

Thanksgiving isn't even here yet and already we're beginning to get excited about Post's Christmas season.

Those new Chamber of Commerce holiday decorations should stir up a lot of interest when they go up — which we hope is the next day after Thanksgiving.

The Chamber's Christmas promotional efforts this year, if plans go through the way they are now being considered, will be spread over three December Saturdays instead of that first December Saturday which always seem to bring a cold blast from the weatherman, a duststorm, or something else just as disagreeable.

Santa already has been invited to make his first pre-Christmas visit to Post on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 6, and the 70-piece Post Antelope Band already has accepted the Chamber's invitation to escort him into town and play a downtown concert while awaiting Santa's arrival.

Other entertainment plans are in the wind and they should be finalized as the retail promotional committee meeting this afternoon.

You will be able to read all the details in The Dispatch's Thanksgiving edition, which will be published Tuesday morning, as is now customary. This permits complete distribution of the paper before the holiday and will enable The Dispatch staff to take a five-day holiday vacation (Wednesday through Sunday) before buckling down for the hard run into Christmas. Fund drive is $10,260 but a few

Latest total on the 1969 United big out-of-town checks are still out (four to be exact) which should boost the final count over the $10,300 mark.

Editor Charlie Didway says we're wrong in picking the Floydada Whirlwinds to blow over the Freshp Tigers in the bi-district grid playoff at Plainview Friday night. Floydada looked the tougher club to us the night the Antelopes met each of those two fine teams. Of course, it's hard to disagree with Charlie that anybody that can rumple up the Big Red right there in the middle of Denver City by 34-0 has to be favored.

Basketball's the game now and the Antelopes will unveil their new 6 foot, 10 1/2 inch center Boyd Noble in their seasonal opener here with Falls Friday night in the third game of a triple header.

Vote is 'no' on ordinance change

The city council voted at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon against changing the hospital zoning ordinance to permit use of the former Golden Years Nursing Home building for church services.

The pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy and a member of the church's congregation had met with the council at its regular November meeting to request permission to purchase the building for church services. The building is just across Sixth Street from the hospital.

The council also voted Tuesday to accept the bid of Harold Lucas Chevrolet - Olds in the purchase of a new city automobile that will be used for a year by the city manager and then turned over to the police department for use as a police car.

Lucas bid, the lower of two submitted, was $2,651.81 with $450 trade-in on an old police department car. The new automobile will come equipped for police use.

Rotary district governor visits

District Judge Charles L. Reynolds of Childress, district governor of this Rotary district, in his official visit to the Post Rotary Club Tuesday challenged local Rotarians to make "your club relevant to your community" and "not to be afraid to tackle the tough community jobs."

Governor Reynolds directed a club assembly in the bank's community room Monday night to review the club's program and then addressed the club at its weekly luncheon in City Hall Tuesday noon.

Dr. William C. Wilson was introduced into the club as a new member by Bob Collier.

Measles vaccine for children is offered

The State Health Department has offered to furnish measles vaccine at no cost to school children between six and ten years of age, providing payment is made for vaccination of children from one through five years of age, Mrs. Bessie Strawn, school health nurse, said today. Mrs. Strawn said Darrell Morris of the health department had informed her that the state will furnish enough vaccine for all children in the county from the ages of one through ten years and will expect reimbursement only for the vaccine given the children in the one-through-five age group. The school health nurse, who estimates that there are approximately 500 children in the 1-5 age group in the county, says she feels that parents of perhaps half these children would be able to pay the $3 per child vaccination cost. That would leave about $750 to be raised to pay for the vaccine given children in the 1-5 age group whose parents are not able to pay.

Director employed for Neighborhood Center

The Garza County Community Action Committee has employed Manuel Salinas, pastor of the Spanish Baptist Church here, as the director for Post's new neighborhood center.

Salinas is continuing a survey, already begun, on the community's needs and is also working with Mrs. Maxine Marks on the establishment of an employment agency for the county's underprivileged.

He has set up his office in the Public Housing Authority duplex, partially occupied by the Post Day Care Center, and is keeping office hours there from 9 a.m. to noon. His office phone is 2329 and his home phone 2175.

It also was announced at the open meeting Tuesday night of the Garza County Community Action Committee directors in the Reddy Room that Mrs. Louise Valdez has been hired as the new assistant supervisor of the Post Day Care Center. She has replaced Mrs. Ruby Mitchell who had to give up the position due to health reasons.

The day care center has reached its capacity enrollment of 20 children, as limited by the state license, and a waiting list has now been started.

Pat Walker reported on his efforts to work out a driver education program for Spanish speaking people.

The Rev. George Miller, chairman of the directors, appointed a committee to look over properties in the target area to determine if a large enough building is available to house the proposed neighborhood center.

Named to the committee were Walker, Salinas and Mrs. Helen Cornish who will inspect such properties this afternoon with W. O. McLeod of Lubbock, a representative of the Office of Economic Opportunity. The neighborhood center will be financed by federal OEO funds.

Attending the Tuesday meeting were Mrs. Madie Johnson, Mr. Miller, Mrs. Louise Valdez, Mrs. Ruth Ann Newby, Mrs. Cornish, Walker, all board members, Salinas, Mr. McLeod, Howard Maddera, an OEO official, and three visitors, Frances Wright, Tiena Le Conner and Travis E. Wright.

ATTEND WATER MEETING

Mayor Giles C. McCrary, City Manager Bobby Pierce and City of Post employees Pete Maddox, Nick Vuokad and Bobby Harper attended a monthly meeting of the Permian Basin Water Works Association held Tuesday night in Snyder. The speaker at the meeting was Paschal Odum, manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Division II rating

Band gets better mark in marching

Post High School's 70-piece Antelope Band received a Class II rating in the Interscholastic League's regional marching contest Tuesday afternoon in chilly, wind-swept Lowery Field at Lubbock.

Band Director Herb Germer and his band youngsters were disappointed at not making a I rating, but yesterday were vowing to climb up that final notch in 1970. One of the three judges for the regional contest, Bill Bradley, Big Spring band director, rated the Post band in division one, but the other two judges, Phil Hewett, band director at Kansas State College, and a Mr. Gilligan, Kermit band director, gave the Post unit a II rating.

This is the best the band has rated in the marching contest under Germer's direction. The band received III division ratings the two previous years.

Among the Class AA bands participating in the regional competition at Lubbock six were rated in division I, five in division II and two in division III. Division I ratings went to Den-

Plans, still to be completed, call for downtown entertainment on all three December Saturdays before Christmas with cash drawings each Saturday afternoon at 5 p. m.

The Chamber has purchased new downtown Christmas decorations for Post and hopes to have them up shortly after Thanksgiving and in advance of Santa's visit Dec. 6.

T. B. Odum is chairman of the Chamber's retail promotions committee this year. A preliminary planning session was held Tuesday afternoon attended by Frank Blanton, Bryce Martin, Bill Searle, and Jim Cornish, besides Odum.

All-out rush nears on delayed cotton harvest

Gin check shows 2,225 bales 'in'

Garza County's 1969 cotton harvest, delayed approximately 30 days by bad weather and immaturity, is expected to get into an all-out rush in approximately 10 days, following the first county-wide "killing frost" which hit Tuesday night sending temperatures plummeting to the low 20's.

