Big Corporation Useful
On Crime's Highway
Worrying the Burglar Education and Money

The General Electric company has perfected a device to transport electric power over longer distances at less expense. The invention, called a "thyatron," is described as a modified vacuum tube, adapted to power transmission uses.

Some day science will "hook up" the world's great power stations of North America, Niagara, those in the Rocky mountains, on the Columbia river, Brazil, with other great stations in Africa and all over the world, as radio stations are now hooked up.

Then will come wireless transmission of power, so that airplanes will be able to "pick up power" at various points in their journey, instead of carrying tons of fuel.

The research work done by such institutions as General Electric, United States Steel, Westinghouse, Standard Oil, etc., will give back to the public in increased prosperity a hundred dollars for every one that those big corporations have ever received.

This country is traveling rapidly on the road that leads to thoroughly organized crime and complete contempt for law.

A United States grand jury reports that officials supposed to suppress the sale of drugs are organized on a "racket" basis, misrepresenting their activities to get more money from the government.

Some of them are alleged to be narcotic addicts. The charge is made that the big men in the business can "buy their way out," if they get in trouble.

In the seven months past criminals and others have purchased three times as many pistols as were sold altogether in the twelve months of 1928. A big demand for killing machines.

Mr. Louis Pierson of New York's Irving Trust company delights in annoying burglars. He built, far underground, below his new fifty-story building, a safety vault lined with the finest steel, thick as the walls of Jerusalem. It is the biggest vault in the world except those of our reserve bank and the Bank of England.

Now he surrounds his steel walls with a thick layer of water, so that the poor burglar, even if he did break through the heavy steel, would have to do his work in a diving suit, most awkward for handling dynamite and drills.

Henry Ford, planning to spend one hundred millions educating young people on his own lines, making them "fit into life," teaching every one a trade, wants no advice.

He is right. No one knows better than he how to prepare boys for useful work. But Mr. Ford spoke hastily when he said he wanted no advice on education from those that never earned or saved a dollar.

The world's greatest educators have not been money makers or savers. Aristotle, who taught Philip's son, Alexander, made no fortune for himself. Alexander, conqueror of the world, spent collecting specimens for Aristotle, greatest naturalist and philosopher of the world, more than the total fortune left him by King Philip.

Pestalozzi, Froebel, none of the great teachers, was a money maker. Ford himself is rich only as a by-product of his mechanical genius, and through no plans of his own.

Conrad Hubert, who changed his name from Horowitz, made many millions, left $5,000,000 to useful charities, left $1,000,000 to his brother.

The brother, who sticks to his old-fashioned name, Horowitz, has been a litable court interpreter and he says he will now devote his time to German opera and charity.

Why did the rich brother wait until he was dead to give a million dollars to his mother's other son?

Many of us forget the proverb often quoted by Nathan Straus:

"What you give in health is gold, what you give in sickness is silver, and what you give after death is lead."

Automobile makers will spend $15,000,000 scrapping old cars to clear the way for new cars and moderate the second-hand car nuisance.

R. H. Grant, vice president of General Motors, one of the best salesmen in America, is chairman of the scrapping committee.

Perhaps Mr. Grant could find a way to ship those old cars, knocked down, to foreign countries—China, Africa, anywhere. Ten million old cars scattered over the earth would soon create an appetite for ten million new cars, just as the little car creates a demand for a larger car.

Zane Grey's First Talker, "The Lone Star Ranger," Ritz

No all talking picture yet made, it is said, surpasses the vivid action of "The Lone Star Ranger," Fox Movietone all talking romance of the Southwest, adapted from Zane Grey's story that has been read by millions of people. This picture will be seen and heard at the Ritz Theatre, Friday and Saturday of this week.

George O'Brien, one of the most popular leading men in all talking pictures, portrays the leading role, while Sue Carol, beautiful, charming and vivacious screen actress, enacts the leading feminine character and the two provide the love interest.

O'Brien was selected to play the role of Buck Duane because the part seems to fit him. He is tall, handsome and athletic in addition to qualifying as a talented actor.

Then, too, the character required a man lightning fast with a gun and O'Brien, long a student of his father, until recently chief-of-police of San Francisco, mastered the art of "throwing a gun" before he thought of a career in motion pictures. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that O'Brien's father has, for many years, held the record for drawing from the hip and emptying a six shot gun in four seconds.

Miss Carol, up to her appearance in this picture, has been cast, for the most part, in "flapper" roles, but in "The Lone Star Ranger," she essays an entirely different character and critics declare her to be more charming than ever. It is safe to say that her many admirers will love her as the more demure Mary Aldridge, niece of the ringleader of a gang of cattle rustlers.

Walter McGrail, who, as leading man has made feminine hearts flutter, is cast as Phil Lawson, a merciful and murdering outlaw who finally meets a deserved end, and others prominent in the large and carefully selected cast are Warren Hymer, whose forte is playing brutal and despicable roles, Lee Shumway, Russell Simpson, Roy Stewart, Colin Chase, Caroline Rankin, Joe Rickson, Elizabeth Patterson and Richard Alexander.

Many of the most picturesque scenes were photographed in Arizona and stand out as singularly beautiful. A. F. Erickson directed.

