PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS IN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

The new look of Ballinger . . .

shining example of community development

One of the most important factors in community development comes when private businesses engage in building improvement and modernization. The new look of Ballinger is a shining example. Recently, a total of 20 stores, offices, plants and other firms have modernized with new fronts, new interiors, new lighting, and in some cases, complete new buildings. It gives Ballinger, literally, a new look . . . pleasant and inviting . . . a true PATTERN FOR PROGRESS in community development. Pictured at the left is the recently remodeled interior of The Ledger, Ballinger's thriving newspaper. Such development improves chances for continued economic growth and attraction of new industry, plus making it a better place to live, work and play. Growth conscious towns are invited to contact their local WTU manager for assistance from our area development representatives.

Success hasn't gone to its price

After all, you don't get the No. 1 place (or stay there year after year after year) unless you give people a lot for their money. That, Chevrolet does. Look what's new for 1965. Everything.

Like the handsomest new styling you've ever turned around for another glance at. Like Chevrolet's Jet-smooth ride, even better now with Wide-Stance to steady things as you go. Like however much economy or excitement you'd want, our miserly 140-hp Six to our ferocious Turbo-Jet V8, 325 hp on order.

Besides price, one other thing hasn't changed: Chevrolet's traditional resale value . . . still so good you won't believe it until you get it. So get it (along with all that's new) at your Chevrolet dealer's.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Sales Talk

"This suit will wear like iron," the friendly salesman assures you. If it doesn't really wear like iron, are you entitled to a refund?

Obviously not. Even though the salesman exaggerated, any sensible person would have taken his statement with a grain of salt. The law doesn't require absolute honesty by a seller for the simple reason that people just don't expect it.

"It always has been understood, the world over," observed Oliver Wendell Holmes, "that such statements are to be dis-trusted."

Of course, salesmanship can spill over into fraud. Although the dividing line is not always clear, there are several factors that weigh heavily in the law's balance.

For instance:

Was the seller stating a fact or only an opinion? "This car will last you for the next five years" is usually just the seller's opinion, not a specific guarantee. But "This car is only five years old" is factual. By and large, the law expects statements of fact to be accurate.

Also, a seller has a greater duty to be truthful when there is a relationship of trust between him and the buyer. Thus, talk by a seller was held to be fraud, not salesmanship, because he happened to be the buyer's trusted adviser.

And a seller with technical knowledge of the product, not available to the buyer, must stick closer to the truth—because the buyer is more likely to rely on what he says.

Moralists may argue that a seller should be held to total truth, plain and unvarnished, under all circumstances.

But, after all, it isn't necessarily a question of saint and sinner. Buyers, too, often stretch a point in the process of bargaining. If sellers exaggerate, buyers belittle. What the seller calls a peach, the buyer calls a lemon. The Bible (Proverbs 20:14) puts it this way:

"It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer; but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth."

L. J. Cappleman F.H.A. Director Receives Award

L. J. Cappleman, Texas State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, recently received the United States Department of Agriculture's coveted Superior Service Award which was presented by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman during special ceremonies on the Washington Monument Grounds in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Cappleman has been State Director for 12 years and a USDA employee for 30 years. His current residence is 2015 West Adams Avenue, Temple, Texas.

Mr. Cappleman was cited "for exceptional effectiveness in program administration, agricultural leadership and institution of a farm management program to improve the living standards of Texas farm families."

Besides the citation certificate, Cappleman received a silver medal.

Howard Bertsch, Washington, D. C., the agency's administrator congratulated Cappleman and said that "this outstanding Farmers Home Administration State Director and his hard-working staff served some 127,000 Texas farmers and other rural residents during the fiscal year of 1964 alone, when they extended supervised credit totaling close to $74.5 million."

Administrator Bertsch emphasized that the importance of this rural credit program to Texas is clearly defined. "If each of the 74.5 million dollars loaned by the agency throughout the state last year passed through only five hands as they were spent and repaid, these loans would have had a cumulative economic impact of $372.1 million."

"He has made a major contribution to the strengthening of family farms and rural communities and the alleviation of poverty in rural Texas," Bertsch said.