The Dispatch's first "gin check" of the harvest season yesterday disclosed a total of 2,225 Garza bales ginned to date, as compared to 8,261 bales on the same date a year ago.

Two heartening notes is the often repeated report that the cotton harvested to date "has been doing better than expected production-wise" and that the market price of short staple cotton is holding fairly steady.

All of the nine gins included in the Dispatch's "gin checks" reported that the killing freeze Tuesday night was county wide although some production areas had had earlier freezes.

The rate of productivity ranged all the way from the laconic report from the Kalgary Gin that "we haven't started yet" all the way up to the Grassland Co-op's ginning total of 1,100 bales with "our crew running steady to 10 p. m. each night and going home with 100 bales on the yard."

Mostly, however, the gins were just getting started. Bill McMahan, Graham Co-op Gin manager, expressed the hope that all the farmers in his area would "go fishing for a week to ten days and then come home and get it."

"If it will stay pretty we can wind up the season in five or six weeks," McMahan added. The "gin check" by gins reported:

Planters Gin: Bill Lentz, manager, said 90 bales ginned to date with some farmers stripping green leaves and all. He said he expected

Guilty plea for reduced charge

J. D. (Fuzzy) Windham, charged with aggravated assault against State Highway Patrolman Jon Robbins here last May 13, entered a guilty plea to a reduced charge of simple assault before Justice of the Peace D. C. Roberts late yesterday morning only an hour before a county court jury trial on the aggravated assault charge was scheduled to begin.

Justice Roberts did not immediately set the amount of Windham's fine which by law could range from $1 to $200.

A six-member jury had been selected Tuesday for the county court trial of the aggravated assault charge over an incident which occurred in the Texas Cafe Windham operates in the 300 block on East Main street.

Pat N. Walker was Windham's attorney. County Attorney Preston Poole, assisted by Attorney B. H. Gillespie of Lubbock, former Lubbock county attorney who was employed by Patrolman Robbins, represented the state.

It was reported to The Dispatch that attorneys for the state and the defendant agreed to the reduced charge with the understanding that Windham would enter a guilty plea to the lesser charge.

Ballots out soon on cotton quotas

Ballots for the 1970 Cotton Marketing Quota Referendum will be mailed to eligible voters on Nov. 25.

Garza County cotton growers may vote "for" or "against" marketing quotas for 1970 and return the ballot to the county ASCS office not later than Dec. 5.

The ballots will be canvassed on Dec. 10 at the ASCS office between the hours of 8 a. m. and 1 p. m. The meeting to canvass ballots is open to the public.

ed the pace to pick up toward the end of the week and really get rolling in another week.

Storie Gin: 140 bales ginned to date, nothing on the yard, most cotton in area still too green, but a "killing freeze" finally reported Tuesday night.

Graham Gin: 487 bales ginned to date, lots of this cotton was defoliated, but a lot of it was also green. Most of cotton ginned bringing 18 cents a pound, but some is bringing only 12 cents.

Basinger Gin: 200 bales ginned to date, no grades back yet. The rush won't hit before the end of next week.

Harkberry Gin: 675 bales ginned to date of which half is considered Garza County cotton. Cotton so far is grading mostly light spot and low middling, with good mike and staples of from over an inch to one and one-sixteenth. 250 bales now on yard.

Grassland Co-op Gin: 1,100 bales to date, running steady each night to 10 p. m.

Close City Gin: 303 bales ginned to date, most of it is grading "pretty good." It will be at least another week before cotton in area dries out.

Pleasant Valley Gin: 250 bales ginned to date.

Garza County quota is 1,976

Campaign under way to register voters

The "Operation: Everybody!" voter quota for Garza County has been set by the Texas Democratic Party at 1,976, according to County Chairman N. C. Outlaw.

"That figure represents 65 per cent of our estimated voting population," Mr. Outlaw said. "The state goal is to have 4,250,000 Texans registered between now and the end of the registration period on Jan. 31."

A total of 780 Garza countians, only a little more than one-third of the 1,976 quota, had registered up to 3 p. m. Tuesday, according to T. H. Tipton, county tax assessor-collector.

"Operation: Everybody!" is a project of the state Democratic Executive Committee. The special drive is headed by Mrs. James A. McMullen III of Fort Worth, with Mrs. Carol Vance of Houston as vice chairman.

"Voter registration is free, but everyone must register in order to vote in the 1970 elections," Mr. Outlaw said. Application forms are at the county tax assessor's office in the courthouse.

"Our county will be competing with other counties of similar size for statewide recognition in doing a good job," the Democratic chairman said.

Gold, silver and bronze plaques will be awarded to the counties which exceed their quotas by the highest margins. All counties which meet their quotas will receive special certificates of merit.

Counties in Group Nine are Bandera, Blanco, Briscoe, Coke, Concho, Cottle, Crane, Crockett, Culbertson, Dickens, Donley, Garza, Goliad, Hartley, Hemphill, Jim Hogg, Kimble, Lipscomb, Martin, Mason, Menard, Mills, Rains, Reagan, Shackelford, Sherman, Somervell, Stonewall, Sutton, Upton and Zapata.

Dirl Bean Cooper

Rites scheduled today for drowning victim

Funeral services will be held here at 2 p. m. today (Thursday) for Dirl Dean Cooper, 48, owner and operator of Sparks TV Service since January of 1959, who was accidentally drowned early Sunday morning while fishing in Lake Stamford.

His body was found face down in about two feet of water, near the fishing ramp, shortly after 7 p. m. Tuesday by the operator of the fishing camp where Mr. Cooper was staying.

The operator of the fishing camp had started a search for Mr. Cooper at the request of his family here who became alarmed when he did not return home from the weekend fishing trip.

Sheriff Garth Garrett of Haskell County, who investigated the drowning, said Mr. Cooper apparently fell from the fishing ramp sometime between 4 and 5 a. m. Sunday. The body was weighted down in the water by heavy clothing, the sheriff said.

Justice of the Peace H. M. Bledsoe of Haskell, who conducted the inquest, ruled that death was due to drowning.

Born Oct. 30, 1921, at Muskogee, Okla., Mr. Cooper moved to Post from Lubbock in January of 1959. He was a World War II veteran, having served with the 9th Infantry Division in the European Theater of Operations. Before his discharge on Dec. 9, 1944, he had been awarded the Silver Star Medal with an Oak Leaf Cluster and two Purple Heart medals.

Surviving are his wife, Gwendolyn; a son, Danny; and a daughter, Sheri; all of Post; three brothers, Charles Cooper of Phoenix, Ariz., Dale Cooper of Wichita, Kans., and Dub Cooper of Medicine Lodge, Kans., and two sisters, Mrs. Kenneth Wymer of Protection, Kans., and Mrs. Ernest Allison of Colorado Springs, Colo.

The funeral service will be held at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. O. Curtis Lee, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Mason Funeral Home. A military graveside service will be conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

Pallbearers will be Bill Jenkins and George Stone, both of Lubbock, Billy Greene, Pat Sullivan, Eugene Gandy and Otis G. Shepherd Jr. Named as honorary pallbearers were Buster Shumard, Dewitt Caylor, Howard Ferguson, A. B. Thomas, Herbert Walls and Wayne Thomas.

