Crowell Wildcats Defeat Valley View Warriors, 30 to 0, in a District 12-A Conference Football Game Fri. Night

The Crowell High School football team remained undefeated in District 12-A play when it defeated the Valley View Warriors here last Friday night by a 30 to 0 score. The Wildcats scored two touchdowns in the first quarter, one in the second, and two in the fourth. All extra points were missed.

Crowell was playing without the services of O. C. Wharton, fullback; A. G. Wallace, halfback; Jimmy Johnson, halfback; and Larry Wood, right guard. These boys were out due to injuries. Carlos McBeath played Wharton's fullback position and performed like a veteran. J. L. Brock, Crowell's right end, returned to the lineup after missing two games, and turned in an excellent game. He was instrumental in setting up the first two touchdowns. The third touchdown was set up by a 30-yard run by Horace Todd, left halfback. The passing combination from Kendrick Joy to Brock to McBeath clicked several times to make long gains. The most sensational play of the evening was an intercepted pass and an 83-yard run back for a touchdown by Hardy Sanders, substitute halfback for Crowell in the fourth quarter. R. L. Ballard, another substitute halfback for the Wildcats, also turned in a beautiful touchdown run for fifty yards. This was a triple reverse play from Joy to Ray Black to Ballard. Crowell's first three touchdowns resulted from runs made by Joy of 5, 7, and 22 yards, respectively. V. Bond, John Mitchell and J. C. Patton played some splendid defensive ball to prevent the Warriors picking up many yards on the offense. Valley View never penetrated the Crowell's twenty yard line during the game.

J. W. Thompson Receives Son's Award at Childress

J. W. Thompson went to Childress last Thursday to receive the Air Medal posthumously awarded to his son, Sgt. Reid Thompson, who was killed in an air crash in India on October 2, 1944. The award was presented at the Childress Army Air Field.

The Air Medal was presented to Sgt. Thompson for meritorious achievement as a pilot from July 1 to October 2, 1944, in aerial flight by participating in missions totalling more than one hundred hours over enemy territory of Northern Burma, during which exposure to enemy fire was probable and expected. These flights made in unarmed single engine aircraft, performed for the purpose of evacuation of battle casualties, search and reconnaissance missions, artillery adjustments, supply and missions of mercy, were accomplished with untiring energy and devotion to duty over and beyond that normally expected. Many of the missions were made under unfavorable conditions and often necessitated landing on hastily made and hazardous strips carved from the jungle. Undaunted by the hazards faced regularly and continuously, they performed their duties in such a manner that the highest credit is reflected upon themselves and the Army Air Forces of the United States.

New Chevrolet to Be Displayed Here Saturday

R. H. Borchardt, Chevrolet dealer here, has returned from Dallas where he attended a preview of the new 1946 Chevrolet at the company's zone headquarters.

He was reluctant to discuss the mechanical and style features of the new car, but by his eager attitude it was apparent that he expected the formal announcement and public showing of the car to be Saturday, Nov. 3.

Mr. Borchardt said he and other dealers in the area were confident that the 1946 Chevrolet will maintain the record of top volume sales, which Chevrolet reached in 10 of the last 11 previous years of automobile production, to meet the unprecedented pent-up demand for new cars.

Following the same policy as in former years, the new Chevrolet will be displayed simultaneously in dealers' showrooms throughout the country, Mr. Borchardt said.

Radio and local newspaper announcements will be made, telling when prospective customers may see the new car for the first time. These announcements are expected to be good news to motorists and to dealers alike.

Through-out the war period, car owners have been forced to get along with their old automobiles. At the same time dealers have expended every effort to service these cars, and to keep them rolling for the duration.

Mr. Borchardt stressed car care, with the warning that motorists should not expect the 1946 Chevrolet to be available in great quantities immediately. The supply to dealers will increase as production in the Chevrolet plants permits.

