

When we "punched" Rosemary... her research "broke down" in the sports category.

He failed to explain why left-handed pitchers are called "southpaw" (we've always wondered that). We might add that if you have a strong left arm, baseball is the place for a left-hander. They always had it on the "southpaw" in pitching and still do.

Editor Charlie Didway commented when we brought this up in one of the rare "newsroom conversations" in The Dispatch office that wife Zula is a great baseball fan, but left-handed pitchers always "worried" her. Her miserable afternoon, Charlie told, was when the Didways saw an old West Texas-New Mexico league double-header in Laredo and both teams used four right-handed pitchers as starters in two games — and they all went right.

Right-handed pitchers don't affect the game that.

It is true that golf courses are designed for right-handed and few left-handers ever "hook" in pro golf, although there are a couple around.

Right-handed boxers, if they pack a punch, literally devastate their opponents in the ring and one of the world's best tennis players of all time, Rod Laver of Australia, is right-handed.

There is no idea how being left-handed affects racing swimmers. There are left-handed quarterbacks — Tony Conrad of the Angels comes to mind — but none ever "made it big" in the sport, as we recall.

Baseball is a good game for left-handers though with its split timing. But in that game you get to be able to shoot with your hand.

Left-handedness, political course would tend to "cover" such an affliction. You know what the opposition would do with them in one of the most "games people play" — politics.

Left-handedness, we have had some experience this campaign.

Had a local "Nixon backer" wanted to spend some money on advertising in The Dispatch because he believes as we do "Dispatch advertising does it" — it pays.

As you'll recall, the nation's election forces this spring are successful in getting the Democratic-controlled Congress to pass new law limiting the amount of federal campaign contributions or any federal campaign can spend on a per capita basis on the nation's population.

The local sponsor's Nixon campaign had the election forces this spring. The Nixon campaign advertising agency, Nixon to include our Nixon advertising in The Dispatch in the President's national campaign budget.

Started out, with some misgivings by writing The November 17, New York City, The Presidential campaign advertising agency, a week went by with no word, we telephoned November 17, New York City.

If a pleasant feminine voice telephoned and after a couple of minutes, she called, and a secretary calls, in attempting to make a "decision maker" to the meeting when he wasn't in a meeting (see Postings, Page 8).

BIG BALLOT—14x19 1/2 INCHES

Large vote expected in Tuesday election

While campaigning here has been slower than for any general election in the memory of most political observers, interest is sufficiently high that a large vote is expected to be cast here next Tuesday, if the weather is right for it—and right now that's almost as big a question mark as most of the political races.

Date draws near for 'cycle rodeo'

Only a week away now and hoping for a good weather break is Post's big "motorcycle weekend" which will include the Post Motorcycle Rodeo Saturday night, Nov. 11 at the Post Stampede Rodeo arena and the Post Caprock Enduro, a 100-mile rough country race for men and a 50-mile Powder Puff Enduro for women, scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 12, on the U Lazy S Ranch.

Another good frost for Garza's cotton

Garza County's cotton crop got another good frost Tuesday night with the temperature dipping to 31 degrees here and to 28 atop the caprock. A frost, or cold wet weather last week apparently "knocked the top" off most of the cotton.

Forty-Sixth Year Post, Garza County, Texas Thursday, November 2, 1972 Number 22

Over half-million seen from 'revenue sharing'

City, county for next five years

Garza County and the City of Post may wind up with well over a half-million dollars in the next five years from the federal government's new "revenue sharing program."

President Nixon signed the bill into law only recently to distribute five billion dollars to hard-pressed states, counties and cities to ease their mounting financial problems. Garza County will receive $77,895 annually and the City of Post $34,275 each year, according to the Texas Municipal League breakdown of the city and county distribution within Texas.

The breakdown, received this week, is according to "the best available information" the league has on the operation of the new revenue sharing law.

Neither the county nor the city has received official notification to date of its participation in the revenue sharing, but the above figures are believed accurate.

There is a possibility that the complicated three-part formula for determining distribution may be changed over the five-year period. Mayor Giles C. McCrary pointed out to The Dispatch yesterday, but if it isn't the five year total (based on first year distribution) would be: Garza County: $386,975. City of Post: $171,375.

That's a total of $558,350 in the next five years. That kind of money is sure to help a lot.

The new distribution figures total up a whole lot more for the two local units of governments than was originally forecast.

Originally, the city and county expected to divide a $47,000 revenue sharing total annually. Under the new figures they will together receive $111,670 for the first year.

Neither the city nor county has determined as yet how it will use the money.

As Mayor McCrary points out, there are some federal restrictions on the use of the money and "we need to study the regulations before making a decision."

Distribution under the federal revenue sharing plan will be made each six months with the first six months' check due to be received sometime this month, possibly before next Tuesday's general election.

Mayor McCrary said that the revenue sharing money will have to be carried in separate funds by the city and county and all expenditures from these funds strictly accounted for under reporting procedures set up by the new law.

According to the Texas Municipal League the state government of Texas will receive over $80,000 annually as its share of the "revenue sharing" with Texas cities and counties receiving a total of $163 million annually.

COUNTY TO PAY ADDITIONAL $21,248

Law complex bid let for $100,494 total

The Garza County Commission yesterday afternoon approved the low bid of the Pharr Construction Co. of Lubbock to build the county's new "law enforcement complex and jail" for $100,494, although the bid plus nine per cent architectural fees ran the total cost about 24 per cent higher than the architect's original estimate to $109,538.46.

A federal grant of $44,145 has been approved to pay a 50 per cent share of the originally estimated $88,290 cost which included the fee. The county was faced with the choice of paying the additional construction costs itself — an additional $21,248.46, including the architectural fees — or "aborting" the project and losing all future opportunity for federal participation.

