TAMMY LEE KLUTTS

Tammy Klutts awarded Child Care Credential

Tammy Klutts of Munday has been awarded a Child Development Associate (CDA) Credential in recognition of outstanding work with young children. The credential was awarded by the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition in Washington, D.C., which represents the early childhood profession.

CDA is the only major national effort to improve child care by evaluating and recognizing the skills of individuals providing care. The first credential was awarded 20 years ago, and now 46 states plus the District of Columbia include CDA in their child care licensing regulations.

The CDA credential is having a positive effect on the quality of child care. Its impact is evident in center-based care as well as family child care, the most common form of care for children under 5 years old.

The Christian Life

Jeff Christian - Minister

Munday Church of Christ

One of the main reasons the United States was founded was to accomplish religious freedom from the Church of England. But the last 200 years of history has proven one thing for sure: Religious freedom is not all it is cracked up to be.

Over the last 200 years, churches have split into hundreds of denominations and sects; fighting over a multitude of issues. We have convinced ourselves that if we do not like the way things are done, do it yourself. The problem we have encountered, however, is a religious pluralism of ridiculous proportions. These days, you can find a religion or Christian denomination that can fit into just about any mold you want. We have bought into a hamburger chain Christianity that tells us, "We will do it your way." Something is wrong. We have become so engrossed with issues that we have forgotten one simple thing: Jesus died for our sins. This article is not offered in hopes of merging all churches into one big hyper-church. That would never work. It is also not offered to condemn churches beginning anew. Sometimes it is necessary. What we have to remember is that God is the King of Kings, not a "burger king" who does things the way we want them done. This article is offered to make one simple observation: Don't get so caught up in petty issues that you forget about Jesus.

Here's to your health

By Dr. Shirley Barretto

A physician takes a two step process to come to a diagnosis: determining the disease process and finding the cause. We will discuss some diagnostic tests your physician may perform in order to reach a diagnosis of what is causing your discomfort.

Do you sometimes feel that you and your physician speak a different language? Healthcare is so technically advanced now that sometimes patients are left in the dark when their physician talks about diagnostic tests he or she would like to perform. If you doctor advises you that you need a certain diagnostic procedure, share your concerns and ask questions until you're satisfied.

If the doctor orders a test, what is he or she looking for? As a quick reference for you, we will devote the next few columns to discussing some of the more common diagnostic tests.

Electrocardiogram: a simple test that involves pads placed in key areas on your chest to indicate the current status of the heart. The EKG may show enlargement, rhythm abnormalities, electrical conduction defects, or evidence of a previous heart attack. This is often included in routine physicals.

Cholesterol, HDL, LDL, Triglycerides: a blood test. This test shows the ratio of these fatty substances in your blood. Often used to check risk of heart disease, and is usually included in a routine physical.

Stress Test: a test in which you are hooked to an EKG machine, and asked to walk on a treadmill. This test may reveal signs of hidden heart disease. If you are older, a heavy smoker, overweight, or exhibit any symptoms of heart disease, your physician may order this test as part of your yearly physical.

Echocardiogram: a non-invasive test that uses a probe or wand rubbed over the chest. This device uses sound waves, and may show faulty heart valves, enlarged or thickened heart muscles.

Pulmonary Function: a test in which you blow into an instrument that measures your lung capacity. This test measures abnormal lung function caused by asthma, bronchitis, emphysema, or exposure to certain chemicals.

Next week, we'll look at more tests your physician may prescribe to help determine treatment plans.

TDPS reminds motorists about kids playing near streets

With the final bell announcing the end of another long school year, comes a special air of excitement. Kids will be going to the parks, swimming pools, movies, and a lot may be playing in or near the streets.

Trooper Joe Clement of the Texas Department of Public Safety wants to remind Texas motorists to help take care of our kids this summer. Be especially watchful for the ones who may be playing on or near streets. Remember, in the excitement of play, kids may do things they shouldn't, such as darting or running into the roadways into the path of your vehicle. Most of our kids have been taught not to do these things, but it only takes one lapse of memory on a child's part and we may be looking over the hood of our vehicles into their now frightened eyes.

Trooper Clement also states, "There will be a lot of kids on bicycles this summer. Kids should remember the rules of the roadway and should also remember to abide by them. Above all, they should remember that vehicles are a lot larger than they are and when competing for a space in the roadway, a three thousand pound vehicle will always win."