Sheriff Hughes had a clue and when the car was seen in Baird Wednesday he got busy but while verifying some descriptions the car was driven away to Abilene, but being confident that it was the car he was looking for he went to Abilene and located it bringing it back to Baird and Mr. and Mrs. Powell were expecting to come down yesterday and get it. Move For Longer Staple Finds Favor at Abilene Meeting

Messers T. E. Powell, James C. Asbury, B. L. Boydston, R. W. Smith, J. M. Glover and J. M. Reynolds of Baird and Messers M. H. Perkins, J. H. Burkett, J. F. Houston, Jessie Tarrant, E. T. Hughes, H. E. Jones, Tom Edwards and Earl Hayes of Clyde and community attended the meeting held in Abilene Wednesday to discuss the cotton problem. The Abilene Chamber of Commerce were host at luncheon to about 175 cotton growers, bankers, cotton buyers and ginner of this section, who were called in conference. A longer staple in conjunction with a reduction in acreage is the remedy agreed upon by those attending this meeting, held at the Hilton hotel, Mr. C. W. Bacon, chamber of commerce agriculture chairman said: "This meeting was called to discuss our King—King Cotton—and what we can do toward returning him to a normal healthy condition."

Henry James of Abilene said, "We are facing a situation more serious than most of our business men and farmers realize, and if we don't change our tactics in five years we won't be able to sell our cotton. The Abilene banks and the clearing house members are partly responsible for this meeting and they will be glad to cooperate, especially in financing purchases of long-staple seeds." T. E. Powell, of Baird echoed the opinions by Mr. James.

The proposition is the sale-at-cost plan of the Russell big bale seed asserted to be the best obtainable and which is certified by the State of Texas to the farmers to improve the quality of cotton grown. Four car loads of this seed have been ordered and will be sold to the farmers at absolute cost. The four car load shipment will amount to 4,000 bushels, the seed coming in 100-pound sacks, three bushels to a sack, each sack bearing the certification of the state. This seed will be sold at $1.75 per bushel, $5.25 per 100 lbs.

Bill of lading for the 4,000 bushel of seed ordered by the chamber of commerce committees was received Wednesday morning, J. C. Jones of the Abilene Cotton Seed Oil Mill said. The seed will arrive Monday or Tuesday and will be ready for delivery at the company's plant, after arrival, at any time between 7:30 a. m. and 6 p. m. until the last bushel is gone, Jones said. He added that his firm will pay the market price, $36 a ton, for old seed brought in, although the seed cannot be processed here until next year.

Arthur Mitchell, a former Baird boy, who is now with The West Texas Utilities Co., at Mpan, was given recognition as one of Frigidaire Corporation's outstanding salesman in the entire United States at the annual regional convention held in Dallas last week when he was called to the platform and amid bands and cheering of 400 fellow-salesman from this part of the country was presented with $50 in gold.

Mrs. E. C. Waddell has accepted the position, recently vacated by Miss Ora Coon, as instructor of music in the public schools of Putnam.

Mrs. Waddell is well fitted for the place, holding a B. M. Degree from Simmons university, and having a number of years of successful teaching to her credit.

Parents will make no mistakes in placing their children under the instruction of Mrs. Waddell.

The High School girls, with Miss Patrick, as sponsor, enjoyed a weenie roast a few miles out from town on Wednesday evening. They visited a "haunted" house in the course of their adventures and received a genuine scalp raising fright. Afterward they drove over to Baird and took in the sights of the capital city. They report a most enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Whitaker Hostess to "42" Club

Mrs. E. P. Whitaker was hostess to the "42" club on Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Ellen Cathey. A number of games were played and splendid interest manifested throughout the evening. Mrs. Fred Sfort won the high score.

George Washington hatches were used as favors on this occasion and a delicious refreshment consisting of cherry pie and punch was served the following members of the club, Mesdames Fred Short, E. C. Waddell, O. W. Hampton, W. A. Wallace, Jim Yarbrough, Bess McCool, Charles Brandon, Don Mitchell, Misses Eva Moore and Vella Sandlin.

Mrs. Eubank Hostess to Woman's Study Club

The Womens Study Club of Putnam met in regular meeting on Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. S. M. Eubank. The club was honored with Mrs. Greenleaf Fisk, Pres. of the sixth district T. F. W. C. and Mrs. R. J. Jones, Sec. and Treas. of sixth district, from Abilene, as guests.

The President, Mrs. L. E. Brock, called the meeting to order at 2:30 and the business of the hours was dispensed with. Mrs. James W. Guynne, chairman of committee for the organization of a junior club, reported that the Juniors were organized with seventeen members and were well on their way to becoming a live, wide-awake-club.

After the business session the President introduced Mrs. Fisk, who gave, in her charming manner a resume of her book "The History of Texas, Artists and Sculptors."

Mrs. Fisk brought the personalities of these artists into actual being before the minds of her listeners. Especially vivid was the description of the life and works of Elizabeth Ney. She developed the vast possibilities of native sons and daughters and of the artistic beauty of natural resources of Texas. The club feels that Mrs. Fisk's book should be not only in every Texas library, but in every home where art is loved and appreciated. It is essential as a required text in schools where courses in art are provided. There is a great demand and need for such a book as this, as none other exists.

Mrs. Fisk closed her remarks with regard to the Federation work, especially the work of the sixth district, urging our club to send in reports as to the work we are accomplishing for community welfare.

The President then introduced Mrs. Jones, who wittily told us that the speech we had just heard by Mrs. Fisk, was original, that she had never heard her give the same talk on any of the many visits over the district. Mrs. Jones brought the club into closer touch with the work of the district and state, making the members feel that the club is a part of a great work.