Camp may be released today from hospital

S. E. Camp, who underwent open heart surgery Wednesday of last week at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital in Houston, may be released from the hospital today (Thursday) to return home for convalescence.

Word from Houston is that the stitches were removed yesterday and discharge normally comes the following day.

The operation, performed by noted heart surgeon Dr. Benton Cooley, has been termed very successful. A heart valve was replaced.

DISPATCH TO COME OUT ON TUESDAY

The Dispatch will have an "early bird" edition for Thanksgiving week.

The regular Thursday edition will be published Tuesday morning, early enough for both city and rural mail delivery on Tuesday.

The early edition is to permit the carrying of pre-Thanksgiving food advertising, and a variety of Thanksgiving ads from local merchants, and to permit complete distribution of the edition in advance of the traditional holiday.

The early publication next week will move up all news and ad deadlines by two full days.

Rural correspondence to be used must be "in the office" Friday afternoon. The advertising deadline is Friday evening with a Monday noon deadline on want ads. Society news must be called in before noon Monday.

The Dispatch staff then will take a five-day Thanksgiving holiday with the office being closed from Tuesday night through the following Monday morning.

Fan support will help cage teams

The 1970 football season is over as far as the Post Antelopes are concerned, and thoughts can now turn to basketball. And they have to turn in a hurry, for the Antelopes' first game is here this Friday night against Rails.

The high school boys' basketball team, the Does, have already opened their season—on a winning note.

Nearly three months of basketball is in store for the high school and junior high teams and the fans. Prospects are good for winning teams at all levels of competition.

Coach Kenny Poole, in his second year as coach of the Antelopes, is expected to field a much improved team over last year's. The team has more height and experience this year and should be in the thick of the race for the District 4AA championship.

The Does, coached by veteran Jiggs King, also are expected to be district contenders, and showed in their win over Gail Tuesday night of last week that they have the potential to go all the way this season, after being tied for the championship last year.

Fan support will mean a lot to both the teams and to their coaches. Let's turn out at every home game and do our part to help Post High School produce district champions in both boys' and girls' divisions.—CD

Jail standards law now enforceable

Twelve years is a long time for nothing to be done about a law passed by a state legislature, but that is just what most of Texas' 254 counties have done about the Texas Minimum Standard Law for Jails.

The law was passed by the 55th Legislature way back in 1957 and has been on the books all this time, notwithstanding that the law has been unenforceable. Since 1959, legislatures have regularly been attaching riders to the appropriations bill which prohibited any expenditure of funds for enforcement of the law.

This year someone forgot . . . something slipped.

As a result, the State Department of Health is now authorized—and legally compelled—to inspect county jails throughout Texas in order to report on compliance with the standards set down in the law.

Among other things, the law requires county jails to provide segregated quarters for male and female prisoners, special cells for incarcerated mental patients, and adequate sanitary and recreational facilities.

The minimum jail standards law was operable for a short time between 1957 and 1959, when the first appropriations-bar rider was attached. In that short period, sheriffs learned what the law meant in terms of their own jails. Not one county jail in the state at that time met the standards required by the law. It is doubtful if more than a handful now meet those standards.

Smaller counties such as Garza face a big and a costly job to bring their jails up to the standards required by the law. Few commissioners courts are in favor of spending a lot of the taxpayers' money to make things more comfortable for wrongdoers. Yet that is just what they will be required to do if the law is enforced.

Probably, many county commissioners will ignore Health Department reports at any rate, and may do so even if the Health Department adopts a get-tough attitude toward jail conditions. The law provides no penalties for commissioners courts which fail to comply and the Department of Health has no police power with regard to jail conditions.

Those counties which fail to comply may be in for some embarrassment and harassment, however. Conceivably, jail standards could become a political issue in commissioner and sheriff races when local jails are known to be in violation of state standards.

Lawsuits might be instituted by private citizens to force commissioners courts to comply with the law.

In the 12 years since the law was passed, the smart thing would have been for a county to have done a little bit each year toward raising jail standards. In that way, not much money would have been spent out of each year's budget and now, 12 years later, any jail carrying out such a program probably would be meeting the requirements.

It is doubtful if such a program has been done anywhere, however, and as a result most counties are facing trouble now that the law is enforceable.—CD

Telephone calls can be traced

There appears to be a growing problem of annoying and obscene telephone calls in Post, as well as elsewhere throughout the country. High-ranking public officials here have been among those receiving abusive telephone calls, usually late at night or in the small hours of the morning.

G. T. Hamilton of Brownfield, district manager for General Telephone, says several recent telephone calls have been brought to the company's attention.

The district manager also says that something can be done about these calls now, whereas in the past when a call was received about all you could do was hang up.

The company announces the invention of a small gadget which can be plugged into the subscriber's phone line in the central office equipment, with the result that such calls in most cases can be traced when the situation warrants it.

State and Federal laws provide stiff penalties for those convicted of making obscene calls. Through the cooperation of the police departments in the Brownfield Division, two offenders have recently been caught and convicted.

The district manager asks those receiving persistent calls of an offensive nature to contact the telephone company business office "and we will be happy to assist you."

There is no reason to discourage anyone who aspires to wealth, unless it is to point out that a large amount of effort must be contributed to taxes.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

That feller on Division Street says it looks as though the taxpayer will be the first of America's natural resources to be completely exhausted.—Speedy Nieman in The Slaton Slatonite.

MONDAY IS, and always has been, a most difficult day on which to write a column, or do anything else. I've often thought of inaugurating a movement to do away with Monday by giving it another name or by tying it onto the weekend.

Now, however, comes a fellow so outspokenly opposed to Tuesday that I'm beginning to think Monday isn't such a bad day after all. This fellow sees Tuesday as nothing more than a consolation prize for surviving Monday. He says Tuesday's only redeeming grace is that it reveals the truth about Monday's weather forecasts. "Tuesday is just there to keep Monday from bumping into Wednesday," he says.

THE MAN UP the street says if you're tired of reading about the evils of smoking — give up reading.

Warren Puckett, a young man from Camden, Tenn., asked the Camden Chronicle if they would reprint an editorial taken from the pages of Communist Russia's official newspaper, Pravda, which means "truth" in definition only. The lad read the editorial in his copy of Boy's Life, the magazine of the Boy Scouts of America.

Here is the official word from the Communist mouthpiece: "A Pravda survey reveals that an organization called the Boy Scouts is turning American youngsters into hostile, warmongering imperialists. Every boy who is forced to join the Boy Scouts is trained to be a master of all forms of espionage, violence and germ warfare. He quickly becomes a tool of the ruthless United States Government."

"At the age of eight or nine, innocent American boys are forced into an organization called the Cub Scouts, which prepares them for the future foul deeds."

"The Cub Scout dictators force the youth to worship the wolf, one of the most vicious and uncivilized of predatory animals."

"After three years of servitude in the Cub Scouts, the boys, now howling adolescents, are forced to join the older, more corrupt Boy Scouts. The most deceitful ritual is the 'Court of Honor,' where the young warmongers are decorated with so-called 'merit badges'. It is here that they receive awards in such insidious fields as 'swimming' (underwater demolition and sabotage); 'pathfinding' (counterespionage); 'pioneering' (exploitation of underdeveloped nations.)"

