What We Think

Last week in this column I had omething to say about the extension of the social security program. I stated that I believed it should be extended to cover all hose not now covered including the farmers, the small business and the professional men.

(By Frank Dixon)

I also pointed out Representa-tive Harold Knutson, Republican, Minnesota, chairman of the Worth last Friday. House ways and means committee Representative Robert W. Kean, Republican, of New Jersey, and Representative Carl T. Curtis, Republican, of Nebraska, all tavor San Antonio where they have some sort of an extension.

crease and for coverage by farmers, small business men and professional men by placing on sale at banks and postoffices, socia security bonds. These would be in denominations of $5, $10, $25, $50 and $100. They would not be redeemable except in the form of social security payments. They could be purchased in any amount by an individual and when and as he had the money. The funds derived from the sale of these certificates would be placed to the credit of the purchaser to be paid out in the same manner that cial security funds are now paid

This plan would do several things. It would permit all o hose not now covered to provide hemselves with old age payments. It would permit workers who are w depositing a part of their pay checks for social security to supplement them and build their old age income up to a sustaining level. The advantage of such a system would be that the inlividual would be providing for his own future. It would be free rom the stigma of federal aid which all independent souls diske. It would not tend to destroy entive and individual initiative government aid will do.

Inder this plan men and women uld build for themselves, through eir earning years a future se ity. When payments should be de twenty-five or more years nce it would contribute to the sperity of all the people. Repients of these payments would ave money to spend for merchanse that would have to be manuactured for them-thus the whole ation would profit because of eir thrift. Also it would drain ff a lot of surplus cash that in sh times is spent for scarce ems and thus contributes to the earcity and to inflation, and also reserve could be used to pay ne national debt and reduce the ormous interest charge.
