Counties Will Benefit from Spraying Machine Given to Area by Waggoner Estate, It Was Announced Last Week

Waggoner Estate is making a gift of a Todd insecticide machine for use in Wichita, Archer, Baylor, Foard and other counties, it was announced Saturday, by the Vernon board of trustees for use in the counties named.

The announcement of the gift was made by R. B. Anderson, manager of the Waggoner Estate. In announcing the gift, Mr. Anderson expressed the hope that the people would co-operate in the campaigns against pests, in order to make the use of the fogging machine effective. He pointed out that such co-operation is essential, saying: "The fogging machine naturally can kill the insects on the streets and at the front of the house, but will not be effective on back porches, back yards, etc. The need of complete co-operation from the public will be very great."

Other members of the board will be the presidents of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Lions Club, Optimist Club, Wilbarger County Medical Board, the Business and Professional Women, the chairman of the Wilbarger County Infantile Paralysis Association, the Vernon Ministerial Alliance and the Wilbarger Welfare Association, and the mayors of Electra, Seymour, Crowell, Benjamin and Archer City.

The new machine will be used to spray areas that need it in an effort to keep this area clean of flies, mosquitoes, etc. It will be one of the biggest boosts in the Cleanup Campaigns which are designed to battle against the start of a polio epidemic in counties where the Waggoner Estate holds land.

Although the machine is designed for use in all counties in this area, the Board of Trustees will have control of its use and spraying will be done where they decide. Requests for use of the spray from outlying areas can be made to the Trustees.

The Fog Applicator has been widely hailed as the best means of combatting flies and other pests and will help keep the counties clean of insects.

Foreign demand for American wheat may sag unexpectedly low this year, states the Southwest Edition of The Wall Street Journal for June 29.

Europe's harvests start rolling in about four weeks. Latest reports confirm earlier indications that all crops are in exceptionally good condition. The continent (excluding Russia) is expected to produce at least two billion bushels of wheat and rye this year.

The grain men think the total of 100 million bushels higher than that. A 2.1 billion bushel crop would be more than 25 percent above last year's production and only about 12 percent below pre-war normal," quotes the Journal.

"This year we shipped overseas nearly 500 million bushels of wheat but unless we just plain get away they probably won't get over 300 million the next month," comments Keats E. Eder, Director of the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Improvement Program. "These are big figures and long ways from here, but it means cash in or out of the pockets of a lot of Oklahoma and Texas wheat growers," says Mr. Soder.

"Housewives and bakers are getting the flour millers to eliminate undesirable wheats from their mixes and in fact to import long-gluten wheats from other areas. This means the only main Chief and Blackball outcrops remaining are overseas. Now our exports will be cut drastically as reported in the Wall Street Journal. Chief and Blackball are standing ready to be discounted heavily by next harvest, if it before," concludes Mr. Soder.

"Today's excellent moisture condition in this county will allow wheat growers to sprout and kill volunteer wheat as well as wheat and other weeds," advises the Burkett, county agent. "We'll have a list of certified wheat growers available soon for all farmers who want new, pure seed," concludes Mr. Burkett.

A new business house, 25 feet by 40 feet, is being erected by Kenner on the southeast corner of the square. The building will be constructed of concrete blocks with a concrete foundation and floor. Otto Davenport has already run the foundation and floor blocks are on the ground for the completion of the building. T. L. Owens has the contract to finish the construction work.

Pioneer of Knox County Dies Here Sunday Afternoon

Funeral Held at Truscott Methodist Church Monday

Funeral services for C. M. Gwynn, Knox County pioneer, who passed away in the Foard County Hospital Sunday afternoon, July 5, at 3 o'clock, were held at the Truscott Methodist Church Monday afternoon. Mr. Gwynn had been ill for some time but seriously ill for several weeks.

Rev. J. V. Patterson, the pastor, conducted the services. Interment was made in the Truscott cemetery under the direction of Women's Club Funeral Service. The Masonic Order of which the deceased was a member, had charge of the graveside services.

Pall-bearers were Hubert Chowning, Carlton Browder, Midge Adcock, Edgar Jones and Bill Clark. Flower-bearers were Misses Opal Jean Browder, Clara Jones, Norma Jones, Ann Haynie, Camille Todd, Pat Owens, Margrette Caram, Jimmie Lee Caram, Mary Chowning, Peggy Traweck, Nettie Black, Fay Black and Elba Joyce Caddell.

Charlie M. Gwynn was born in Missouri on October 14, 1871. He was married to Miss Mary Frances Nichols on Jan. 24, 1891. To them one son, Marion Herschel, was born. He passed away at the age of four. Mr. and Mrs. Gwynn moved to Knox County in 1901 and he has resided there since that time. Mrs. Gwynn passed away in 1926. He married Mrs. Lucy Craig in 1930 in Oklahoma. She survives.

Mr. Gwynn was a prominent farmer and business man, having been in business in Truscott for many years. He was affectionately known as "Uncle Charlie" by his many friends and was a good neighbor, always ready to lend a helping hand to everyone in need, even after his health failed, respected in Crowell.

Mr. Gwynn was the oldest of eight children. Survivors include Mrs. Gwynn; one sister, Mrs. C. I. Browder, of Truscott, and many nieces and nephews and friends. Out-of-town relatives and friends attending the funeral were Mrs. O. B. Gwynn and son, O. B. Gwynn, of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Owen Solomon of Cunduff; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Solomon and Mrs. Minnie Graves of Jacksboro; Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Pickens of Spur; Green McClure and son, Kenneth, and Mrs. E. B. Dickens, Mrs. Effie Bratcher of Loving; Mr. and Mrs. Mack McCallister of Big Spring; J. A. Stovall, Mrs. Herman Greening of Vernon; Hubert Chowning of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Jones of Bryson; Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Jacobs and Mrs. Troy Nichols of Mankins; T. Nichols of Jacksboro, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Rutherford, J. A. McClure and Monte McClure of Loving; S. W. Gentry of Crowell and others.