A statement of achievement accompanying Cappleman's nomination for the award explains that while serving as state director for the past four years "he has exhibited remarkable leadership qualities in administering a program that has effectively carried out Farmers Home Administration objectives by formulating realistic programs designed to best serve eligible Texas farm families."

Following are a few of the agency's achievements under Award Winner Cappleman's leadership:

1. An estimated 106,000 Texas farm and rural residents are or soon will be enjoying an adequate safe water supply for the first time because Cappleman placed special emphasis on the agency's community water system loan program.

The agency extended $21,427,390 in supervised credit for the construction or expansion of 189 Texas community water systems during the period fiscal 1961 through fiscal 1965 up to March 31. This is the largest number financed by the agency in any of the 50 states or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

2. In 1964, under Cappleman's direction, the incomes of 7,200 family farmers throughout Texas were strengthened by Farmers Home Administration loans totaling $44,000,000 made during this period to operate, develop and buy family farms, and to refinance debts.

3. Cappleman also received credit for assistance given farm families in times of disasters brought about by hurricanes, freezing weather and drought.

In recent months the Farmers Home Administration has made 3,845 emergency loans totaling $23,708,035 in 208 designated Texas counties. Farmers getting needed operating finances were unable to obtain it from other sources.

Under Mr. Cappleman's leadership, not only is the family type farmer receiving opportunity to increase his income, but many rural communities are experiencing new growth through the construction of new dwellings and, in many cases, the establishment of new businesses.

Internal Revenue has the job of seeing that you pay only the tax that you owe by helping you

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

A disease called glaucoma causes more than 12 per cent of all blindness.

According to estimates, one out of every 50 persons over age 40 has the disease.

One of the worst things about glaucoma is that, like the allegorical robber in the night, it can rob you of sight—without warning, without pain.

You can watch for certain danger signs of chronic glaucoma—a more common form of the disease than acute glaucoma.

Frequent changes of glasses, none of which are satisfactory; inability to adjust the eyes to darkened rooms, such as theaters; loss of side vision; blurred or foggy vision; and rainbow-like halos around lights are often signs of warning.

Acute glaucoma, on the other hand, strikes suddenly, causing cloudy vision, with or without severe pain in and around the eyes.

Glaucoma's cause is not yet known. How it destroys sight is known. Mysteriously, the pressure in the eyeball increases and glaucoma literally squeezes the sight out of your eyes.

Normally, the eye is filled with fluid. It is constantly forming and draining. When something happens to interfere with this drainage, the fluid cannot get out, and pressure begins to build up inside the eyeball.