With the accepted bid, the county's share of the project's costs will be $65,393.46.

After awarding the contract, the court then authorized the county judge to borrow up to $65,000 in certificates to pay the county's share.

A portion of the county's share can be paid from the permanent improvement fund, so all of the $65,000 may not be issued.

These actions came after the court had gone over a list of items which could be substituted for or taken out of the building to reduce the overall cost.

Commissioners by this method reduced the total cost by slightly over $2,000.

Sanford Whitaker of Lubbock, architect for the project, said rapidly rising construction costs over the period since original cost estimates were made many months ago is the reason for the bids being well over the architect's original cost estimates.

"When we get a bid within 10 per cent of the estimated cost now we feel very fortunate," Whitaker said.

Pharr's base bid was $100,700 plus $1,810 for the concrete driveways, a requested option, for a total of $102,510. The concrete driveways turned out to be less expensive than asphalt driveways which would have cost $305 more.

The next closest bid was Martin, Claude & Sons of Lubbock for $106,050, with J. D. Hunter Construction Co. of Lubbock bidding $107,184, and Fleeman Construction Co. of Lubbock, $110,527.

These bids were before reducing the overall cost by over $2,000 by the elimination of some construction items or cheaper substitutions.

In making their successful bid, Pharr Construction said it would complete the project in 175 calendar days.

$56,000 FEDERAL GRANT

County probation office approved

Garza County has received SPAG approval for a $56,000 federal criminal justice grant to set up a full county probation office here for a two-year period.

Final approval must come from the criminal justice council in Austin.

A second Garza County grant approved by the criminal justice council of SPAG would provide $9,500 for a federal-financed survey on the proposal to combine the county sheriff's office and the city police department into a single law enforcement agency.

The survey is required through federal procedures and no matching local funds are required. This project too now awaits state criminal justice council approval in Austin.

The new probation office here would be set up to include salaries of an adult probation officer, a juvenile probation officer, and an office secretary, business cars for each officer and travel expenses for the vehicles.

The county would provide $7,725 "in kind" contributions annually for the two-year project. This would include office space, utilities, minor office supplies, office furniture, and fees for attorneys for the probationers.

Cochran County is the only other county in the SPAG area to receive approval for such a probation office. Three other counties have been approved for a combined three-county office.

County Judge Giles Dalby has been working on the criminal justice grant for the probation office for the last 45 days.

Concluding our analysis of amendments

Probably attracting the most interest in the last 10 of the 14 state constitutional amendments to be voted upon in the general election next Tuesday is No. 8 which would provide four-year terms for state officials, from the governor on down, instead of two years.

Texas politicians have been trying for a long time to shove this one through the electorate without success and in view of the recent Sharpstown scandals The Dispatch will predict this one is sure to go down the drain. In fact, despite some reasonable arguments in favor of it, this newspaper recommends a "no" vote, loud and clear, so that Austin will get the idea that the voters continue to remember.

Favorable arguments include (1) by devoting less time to campaigning for re-election, state officials would have more time and energies to devote to solving problems, (2) the high cost of state-wide campaigning being what it is, state officials would not have to depend so much or so often upon big campaign contributions from special interests who will expect their favors to be returned, and (3) 39 states now elect governors for four years, recognizing the need for long-range planning and programs which frequent changes in leadership make impossible.

But look at the arguments against four-year terms, and we think you'll agree they tip the scales. First, long terms of office tend to alienate the official from the electorate, making him less responsive to the people's will. Second, too much power is inherent in four-year terms, with the governor especially being in position to dominate all state boards and commissions via his appointments. Third, history shows long tenure in office and political corruptions run hand in hand. We would remind that the House of Representatives of the U. S. Congress is elected only for two-year terms, and is much more responsive to the will of the people than the U. S. Senate where six-year terms have turned that body into a political club in which rather remarkable individualism is the order of the day.

Amendment No. 7 on your ballot is sort of a sneaky. It should be entitled "equal rights for women." But the wording is all lost in a bunch of legalistic jargon. This has the full support of women's lib.

The amendment provides that "equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of a person's sex, race, color, creed or national origin."

Such rights are extended by the 14th amendment of the U. S. Constitution, but the state amendment is designed expressly to provide protection which supplements the federal guarantees of equal treatment.

It's all right with us. We vote "yes."

Now for a quick run-down on the other eight amendments as editorial space permits.

No. 5 would provide that exemption, which would range from $1,500 to $3,000, be made on property owned by disabled veterans for tax purposes on a graduated scale based on the percentage of the veteran's disability. This is only "token appreciation" to such veterans and in the day of high property taxes, under the limitations written into the amendment, The Dispatch sees it as "a decent thing to do."

Amendment No. 6 would extend to the various political sub-divisions of the state (county, city, school district, etc.) the right, if they so desire, to exempt not less than $3,000 of the value of residence homesteads of all persons 65 years of age or older from ad valorem taxes under certain conditions.

Obviously, the growing number of senior citizens who live on fixed incomes and are badly hurt by inflation, would benefit and it would be only extending Texas' long history of protecting the homestead. But it would reduce tax revenues of cities, schools, and other taxing districts and would cut into the basic concept that property taxes shall be equal and uniform.

Here again compassion will be the determining factor. Taxing districts wouldn't have to adopt it, of course. Their options remain. You vote your conscience and we'll vote ours with a "yes."

