A large group of Texans piled up at the Miami Air Field last week to boost to 33,000 the number of men home from far-scattered fronts by ATC under the stream-lined redeployment of forces to the Pacific, according to a news dispatch from the Public Relations office of the Miami Air Field at Miami. Among the number listed was Pfc. Fred Delamarte, 30, Armored Division, whose 24 months overseas service ended in Germany with the battle line in Crowell. Pvt. Silage Yields More Milk or Fat Than Stacked Feed

An acre of feed put up as silage will yield twice as much milk or fat as an acre of the same feed put up in a stack, says D. F. Eaton, county agent. For this reason, he said, farmers should make a special effort to conserve more feed by placing it in the silo. At present Foard County has an abundance of feed that would make good silage.

On a dry basis silage has more total nutrients than hay, due to the smaller loss incurred during the curing process, and in addition silage is more succulent and therefore allows for consumption of almost 100 per cent of forage plants stored in this manner.

He says that about two-thirds of the job of feeding livestock is a roughage feeding problem. Concentrate feeding is important, too, but the more good silage fed, the less grain will be required. About four pounds of good silage is equivalent to one pound of the concentrate ration in feed value.

Silage is one crop that can be harvested regardless of weather, and feed stored in this way remains palatable whether it stays in the silo one year or five, provided there is sufficient labor to handle the crop.

Eaton warned that making good silage requires that the following points should be observed: (1) grain should be fairly well matured, but the stalks should still be green; (2) the feed should be packed well in the silo; (3) the feed should be wet. If it is not wet all the way through with the juice of the plant, water should be added to give it the proper dampness; (4) if at all possible, silage should be cut, but good feed can be made by storing the full length stalks; (5) the silo should be filled to the top. This insures less settling will take place. The better the job of packing, the less loss after the feed has settled. Where settling is rounded up, there is less feed loss through water that falls on the trench, Eaton said.

If the silage is to be fed within a few months, no covering is necessary. However, where the feed is to be left in the ground for a year or more, a six-inch cover of dirt is advised. If the top of the silo is to be left uncovered, pack it down good, wet it thoroughly, and then stay off of it, Eaton said.

Program of Demonstrations at Court House Tuesday Night Brings Red Cross Nursing Classes to Successful Close

The Red Cross Home Nursing Project which has been underway in Foard County since June, with Miss Olga Larson of Tyler, Red Cross nurse, instructing, came to a close Tuesday night with a demonstration of the work accomplished presented by each class. There were 109 women enrolled in the classes and certificates were awarded to 92.

The program opened with the group singing of "America," which was led by John Raser. Rev. Grant Slagle gave the invocation and Judge Leslie Thomas extended a welcome. Mrs. Moody Bursey, chairman of the Home Nursing committee, expressed the appreciation of the ladies of the county for the privilege of having the opportunity of taking the course and also expressed her appreciation to Miss Larson for her untiring efforts and her ability in presenting a wonderful course of instruction to so many people as she did in the short period of time.

The Business and Professional Women's Club demonstrated how to make a bed and arrange the sick room. Miss Elizabeth Elliott and Miss Ira Ruth Gafford presented the demonstration. The Good Creek class was unable to get in because of the heavy rains but were prepared to demonstrate how to wash the hands for sickroom purposes.

Mrs. Charlie Thompson presented the Adeline and Columbian Study Club class, who showed the use of clean newspapers around the sick room. The demonstration was made by Mesdames Pearl Carter, A. R. Sanders, C. F. Brooks,

'Unconditional'

Miss Larson then presented each student who completed the course, and certificates were awarded each by A. Y. Beverly, Foard County Red Cross chairman. The benediction was given by Rev. Slagle.

Many skills have been learned during these class periods. They will help each student to make a sick person more comfortable at home. They will help to prevent spread of sickness in the home. They will help the home nurse to save her strength and will relieve the work of busy doctors and nurses. Each student is urged to practice these skills until they become a part of them and they will be easy to apply.

Miss Larson has been a citizen of Foard County during her stay here and has taken a live interest in all affairs of the county in addition to her work. She has made many friends. She was born in Minnesota of Norwegian parentage. She graduated from St. Paul Hospital in St. Paul, Minn. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Public Health Nursing from the Medical School of University of Minnesota at Minneapolis. She is a member of the Delta Kappa Gamma Theta chapter.

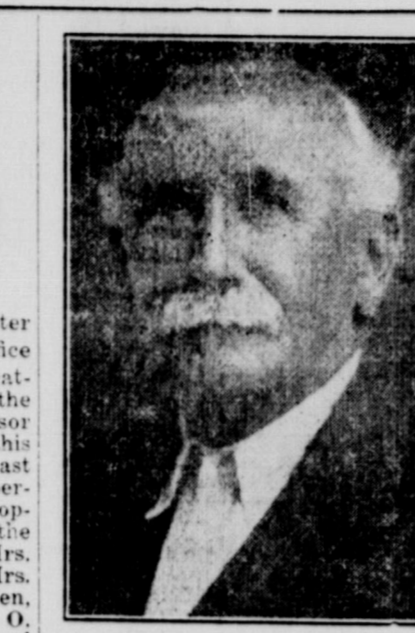

Miss Larson began work for the Red Cross as a Public Health Nurse in 1926. She came to Texas in 1932 and worked as a Red Cross nurse in Smith, Nacogdoches and Ellis Counties. She is now Public Health Nurse in the High School of Tyler and resides at 512 Mockingbird Lane, Tyler. She left Wednesday afternoon for Duluth, Minn., to visit her mother.

