Chris and Yola Orr Bucky and their daughter Klaudynka, have come down from Chicago to visit their family here in Baird. They are visiting Daniel and Bonnie Orr and their sons, Kyle, Josh and Robert. Mrs. Yola and her daughter are from originally from Poland. They are concerting moving to Texas.

Girl Scout Troop 232 went on their end of year field trip this last Sunday. They went to the Abilene Zoo and to Mr. Gatti's. They enjoyed seeing the animals at the zoo, but it was 95 degrees outside, so they hurried off to Mr. Gatti's to get out of the hot Texas sun and enjoy a cold drink and lots of trips to the buffet

The Girls Scouts who attended this fun trip were, Meagan Becther, Shouse, Marynoel Turner, Kayla Cardenas, Emily Hill, Wendy Hill and Camron McIntyre.

I would like to say a personnel BIG THANK YOU to Joyce Williams, she has been the leader of Troop 232 for the last two years. She has worked very hard to give these girls the opportunity to experience Girl Scouts here in Baird. I can not forget Tina Betcher she has assisted Joyce and has worked very hard herself. Thank you Joyce Williams and Tina Betcher.

CUB SCOUT SWIM-MING PARTY

All Cub Scouts are invited to the Baird swimming pool July 21, 1997 from 6:00 to 7:00 pm. Any boys from first grade through fifth grade wishing to join Cub Scouts are invited Chealsea Williams, to join the fun.

Twyla Foreman, shown singing above, was a special guest during Vaction Bible School this past weekat the First Methodist Church in Baird. Foreman is a member of the Eula Methodist Church and has been a professional singer since 1989. She can be heard throughout the airwaves soon as she has recorded a jingle for Mr. G's due to be out in the near future.

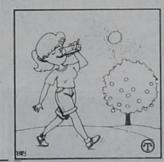

Foreman has also performed for the Abilene Praire Dogs having sung the national anthem on opening day and on the 4th of July.

Truck not stolen as reported by area papers Canterbury Villa resident located unharmed near Ft. Worth

An 87-year-old resident from Canterbury Villa in Baird was located unharmed near Ft. Worth on Sunday afternoon after local authorities were advised that he and a vehicle had been reported miss-

According to a nursing home spokesperson, who wished to remain anyoumous, Ervin "Shorty" Bates "borrowed a 1996 GMC truck to make the drive to Ft. Worth." The nursing home spokesperson wants it to be known that Bates "borrowed and did not steal" the truck as reported by other area newspapers.

Bates has an undiag nosed type Alzheimer's disease and patients are usual ly wearing a bracelet that will set off an alarm if they try and walk out the door. But the spokesperson theorizes that Bates must have slipped off the bracelet.

Windham's celebrate reunion with family historical facts

(The following article is a continuation from last weeks edition.)

The Indians were accustomed to make their raids at the light stage of the moon, and the settlers hoped, by guarding the main passways, \or points that they generally passed on their raids, to intercept and surprise them before they could reach and pillage any of the outlying ranches. Captain Gholson was the leader of the party, of which Mr. Windham was a member. Several days were spent in watching for the enemy, but they did not appear, and it was generally decided that there would be no raid "moon." Accordingly it was dekided that the members of the party should try their skill at mustang hunting before disbanding, and in this they were successful. A number of mustangs were captured, and the hunters were captured, and the hunters returned to Gholson's ranch where they separated. That night the main party if settlers camped a few miles away from Gholson's ranch, which was visited by the Indians before morning and a number of horses stolen. The savages carried their booty away in safety, for though they were pursued and sighted, the horses of the white men were too fatigued to overtake them.

In addition to Indian troubles, the cattlemen had to contend, in the years from "69 to"73... with white thieves, who would buy up an old brand, establish a ranch, and claim everything they could round up. As cattle often strayed 200 miles from their owners' ranch, cattlemen lost heavily in this way. However, Windham's herd increased in spite of all drawbacks, and in 1884 his holdings had increased to about 6,000 head. That year H.