Amendment 9 would exempt directors of soil and water conservation districts from prohibitions against dual office holding and dual compensation. Favoring this are the arguments that in less populous areas of the state, a shortage of qualified people renders positions as directors of soil and water districts difficult to fill and the amendment would increase the available manpower for these positions by freeing public employees to fill them. Arguments against are that existing constitutional provisions are intended to prevent concentration of public jobs and employees with two jobs would have to divide their attentions between them. The ayes have it here. There isn't a lot of gold involved in soil and water district directorships, but only a lot of dedication to public interest.

Amendment No. 10 would revise provisions on the time of proposing amendments to the state constitution and the time and method of publishing notice of proposed amendments.

This amendment change would permit constitutional amendments to be voted to be drawn up at special legislative sessions instead of only at regular sessions as now required.

It also would provide for publication by legal notice in all the newspapers of the state, instead of only one newspaper in each county, and only for two times rather than four. It also would change the wording of a publication to only the wording of the amendment as it appears on the ballot plus an explanation or interpretation of the amendment, instead of publication of the full text of the legislative resolution on the amendment, as now required.

This amendment also would change the maximum amount of payment from no higher than the newspaper's lowest published rate for classified advertising to provide a maximum payment of no more than the newspaper's published national advertising rate. This would considerably reduce payment of the advertising to newspapers.

The Dispatch is not going to recommend anything on this one because we have a conflict of interest. We publish all the amendments now as the county's only newspaper and at a better rate than if this amendment were adopted.

The Texas Legislative Council in its analysis of the proposed constitutional amendments says the cost of publication under the new amendment would "likely be higher than under the present system" because so many more newspapers would publish it but at a reduced cost per newspaper because of fewer publications, reduced rate, and less wordage. So you be the judge.

Amendment No. 11 provides for annual $22,500 salaries for both the lieutenant governor and house speaker in the Texas Legislature. That would make a difference of $18,000 in the salary between these two and all other members of the legislature. The argument here is that these offices are full-time responsibilities and should be paid for as such, at a rate in keeping with other state officials.

The house speaker, however, is not even elected on a state-wide basis. If such a salary is to be paid the house speaker, that person should be elected on a state-wide basis, not by legislative members, it is argued. Since nobody has forgotten the Gus Mutscher conviction on bribery charges, we have little doubt but the voters will give this idea a sound thrashing. Until the air over Austin is cleaned of some of its "political pollution," The Dispatch doesn't think this deserves enactment.

Amendment No. 12 would allow state employees and certain other persons to serve on city councils, school boards, and other local units of government boards. The present constitutional exemption deprives state employees of full rights and citizens and the local units of government with some good leadership material. There are lots of arguments both ways, but The Dispatch recommends a "yes."

Amendment No. 13 would increase the maximum interest rates which may be borne by certain bonds issued under constitutional authority. This would affect the state park program and the veterans' land program. This is an "iffy" proposal as five per cent bonds have little market and inability to sell the bonds curtails the programs. Higher taxes of course probably would result. But if we want the programs, we must permit interest to be increased. We'd say "yes."

Amendment No. 14 would permit county commissioners courts to reduce the county permanent school fund with a per pupil basis ratio used for distribution of the money obtained from this reduction.

Some school districts with building needs no longer have any openings left under the legal tax limit to provide additional classrooms or hard-hit taxpayers refuse to vote new school bond issues. This is a new way around and usually doesn't involve a great deal of annual income for school operation anyway. In view of all the change sure to come by recent court edicts in financing school operations from property taxes, this change might help a few hard-pressed districts. The Dispatch would "go along" on this one, but predicts its defeat.

That's all of them for this election. Our last prediction is that you'll worry more about how to vote on some of these 14 amendments than on which candidates to pick.—JC

Wounded veteran feature subject

Editor's Note: The following story on Freddie Simmons, a Vietnam veteran, appeared in a recent issue of The Dallas News. Freddie and his wife, Susan Ramsey, former residents of Post and graduates of the local high school, were the subject of the article, headlined "Wounded Veteran's Life a Miracle," written by Helen B. Calvey, News staff writer.

Freddie Simmons, 27, has a job, his own wheelchair and a lot. These achievements are a kind of miracle. So is his vocal participation in a news interview.

Freddie was wounded by a rocket-propelled grenade exploded in Vietnam on May 29, 1969. He was hospitalized at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Brooke, Texas. A doctor diagnosed a severe brain injury. A doctor compared the impact to a hammer crushing a boiled egg. Freddie woke up paralyzed in his legs and right arm, partly blind and unable to say a word. Surgeons had to remove about a third of his brain, a portion controlling motor function.

Then before I could get back in the world, I developed meningitis at Yokohama hospital," he says. "I was in Vietnam. "back in the States in Vietnam."

Freddie landed back in the world on his birthday, June 29, 1969, at Beaumont General Hospital in El Paso.

You'll elect a President and a United States Senator, among others, on November 7th. How the election goes determines how we go, as a state and nation, in the years immediately ahead.

The choice should be clear to Texans by now. It centers on one major point — who is best equipped to get the job done.

KEEP THE BEST TEAM FOR TEXAS

Richard Nixon and John Tower have records of performance which speak for themselves. The two have worked hard. And, they have worked well together for the good of all Texans, and for all Americans.

It appears virtually certain that President Nixon will serve another four years. For that reason alone, we must keep John Tower in the United States Senate. We must keep the team together.

In a personal letter to Senator Tower, September 29th, the President expressed his continuing, deep interest in the Senator's political future.

"Your candidacy for re-election to the United States Senate has my enthusiastic endorsement, and I want you to know how grateful I am for your faithful and energetic support of my Administration.

"For over a decade, your leadership in the Senate has been a source of strength to the State of Texas and the nation. Having observed the impressive results of your hard work and having benefited from your thorough knowledge of the issues, especially in the vital areas of national defense and economic policy, I can testify to the importance of your continuing service in Washington.

