The Gall Bladder

BY DR. JUNE M. COOK Chiropractor

One of the most potent cor tributors to a pleasant disposi tion and its natural concomi tant, a pleasing personality, i a healthy gall bladder. The number of people with sour faces and a disposition that repels which comes from a bad gall bladder, is said by authorities to be large.

Although it is said that about one person in every ten or fifteen have gall stones the number that suffer from direct symptoms when the stones become obstructed in the little tube leading from the gall bladder to the intestines, is not nearly so large. Thus one may have difficulty without that severe gall stone colic.

Three things are essential to help nature prevent gall blad der and for that matter, live trouble as well. First, see that the condition of the nerve im pulses are normal. Second breathe deep and take bending exercises that press and squeeze the gall bladder and liver. They were meant to be kept active and pliable by such exercise Third, eat the right kind of

By far the most importan is to see that the nerve impulse are free and unobstructed. A his promptly.

Washington Newsletter

(By Congressman Ed Gossett)

Washington, D. C., April 27— This week I had to fly to Galveston to keep a long-standing ap-pointment to address the State Convention of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas. On the way back, I sat next to a distinguished old gentleman who has been one of our aviation experts for 35 years. He was a close friend of General Billy Mitchell, who was court-martialed and cashiered out of the Army in the early '30's. He told me he was sitting by the Colonel's (Billy Mitchell was promoted to General by act of Congress years after his death) bedside about a week before his side about a week before his death in 1936. The Colonel stated that he wished he could stay around for the real war, saying that World War I had been only a prelude, and that World War II was soon to come. A second interesting comment from the dying Colonel Mitchell was that he wished that he knew how General Douglas MacArthur had voted on Douglas MacArthur had voted on the military court that had tried him. Report now has it that General MacArthur voted to acquit Colonel Billy Mitchell. However, General MacArthur obviously has never revealed how he voted.

Congressman Herlong, of Florida, has just placed in the Congressional Record an address by Dr. J. Ollie Edmunds, President of John B. Stetson University. In this speech, Dr. Edmunds quotes from the distinguished British analyst, writer and commentator, Lord Macauley Lord Macauley was very distrustful of American democracy. Writing more than a very distrustful of American de-mocracy. Writing more than a hundred years ago, he declared that one of two things would happen: (1) Either "some Caeser-or Napoleon will seize the reins of government with a strong hand" or (2) "your Republic will be as fearfully plundered . . . by bar-barians of the twentieth century as the Roman Empire was in the fifth; with this difference . . The Huns and Vandals who ravished the Roman Empire came from without . . . Your Huns and Vandals will have been en-