After the roll call, which was answered with the name of a Texas Art gallery, Mrs. E. P. Whitaker gave a vivid account of the life and works of Frank Reugh. Mrs. J. N. Williams followed with an interesting paper on the Onderdonks, R. J. and Julian.

The club was favored with a beautiful piano duet given by Mesdames R. L. Clinton and E. C. Waddell, after which a delicious plate of pink and green ice cream and cake was served, carrying out the club colors with favors of pink sweet peas and lace fern. The club will meet in the home of Mrs. J. W. Guynne on Monday afternoon, March the tenth.

Ranger Truck Gardener is For Orgatone (Argotane)

Helps Suffering People By Telling His Experience With Orgatone (Argotane.)

"It didn't take many doses of Orgatone Iron to satisfy me that I had found the right medicine for my case at last," declared Mr. W. N. Huddleston, a well known truck gardener residing at 1220 Yount St., Ranger, Texas, the other day.

"For thirty years," continued Mr. Huddleston, "my stomach was in such a terrible condition that everything I would eat bloated me up with gas till I was miserable most all the time. My appetite went back on me and I just had to force a little I did eat and when I did eat I constantly belched up hot water. My nerves were in such wretched shape that I couldn't half sleep and I would get up in the morning feeling so fagged out that I couldn't do anything like I wanted. I was weak and run-down and felt so tired and worn out all the time that I was hardly fit for a thing.

"I got a bottle of Orgatone (Argotane) Iron and began to pick up right off. My appetite has improved so much that I can eat and enjoy everything set before me and I sleep like a child. I have gained some in weight and strength and have more energy than before and I can do any work in my gardens with more satisfaction than in a long time, and I am doing my part to help suffering people by telling what Orgatone (Argotane) did for me."

Genuine Orgatone (Argotane) may be bought in Baird at the Wheelers Drug Store.

TANLAC ENDS ANOTHER CASE OF RHEUMATISM

and Stomach Troubles—Hotel Man Benefits This Time

Ending the suffering of 10 years in just a few weeks is going some but that's just an example of how quickly Tanlac works in stubborn cases that never yield to other remedies.

No wonder so many local people are so enthusiastic about Tanlac—no wonder local druggists are loud in praise of this medicine. Read for instance what Mr. J. L. Kline says: "For 10 years I have had stomach troubles, rheumatism, also of the back and shoulders. A good powerful medicine was needed to fix me up and get relief from all troubles, stomach and rheumatism. My digestion now is just about 100% good. No more pain or distress, rest, good sleep as good as I eat, even, eat good, sleep as good as I eat, and my back and shoulders wiped out. I have tried out lots of medicines but Tanlac is a real medicine—it gives results and gives them quick, for every herb, bark and root is a real medicine. Many 'patent medicines' make glowing promises, but remember Tanlac is a real medicine that backs its claims with a guarantee. At all druggists. Accept no substitute.

FATHER AND SON

By C. L. Davis, State Supervisor Agricultural Education

Will He Carry On What You Have Started?

(Editorial from San Francisco Examiner.)

"What is a boy? He is the person who is going to carry on what you have started. He is to sit where you are sitting and attend to those things you think are so important when you are gone.

You may adopt all the policies you please, but how they will be carried on depends on him.

Even if you make leagues and treaties, he will have to manage them.

He is going to sit at your desk in the Senate and occupy on the Supreme Bench.

He will assume control of your cities, states, and nation.

He is going to move in and take over your prisons, churches, schools, universities, and corporations.

All your work is going to be judged and praised or condemned by him.

Your reputation and your fortune are in his hands.

All your work is for him, and the fate of the nation and of humanity is in his hands.

So it might be as well to pay him some attention."

The very effective work done by the P.-T. Associations attest the need for an organization whose efforts are directed toward increasing cooperation of home and school toward a common objective—that of education of the children.

Father and son banquets have become an effective agency in stimulating the interest of the father in his son's work in vocational agriculture.

J. W. Westerman Has Farm Terraced

Terracing of an entire farm, owned by J. W. Westerman and located about two miles west of Cross Plains, was completed the middle of this week. The engineering work was under the supervision of Ross Newton, vocational agriculture teacher of the Cross Plains High School. The value of proper terracing is fast gaining an understanding, and is being tried by a number of farmers in this community.

The full vision of terracing, as understood by the teachings of agricultural experts, takes into account the prevention of erosion, the conservation and increase of soil moisture, and the possibility of increasing soil fertility.

The field editor of Farm Ranch, in a recent issue, announces that these facts are generally accepted, and that the big problem in many sections is how we are going to get terracing done. Practically all have agreed that if an extensive terracing program is carried out, farmers must learn to run terrace lines and construct terraces. A plan has been adopted in Baylor county, Texas, and with the ready assistance of our local agricultural agent it can be successfully followed in the Cross Plains, or any other community. The Baylor county plan for training farmers how to accurately run terrace lines and construct terraces applies to farmers who are in dead earnest about this matter, and are willing to give a little of their time and study to gaining that degree of efficiency that will enable them to go out and do terracing work with a minimum of cost and expert supervision. This knowledge can best be gained by keeping in touch with our agricultural teacher, and visiting the various farms that are being terraced under his supervision.—Cross Plains Review.

Further evidence that a diversified farming program pays is seen in records of Mrs. James R. Gibson, who lives six miles southwest of Clyde.