TO PLUMB THE UNIVERSE... With appropriately impressive ceremonies the world's largest mirror telescope receded its dedication in the Palomar mountain, Calif., observatory. It was christened the Hale telescope in honor of the late Dr. George Ellery Hale, pioneering chairman of California Institute of Technology's observatory council, who first envisioned the project 20 years ago. The 200-inch mirror can be seen at the upper right.

Crowell Citizens Are Responding to C. of C. Program

The Chamber of Commerce and the Business and Professional Women's Club have announced that the street marker and house numbering program has made rapid progress. The majority of the citizens of Crowell have paid for the houses and buildings that they own. However, a house to house canvass will have to be made in the near future to assist those who have not had the time, or who were away from the city.

J. R. Beverly, general chairman, is anxious to tell the Company that has the order to start production, as it will take approximately fifty days to produce the markers. His committee had spared itself in no way, and even at personal expense has made trips to various and numerous towns in an endeavor to obtain the necessary angle iron at a price that will keep the cost within the assessed two dollars.

It is a mighty big project that the committee men and ladies have taken on for the advancement of Crowell. It has taken a lot of their time, which they have given generously and uncomplainingly, because they are imbued with a civic pride that urges them on to spare no sacrifice in the service of their community.

The Chamber of Commerce during the past month has been looking for a permanent dentist for the city of Crowell. At the recent Texas State Dental Examinations in Houston a representative announced to the assembled group that Foard County had an excellent opportunity to offer a capable dentist. A number expressed interest in our location.

ROTARY CLUB

R. D. Oswalt of Vernon and Robert D. Oswalt of Clinton, Okla., Rotarian Quinn Baker of Quanah, Chamber of Commerce Secretary H. A. Crane and Pete Gobin were visitors at the Wednesday meeting of the Crowell Rotary Club in the basement of the Baptist Church with Marion Crowell and Joe Ben Roberts preparing an excellent luncheon.

Hubert Brown was program chairman and introduced Hilton Crane, secretary-manager of the Foard County Chamber of Commerce, who spoke on Chamber of Commerce activities and the coming clean-up campaign. Pete Gobin, city marshal, also made a talk on plans for the clean-up campaign.

ENTERTAINMENT WITH STRINGS ATTACHED... For reasons of morale and entertainment, American soldiers in Japan are taking up archery. Some of them already are twanging six-foot bows like experts under the guidance of one of the world's leading archers, Toshioke Nasu, whose school in Tokyo the army has taken over. To lend the authentic sporting touch the GI's line up for a picture clad in what the well-dressed Japanese archer is supposed to wear, and any resemblance to Robin Hood is strictly from hunger. The guest with his back turned to Nasu, the instructor.

General Clean-up Program to Be Launched Soon

A cleaner and more beautiful community is the natural desire of every civic-minded citizen of Crowell and Foard County. But it is also a natural thing for civic minded citizens to leave it to "George" to actually do something about the matter of making the communities more attractive.

"Clean-up" is the slogan that must be adopted, if the city of Crowell and the other communities of the county, are going to curb the threat of polio and other diseases that are creeping nearer and nearer to our fair communities. Polio is not a respecter of age as has been so sadly experienced recently in many of our Texas cities. One death is too many. It is too late then to wish that better care had been taken to protect the children. To be sadly negligent in this regard is an appalling fact that parents, guardians and officials will be accountable for on the day of reckoning.

That is why your city officials, Chamber of Commerce and civic clubs are organizing for a thorough clean-up campaign. Many groups have already volunteered their assistance. The help of all is needed.

With the ball started to rolling, every resident can make efforts count for the most by doing some cleaning up and spraying around their own homes and property. A massive clean-up program will begin as soon as the use of a spraying machine can be obtained, so stated the general chairman.

Bank Deposits Show Big Increase Since Statement in April

Deposits in the Crowell State Bank show an increase of $576,273.39 since the last statement was issued on April 12, 1948, according to statement of the condition of the bank at the close of business on June 30, 1948. Increase in deposits was largely due to the excellent wheat harvest.

Loans of the bank were $534,539.67.

Officers of the bank are R. L. Kincaid, president; J. M. Hill, vice-president; Merl Kincaid, acting vice-president, and Lee Black, cashier.

Wheat Variety Demonstration Made by Loyd Fox for Foard County Has Been Completed; Good Results Obtained

The Foard County Wheat Variety Demonstration was conducted by Loyd Fox on his farm just west of Thalia in cooperation with the County Extension Service, Commissioners Court, and the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Improvement Association.

The following eight varieties of wheat were included in the demonstration: Wichita, Westar, Early Blackhall, Triumph, Pawnee, Comanche, Tenmarq and Red Chief. All varieties were seeded on December 27, 1947, at the rate of 42 pounds per acre. They were up to a stand on January 15, 1948.

The Wichita headed May 4, 1948, ripened June 11, reached an average height of 26 inches, and yielded 25.5 bushels per acre. The Comanche headed May 9, 1948, ripened June 18, reached an average height of 28 inches, and yielded 23 bushels per acre. The Tenmarq headed May 15, 1948, ripened June 21, reached an average height of 32 inches, and yielded 21.5 bushels per acre. The Westar headed May 10, 1948, ripened June 18, reached an average height of 27 inches, and yielded 20 bushels per acre. The Pawnee headed May 14, 1948, ripened June 17, reached an average height of 29 inches, and yielded 20 bushels per acre. The Triumph headed April 27, 1948, ripened June 7, reached an average height of 26 inches, and yielded 19.2 bushels per acre. The Red Chief headed May 11, 1948, ripened June 20, reached an average height of 31 inches, and yielded 20 bushels per acre.

The Early Blackhall had the weakest straw and was the only variety that showed a tendency to lodge or fall down.

A variety demonstration of this kind isn't of much value unless it is run 3 to 5 years and the average yield for each variety for this period taken, because some years are more favorable for late maturing varieties and other years more favorable for early maturing varieties.

All the above varieties are good milling wheats except Red Chief and Early Blackhall, Early Blackhall being the better of the two.

If any farmer in Foard County is interested in conducting a variety demonstration this fall, see the County Agent and he will be glad to help him secure the seed and set up the demonstration.

C. of C. Meeting Held Tues. Night in Court Room

The first quarterly meeting of the Foard County Chamber of Commerce was held in the district court room Tuesday evening with the president, Hubert Brown, presiding.