The Department of Public

Safety not only wants you to help take care of our children on the streets and highways, but to help them get involved in constructive things this summer. There are a lot of good things for young people to do if we, as parents, will only look for them. Let's all help our kids have a safe, healthy, happy summer.

CORRECTION

In the May 24, 1995 issue of The Munday Courier, Jennifer Carden was not listed on the Yearly Honor Roll in the Elementary Awards story. Jennifer Carden should have been listed under the sixth grade list instead of Jennifer Carlson. Miss Carlson was listed correctly under the fourth grade list.

Property Tax Protest and Appeal Procedures

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these appeal procedures if you have a concern about:

- The value placed on your property.
- Any exemptions that may apply to you.
- The cancellation of an agricultural appraisal.
- The taxable status of your property.
- The local governments which should be taxing your property.
- Any action taken by the appraisal district that adversely affected you.

Informal Review

If you think that you have something wrong with the appraisal of your property, you may contact the Knox County Appraisal District. The telephone number is 454-3891. We will try to help you with these problems, but if we are unable to solve any questions that you have, you still have the right to file a protest with the Appraisal Review Board.

Review by the Appraisal Review Board

If you can't resolve your problem informally with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the appraisal review board (ARB).

The ARB is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals or other concerns listed above. It has the power to order the appraisal district to make the necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You'll receive written notice of the time, date and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make its decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest form from the appraisal district office at P.O. Box 47, Benjamin, Texas, 79505.

Note: You shouldn't try to contact ARB members outside of the hearing. The law requires ARB members to sign an affidavit saying that they haven't talked about your case before the ARB hears it.

Review by the District Court

After it decides your case, the ARB must send you a copy of its order by certified mail. If you're not satisfied with the decision, you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more, you must file a notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

More Information

You can get more information by contacting your appraisal district at P.O. Box 47, Benjamin, Texas, 79505, Phone (817) 454-3891. You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Comptroller's Property Tax Division at Post Office Box 13528, Austin, Texas 78711-3528.

Deadline for Filing Protests with the ARB

Usual Deadline

On or before June 8 (or 30 days after a notice of appraised value was mailed to you, whichever is later).

Late protests are allowed if you miss the usual deadline for good cause. Good cause is some reason beyond your control, like a medical emergency. The ARB decides whether you have good cause.

Late protests are due the day before the appraisal review board approves records for the year. Contact your appraisal district for more information.

Special Deadline

For change of use (the appraisal district informed you that you are losing agricultural appraisal because the use of your land), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

For ARB changes (the ARB has informed you of a change that increases your tax liability and the change didn't result from a protest you filed), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

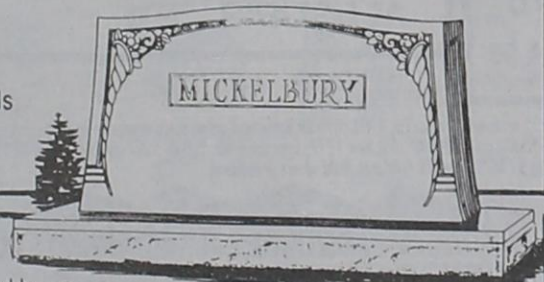

If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file a protest until the day before taxes become delinquent (usually February 1). The ARB decides whether it will hear your case based on evidence about whether a required notice was mailed to you.

Appearances Sets Grand Opening Thursday, June 1

Knox City's newest store, Appearances, will hold its grand opening Thursday, June 1, and according to the invitation in this week's paper, everyone is invited to join in the festivities. The grand opening will continue through Friday and Saturday.

Owner Buddy Angle said that Knox City had been good to him, as well as his family, and he wanted to re-invest in the community. Spurred by the renewed interest in the community when the Economic Development Corporation was begun several months ago, he bought the former Jones Drug Store building and completely renovated it. He had the chance to rent the building but decided to rent space to persons interested in relocating their beauty and barber services. The remainder of the new building has been amply stocked with more than 300 apparel items including blouses, dresses and sportswear, blouses, short sets, pant suits, shirts, skirts, shorts, caps, and fashion jewelry.

Other services include a nail technician, massage therapist, and the finest in tanning beds.

In addition to providing the town with another business, the former vacant building now adds greatly to the looks of the downtown area.

Buddy and his wife Billye are being assisted in the new store by their daughter and her family, Dave, Stacy, and Scooter Thompson.

"If our grandfathers had 'buckled under' when the going got a little tough, none of us would have had the opportunity to grow up in a fine community like Knox City," Angle said, "and I wanted to do my part in helping to see the town regain business."