Everyone is cordially invited and urged to attend any and all the services. There will be a tent erected for the meeting, and it will be cool and comfortable.

D. M. SHULTZ

Pioneer Resident of Foard County Died Saturday

Funeral for D. M. Shultz Held in Thalia Church

Funeral services for D. M. Shultz, Foard County pioneer, who died at his home about ten miles east of Crowell, Saturday morning at an early hour, were held Sunday afternoon at the Baptist Church in Thalia with Rev. Richard Hudson, pastor of the church, officiating, assisted by Rev. R. I. Hart, pastor of the Thalia Methodist Church, and by Rev. Otis Strickland, pastor of the Crowell Baptist Church.

Flower bearers included Mrs. Will Tamplin, Mrs. Mack Gamble, Mrs. Ed Huskey, Mrs. Ernest Flowers, Mrs. Charlie Huskey, Mrs. Cap Adkins, Mrs. Cap Wheeler, Mrs. T. B. Gates, Mrs. Lee Whitman, Mrs. O. M. Grimm, Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. Will Johnson, Mrs. Walter Banister, Mrs. R. R. Magee, Mrs. Maggie Hammonds, Mrs. Allie Huntley, Mrs. Walter Long, Mrs. Hiram Jones, Mrs. H. T. Capps, Mrs. Nettie Tarver, Mrs. Will Pigg, Mrs. Willie Cato and Mrs. P. T. Gamble.

With the Womack Funeral Home in charge, burial was made in the Thalia cemetery. The music was under the direction of Gus Neill and Mrs. Neill played the accompaniment for all numbers. Besides the choir numbers, a duet, "The Nearer, the Sweeter," was sung by Mr. Neill and Mrs. H. W. Gray. Mr. Neill sang, "Beyond the Sunset," as a solo. The funeral arrangements had been made by Mr. Shultz, himself.

David Martin Shultz was born in Tazewell, Tenn., on February 20, 1855, and was 90 years, 5 months and 14 days old at the time of his passing. He was married to Miss Alice Hurst on Dec. 3, 1874, and they lived together for more than 69 years. In November of 1875, the couple moved to Denton County, Texas, and settled near Lewisville, where they lived for about 14 years. In the latter part of 1889, they came to the site of the place where the home now stands, and where the family has resided since that time.

To the couple 15 children were born, of whom 12 lived to be grown and married. Seven children preceded their father in death: Edna, Victor and Henry, who died in infancy, and C. T., L. T. and Mrs. Ray Pyle, who lived to early adulthood. Mrs. Shultz passed away on Jan. 17, 1944, at the advanced age of 85 years.

Survivors of Mr. Shultz include eight children, 6 sons and 2 daughters: Silas and Allen Shultz of Vernon; Willie Shultz of Houston; Dave Shultz of Leakey; Hugh and Lee Shultz of Crowell; Mrs. R. C. Johnson of Crowell and Mrs. C. D. Haney of Thalia, all of whom were present for the funeral. There were 69 grandchildren born, several of whom have passed away. There are 131 direct descendants.

Mr. Shultz was converted and united with the Baptist Church in young manhood. When he came to Foard County, in 1889, he joined the Baptist Church at old Margaret. This church later disbanded and he moved his membership to Thalia where he proved a faithful and loyal member for many years, serving as a deacon from the time he became a member. He organized the first Sunday School at the old Gambleville school house and was its superintendent for many years. He was known for his many philanthropic deeds and as a good neighbor and friend. He was probably the oldest citizen and organizer of Foard County.

Out-of-county relatives present for the funeral services were Misses Mildred and Lois Shultz of Dallas; J. E. and J. C. Trigg of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Sam V. Shultz of Hess, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Will Shultz of Rocky, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Elvy Smith of Dodson, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mints and family of Paducah; Mrs. Agnie Shultz of Victoria and Pfc. Ralph Shultz and wife of Blytheville, Ark.; Mrs. Bertha Shultz and Mrs. Helen Tedford of Abilene; Mrs. Ina Belle Combs of Hot Springs, Ark., and Mrs. Irene Oden of Seminole.

The Crowell I. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodges have perfected plans for the entertainment of the 37th annual session of the Lower Panhandle I. O. O. F. and Rebekah Association to be held at the First Methodist Church Thursday, Aug. 16, beginning at 9 o'clock with the registration of delegates. The program and arrangement committee includes: H. M. 1945 School Tax Rolls Completed; Taxes Being Paid

The 1945 school tax roll for the Crowell Independent School District was completed this week by L. A. Andrews, assessor-collector, and payments are now being received. C. P. Sandifer followed his usual custom and was the first taxpayer to pay his 1945 school taxes, he having paid this week, receiving tax receipt No. 1.

The total valuation of the school district for 1945 is $1,715,470 as against $1,688,610 for the year 1944. This is a natural increase as no concerted effort was made to raise valuations for 1945. Payments on the 1944 tax roll amounted to 95 per cent before taxes became delinquent. This is presumed to be an all-time high record and the taxpayers of the school district are to be commended for having attained such a record.

Applications for Fed Crop Insurance Now Being Accepted

The three members of the County AAA Committee were the first farmers in Foard County to sign up for All-Risk Federal Insurance on Wheat, according to A. R. Sanders, administrative officer. All necessary information in regard to the new insurance program is now available at the local AAA office.

Farmers of Foard County are urged to call at this office and find out the details of the program, as it applies to their individual farms. Applications will be accepted during the month of August, Mr. Sanders explained, August 31, 1945, being the deadline.