Windham established a ranch in Presidio County, on the Rio Grande; but the cattle held at this place were sold in 1888. A pasture was leased near Tulsa, I. T., in 1892, in which some 11,000 cattle were handled, 8,000 of them belonging to other parties. The following year a pasture was secured near Muscogee, and this was retained until 1894. During these later years Mr. Windham has been connected in business with his brother, Tom; and in the Indian Territory, a portion of the time, with D.L. Middleton. The latter had an interest in the cattle held in the Tulsa pasture. In "93, 6,500 head were handled in the Muscogee pasture. only 900 of which belonged to the Windham brothers; and the following year there were pastured 1,100 head for Middleton, 1,300 for Windham, and 8,000 for other parties.

married September 28, 1880, to Miss Leonora Connell, daughter of J.G. Connell, who is now a resident of Lincoln County, N. M. They are the parents of eight children, all whom are living, as follows: J.E., Willis, Tom, Forest, S.G., Ada, Ula, and Annie Myrtle. Two of Mr. Windham's sisters are married living in Baird, Texas, the wives of J.W. Jones and W.E. Gilliland, both prominent citizens. Mr. Windham, himself, stands high in the community in which he resided and is widely and favorably known throughout Western Texas. He has never been a candidate for political preferment, a quiet life suiting him better than one filled with party strife and jealousy. He is a Royal Arch Mason and member of the Chapter. He first joined the Masonic society at Brownwood. Mr. Windham and wife are members of the Tecumseh, Callahan County, where they have made themselves a pleasant home, and, despite the fact that their location is well out towards the frontier and quite a distance from a railroad or large town, have gathered about them all that aids to beautify a home and render life enjoyable. Mr. Windham has unlimited faith in the future of the cattle business, and his operations in the years to come will, no doubt, be as extensive and prove as profitable as those of the past. His energy and push has been tested and proven, and so long as those traits of character are employed in the furtherance of cattle transactions, Mr. Windaham may safely

Callahan County Veterans News

Quarterly Meeting---- Your County Service Officer attended the quarterly meeting at the Big Spring V A Medical Center on Friday, July 11. Construction is now underway on the Out-Patient Clinic expansion. Persons going to the Medical Center should allow extra time to find a parking space!!

The biggest news from the meeting had to do with the Abilene Out-Patient Clinic. Previously, Veterans have been requested to go to Big Spring First and then be assigned to the Abilene Clinic. A second doctor is being added to the Abilene Clinic staff and we are told that it will no longer be necessary to go to Big Spring to be processed for the Clinic. Many area Veterans have already received a letter advising them to contact the Abilene Clinic to get the waiting list for the new doctor. If you have not received a letter and wish to use the Abilene Clinic, please contact your County Veterans Service Office (854-1520) and you will be helped with paperwork, etc. If you wish to call the Clinic direct, the number is 695-3252 and a nice lady named Marnie will help you. A new Out-Patient Clinic has just been opened in San Angelo and is already in heavy use by Veterans in that area.

HOUSING----A new program by the Texas Veterans Land Board can be used by low income Veterans and disabled Veterans to acquire home loans at zero (0%) percent interest. It Is an involved process but worth your time if you are eligible.

Please call your County Veterans Service Office (854-1520), Monday and Tuesday, 9-5) for more details.

Should the CPI Be Reduced?

(Editor's note: Second of a two-part series on Social Security)

Last week we covered one of the commonly discussed recommendations for preserving the long-term health of the Social Security system: raising the retirement age.

Another proposal is to change the way the Consumer Price Index (CPI) is calculated. The CPI reflects changes in the cost of living for Americans -- in other words, the inflation rate. It is used, among other things, to determine cost of living adjustments (COLAs) for Social Security benefit checks each year. As the CPI goes up, so do Social Security benefits. In 1997, benefits were increased 2.9 percent.

COLAs were not a part of the original Social Security plan. They were implemented in 1972 and have had a significant impact on Social Security's long-term health. Social Security recipients have seen their benefits double between 1978 and 1996. Not only are retirees living longer, but they also are now receiving increasing payments --two factors that the original system was not designed to support.