Store hours will be from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Appearances is located at 108 North Central, telephone (817) 658-5301.

Veterans: New target for cheap shots?

by Jesse Brown, U. S. Secretary of Veterans Affairs

As we approach the end of widespread commemoration of the momentous events of World War II, are we seeing signs of an impending memory lapse about what our veterans have done for America? Soon the euphoric celebrations and solemn observances, that in the last four years reminded both old and new generations what millions of veterans did for this nation, will fade from consciousness. But already, ill will has surfaced, reflecting a mood that seems bent on trivializing and demeaning veterans' service to the nation.

In recent months, there have been particularly mean-spirited political, Washington think tank, and media broadsides on federal programs for veterans. An attempt in the House to cut funds from the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) medical budget was defeated, but not without a blistering outcry from some columnists and government watchdogs. A national news magazine's bitter article all but said many veterans benefits are a sham. Editorialists and other writers have referred to veterans as sacred cows, demagogues, and panderers. Veterans' programs have been labeled as sweet deals, third-rate, wasteful, useless and disgraceful. The thrust of much of this viciousness is that most veterans do not deserve anything and that taxpayers are being ripped off. It will be a sad and dangerous time in America's history when we allow the naive and ill-informed to lead us away from our most solemn obligation caring for our defenders.

Were these revisionists actually to set foot in one of VA's medical facilities, they would find compassionate and exceptional health care being provided to veterans disabled by battlefield shrapnel, amputees, blinded veterans, spinalcord injured veterans, older veterans and combat veterans in need of psychological counseling. They also would witness poor veterans receiving care that the profit-driven private sector is not likely to provide.

Every American also benefits

Picking the correct athletic shoes

Selecting the wrong athletic shoe can be the first step to injury during a workout.

"Each individual needs different types of support depending on the workout routine and physical makeup," said Dr. John Kozak, a sports medicine expert at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

The most important consideration when picking shoes is the type and amount of support the heel of the shoe provides. This area absorbs most of the shock during exercise.

Kozak suggests grasping a shoe with both hands at the front and the back, and then twisting the shoe. The less movement detected in the heel area means more support for the foot.

He says when trying on the shoe, pick one that feels firm in the heel and allows your toes to wiggle slightly.

from a VA research program that has given us many medical innovations and breakthroughs and a training environment for more than half of the nation's practicing physicians.

There is the notion that the federal government should not deliver health care services to veterans. "Costs much too much, isn't done well, can be done better by the private sector." Here again, veiled by the noble motives of budget balancing and deficit reduction, critics lay claim to a body of knowledge they expect others to blindly accept. Solid, independent and compelling data are readily available demonstrating that VA care is cost-effective and that its hospital quality scores are higher than the non-federal sector. Critics proclaim that if the government would just wise-up and issue medical vouchers to veterans, not only would the taxpayers be happy, but so would millions of veterans. Wrong! What veterans want is simplification of the laws that now restrict their access to VA facilities where they are certain to find care that puts their needs first.

Among the suggestions that mask anti-veteran feelings is one that would only allow benefits for "real" veterans -- a filter separating those who were injured in combat from "slackers" who had limbs torn off in accidents during their service. Low-income veterans who suffered no service-related medical consequences would also fail to make the cut. Common sense and fairness preclude such propositions.

Ask any combat-disabled veteran if he resents that his buddies make it back home without a scratch. Tell the pilot who shot down a dozen enemy planes and today cannot afford cardiac surgery that we owe him nothing. Explain to the veteran of Normandy who cannot afford treatment for Alzheimer's that he has not earned his government's assistance. Are we to deny future medical care to highly-decorated Persian Gulf, Vietnam, Korea, World War II and future veterans? How can a nation that supports billion-dollar battles in the name of freedom adopt penny-pinching policies toward its veterans?

The vast majority of Americans recognize that the government created our veterans, asked them to give up everything -- homes, families, jobs, school -- to stand vigil over freedom and democracy. Still, there are those with the gall and arrogance to "reevaluate" the sacred obligation to help veterans enjoy the fruits of their sacrifices. And judging by these latest attacks, their numbers appear to be growing.

The next time there is artillery booming in the distance... the next time missiles are aimed at American shores or interests... the next time an emerging democracy, as America once was, reaches out for a lifeline... the next time a mother caresses a photograph of a son lost in war or a child must visit a parent at a national cemetery... the next time a soldier returns home blinded or without limbs... be sure to remind me why the wealthy need a tax cut and why deficit reduction should be achieved on the backs of veterans. I keep missing the point.