The meeting was opened by a welcome address by the president and was followed by a moving picture, depicting the development of aviation from the beginning. The film is the property of Magnolia Petroleum Co. and was secured by McLain & Naylor Aviation School for this occasion.

In the open meeting President Brown introduced the new secretary-manager, Hilton A. Crane, heard reports from committees, introduced the officers and directors and announced the appointment of committees.

Mr. Crane made an excellent talk on loyalty to one's own community and urged the hearty cooperation of everybody in the promotion of any worthwhile project that will benefit any section of the county. The Chamber of Commerce has been organized with the hope that it can serve in some way the entire citizenship of the county.

Officers of the chamber, besides Mr. Brown, are A. B. Bell, first vice-president; Ray Shirley, second vice-president; and Jack Seale, treasurer, who, with the following men compose the board of directors: Leslie Thomas, Joe Burkett, Monroe Karcher, W. White Auto Store to Be Robertson's Hardware in Future

The contract between T. G. Robertson and White Auto Stores, Inc., has been terminated by mutual consent and the store will be operated in the future under the firm name of Robertson's Hardware, it was announced Monday by T. G. Robertson, owner and operator.

Mr. Robertson has been operating the White Auto Store since early in 1947. The store will be converted to a hardware store as rapidly as possible.

FFA Livestock Judging Team to Try for High Honor

The FFA Livestock Judging Team from Crowell High School will compete for the privilege of representing Texas in the National Junior Livestock Judging Contest to be held at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, in November, it has been announced by Marvin L. Myers, Vocational Agriculture teacher in the Crowell school.

It was recently decided that the three top FFA Livestock Judging Teams in Texas and the three top 4-H Club teams would compete in a contest at the Dallas Fair. The winning team will represent Texas in the national contest and the second place team will act as alternate.

The Crowell team is composed of Charles Wishon, Charles Hudgens, Gordon Wood Bell and Kenneth Polk. These boys earned their privilege to enter the Dallas Fair Contest by placing second in the State FFA Contest. In this event they scored 1059 points to crowd the winning team who had 1067 points.

The High School FFA Poultry Judging Team has already earned the privilege to represent the state in the national poultry judging contest to be held at Waterloo, Iowa, in October. These boys have been awarded one hundred dollars to help defray their expenses on this trip. Marvin Myers, Vocational Agriculture Teacher, will take this team to Texas A & M College for some special work in judging on Sept. 1. This group includes Donald Reynolds, James Bice, Glenn Jones and H. L. Ayers.

Heavy Rains Cover Foard County in Past Two Weeks

Heavy rains have fallen over Foard County during the past two weeks which measured 2.57 inches last week and 2.02 inches this week by the Government gauge at the Crowell State Bank.

This abundant moisture will be of great benefit to cotton and feed crops and the wheat land that has been plowed since the grain was harvested.

Dry Weather Care

"Native shrubs and trees which have been set out within the past two years will need extra moisture until they have good roots, so give them water during the hot,
dry summer months."
This advice comes from Sadie
Hatfield, extension landscape gardening specialist of Texas A & M College. She says that experience with the transplanting of native shrubbery has shown that the first two years after setting out the plants is the most critical period—after that, they are hardy enough to withstand normal weather conditions.
Contours and small terraces to catch and hold water after every rain will help to keep the soil moist. Shallow cultivation will also help. The use of mulch is an excellent way to hold moisture around trees and shrubs.
Among the good mulches to be found around farm and ranch homes, Miss Hatfield says, are decayed leaves, grass clippings, de-cayed wheat or oat straw, decayed hay or barnyard fertilizer.
Place the mulch two or more inches deep.
An inch or two of sand is sometimes used on tight soils. When the sand or mulch, or both, are worked into the soil next year, they will improve the soil's water-holding capacity.
The growth of favorite flowers, shrubs and trees often can be helped removing other plants which take up the moisture.

For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that everyone may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad. — Second Corinthians 5:10.

We are in favor of the plan that has been proposed for promoting good will between this and other countries. Young women and young men are to be sent to Europe from U. S. communities to serve as "good will ambassadors," to live among the people there, to explain the ways of the U. S. to them, to learn their ways and explain them to the people of this country. Local townspeople here will choose the young citizens and pay their expenses. They will go first to Holland, Sweden, Denmark, England and other countries later. The plan is now being worked out in several communities in New York state. Information regarding the plan can be secured from the New York State Department of Education, Albany, New York. The plan is adaptable to any city or town. It is a movement by the people. The government has nothing to do with it. As a companion to this plan we believe it would be a fine thing if young people from other countries could be brought to this country for six months to live and learn about the United States. They would all go home missionaries of good will and would do more to promote peace and understanding than all the State Departments and high power politics combined.

We have come to the conclusion that there should be set up in this country a system of toll roads. We realize that toll roads are often a nuisance to travelers but their advantages often exceed their disadvantages. We have come to this conclusion for two reasons, we need the roads now and we do not have the money to build them. We believe travelers would rather pay a reasonable toll and have the pleasure of driving over good roads than they would to escape the toll and have to drive over highways that shake the mechanism of their car to pieces. Not all roads would pay out as toll roads, but the main cross country highways might. This would leave the money raised by taxes to build feeder roads.

The report is that fashion czars have decreed that women's skirts next year will be longer and tighter. To enable the wearer to walk at all the skirt will be split up one side. The women are going to have a lot to say about the new, uncomfortable, tight fitting, long skirts—but they are going to wear them none the less.

According to the study of vehicle accidents the most dangerous seat in an automobile, in the event of an accident, is the seat beside the driver. This we take it is the reason why the back seat drivers never sit there.

He is richest who gets the greatest joy from simple things. The mind that is only satisfied with things and more things soon becomes sated and life loses its thrill because there is a limit to the things one can possess.

TO THE VOTERS OF FOARD COUNTY:

In asking for re-election for the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector of Foard County, I feel that I have met your approval in the manner in which the duties of this office have been conducted.

I am making this political race solely on my own merits. It has always been my intention to treat everyone with respect and to administer the duties of this office in an efficient, fair and impartial manner.

