detail, then join the long waiting line in order to get the job over with.

We remember a few years ago that our auto, which had already been inspected, went dead on us—and on the final day for inspections. Our car fixer-upper was an authorized inspector, too, and we had to wait most all afternoon to get our motor purring again.

We're told this will be a "more sorrowful" period for us if we wait until the last minute this year. The list of those licenses inspectors for the Munday area has been reduced!

As we've said before, tax collectors have in all ages been collected upon with sort of disdain—a sort of Simon Legree person who gathered in the shekels, regardless of his victim's station in life or ability to pay. Now some phase of the government has made tax collectors of us all.

We getting kinda used to sticking that penny tax on every two-bit sale, now. At first, we thought we'd be behind federal bars before we ever learned the knack of it. People, too, have become educated to the once-painful ordeal. Sometimes, when we fail to mention the state's portion when making a sale, a customer will ask: "Any tax?"

The President's cold received more publicity than anybody's ailment last week—and it prevented him from taking the trip to London for Sir Winston's funeral.

When the head of the U. S. delegation caught a cold and did not get to attend the funeral, then returned home with the ailment, we thought: We're having enough trouble with these American colds, without Rusk having to import one of those foreign ones. We reckon, though, it's still just a common cold—nobody seems to know what causes it, or how to cure it.

You see, we've been plagued with a cold almost constantly since Christmas. We think they're lined up, one after the other, just waiting for the opportune time to attack us!

Give a cold every treatment, and cure it in 14 days; just leave it alone and get rid of it in two weeks. That's what our doctor said when he prescribed those four-bit capsules.

License Plates Have New Look; Being Issued

AUSTIN—Monday was the day to start lining up for license plates again. Sales started Monday and end April 1 throughout the state.

Texas Highway Department Officials say that a good many people rush to buy plates the first week of sales, but the biggest flurry falls during the last week of March.

Current registration receipt, certificate of title — and money enough to pay for the plates—are needed to complete the transaction.

Lost receipts or ownership papers may be replaced easily enough by sending 25 cents for each duplicate desired to the Department's Motor Vehicle Division in Austin (40th and Jackson Streets). But remember—to issue a duplicate the Department needs your license number, make and vehicle identification number. Receipts may also be obtained from the county in which the vehicle was registered, by the way.

Texas license plates have a "new look" this year. Each passenger plate has a three-lettered prefix followed by two or three numerals. (Commercial and miscellaneous vehicles retain their own special registration system.) The new passenger registration system enables the Department to cope with the increasing vehicle registration.

Since World War II, approximately a quarter-million more vehicles have been registered yearly in the state. This trend should continue, but the new system should provide sufficient numbers for at least the next ten years.

Texas tags this year have black letters on white. Convinced that black and white provide the most readable combination under both day and night conditions, the Highway Department alternates the color pattern. In odd years, plates have black lettering on white; in even years, it's just the opposite. It's also more economical to stay with two basic colors, the Department has decided.

Speaking of economy, plates provide a revenue source for building and maintaining roads. They also have another primary purpose; identification. Because of the latter, the Department strives for simplicity in plate design. Therefore, plates in Texas contain only the necessary information: license number, state, and year.

The simplicity in design is of great value to the Texas police. The Texas Police Association has announced that an automobile is involved in 90 per cent of major crimes committed in the state. It is most important that plates be readable from a reasonable distance.

Texas tags are. When you buy yours, incidentally, you might want to order your 1965 Official State Highway Map of Texas. The map is now available for free worldwide distribution. To make it easy on the public, the Highway Department has given each Texas county tax assessor-collector's office a supply of free postcards for convenient ordering.

Get yours—the sooner, the better.

School Offering New Study Course

A new course entitled "How To Study" has been introduced into the curriculum at the Munday High School. Mr. Walter Sears, High School Principal, is teaching the class to a group of freshmen and sophomores.

The course is designed to help students in actually learning how to study for various school subjects. Also, they will develop techniques in better listening and note taking, getting ready for examinations. Some time will be spent on techniques for helping students master their reading assignments.

According to Mr. Willis Apple, Superintendent, the class is being introduced on an experimental basis this year. If it proves successful, the course will be broadened to reach more students next year.