"We need your informed, articulate voice in the United States Senate to meet the challenging problems that confront America in the coming years."

And, again, the following day the President told an audience in San Antonio:

"I know that there's not one Senator in the United States Senate who has a record superior to John Tower. He's a Tower of Strength.

"I've said it before, and I'll say it again, on the national security issues, whenever we need a good, strong man to speak up we call on him.

"I want to say to this group here that in terms of quality there isn't a man in the United States Senate who is more reliable, a man who has a better record... there isn't a man that I need more than John Tower. We appreciate what he has done and we would certainly appreciate whatever you can do to see that he's re-elected."

This is not the year, and these are not the times, in which to try the untested. Now, more than ever, we need men who are rational, men with proven abilities, men we know can handle the job

On November 7th, we need to keep the best team for Texas — Richard Nixon and John Tower.

Potluck

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN

I once remarked to a friend that I was glad that neither of my children were left-handed. She replied with typical right-handed smugness that she could hardly see that it made much difference.

I found myself wishing that my friend would suddenly turn left-handed overnight. She would almost certainly change her tune.

Left-handedness runs in our family — grandmother, mother, sister, assorted aunts, uncles, cousins — and there's not one of us that ever thought of it as anything but a handicap. For the left-hander, life is always awkward.

In a clockwise world we're counterclockwise. Everyone and everything is revolving left to right but us. It's practically impossible to get the scissors to cut, the rulers to rule, the corkscrews to turn, the iron to iron.

One Post lefty, Patty Kirkpatrick, enjoys doing stitchery. However, when Patty tries to reproduce a new stitch from an instruction book, she has to learn it with her right hand as illustrated and then teach it to her left hand with her right hand. Sometimes it helps to look at the book upside down and learn it directly with the left hand, but then you can't read what it says underneath (above?) Gets complicated, doesn't it?

Learning to read is difficult for the left-handed. We have a natural tendency to start at the back of a book and read forwards. Writing presents the same problem.

I can actually write backwards quickly and well. I suspect that most other lefties can too. It's instinctive. Professor Backwards is no doubt left-handed.

As if all this awkwardness weren't enough, left-handers are constantly being maligned in other ways. Dictionary definitions of "left-handed" include: clumsy, insincere, doubtful, questionable, ill-omened, spurious, inauspicious and sinister. No one likes to be called names.

In the Bible you're one of the good guys if you're "at the right hand." Left represents evil, darkness, and weakness.

Everyone knows that the Devil is left-handed. In witchcraft, one lays on the left hand, and walks in counterclockwise circles to cast a spell.

In France, descendants "de la main gauche" means illegitimate offspring. The French "gauche" is used in English to mean awkward. In Italy, "mancino" means deceitful or crooked. Lefties are slandered in every language.

Discrimination, that's what it is. Minorities and Women Libbers have nothing on us. The thing to do is demand our rights (lefts?) like everyone else. Left handers, unite! One day we shall conquer the world. The worst we could do is turn it around.

VISITS SISTER HERE

Mrs. Imogene Myers of Azle visited Sunday with her sister, Mrs. L. W. Kitchen.

Caprock District president Woman's Culture Club guest

Mrs. O. C. Rampley, Caprock District president of The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, was guest speaker at the Oct. 24 meeting of the Woman's Culture Club held in the community room.

MRS. O. C. RAMPLEY

The Amity Junior Study Club and the Amity Study Club were guests, and as the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Jack Burress, president, she asked Mrs. Kay Hays to introduce members of the Amity Junior Study Club and Mrs. Ida Wilks to introduce members of the Amity Study Club. Also introduced were Mrs. Harold Green, first vice-president of the Caprock District and Mrs. Carl Griffing, both of Tahoka, and Mrs. James Davis, of Silverton.

Mrs. Rampley spoke on "Sustaining American Youth — Through Love and Understanding". She said the youth of today have more temptations than any other generation, due to a number of factors, lack of proper guidance and teachings. She also said The Woman's Culture Club of Post was "tops", always willing to accept responsibility and cooperate in all endeavors.

Refreshments were served to 36 members and four guests, by Mmes. M. J. Malouf, Jack Myers, Lee Davis, Ira Lee Duckworth and J. H. Haire.

Timely Tips from CHDA

By DANA FEASTER

WINTER SWEATER FORECAST

Whether we like it or not, it's time again for cold weather and winter clothes. But don't be discouraged. Some of your sweaters from the 40's and 50's might do just as well as the new ones of the 70's.

Sweaters with new looks and old will top winter fashions, according to most forecasters. The big looks in sweaters for fall and winter are dolman and kimono sleeve sweater jackets, puffed sleeves, crew necks, short midriff sweaters and knitted vests—most designed to create the multi-layer look.

Newest in line is the sweater coat, made into long, belted cardigans or heavy shawl collared coats. American designers pronounce cashmere sets back in fashion.

Matching cashmere cardigan sets go short or long and travel to almost every occasion—from casual coffee klatch to formal evening wear.

Many different textured yarns and fibers make today's sweaters, with emphasis on soft, hairy and nubby surfaces.

Included in these are wool, polyester, textured nylon, cotton, mohair, acrylic, angora, cashmere and increased use of metallic fibers.

Sweaters can be classified as either pullover or cardigan. As its name implies, the pullover pulls over the head, while the cardigan fastens down the front. Pullovers are popular as midriff topers, tank tops and turtle necks.

When you start your sweater shopping spree, take this handful of hints on seams, edges of ribbing, and reinforcement stays—all indications of quality.

They are as follows:
1. Look at seams. In the best grades of sweaters, the bands are joined to the sweater by hand looping, which continues the knitting without a seam.