"In their efforts to completely control American youth the Scout czars have also set up a sister organization called the 'Girl Scouts of America.' This ill-conceived group turns girls into unpaid door-to-door cookie vendors. The proceeds of these sales, of course, go to the Wall Street masterminds of the entire plot . . ."

Little wonder that some foreign spectators who take Pravda literally have a low opinion of America. On the other hand, sophisticated readers know that if Pravda attacks something, it must be good. So, thanks for the plug, Ivan. We think the Boy Scouts are great.

ACCORDING TO an item in Sunday's newspapers, the famous Hershey five-cent chocolate bar soon will be only a memory. The Hershey Foods Corporation has announced a "major decision" to discontinue the nickel bars. "The economics of the situation dictated this move, since it is no longer profitable for the company to manufacture and sell five-cent bars," the announcement said.

The nickel chocolate bars will hardly be missed, however, since they've been making them smaller and smaller the last few years. In fact, if the company had made their next batch of nickel candy bars just a little smaller than their present batch, they'd almost have disappeared of their own accord, without the company having to announce that it is discontinuing them.

IT SEEMS THAT I have seen this somewhere before, perhaps in this very column, but maybe not. Anyway, someone just walked in the front door with it and I'm reluctant to turn it down:

A DUEL IN TEXAS
A duel was lately fought in Texas by Alexander Shott and John S. Nott. Nott was shot and Shott was not. In this case it is better to be Shott than Nott. There was a rumor that Nott was not shot, and Shott avows that he shot Nott, which proves either that the shot Shott shot at Nott was not shot, or that Nott was shot notwithstanding.

Pioneer Kalgary resident buried

Funeral services for Stephen Bonaparte (Boney) Scott, 88, were held Nov. 7 in the Spur Church of Christ. He died Nov. 4 in the Crosbyton Hospital after a brief illness. Mr. Scott was born July 19, 1879, in McLellan County, his family moving to Jones County when he was two years old. He was married to Leona Maude McArthur in 1908 and they settled in the Kalgary community in the following year.

Mr. Scott owned a meat market and grocery store in Spur for sev-

Thanksgiving service slated at Southland

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
LISTEN — do you hear that? — that "buzz, buzz" you hear means "busy farmers" at last. Lots of picking machines and strippers in the cotton fields this past week. The gins are getting real busy and "more smiles than frowns" is the order of the day. My goodness, isn't it great to be alive?

The Community Thanksgiving fellowship and church service will begin at 5 p. m. Sunday at the Southland Baptist Church. A covered dish luncheon will be served and approximately 45 minutes later the regular service will follow. Everyone is invited to this community affair, so why not make plans now to attend.

Visitors at the Southland Baptist Church last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Noel Shaw of Lubbock and Mrs. Louise Carson of Slaton. George Sharp, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Sharp, presented special music. The Rev. Mr. Sharp is pastor of the Southland Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pennell visited in Post Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Pennell, Mr. and Mrs. Arville Ferguson and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cederholm.

Sunday overnight guests of the James Masons were Glenna Mullens of Hill City, Kans., and Linda Cruse of Pierre, S. D. These two young ladies are from York College, York, Neb., and were among the 40 students in a choral group that are on tour and took part in the worship services at the Slaton Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long visited with Larry Long and J. H. Poindecker in Lubbock Saturday.

A QUARTET, "The Mighty Tones", from Odessa will sing at the Jerusalem Baptist Church in Southland Sunday at 3 p. m. Everyone is invited.

Congratulations to Kathleen Smith and Ernest Hooks, whose engagement was announced recently. Kathleen is the daughter of Mrs. Arvil Smith and the late Mr. Smith and Ernest is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hooks from Port Barre, La. A February wedding is planned.

The Juniors' play, "Sparkin'" was a huge success. Who says four people can't put on a good play? Joan Gindorf, Breonne Winterrowd, Douglas Smallwood and Margie Perez proved that it could be done, and very well, too. Congratulations, each of you!

Pat Adamek spent several days in Mercy Hospital after an accident on an oil rig over close to Wilson, in which he got a finger crushed. He came home Monday and is feeling much better than he did for several days. Hope all goes well with you, Pat.

Mrs. Francis Lightfoot of Fort Worth is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. Paul Winterrowd, and family. She came for the Junior play and intends to remain until Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Dewey Darden and Mrs. M. K. Williams of Lubbock visited Mrs. Paul Winterrowd Tuesday. Mrs. Darden is an aunt of Mrs. Winterrowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Wilke of Kingsland are here visiting relatives and friends.

Jettie Maner and Judy Crawford visited in the P. W. Crawford home Saturday.

Another dear friend and long time resident of this community has passed from this life. B. D. (Blondie) Ellis passed away last Sunday in Mercy Hospital at 2:10 p. m. His services were held at the Southland Baptist Church at 2:30 p. m. Monday with burial in the Slaton Englewood Cemetery. Blondie was a friend to everyone and he is going to be missed! May God comfort his family and friends.

Trucking industry big item in Garza County

AUSTIN — "If you've got it, a truck brought it," the slogan of American Trucking Associations, Inc., may seem like an exaggeration, even to Texans.

But little do most people realize just how vast and far-reaching the trucking industry in Texas really is. Nor do they realize how vital is the industry to the economy of the state — and to the Post area.

For example, according to studies conducted by Texas Motor Transportation Association, the truck and bus industry in Texas employed 666,968 persons during 1968 and paid them more than $3½ billion. In fact, one out of five non-farm checks in Texas comes from trucks.

In 1968, Garza County alone had 439 persons employed by the trucking industry and they earned $2,379,380. The value of the 1,097 trucks registered in this county amounts to $1,177,350.

Yes, when one considers the impact of the trucking industry on the economy of the state and on the economy of Garza County, he realizes just how important trucks are to his well-being.

And when he stops and looks around at the items in his environment, he realizes that a truck did bring just about anything he can lay his finger on — at least during one phase of its journey.

'70 Santa Fe calendar has roundup painting

AMARILLO — The excitement of the early American Southwest is dramatized in a painting of a wild horse roundup reproduced on the 1970 issue of the Santa Fe calendar.

An original painting by Leonard H. Reedy, "Wild Horses" is reproduced in full color and is the latest in the Santa Fe calendar series, first issued in 1914.

Wild Horses is one of nearly 700 outstanding art subjects in the Santa Fe painting collection. Because of their popularity, a special exhibit of 30 paintings from the collection is currently on tour at art museums throughout the country. The railway annually distributes more than 400,000 calendars.

In the same year, Fort Yukon, Alaska, registered 71 degrees below zero and 100 degrees above.

"THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS OWN COTTONSEED"

Let's call him Grower A. He knows what seed production is all about . . . how seed quality insures greater production of higher quality cotton. He produces his seedstock with these elite methods: one variety farm, one variety gin for handling seed cotton, one variety trucking, one variety storage, handles big volume for processing one variety with absolute cleanup at every stage of handling. He knows that seed can be mixed at many points such as the gin or delinting plant and that "varietal mixture", so common with farmer-saved seed, hurts his overall production. Further, he's aware of the genetics and agronomics of seed production.

We salute Grower A. He produces planting seed exactly the way it should be done . . . exactly the way every bag of Johnny Cottonseed is produced. If your seedstock is anything less, you should be concerned. But maybe we can help. If you don't have the time, facilities or desire to go into the seed production business, check into our unique SEED BANK program at your local coop gin or elevator. You can get your choice of varieties in both guaranteed quality and supply. It's a service offered by your own cooperative, Growers Seed Association.