County Short Of '64 Bond Quota

Earlier we had announced a state goal of $150 million but the Treasury Department later adjusted this goal to $147.1 million—a goal which we have surpassed. On behalf of the Texas Savings Bonds Committee I extend heartfelt congratulations to the many thousands of Texans who assisted us in making the program a success."

BOY SCOUT WEEK

The theme of Boy Scout Week, to be observed from February 7 to 13, is "Strengthen America's Heritage." A better one could not have been chosen.

All manner of activities will characterize the Week. Churches of every denomination will develop the theme in their services. Newspapers, radio and television will give the Week the notice it so richly deserves. School and civic groups will participate. Patriotic organizations will play their important part. The goal is to bring home to everyone American principles and ideals which are eternal and which the Scouts are pledged to sustain.

The Scout Oath and Law is worth rereading and remembering: "On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout law. To help other people at all times, and to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight." Every Scout thus gains a philosophy to live by all his life.

The Week will mark the 55th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. Some 5.5 million boys are now members. May their tribe increase, and may the movement last for centuries to come.

ADMINISTRATIVE OPPRESSION

The National Labor Relations Board has been handing down some decisions that, to put it mildly, are totally unprecedented. For instance, in one case the Board's examiner held it to be an unfair labor practice for a father who was also a supervisor to advise his son who was also an employee to leave the union and hunt another job.

One commentator says: "This incident is not too important in its immediate consequences, because it was merely one element in a case with many elements . . . But it does mark the first time we can remember that an agency of the Federal Government has asserted that it has the right to determine what members of a family may talk about to each other."

Administrative and regulatory agencies, and their officials, often assert powers which were never intended by Congress. The remedy is for Congress to step in and make its real wishes crystal clear.

GOOD MOTTO

The majority of overseas passengers now use the airlines. The Air Transport Association of America reports that last year, based on data covering the first six months, 80.7 per cent of all international passengers moved between the U. S. and foreign countries by air.

The airplane's dominance in world travel has come about with astonishing speed. It was only a few years ago that international air travel was a novelty, pursued only by the wealthy and the daring. There were doubters who believed that it never would amount to much. A brief span of history has proved them wrong. Masses of people of moderate means, many with only short vacations, now think nothing of traveling thousands of miles to some foreign country of their choice. The jet plane, with its enormous speeds, has all but obliterated time in transit.

The Association also says that about 64 per cent of all air travelers last year were U. S. citizens. But only 50 per cent of those travelers flew aboard the U.S.-flag airlines. Our lines just aren't getting their proper share of the business. And there is no reason why that should be so. Their rates are competitive and their standards of comfort and service are unsurpassed. They make a substantial contribution to our economy. "Fly With Our Flag" would be a good motto for the traveler.

THE NEED IS KNOWLEDGE

The American Medical Association has been conducting an intensive educational program designed to inform the nation on the health care services that are available to the elderly. In this, the nation's physicians play a key role. And it is to be hoped that the campaign results in the success it so eminently deserves—for reliable studies have shown that the majority of the people just don't know what is offered. This plays into the hands of the proponents of the Medicare plan for fastening, at heavy cost, certain medical services onto the social security system whether or not they are wanted or needed by social security beneficiaries.

Special stress is placed, as it should be, on the Kerr-Mills Act, passed in 1960. This is a joint federal-state program, and most of the states are participating while other are planning to do so. It is an excellently conceived undertaking in every particular. The services provided are broad. They are confined to those who are unable to meet the costs, instead of to an arbitrarily selected age group. And administration is at the local level where local needs are best understood and can be most effectively and efficiently cared for.

Beyond Kerr-Mills, every state has a means of providing health care to the elderly who are without sufficient funds. Some are paid for by taxation, some by the voluntary work of the medical profession or other private institutions. What is needed is greatly improved public knowledge of what exists.

An editorial in the Rocky Mountain Medical Journal says: "Recently a major American pharmaceutical firm was successful in suing a former employee for selling secrets of research and production of an antibiotic to an Italian drug manufacturer—however, not until long after the Italian firm, whose research and development costs had thus been paid by the American competitor, had underbid the same firm in a large sale of this drug back to the United States government . . . Vigorous protests by many persons and organizations are now being made against purchases by our government of foreign drugs produced on the basis of formulae and methods stolen from ethical American manufacturers."

The late Herbert Hoover once wrote: "The first prerequisites of a President of the United States are intellectual honesty and sincerity."