2. Good strong neck finishes are important. Select a sweater with a double-looped neck finish. That means the ribbing is double with a fold on the neck edge.

3. Examine seams and buttonholes. Avoid crooked or uneven seams and buttonholes with a tendency to ravel.

4. If the sweater is long sleeved, be sure the cuff is well-finished on the reverse side to allow turning up.

5. Look for a firm reinforcement of either ribbon facing or knit banding. It's necessary to prevent buttonholes from pulling out.

Select a sweater two sizes larger than your blouse size. And one extra word of advice to shoppers, always try on sweaters before buying, since sizes aren't standardized.

Library Listening Post

By GEORGE L. MILLER

On Halloween I was scheduled to give a book review at the library. I had picked that day on purpose, thinking it was going to be a chancy thing at best, so I could label my efforts "Trick or Treat!" and let them decide which it was.

As things turned out, it was more of a trick than I had anticipated. I was called out of town, and had to miss the review, for which I apologize to all my loyal fans in readerland. I regret missing, and hope I can do better next time.

Pee Wee's been asking me to be sure and tell everybody that we can offer a special service for readers who have poor eyesight. The State library has a goodly number of books in extra large print which are so much easier to read. These books are on all kinds of subjects, including best sellers, mysteries, westerns, popular non-fiction titles — well, just about anything you'd want to read.

Pee Wee has been ordering these books regularly for some of our readers at the nursing home. She also was able to get a magnifying glass with light attached which adds to reading comfort. People who like to read, like to read! There's no getting round that. And isn't it great that we can continue to help them, even when their eyes are not quite what they used to be.

Like we keep telling you, we're providing a reader service at the Post Public Library, and the emphasis is on service!

I've gotten out of the habit of reading the past year. Isn't that a remarkable thing to hear me say? I'm the kind of reader—or used to be, that had to have a book in reserve in case I finished one and there was still an hour's reading time left to the day. I imagine I've been about books like an alcoholic is with his bottle. Never get caught without one.

But in the past year, I've slacked off. I can't seem to keep up with it any more. So many of the new books sound so thrilling, and then turn out to be dull as dishwater—for me at least.

I've been having the time of my life dipping into books of 50 years ago. Right now I'm reading "John Christopher" by Romain Rolland. I don't know much about him except he won the Nobel Prize, and I can see why. His book is one of the best written I've ever come across. It's about a young man who becomes a composer—somewhat like the life of Beethoven—and perhaps that's why I enjoy it so. It's also very very long, and not many people have dared risk it.

I've been doing some writing of my own, and that has taken up time I used to spend on reading. One thing I've discovered, I've gotten a little more choosy about what I'll read—now that I've become an author myself! (Scuse the bragging, please!) It used to be I could read and enjoy most anything—but not anymore. A book has to have some meat on its bones, or I just don't want to be bothered.

December bazaar being planned by club members

Plans for a bazaar to be held in December were made at the Oct. 28 meeting of the Amity Junior Study Club held in the Medical Center. Members are to meet at Wilke's on Tuesday and Thursday nights and Saturday afternoons to work on items to be sold at the bazaar.

During the business session various projects for the year were discussed, with the main project being to continue to upgrade the sponsorship of birthday girl Geraldine Bacca at Grlstown, U.S.A. in Whiteface. A shopping spree is planned for Geraldine and a weekend in Post, so all members will have the opportunity to meet her.

The next meeting will be Nov. 16 with Mrs. Martha Windlow presenting the program on "Montessori Method in the Home."

Mmes. Jan Bartlett and Patti Sappington served refreshments to Mmes. Judy Dobson, Marianne Hart, Sherry Haire, Kay Hays, Wynona Mock, Kathie Rankin, Sharlot Sparlin, Ann Tubbs, Sharla Wells, Margie Wilson and Windlow.

I miss the reading I did in the good old days, though. I used to be able to tell you where the good books were, and what made them good. Sure wish I could still do it. (Sigh!)

Post Antelopes

Denver City Mustangs

DENVER CITY

Friday Night, Nov. 3

7:30 KICKOFF

It's roundup time for Coach Bobby Davis' Post Antelopes tomorrow night—rounding up that herd of Denver City Mustangs, that is. This year the Big Red is reported 'on the way back.' Sporting a 5-1-1 record for the season, and 2-1 in district play, Denver City is battling Cooper, Roosevelt, and Tahoka for the district crown.

That means it's a tough assignment for the locals and a long road out—and back—for their fans, but at least the 'Lopes have had a week of rest and a little extra time to put in "few new wrinkles" as the coaches call them.

 Greg Mengden and his assistant, Dennis Moore from Texas Tech University in Lubbock were guest speakers on the subject of snakes Oct. 23 at a Science and Math Club meeting. Mr. Mengden presented information on a snake's movements and feeding habits and the environments of different snakes. He also brought with him a small variety of snakes from the boa constrictor to the rattlesnake, and showed the club pictures of hand-caps resulting from poisonous snake bites. Along with this he presented some remedies used when one is snake bit. The club then had a question and answer session.

PSAT tests taken by juniors here Friday

Most of the juniors got out of school Friday, but made up for it on Saturday when they had to get out of bed at 9:00 and meet up at the school library for the PSAT test. To enter college, you have to take the PSAT test and since the test was given this year most of the students jumped at the invitation.