Scarlet Fever One of Most Disabling Diseases to Children

Austin. — Scarlet fever, now nearly three and one-half times higher than the seven-year median in Texas, is one of the most disabling and dangerous diseases usually associated with childhood, although actually it is confined to no age limit, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. One hundred and nineteen cases were reported in the state during the week ending October 20, bringing the year's total to 3,443.

The doctor described scarlet fever as an acute infectious disease, the onset of which is sudden. The first symptoms including sore throat, vomiting, fever, and headache, may appear in three to five days after exposure. These are followed by the distinctive rash which gives this disease its name, Dr. Cox stated.

Complications may cause prolonged disability or death. Children suffering with scarlet fever may develop sinusitis and middle ear infections which can lead to mastoiditis. As the germs spread through the child's system, the joints, kidneys, and heart may become involved, causing life-long invalidism or crippling.

"A child with any kind of a sore throat should be seen by the family physician promptly," Dr. Cox asserted. "If scarlet fever is present, the treatment recommended will do much to alleviate discomfort and reduce the possibility of serious complications."

Dr. Cox stated that children under ten years of age are most susceptible, and that those persons who fail to contract scarlet fever until grown stand an excellent chance of never having the disease.

CASE OF UNSTABLE DESK

Joe Skunkley came slumping into the study hall as if he had been hit in the mid-section with a mallet from the slingshot of a mad scientist.
 He settled down comfortably in one of his favorite positions. The desk was under his desk with his feet on the floor, and the chair occupied the desk in front of him.
 Vainly hunting something to do, suddenly had an idea. Using a knife for a screwdriver, he turned the four screws out of the desk that was beside him.

Proud Percival appeared upon the scene and sat on the desk. Crash! Wham! Over went the desk, Percy and all.

Said Joe innocently, "Well, what do you know? That desk wasn't even screwed down."

Joe has forgotten what courtesy is. Joe wouldn't exactly appreciate anyone who would unscrew his desk, but he has forgotten the quotation: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

So, hey there! Are you a Joe Skunkley, too?

STUDENTS COMPETE FOR $2.00 PRIZE

Yells are being received by Mrs. Harold Wilkinson in competition for the $2.00 award being given by Supt. Grady Graves for those accepted by the yell leaders and approved by Mrs. Wilkinson for presentation to the student body.

Come on, students, enter the contest and make CHS "peppy" with more rousing yells.

THIS WEEK'S SENIOR PERSONALITY

"Wow! Who is that girl?" The blonde in question was directing her noisecans down the hall by the side of a tall senior boy called Robin.

"Not bad, is she? I hear that she has been around CHS for the last four years. Besides that football player with her, she also likes fried chicken, math and volleyball. At pep rallies she beats the drum. Someone said that she will make the honor roll this year. She delights in getting into meanness at times and bothering poor, innocent fish. Her pet peeve is seeing girls smoking."

"Say, that's for me. What's her phone number?"
 "I know that, too. It's 103-R."
 "Thanks a lot, pal. I gotta go now. What did you say her name

THE LONGHORN

The longhorn cattle made more known history than any other animal, with the exception of man. They were more than a breed of cattle, they were a distinct race. Where they came from is not definitely known; maybe they drifted up from Mexico. Tales are told of cattle being turned loose on the prairie by explorers who could not keep them. Anyway in just a few years, large bands of wild, roving cattle were to be found ranging nearly all of what is now the Southwestern part of the United States.

They were wild, much wilder than the buffalo, and for a while one would think of trying to tame and raise them. They multiplied very fast, and even in the hard era that possessed them, they were hardy and endured it all. This environment made the longhorn what he was. His legs grew long, for the distance he had to go for water necessitated this. Beneath the cowboys came, his horns were not so long. They grew rather short and very sharp. This made his defense against his natural enemies more secure. The wolf stood little chance against sharp horns and steel hard hooves when he attacked a herd of Longhorns.

After the cowboys and big game came, the Longhorns developed longer legs and longer horns. The long drives up the trail to California were the main reason for this. His endurance was supreme; they went for days over sun-bleached trails without water. Those who were weak died, and their white skulls lined the trail as mute testimony of this. After a young bull was branded and became a steer, his horns developed longer and longer until he was about twelve or fourteen years old. This age was considered maturity. Not many ever reached this age, as they were trail-herded to the packing plant when they were about four, or when they were full grown.