REMEMBER WHEN?

"I bet there are few people alive today who remember when this 1895 antique was actually used as a source of heat. Besides not giving out just an awful lot of heat to an awful lot of space, it didn't exactly smell like the breath of spring either. Times have certainly changed.

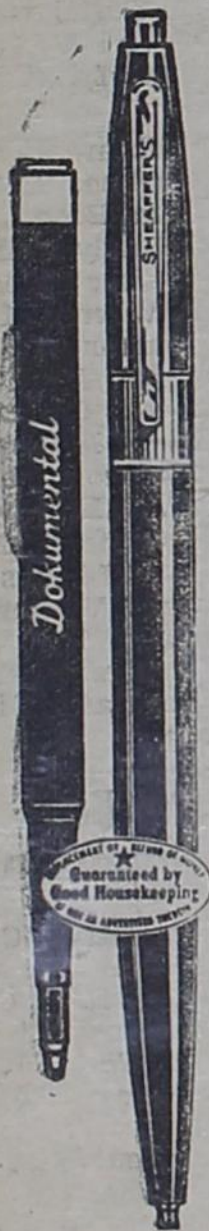

Now-a-days safe, flameless electric heating carries even, steady heat to all parts of a room or home. Hot spots, cold spots and drafts are things of the past. Since electric heating is totally flameless there are no pilot flames to go out or gaseous odors, no soot, film, smoke, or residue to rest on indoor walls and furniture. The house stays clean, comfortable, and fresh smelling.

If you aren't enjoying the comforts of flameless electric heat call a WTU representative or see your electrical heating contractor right away."

Dun and Bradstreet Releases Business Report For Knox County Area For 1964

Mr. A. J. Hemphill, district manager of the Fort Worth office of Dunn & Bradstreet, Inc., recently announced statement requests were mailed to 147 businesses in Knox County. He said figures obtained from a physical count of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book for January, 1965.

Mr. Hemphill noted that each January business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked by Dun & Bradstreet for copies of their financial statements. This year requests are being sent to nearly three million business concerns—to the corner grocery store worth a few thousand dollars as well as to businesses worth millions.

The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers. Therefore, the figures for total business in the United States would be higher than the three million quoted above.

During the past year, Hemphill added, 85 changes were made in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book listings of Knox County businesses, including 28 names added, 25 names deleted, and 32 changes in the ratings of continuing businesses. The changes occurring in Knox County are about even with the rest of the country where a change of business significance is counted about every five seconds.

When the owner or officer of a business enterprise, or his accountant, fills in and mails his financial statement to Dun & Bradstreet, it becomes a part of the credit report on his business and a factor in determining the credit rating of his business. Mailing the statement, rather than waiting for the Dun & Bradstreet reporter's call means a concern's important suppliers will quickly have the latest facts on which to make credit and sales decisions. When the Dun & Bradstreet reporter receives a business man's financial statement in advance of his periodic call, he can make a more detailed analysis of the financial condition of the business and discuss its operation more intelligently.

Signup For Cotton Program Announced

Cotton farmers who want to grow their upland crop this year under the domestic allotment plan will have an opportunity to sign up at the Knox ASCS County Office, O. E. Moore, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today. The signup covers the period February 8 through March 26, 1965.

The Chairman pointed out that this signup is a new development for cotton farmers, and for that reason a special effort is being made to get the word around to interested farmers.

The domestic allotment program was also in effect for the 1964 upland cotton crop, as authorized by special legislation, and the program for the 1965 crop is very similar to last year's. But last year there was no signup of farmers who wanted to take part in the program.

The signup this year is being conducted in the hope that it will make farmers more aware of the benefits available under the program.

In brief, the Chairman explained, each cotton producer this year will have two choices: First he may plant within the farm's domestic allotment. (For small farmers for which allotments are not released for 1965, the domestic allotment is the smaller of 15 acres or the 1965 effective allotment; for most other farms, the domestic allotment is 65 per cent of the 1965 effective allotment.) By keeping the cotton acreage within the farm's domestic allotment, the farmer qualifies for the price-support loan, based on 29 cents a pound for Middling-1-inch cotton at average location, and also for a price-support payment of 4.35 cents a pound on the farm's established normal yield times the acreage planted for harvest in 1965. The payment is to compensate for farmers for reducing their acreage and thereby holding down unneeded supplies.