Sign up now at your local coop gin or elevators.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

There is one drastic improvement that needs to be made at the Garza County courthouse. That little lead sentence ought to really grab your attention!

Tuesday morning I found out that there is not a mirror in the ladies restroom in that building. What's so earth-shaking about that, I can hear you thinking.

Well, if the wind is blowing a bit hard out of the north and you're coming from car to building to renew your driver's license, it is really important. This is the first time I've had to renew my driver's license since the photograph rolling went into effect. Having several of these "wanted-type" pictures I thought one ought to look as good as possible to offset the expected outcome.

After trying to peer into glass panels in doors and various photographs hanging about the corridors spotted the restroom. In I ripped a comb my windswept tresses. No mirror. Out I ripped with my windswept tresses and what with having a fever blister on my lip, my picture ought to be a beauty!

All of you people who deluged us with spiders after Editor Didway wrote an article about the brown recluse spider can now see a live one in a jar (for obvious reasons) at The Post Dispatch. The first person that drops the jar has to step on what escapes.

Tuesday night after school Merrill Earthman brought this spider in to show us. He said after finding it in his bath tub, his biology teacher, Mrs. Wilkins, identified it at school as a brown recluse.

Not having anything better to do with it Merrill offered to leave it at the Dispatch office — sort of an adult "show and tell."

So, come all of you spider lovers and haters to see the first such spider on display in Post, Texas.

While I was "out there" involved in United Fund work a strange thing happened. All of my winter dresses got too long. I've been scooting around all weey in dresses that are dragging at my knees.

I can't figure out how this happened. Some of them were short enough to make me feel "over-mined" last year and now, all of a sudden, here I am looking like something out of the 1940's.

Special note to Lucille Acker: The name is Koerselman; the phone number is 941-1562.

Meanwhile back to the courthouse. I only had to pay $3 for my license renewal so suppose this means I go back again in two years to renew again and have another lovely photograph taken.

That means the precinct commissioners have two years to take action on this obviously needed improvement!

Guild meets for seafood luncheon

Library Listening Post

By GEORGE L. MILLER

One of the new books on our shelves that should satisfy most everyone is Rumer Godden's latest novel "In This House of Brede". It captures the mood and atmosphere of the cloistered life of nuns better than any other book I have read.

This is the story of 42-year-old Philippa Talbot, widow, successful businesswoman, who finds a new life in the convent of Brede in South England. More than her story, it is the story of many women all dedicated to serving God through a life of prayer.

Ours is a time of activism, our churches are very sensitive to social problems, we are taught to think more and more of our mission in the world. This book describes the contemplative life, something quite different from the dominant mood of today's Church. Life in Brede convent is strange, it is possible to dismiss it as old-fashioned, the currents of change on our society — when they do touch Brede — are alien and disturbing.

Yet the triumph of the book is the awareness that grows in us that there is a place for the contemplative life, that it is not irrelevant, that in fact it may be a very necessary corrective to our busy lives.

There is nothing hurried about this book. One moves quietly through the convent, meeting and learning to understand others. The nuns are not saints, they are very human beings. By the end of the book, the strangeness of Brede seems more real and sensible than the reality of our topsy-turvy world.

The contemplative life, as it is lived at Brede, is not for everyone. Some leave to join more active orders, others return to the secular life. Those who stay are no better or worse than those who leave. Miss Godden makes no judgment about which is the better life. She simply describes one way women have found to serve God and man fully, wholeheartedly.

"In This House of Brede" gives us a glimpse of the beauty of the human soul, a rare achievement in today's literature.

The library has some fine additions on its shelves. We have purchased seven sets of Time-Life books which will be instructive, entertaining and of special help to students. They are: The Life Science Library, the Life Nature Library, The Great Ages of Man, The Life World Library, The Life History of the United States, The Life Library of America and Time Capsules. All but the last set are complete. Publication of the last series has been suspended for the time being. We have all that have been published so far.

Come down and browse through these new books. I think you'll be impressed.

Qualifiers named for rodeo finals

DENVER, Colo. — The listing of contestants who have qualified for the annual National Finals Rodeo was released today by the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Only the first 15 cowboys—based on money won during the year—in each of the six rodeo events qualify for the classic competition. Formed the world series of the sport, the finals will be held Dec. 6-14 in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Leading the entry list for the fourth consecutive year is Larry Mahan, 25, Brooks, Ore., who won $1,616 in saddle bronc and bull riding at San Francisco. He now has a record $54,423 for the season.

By claiming this year's top money, Mahan has tied Oklahoma's Great Jim Shoulders in garnering four consecutive all-around cowboy championships. He is also the only man to qualify for the finals in the three riding events, and he's done that annually since 1966.

There were 309 entries at San Francisco, competing for $47,018. Top winner was Leo Camarillo, 23, Donald, Ore., with $3,484 in calf roping and steer wrestling. Camarillo, in only his second year of pro competition, has won $20,049 this year. Close behind Camarillo was Donnie Yandell, 28, El Sobrante, Calif., who picked up $3,395 in the same two events.

The association said 522 rodeos have been held across the nation this year, with prize money exceeding $3.7 million. With finals' winnings yet to be added, a record year will be established.

The nine - performance finals is the showcase of pro rodeo, attracting not only the top contestants, but also the best of the bucking broncs and bulls.

More than 30 rodeo stock contractors will provide animals from points as far distant as New Jersey, California, Canada, Texas and Oregon.

The horses and bulls are observed throughout the year, and on the basis of their records and bucking ability, are selected for the finals by the association's board of directors.

Some of the animals, the association said, have bucked for several years without being ridden and the competition between the unique cowboy - athletes and the stock offers classic encounters.

It's the Law...

ULTIMATUM FOR DRINKING DRIVERS

Alcohol - related car accidents are killing more than 25,000 Americans per year. To help catch the drunk driver, science has come up with new and improved chemical tests for sobriety. These tests, which check blood, breath, urine, or saliva, are far more accurate than such old standbys as walking a straight line or pronouncing "Methodist Episcopal."

But there has always been one big problem: what to do about the motorist who, after being stopped by a policeman, refuses to take the test. To force him to submit is to raise touchy questions of constitutional rights.

Now, however, a growing number of states are finding the answer by passing an "implied consent" law. This law says that a motorist, just by using the public streets, gives his implied consent — in advance — to a sobriety test. Then, when he is halted, he faces a kind of ultimatum: either take the test or lose your driver's license.

True, he cannot be put to this choice without reasonable grounds. An arresting officer may not insist on a test unless there are visible signs that the driver really is intoxicated.

Furthermore, it does not count as a refusal to take the test if the motorist is simply unable to carry out the officer's instructions.

In one unusual case, a motorist was unable to blow into a testing balloon because of difficulty with his dentures, a court ruled afterward that, under these circumstances, the state had no right to revoke the man's license.

On the other hand, a refusal to take the test is not excused by the fact that the motorist is later acquitted of having been intoxicated. His license can be revoked anyhow, not as a penalty for drunk driving but as a penalty for his refusal to obey the officer's lawful request.

"It must be remembered," said one court, "that it is a privilege to operate a motor vehicle on our highways and not a right. The state may prescribe conditions on which that privilege is exercised."