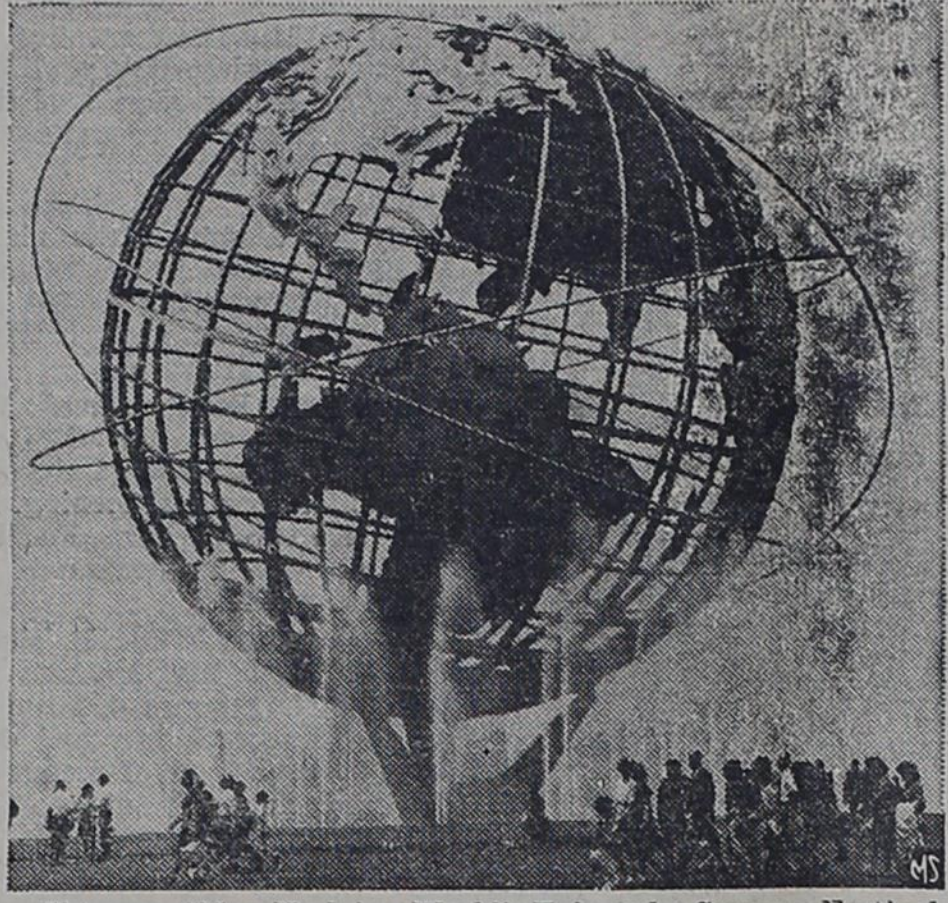

No one knows how to prevent glaucoma, but it can be detected by a simple painless test your doctor can perform.

The best defense against the disease is to have a thorough eye examination at least once every two years, especially if you are 40 or over.

If it is discovered in the early stages, progress of the disease usually can be checked and the remaining vision saved through treatment. Once it has been discovered, glaucoma can be controlled by regular use of eye drops to reduce pressure, or, sometimes by surgery.

Anyone of any age could have glaucoma, but it is more common among persons over 40. And if a parent, brother or sister has had the disease, your chances are

Knox Prairie Philosopher Working On Plans For Underground Farming For The Day When Land Is All Paved

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek probably is looking too far into the future this week, but you never know.

Dear editor:

I don't know how many cars there are right now in the United States, I may have read the figure in a newspaper somewhere and probably put it in my files for future use but it's too far down to get to, which may need explaining. I file newspapers by stacking them in a corner and if something I want is on top it's readily accessible but if it's a few feet down I hesitate to pull it out, I've got forethought, I don't want the whole stack toppling over on me. You run your business and I'll run mine.

At any rate, there must be at least 30 million automobiles in the U.S. right now, maybe a lot more, but 30 million is a good enough figure for my purposes.

What I'm getting at is that I read in a newspaper last night that the automobile industry expects to produce nine million cars this year. This is first-rate business news, but it has its drawbacks. I mean, we're producing cars a lot faster than we're getting rid of them. Makes no difference how hard and conscientiously people try, they can't get the wreck rate up to the production rate.

Therefore, say we're gaining four or five million cars a year. In ten years, instead of having 30 million, we'll have 75 or 80 million. In twenty years, 125 million. In thirty years, 150 million. Have you stopped to think that in a hundred years from now we'll have over 500,000,000 automobiles in the United States?

Do you realize that if they all started in one direction at the same time, those stacked up behind would never get there?

Is Congress working on legislation now to establish Driving Days, as it should be? What I mean is, with that many cars, driving will have to be prorated, with one group allowed out on Monday, one on Tuesday, etc. I can see some smart people right now buying seven cars so they can drive one every day in the week, but Congress will catch on and plug that loop hole before it spreads.

Then there'll be the problem of developing underground farming, as most of the land will be paved. I tell you, there are vast problems coming up in the future that are going to take a lot of forethought.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

FARM and RANCH Notes
JOE W. DOBY
 COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

A workday was held Saturday in Benjamin by the Knox County Riding Club with about 25 people on hand. The Club is building an arena on land leased from the Benjamin School. The arena is being built of pipe and bull wire. Money to buy the materials was obtained from an anonymous donation, donations from interested individuals and from membership dues.

The corner posts, made of 8" pipe, were set in concrete and the line post, made from 2" pipe were cut and set in their post-holes. Part of the line posts were set in concrete Saturday to complete a very successful workday.