The argument for changing how the CPI is calculated hinges on the fact that it is always based on a "market basket" containing the same products and brand names. The goods and services in that market basket remain constant over time; however, consumers purchase different brands based on available prices.

For example, assume the CPI includes a 2-liter bottle of Coca-Cola and a Compaq personal computer. The prices on these items went up this year, adding to the increase in the CPI. However, many consumers instead may have bought Pepsi or a comparabl Gateway computer, whose prices did not go up last year. So the argument is: Why should retirees get an increase in Social Security when their cost of living may not have gone up?

Those who oppose reducing the CPI

(800) 258-6742

have a different argument. They say that the above example is true; howev-er, retirees aren't buying soft drinks and computers. They're paying for pre-scriptions, hospital visits and golf -- all of which are increasing in price much faster than the average market basket of

So, what is the right thing to do? Keep in mind the purpose of these dis-cussions: to find a way to prevent Social Security from going bankrupt in 2030. The probable solution is that everyone will be asked to give a little. Retirees will likely be asked to help by accepting smaller COLAs and paying income taxes on more of their benefits. Workers will likely be asked to pay a Workers will likely be asked to pay a

Everyone will probably be asked to pitch in, but when all is said and done, Americans will continue to enjoy the very best lifestyles and have the longest OKLAHOMA CITY --Customer satisfaction: it's one of the most important tools companies have to differentiate themselves from the competition. But what are companies doing to gain higher customer satisfaction? Sonic Drive-Ins developed the Dr. Pepper Sonic Games to help motivate and train employees to provide better customer service. As a result, employees are happier and actually enjoy their jobs.

During the next few months, Sonic employees nationwide will be focused on S.O.N.I.C.: Speed, Order accuracy, Noteworthy service, Incredible food quality and Clean environment. Racing to achieve the best S.O.N.I.C. service will help a select number of Sonic crew members win national recognition and a trip to Orlando to compete in the national finals competition of the Dr. Pepper Sonic Games in October 1997.

On May 15, 1997, the Games, co-sponsored by Dr. Pepper, was launched. The Dr. Pepper Sonic stations: Fountain (drink Games is a fun crew development and training (food delivery), Dresser, program in more than 950 Grill and Swamp (food drive-ins nationwide, cre- preparation) and Switchated to motivate employees and enhance their per- Crew members at each formance and customer station will compete sepaservice skills.

Games proves to be a challenging and fun competition for the employees and managers. "The best thing about the Dr. Pepper Sonic Games is that our customers have received better service," said David Bryant, manager of the 1996 National Champion Team - "The West Texas Tornadoes" from the Sonic Drive In of San Angelo, Texas. "Our crew members better understand their role inside the drive-in and how they fit into the big picture. The bottom line is we've become a better drive-in as a result of the games."

The Dr. Pepper Sonic Games is an Olympic style competition, which consists of individual employee contests within each drive-in, as well as overall competitions between the participating drive-ins. Individual employee champions will be recognized throughout the Games, with each recognition. "At Sonic, we differentiate ourselves from our competitors with our unique products and our exceptional customer service," said Cliff Hudson, president and chief executive officer, Sonic Corp. "Our goal is to have very satisfied cus-For example, each carhop tomers. The Sonic Games is one of the best tools we have to improve our customer service thereby strengthening the gap between ourselves and our competitors."

For example, the dresser is judged on making hamburgers quickly and accurately. Based on speed and criteria such as the correct amount of lettuce put on a burger or whether the customer ordered mayonnaise or mustard, the top dresser in the country will be determined. Last year, the top dresser put together the perfect hamburger in less than 10 seconds. Points are earned at every level of the competition. The crew member at each station who scores the highest total points will be named the Station Champion.