The trail herding of cattle was the climax of the cowboy's life. They had their troubles with "stampedes," droughts and blizzards, but the longhorn was made to stand it. As far as is known, the longest pair of horns preserved reached a little over nine feet from tip to tip. The average longhorn steer stood over sixteen hands high, or as high as an ordinary man. They weighed in the vicinity of one thousand or fifteen hundred pounds, mostly "bone and horn." They had exceedingly long tails for switching flies, and their tough hide, known as "rawhide," was unexcelled. "Rawhide" has been used for everything from horseshoes to clothes. There is a saying that it "held Texas together" in the early days.

The era of the Longhorn ended in the terrible winter of 1886 when in places cattle losses were over ninety per cent and many fortunes were lost, never to be regained. The day of the longhorn is over. But they had their day and will remain in history. Condensed by Horace Todd, from The Longhorns, by J. Frank Dobie.

WILDCAT CAPTAINS

The three captains of Crowell Wildcat football team are probably the best players on the Wildcat squad. They are O. C. Wharton, Captain; J. L. Brock, Co-Captain; and Kendrick Joy, Co-Captain.

O. C. Wharton has made outstanding achievements in the field of sports since his first year in Crowell High School. This is Wharton's fourth year to letter in football, and he was a member of the Wildcat basketball team last year. He is probably the best blocker and fastest man on the Wildcat eleven. Wharton plays fullback.

J. L. Brock is a second year letterman on the Wildcat team and also is a very capable basketball player. Brock plays end for the Wildcats and does all of the blocking and some of the passing. Kendrick Joy is the Wildcat's

Golden Rule in Practice

President Truman, speaking at the Pemiscot County Fair in Missouri, advised the people to follow the Christian principle that people should do by their neighbors as they would wish to be done by. According to Jesus that was the best way to get along. This idea has well been called the "Golden Rule." The president applied this idea to international relations, and the relations between the various elements in American life.

Christian ministers, philosophers, and many leaders have constantly preached the idea of the unselfish life, which is essentially the idea laid down in the so-called "Golden Rule." Human nature has a strong principle of self-protection.

The majority of people seem to feel that if they do not look out for their own interests, no one else will. This may be legitimate, if people are careful to do full justice to everyone.

Similarly in international relations, it has been the customary feeling that every country has to look out for its own welfare. There has been relatively little interest in the needs and problems of foreign countries, and too little effort to see that justice is done to them.

The result of a selfish attitude in human relations is that conflict often develops, and this breaks up the hearty co-operation that is necessary to solve human problems. If there could be more golden rule spirit between nations, a greater disposition to hand out justice to everybody, the danger of war would be greatly reduced.

Somehow when people exemplify the golden rule in their own lives, and do their best to render justice to everyone, they are apt to prosper, they become popular, and people like to employ them and do business with them. The golden rule put into practice between nations should create equally good results.

HISTORY

THANKSGIVING DAY: For many years Thanksgiving Day was observed in the country on the last Thursday in November. A group of business men, feeling that there was not enough time between Thanksgiving and Christmas to develop Christmas holiday business, prevailed upon President Roosevelt to change the day of Thanksgiving a week earlier. The change coming without previous warning created considerable confusion. Calendars had been printed a year or two ahead and football schedules laid out a year ahead. In addition to this there was the resentment against what it was felt was an unnecessary up-setting of an American tradition.