During January, Mrs. Gibson made a net profit from her flock of Brown Leghorn and Rhode Island hens, of $41.92. The flock includes 139 leghorns and 21 reds, from which she gathered 1,737 eggs, an average of 56 daily, and a net profit on each hen of a little over 26 cents.

The family also sold during the month enough butter from one cow to pay the grocery bill for a family of four, in addition to furnishing butter, cream and milk for the home table, and three gallons of sour milk daily for the hens. Eight pounds of butter were sold each week at 45 cents, totaling $14.40

SULPHUR TAX CUT BEATEN

Time's curtain rolled back and the sturdy figure of James Stephen Hogg stalked through the house of representatives Tuesday as the equally sturdy son of the beloved chief executive went to bat for the people of the Lone Star State.

"By Golly" Mike Hogg, representative from Harris County, proved himself typical of "By Golly" James Stephen Hogg when with an impassioned plea he caused the house to vote down compromise of 50 cents tax on the ton on sulphur.

Checked with emotion interrupted by applause, the Houston representative swept through to his close and the house voted 69 to 33 against concurring in a committee report which would have set the tax at just half that sought.

When Mr. Hogg stepped in front of the microphones in the house that body was strangely stilled. For a moment or two he just stood there, looking off into the distance with the life-sized portrait of his father staring down on his head.

Then he launched his address: "I want to tell you some intimate things," he started and the press and spectators' galleries, as well as sleepy-eyed representatives, came to life.

"In the first place I have absolutely no political ambitions and I am not in the legislature as a stepping stone to some higher office. I don't want to accept it if it were given me, but I am here because I thought that I could be of some use to the people.

"I am here to fight for certain principles and I think it high time that the State of Texas knows what is going on up here."

The speaker choked with emotion as applause swept over the house and it was minutes before he continued.

"I am here because I feel that I owe a duty to this state. Texas has been good to me in material things and has blessed me with a father that I am proud of."

Again he halted. "I concede to everyone the right to vote as he sees fit but I think that this 50-cent tax measure they have brought in here is unfair and wrong. I have every reason to believe so.

"This lobby business is an outrage. I believe in making money but I believe that corporations should pay their just share of taxes, and they should not be allowed to have their lobbyists here, hounding us like we were a bunch of dogs, when we are trying to vote and think right.

"I believe that is all." He returned to his seat amidst applause and the vote was taken. At the same time that Mr. Hogg was making his appeal in the House another Harris County man, Senator Walter Woodul, was fighting against the 50-cent committee report in the senate. His fight was unsuccessful.

A new bill will be introduced at the fifth called session by Representative Phil Sanders, of Nacogdoches, this bill to call for a $1 a ton tax on sulphur.

It was to the aid of Mr. Sanders that Mr. Hogg had risen after the Nacogdoches representative had fought concurring on the conference committee report.

PLAYING THE GAME

He who stands on the side line watching the players in the game sees many errors and thinks the players are to blame. But he who is playing and in the midst of the hard fight does at each moment what he thinks to be right. It may be an error and hard to atone.

In which he and his comrades suffer not alone; But it is a question whether to censure or praise: Could you have done better were you playing where he plays?

Each of us are players in the game of life. There should be no shirkers in its hard strife. It is easy to censure and often we blame

Where if we had his place we'd have played the same. So deal carefully with error and that which you think wrong You may not be condemning the weak but the strong. Life has many possible errors and mistakes 'tis true, Forgiveness of others shall bring forgiveness to you.

Piquant Fifi Film "Find"

Fifi Dorsay, vivacious French ma'mselle, made her first screen appearance in "They Had to See Paris," with Will Rogers.

She sang one song and thrilled the nation, only regret expressed by press and public that the talking screen has yet provided no means of a singer taking an encore.

This is remedied in part in Miss Dorsay's current production which is Raoul Walsh's Fox Movietone "Hot For Paris," coming to the Ritz Theatre, in which she is featured with Victor McLaglen, Polly Moran and El Brendel.

In "Hot For Paris," Fifi sings three numbers especially written for her by these topnotchers of the melody field Walted Donaldson and Edgar Leslie. The trio of songs are "Sweet Nothing of Love," "Sing a Little Folk Song" and "If You Want to See Gay Paree," and how that French girl sings them!

Incidentally, and this is sure to come as a surprise, Donaldson and Leslie have written a special number "I'm the Duke of Kakiyak" sung by no less a vocalist than Victor McLaglen, in person. "Hot For Paris," is a riotous comedy said to be even funnier than "What Price Glory" and "The Cock Eyed World," Walsh's two other great successes.

"Hot For Paris" chronicles the amatory exploits of two seagoing Don Juans on shore leave in France. McLaglen, unaware that he holds the winning ticket of the Calcutta Sweepstakes, eludes officials of the sweepstakes who seek to present him a fortune. Victor, it appears, suspects they are police prefects bent on jailing him. The story develops into a riot of comedy and suspense which reaches a ludicrous climax as a provincial wedding. The supporting cast includes Charles Judels, Lennox Pawle, George Fawcett and many other favorites. In addition to directing the production, Raoul Walsh also wrote the story, with adaptation and continuity by Charles J. McQuirk. William K. Wells supplied the dialog.

This picture will be shown at The Ritz Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, March 3 and 4.

WITH BAIRD BAPTIST

We had our usual fine time Sunday, but we still need more people in our services.