I especially am interested in the young people of our county and I stand ready at all times to assist them in every possible way in order that they may help us make Foard County a better place to live.

Your vote and influence is earnestly solicited in the coming primary election and if you see fit to re-elect me, I will exert my effort, as I have in the past, to serve all of the citizens of Foard County to the very best of my ability.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

The war, among other things, emphasized the fact that America is an industrial nation. Because of the aptitude and the abundance of natural resources, we will, in all probability, continue to be an industrial nation and will, without doubt, develop our industrial skills considerably beyond their present stage.

This knowledge and this skill is one of our best defenses—especially since war has become so greatly mechanized. Not only this, industry furnishes a means where the greatest number of people can be gainfully employed. Also because of our skill and capacity for great production we have become the world's chief supplier of machines and equipment of all types. Having escaped the ravages of war on our own soil we are now and will continue to be the best equipped source in the world for most of the mechanical needs of the world. This thing of converting raw material into machines for man's use everywhere results in a constant increase of wealth as the orders for the products of our industries keep coming in. We have discovered the assembly line and the value of mass production and upon it our engineers have built an industrial machine, that during the last war, surprised everyone even the captains of industry.

Few if anyone dreamed of the extent of our industrial capacity.

As our industry grows the market for our agricultural products grows. The two work together to build a greater and a more prosperous nation that anyone has yet dreamed of. This being true it seems to me that our education system should be shaped to meet the need. That is, a means should be provided whereby the young people coming out of our high schools should be able to enter vocational schools that would give them the fundamentals of training for the industrial field.

This has been well taken care of, as far as the agricultural industry is concerned, in our agricultural colleges. These have done and are doing an admirable job. But when it comes to the teaching of mechanics and engineering skills the opportunity is not so good. Our high schools teach typing and to a limited degree vocational agriculture, but to a very limited extent mechanical skills.

I believe there should be made available more vocational schools where young people out of high school and college could go to learn the fundamentals of the mechanical skills. I think there should be more opportunity to learn to run lathes, to do electrical work, to build and repair motors and gas engines, to learn to operate linotypes and printing presses.

It is true one could not become proficient in any of these fields in a vocational school, but he could master enough of the fundamentals to make himself useful enough in industry that he could fit readily into an industrial organization.

There is, for example, a need for linotype operators and machinists. The supply does not equal the demand. Most printing plants are too busy to take time to teach young men, but could take on a young man who has had instruction in the fundamentals and give him an opportunity to become proficient in the work.

The same thing is true of many other fields where the problem is the same. These schools should be distributed in such a way that they would be accessible to young people in each state. They would, it seems to me, be a practical move toward building a solid foundation for national and individual security as well.

HAIRCUT . . . Frank Gaix, who is taking lessons in the art of cutting hair at the Salvation Army family service bureau in the Bronx, N. Y., did his homework on his daughter Margaret, 8. But to her it's sheer torture.

580 Cases of Polio Reported in 65 Texas Counties This Year

Austin, Texas. — Reported cases of polio in sixty-five Texas counties reached the alarming total of 580 during the first six months of the year, according to Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer. For the same period in 1946, the total number of cases reported in sixty-six counties of the state was only 292.

"This staggering increase in polio in a brief two year period evidences a need for drastic measures in all communities to combat the disease," Dr. Cox asserted. "It is the responsibility of the people to the State to report themselves to their doctors whenever they recognize symptoms of polio. It is also their duty to give wholehearted co-operation to clean-up drives in their communities."

Dr. Cox urged immediate medical attention, especially at this time of year, for such things as headaches, fever, stiff neck, pain in the legs, irritability and drowsiness. These, the health officer stated, are symptoms of polio.

"It is well to guard against panic in polio cases," he said. "For complete recovery is not impossible. Even in the more serious cases, when the germ has penetrated the nervous system causing paralysis or one or more groups of muscles, some remarkable recoveries have been made."

Dr. Cox indicated his belief that the first line of defense against polio is a carefully conceived and thoroughly executed clean-up campaign in all communities.

"Local police power should make such clean-ups mandatory," he said.

Buy Less Expensive Food To Cut Family Meal Costs

To cut food costs without lowering the nutritional value of family meals, buy the less expensive grades where such a choice is possible. Standard packs of canned vegetables or fruits are just as high in food value as choice or fancy packs, but are less expensive. Grade B and C eggs are perfectly good for many purposes, and commercial and utility grades of beef can be prepared appetizingly with lower cost than the more expensive grades.

Evaporated or dried milk can be substituted in many dishes when it is cheaper than fresh milk. Canned citrus juices are frequently cheaper than fresh fruit and can furnish the meal's requirements of vitamin C. Tomatoes, raw cabbage and turnips also provide a good supply of this vitamin.

Foods that are in season are usually the best buys, and such old standbys as carrots and potatoes are nearly always good bargains. Whole-grained or enriched flour and cereal provide extra food value at little or no additional cost. Not only is molasses an inexpensive substitute for white sugar, but it also contains valuable iron.

Veterans News

The Veterans Administration has inaugurated a comprehensive follow-up program designed to enhance and prolong the effects of hospital treatment among the thousands of veterans suffering from tuberculosis.

More than 13,000 veterans suffering from tuberculosis now are under the care of VA. A total of 80,763 veterans are receiving compensation or pensions for tuberculosis.

Cooperating in the program are all of VA's 126 hospitals and 70 regional offices. VA's follow-up program is designed to discover relapses among tuberculosis sufferers early so that further treatment may be instituted promptly.

It further is designed to help prevent advanced disease and thus contribute toward the safeguarding of others through the control of communicable tuberculosis.

Seventy national and state organizations now are authorized to present and prosecute claims against the Veterans Administration in behalf of veterans and their dependents.

They have been recognized by the Administrator of Veterans Affairs under section 200, Public Law 844, 74th Congress. Under the law, organizations' representatives may not charge for services rendered.

VA generally may recognize only state or governmental services or organizations granted a charter of recognition by an act of Congress.