As individual contest are being conducted, the entire drive-in will compete with other Sonic Drive-Ins in the local Sonic Plus Index, or mystery shopping, competition. W.F. Orilio, an organization specializing in anonymously rating, or mystery shopping, the quality of a company's customer service, will visit and score the service at each participating drivein. Each drive-in will be judged on specific objective criteria based on its importance to the customer. The drive-ins with the highest average Sonic Plus Index scores will advance to district level competition and then on to the regional level. In October at the end of the competition, the top 10 drive-ins across the chain will each take their Station Champions to Orlando where they will compete in the finals. In addition to the trip to Orlando, contest winners also will win various prizes, such as portable compact disc stereos and personal cassette players.

Sonic is known for its cooked to order food served by carhops who deliver food directly to customers' cars. Sonic has 1,639 drive-ins in 17 sunbelt states. Sonic is the nation's largest chain of drive in restaurants and America's fifth largest hamburger chain. More than half a million people eat at Sonic Drive-Ins everyday. Pet Care by Cleo and Brad Conrad

If you're planning a family vacation, chances are there will be one family member left out. When your furry, feathered or scaly friends can't come with you, a professional inhome pet sitter puts your mind at ease when going away on a pleasure vacation or a business trip. Make sure the pet sitter you choose is bonded and insured. They should also be able to provide references and literature, along with a contract that explains their services and fees. Once you feel comfortable with this information, question his/her educational background, training and experience, especially if you have a rare animal.

Give the pet sitter information on your animal's health history. The sitter will want to know about all major and minor health problems. including detailed information on medications, special diet or strange habits, as well as your wishes in the event of an emergency. Advise the sitter of your pet's daily schedule for feeding, exercise and sleeping.

Getting The Most

From Your Money

ESTATE PLANNING IS OFTEN WORTH MORE THAN INCOME TAX PLANNING

If you learned about a new income tax deduction, you'd probably be very interested. Yet when it comes to estate planning, it's hard to get people's attention. But consider this: an additional $1,000 income tax deduction might save you about $300 in taxes. One of the following estate planning strategies could easily be worth $100,000 or

Plan to bypass estate taxes. You can leave your entire estate to your spouse, free of estate tax, but when your spouse dies, currently only $600,000 of assets will not be subject to estate tax.

To keep your spouse's estate as low as possible (an possibly free of estate tax), consider leaving some or all of your property to a bypass trust. This trust would pay income to your spouse for life, and then distribute its assets to your children or other heirs. You can currently leave up to $600,000 of property to a bypass trust without paying estate taxes. And because property in a bypass trust isn't a part of your spouse's estate, it won't be taxes when your spouse dies. Potential estate tax savings can be very large.

Plan to trim your estate. Currently, you may give up to $600,000 tax-free during your life, but each dollar of gift reduces the amount that will escape tax in your estate. There's one big exception: you may give up to $10,000 per year to any number of people without triggering gift tax or dipping into your $600,000 allowance. Even better, your gift (and any future increase in its value) will be removed from your estate.

Example: You have two married children and four grandchildren. Each year, you make eight gifts of $10,000 each, with no gift tax and none of your $600,000 allowance used. Potential tax savings in your estate: at least 37% of the value of the gifts. Caution: never make a gift just to save estate taxes, and don't part with property that you may need later on.

KEEP YOUR COOL (OR HEAT) WITH A MAINTENANCE CHECK-UP FROM J & J AIR CONDITIONING

Your wouldn't think of running your car without ever changing the oil or having it serviced. Nor would you board an airplane if you knew that it didn't get regular service. Common sense tells us that if it has moving parts, it needs maintenance. Well, the folks at J & J Air Conditioning say your heating and cooling system needs regular service too

It's not unusual to find an air conditioning system that has not had service since it was new It's also true that many units will run for years before a breakdown, but with today's emphasis on energy efficiency, and the desire to save money, it just makes good sense to properly maintain your system. Without it, units fail prematurely, run inefficiently, and cost you more money in utility bills.

Regular maintenance for your cooling system is not something most people think about, so J & J Air Conditioning suggests you let them help you stay on schedule by calling for the Semi-Annual Preventive Maintenance Plan. We call our service agreement an

ENERGY SAVINGS AGREEMENT (ESA)

This plan includes two routine scheduled maintenance calls; one in the spring (March, April, or May), and the other in the fall (September, October, or November).