Clean-Up Efforts Not Thorough Enough for Safety

Many Crowell people have done a good job in cleaning up their premises, both in the residential section as well as down town, Mayor Jim Cook announced this week, and the City Council is thankful for the efforts made by the citizens who want a clean town.

There is still much work to be done along this line and it is hoped that all citizens will take a greater interest in cleaning up their premises and keeping them clean. This is very important from a health standpoint and everybody should be interested in preventing illness in their own homes as well as those of their neighbors.

Production Practices Carried Out Must Be Reported by Farmers

According to A. W. Barker, Chairman AAA County Committee, August 15, 1945, is the deadline for reporting any production practices carried out by a farmer prior to August 1st. If not reported by this date, there will be no payment made. All farm operators have been mailed notices as to the method of reporting these practices. Those farmers that know for sure they have earned no payment, need not report.

Elephant Challenges Lion As Circus King of Beasts

Schenectady, Aug. 6.—"Leo the Lion" may be king of the beasts, but as far as voice is concerned "Toby" the elephant seriously challenged and almost copped "Leo's" sceptre at the circus. A General Electric sound level meter, which measures quantity of sound, tested the vocal renditions of both beasts and found the lion's to be just a shade stronger. Technically speaking, the decibel elephant with his shrill trumpeting registered 109 decibels of sound intensity on the sound level meter, while the king of beasts, after many trials rang below this figure, finally managed to muster 110 decibels. As means of comparison, the elephant's trumpet and the lion's roar equalled in sound intensity the noise at the feet of four men hammering a steel plate. Roaming the Ringling Bros.-Baron and Bailey Circus grounds, the sound level meter found that the fiercer, usually considered second only to the lion, could emit a roar worth only 89 decibels, equivalent to the sound volume of a pneumatic drill at 10 feet. The hippopotamus, although dubbed the "Silent Joe" of the circus, cooperated with a pectoral grant that registered 90 decibels. A black leopard, a kangaroo and a chimpanzee each moved the meter counter to 79 decibels, equivalent to a radio at normal volume, but a small macaw proved raucous enough to triumph over this group with a reading of 84. This, according to the sound level meter, would equal sound volume of normal State Street traffic. Loudest voice at the circus, except for the giraffe which makes no sound, was that of a boa constrictor, whose hiss at two feet registered only 60 decibels. Low conservation at the same distance from the meter is the equivalent. Various tonal qualities make no difference to the sound level meter. Only the strength in the noise is recorded on the indicator.

Home Town Thoughts

The home stores are good places in which to buy goods, their prices are reasonable, and they offer courteous service. Good and faithful service in any occupation does not go unrewarded. The people who render it are rewarded by the respect of their neighbors and townspeople and the better chances they have of promotion. A concern should be able to come somewhere near doubling its business by pursuing a consistent policy of advertising, without increasing its expenses by any very large proportion.

Texas Junior Chambers of Commerce will have safety as their No. 1 project during 1945-46. Forres E. Wood of San Antonio, chairman of the safety committee, told teachers attending a safety education course at the University of Texas. Safety in the home, school, in industry, and traffic is being emphasized at the training conference. Turkey shipments in Texas during June nearly doubled those of a year ago, but chicken shipments were halved, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports. Sixteen carloads of chickens were shipped this year in June, and 35 carloads were shipped in June last year; turkey shipments increased from 9 carloads in June, 1944, to 17 carloads in July, 1945. Protecting Stored Grain

Since we had some trouble from insects in grain stored in bins last year, we will print the following information on how to control the insects that infest grain:

E. A. Miller, agronomist for the A. & M. College Extension Service, recommends a few simple safeguards to prevent, or at least reduce considerably, insect damage to grain stored on a farm. Cleaning grain well before storage, and storing it only in clean bins, are the basic precautions.

Miller says. Along with these, bins should not be filled too full, grain should be kept dry and as cool as possible, inspected often and fumigated when necessary. Thorough cleaning of bins before filling them with new grain is one of the most important safeguards. Many empty bins which look clean actually harbor thousands of hungry insects which have burrowed into the woodwork and come out of hiding only when the bins are refilled. So before using them for the new crop sweep out the bins thoroughly and remove all old grain. It will be helpful, too, if the grain to be stored is cleaned of all broken kernels and floury dust because many insects cannot live in whole, sound grain.

Further protection may be had by spraying wooden bins with an oil spray to kill insects hiding in the walls and floor. Since it is difficult to keep grain cool in the long period of high temperature in Texas, it is especially important to keep it dry. It will be easier to inspect and sample the grain if the bins are not too full, Miller says. If storage space is available fill only to a point six inches below the top of the side walls and level the surface of the grain. If it is heaped up it will be harder to fumigate the grain effectively if that should become necessary.

After the grain is in storage, inspect it often, Miller suggests. If you find an average of two or more weevils or borers to two and a quarter pounds of wheat, the grain will grade weevily. And if you find enough bran beetles to cause grain temperatures above normal, fumigate the grain.

If you have difficulties with your stored grain talk to your county agricultural agent.

Farmers Hear Farm Bureau Speakers

Quite a group of farmers were present to hear an address by Dave Reynolds setting forth the accomplishments and functions of the Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Reynolds was introduced by Cal McCurdy, State Farm Bureau Director for this district. He stated the purpose of their visit to the various counties of this district was to endeavor to increase the membership of that organization in the state of Texas.