HISTORY

War Department Created—August 7: The War Department was created August 7, by an act passed during the first session of Congress in 1789. It was the second of the executive department to be set up. As originally set up the War Department had jurisdiction over the army and navy. In 1798 the two were separated. The heads of the various departments are commonly referred to as the Cabinet, though there is no provision for such a body in the Constitution. No mention of this group as a cabinet was made in any law until February 26, 1907, when a law was passed increasing salaries of its members to $12,000 a year. In this law reference was made to the heads of the executive departments who are members of President's Cabinet.

Birthday of Isaac Walton—August 9: Isaac Walton whose name has for many years been associated with the sport of fishing, was born August 9, 1593, in the parish of St. Mary, Stafford, England. At the age of eighteen he went to London where he became an ironmonger. In 1625 he published his first book of fishing entitled, "The Compleat Angler, or the Contemplative Man's Recreation." It at once became popular and five editions were published during his life time, an unusual thing in those times. Since his death it has been republished over a hundred times. The memory of Isaac Walton is kept green among devotees of the sport of fishing by a large number of fishing clubs named in his honor. Fishermen are known as disciples of Isaac Walton.

Proposes New Theory for Study of Protein Virus

A new theory of protein synthesis, which may solve the mystery of the structure of viruses and thus open the way to conquest of some of man's deadliest diseases, including cancer and polio, was announced by Dr. Dorothy Winch of Smith college.

Pointing out that viruses have been shown to be complex nucleoproteins, Dr. Winch declared that the native protein is now recognized as the "key molecule in health and disease." Nevertheless, she said, although it is known that a protein functions in a living being through its atomic pattern, that pattern so far has defied discovery, and until it is determined "physiologists and pathologists and biologists in general must continue to grope in the dark."

Although she emphasized that laboratory synthesis of a functioning protein might remain far in the future, she expressed the hope that a "blueprint" of protein structure could be obtained by application of her theory, which suggests building up a new molecule by moulding its various surfaces on the surface patterns of existing protein molecules, just as a waffle's surface is moulded on the surface of a waffle iron.

Recovery Program Depends on Steel Production

The economic recovery of Europe and the resurgence of democracy that it will bring to the continent and throughout the world will depend, in the final showdown, on steel. Congressman Christian T. Herter of Massachusetts said last week.

Writing in the July issue of Steelways Magazine, Congressman Herter, vice chairman of the House Select Committee on Foreign Aid, estimated that we will ship $190,000,000 worth of steel to the 16 nations participating in the European Recovery Program, and that at least three fourths of it "will cross the Atlantic in the form of steel mills, machines and machine tools able to produce more steel. As these facilities go into operation in Europe, our own mills gradually can turn back to the business of further advancing our standard of living."

Our own shortages — houses, tractors, automobiles, and others — he states, will not be relieved "until our friends in the other democracies are strong enough to stop the ruthless roll of the Iron Curtain. Only when they are safe will it be safe for us to devote all of our steel to the uses to which we have grown accustomed."

Commenting further on the steel shipments to Europe, Mr. Herter points out that "some idea of the revolutionary nature of this transition can be gained from the fact that in all of Europe before the war there was only one continuous rolling mill. That mill was in Germany, and the realistic Russians tore it down and carted it off almost as soon as the firing stopped."

Congressman Herter predicts that "when ERP is successfully completed, there will be continuous sheet and strip mills in France, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Austria and probably in England, Italy and Sweden. They will be able to make more steel than they do today and even Turkey and Greece will have up-to-date blast furnaces."

"This renovation of steel," Congressman Herter adds, "will prove immensely helpful in the economic reconstruction which the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe says is vital to future prosperity. It is extremely difficult to find any other way to effect a permanent correction in the ruinous imbalance of 1947, raise the European standard of living and reduce the cause chances for political unrest. "If we apply our intelligence and understanding, we can turn the growth of steel—not alone in Europe, but around the globe—into a powerful bulwark of democracy. More steel means more food, more clothing, more homes, more leisure time and more ways to enjoy it. Those are the elements of human happiness everywhere. And it is not the contented peoples who succumb to Communism."

Congressman Herter noted that new steel industries in India, Australia, South Africa and South America are raising prevailing standards of living, teaching and the technical "knowhow" that lies at the heart of modern civilization, and providing examples of adequate housing, sanitation and medical care.

Soviet figures on steel production, the Congressman observes, are a well-guarded secret. But carefully weighed estimates by the United States Department of Commerce give the total for Russia and all her satellites (including Finland, Korea, Manchuria) as less than 20 million tons. Figures for the 16 ERP countries, he reports, runs over 27 million tons while the United States (plus other free nations) add more than 88 million tons to that.

"Surely," Congressman Herter concludes, "insofar as steel is concerned, there is no cause for fear."

VETERANS' QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. My brother was blinded while in service during World War II. Is he entitled to anything to help him overcome his handicap?

A. A blind veteran entitled to compensation for a service-connected disability may receive, at Government expense, a guide dog and various other devices necessary to assist him overcome his handicap.

Q. If I go to a private physician to determine whether I need hospital treatment or domiciliary care will the government pay the cost of the examination?

A. The Government will pay the cost of examinations by private physician only if Veterans Administration has given the physician prior authority for such examination.

Q. How much time do I have to complete my education under the provisions of the G-I Bill?

A. Your education, under benefits provided in the Serviceman's Readjustment Act (G-I Bill) must be completed 9 years after July 25, 1947.

Q. What is the maximum period of training a disabled veteran may receive under the provisions of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

A. Four years is the maximum, but Veterans Administration may extend the time if factors in any case warrant an additional period for the rehabilitation of the disabled veteran.

Weekly SURPLUS NEWS WAA

Failure of universal military training measures to win congressional approval has resulted in return of at least two southwestern army camps to the War Assets Administration for disposal as surplus. Camp Maxey, near Paris, Texas, and Camp Gruber, near Muskogee, Oklahoma, both have been re-scheduled for sale after having been "frozen" at request of the armed forces. However, WAA's regional real property office declared that re-appraisals and classification of remaining property at these installations will now be necessary before sale of buildings and facilities can actually be put under way. The public is asked to refrain from submitting applications until sales programs at these sites have been completed. Full announcement will then be given to all disposal plans.