By having your system serviced before the really hot or cold weather arrives, you can be assured of cool or warm temperatures inside as the mercury outside changes.

There are a couple of things you can do to help your unit run efficiently between checkups. First and most importantly, you can change or clean your filter often. You can also make sure the area around the outside unit is clear, to facilitate good air flow to that outside coil. Watch out for ants. They seem to like to build around air conditioning units, and if they get in the unit, can short out contactors and cause major problems. Use ant bait often if ants are in your area. Finally, let J & J Air Conditioning take care of your system for your peace of mind.

owners. They take such risks with their precious busy interstate highway

where people regularly whiz by at 80 miles per hour or more, we saw an open pick-up truck with two dogs in the back. We're sure the owner thought he was giving the dogs a 'good time," but what a chance he was taking! If he hit a bump or got into an accident, those dogs could have easily bounced out of the back of the truck and gotten run over by another vehicle. Please, if you own a pick-up truck, don't put your dogs in the back, even if they're tied to something.

They could bounce out and

Thanks a Million

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

Mother Goose Passes Savings Along To Parents

Dear Percy: Should I be fortunate enough to have my request printed and granted (how's that for presumptive), I'll be factual, specific and brief. I run a daycare for 7 children—ages 3 to 8. The nice weather has everyone wanting to be outside. The kids are literally howling for me to get a swing set. The cost of a sturdy one will run $750. This would provide good physical exercise for the kids—helping to develop coordination, etc. It would also help me to stay competitive in prices by not having to pass the cost along to the parents, many of whom are single and struggling. How about it? I'll even name it "Percy's Plaything" by engraving your name on a plaque. Sound like a deal?

Ms. H. T. ... The Advocate, Victoria, TX

Dear Ms. T.: Finally, a plaque to satisfy my critics who think I should donate my money and have a hospital wing built. I'd much rather go with a swing set and provide hours of fun for children, who may someday reciprocate the deed in their community. My $750 is on the way, along with my respect for not raising your prices. Just be sure people know what you're referring to when you speak of "Percy's Plaything"!

Dear Mr. Ross: I'm unemployed and have no money. My friend, Jim, is well aware of this. That's why he knew I'd be glad to take a deer carcass he found on the side of the road. I butchered it in my bathtub and worked until dawn cleaning it. Before Jim left he told me he would stop at the court house to report the roadkill so I wouldn't be accused of poaching. On his way home he decided it was too late and he wanted to go straight to bed. I have no phone or transportation, or I could have done it myself. Well, someone must have seen us with the carcass and called it in because the police came to my apartment. I told them what happened but I still got summoned to court and the judge fined me $65. I think it's ridiculous that a poor person can't pick up roadkill for Dear Percy: Should I be fortunate enough to have request printed and granted (how's that for preprinted), I'll be factual, specific and brief. I run a food without being treated like a criminal. If you could help me out with $65 to pay the fine, it would sure ease my mind.

Mr. B. C. ... The Advertiser, Pine City, MN

Dear Mr. C.: I'm not advocating roadkill as a staple in anyone's diet, but as I see it, the county should have paid you for removal of the deer. I'm sending you $65, plus an additional $100. Something tells me you're going to need a few fixings to go with all that fresh venison. Bon appetite!

Dear Mr. Ross: My life long dream is to become a major league baseball player. I was lucky to get recruited and I'm a freshman at Upper Iowa University. This school can't give scholarships—only financial aid. My family is poor and my parents still have my two brothers at home. When I came to school I brought with me the only glove that I've ever owned. We're now two weeks into our practices and the lacing hole on the web has broken. My glove is completely shot. My parents said they can't afford to get me a new one and I don't have two nickels to rub together. The last couple practices I've been borrowing a teammate's, but he's sick of lending me his glove. A new one would cost $95. I know this is a lot, but if you could just give me half, I would find the rest.