In the pioneer days Thanksgiving was the outstanding holiday of the year. It was on Thanksgiving that members of families journeyed long distances by slow means of transportation that they might be together on Thanksgiving. It was the annual home coming day. The annual observance of Thanksgiving prevailed in this country among the American Indians long before the white man came. The Indians on this occasion gave thanks to the great spirit for the fruits of the forest and the field and the streams. It was a religious ceremony wholly lacking in any commercial element. The early colonists adopted the idea and Governor Bradford issued the first formal proclamation in 1621. In response to the proclamation early settlers went into the forests and shot wild turkeys and brought them in for the feast. The Indians brought several deer and Indians and colonists united in a big feast in honor of the day. Twenty-three years later the Governor of the Dutch colony of New York issued a thanksgiving proclamation. During the Revolutionary War a national Thanksgiving was recommended each year by Congress. After the peace of 1784, there was no national call for the observance of Thanksgiving until Washington in 1789 ordered a day of Thanksgiving for the adoption of the constitution. This was the first Thanksgiving proclamation issued by any president. Madison set a day to give thanks for peace in 1815, and, in 1862 and 1863 President Lincoln recommended special days of thanksgiving for victories. Lincoln's proclamation set the last Thursday in November as the day to be observed.

Washington News

By Congressman Ed Gossett, 13 District of Texas.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—The House this week passed two bills of considerable magnitude and importance. First, they passed a federal aid to airports bill modeled after the federal aid to highways program. The bill obligates the federal government to match state governments and municipalities up to the sum of 50 per cent, and commits the federal government to spend around $760 million on this program. The vote on the bill was 279 to 82. Seven Texas Congressmen including myself were among the 82 voting against this bill. The $700 million is to be spent on civil aviation alone, and has nothing to do with any military program. We felt this amount of money should not be authorized at this time as it would benefit only the richest communities and would be used only by commercial lines and by folks able to own private planes. If such a program is practical and necessary it could have been authorized at a later date in a more reasonable sum. Furthermore, some of us felt if this simply were a public works program to furnish employment and use material, as some contended, it would be better to spend it on schools, farm to market roads, etc. Once money is authorized it will be spent, regardless of need.

The second important bill passed by the House was known as the Recision Bill, which provides for cutbacks in appropriations and contract authorizations totaling $2,453,535,000. I supported this bill wholeheartedly. Under it the federal government will recapture or save more than $52 billion from appropriations and authorizations heretofore made by the Congress, largely on war materials. It is high time we became economy minded and sought to restrict expenditures to necessities. Luxuries can hardly be afforded with a national debt of almost $300 billion.

I introduced a bill this week to create a National Scientific Research Foundation. Such an organization has been recommended by the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion and by several Committees of the Congress, as well as by many foresighted individuals who should devote to the problems of peace the same scientific efforts devoted to the problems of war. During the war more than 4 per cent of all scientists in America worked on secret government projects. The results were phenomenal in turning out thousands of offensive and defensive weapons, the most notable of which were radar, proximity fuses, and the atomic bomb. The proximity fuse is what its name implies. It causes shells and bombs to explode in proximity to the target though a direct hit is not made. It is said to have increased the accuracy of naval fire by 400 per cent, and to have helped defeat the Jap suicide attacks; to have saved Britain from the assault of V-bombs and to have been the decisive factor in our winning the Battle of the Bulge.

In the field of medicine wartime scientific research made marvelous contributions. Du e largely to wartime development of penicillin 97 per cent of all wounded men who reached hospitals survived. Meningitis, a terror of World War I was completely conquered. Other toxoids and vaccines were developed which reduced to zero deaths in our army from tetanus, yellow fever, and epidemic typhus. DDT largely eradicated malaria and other tropical diseases and helped secure our Pacific bases.

However, what hasn't been done is a dark picture. Disease still takes a terrific toll in American life. Approximately a million and a half civilians die annually, mostly from diseases about which little is known, such as heart ailments, cancer and malignant tumors, cerebral hemorrhages, infantile paralysis, etc. Then of course we have the less fatal diseases such as colds and hay fever, from which nearly every human suffers of some degree of discomfort, pain, and loss of earning power. We spend four billion dollars annually on medical bills, and lose nearly 10 billion in production from illness and disease. Certainly extensive and intensive scientific research could eliminate or reduce most of these diseases. We should have peace as well as the workshops of war.