Release of additional materials by federal agencies and national defense authorities will bring to nearly one million dollars the total inventory of war surplus to be marketed in Houston July 9. Houston sites to be cleared simultaneously in this big roundup of stored materials are WA warehouse 6, Reed Roller Bit plant, Hughes Strut plant, Good Year Rubber Company, Converted Rice Milling Company, and the former Houston Customer Service Center. Among choice items to be included in the several hundred competitive bid lots offered will be automobiles, hand tools, fountain pens, cafe equipment, aviator's equipment, scrap metal, bar steel and machine tools.

A publicity campaign to acquaint the people of Texas and the Southwest with the development possibilities inherent in this region's surplus war plants will be launched in late July. One object of the campaign will be to correct a widely held impression that surplus industrial plants are being held by the government for defense purposes. Actually, all except a designated few may be bought by anyone agreeing to provisions of the national security clause.

Seven hundred Amarillo Army Air Field buildings to be sold July 7 and 8 will be the last opportunity for West Texans to buy surplus buildings from the War Assets Administration in that area. Public sales of camp structures at Dalhart, Pampa, Childress, Lubbock and other Panhandle sites have cleaned out WAA's remaining building inventory. Aside from a few buildings which may be offered at scattered locations by sealed bid disposals, the WAA anticipates no further sales of buildings in West Texas. Therefore, ranchers, businessmen and builders of the area are urged to take advantage of the Amarillo public high bid sale. Inspection of the property will continue through July 6.

Bargain seekers in industrial equipment and related supplies will want to attend a War Assets sale to be held in New Orleans July 9. A stock of various materials which originally cost the government $300,000 will be offered to veterans and other high bidders. The goods are on inspection at the Higgins Aircraft Plant, Michoud, Louisiana, and the New Orleans Consolidated Vultee plant. Awards from floor bidding will be made at the New Orleans plant. In the lots will be industrial supplies, metal working machines, welding equipment and other general products.

Telephone and electric distribution systems of the Big Spring Army Air Field are on sale to both priority buyers and the general public for removal from the grounds. Proposals for purchase of these utility facilities will be considered from priority claimants until July 6 and from the general public until July 13. Awards will be made by the War Assets Administration's regional office of real property.

ONE-WAY ROAD

In a recent address, Evans Woolen Jr., vice president of the American Bankers Association, observed that government lending and government guarantees of credit are a one-way road to a completely socialized state. "Socialization of credit," he added, "is one of the less bloody techniques of collectivist revolution, but it is a vital one."

Mr. Woolen is certainly not alone in holding that view. It was expressed long ago by Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels, who did more than any other men to create and expound the basic doctrines of communism. According to them, "centralization of credit in the hands of the state, by means of a national bank with state capital and an exclusive monopoly" was one of the major steps to be taken. It has been done, of course, in Communist Russia, where the government has a monopoly on credit and all other forms of finance. And much the same thing has happened in Socialist England, where the Labor Party nationalized the financial system soon after coming into power.

In our own case, it is doubtful if the majority of people realize how far we have gone in putting the government into the banking business. The list of Federal lending agencies would take pages to name and describe. A number of those which were created during the war on the grounds that they were necessary to meet that emergency are still doing business at the same old stand. Real estate, home building, agriculture, business, foreign trade—the government credit agencies have a finger in every pie. And, if we permit the government to keep increasing its control over that national purse, the step toward socialization of the financial structure and a political monopoly of the banking system will simply be shortened.

It cannot be argued that this is necessary in order to meet the nation's needs for credit—private enterprise in that field, like private enterprise in all others, built this nation. Nor can it be argued that it is necessary to protect the public — government supervision and regulation of banking in all its branches has long been an accepted principle, and has worked successfully. The difference between regulation by government, and government lending and guarantees of credit, is as broad as the difference between night and day. It is time that the nation which leads the Western world in resistance to the spread of Communism should understand that and act accordingly. — Industrial News Review.

Bezalel, The Craftsman
Lesson for July 11, 1948

THE dignity of labor, the source of artistic ability, the secret of mechanical skill, and the service of good workmanship—these are the facts that break across the ages, pointing us to worthier effort, as we study again the achievement of Bezalel and his associates in the construction and furnishing of the Tabernacle at Sinai.

Dr. Newton
reading, Exodus 20:1-17, and the golden text: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might," Ecclesiastes 9:10.

A MAN WHO DID FINE WORK
Bezalel, grandson of Hur, son of Caleb, was called of God to superintend the building of the Tabernacle. His name means "under the shadow of God." He knew how to do fine work, having been trained in Egyptian art and handi- ... craft—metallurgy, leather-dyeing, gem cutting and confections. He even knew the art of apothecary.

Best of all, he loved to do fine work. It is one thing to possess the know-how, it is yet another thing to love the execution of a great design.

TRAITS OF CHARACTER
Bezalel possessed knowledge as a fine craftsman, but back of this technical knowledge was spiritual discernment. He was filled "with the spirit of God." He worked at the temporal, but he worked for the eternal.

He possessed wisdom—wisdom which comes only from God. Wisdom which means understanding in the sense in which Solomon speaks in Proverbs.

Picture life with every workman filled with the spirit of God, and possessing an understanding of his task in the light of God's eternal will. Here, I fancy, Henry Van Dyke may have got the inspiration for his great poem on "Work."

HANDS THAT SERVE GOD
Aholiab, meaning "the father is my tabernacle," was called of God to help Bezalel in this high and holy task. He was of the tribe of Dan—which tribe furnished Hiram as chief artist in building Solomon's temple. Aholiab, "giver of glory" for this divine task, gladly dedicated his skillful hand in helping Bezalel.

And there were many others who helped—"wise hearted," we read. Here was a task, God's task, and here were leaders, Bezalel and Aholiab, ready to serve God; and here were helpers, wise hearted.

WORK FOR EVERY DAY
Turning now from the fascinat- ... ing story of how Bezalel and Aholiab and their helpers con- ... structed and furnished the Taber- ... nacle at Sinai, according to the ... minutest detail as outlined in the ... passages above cited, let us ask, ... What about our work?