Mr. Reynolds made a clear cut and informative discussion of the organization. In a most convincing way he showed how effective this farmers organization has been in its defense of the farmers problems and how the accomplishment of this organization had brought financial benefit to the farmers of the nation as a group. He showed that it is not a radical organization, but that its program was sound and is accepted by leaders in agriculture and business as a reasonable program which has become nation wide in its effectiveness.

The small group of farmers present pledged their support to the movement and set up a tentative organization which they hope will expand to include every active farmer and business man in the county.

The group present elected Curtis Ribble temporary chairman and Homer Nichols, secretary. This is a farmer's movement and is promoted and operated by them and its growth is wholly dependent on their efforts. Mr. McCurdy and Mr. Reynolds will return for another meeting Friday, August 17, at which time it is the purpose of those farmers now in charge to secure a larger attendance.

We can assure any farmer who attends this meeting that he will be surprised at what is really being accomplished by this organization and that he will feel proud of its accomplishments. He will realize that farmers are at last moving in the front lines of agricultural progress.

Notice To Cattle Owners

To those who are interested in having their herds tested for Bangs disease, either beef or dairy cattle, please call at the office and list your cattle and sign the agreement you will enter into with the Texas Livestock Commission.

Dr. Noyes was through here recently and he agreed that if we could get around 225 head they would begin testing here in the county.

There is no charge and the livestock owner would furnish assistance in handling the cattle.

The commission is interested in testing herds where the owner wishes to clear up the disease and to finally accept the herd.

Several have already listed their cattle, so come at once if you are interested, as we would like to secure enough for a good circuit when we start.

Remember this disease may be present in any livestock whether beef or dairy cattle.

Without Vision

There is a verse in the Biblical book of Proverbs which reads, "Where there is no vision, the people perish, but he that keepeth the law, happy is he."

What was in the mind of the ancient wise man who wrote this famous book some 2,500 years ago? Those times were extremely primitive, but human nature has not so greatly changed.

The word "vision" used in this sense means that people have clearly in mind a picture of the things that could be accomplished if the wrong habits of the people and world systems could be changed.

There is infinitely more vision today than there was in the time of the Hebrew prophet. The country has built great systems for education, philanthropy, religion, and social service.

Do the American people have a clear vision of the kind of world they want after the war, and the things they will have to do to make the sacrifices and pay the cost of getting peace?

A pelican will eat about ten pounds of fish daily.

HISTORY

Labor Day—September 3: Labor Day, the first observance of which occurred on September 5, 1882, has come to be the most widely observed day of the year. Credit for the setting aside of one day each year to honor labor is generally given to Peter J. McGuire of New York.

Parents and Children

A distinguished visitor to this country once asked what impressed him most in the United States. His reply was: "The way parents obey their children."

American parents are good natured, they want to have their children enjoy a good time, and many of them dislike to thwart these youngsters in any way.

There is a degree of freedom which some of them do not know how to use. Most of them settle down and become good citizens, but there are some who are led by this freedom into undesirable conduct, and some get into serious difficulties.

Idea as to the things that make a family good neighbors have changed considerably. The old idea, in the smaller places anyway, was that a good neighbor was one who offered kindly ministrations when you were sick or in trouble, also someone who was quiet and friendly and peaceable.

Good Neighbors

Because I believe there is an obvious place for a world organization for peace and an obvious service for it to render, I believe that it can and will accomplish world peace if given a fair chance and applied with reasonable diligence and judgment.

LEVELING DOWN PROCESS

Commenting on the Wagner-Dingell Bill for compulsory health insurance which would inaugurate on a national and widely expanded scale the program just turned down by the California legislature, the San Diego Union says editorially:

"It would exact a tax of 4 per cent from the employee's pay check and another 4 per cent from the employer to carry out a system of so-called benefits covering practically everybody in the nation. A Federal employment agency would assume full control over employment. Unemployment insurance would be extended to one year and a variety of so-called benefits for sickness and injury would be provided."

The Union says that while sponsors of the program "hasten to explain that the measure implies neither 'socialized medicine' nor 'regimentation,'" the compulsory feature of the bill cannot honestly be termed anything else than regimentation, in that it compels every employe and every employer to pay a tax.

"The Wagner-Dingell Bill... manifests the theory of the government supporting the people instead of the people supporting the government... gathering the masses more and more under the control of Washington... The whole proposition is merely another one of those 'leveling down' ideas... These health insurance available for every worker in the United States at a price be-qualities seem to be somewhat overshadowed by his lack of care.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

Whether or not the present effort to establish a basis of world peace is going to be entirely successful no one of course knows. Everyone hopes that the plan will succeed but no one knows. The need for such a plan is so obvious and so urgent that it seems that if it is given half a chance and is entered into with any degree of sincerity it must succeed.

Aside from the many reasons that can be given against war with which everyone is familiar, it seems to me that there is still another reason which calls for a union of purpose among the peoples of the world that there shall be no more great wars.

This in brief is it: When the leaders of a nation make up their mind to bring to an end the peace of the world and engage in war they seem to become so infected with war madness that they are impervious to reason. If they realize the possible consequences of their entry into war, not only to themselves but to a large part of the world, it seems to spur them on to greater determination rather than to deter them. The thought of going to war seems to act like a fever which grows in the system until it robs the mind of all reason and power to think.

I will illustrate what I am trying to say by the present wars—the war with Germany and the war with Japan.

Hitler by deliberate plan skillfully and shrewdly led his people into war. He sold them on the necessity of it, and its whole shameful ruthlessness until they were champing at the bits waiting for the world that would set them at the throats of their so-called enemies, who for the most part were almost helpless and defenseless little nations.