Anyone interested in horses in Knox County is invited to join. The officers of the Club are Bud Conner, Benjamin, president; Vernon McCanlies, Benjamin, vice-president; Bobby Roberson, Vera, secretary-treasurer. Any of these men will be glad to accept the $3 membership fee required for annual membership.

The 4-H members elected officers for the 4-H Horse Club in connection with the Knox County Riding Club. They are Wyman Meiner, Benjamin, president; Dennis Kinnibrugh, Vera, vice-president; Susan McCanlies, Benjamin, secretary-treasurer; Jan Barton, Benjamin, reporter. This group planned a trail ride and practice session for Saturday,

May 29, at Benjamin. They are planning other trail rides for the summer.

The County 4-H Horse Show was set for Saturday, June 26, to be held in the new riding club arena. Any 4-H member in Knox County is eligible to enter whether or not he or she is a member of the riding club.

The District 4-H Horse Show will be held this year for the first time. It will be held July 9-10 at the Santa Rosa Roundup Grounds in Vernon. A total of 23 entries from district are eligible to go to the State 4-H Show at College Station in August.

The Pecan Nut Casebearer is late again this year. Word from the Experiment Station at Stephenville was that spraying there would probably not start until May 24-28. Cool temperatures are responsible for the late development. Spraying in the Seguin area started on May 14 and 15 and we are much further north.

Pecan growers need to watch their trees very closely to determine when the casebearer egg laying starts and when the tunneling of small buds below the cluster of nutlets occurs. It will be easy to make the mistake of spraying too early for satisfactory control.

Congratulations to the people of the Munday area who are working so hard in a mutual effort to help their economy. Farmers and business people working on the cold storage building project are getting the job done.

It is my belief that we have just scratched the surface in Knox County in the business of vegetable production. We have the soil, water and know-how to grow many vegetables. All we need to do is establish markets and cooperative marketing associations.

This is another example of what people can do to help themselves when they want to bad enough. It is all being done without government help either.

We have had to revise our thinking on cotton insect control to come extent. A few years back it appeared we had insecticides that would keep them under control if we kept the plants sprayed regularly. Then the insects built up resistance until it took more and more to kill them. It got to the point that the control cost more than could be realized from the crop.

We began to study the natural controls for harmful insects. If we could build up a high population of beneficial insects than it would aid greatly in the control of bollworms, especially. It would be much less expensive with more net profit. It would need to be based on the findings of certain levels of infestations of the various pests. This should lead to buildups of beneficial insects.

This then is the program we recommend. If thrips and fleahoppers are damaging, then they should be controlled. Thrips do not always do a great deal of damage in Knox County. When cotton begins to square, it should be watched closely for fleahoppers who do plenty of damage by piercing the young squares causing them to drop off.

Overwintered boll weevils can be controlled in many fields by an application across part of the field nearest a creek, windbreaks or other hibernation areas. They enter a field and start feeding on the first plants they reach. This application can sometimes mean several weeks before the entire field requires spraying.

Any delay in spraying can mean the buildup of beneficials that will aid in the control of bollworms. This program means each producer must spend time out in the field checking for insects and knowing what is going on. It can't be done through the windshield of a pickup, however.

Insecticides and rates of application can be found in the "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Cotton," L-218.

CARD OF THANKS

The kindness and sympathy of neighbors and friends in our recent sorrow will always remain with us as a precious memory. Our sincere thanks and gratitude for all those comforting acts. May God bless each of you.

Do you know the difference?

Dylox does!

Dylox is the selective insecticide. It selects its victims, the lygus bugs and fleahoppers that raise havoc when cotton begins to fruit and square. Unlike non-selective insecticides, Dylox does not appreciably reduce beneficial insect populations. Predators and parasites such as lady beetles, lacewings, egg parasites and big-eyed bugs continue to carry on their beneficial work in your fields. Therefore, cotton grows and fruits with the additional protection of beneficial insects, resulting in less frequent sprayings.

Can you identify the insect silhouettes? Dylox knows the difference. See your dealer for a supply.