General Patton is still a favorite subject of discussion in Washington. While it is generally agreed he was a great soldier, it also is agreed he was a poor administrator. That great soldiers make poor administrators can be proved by the case of U. S. Grant, and the cases of George Washington and Andrew Jackson.

AGRICULTURE

(D. F. Eaton, County Agent.)

4-H CLUB CALVES

The following 4-H Club boys have secured their calves and now have them on feed with possibly two or three more to be added. The boys, who have one calf each are: Herman Athey, Jimmie Harper, Billy Abston, Jimmy Rasberry, Charles Allen Greening, Grover Yocham, Leon Pechacek, Bobbie Stinebaugh, Baxter Gentry, H. L. Ayers Jr., and Chun Gafford. Those who have two calves are Ginger Johnson and Gordon Wood Bell.

Most of these boys are providing self feeders and each of them has choice calves and are getting them on full feed. Some of them have had some experience but for several it is their first attempt. All seem intensely interested in caring for their calves and have a schedule of feeding worked out as a guide for them using a standard ration, which has proved satisfactory when used throughout the state.

Many of these boys are providing some supplemental grazing for their calves which will cut the cost of feeding.

MEXICAN AND TEXAS YOUTH EXCHANGE VISITS

Last year twelve 4-H Club boys from Texas, selected on the basis of their leadership and good club records, visited Mexico. They were accompanied over Mexico by twelve Mexican youths. This year 12 Mexican youths, accompanied by 14 Texas 4-H Club members are now touring Texas.

Each group is in charge of A. & M. College and Mexican youth leaders who are accompanying them on the tour. They will visit the Rio Grande Valley area, A. & M. College, San Antonio, the King Ranch, Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Abilene and San Angelo. This is an educational, good will, fellowship and good neighbor relation visit.

The Texas boys are selected from various counties over the state. Their trip to Mexico last year proved a very interesting and important trip for these Texas youths.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

Texas has been allocated $8,101,059.00 for loans to extend rural electrification lines throughout the state. Foard County is receiving its share of this expansion and poles are being distributed in several communities and additional homes are being connected to receive this service. We noticed a line under construction south of Thalia and the Foard City area has taken the necessary steps to acquire this service. Other rural areas are also in line. National Administrator, Claude R. Wickard, estimates 65 per cent of Texas farmers are without this service; that 45 per cent of all farmers of the nation have this service. Mr. Wickard further observes that placing this service in rural homes is one of our post war tasks. It is one of the most popular and helpful programs ever instituted next to rural mail service.

May we hope that universal rural telephone service be instituted. The rural electric service contemplates adding this rural telephone service in connection with the electric service. We hope it materializes.

POISON GRAIN AVAILABLE

For those who wish to kill prairie dogs or gophers, we now have a supply of poison grain bait provided by the county. This grain sells for 10c per pound and a pound will rid several acres of land of these pests. A number of farmers control these pests each year by the use of this grain. Especially those farmers growing alfalfa or who have terraced their land which is infested with

POULTRY GROWING EXPANDING

If we are ever able to control the wolf menace and poultry and egg prices remain favorable, there will be a decided expansion of this industry. To those who contemplate increasing their flocks there are a few pertinent facts involved, some of which we will detail.

The first, of course, is securing standard bred stock from flocks of a known record of production, and which are ROP approved.

Then standard equipment such as brooder houses, laying houses, range shelter and range, will need to be provided.

The A. & M. College of Texas, has devised a model farm laying hen project based upon 100 producing hens. However, they recommend 200 or 300 laying hens as a more efficient unit.

The plan outlines requirements for hen equipment, feed, and brooder equipment. Under the first, they recommend a laying house of 20x20 feet, as the minimum size for 100 hens kept in confinement, and 16x16 for hens on free range. Twenty-four feet is the maximum width suggested for larger units. Any length of house may be used if sections or walls are put in each 30 feet. Other requirements include: One nest 12x14 inches and 12 inches high for each five hens; eight inches of roosting space for each hen; three inches of feeding space for each hen; waterers providing five to eight gallons for 100 hens, and one acre of land, if farmed, for each 100 birds.