General Foods halting cyclamate products

The artificial sweetener cyclamate, recently was banned by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration. If a product contains cyclamate, it will be listed on the label.

Food manufacturers are aligning their products with recommendations stopping the use of the sweetener. Among them is General Foods.

In a recent statement, General Foods said they have halted production of foods and beverages containing cyclamates. Products are Pre - Sweetened Kool - Aid Soft Drink Mix, Diet Twist Mix, Good Seasons Low Calorie Italian Salad Dressing Mix, Log Cabin Light-Cal Syrup and Scoop Low Calorie Granulated Sugar Replacement.

Conventionally sweetened products will replace them. Other General Foods lower-calorie foods, such as Birds Eye Cool Whip Non - Dairy Whipped Topping and Dream Whip Whipped Topping Mix, contain no cyclamates.

ATTENTION! MINISTERS & OTHER CHRISTIANS!

Here Are Six of the Many New Books Offered for Only $1.00 Each

"OUR LADY IN THE LITURGY" by Dom E. Flicoteaux. This charming little book gives the lie, once and for all, to the complaint of some that our Lady has no great place in the Roman Catholic Church's liturgy.

"GOD OF THE SCIENTISTS; GOD OF THE EXPERIMENT" by Remy Chauvin. The author, a noted French biologist, looks at God from a scientist's level, clearly delineating the method of philosophy and the scientific method.

"VISIBLE UNITED AND TRADITION" by Max Thurian. A stirring testimony to the visible unity already existing among Christians and a realistic appraisal of the common elements among the churches upon which greater unity can be achieved.

"POPE PAUL VI" by Alden Hatch. This highly readable, well-searched biography of Paul VI is a fascinating account of a fascinating man.

"THE UNITY OF THE CHURCHES OF GOD" edited by Polycarp Sherwood, OSB. The ecumenical movement has been gaining momentum—first in non-Catholic areas and more recently, in the Catholic world. But, what are the problems and long-range possibilities for unity as seen from the Catholic position?

"PERSPECTIVES IN AMERICAN CATHOLICISM" by John Tracy Ellis. This fifth Benedictine Study presents some of the more important and the most interesting work of the greatest living historian of the Catholic Church in the United States.

Suspicion of Life

By Bernard S. Ramsey

During recent years an increasing number of people have become deeply suspicious of life—they have especially become suspicious of religion and of the Church itself.

There are times when this "suspicion of life" seems to have gotten completely out of hand . . . they wonder if there is anything that can be trusted; anything that is permanent; anything that can be absolutely relied upon. Some have even reached the point where they not only believe but espouse the damnable doctrine once glibly proclaimed by one of our Supreme Court Justices: "there are no absolutes," to which I always like to give the simple reply: "two and two still make four" . . . and "there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved."

And yet for so many the forces of life seem so impersonal; the rain falls so steadily upon the unjust and so impartially upon the just, the laws of life seem so mysterious and unreasonable, the future seems so unpredictable, evil seems to get too many of the rich rewards and righteousness seems to have a bad time of it. This is, indeed, a pitiable plight for anyone, and yet you and I meet such people almost every day of our lives.

Men want to believe something. To go through life without some confidence is to reduce all of existence to one profound horror. The Russian Communists have a way of saying: "a man's religion is whatever he believes in," and in a measure they are right . . . but when a man holds everything under suspicion life has surely lost its cutting edge and lost its last promise of peace and promise of hope.

Do you find yourself increasingly suspicious of life? Your Church could help destroy those suspicions and give you "something real" to hang onto; it can offer you "realigion".

Views on moratorium expressed by student

By TERRY CROSS
Last weekend the second Vietnam Moratorium was experienced by America and Post High School. The symbolic armbands were evident in PHS, with both sides being represented.

I think the students involved are to be commended for the good taste displayed. Being a student at PHS, I hear these same people present both the pro and con arguments of the war and war protests frequently. Obviously we have a healthy situation and we are grateful to the people that stimulate and allow it. However, this type of good situation does not prevail over our nation.

There is a lot of misunderstanding, fear, and frustration among the American people. Because of the war issue, we are no longer united people. This split has added even more fear and frustration to an already delicate situation. I feel that it is a well-founded fear that this split may be fatal to America.

It is of the utmost importance that we mend that split or gap. We have so many gaps in our society that the term has almost become trite. I think all of our "gaps" stem either directly from the war or the attitudes that created the war. Logically we cannot have our unity until after we rid ourselves of this obstacle. Thus we seek the solution that will best remove this block.

One proposed solution is an immediate withdrawal; the other is a gradual withdrawal. In the beginning, the Moratorium was supposed to allow Americans that supported an immediate withdrawal in Vietnam to express their opinion. An immediate withdrawal was not the solution to the Vietnam War that the Administration had proposed and the Vice President commenced his campaign to label all criticism of the war unhealthy to America and all dissenters as unpatriotic. Naturally, this was what the President's supporters are eager to hear, but if it was designed to persuade people not to participate in the protest, it was a total failure. On the contrary, it showed some people into the Moratorium that would not otherwise have participated.

I spoke to some of the participants of the first Moratorium and asked them just how effective they thought the protest would be toward ending the war. Most admitted that it would do little in that direction since the President had stated the day before that he would ignore the protest. They were simply so outraged (as everyone should have been) by the President of a supposedly responsive democracy stating that he would not respond to dissent, no matter what the magnitude of that dissent, that they were willing to participate in an admittedly futile action. They would rather be criticized as unpatriotic than be suspected of being intimidated into silence.

I think everyone agrees that the war needs to be ended, but we disagree on the means. Let's be careful that we don't forfeit something greater than a dishonorable steed in our determination to end it the "right way." Free speech is essential to America. No decisions or negotiations arrived at through the stifling of criticism can in any conceivable way be beneficial to America. Disregarding the merits of the Moratorium as an effective political tool, I feel it is essential as an exercise of free speech.

The Post High School choir presented a program for the faculty and students of Post High School last Friday. They did an excellent job.

The Who's Who of Post High School were chosen by the faculty last week. Those chosen were: David Hamilton, Nancy Norman, Kay Herron, David Pierce, Sharon and Karon Windham, Neff Walker, Steve Newby, Pam Petty and Barbara Lucas.

Pam Petty and George Torres were selected for this year's "Mr. and Miss PHS." Congratulations to both of you.

May the student body extend their deepest sympathy to Mrs. Hamilton on the death of her mother. We are glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton back in school. We also wish to thank Mrs. Thaxton and Mrs. Davis for substituting for the Hamiltons while they were away.

The Junior class chose their senior rings for next year. They decided on gold dome stones, with an Antelope underneath the stone, and black inscription.

School was dismissed at 3 o'clock last Friday, because of the Morton game. I want to congratulate the Antelopes for a great season.

The dance which was scheduled for last Saturday with the "Grace" playing was cancelled because the lead guitar player broke his hand, but if all goes well the "Grace" will play for a dance at Teen Town Saturday night from 8:30 till 11:30. Everyone come!

Mr. Dean Killian, the Texas Tech band director, came and watched the band march Thursday morning. He gave his criticism on the band's performance. Mr. Killian's purpose was to help the Band before their contest at Lubbock on the 18th.