The week was a real busy one for the pastor. He held services each night except Monday at Tecumseh and was a very busy preacher all through the day. The new car made it possible for these services to be held. It is a sure enough good Missionary car. The little meeting was quite, but we believe it profitable and we are glad we had the opportunity to take the gospel to them. A bible study will be continued each Sunday afternoon, and they are to have Bro. McClure, who is pastor at the Dudley Baptist church preach for them at Tecumseh on the Sunday afternoon that he preaches at Dudley. Now that is just fine. I am for having preaching in every community and the more the Bible is studied, the bet-

How Big Is Your Town?

POPULATION figures have lost their significance as a measurement of the importance of communities. Today, towns are valued not so much by the number of inhabitants they house but rather by the productive power of the community as a whole. The productivity of a community is largely determined by the available power supply.

On this basis, the communities in the territory served by this company may compete favorably with the large metropolitan centers, for these communities today are equipped with improved transportation facilities and an ample and economical electric power supply.

Interconnection of the electric generating and transmitting equipment of this company provides a broad, ample pool of power for industrial, commercial and domestic use. On the firm base of this power pool the future growth and development of these communities is based.

IN MEMORY OF CHARLES ALVIN SMITH

Charles A. Smith, was born in Pilot Point, March 3, 1880. In the early part of the year 1924 he moved to Callahan county and settled in the Belle Plaine community where he lived until his death which occurred at about 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, Feb. 19, 1930.

On June 6, 1926, he was married to Mrs. Stella Green and for the near four years they were permitted to live together, they were contented and happy and while during the last few months of his life this happiness was marred by his illness, yet it was sweetened by the constant attention shown the sufferer by his faithful wife and devoted aunt, Mrs. J. L. (Aunt Dick) Dunham, who lived with them.

Charlie's mother, two brothers three sisters with their families, Aunt Dick, his wife and two step-children, Beatrice and Robert Green, along with a large host of other relatives and friends remain to mourn his going.

Funeral services were held at the Belle Plaine Methodist church at 2:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. B. A. Philpott, of Abilene, who is pastor of the Belle Plaine Baptist church, assisted by Joe R. Mayes, Those from a distance attending the funeral were. Two sister, Mrs. J. F. Knight, husband and son, Jack, and daughter, Bonnie and her husband, Mr. Mitchell, all of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Luther Robertson, husband and baby, also Lee Carpenter, of Reed, Ok., Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hickman and Miss Beatrice Green, of Slaton and Dr. E. H. Ramsey and son, of Rising Star.

Charlie Smith had many good qualities. He was kind, clean, truthful, honest and upright. He was a real friend, one whom all were glad to have numbered as their own.

It was a joy to hear the minister in his sermon give the proof that Charlie had embraced Christianity. I think one of the most cheering things that could have been done, he did in the last few minutes of his life. Rational up to the last minute and fully conscious that he was going, he prayed and then told his wife, who held him in her arm, to be quit and not to grieve for he was ready and was willing to go and be relieved of his suffering, then told her good bye and fell asleep.

Sleep on, dear one, we will miss you, but one day when the call comes to us as it has to you, we will join you in that land of bliss, where you now await our coming.

Joe R. Mayes.
Pastor Baird Baptist Church.

THREE IMPORTANT FACTORS ENTER INTO THE COST OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

1. How much it costs to make the car
2. How much extra you pay the dealer
3. How much it costs for operation and up-keep

THE PURCHASE of an automobile involves a considerable amount of money and it should be carefully considered from all angles before a final decision is made.

The value of the car to you depends on the value built into it at the factory, how much extra you pay the dealer for distribution, selling, financing and accessories and what it will cost to operate and maintain the car after purchase. Each of these factors, as it relates to the Ford car, is frankly explained below.

Economy in production

THE FORD CAR is made economically because of the efficiency of Ford production methods. The money saved through this efficiency is put back into the car in improved quality of material and in greater care and accuracy in manufacturing. The constant effort is to eliminate waste and find ways to make each part better and better without increasing cost—frequently at lowered cost.

Because of Ford economies in large production and because the Ford organization operates on a low-profit margin, the price you pay for the car is much less than it would be under any other conditions. Yet it brings you many unusual features of construction and performance.

At least $75 extra value is represented alone by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the five steel-spoke wheels. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are additional features that reflect the high quality built into every part of the car. Throughout, it is a value far above the price you pay.

Low dealer charges

THE SAME PRINCIPLES of efficiency and economy that characterize the manufacture of the Ford car are applied also to distribution. Obviously it would do the public little good to save in production if these savings were sacrificed later in excessive costs of selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, operates on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company, his discount or commission being the lowest of any automobile dealer. He does a good business because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

Low charges for time payments through the Universal Credit Company

The lower cost of selling, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, means a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser of a Ford, in addition to the savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. The money you pay for a Ford goes into value in the car. It is not wasted in high dealer charges.

Low up-keep costs

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember that the cost of your automobile is not the first cost only, but the total cost after months and years of service. Here again there is a decided saving when you buy a Ford.

The cost of operation and up-keep is lower because of simplicity of design, the high quality of material, and the reduction of friction and wear through unusual accuracy in manufacturing and assembling. The reliability and longer life of the car contribute to its low depreciation per year of use.

The intelligent, painstaking service rendered by Ford dealers is under close factory supervision and is a factor in the low up-keep cost of the Ford. All labor is billed at a flat rate and replacement parts are always available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the United States.

In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

flocks of fifty or more, and one for every three in smaller flocks. Try to have a sufficient number so that hens do not have to wait too long for their respective turns. For the same reason, pay a bit more attention to the trap nests during the normally busy hours of the day, which are usually from 8 to 11 a. m. They should be visited once every hour, especially during the forenoon.