Growers taking part in the domestic allotment program also stay within the farm's feed grain base if the domestic allotment is smaller than the effective allot-

The second choice is to plant cotton within the effective allotment for his farm. (The effective allotment is the allotment after any release or reapportionment.) If this is his choice, he need not sign up. By keeping his cotton acreage within the effective allotment, the grower would be eligible for the price-support loan, described above.

Chairman Mr. Moore emphasized that a grower will not become eligible for the domestic allotment price-support payment by merely staying within his farm's domestic allotment. Signing up to take part in the program is a necessary first step. And the signup period is February 8 through March 26.

Miss Pat Penick left last Tuesday for Denton to resume her studies at N. T. S. U. after a weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Penick, and sister, Mary.

Committee On Junior College Meets Recently

The steering committee for the four-county area junior college held a regular meeting recently in the court house at Aspermont.

Mrs. Luther Burkett, chairman, presided over the meeting and reviewed briefly the activities of the committee in regard to the establishing of a junior college in the area.

One of the largest representations from the four county area was present to hear the progress report, the purposes, and the accomplishments of the committees that are working on the survey for a junior college.

Survey sheets were passed out to the superintendents of school who were present for the purpose of obtaining the schools enrollment in Grades 1 through 12 for the past 5 years; also the current college attendance, both in senior colleges and junior colleges; and the number of high school graduates over 25 years, old who have never attended college.

A tentative report on the junior college survey that is now being run in the seven newspapers of the area are revealing and very encouraging in that so many people are expressing an interest in a junior college and so many feel the need and are anxious to further their education beyond the high school.

Future dates for area meetings on the junior college are:

Knox County — Munday Elementary School Gym., Monday, February 15, at 7:30 p.m.

Throckmorton County — Throckmorton High School — Tuesday, February 16, 1965, at 7:30 p.m.

Stonewall County — Aspermont High School — Monday, February 22, 1965, at 7:30 p.m.

The next steering committee meeting will be in Throckmorton, February 24, 1965 at 1:30 p.m. with County Judge Byrd Thorp, in the Court House.

There will be a meeting for the ladies at the Munday School gym at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, February 2. The meeting will be on "Home Grounds."

The first Home Demonstration Club meeting of February will be held on Wednesday, February 10, in the home of Mrs. Grady Phillips. The program will be "Whats New in Clothing Fabrics and Care."

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

Getting help on your tax return can be a problem.

The Internal Revenue service is available to answer your questions by telephone or in person in all the offices throughout the country. The smaller offices are usually only open for taxpayer assistance on Monday morning.

Of course, if you live near Dallas or Fort Worth, or any of the big city offices, they have people there all the time—and they prefer that you call on the telephone rather than come in. They can help more people with less trouble to the taxpayers by telephone.

CARD OF THANKS

It would take a long time for me to thank each person who contributed to my recovery from surgery, so I take this means to say, many thanks, to these organizations: The Wesleyan Service Guild, My Sunday School class, the Masonic Lodge and Order of the Eastern Star, and to each individual for the cards, letters, flowers, food, visits and prayers for my recovery. "The fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." May God bless each of you is my humble prayer.

Its victims have breathing difficulties. Attacks are usually mild. Fortunately it is not contagious. But, if neglected, asthma increases in severity and endangers health. It may be caused by an allergy, infection or even nervous tension.

If you think you have asthma, don't attempt self treatment. It is almost impossible for anyone but a physician to diagnose the cause. With proper medical treatment asthma can be kept under control and often cured.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Comes Out, Almost With A National Drive To Help Everyone Whip A Common Cold

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek must have had a bad cold recently, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
I was at a complete standstill out here on this Johnson grass farm yesterday hoping that somewhere in the plans for the Great Society they include a battery for a car or tractor that won't ever go dead, draw its energy from the sun or a television tower or anything just so when you push the button something happens, not that dead silence that makes a man despair before his day starts.

Then I got to thinking. While I was at a standstill because of a dead battery, the President of the United States was at the same time at a standstill because of a bad cold, and I hope he used the situation to include a war on colds in his Great Society plans. As far as I'm concerned, there's no place in such a society for dead batteries or common colds.