As further evidence that war destroys a nation's power to think and act normally, let us look back to check up on the actions of Hitler after he and his leaders knew the war was lost. Instead of permitting reason to rule they stubbornly refused to yield and permitted their country to be systematically destroyed, city by city.

The same thing is true in the case of Japan. Japan's war party planted the spark of war in the hearts of the people and fanned it into a white heat, and bereft of all reason launched the sneak attack against Pearl Harbor. Already as further evidence of the fact that war robs those who promote it of all power to reason, Japan is face to face with complete, devastating destruction. As surely as the sun rises and sets, city by city Japan is going to be destroyed. Japan's leaders cannot help but see this. They cannot help but know that destruction of the material things that Japan has been centuries in building is inevitable. Japan is not a rich nation. Her recovery will be slow and long. It will take many, many years.

Because nations, which make a business of promoting wars, do not have the ability to reason for themselves there is need for the nations of the world who have a detached view of the situation to step in and say to a nation known to be promoting a war that it must stop or it will be crushed by a union of powers. The certainty of such destruction would remove any possibility of victory and act as a sobering influence on inflated and unreasoning minds.

State-Wide Radio Broadcast on War Fund, Friday, Aug. 10

Austin.—A state-wide radio program, to be broadcast by practically every Texas station Friday, August 10, will tell the story of National War Fund services being sent to our troops and allies as result of the 1944 Texas war chest campaign. Don Weldon, publicity director of the United War Chest of Texas, announced today.

The highly dramatic 30-minute air show will be broadcast from 9:30 to 10 p. m. from a Dallas studio, and will reach every town and county in Texas by way of a great all-station network created especially for the program. Weldon said. Stations in all parts of the state are co-operating to make the war chest show one of the greatest ever staged over the Texas air waves, he said.

With music by the famed 32-piece Eighth Service Command Band, and a script that carries listeners to every part of the world where National War Fund services go "For Our Own and Our Allies," the broadcast will give Texans an authentic picture of the work being done by their war chest dollars.

"Texans who contributed so generously to the war fund, through their local war chest organizations, should know just what their dollars are doing for our fighting men," the war chest announcement said. "The all-station broadcast will give that information in a highly dramatic and entertaining manner. We hope every Texan will hear the broadcast, and believe that every citizen of the Lone Star state will feel a great pride in the work made possible by Texas contributions to the National War Fund."

Nearly ten per cent more electricity was used in the first half of 1945 than was used in the same period of 1944. Statistics compiled by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas show that there was a substantial increase in electricity used by industrial plants, commercial firms, and in residences.

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hinstwell) Clean Dirt: I remember an expression that my mother used to use when I would come in from working in the garden with my hands and clothing soiled. She used to say: "It is clean dirt, it will all wash off." Later on when I grew older I sometimes was given work at the neighboring garage that caused me to get even more and larger smudges on my face and clothing. "Never mind," my mother said, no matter how soiled and smudged I got, "it is clean dirt. It will all wash off. The kind of dirt you want to worry about is the kind that won't wash off." As a boy I did not understand all that was meant by the kind of dirt that won't wash off. After I became older I discovered what she meant. It is true that the dirt that comes from our work and soils our clothing and puts smudges on our face and hands isn't the kind that should cause any worry. It is clean dirt. It will all wash off. The dirt that harms us is the dirt that finds its way, if we let it, into our minds and hearts. It is not clean dirt. It won't wash off.

Pensioners in Texas to Receive More If Amendment Is Passed

Temple.—Old age pensioners in Texas stand to receive an average of $5.50 per month more than their present payments if a proposed constitutional amendment is passed, August 25, raising the ceiling from $15 per month to $20 per month. State legislators of Texas are pointing out. Under the new arrangement, the solons say, the state could pay an average of $2.75 more to each of the 170,000 old persons on the rolls at present, and the figure would be matched by federal funds. The state constitution now limits the total that may be paid to destitute children in one year to $1,500,000 and limit payments to needy blind to $1 per month, the law-makers explain. Last year $3,000,000 was paid out for these two purposes, and should no increases be made for these two projects, there would be $2,000,000 a month for old people against approximately $26,000,000 now being used, or an increase of about $6,000,000. The old age and other public welfare projects amendment will

The last generation has been the most important in the history of electricity and worth ringing the bell for, because it's during this last era that the use of electricity in America has become so popular, so widespread, so useful, and so cheap.
It's during this last historic generation that most of our electric appliances have come into common use—electric refrigerators around 1925; radios around 1930; electric washing machines and vacuum cleaners in the early twenties; electric roasters and clocks around 1932; and so forth. Their economical use has been made possible through the lowered price you pay for electricity. For it's been during these same years that the price of your electricity has been coming down and has stayed down, even in wartime. For example, if you're the average user of electricity, you are now getting about twice the electricity you got fifteen years ago for the same money.

Ever See Your Car BOTTOM-SIDE-UP?

Chances are, you haven't seen your car from this revealing position since the last time your modest Aunt Nellie lifted her skirts above her knees!

Brother, if you want to know the shocking facts of car-life, just sneak a look at your bus from underneath-up! And don't let a shiny hood fool you. It's what you usually can't see that can hurt you!

For instance, take that spring shackle, crummy and crusted with the mud and grime of miles of dusty roads... or that dry, rusty spring... or that tattered muffler, just hanging on by a thread... or that worn, bone-dry tie-rod.

There's plenty more you could see—plenty your Phillips 66 Service Station Man sees all the time. That's because it's part of his job to look underneath as well as over your car... to check and lubricate all those important mechanical parts that are so often out of mind because they're out of sight.