The use of trap nests enables the poultry raiser to learn some really astonishing facts about what his hens are really doing. He will be surprised to find that some of those in which he had most faith were least deserving of his trust, and vice versa. He will definitely drop guessing from his payroll and substitute scientific certainty. The change may mean more work of one kind, but it also means less work of a less profitable kind and in the long run trap nesting is bound to pay a sufficiently large increase in cash dividends to more than justify the increased investment in labor and equipment.

TEXAS WINTER RESORT

Madera Springs, Texas, Jan. 27.—The cold spell which has been prevalent over the entire state during the past month has made itself felt in this high resort town in the shape of low temperatures with a number of snow flurries.

Several members of the Madera Mountain Club, which is located here, who visited the Club during the month, derived a great deal of pleasure from winter sports; skiing, snow-shoeing, etc., which this snow made possible on the Mountain slopes.

It seems Madera Springs and the Davis Mountains, is becoming a winter resort for those who enjoy these sports, as it is already popular as a haven of escape from the excessive heat so prevalent in the lower altitude of Texas during the summer months.

Mr. I. H. GIBSON

"I eat, sleep and feel like a different man since taking this great medicine, Konjola," said Mr. I. H. Gibson, 206 South Ohio street, Sedalia. "I suffered for years with stomach and kidney trouble. Splitting headaches often lasted for days.

"My kidneys were first to respond to the action of Konjola. My bladder now functions properly and I suffer no back pains and headaches. I have not enjoyed my meals in years as I do today. I never bloat after meals and my appetite is excellent. My entire system has been aided by this great medicine and I am in excellent health for the first time in many years. I enthusiastically recommend Konjola to all men and women who suffer as I did.

HOW TO RAISE POULTRY

By Dr. L. D. LaGeur, V. S.

A Short Cut To Longer Profits

Trap-Nesting Displaces Guess Work in Favor of Certainty for Selecting the Really Profitable Members of a Poultry Flock.

You think you have eliminated the heavy eating, light-saving drones from your flock but are you sure you have got them all? If you are a good judge of the signs which indicate poor layers, the chances are you have eliminated the worst drones. In all likelihood, however, there are still a number of hens left which are on the border line or just below it; either they consume as much in food as they pay back in eggs or just a little bit more. In either case, they are unprofitable to keep, but hard to discover when ordinary methods of culling are employed.

Now these "border line" fowls require just as much care and equipment as their more profitable sisters. Care and equipment represent part of the investment on which a profit must be paid. It becomes self-evident, therefore, that very many such fowls will cause a serious cut in the percentage of profit returned on each dollar of capital invested. But the question is how to convict the offenders of their shortcomings. I know of but one certain way and that is to keep books on the whole lot of them and in a short while you will know beyond peradventure or doubt are destined for a speedy trip to market.

Trap-nesting, in short, is the one sure method of determining exactly how much each hen is laying and whether or not she is going to be worth keeping on the job. Such knowledge is of especially great importance to the breeder of fine pedigree fowls, but is sufficiently important to most poultry raisers to be worthy of consideration. Trap-nesting, incidentally, is valuable in taming young birds which tends to increase productiveness.

Many will object that trap-nesting involves too much labor. It is true there is some additional work involved but it is questionable whether there is much more than would be required for taking care of a large number of fowls from which no profit could possibly be realized. Furthermore, the work can be materially reduced by dividing the flock and trap-nesting one section at a time. As soon as the desired purpose has been definitely achieved, another section can be put through the course and so on until a dependable record has been made for every hen in the flock. This record not only serves to indicate the best layers, but it is an invaluable guide for the selection of breeding stock.

A flock should be trap-nested for twelve (12) months to tell accurately just what each individual hen is capable of doing in egg production. To trap-nest for three months and multiply by four, does not give an accurate yearly record.

And now, just a word about the mechanics of trap-nesting. A trap nest, as everyone knows, is one equipped to hold a pen captive when she enters it to lay. Each hen in the flock has a numbered leg band on one of her legs, and before she is released, if she has laid, her number is put down on a daily record sheet, indicating that she lay that day. After a hen lays in a nest, she has to be released by an attendant and the nest left open ready for another hen. Home-made nests of this kind are easily constructed, although space is lacking in this article for giving definite instructions as to how it is done. There are many ready-made forms of trap nests that give satisfaction and are reasonably priced. Some manufacturers simply furnish a front with the trap mechanism attached. It can easily be fitted to a suitable form of home-made nest. Numbered leg bands for identifying the hens are purchased in series at comparatively trivial cost.

At least one trap nest should be furnished for every four birds in

"All Texans for all Texas"

Likes The Slogan

Beeman Fisher, advertising manager of the Texas Power & Light Company, has written me that he likes the slogan, "All Texans for All Texas," which has been adopted for this feature. Mr. Fisher is himself a versatile sloganist in the matter of boosting Texas, using in his weekly radio program "Texans Let's Talk Texas," and in a press sheet he sends out the apt "Know Texas." I think he is also to be credited with "What Texas Builds, Builds Texas," and others equally as good. Here are some excerpts from his encouraging letter:

"I read with a great deal of interest your paragraph entitled 'Pride in Texas Progress,' which recently headed your 'Texas and Texans' release for the Texas weeklies.