Mmmmm-scrumptious idea! Eat out tonight. Find RESTAURANTS fast in the YELLOW PAGES. Where your fingers do the walking.

especially the latter. For the price of one nuclear-powered submarine or one misfired shot at the moon we ought to be able to set up a bunch of scientists in a laboratory somewhere and tell them to forget the cost and not come out till they've found a vaccine for the common cold. It's my belief that any scientists with the brains to whip the whooping cough can whip the common cold. Somebody's just not trying hard enough.

In fact, if the bad cold had been fatal, we'd already have whipped it, but so long as it just makes people feel miserable, everybody seems to think it's something we have to endure from now on, like drouths and floods and nagging wives, but I don't agree. In fact, I'm half-toying with the idea of starting a national March of Pennies Drive to stamp the thing out, but since I won't have time to serve as chairman, I've got to get into town to see about this battery I guess you could send your money to The Munday Times and let Publisher Edgar, who also had a cold, send it on to President Johnson, earmarked for the War on the Common Cold.

There's nothing more ridiculous than a group of finely-honed scientists hovering at the base of a ten-story, multi-billion-dollar rocket aimed at the moon having to postpone the flight on account of one of the astronauts has come down with a cold.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Wyman Meinzer, Benjamin 4-H member, who had the champion steer in the Knox County Junior Livestock Show, will exhibit him at the Wichita Falls Junior Beef Show, February 10-12. Wyman whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Pate Meinzer, obtained his steer from the League-Davis Ranch where his father has charge of the cow herd.

I attended a meeting, January 28, of the West Texas Vegetable Growers Council in Plainview. The topic of the meeting was Chemical Weed Control in Vegetables. Representatives of the various Chemical Companies selling herbicides as well as Extension and Experiment Station personnel were on the program. The main thing I noticed as speaker after speaker discoursed on the subject was the term incorporation. We have seen lots of advertisements in the past of spraying these chemicals on the surface of the soil. Well, practical experience has shown this to be wasteful thinking. The material must be incorporated with the top 1.3 inches of soil to be very effective.

So if you are planning to use chemical weed control this year, my advice is to rig up the equipment you need now. Another very important suggestion is to read the label carefully and follow directions. What can be planted following the crop treated must also be taken into consideration.

Chemicals are also available for use on cotton and grain sorghum. The picture is constantly changing and some that could be used on certain crops last year are now available for others.

We will have a bulletin for distribution very shortly that will give a complete list of all chemicals cleared for use on agronomic crops, range and pastures. Recommendations for the use of each will be given.

Sterile screwworm flies, which have been released by the billions during the three years the campaign against the costly livestock pest has been in existence, are no longer being dispersed in the United States, but instead are virtually all being airdropped in northern Mexico.

No sterile flies will be released in Texas or neighboring states except for those required to treat isolated screwworm outbreaks that may occur this year, eradication officials have announced.

With fly drops discontinued in Texas, eradication workers will be relying heavily on farmers and ranchers for information on infestations that result from flies that do manage to slip through the barrier. Further outbreaks can be headed off if cases are treated during early stages of development, officials said.

Some bugs make their own anti-freeze! That's why cold weather doesn't kill many bothersome pests. When temperatures rise, they're ready to start giving you trouble again.

Although sub-freezing temperatures slow down insect activity, nature provides many pests with ways of beating cold. Some manufacture their own glycerol, an effective anti-freeze similar to the product made by man for the same purpose.

When temperatures drop below the freezing point, these insects—by some process not yet fully understood—gradually adjust to it. The glycerol they manufacture gives them the hardiness to withstand all but the most extreme cold weather. Among the insects that can make their own anti-freeze are certain species of ants, beetles, aphids, cankerworms, and flies.

Nature gives insects another protection from the cold, too. Most go through a metamorphosis which includes a dormant period when they are completely inactive. If insects stay dormant—in the pupal or larval stage—during the winter, they often survive the cold weather. Some insects have been found frozen in solid ice and thawed to full activity.

Animal pests can withstand extreme cold, too. Mice simply grow thicker fur. Many species of squirrels and other warm-blooded animals hibernate when the mercury drops.

George Killian visited his sons, Donnie Killian in Dallas and Clifford Killian in Plano and their families several days this week.

Mrs. J. L. Smith returned home last Friday from a three weeks visit with relatives in Carlsbad, N. M.