And he knows, probably better than anyone, just how important over-all, underneath lubrication is today! He knows that a loose nut, a broken pin or shackle, can often mean the loss of your car—and it may mean the loss of your life!

An awful lot of cars are going to wind up on the junk heap in the next few months. Don't let yours be one of them! Care for your car for your country! Wherever you see the Orange and Black Phillips 66 sign—drive in and let an expert take that added ounce of precaution which can mean so much to you.

Navy Yard at Pearl Harbor Needs Many Skilled Men
Dallas, Aug. 2.—Texans wearing medals and decorations took time out from the war to tell stay-at-home newsmen Tuesday in Dallas, that the U. S. Army intends to amass overwhelming power for use of our GI's as they go in to knock out Japan after its softening up by sea and air forces. The Army, according to Colonel Robert L. Bacon, Harlingen, Texas, chief of "Task Force 30," now giving information about military needs in the Pacific, plans to deliver six tons of guns, ammunition, medical and other supplies in the Western Pacific with each soldier, and an additional ton each month to keep him fighting in top form. Winning the Japanese war, the officers say, is possible only through use of abundant shipping by vessels that can be repaired nearest the scene of battle. With short travel to Navy yards, they quickly return as good military better than they were to the continuous fighting front. The Navy Yard at Pearl Harbor is now seeking hundreds of skilled men for this work from Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana. The pay is good. There's some overtime. Hiring is done by U. S. Civil Service Recruiters both in their own and U. S. Employment Service offices. Information and applications may be gotten from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Dallas, Texas, or New Orleans, La., or Crowell postoffice.

Texas Is Nation's No. 1 Cotton State
Dallas, Aug. 9. —(Special Texas) position as the nation's No. 1 cotton state has been fortified by its participation in cotton industry's campaign to raise a $2,000,000 fighting fund to protect cotton's markets from the war ends, the National Cotton Council pointed out today. The Lone Star state leads in number of cotton seed crates participating in the drive with signed, and also is first in number of cotton merchants 39 already taking part. It is second in the number of gins set with 605, and third in the number of compresses with 32 units. All branches of the cotton industry have joined in the campaign, which is sponsored by the Council, whose research laboratories are located in Dallas, Austin. The campaign calls for payment of 20 cents on each of cotton produced to finance entire research, sales promotion and other projects. Half of fund will come from cotton growers, and half from manufacturers and processors. Oscar Johnston, Council president, points out that any serious loss of markets after the war would seriously disrupt the economy of Texas and other South states, since cotton means 552,000,000 in annual income. More than 15,000,000 people are directly or indirectly affected by this income, he adds. Texas Tech at Lubbock has largest campus in the world.

THE TEXAN'S SHARE in the WAR

One of the greatest stories of war concerns two friends in Texas. Here it is, as told in a magazine:

Slender, 19-year-old marine Carter for duty last week at the carpenter shop of Camp Pendleton, Calif. For one of the fiercest small fights in World War II, Pfc. Andrew Jackson Carter Jr. of Paducah, Ky., had only one mark to show he had a deep red scar on his forehead.

At Mare Island Naval Hospital, 200 miles to the north, lay 22-year-old Sergeant William George Harrell, Carter's best friend and ally in the fight. Sergeant Harrell had no hands.

The night they made Marine Corps, Carter and Harrell were members of Company A of the 28th Marine Division—the unit that planted the flags on Iwo Jima. It was March 2, 1945, after Suribachi had been secured, and the 28th had moved to the line along the steep ranges of northern Iwo.

Before dark the two men dug foxholes. One slept an hour while the other watched; then they swapped.

About 5 a. m., Harrell was awakened by rifle fire near his foxhole. By the light of the yellow shells he saw Carter firing at four Japs who had tried to filter through the line. They were there they fell, ten feet away. More Japs came. Darrell killed one with his carbine, at 25 yards. The other Jap popped into the line. Harrell tried to get another rifle from the company command post. The enemy started tossing hand grenades. One landed inside the foxhole. Harrell tried to find it and throw it back. It blew off his left hand. His left thigh was hurt, too, and he bled from his wounds made by fragments of the grenade.

As Carter came back into the foxhole, two Japs charged. Carter fired twice, but his new rifle jammed. He grabbed a Jap yesterday's souvenir, and used it to kill the attackers on the line. The other Jap swung his carbine at Carter's hand. But Harrell still had one hand left.

He raised the carbine, shot the saber-waving Jap.

Carter ran back to get another rifle. While he was gone two Japs got into the foxhole. Harrell seemed to be dying, so the Japs tapped a grenade, left it beside his head. But Harrell had a little left. He pushed the grenade away from him with his remaining hand. The explosion took his hand off. It also killed the Japs.

When Duke Carter returned, the Japs had given up trying. As Bill Harrell was carried away he opened his eyes and muttered: "Get that saber for me." Carter got it, sent it home to his friend's mother in Mercedes, Texas.

After daylight other marines counted the dead Japs around the foxhole. There were twelve.

Keep that story. Show it to your friends. And read it again in October, when a solicitor from your local war chest asks for your contribution to the National War Fund. If it doesn't make you double the size of your check, nothing will!

GOLDEN EGGS. GOODBYE

"Labor, champing at the restraints of its no-strike pledge, is finding new ways of applying its strongest weapon—economic force—against employers," says Business Week. "By using such devices as mass social work slowdowns, and refusal to stay on the job without a written contract, labor is technically in compliance with its work pledge, while actually circumventing it to press demands."