"Texans have a great deal of which to be proud, and it is only through a knowledge of these things that Texans can make this state the great empire that it is destined to be.

"I also like particularly the paragraph pertaining to the work the newspapers can do to break down 'shrivelled localism' and replace it with enthusiasm for a greater Texas.

"I want to commend you on the aptness and timeliness of your slogan, 'All Texans for all Texas.'"

Talk Texas Programs

For more than a year the Texas Power & Light Company has been putting on a Sunday morning "Texans, Let's Talk Texas" radio program, filled with short bits of information about Texas and the industries that are helping the development of the State. Subjects recently discussed have been the railroad shop and roundhouse industry, printing and publishing industry, flour mills, lumber, cotton seed oil, meat packing and various phases of agriculture in Texas. These Texas talks are helping wonderfully to develop the spirit of "All Texans for all Texas."

Radio Aids Press

The radio has become a helpful ally of the press in the upbuilding of a "State-wide State pride," which by the way, is another slogan I intend to keep hammering on. Working together as informational mediums for the development of Texas, there is no limit to what they can accomplish.

Which is a reminder that in the first ten days of this month, the following nine papers—count 'em—have been added to the large list that is using the "Texas and Texans" feature regularly and helping through it, to stimulate the "All Texans for All Texas" sentiment: De Leon Free Press, Comfort News, New Braunfels Herald, Floresville, Chronicle-Journal, Devine News, Cotulla Record, Crystal City Sentinel, Uvalde Leader News, Sabinol Sentinel.

Home Pride First

The citizen without pride in his own community has no pride in his State and mighty little patriotism. One's first duty is to home enterprises. An editor of one of Texas' best weekly papers—a man who has all his life given more time to work for his town and county than his own financial interests—recently told me that some business concerns of his town that have much to say about "mail order business," and who would boycott a citizen who orders goods in their lines from out of town, are getting their stationery and job printing from glib-talking, traveling salesmen, instead of buying it at home. Putting it down plainly, in terms that can't be misunderstood: The business that doesn't support in every possible way home enterprises, including the home printing plant, doesn't deserve support.

Canning and Curing Plant

The Griggs Canning Company of Indiana, is building a mammoth cannery and potato curing plant at Natalia, headquarters of the San Antonio Suburban Irrigated Farms, near Devine. The building is 70x200 feet, and when the plant is operated full time 125 people will be employed. Contracts have already been made with farmers for large acreage of beans and tomatoes. Enterprises of this kind make vegetable growing a safe business.

Van Gets Railroad

The new oil town of Van, in Van Zandt county, is to have its own railroad, an eleven mile branch of the Texas and Pacific from Grande Saline. There is a branch of the same road extending from Grande Saline to Alba, eleven miles. It is doubtful if there will be in all Texas a busier railroad than the 22 miles from Van to Alba, through Grande Saline, Grande Saline, already a thriving town, seems destined to be a business center.

Million Dollar Freeze

Al Swallow, secretary of the Carrizo Springs Chamber of Commerce, tells the world, through the Carrizo Springs Javelin, that the freeze in the Winter Garden district has been worth a million dollars to that section of proving beyond a doubt that the citrus fruits and tropical plants of all kinds can stand the worst weather the country ever has. He proves it by taking visitors out a few miles and showing them beautiful Rancho de la Palma, where huge palms, grape fruit, oranges and all kinds of tropical vegetation are growing uninjured except that some have leaves slightly scorched by the cold. He takes pride in showing trees that produce 600 to 700 pounds of dates, and four years old orange trees, planted 70 to the acre, that netted $10.62 cents to the tree.

Spinach Stood Freezes

Spinach marketing throughout the Winter Garden district is going on as if there had been no freeze this winter, thousands of laborers being employed in cutting, packing and shipping the popular health food. Crystal City, according to Editor Hardy of the Sentinel is the "largest spinach market of the world," although he is willing to admit that it is not the only spinach shipping point in that part of Texas.

Some Tomato Patch

Gonzales county is going in for tomatoes on a large scale, reports being that about 4,000 acres will be cultivated this year. East Texas seems to be dividing its attention this year in the vegetable industry about equally between tomatoes, potatoes and melons.

Valuable Calves

A Winona cattle fancier has sold two pure-bred short horn calves to a Gladewater breeder for $300 each. They are about 12 months old. When pure bred stock can be sold at something like ten times the price of scrubs, it is hard to understand why people continue to raise the scrubs.

Agricultural Schools

W. E. Driskell, vocational agriculture instructor of Wilson county and superintendent of the Stockdale schools, is conducting agricultural schools in the county, at which the registration of farmers is from thirty to seventy-eight. Tomato culture, watermelon culture and other timely subjects are discussed. It is needless to say that farming standards are being improved.

Texas Tourist Attractions

The Brady Standard prints pictures of Spy Rock and other scenes of the Brady-Mason-Fredericksburg section that are as beautiful and unusual as anything to be found in the Rock Mountains. The chambers of commerce of these three towns are making plans to let the world know more about the scenic attractions of that section, and of the hunting, fishing and swimming opportunities to be found there. It is a wonderful section, but needs more outside publicity than it is getting.

Huge Irrigation Project

The condition of the bond market just now seems to be the only thing in the way of the 100,000 acre Nueces river valley irrigation project, which is certain to make the Uueces valley one of the richest sections of the world. In a few months the Wall street debacle will be forgotten and money for agricultural and industrial development will be seeking safe markets.