Scholarship goes to Post student

ABILENE — Grady Shytles of Post has received a Tuition Equalization Grant scholarship for the current 1972-73 term at McMurry College, according to Wilford Moore, director of financial aid. This new TEG scholarship was enacted by the Texas State Legislature in 1971. It provides funds to assist students to attend private institutions. The maximum TEG scholarship grant is $600 per year. All students with 88 hours or less are eligible to apply for TEGs now. A student to qualify must be a resident of Texas and enrolled for at least 12 hours. Grady, a 1970 graduate of Post High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Powell Shytles of Post. He is majoring in English and minoring in theatre. He has been in the intensive care unit, but is out now and doing fairly well. The Southland School Halloween Carnival which was held this past Saturday night went over with a bang. Had a real good crowd and I think the carnival was very well planned. The teachers and students worked very hard to make it a success. The good word for today is: "SMILE — you might be on Candid Camera!"

We can hire an experienced person for a job that requires experience— ELECT WRITE-IN CANDIDATE O. G. (Junior) Shepherd for Garza County Sheriff

WRITE-IN
O. G. (Junior) SHEPHERD

O. G. [Junior] Shepherd has had 15½ years in law enforcement work and has proved himself most capable.

A Write-In Vote is more difficult than a vote for a Candidate whose name appears on the Ballot, but there will be no problem since we are permitted to ask the Election Officers how to mark the write-in Ballot correctly.

Since we have had so few 'WRITE-INS' in Garza County, it is necessary to recall how one votes for a Write-In Candidate. The last column on the Ballot is headed WRITE IN. To have a valid ballot on a write-in-ticket, one must mark a line thru the candidate's name in the Democratic Column, mark a line thru the candidate's name in the Republican Column, and WRITE THE NAME OF THE WRITE-IN CANDIDATE IN THE WRITE-IN COLUMN UNDER THE APPROPRIATE OFFICE TITLE.

Article 7.15, Sub. 13 of the Texas Election Laws states, in part, that 'if any Voter desires further instructions, an election officer shall give such information.' So if help is needed with your Write-in-Vote, it is legal to ask the election judge to explain it to you.

Article 8.13 AID TO VOTER Second paragraph, in part states — Instead of being assisted by two election officers, a voter who is entitled to assistance may select any qualified voter residing in the precinct to assist him. Before assisting the Voter, the person selected shall take an oath [which states in part] that he will prepare his ballot as the Voter himself shall direct.

Article 5.05 Sub. 15. Assistance to Voter [in part] if a voter is unable to sign his name, any signature of the Voter required by this section shall be made by the Voter's affixing his mark, attested by two witnesses.

It is permissible to vote a 'SPLIT TICKET' in the General Election. All Candidates for all Parties PLUS A WRITE-IN COLUMN appear on the Ballot. The Voters may vote for Candidates under each Party Column on the Ballot if it be his choosing to do so. Your vote is not restricted to any one party column.

Article 6.06 contains the following: The failure of a voter to mark his ballot in STRICT CONFORMITY shall not invalidate the ballot, and a ballot shall be counted wherein the INTENTION OF THE VOTER is clearly ascertainable. This should make the 'near correct' spelling of a write-in-name for a Candidate acceptable.

And taking the card with the write-in-name spelled correctly, to the Polls with you should cinch your Ballot being counted.

YOUR WRITE-IN VOTE FOR O. G. [Junior] SHEPHERD FOR GARZA COUNTY SHERIFF WILL BE A MOST APPRECIATED ONE. This name is an add one to spell, but would also be difficult to mistake for another name when the Intent of the Voter is being considered.

Post youth receives high Scouting award

James William Booth of Boy Scout Troop 316 is Post's newest Eagle Scout, having received his award at 3 p. m. Sunday at a South Plains Council Eagle Court of Honor at the First Baptist Church in Lubbock.

Young Booth, who is 15 and a freshman in Post High School, is the first Post Boy Scout to receive the Eagle Scout award since one went to David Hamilton, a former member of Troop 316, about five years ago.

The Post scout was accompanied to the Court of Honor by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Potts, with whom he makes his home; his scoutmaster, James W. Mitchell III and Mrs. Mitchell, and his assistant scoutmaster, J. R. Bell and Mrs. Bell.

Young Booth joined the Boy Scouts three and a half years ago in Charlotte, N. C., where his parents Dr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Booth, reside.

Robert F. Bouse, scout executive of the South Plains Council, presented the Eagle awards. Explorer Scout Jay Lynch of Rails was guest speaker at the ceremony. He gave the address on "Citizenship" which won the Reader's Digest Public Speaking Award in the South Plains Council.

A reception in Lower Fellowship Hall of the church followed the Court of Honor.

ing" we were given a number in Washington to call.

We were bounced in and out of the White House without results, and then referred to Nixon's campaign headquarters in Austin and back to the November Group's Washington office.

We chased — by telephone — the "decision maker" in Austin all over the state — Austin, Dallas, San Antonio but never caught up with him because he was reportedly "on a plane to Houston."

Finally, we got another nice feminine voice in the November Group's Washington headquarters to agree to our request. In fact, she called me. Our letter had been received in New York and forwarded to Washington for some action.

This "nice voice" promised to mail out the advertising authorization that day and to get the November Group's headquarters in New York to airmail us advertising mats for the President's Dispatch advertising series of three page ads.

None of this came through, except that our local sponsor did receive some general accounting office forms to fill out as a contributor to the President's campaign. We told him disgustedly to "file them."

But we did have some measure of success in all these efforts.

In talking to the Nixon campaign headquarters in Austin, we did awaken one former Fort Worth Star-Telegram staffer to the value of newspaper advertising. We got him so enthused we put him in touch with the Texas Press Association headquarters just a few blocks away. He said he was going to see what he could do. He ended up doing plenty.

In all our telephoning, we got back to him the next day and he wanted to know if even we knew there were about 800 newspapers in Texas and that it would cost $24,000 to put a quarter-page ad in each one of them for the President.

