8 members make debut of youth center

City-county youth center opened last Thursday with an attendance of 128 people, including children and adults, David Chaffin, district director, said today that the center's membership of 83 and that it had an average attendance of 40 a night. Membership is open to young people from 13 years of age, or in the eighth grade, through 19.

The center's ping pong tables arrived Wednesday and will be placed in use for the first time tonight. The center is open from 5 until 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

AS SCHOOL CONCERNED

Kindergarten here

Bill Shiver is still the "special word" from the National Agency in the attempt to map the program here for the school year.

Board of education met to meet July 13 and were promised by the program ordered by the legislature shortly.

According to Austin reports, the legislature did not appropriate enough money for the program to make it a full-day kindergarten, so the state board was considering either half-day kindergartens (which would mean two daily bus runs), or split years with students going full-time either the first or second half of the year.

Shiver told The Dispatch yesterday that due to cost involved to the school district, which could lead to a tax boost here that the official requirements of the Texas Educational Agency on the new kindergarten requirements are awaited before the district presents any plan to school trustees for consideration.

For the last several years, kindergarten has been basically a special opportunity for the disadvantaged. Whether the state school board might retain this program for those with language difficulties too would further complicate the kindergarten situation.

Slogan contest set by Post Chamber

Post Chamber of Commerce directors need a slogan to go on automobile bumper stickers that are being purchased to help boost the Post community.

The directors decided at their regular meeting last Thursday at the Drover House to conduct a contest for a slogan and offer one of the Post "Golden Jubilee" dinner plates as first prize.

Entries in the slogan contest should be dropped off at or mailed to the Chamber of Commerce office before the next directors' meeting, which is Aug. 9.

The directors also voted to have 5 1/2 by 7-inch post cards (See Chamber, page 10)

Southland school assessments and appraisals face court action

Suit filed by 9 men

A group of nine prominent Southland area farmers and business men have filed a suit in Garza County district court to block the Southland school board from carrying out what the plaintiffs describe as "arbitrary, confiscatory and discriminatory school district tax assessments and property appraisals."

District Judge George H. Hansard last Friday issued a temporary restraining order against the Southland Independent School District and set 10 a.m. Monday, July 23, as a time for the hearing on the suit.

Filing the "class action" on behalf of others as well as themselves against the Southland school district and Max Chaffin, the district's tax assessor and collector, were: J. Martin Basinger, Jack Haire, J. D. Basinger, Arthur Smallwood, R. H. Lewis, C. C. Lee, Sam Ellis, Ronnie Dunn and Pat Taylor.

The six-page petition alleges that the school district "refused to accept the tax roll lawfully rendered and proposed by the tax assessor-collector and arbitrarily raised all assessments by 30 per cent without regard to actual appraisals; discharged the tax assessor, and without any person in office increased the assessment above that of the assessment for county and state tax roll for the current year."

The taxpayers bringing the suit also alleged that "the clear provisions of the Texas Constitution were violated by deliberately omitting from tax rolls properties belonging to residents, citizens and property owners within the jurisdiction of the school district."

According to the petition, this referred to the listing of all types livestock, appliances, motor vehicles, boats, stocks of merchandise, the amount and value of bonds and stocks other than U. S. bonds, and the amounts of money held by individuals in banks, to name only a few of the taxable items of personal property listed in the petition as omitted from the tax roll.

"Unless the plans and actions described are prohibited," the petition stated, "by temporary restraining order and injunction the defendants will close the tax rolls for 1973 and will attempt to collect taxes on the basis of such unlawful tax rolls and will thereby create a lien against the property of the plaintiffs which action would be an unlawful taking of plaintiffs' properties and would cast a cloud upon their title without due process of law and would cause the plaintiffs irreparable damage for which there is no adequate remedy at law."

The petition said the plaintiffs "are all ready and willing to pay reasonable taxes upon their respective property upon a fair and equitable and uniform tax roll being prepared, and this suit is not brought for the purpose of avoiding the payment of fair taxes."

This spring the Southland school district rejected a proposal to consolidate with the Slaton school district and then voted for a bond issue to build a new Southland school.

On another Southland school district front, Pat N. Walker, local attorney who represents the Southland Independent School District in its current delinquent tax drive has filed 34 delinquent tax suits against school district property owners in district court here and a date has been set for a sheriff's sale on these properties.

Talk about resort weather?

Glen Barley, Post's "weather man", reports that since last Thursday the temperature hasn't topped over 88 degrees one single day. One day the high was 86.

Moisture-wise, Post officially picked up 86 of an inch of moisture since last week's Dispatch with 69 of an inch falling last Friday and 17 of an inch Tuesday.

And speaking of water, Al O'Brien out at White River Lake reports that the water district is having no problems pumping Post about two millions gallons of water daily, which includes a large amount for area water flooding.

Al says the Post line is pumped about capacity for 20 to 21 hours out of the 24 and that the Post line now takes about two-thirds of all the water pumped to the four member cities (3 million gallons daily is the summer peak). He reports no problems.

Gets 10 kinds of vegetables

Those frightened by threatened food shortages should go out and take a look at Mrs. Jurd Young's garden at her home at Two Draw Lake.

Mrs. Young reports that she gathered 10 varieties of vegetables from the small garden Saturday morning. The vegetables included two kinds of peppers, tomatoes, okra, peas, beans, squash, cucumbers, lettuce and carrots.

"And it won't be long until I'll be getting watermelons, cantaloupes, muskmelons and beets from my garden," Mrs. Young said.

While gathering the vegetables Saturday, Mrs. Young caught a jumbo grasshopper. "But it had to go to waste," she said, "because Jurd wasn't feeling well enough to take it and go fishing."