The authors estimate that 100 laying hens will eat 4,000 pounds of mash and an equal amount of grain yearly. But due to culling and disease, the average 100-bird farm flock will consume about 6,000 pounds of feed yearly. One hundred growing pullets will use 2,800 pounds from hatching to maturity, and a two-pound broiler will eat about seven or eight pounds of good feed. A farm flock of 100 birds will use 200 to 300 pounds of oyster shell in a year.

Here are the items in the brooder equipment: One brooder house and one 10x10 foot range shelter, or two combination buildings; four one-gallon waterers to start 200 chicks; 100 inches feed hopper space the first six weeks, and 200 inches afterward; and at least two five-gallon water fountains, one for each brooder or range shelter.

It is estimated the Japs spent over two million dollars making and launching the paper balloons with which to bomb this country. As far as is known some 200 of the balloons landed in the United States. The balloons were planned to rise to a height of ten thousand feet and drift toward the United States on fast eastward winds. The timers were set to explode them in from forty to fifty hours.

WILDCATS WIN SECOND CONFERENCE VICTORY

The Crowell Wildcats rolled over their second obstacle toward the District 12-A Championship Friday night by defeating the Valley View Warriors 30-0.

Although riddled by injuries the Wildcats clicked beautifully with substitutes playing a large part of the game.

The first score came in the first quarter with Joy carrying the ball over from about the 4-yard line. Joy also carried over for the second and third markers after long runs had been made by J. L. Brock and Carlos McBeath.

The two spectacular touchdowns of the game were made by R. L. Ballard and Hardy Sanders, substitute backs. Sanders galloped about 75 yards for this score after intercepting a Warrior pass. Ballard ran about 55 yards for the last score on a double reverse play around right end.

Joy, Brock, Sanders, Ballard and McBeath were the standouts on offense, and Mitchell, Bond and Todd showed up well on defense.

R. Palacios was the standout for the Warriors.

The Wildcats play an old rival, the Stamford Bulldogs, Friday night at Stamford in a non-conference game.

WILDKITTENS DROP THRILLER TO QUANAH "B" TEAM

The Crowell Wildkittens dropped a "B" game to the Quanah Indians, 13-6, Thursday evening. The first Quanah score was made in the first period when a Wildcat pass was intercepted, and the Indians carried it over. The try for the extra point was also made. Toward the end of the second half the Indians drove down to the ten yard line, and Cheshire carried it over. Try for the extra point failed. The score at the end of the half was 13-0.

The Wildkittens came back strong in the third quarter, and on a double reverse Sanders carried the ball for 65 yards and a touchdown. Try for the extra point failed. The Indians drove down to the ten yard line, but the Wildcat line held. The game was marred by pass interceptions and fumbles. Dann, Nichols and Tamplin showed up well on defense.

THE CAT'S WHISKERS

Greetings, Gates, let's celebrate. Why for, huh? Well, the Freshmen better while they can, because their future is already planned by the upper classmen. (Meaning, Halloween.)

We know now why Vera Lee is so happy. Maybe it's because a certain boy made a touchdown. James and Shaney were together Friday and Saturday nights. It seems as though Larry Wood, Floyd Oliver, and Paul Johnson were having fun Saturday night. By the way, who were they?

"Booty," Cooper, Janet, and Miles were having so-o-o much fun Saturday night. Of all the excitement and rushing around. More fun, what? Halloween parties, of course.

We wonder how Virginia Bell and Jesse Moore are making it? Betty and Brock plus Johnny Frank were seen horse back riding Sunday afternoon.

If we have nothing left, there will always be our "double dates," Jo Ann and M. W. and Kathleen and Danny.

November 19th seems just about all "Dee" is able to think about.

Peggy and Travis are back that way. Bull Dog's car—Yea Ha! Old dog.

Ouch! These three weeks exams.

Joan Thompson and Jimmie Johnson are certainly "on the team."

We wonder who Horace Todd's current "dream gal" is?