There is work for everyone every day. "To every man his work." And every task is essential in bringing to pass the Kingdom of God on earth. God did not make us for idleness. He made us for a purpose—that purpose to do our particular work. None other can do what God has ordain- ... ed that we should do.

"My father worketh hitherto, and I work," said Jesus. "Work for the night cometh when no man can work."

Will my work be done ere the night cometh? "Time worketh, Let me work, too. Busy as time my work I ply, Till I work the work of eter- ... nity."

MISSIONS
Whether we like it or not, we have been thrust into a world that has been crowded up into such close quarters that there is no longer any "home mission" field or "foreign mission" terri- ... tory. The needs of all the world are our problem. — Roy L. Smith.

The shortage of steel scrap has become so acute in this country that plans are being considered to ship a half million tons of army steel scrap from Germany. Weekly Sermon

A Gracious Invitation
By Walt Hanchet, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

"Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord; though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool" (Isa. 1:18).

This is a gracious invitation that God gives to everyone who is willing to allow Him to speak to his heart. Let us notice the outstanding things contained therein. He says, "Come now," which indicates that the matter is urgent and that there need be no hesitation or question of preparation. "Behold now is the accepted time, behold now is the day of salvation" (II Cor. 6:2b).

How wonderful is His intimate "Let us." So often we are like the rich farmer we read about in Luke 12, who reasoned within himself and made plans in his own heart, but God called him a fool. Then again, quite often, we are like the Pharisees who reasoned with one another how they might cause Jesus to stumble, but their plans ended in frustration. God asks us to come to Him, and wonder of wonders, asks us to reason with Him. His ways are not unreasonable nor does He force Himself arbitrarily upon us. He is anxious to take time to explain to us just what He is willing to do for us and in us. He will reason with us. Primarily He is interested in talking over the matter of our sins. And He gives us the assurance that He is able to show us how they can be washed whiter than the snow even though they are as deep a dye as scarlet.

Have you ever come to God and let Him reason with you, through His Word, about your sins? Do they weigh heavily upon your heart and seem so deep dyed that they cannot be cleansed? God will reason with you about them now and show you how, though they be red like crimson, they can become as wool. Do you know that the most satisfactory way to cleanse wool and make it white is to soak it in blood? That is true, and the only way for you to be cleansed is in the blood of Jesus Christ. For the scripture tells us that "the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin" (I John 1:7b). Will you accept this gracious invitation today and let God do for you what He so longs to do: make you free?

Building Ships and Men: The story is told that one day in a ship- ... yard a crew of men was building a great ship. Included in the material provided to build the keel and other vital but hidden parts of the ship was an inferior piece of timber. A workman engaged on the job noting the flaw in the timber suggested that it be re- ... jected. His foreman overruled him and the inferior piece of timber went into the construction of a vital part of the ship. It was soon covered up with the planking of the hull and with the exception of the workman and the foreman no one knew of its presence. The ship was launched and put into service. As long as it was new and light everything went well, but as it became older the strain began to tell on the weak spot. As the story goes the ship encounter- ... ed a great storm and the defective timber gave way causing the ship to go to pieces. Human life is like that. We can hide and cover up many flaws, that for years, as long as the sailing is smooth, will not reveal themselves, but as we grow older the strain be- ... gins to tell and the fault we thought was hidden and forgotten is the one that often results in a breakdown. Jeffroy

MADE BY A FARMER TO SOLVE A VITAL SOIL NEED

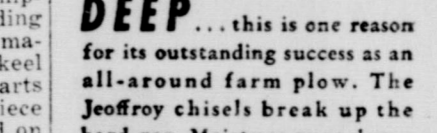

During the Dust Bowl days Jeffroy developed his chisel plow to answer a soil need on Jeffroy farms. This plow prevented erosion and conserved precious moisture for profitable crops. Neighbors soon were asking for Jeffroy plows. Thus an American industry was born ... to solve a vital soil need. Today successful farmers all over the world are profiting by using Jeffroy Chisel Plows.

JEFFROY MAKES THE SOIL DRINK DEEP ... this is one reason for its outstanding success as an all-around farm plow. The Jeffroy chisels break up the hard-pan. Moisture runs down into the subsoil for storage. The Jeffroy is also becoming very popular because it prevents erosion. And the light draft of a Jeffroy helps cut plowing costs as much as one-half.

Family Reunion at Home of Mrs. J. A. Abston in Thalia

On Monday evening, July 5th, all the children of Mrs. J. A. Abston were together for the first time in several years when they met at the home of a son, Tom Abston, and family in Thalia.

An ice cream supper was enjoyed after which a period was spent in visiting and reminiscing. Those present for the happy occasion were Mrs. Abston, Mrs. Winnie Phillips and daughter, Norma, of Andrews; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rennels of Bryan; Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson of Gilliland; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Abston and grandson, Don, of Rayland; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Abston and family of Crowell; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Abston and son, Burl, of Thalia; Mr. and Mrs. Burl Massingill of Vernon; and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Abston and family of Thalia.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Mrs. Earl Orr honored her little daughter, Carol Marie, with a party on her sixth birthday, Thursday evening, July 1st. Mrs. Orr was assisted by Mrs. Raymond A. Bell. Carol Marie received many nice birthday remembrances.

Punch, cake and candies were served to the following guests: Calvin Blevins, Lynette and Carolyn Bell, Eddie Ray Ketchersid, Patsy Murphy, Kenneth Bell, Joan Lindsey, Patty McGinnis, Sy Thomas Moore, Gerald and Ronnie Bradford, Bettie Jane and Keith Ingle, Marketta and Lois Ann Painter, Jimmie Huskey, Jimmie Bradford, Dwain and Carol Marie Orr.

W. S. C. S. MEETS

With Mrs. H. E. Thomson, Mrs. E. W. Kidd, Mrs. R. R. Magee, Mrs. Leotis Roberts and Mrs. Charlie Bryson as joint hostesses, the social meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service was held at the home of Mrs. Thomson Monday afternoon, July 5.

Mrs. Sam Crews played piano accompaniment for two songs to open the program. Mrs. J. W. Bruce as leader gave an inspiring devotional. Her program assistant was Mrs. M. S. Henry who gave a splendid talk on Poland. Mrs. Thomson, W. S. C. S. president, conducted the business meeting.