Labor overlooks the fact that a point can be reached where it can demand more than industry can give. It overlooks the fact that practices such as it is indulging in, to the detriment of our war effort, are costing it public good will. If it continues its present policy, it will wind up like the individual who killed the fabled goose that laid the golden eggs. A labor monopoly can drive the cost of production so high that the public cannot buy, and then goodbye, golden eggs (jobs).

Veterans May Obtain Priority Preference on Surplus Equipment

A speedy procedure by which farm veterans of this war may obtain priority preference for the purchase of surplus equipment for use in their agricultural enterprises is now available through AAA and the Smaller War Plants Corporation. Russell Smith, SWPC district manager, declared today.

Veterans who have been released from active duty in the armed forces and who need surplus government property for use on their farms should go to the County AAA committee in the county in which they live for certification, Smith said. Following certification, their applications are turned over to the nearest district office of SWPC, and SWPC then acts as the veterans' buying agent.

Applications have already been received in the Southwest Region of SWPC for tractors, trucks, harrows, plows, power pumps, power saws and many similar types of equipment for use on the farm. This equipment is being purchased from the disposal agencies as fast as it is declared surplus.

These commodities, if available in surplus, may be purchased through Smaller War Plants Corporation for cash or with a minimum cash downpayment of 15 per cent of the sale price of the item.

Smith explained that a few limitations apply in the case of the farm veteran desiring to purchase surplus property. His capital investment may not exceed $25,000, he may not purchase in excess of $2,500 worth of surplus, and the County AAA committee must certify that there is a reasonable probability of the veteran's success in the enterprise.

The sixth annual one-day teachers' institute on professional relations will be held at the University of Texas August 9, Dr. C. T. Arrowood, chairman, and professor of the history and philosophy of education, has announced. Prominent personalities in the University of Texas State Teachers Association will be speakers.

For the Lord to have created us without the capacity to enjoy True Happiness would have indeed been a travesty. But our God does all things right. Therefore, He revealed to us through the Word what that true happiness consists of. To rely upon the Word will not only bring pleasure in this world but will also prepare our souls for the realms above.

Lord's Day evening we will study a portion of the book of Ephesians. This is a study that will bring much light to the soul that desires to know the truth of the Lord. Life eternal, said our Lord, is to know thee, the only true God and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent. John 17. The wrath of God is stored up in heaven against those that know not God and obey not His Son. Heb. It is most imperative therefore that we inform ourselves as much as possible about the truths told us in the Word. Come. Grant L. Slagle, Minister.

Weekly Sermon

The Crimson Thread

The story of salvation from sin through the blood of Jesus Christ is a crimson thread running through the Bible, from Genesis to Revelation. In the Old Testament, it points ahead to the cross by means of typical sacrifices. In the Gospels, we see it at Calvary, where Christ shed His blood for the remission of sins. In the epistles, we see it in doctrine, which explains the shedding of Jesus' blood.

Without this crimson thread the Scriptures fall apart. The acid test of a professing Christian is, Does he believe in salvation from sin through the blood of Jesus? If he does not, or if he adds work as a requisite for salvation, he is not trusting in the gospel of God's grace. "Without shedding of blood is no remission" (Heb. 9:22).

"The wages of sin is death" (Rom. 6:23). A holy God cannot fellowship with a sinful being, and this separation means death. Disobedience to God by our first parents made them sinners before God, for disobedience to God is sin. Hence, separation from God resulted, and the darkness of sin pervaded their souls instead of the light of God. Their fellowship with God was broken, and they became spiritually dead. The law had judged Adam guilty of sin, and the penalty was separation from God.

Adam and the rest of the human race had to remain under that penalty until someone else took that penalty upon himself and died under the law. But he had to be a sinless one. Here the grace of God is manifest. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

Jesus not only completely satisfied the law which Adam had broken, but He arose from the penalty of that law to give eternal life to all who put their faith in Him. Only the giving of a life could satisfy the law's demands, and the giving of a life means outpoured blood. That is why salvation from sin can be only through the shedding of blood.

The only way to be saved is through personal faith in the shed blood of Christ, who became the sacrifice for your sins in His death on Calvary. Will you not make Him your Saviour right now?

some community project, they can usually get out a good deal better attendance if the program is followed or preceded by some kind of a "feed."

It may be considered laughable that the mere offering of such a common thing as food should thus draw people. Probably the thing that draws is not the food, but the fact that when people get together to eat something it excites their social desires, and they talk and have a good time. They make new friends, and the occasion seems a very pleasant one.

SEAWAY TO SPENDING

The sponsors of Federal power ownership have long sought to launch the United States on the development of a St. Lawrence seaway. The argument is advanced that this would cut railroad freight rates. The fact that the seaway would be blocked with ice months of each year, and that the country tributary to it would be helpless without the railroads, is never mentioned. Buried in the St. Lawrence seaway proposal is also a well worked out plan for Federal development of power at the expense of the general taxpayer.

Why should our government injure such industries as coal mining, electric utilities and railroads, which employ millions of workers and pay government billions of dollars in taxes? Why should we sanction projects which reduce jobs in private industry, thereby forcing our citizens onto public payrolls? What excuse is there for our government going into industrial projects unless there is deliberate intent to make government the master in industrial activity, and the people mere servants of the government? Why not keep government to the functions of governing and encourage free industry to expand as in the past, under suitable regulation?

Why should we promote national socialism which by insidious methods seeks to dominate or eliminate the activities of private citizens in many lines of endeavor? It is time to think about this if we wish to perpetuate a free America.—Industrial News Review.