Seniors decide on graduation needs

Vietnam, drugs, teen-agers

Four Seniors quizzed on significant topics

By BILLYE WILLIAMS

My sponsor and editor have assigned me the task of interviewing each Senior. As I interviewed each person I acquired some personal information, their activities, and their achievements. I also asked some questions pertaining to the world today and their opinions on various subjects.

The first person I talked with was Kay Altman. Kay's full name is Cherrell Kay. She was born on March 11, 1952. I asked Kay what personal benefits she received from being cheerleader and she said, "I get to support and help build the spirit of the school." Kay's activities through her four years of high school include Spanish Club her freshman year, cheerleader her freshman and senior year, basketball four years, FTA, Commercial Club, and FHA.

I asked the opinion of all the people on Vietnam, drugs and teen-age persecution. Kay does not like the Vietnam situation but she thinks it is necessary because it is stopping the spread of Communism and everything we can do about it, we should. Kay's views on drugs were, "I don't like it at all, and I don't think it is necessary." When I asked Kay what she thought about teen-age persecution, she had a very appropriate answer. "Teen-agers nowadays know more and they shouldn't be put down. We realize what's going on and we take an interest. Someday we're going to be the older generation and then we'll have a lot more to do with this world."

As a matter of personal interest I asked Kay what it was like to be a twin. She answered, "It has its ups and downs. It gives you someone to talk to your own age that understands. However, we do have fights and disagreements."

While I was at it, I talked to Ray also. His full name is Darrell Ray Altman and, of course, his birth date is March 11, 1952. I asked Ray what his personal gain was from being quarterback. He said, "It's pretty good experience. I keep the guys in line and make a lot of decisions." Ray's achievements in high school are Spanish his junior and senior year, FTA, Lettermen's Club the past three years, and sports all four years.

On the Vietnam situation Ray feels that Nixon "is doing pretty good in Vietnam and the situation is a little better than it was." His answer to the question of drugs was, "If they are not harmful to the body, there is nothing wrong." About the teen-age situation Ray said, "I don't think teen-agers should be blamed for everything. It should be equal all over."

The third person I interviewed was Jay Bird. He was born on March 7, 1952, and his full name is Jay Cliff. Jay was quarterback his freshman year and he said he gained a sense of winning from it. Jay's activities over the years include FFA, for four years, Lettermen's Club the past three years, track his freshman year, and tennis last year.

Jay feels that the Vietnam situation cannot be helped and that we are doing the best we can. His feelings about drugs are, "Drugs are stupid and stricter laws should be enforced." When I asked Jay how he felt about the teen-age problem he said, "Fifty per cent of what happens is usually teen-agers. However, there are too many false impressions. One or months of 1969 shows a total of 65 accidents, resulting in three killed, 49 injured and an estimated property damage of $76,275.

two people can ruin everyone's reputation."

Last, but of course, not least, is Jodi Cash. That is her full name and her birthday is June 24, 1952. Jodi is a very active participant in Pep Squad so I asked her what benefit she received from this. She said, "It's a great organization and I feel that we have really accomplished a lot." Her views on the Vietnam situation are, "Basically, we've been there too long. We have not accomplished our original purpose."

With teen-agers and drugs, Jodi has no complaints about marijuana and feels that it will eventually be legalized. However, heavy drugs should be left alone because they can destroy a person. In the teen-age situation, Jodi said, "A teen-ager is not looked at as a person, but as a symbol. If you're not a bubble-gum-chewing teeny-bopper, then you are automatically a hippie and they have been symbolized as the root of all evil." Next week I'll question four more people, so, Seniors be prepared.

Among Judge Bradley's comments were: "superior sound for fanfare, good dynamic context on circle drill, good change of style, a very good show."

New record in rodeo earnings set by star

DENVER, Colo. — Larry Mahan, the 25-year-old riding wonder from Brooks, Ore., has set a new record in professional rodeo competition.

Mahan has won $52,807 in un-audited figures so far this year, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said here today.

He had set the previous high in 1967 when he pocketed $51,996, and he was second high last year with $49,129.

Mahan, the "Did-right Cowboy" of the professional rodeo scene, is currently second in both saddle bronc and bull riding, and fourth in bareback bronc riding.

More than $3.6 million has been won this year at 522 association-sanctioned rodeos, rivaling the past two record seasons.

The rodeo year ends with the classic National Finals rodeo Dec. 6-14 in Oklahoma City, Okla., where — based on money won — only the top 15 men in each of six rodeo events can compete.

Cut-off date for qualifying is San Francisco's annual Grand National Rodeo.

It is at the Grand National that contestants hovering near 15th place feel the pressure as they vie for Finals' berths, where $77,000 and world titles are at stake.

The association said another record may be registered this year. Never in a single season has more than one cowboy earned more than $40,000, and Mahan has done that the last four years.

But Doug Brown, 23, of Silverton, Ore., and Dean Oliver, 39, of Boise, Ida., have pocketed $38,615 and $38,596 respectively this year in total earnings. They need about $1,500 each to top $40,000.

Oliver, perhaps the greatest wizard with a calf rope in the history of pro rodeo, has already knotted his record eighth world calf roping championship, with $37,633 won in that event this year. The previous high was established in 1968

Spotlight on Science

From the American Association for the Advancement of Science

LOBSTERS ON PARADE

The spiny lobster is notoriously secretive and shy, but in the autumn off Bimini, the Bahamas, and the east coast of Florida thousands migrate daily in parallel single file across shallow water areas.

Marine biologist William Herrick of Florida State University reports in "Science" on his recent studies of this unique mass migratory behavior. Although the significance of these migrations is still a mystery, some of the means of contact for this underwater follow-the-leader can be explained.

Somehow, probably visually, one lobster finds another and gets into single file position after flicking the leading lobster's body with his antennae. Alignment is maintained after contact by intermittent flocking or by partial touching or grasping with other appendages. Blinded lobsters also were able to line up and follow precisely after physical contact was made in this way.

Field observations of this alignment and "marching order" indicates that spiny lobsters are induced to queue up when moving over relatively open areas. This may be kind of a defensive-protection maneuver to protect the vulnerable abdomen of each lobster (except the last in the line) while they are more or less exposed to attack. Any lobster seems to be able to lead this underwater parade since removal of the first in line did not change direction of the lobster train movement.

GLASS ON THE MOON

One of the outstanding — and wholly unexpected — findings in the lunar stereo photographs taken by astronauts Armstrong and Aldrin was the observation of glassy or glazed surfaces on some of the moon rocks.

Thomas Gold, Cornell University astronomer, writes in "Science" that these glassy patches, ranging in size from one-half to ten millimeters across, may have been caused by high intensity radiation heating. Other explanations, such as melting by rocket flame, splashing of liquid drops, or volcanism, cannot account for all the features of the glazed rocks. Among other peculiarities, these rocks are found only in small craters (up to a meter or so in diameter) and only on points and edges on the top and sides of protuberances. In some cases, it appears that droplets of the liquid glaze ran down an inclined surface and then congealed. Unfortunately, none of these glazed rocks were brought back to earth.

If a flash of radiation heating caused this glazing, it would have to have been in the relatively recent past, says Dr. Gold; otherwise, micrometeorites would have sandblasted and destroyed the glaze or lunar soil movements would have covered them up. Estimates of the recency of the glazing range from 30,000 to 100,000 years ago—only yesterday on the geophysical time scale.