We told him of course we knew all of this, and we were glad he did too.
Well, he got busy, wrote a quarter-page ad, sent a telephone transcript to Washington for approval, got it back and placed it with the Texas Press Association for insertion this week in all 800 Texas papers.

So we started out trying to sell some advertising for The Dispatch and wound up with a quarter-page ad in all Texas papers, including The Dispatch (see on this same page).

That proved to our local advertiser for Nixon that Dispatch advertising doesn't cost — it pays. It didn't cost him a cent and his proposal got 800 quarter-page ads spread all over Texas.

We doubt if that "quarter page" will even pay half the phone bills involved in our effort, but it was fun. At least at the next press meeting we can prove to our fellow publishers this newspaper's slogan about Dispatch advertising.

They'll only have to jingle what is already in their pockets for that proof.

Rites for mother of Mrs. Criswell

A number of Post friends of the Rev. and Mrs. James A. Criswell were in Spur Monday to attend funeral services for Mrs. Criswell's mother, Mrs. Alice Smith, 70, who died about 9:50 p. m. Saturday in West Texas Hospital, Lubbock.

The Criswells, now of West Fork, Ark., were residents of Post until several weeks ago. He had served as pastor of the Trinity Baptist and Calvary Baptist churches.

Mrs. Smith, a native of Throckmorton, had been a resident of Dickens County since 1919 and was a member of the Bethel Baptist Church where the services were held at 2 p. m. Monday. Burial was in Spur Cemetery.

Mrs. Smith is also survived by two sons, Ted Smith of Spur and Billy Smith of Lubbock; a brother, Jesse Jones of Haskell; two sisters, Mrs. Vennie Lytle of Haskell and Lillian Townsend of Brownfield; 13 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

year the enduro had only a 50-mile rough country track, but this year two different 50-mile loops have been laid out from the same starting point, about six miles south of Post on FM 669.

There is no admission charge for this one for spectators, but watchers will be able to view the riders in the timed events only at certain points.

Racers use lighter and not as powerful "dirt bikes" for the enduro type events.
Lott explained that there are clocks at four check points along the route and riders receive penalty points for being either over or under the fast average speed the racers try to maintain.

The rider with the fewest penalty points wins.

The enduros will get under way at 8 a. m. that Sunday morning and will require at least six hours to complete.

A refreshment stand will be operated by Post Public Library volunteers throughout the racing day with Mrs. Patty Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Rosemary Chapman, co-chairmen of the refreshment stand fund raising effort. Any profits will go into the local library's memorial building fund.

Lott says local motels should be full for the weekend with many riders "camping out" Saturday night at the racing site.

Election—

The only other federal race at stake is that for U. S. Senator, where John G. Tower, Republican, seeks re-election. His opponent on the Democratic ticket is Barefoot Sanders, whose wife, Jan, campaigned here in his behalf a few months ago.

The polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Why You Should Re-Elect President Richard Nixon Nov. 7
LET'S LOOK At AGRICULTURE And STOCK RAISING
WE HAVE one of the most abundant supplies of food in history. Our exports of livestock, fresh meats, grain sorghums and grain are going to add many dollars to the general economy.
WE'RE SELLING COMMODITIES of which we've had surpluses—and we're helping provide jobs on trucks and ships at the same time.
HERE ARE SOME OF THE REASONS
PRESIDENT NIXON'S AGRICULTURAL ACT OF 1970 gave producers more flexibility and freedom in operations.
PRESIDENT NIXON'S ADMINISTRATION has turned around the farm situation that saw farmers get an increase in income of 6 per cent between 1951 and 1969 while wage rates went up 6 per cent every year.
PRESIDENT NIXON gave agriculture one of the most effective spokesmen in recent history by appointment of Earl Butz as Secretary of Agriculture.

95-yard kickoff return features freshman victory

The Post freshman football team defeated the Idalou junior varsity, 28 to 12, at Idalou last Thursday, with Edward Price returning a kickoff 95 yards for one of the Post touchdowns.

Coach Lane Tannehill's freshmen scored their first touchdown in the opening quarter when quarterback Bryan Davis passed 24 yards to end Mike Hair for a touchdown. Davis also passed to Hair for the extra points to make it 8-0.

The second quarter was scoreless, but Post lit up the scoreboard in the third when Davis went five yards on a quarterback sneak. The extra points try failed.

In the final period, Davis scored on a six-yard option play, with Hair executing an end around for the extra points to give Post a 22-0 bulge.

Idalou scored both its touchdowns in the fourth quarter. Price's 95-yard kickoff return following the first one.

"We were real proud of our team, and all the boys got to play," Coach Tannehill said.

Southland loses to Ira gridders

SOUTHLAND — The undefeated Ira Bulldogs brought their season mark to 6-0 last Friday night with a 42-13 six-man district win over the Southland Eagles on the Eagles' gridiron.

Ira piled up 16 points in the first quarter on a 43-yard run by Dale Wiggins and a pass from Donald Sellars to Steve Sallee covering 40 yards. Kirby Sterling kicked the extra points after both touchdowns.

The Bulldogs continued to pour it on in the second quarter. Sterling passed to Sellars for a touchdown, and later in the quarter Sterling traveled 19 yards for another score, and Wiggins went 47 yards for still another.

Meanwhile, the Eagles had managed to get on the scoreboard with a second quarter touchdown when Joe Bevers and Jerry Winterrowd collaborated on a 53-yard pass play.

The first half ended 34-6, but Ira made it 42-6 in the third period on a 38-yard run by Richard Dave, with Sterling booting the extra points. Southland made it seven points closer in the fourth quarter when Bevers passed eight yards to Winterrowd, and the same combination clicked for the extra point to make the final score 42-13.