Selecting the best mutual funds

Investors looking for help can find more advice than they could ever use at the nearest library or bookstore. Look under the categories of "investing" or "personal finance" and you'll find hundreds of books, each claiming to be the only one you'll need.

However, a few gems can be found among the volumes. One of those is the 1994 edition of "The 100 Best Mutual Funds You Can Buy" by Gordon K. Williamson. This book not only lists the top funds by investment category but also provides a common-sense method of choosing the right funds to meet specific needs.

Investors are always eager to find the best funds, but first they must define their particular needs. These needs can be determined by relatively simple factors such as the investor's tax bracket and existing investments and by more complicated considerations such as financial goals, risk tolerance and length of time the investor is willing to invest. The book provides fund recommendations in 13 separate categories, each designed to meet specific needs and different levels of risk.

Each of the 100 funds listed is given a fair and detailed analysis that rates it on a point system in each of five categories: total return, risk reduction, management, tax minimization and expense control. In addition, each fund is given a rating of fair, good or excellent for performance in good and bad markets and predictability of returns.

Perhaps best of all, however, Williamson's book provides a three-point system that's simple enough to be used by anyone interested in mutual funds.

1. Select funds that have had the same manager for at least five years. This will cut your selection approximately in half.

2. Eliminate as much risk as possible. In the book, Williamson not only provides a risk profile for each fund but also explains how to create a risk profile for any fund. Creating such a profile helps you find the best returns in relation to the risk offered.

3. Choose funds that have performed well over at least the past three to five years. Ten- to 15-year periods are even better if you can find funds that have had the same manager that long.

The book also answers general questions about mutual funds and discusses the debate over load vs. no-load funds. Williamson does not suggest considering only one type or the other; in fact, his list of 100 is about equally divided among load and no-load funds. "A better way to proceed," Williamson suggests, "is to try to separate good funds from bad ones."

Investors can find multitudes of books, and publications promising to help them do just that. "The 100 Best Mutual Funds You Can Buy" is one book that makes good on that promise.

1995 Cotton Bollworm Moth catch in Knox County

These charts represent numbers of cotton bollworm and tobacco budworm moths that have been trapped continuously since the summer of 1982. The traps are located in southern and southeastern Knox County. They are baited with a sex attractant specific to each species. Each week the numbers of moths that are attracted into the traps are counted and recorded. These numbers are used in the computation of the average for each week over the years. Both bollworm and budworm moth catches have been below average during May this year.

In addition to the average, an upper confidence level is calculated. Below this level is the area of normal variation in the moth catches. Numbers above this level would signal out-of-the-ordinary values and be worth special note. However, it is important to watch closely the average value since it can indicate increasing or decreasing trends in moth populations, and bollworm/budworm problems often develop in fields even when moth catches are average for the area.

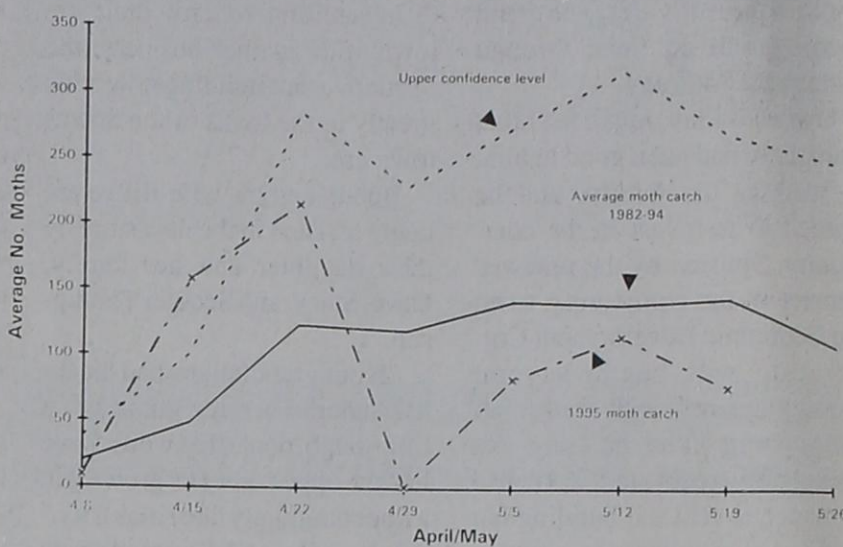

Finally, the current year's weekly moth catch gives an up-to-date sample of moth activity. The three values indicate past history, present activity and a view of possible future numbers.