But what was the source of the radiation — a fireball plunging into the moon or earth, or a flash from the sun? The most likely possibility, suggests Dr. Gold, is that there occurred a very minor nova-like outburst of the sun. Analysis of lunar samples brought back by Apollo 11 may shed some light on this phenomenon, but the final solution may hinge on findings of future Apollo missions.

The 7th and 8th grade boys' teams go to Slaton for conference games Monday, Nov. 24.

11; Karl Hall, 5-10; Dennis Dodson, 5-9, and Bullock, 5-8. Noble and Pierce did not play football this season and have been getting the "feel" of the basketball for the last several weeks in preparation for the season's opener.

Coach Poole, in his second year here as head basketball mentor, predicts a much better season for this year's team than last year's.

"I think we'll have a real good defensive team and if we can sharpen our shooting we'll be hard to stop," the coach predicted.

With defending champion Denver City not expected to be as strong as last season, Coach Poole thinks his Antelopes will be capable of fighting it out with French and Morton for the District 4AA championship.

The Antelopes will get a real test in their opener here against Ralls Friday night. The Jackrabbits were among the area's best last season and are rated District 4A contenders again this season.

Tuesday night, Nov. 25, the "Lopes and Does go to Cooper for games and play Lorenzo here Friday night, Nov. 28.

Fumbles set up Morton scores

Post 'blows' final contest to Indians

The Morton Indians scored 16 points in the first half, then settled back to hold off the Post Antelopes for a 16 to 7 win before a sparse crowd of chilled spectators at Morton last Friday night.

The game ended the football season for both teams, with Morton chalking up its first district win for a 1-4 loop mark, and Post absorbing its third district defeat for a 2-3 conference mark and a 6-4 record for the season.

The Indians scored on a touchdown and a field goal in the first quarter and a touchdown in the third. The Antelopes' score came on a 16-yard touchdown run by halfback Neff Walker in the third period, with Randy Hudman booting the extra point.

MORTON'S FIRST touchdown came after the Indians recovered quarterback Ray Altman's fumble on the Morton 46. With fullback Ralph Soliz and halfback Eddie Lewis ripping off good gains, the Indians drove to the 10. From there, Soliz skirted end for the touchdown. A bad snapback foiled the extra point try, and Morton led 6-0 less than five minutes into the game.

Another fumble recovery, this time on the Post 18, set up the Morton field goal. The Indians made a first down on the six-yard line, but the Antelope defense stiffened, and a five - yard penalty set Morton back to the 11. Post drew a penalty to the five-yard line, and Mike Bryan toed the Morton field goal on fourth down.

The Indians drove 76 yards, helped along by a 15-yard penalty, for their second quarter touchdown, which came on a six-yard end run by Soliz. Bryan kicked the extra point, and Morton led 16-0, with 2:48 of the first half remaining.

The "Lopes went 80 yards for their touchdown after fielding a Morton punt on their 20 halfway through the third quarter.

With Walker and halfback George Torres alternating at carrying the ball, the "Lopes used up ten plays in driving to the Morton 16, from where Walker swept right end for the score.

THE ANTELOPES threatened again a few plays later after Altman intercepted Keith Embry's pass on the Morton 36. Torres gained four and Walker seven for a first down on the 25. Three more

'B' team sinks Owls, 46 to 0

The Post Antelope "B" team closed its football season with a rousing 46-0 win over the Hale Center Owl "B" team here last Thursday.

Coach Kenny Poole's team scored in every quarter and rolled up 419 total yards to the Owls' 99.

Runs of 36 yards by David Hart and 44 yards by Ricky Hair gave Post two first quarter touchdowns, with Hair running over the extra points following his TD.

Hair scored on a two - yard run in the second period and the Post team went to the dressing room with a 20-0 halftime lead.

Scotty Hoyle went 55 yards and Tony Rosas four yards for touchdowns in the third quarter to boost the score to 32-0 going into the final period.

A 22 - yard pass from David Woods to Rosas and an 85 - yard touchdown gallop by Hoyle, with Pat Ayala adding the extra points ended the scoring.

The win gave the "B" team a 2-6 record for the season.

tries fell two yards short of a first down, and the "Lopes elected to go for a field goal. A five - yard penalty for illegal motion setthem back to the 22, and Hudman's field goal attempt fell short.

The teams exchanged fumbles near the middle of the field early in the fourth quarter, but the only serious scoring threat came late in the game when Post opened up with a passing attack after taking the ball on downs on their 33.

Passes from Altman to Walker, Hudman, Jay Bird and Butch Heaton took the ball deep into Indian territory, but Morton held and ran out the clock on two running plays.

Hard freeze is needed for cotton gathering

By MRS. GLENN DAVIS
We farmers were afraid we would have an early freeze and now we are wondering when we will have a hard freeze so the cotton can be gathered. It seems the weather just doesn't cooperate too well — at least not with the farmer.

Sunday guests of the Carl Fluitts were Mrs. Elmo Bush, Mrs. Harold Reno, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Theibert McBride and David, Mrs. Morris McClellan, Mr. and Mrs. Delwin Fluitt and family and Shelly Fluitt. Mrs. Edith Campbell of Amarillo spent Tuesday last week with her sister, Mrs. Bill McMahon and family.

Sunday luncheon guests of the Delmer Cowdreys were the Elmer Cowdreys, Bud Sparlin, L. H. Peels, Mrs. Viva Davis and Bobby Cowdrey family.

Mrs. L. G. Thuet Sr., was dismissed to her home last Thursday from a stay in the hospital. We hope for her a quick recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Probst visited near Abernathy with their daughter, Mrs. Lee McGaugh, and family.

Mrs. Fred Gossett visited one afternoon last week with Mrs. Oliver McMahon in Post.

Mrs. Joel Morris and son of Amarillo are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Morris.

Mrs. Bryan Maxey accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Hawley and Karen to Big Spring Sunday to visit relatives.

Mrs. Jane Edwards visited Monday morning with Mrs. Bernita

An injury to fullback Karl Bruce Hall in the first half hurt the Post running attack. The senior fullback had gained 35 yards on seven carries before being sidelined.

For the eighth time this year, Walker went over the 100 - yard mark in rushing, netting 131 yards on 28 carries.

While there were moments of individual brilliance, the Antelopes' performance was generally erratic on both offense and defense.

Anniversary of Mission marked

Friendship Baptist Church observed the first anniversary of the Mexican Mission recently with 65 present for the special program and Mexican dinner prepared by the ladies of the Mission. Several hymns were sung led by a Mr. Cabellero, and Mrs. B. E. Webb of Wilson led in prayer. The Rev. Mr. Rodriguez gave a report on the year's work and recognized those who helped start the mission and those who are now assisting. The mission was started in the Cabellero home two miles west of Close City but soon outgrew the space so moved to the Friendship Baptist Church. Mrs. Webb and Miss Gladys Brock of the Wilson Mexican Mission helped start the mission, later assisted by Mrs. W. T. Baxley. Eventually the ladies from the Baptist church took over the teaching of the youth. Hot tamales, enchiladas, Spanish rice, potato salad, creamed potatoes, macaroni salad, red beans, jello salad and drinks were served.