"Don't overload circuits if you want to avoid blown fuses," caution 4-H Club members engaged in electric projects. They point out that the fuse box is the "heart" of the electric system and should be given proper care.

Never use a higher rated fuse than recommended or substitute something else which will keep the fuse from functioning properly, 4-H'ers warn. They regularly check electric circuits to guard against overloading—a frequent result from using more and more electrical equipment in the home and on the farm.

For 30 years the national 4-H Electric program has sparked millions of boys and girls to undertake a wide variety of projects. After learning the fundamentals of electrical energy and its place in modern living, they engage in projects that range from simple jobs like repairing cords to servicing motors, appliances and assisting with wiring and lighting surveys.

In recent years electronic devices including robots, radios and hi-fi sets have been constructed by club members. Participation in the program has enriched their knowledge and given comfort to their families as well, club leaders report. The work is supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Sponsor of the program for the last three decades is the Westinghouse Electric Corporation. Members who complete the best projects receive recognition awards consisting of gold-filled medals, a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress and a chance to compete for six $500 educational scholarships.

Local electric power suppliers also strongly support the program through recognition, technical assistance and teaching aids.

Livestock Survey Cards To Be Mailed

Postmaster Chan Hughes reminds rural patrons of the Monday Post Office to be on the lookout for June Livestock Survey cards. Next week, mail carriers will leave survey cards in a sample of boxes along their routes.

"USDA bases livestock and poultry estimates on replies to this survey," Mr. Hughes explains. "It is important for everyone who gets a card to fill it out and return it to the carrier. This way, USDA gets a representative sample of the area's livestock and poultry holdings."

Carriers assisting with the survey are: Ardell Spelce Route 1; and Rebus Guess Route 2.

Survey cards will be forwarded to Cary D. Palmer, State Agricultural Statistician, in Austin. After adding and analyzing these cards, USDA statisticians are able to estimate the State's milk production, calf and pig crops, lamb and wool crops, and the number of hens and pullets.

Information from this survey will guide livestock and poultry producers in making important business decisions," Mr. Hughes concludes.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Mrs. Howard Gray underwent surgery in the Baylor County Hospital in Seymour last Saturday morning. She is reported to be doing fine.

Mrs. John Phillips visited Mrs. Ben Yarbrough in the Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls last Sunday. She reports her to be recuperating nicely from recent surgery.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Comes Out With New Language For U. S. Budget, So We Can Get Some Sleep

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek gets involved with figures this week.

J. A.

Dear editor:
I understand some colleges specializing in agriculture around the country are now offering a new service to farmers.

They've installed big computer machines and if a farmer will send in his records the machines will digest the information and in 30 seconds or so tell him what he's doing wrong.

This may be fine for bachelor farmers, but farmers with wives don't need a machine to tell them what they're doing wrong.

However what I started out to say this week before I got sidetracked—as you can see I operate on the same level as the statesmen do on foreign policy, you don't plan what you're going to do, you wait till something busts loose and then react the best you can—is that I have developed a plan for simplifying figures covering such things as the national budget, the nation debt, etc.

As everybody knows, the figures have become unmanageable and frightening. For example, when the President says the budget this year will be right at $100,000,000, or spelled out, one hundred billion dollars, the amount is ungraspable. You can't get hold of it. It's too wide to go through your brain broadside, and if you let it in lengthwise part of it's out before the other's in.

What Washington ought to do is come on in to the last half of the 20th century, the space age, the debt age. Washington ought to throw out the term billion and take up the trillion.

As I understand it, a trillion dollars is $1,000,000,000 (don't stop yet, 3 more to go), 000, or a 1 with 12 zeroes after it.

Put in these terms, the national budget this year is not quite one-tenth of a trillion. Say it over. A tenth of a trillion? Why, that sounds paltry, like a tenth of a dollar. Like half a loaf.

In the years ahead, as we extend our rockets in space and our soldiers on earth, whoever is President can go before Congress and say our budget this year will come to only two-tenths of a trillion dollars, and we can all get some sleep.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

procession toward tomorrow

The procession of wisdom, of learning, stretches in a long unbroken chain throughout the history of Man. Now the new class of Graduates takes its place as one of the strong links in that chain.