The hostesses served a dainty refreshment plate to twenty members and Mrs. Satis Wilkins of Fort Worth, a guest.

Lancaster and Scott Star in Wallis Film

Hal Wallis' latest production for Paramount, "I Walk Alone," is the next attraction scheduled for the Rialto Theatre. The film arrives Sunday, July 11, with Burt Lancaster and Elizabeth Scott heading a cast that includes Kirk Douglas, Wendell Corey, Kristine Miller, George Rigand, Marc Lawrence and Mike Mazurki.

"I Walk Alone," a melodrama set against the ultra modern background of New York after dark, tells the story of a vicious double-cross and of the victim's relentless pursuit of those who perpetrated it on him.

the price charged for table cuts at retail. The difference is large. And that leads many people to a totally erroneous idea of the costs involved in processing and marketing.

Some time ago one of the meat packing companies explained, in full detail, where the money goes to. At that time, choice cattle were selling on the Chicago market at an average of 32.5 cents a pound—yet steaks were selling in New York for as high as $1.00 a pound. And here are the reasons why.

For a thousand pound steer, the farmer received $325. By the time it was dressed and chilled, that steer weighed only 625 pounds. After adding plant expenses, and deducting the value of by-products, the packer had little more than $307 invested in 625 pounds of beef—which works out to 49 1/2 cents a pound.

By the time the beef reached New York, the packer's cost per pound had risen to 51.9 cents. It was sold to the retailer at around 52 cents, leaving but a fraction of a cent per pound for the packer.

By the time the retailer prepared the beef for sale, his investment was over 60 cents a pound. His selling cost, plus a small profit, averaged about 12 1/2 cents. Consequently, all the cuts had to move at an average price of 73 cents for each and every pound. Some of the less desirable cuts had to be sold for as little as 40 cents a pound. And that simply means that the price of the choicest cuts, such as fine steaks, had to approach a dollar.

What is true of meat is true of all staple foods. All along the line, production cost and retailing costs are held to the minimum. Profits are minuscule. And the consumer gets the lowest price possible under today's economic conditions. — Industrial News Review.

IT CAN BE DONE

From the point of view of fire loss, last year was the blackest in American history. The total destruction was about $700,000,000.

At the same time, however, it was a year of progress in fire prevention work. According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, there was material improvement in the delivery of new fire fighting equipment. The number of cities adopting the Board's model fire prevention ordinance increased by 48 per cent. Many cities made progress in strengthening their building laws. The President's Fire Prevention Conference initiated a long-term program which has been felt to some degree in most of the states. And the Spring Clean-Up Weeks attracted an unusual degree of cooperation and eliminated many hazards. It may seem strange that we should have record fire losses along with such intensive prevention work. That simply indicates the extent of fire danger. The total number of fires has been on the increase, and in these days of high prices the average fire does much more dollar damage than before the war. And due to the building shortage, many homes and businesses are housed in substandard structures where the risks are abnormally great.

Last April was the first time since March, 1944, that monthly losses declined below the same month in any preceding year. If that continues, we will make a dent in fire's ravages. It can be done if we keep the fire prevention campaign going and intensify it. — Industrial News Review.

District Softball Tournament to Be Held July 21-27

Wichita Falls, July 2 — The deadline for filing entries in the District 9 softball tournament has been set at midnight July 12. Charles Hurd, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce athletic committee which is sponsoring the meet, announced today.

The tourney will be held in Wichita Falls July 21-27 and will be a double elimination meet. Fifteen teams entered the district competition last year, but Jaycee officials expect entries to climb over that figure this year. Three games will be played each night in the meet which qualifies the champion and runner-up to enter the state tournament, which will be held August 12-15 in Wichita Falls for the second straight year. Expecting overflow crowds as a result of the attendance last year, officials have made arrangements to provide 2,500 additional seats at the park this year.

Any team interested in entering the district tournament may write the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Box 1860, Wichita Falls, Texas for full particulars and an entry blank. Those entering are urged to file the blanks as soon as possible.

A TIMELY WARNING

The following editorial is reprinted from the Astorian Budget, Astoria, Oregon:

"It was a timely warning the house appropriations committee gave the Federal Reclamation Bureau, accompanying a slash in the bureau's budget for next fiscal year, when it reminded that agency its main function is irrigation, not power.

"Every Federal agency in the Northwest seems bent on only one object—the conversion of almost every stream in the region into a power plant or series of them.

"The Reclamation Bureau is one agency that certainly seems to have little or no business conducting power promotion. The appropriations committee picked the best method of curtailing its activities by cutting it off at the pockets.

"And the committee's warning about the urge of Federal bureaus to 'sovietize' the administration of power projects in the Northwest was also timely.

"The Bonneville Power Administration has been the worst offender in this respect. It has assigned itself a holy mission to convert the whole Northwest to public power, with itself handing over the power supply to whomsoever it wills. It has fought at public expense to put the private power companies out of business. The time was ripe to sound a note of warning to the Northwest not to sell its birthright of economic independence for a mess of Federal power pottage." — Industrial News Review.

WASTED FUEL

A fuel which has some 20,000 uses, and which is capable of substantially relieving the strain on our fuel oil facilities, is largely going to waste. That little-known fact is the subject of a recent article by James E. Pew of the Sun Oil Company.

The fuel is natural gas. Due to economic and political factors which are beyond the control of producers, Mr. Pew states, about 41 per cent of all the gas that is produced with crude oil in this country is now wasted.

The reasons for this are various. Most important has been the attitude of the Federal Power Commission. It has followed a policy of such rigid control that time after time there have been interminable and costly delays in approving agreements for the sale of the gas, even though both buyer and seller were willing. Further, the FPC has insisted on such low prices for gas at the well-head that in many instances it has discouraged the production of gas for market, and has made it economically impossible for drillers to search for new sources.

This proports two very important questions. Why, save in time of war, should any government agency have the authority to block the transportation and use of natural gas for any legitimate purpose? And why should not the owners of natural gas reserves be permitted to have their gas transported to market where it may compete on a fair basis with other fuels? A wider use of natural gas in industry, according to Mr. Pew, would save