This data was compiled by Bobby Idol, Technician II and Dr. Jeffrey Slosser, Professor, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Vernon.

Excerpt from the By-Laws of B-K Electric Cooperative, Inc.

ARTICLE IV
DIRECTORS

SECTION 4.01. NUMBER AND GENERAL POWERS. The business and affairs of the Cooperative shall be managed by a Board of seven (7) directors. The Board shall exercise all of the powers of the Cooperative except such as are by law or by the Cooperative's Articles of Incorporation or Bylaws conferred upon or reserved to the members.

SECTION 4.02. QUALIFICATIONS. No member shall be eligible to become a director or to hold any position of trust in the Cooperative who is not a member receiving service from the Cooperative at his primary residential abode in the area served by the Cooperative, or is in any way employed by or financially interested in a competing enterprise or a business selling electrical or plumbing appliances, fixtures or supplies to the members of the Cooperative, or a business primarily engaged in selling electrical or plumbing appliances, fixtures or supplies to the members of the Cooperative, and no person shall take or hold office as a director who is the incumbent of or candidate for an elective public office in connection with which a salary is paid. When a membership is held jointly by a husband and wife, either one, but not both may be elected as director, provided however, that neither one shall be eligible to become or remain a director or to hold a position of trust in the Cooperative unless both shall meet the qualifications herein above set forth. Any director who shall miss three (3) Board of Directors' meetings in a row, without an excuse duly accepted and noted by the Board, shall lack eligibility to further serve and it shall be the duty of the Board of Directors to remove him from the Board. No former employee whose employment has been terminated by the Cooperative may be eligible to serve as director. Any employee who resigns or retires from employment by the Cooperative shall not be eligible to serve as a director for a period of ten (10) years following such resignation or retirement. Nothing contained in this Section shall, or shall be construed to, affect in any manner whatsoever the validity of any action taken at any meeting of the Board of Directors, unless such action is taken with respect to a matter which is affected by the provisions of this Section and in which one or more of the directors have an interest adverse to that of the Cooperative.

In the event an incumbent director, having served on the Board of Directors a minimum of six years, ceases to meet the requirement of receiving service from the Cooperative at his primary residential abode, such incumbent director shall nevertheless be qualified to continue to serve as director so long as he remains a member of the Cooperative and his primary residential abode is located within the area served by the Cooperative, or in close proximity thereto.

SECTION 4.03. ELECTION. At each annual meeting of the members, directors shall be elected by secret written ballot by the members and from among those members who are natural persons; provided however, that when the number of nominees does not exceed the number of directors to be elected, and if there is no objection, secret written balloting may be dispensed with and voting may be conducted in any other proper manner. Directors shall be elected by a plurality of the votes cast unless the members in advance of any balloting resolve that a majority of the votes cast shall be required to elect, and this Bylaw provision shall be drawn to the attention of the members and explained to them prior to any balloting. Drawing by lot shall resolve, where necessary, any tie vote.

SECTION 4.04. TENURE. The business and affairs of the Cooperative shall be managed by a Board of seven (7) directors which shall exercise all of the powers of the Cooperative except such that are by law, or by the Articles of Incorporation of the Cooperative, or by these Bylaws conferred upon or reserved to the members. Beginning with the Annual Meeting of the members of the Cooperative held on August 21, 1954, two (2) members of the Board of Directors shall serve for a period of one year, two (2) members shall serve for two years, and three (3) members shall serve for three years, and that lots be cast as to the length of time each director shall serve; and beginning with the Annual Meeting of the members held in 1954, those directors whose terms expire, such vacancy shall be filled for a period of three years.

SECTION 4.05. NOMINATIONS. It shall be the duty of the Board of Directors to appoint, not less than sixty (60) nor more than ninety (90) days prior to the date of a meeting of the members at which directors are to be elected, a Committee on Nominations, consisting of not less than five (5) nor more than eleven (11) members of the Cooperative who are not existing Cooperative employees, agents, officers, directors or known candidates for director, who are not close relatives (as hereinafter defined) or members of the same household of such existing employees, agents, officers, directors or known candidates for director, and who are so selected so as to give equitable representation on the committee to the geographical areas served or to be served by the Cooperative. The Committee shall prepare and post at the principal office of the Cooperative at least thirty (30) days prior to the meeting a list of nominations for directors to be elected. Any fifteen (15) or more members of the Cooperative, acting together, may make additional nominations in writing over their signatures, listing their nominee(s) in like manner, not less than twenty (20) days prior to the meeting, and the Secretary shall post such nominations at the same place where the list of nominations made by the Committee is posted. The Secretary shall mail to the members with the notice of the meeting, or separately, but at least ten (10) days prior to the date of the meeting, a statement of the names and addresses of all nominee(s) showing clearly those nominated by the Committee and those nominated by petition, if any. The chairman at such meeting, after all nominations so made have been duly announced, shall call for additional nominations from the floor. Notwithstanding the provisions contained in this Section, failure to comply with any of such provisions shall not affect in any manner whatsoever the validity of any action taken by the Board of Directors after the election of directors.