Gregg Lester, Steve Buxkemp and Ray Garza played well on defense for the losers.

The loss left Coach Dan Kennedy's Eagles with a 3-4 season mark and a 2-2 district record to date.

This Friday night, Southland goes to Patton Springs for a non-conference game, with the kickoff scheduled for 7:30.

PICKS POST TO WIN

Pete sees upset for Friday night

For the second week in a row, Pigskin Pete, The Dispatch's football forecaster, hit on 11 out of 13 predictions, missing the boat only in picking Haskell to beat Hamlin and SMU to whip Texas Tech.

The 11 out of 13 gave Pete an .846 percentage for the week and a season percentage of .832 with 90 right and 33 wrong.

With the end of the season approaching, the games are getting tougher, but the fearless forecaster polishes up his crystal ball and makes the following predictions (his choices in capital letters).

POST at Denver City. Didn't Missouri upset Notre Dame and Colorado on successive weekends?

COOPER at Slaton. Pirates still very much in contention for 5AA championship.

FRENSHIP, open date. Tigers have Cooper and Slaton remaining on their district schedule.

TABOKA at Roosevelt. Bulldogs still shooting for championship, and they have the guns.

Dimmitt at FRIONA. Chiefs to bounce back from Littlefield defeat at expense of Bobcats.

LITTLEFIELD at Morton. Wildcats smell another district championship.

Class of '52 to gather at ranch

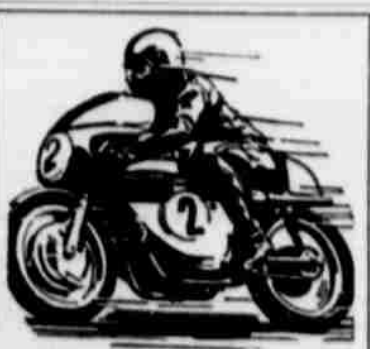

The Jack Kirkpatrick Ranch is where the Class of 1952 will be meeting for their 20-year reunion.

Mrs. Jack Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Giles Dalby are in charge of affairs, and informed the Dispatch Tuesday morning that all members have been notified by mail and over two-thirds of the members have answered.

A noon meal will be catered by Jackson's Cafeteria Friday, Nov. 10, and then visiting will be enjoyed until game time.

GUESTS OF RAMSEYS
John A. Greer Jr. and his wife, Evelyn, of Pine Bluff, Ark., arrived Monday to spend several days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard S. Ramsey. Greer is Mrs. Ramsey's brother and has been affiliated with the International Paper Corp. in an executive position for a number of years.

Post JV's defeat Dimmitt, 6 to 0

It was close all the way between the Post and Dimmitt junior varsity teams at Dimmitt last Thursday night before Coach John Alexander's Post team scored a touchdown in the third quarter to clinch the verdict, 6-0.

The Post team scored on a 55-yard pass play from quarterback Randy Josey to Jerry Johnson. The pass covered about 25 yards with Johnson taking it in the rest of the way.

Coach Alexander described the game as a "defensive struggle on a cold night," and said his team of sophomores played exceptionally well on defense.

The game between Post and Dimmitt was originally scheduled to be played at ABERNATHY, but later developments switched it to the Dimmitt gridiron.

First Christian Church sermon subject told
The sermon subject at the First Christian Church Sunday will be "Better Start Hitchhiking NOW. Laymen!" The Lord's Supper will also be observed. There is a supervised nursery.

Church school begins promptly at 9:50 a.m., according to Bill Crane, superintendent.

Bernard S. Ramsey, minister, is continuing his series of messages each Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock on "The Life and Teachings of Jesus Christ."

The public is cordially invited to all services.

OLTON, open date. Mustangs have Littlefield and Dimmitt left.

Rails at ABERNATHY: Another rough Friday for Jackrabbits.

Idalou at FLOYDADA. Whirlwinds to make it eight straight.

Lockney at TULIA. But Longhorns could surprise, even on Hornets' home field.

Anson at BALLINGER. This game should go a long way toward deciding 6AA championship.

Stamford at HAMLIN. Pied Pipers getting tougher.

HASKELL at Winters. Indians to hit comeback trail, but it may be too late.

MULESHOE at Levelland. After week's rest, Mules should handle Lobos.

BROWNFIELD at Lake View. Dunbar beat Lake View by only 7-3, so Cubs in for rough evening.

TEXAS TECH at Rice. Raiders proved they're "for real" with SMU victory.

Let's Finish the Job!

Last spring Texas voted to clean out those implicated in the Sharpstown scandal. But there's one still around, State Treasurer Jesse James.

The State Auditor's Report shows that Jesse James, the State Treasurer, parked more than $10 million in the Sharpstown Bank. James left $4 million idle in a Sharpstown checking account for over two years, earning absolutely no interest.

The taxpayers of Texas, through state deposits placed by Jesse James, bankrolled the wheeling and dealing of Frank Sharp.

State Rep. Maurice Angly of Austin was one of the original small group of legislators who stood firm last year and spoke out for a full investigation of the Sharpstown case.

Rep. Angly needs your help to finish the job. He's running a hard race to clean up the State Treasury.

Angly's campaign pledges are simple: I will never play favorites. I will put excess state funds to work earning maximum interest consistent with sound business practices. I will run the treasurer's office honestly and efficiently as a public trust for the taxpayers of Texas."

Let's finish the job. Vote for Rep. Maurice Angly for State Treasurer on November 7.

And if you want to help now, please send your contribution to Angly for Treasurer Comrn., P. O. Box 9114, Austin, Texas 79766.