Mr. K. P. ... The Press, Sheboygan, WI

Dear Mr. P.: And just where are you going to find the rest of the money? Under the pitcher's mound? Son, $95 is not a lot to ask for, especially when you're chasing a dream or a pop fly ball that's darn near out of the stadium. Heads up—$100 is on the way, along with my best wishes for a successful career.

Connie the youngest could not attend due to an ailing husband.

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills, the Texas Education Agency's first major public school curriculum-revising proposal in a decade, has drawn the support of many top educators and barbs from others.

State Board of Education member Donna Ballard and conservative groups including the Texas Eagle Forum, American Family Association and Texas Christian Coalition have criticized the proposal, questioning whether the standards are adequately rigorous.

Education Commissioner Mike Moses, who called a news conference to answer critics, said the standards already have undergone many revisions to address earlier concerns of conservatives.

Ballard, in an opinion column published in several newspapers, called for another set of standards with "intensive systematic phonics; increasingly rigorous grammar instruction; and grounding in classical reading beginning in the second grade." In her published column Ballard also criticized Gov. George W. Bush for endorsing the proposal.

a challenge to Bush's re-election, has hired former Austin banker Ruben Johnson at $61,343 a year to help direct a $52 million state construction project to build nursing homes for veterans.

"I'm confident this person would not have been appointed in my administration. I would be concerned about putting a person who was indicted and convicted of a construction issue in charge of a construction project," Bush said.

Mauro spokesman Joe Cutbirth defended Mauro's decision, saying, "I hope that doesn't mean that George Bush doesn't believe in giving people a second chance."

Early Voting Starts July 21

Early voting for the Aug. 9 election, in which voters will decide whether to use the state's $1 billion surplus to cut school property taxes, begins July 21 and extends through Aug. 5.

If the constitutional amendment passes, homestead exemptions will increase from $5,000 to $15,000, reducing school property taxes by an average of $140 per year. Also, senior citizens who sell their homes would be able to transfer their tax freeze to a new property.

The tax measure is the only constitutional amendment on the Aug. 9 ballot. Fourteen other proposed amendments will go before voters on Nov. 4.

Gov. Bush plans to go on the road before the Aug. 9 election to stump for the school-tax rollback, saying he wants to be sure Texans know about the measure and ratify

"I'm confident that with a reasonable turnout it will pass. Very few people should be against it," he said.

Gramm Wants Fire Ant Panel

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has renewed his call for the creation of a national advisory commission to battle Brazilian fire ants.

Fire ants accounted for $2 billion in damage nationally last year and $300 million in Texas alone, said Gramm, R-Texas.

With a budget of $3 million annually for two years, the advisory commission would select research programs that show the most promise.

The commission then would seek competition among research organizations and decide which two have the most effective plan to carry out the eradication. Those two would then be funded for an additional five years at a total of $6 million a year.

PRAYER CORNER

We can pray directly to God at any time. Jesus gave us that gift. It is through prayer that we gain our own personal relationship with our Creator. Christians recognize their dependence upon Him and have every reason to express gratitude for God's blessings and respond to the love He has given us. God's love is revealed through the marvelous life of Christ, His atoning provision at the Cross, His resurrection, as well as His continuing presence through the Holy Spirit.

"I have heard the prayer and plea you have made before me; I have consecrated this temple, which you have built, by putting my Name there forever. My eyes and my heart will always be there." 1KI 9:3

Father in heaven, We stand in awe of the gift of life you have given us. We are humbled before your throne as we pray with thanksgiving. Continue to guide us Dear Lord as we place our hearts in your control. In Jesus, Amen.

Christian Poetry By Susie Wylie

GOD is my Father, Creator of all. Jesus is my Savior - He is my Friend. He will Deliver me, and Forgive me of my Sin.

When I hear his Name, there's no doubt Jesus is the Son of God -And it makes me want to shout. I will forever live in the shadow of His Wings. There, nothing or no Body can Hurt me Again.

He Shied's me by Day Protect's me by Night I'll stand on His Word for I know it True

- No other voice can ever get through. My mind goes back to the

Where he Hears ones that are lost.

It will only be a few -Will this one by you. Step back take a look make sure you are liv-