Civilians At War

The Government needs and asks its citizens in this 192nd week of the war against Japan to:

1. Use only as much gasoline as you absolutely need. More gas is required for stepped-up Pacific War alone than was used when we were fighting on two fronts.
2. Can your surplus vegetables while they are plentiful. Recent rain damage to crops makes home canned supplies even more necessary to supplement commercial output.
3. Fill one of the remaining openings for cadet nurses in September classes. If you are a high school graduate you may be eligible for valuable professional education free in a school of your own choice plus maintenance and a personal allowance. Write to U. S. Public Health Service, Box 88, New York 8, N. Y.

More Woolen Apparel For Civilians In Fall

A greater supply of wool topcoats, overcoats and dresses by this fall and worsted suits by this winter is expected to result from the revocation by WPB of two orders that had maintained wartime control over the production of wool and worsted fabrics, WPB reports.

School Lunch Program To Continue In 1946

School lunch programs throughout the Nation will continue to receive Government assistance during the 1945-46 fiscal year. Schools which participated in the program during the 1944-45 fiscal year are being reinstated upon request under a simplified agreement. Schools wishing to participate in the program for the first time may apply to the Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

The school lunch program is designed to operate under local sponsorship of school boards and other school organizations, parent teacher groups, civic groups and other non-profit organizations. A group desiring to sponsor a lunch program and needing financial assistance to operate one adequately, may apply to the USDA for aid. If the application is approved, the USDA and the sponsoring group enter into an agreement setting forth the responsibilities of each.

provided for service men discharged from the armed forces for use in attending to personal affairs and making adjustments to civilian life. Chester Bowles, Administrator of OPA says. The special ration, which local War Price and Rationing Boards may begin issuing August 3, 1945, is limited in each case to the needs of the veteran and may not exceed 30 gallons of gasoline. It is restricted to veterans who have been separated from active service within the preceding 30 days or to officers on terminal leave preceding their separation from the service.

"When applying to their local boards for this ration, both officers and enlisted men discharged from the Army must present their copy of War Department Form 100 together with Application Form OPA 552 and the mileage rationing record. Enlisted men discharged from the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard must present Navy Form 553, Marine Corps Form 75PD or Coast Guard Form 553. Officers discharged from the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard present a copy of the orders releasing them from active duty."

Pricing of Used Egg Cases Revised By OPA

An entirely new method of pricing used egg cases has been established to encourage the return of cases in good condition and their widest possible re-use, OPA says. The revision, effective August 31, establishes uniform prices for all sellers in all parts of the country. Egg handlers and egg-case handlers now have the choice of the following two pricing methods:

1. A handler may sell the used egg case in about the same condition as he received it. For this kind of sale, his maximum price is 17 cents for a 30-dozen case and nine cents for a 15-dozen case, regardless of who sells it or who buys it. The prices are f. o. b. seller's loading point or cars.
2. The handler may apply to his OPA Regional Office for a certificate of registration, under which he agrees to guarantee that the used egg cases he sells have the same on-trip serviceability as new cases. Two price ranges are set for this type of sale—40 cents for a complete 30-dozen case and 20 cents for a 15-dozen case, if sold and delivered to an egg producer, and 32 cents for a 30-dozen case and 16 cents for a 15-dozen case, if sold to a consumer.

ment with which he may now become affiliated, any larger percentage of the meat he currently delivers into the county or trading area where the establishment is located than he delivered to that particular establishment during the three reporting periods immediately preceding the effective date of the new action.

Sugar Distribution Will Be Improved

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson says that civilian distribution of sugar, particularly in eastern areas where shortages are most acute, should be improved through a redistribution of 40,000 tons obtained through a reduction in military procurement. The action does not increase the total amount of sugar allocated for civilian uses, but is designed to assure more even distribution of available supplies.

Texans Advised to Drink Milk from Approved Sources

Austin. — As a safeguard against the serious and disabling disease known as undulant fever or Malta fever, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises Texans to drink milk only from approved sources. Undulant fever is usually acquired by human beings as a result of consuming raw milk products from cows infected with Bang's disease.

Raw milk or milk products that are consumed with safety only when they are known to be produced by cows tested and found to be free of Bang's disease. Pasteurization, of course, will kill the germs if present.

To lower the incidence of undulant fever all dairymen are asked to co-operate with the State Department of Health by removing cattle infected with Bang's disease from their herds as soon as the disease is discovered. Even if the milk is made safe for human consumption by pasteurization, infected cows are still a menace to health since they can transmit the disease to healthy animals and to their owner and other persons who handle them.

"Undulant fever," Dr. Cox said, "is one health menace we can eradicate in our State through absolutely safe milk supplies from dairy herds free from Bang's disease."

"Unless a herd is known to be free from this infection, only pasteurized milk should be used so that the disease cannot be passed on to the consumer of milk and dairy products."

More than 17,000 civilian workers were dropped from federal payrolls during May, the Civil Service Commission reports.

ROTARY CLUB

Hubert Brown was in charge of the program of the Crowell Rotary Club at its Wednesday noon meeting at the DeLuxe Cafe. Miss Olga Larson, Red Cross nurse, who has been conducting classes in home nursing in the county for the past two months, gave an interesting talk concerning other community projects conducted by the Red Cross.

Rotarian Vance Favor of Quannah was a visitor. R. R. Jones, bookkeeper at the Cicero Smith Lumber Co.'s yard, attended this meeting for the first time as a new member. Bill Bell was elected to membership in the club under the classification of stockman. Mrs. Woodrow Lemons acted