"Sure-Enough" Good Roads

When one gets on an honestly-built rock asphalt highway constructed of the Texas products to be had around Uvalde, he wonders what ideals of economy have entered into the construction of the cheap "ride-the-waves" roads found in so many parts of Texas. These Texas rock asphalt roads have stood the test of time and appear as good as when built years ago.

Club Women Save

A report from Rockdale is that the Milam County Home Demonstration Clubs realized more than $44,000 from their products the past year, 274 women being members of the clubs. Of even greater value, perhaps, were the home improvements made by these club members, to enumerate which would require a full column of a newspaper. Public demonstrations to the number of 256 were given 3,313 people, showing the activities of the clubs. It is surprising what such a group of women can accomplish in one year under such excellent leadership as they appear to have had in Milam county.

Texas Rural Life

Texas leads all the States in the number of families served rural mail, Ohio ranking second. A surprising thing, about the post-office report is while Texas leads other States in the numbers served, the rural route carries cover only 67,783 miles as compared with 72,010 miles for Illinois and 67,014 for Ohio. This would indicate that rural population in sections of Texas covered by rural mail routes is greater than in either Illinois or Ohio. And we are inclined to think of Texas as a thinly settled state.

Fire Prevention Work

Fire Waste Council on a visit to Texas recently said that Texas leads all other states in its fire prevention work, especially in its fire prevention studies in the public schools. But in spite of that Texas fires in 1929, as reported to the insurance board, exceeded those of 1928 about $1,600,000. Fire insurance rates are based on the fire records of each town each paying premiums according to its fire losses of previous years. Evidently others than the children need to study more about fire prevention.

Improving Poultry Flocks

The Paris chamber of commerce has hit upon a novel plan for building up pure-bred poultry flocks in Lamar county. Through the local merchants arrangements have been made to exchange one pure-bred egg for two eggs from mongrel flocks. The chamber of commerce has contracted for 100,000 or more pure-bred eggs for this exchange on this basis. Farmers will be encouraged to demonstrate for themselves that it pays to raise pure-bred chickens in preference to the common flocks around so many farm houses.

Increasing Tomato Acreage

From Nacogdoches, Jacksonville, Lufkin and other East Texas points reports are made that although the January freeze did damage to tomato plants, plans are under way for planting larger tomato crops than have heretofore been grown. It now looks like Texas will grow enough tomatoes this year to supply the entire country.

Entertaining Club

When the home demonstration club women and girls of Collingsworth county held a meeting in Wellington recently, Deskins Wells editor of the Leader, gave all of them who called at the Leader office and registered, tickets to a local movie. Needless to say, they called, they registered, they went to the show, they had a good time, and the Leader made many friends. There is more to the newspaper business than merely getting out the paper.

D. 1930, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 7495, wherein J. R. Mims Plaintiff, and Jack Scarborough Defendant, and said petition alleging* Plaintiff sues for the cancellation of an assignment of an oil and gas lease executed by plaintiff J. R. Mims to Jack Scarborough of date October 18th, 1928, covering the following described land, to-wit: In Callahan County, Texas being fifty (50) acres of the East eighty acres of the 240 acres known as the South 3-4ths of T. E. & L. Company Survey No. 2298, alleging that while said assignment on its face purports to convey absolute title to defendant, reciting the consideration of $10.00 cash and $2500.00 out of fifty per cent of the first production, that in truth and in fact there was no consideration paid and the sole and only consideration was, and the purpose of said assignment was to enable defendant to execute a conveyance of same to a purchaser for the price stated. That defendant stated that he could sell said lease for said amount and that he would not record said assignment from plaintiff until such sale was made. That said statements were fraudulently made to induce plaintiff to execute said assignment. That defendant caused said assignment to be put of record and failed to make said sale as he agreed to do, and the record of said assignment casts a cloud upon plaintiff's title to his irreparable damage. Plaintiff prays for the cancellation of said assignment, for the possession of said land under the terms of said lease, and all personal property thereon, and production therefrom, for writ of possession, costs of suit and special and general relief. IN MEMORY OF J. F. BARTON

On February the sixth, 1930, at eight o'clock p. m. J. F. Barton, an old pioneer of Callahan county, passed away to the great beyond.

After an illness of more than three months, confined to his bed, he at last gave up the gallant struggle and passed peacefully on to that land where there is no more sorrow and pain to endure. In all his long sickness he was the most patient to submissive man I've ever seen. Up to the last, as long as he had strength to speak, never did he by word or act, show anything but kindness to those who attended him through his long, hours of suffering. He was of God's most noble men.

Coming here in an early day he experienced the hardships of pioneer life.

Settling a place near Tecumseh, he lived and reared his family there, living to a ripe old age of 78 years, 54 of them spent here among the people who loved him, for what he was, an honest upright Christian man, all was done that human aid could do. The many friends who watched by his bedside through the long anxious hours of the night knew at last their vigils were over. Not that they were glad their services were over, but glad to know that he, who had suffered so long was at rest at last.

His was a life that had been well spent and I feel that he has passed on to eternal rest.

God called him away when he thought it best. To the family I extend my heartfelt sympathy in their hour of trouble.

Written by one who loved him.

Masons Celebrate

The Masonic celebration of George Washington's birthday at the Methodist church on last Saturday night was a most enjoyable affair and was attended by a large crowd, a number of out of town visitors being present. A splendid program was rendered after which the banquet was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson of Oplin, were in Baird Monday.

Harold Foy, of Abilene, spent the week-end with the home folks.