Body Smarts at the Computer

Sitting at a computer can sometimes make you feel a little stiff, and your eyes may also feel strained. These tips from the Rehabilitation Institute in Chicago may help:

*Keep the screen at eye level or at no lower than 15 degrees below eye level.

*Use a chair that offers you proper lower-back support. Use a lower back cushion if you need extra support. When you're sitting, your arms should be able to hang straight down from your shoulders, and your wrists should rest comfortably on the desk or table top and keyboard.

*Roll your eyes slowly in a circular pattern three times to the left and to the right to warm them up and reduce eyestrain. Look periodically from your screen and focus on a distant object to relieve stress on the eyes.

*Use a low footrest to relieve strain on the lower back.

Great Grilling

When the weather turns nice, the first thing many of us think of is getting outside and firing up the grill. To make your next barbecue a quick and tasty affair, give some of the tips below a try.

*For easy, delicious glazes, dilute jams or jellies with a little orange or pineapple juice and brush on meats during the last minutes of grilling.

*Avoid messy cleanups by lining the bed of the grill with heavy duty aluminum foil. Be sure to leave holes where air vents are located. When the barbecue is over and the coals have cooled, fold the foil into a bundle and toss.

*To enhance the flavor of grilled foods, toss bundles of fresh or dried herbs such as rosemary, bay, thyme, sage or oregano onto your coals.

*Microwave ovens save time on the grill and still allow you to enjoy that great barbecue taste. Pre-cook foods like corn on the cob and whole potatoes before placing on the grill for quick and easy meals.

*Grilled fruit make a yummy, quick dessert! Place bitesized pieces of assorted fruit (grapes, pineapple, bananas, apples, peaches, kiwis or strawberries) on skewers and grill for 5-10 minutes. Baste with butter and sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon or ginger.

First-time parents may find "time in the sun" limited

First-time parents may find their "time in the sun" is limited in the summer months.

"Babies -- especially those under 6 months -- and hot summer sun are not a healthy combination," said Dr. Jan Drutz, associate professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "Certainly, small infants can be taken outside during the day, but there are precautions parents should consider."

Most doctors agree that children under 6 months should not be exposed to the sun for long periods, and never placed in the direct sunlight. On family outings, find a well-shaded spot and place the baby where it is coolest and where air moves freely.

Sunscreens with a skin protection factor (SPF) of at least 15 can help minimize the dangerous effects of ultraviolet radiation. Because infants under age 6 months may inconsistently absorb some sunscreen chemicals, Drutz recommends avoiding their use for this age group, or to consult a pediatrician before using sun protection preparations designed for infants.

"In addition, it's not a good idea to take an infant to a sandy beach, or to a swimming pool area. Sunlight can reflect off the water or the sand, causing sunburn even when an umbrella is used," Drutz said. "For young babies, it's best to avoid the beach scene."

Other summer tips for new parents include:

*Dress the baby in light-colored clothing, never dark colors which tend to absorb heat more efficiently.

*Keep a hat or bonnet handy, even when going outside for brief periods. A light blanket can help protect tender arms and legs, but be careful to avoid overheating.

*If an outing is unavoidable, try not to go between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. when the sun is at its most intense.

*Be especially careful if your child is fair-complected. Children with blonde hair and blue eyes, for example, are far more susceptible to sunburn.

*Don't be fooled by cloudy days. A cloudy day still allows 60 to 80 percent of the sun's radiation to reach the skin.

*For babies over 6 months, topical sunscreens can be used, but consult your physician as to the safest and most effective one.

*Protect eyes as well, since ultraviolet rays can cause eye damage. Sunglasses with elastic bands are available for infants.

*Too much sun or heat can also cause heat rash. Avoid overdressing babies, and use cool baths and light medicated powder to reduce irritation.

"New parents should be cautious, especially when taking small infants out in the sun," said Drutz. "Common sense and proper protection can make the summer a great deal more enjoyable for the whole family."