Theirs is a chronicle of diligence and enthusiasm. Their industry is impressive and it bespeaks a promising future for them . . . and a promising future for all of us.

We look to them for great accomplishments. We welcome their energies. We applaud their triumphs. May this Commencement be but the title page to a full volume of success for each Senior.

Boll Weevil Control On Rolling Plains

The following practices are recommended for Rolling Plains counties where the boll weevil is an established pest. By following an integrated program of cultural and chemical control, the producer will realize more effective and economical boll weevil control.

These practices should be carried out on a community or county-wide basis for best results.

Uniform Planting Date

A delayed, uniform cotton planting period will aid in boll weevil control by reducing the size of the weevil population. The normal planting season in many Rolling Plains counties often extends from mid-April to early June. This extended planting season is in part responsible for the development of heavy weevil infestations.

Early plantings attract early emerging weevils by providing food and egg laying sites, while late planting offer adequate food near the end of the season.

If farmers in weevil infested areas would establish a delayed

4-H Co-Eds Try For Scholarships In Home Economics

Girls with an aptitude for home economics are encouraged to maintain high ratings in both 4-H and school work by the lure of home economics scholarships.

Again in 1965 six scholarships of $800 each and three of $500 each are offered to college juniors majoring in home economics, the National 4-H Service Committee has announced. The candidates must have high scholastic standings and a background of 4-H work. Winners will be announced next December.

Candidates must be currently enrolled in a 4-H Club or have been a former 4-H member. The girls should make application to the state 4-H Club leader. The completed special scholarship application must include a statement explaining interest in home economics as a major course of study and financial need.

The business concerns providing these 4-H home economics scholarships are: Sunbeam Corporation, Chicago; The S&H Foundation, Inc., New York; The West Bend Company, West Bend, Wis., and Pyrofax Gas Corporation, New York.

More than 2 million home economics projects are completed annually by 4-H Club members, according to figures released by the Federal Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. These include nutrition, bread baking, meal planning, sewing, food preservation, home improvement and related endeavors.

The scholarships are provided by the sponsors through the National 4-H Service Committee with the Cooperative Extension Service designating the recipients. More information and application forms are available from the county or state 4-H Club office.

A CORRECTION

In the obituary of Gus Brown in last week's paper, we failed to state that he was a member of the First Baptist Church in Munday. We are sorry this happened.

uniform planting date, many early emerging weevils would die from lack of food.

A planting season of May 20-30 has been set for the High Plains boll weevil control zone. Depending upon local conditions, a later date may be desirable for some Rolling Plains counties.

Fishing Fees Help Provide Good Angling

J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, reminded fishermen that buying a $2.15 fishing license is not so much a matter of obeying a state law as it is helping raise money to provide even better fishing.

"Actually," said Watson, "the mere purchase of a fishing license makes every one a stockholder in an operation that is designed exclusively to help him attain his own personal recreational objectives."

Watson went on to say that: "This is a pretty big operation since we use the money to finance state hatcheries which are the key to restoration work. We use a substantial part of it to match Federal aid under the Dingell-Johnson act which returns .75 cents to the state for every .25 cents it puts up. And we use a part to finance our enormous research program which right now for example is striving to add the fighting walleyed pike and northern pike to our vast fresh water areas."

The Executive Director said "all these $2.15 fees go to make up sizeable working capital," explaining that the 902,000 individual fishing licenses sold last fiscal year ending August 31, netted the Department $1,805,000, all to be used for the improvement of fishing.

Watson stressed that under Texas' distinctive universal fishing license law, passed in 1957, salt water as well as fresh water fishermen need licenses. He also emphasized that non-residents pay the same fee as residents and that under the liberal exempt provisions of the law all persons over 65 and under 17 years of age may fish free, whether they are residents or non-residents. Watson estimated at least another 100,000 are privileged to fish free because of the age provision.

The executive director suggested a good sportsman's slogan might be: "Don't forget your fishing license because the game warden may check you next!"

Homer Edrington, Jr., was a business visitor in Wichita Falls on Wednesday.