Well, you've heard the saying, "When the moon is full on a frosty night, beware of the Wolf man." The moon may not be full and the night may not be frosty, but the Freshmen better beware and I don't mean of the wolf. (This does not mean Halloween night a-l-o-n-g.)

See ya,
The Cat's Tail.

Your Horoscope

October 29, 30, 31.—You possess the faculty of learning and retaining much valuable knowledge. You are able to make everyone, including yourself, believe that you are authority. You have a circle of friends, but also plenty of enemies. You have an ungovernable temper, and it does not require much to irritate you, or long for your rage to subside.

November 1, 2.—You are independent, energetic and deadly in earnest. You have a power for good but can also do an immense amount of mischief. Be careful how you lower your standard, for when you fall you are apt to take others with you.

November 3, 4.—You are not very hopeful or enthusiastic. You grow sad and despondent if you meet with defeat. You need the sunlight and to look on the bright side of life. Try and be more hopeful.

The average life of a butterfly is about four or five weeks. There are more than 3,500 species of ants.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Add Baking Powder to Pie Crust.—A pinch of baking powder added to pie crust makes it light and fluffy. Avoiding Lumpy Cereals.—If you have trouble with cereals lumping when you are pouring them into the boiling water, stir vigorously with a wire cake spoon. Taking Spots Off Felt Hats.—If your felt hats become spotted by rain, rub over with fine wire wool until the nap is raised. The spots will have disappeared.

THOUGHTS OF SERIOUS MOMENTS

Pleasures are all alike, simply considered in themselves. He that takes pleasure to hear sermons enjoys himself as much as he that hears plays.—John Selden. No pleasure is comparable to the standing upon the vintage-ground of truth.—Francis Bacon. The Merino sheep, a specialty of Spain, produces one of the finest qualities of wool in the world.

Mrs. J. B. Harrison is Complimented with Tea Sunday

Mrs. J. B. Harrison Jr., who is moving to Quanah to make her home, was named as honor guest at a delightful tea given at the Adelpian Club House Sunday afternoon with Misses Lottie Russell, Gusta Davis, Mayme Lee Collins and Mrs. Jack Thomas as hostesses.

Miss Collins and Mrs. Harrison formed a receiving line to greet the guests and assisting in the reception room were Miss Russell, Miss Bertha Womack and Mrs. Ura Orr.

Incidental music was rendered throughout the receiving hours by Mrs. A. L. Rucker and Mrs. Alva Spencer.

In the dining room where tea was poured by Mrs. L. A. Andrews, the table was attractively laid with a handmade lace cloth and centered with a lovely arrangement of gold chrysanthemums surrounded by huckleberry leaves. The decorative scheme featured mums and pyracantha berries, throughout the house. Further assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Jimmie D. Hamrick of Paducah, sister-in-law of the honor guest, Mrs. Ted Reeder and Mrs. Jack Thomas, who served dainties.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. B. Harrison Sr., Mrs. Jimmie Hamrick, Mrs. Jack Hamrick and Miss Myrtis Jones, all of Paducah. The guest list included members of the Columbian and the Business and Professional Women's Club, of which Mrs. Harrison is a member, and a few other friends. Approximately fifty ladies called to extend best wishes to the honoree, who will assume duties as County Home Demonstration Agent for Hardeman County on Nov. 1. Mrs. Harrison has many friends in Crowell who regret to lose her as a citizen.

Thalia 4-H Club Meets Friday, Oct. 26

The Thalia 4-H Club met on Friday, October 26, in the typing room of the school with Miss Elizabeth Elliott, County Home Demonstration Agent, in charge. Seventeen members were present.

Miss Elliott demonstrated how to cover and equip a sewing box. She also showed how to make a head scarf.

For a sewing box, one 7 by 10 by 2 inches is a convenient size. The lid should be as deep as the bottom of the box.

To make a head scarf, one should have 39 inches of material. It is made of double thickness and cut on the bias. Material that drapes well is best and the scarf may be worn in five different ways. The next meeting of the club will be held on November 2.