ANNUAL EVENT IS AUG. 9-11

Plans progressing on '73 Stampede Rodeo

Because it will be the 33rd annual one, the 1973 Post Stampede Rodeo to be held here Aug. 9-11 will be older than most of the contestants.

And plans are going forward by officers and directors of Post Stampede, Inc., to make this year's show one of the most outstanding in its 33-year history.

The Post Stampede group is getting a big assist from the Post Chamber of Commerce, which has put up one-half the $200 to be paid as cash prizes to winners in the rodeo-parade's float and decorated bicycle contest. The rodeo group itself is putting up the other half of the parade prize money, in addition to paying for the trophies to be awarded the parade's top three riding groups and the most typical young cowboy and cowgirl.

Bucking S. Rodeo, Inc., of Lawton, Okla. headed by Harrel Smith, is the new producer for the 1973 Post rodeo. Bucking S.

produces many of the outstanding rodeos in the Southwest, and is one of the top producers ever contracted with for the local event, rodeo officers here said.

This year's regular rodeo events will be bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding, calf roping, team roping and girls' barrel race. There will be one go-round in the riding events, one run in the barrel race, and one head of stock in the calf roping and team roping. In addition to the six regular rodeo events, there will be a wild mare race each night.

There will be $100 added money in saddle bronc riding, and all entry fees will be added back in each event. The rodeo will be conducted under RCA and GRA rules.

This year's specialty act will be L. V. Sanders' performing horse and dog every night of the rodeo.

The opening day parade will be at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 9. Each night's grand entry is scheduled for 7:45, with the rodeo performances to follow. There will be a dance each night on the enlarged dance slab at the Post Stampede arena, with music by Weldon Reed and Solid Country.

The rodeo office at the Post Stampede arena will open Monday, Aug. 6, according to Tommy Young, secretary.

Firemen haul youth up out of canyon

A 15-year-old Houston youth, here on vacation visiting his mother and sister, fell about 15 feet into Cooper's Canyon, south of town, Saturday afternoon and had to be helped out by the Post Volunteer Fire Department.

The youth, Alton Orr, was on a hike to the canyon with four Post boys when his foot slipped on a rock at the edge of the gorge and he fell into it.

He suffered torn ligaments in his left foot and spent from

Saturday afternoon until Tuesday morning in Garza Memorial Hospital.

The boys who were with him, seeing there was no way they could get him out, went to a house on the Gail highway and called the police dispatcher, who, in turn, called the firemen and an ambulance.

The firemen had to lower ladders into the canyon to get the youth out. He is the son of Mrs. Joy Orr Franklin.

"WISH YOU WERE HERE"—While the rest of Garza County sweated in the summer heat, seven 4-h'ers and leaders last week attended the annual 4-H Electric Camp, sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company. Those attending from Garza County were, back row, left to right: Connie Percy, Darlene Gunn, Genevieve Kennedy, Cindy Bird and Mrs. Dana Feaster, county home demonstration agent. You might be a winner

There are a couple of things residents of Garza County can have fun participating in the next few weeks, and the Post Chamber of Commerce has a hand in both.

One of these "things" is the Chamber's slogan contest and the other is the 33rd Post Stampede Rodeo parade to be held Thursday, Aug. 9.

Chamber of Commerce directors decided at their last meeting that they need a catchy, meaningful slogan to go on bumper stickers they are buying to advertise the town.

The slogan contest will be publicized in The Dispatch and by Chamber Secretary Kay Lamb in the Chamber's newsletter. The deadline has been set for the next director's meeting, which will be the second Thursday in August. Come to think of it, that will be Aug. 9, the opening day of the rodeo—which we'll get back around to in a minute.

Have fun by entering the slogan contest. There'll be a prize for the winner. Enter as many slogans as you wish; just remember to keep them short and snappy. Mail them to the Post Chamber of Commerce office so they'll reach there before Aug. 9. And remember to include your name and address.

Getting back to the rodeo, the Chamber directors are so anxious to see a big opening day parade for the annual Post Stampede that they are putting up $100, to go with another $100 from the rodeo association, as cash prizes for floats and decorated bicycles.

Since the rodeo is only about three weeks away, it's time for clubs and other organizations to start thinking about and working on their floats. First, though, make sure you let the Chamber of Commerce office know that you are entering one. They'll need all that information before they'll be able to organize the parade.

So, for the next few weeks think slogans and parades. You might come out a winner.—CD

Stumbling block crops up

We knew there would be all sorts of stumbling blocks in the rewriting of a state constitution, but we hadn't thought of the nine constitutional amendments to be voted on in November as one until some of the members of the Constitutional Revision Commission indicated so themselves.

When the commission's finance and local government committees recently met in Austin to discuss areas of mutual concern, one of the members said he was disturbed because the commission must present recommendations Nov. 1, some of which may actually be reversed when citizens go to the polls Nov. 6.

Amendments to be considered come November include homestead rights for single adults, annual sessions for the Legislature and authorization of cities to levy ad valorem taxes to pay for general obligations.

The commission member, Beeman Fisher of Fort Worth, is also worried that voters may think they are voting on a new constitution in November of this year instead of 1974.

The member from Fort Worth might have something there. Many voters are sufficiently confused over the constitutional amendments alone, without having the water muddied by the fact that they know there is a vote coming up some November on a new state constitution and that it might be this November instead of next.

However, there appears to be nothing commissioners can do about the matter, although Tony Bonilla of Corpus Christi suggested they take an official position urging that all amendments be defeated pending the commission's recommendations for a new constitution.

That would be typical Texas voting, wouldn't it? Anything to make an election cost the state more than it is worth. If the Corpus Christi member's suggestion is followed, holding the constitutional amendment election in November would be like pouring money down the proverbial rat hole, where the election cost money would be splashing right after the money it had cost the state to publish the required newspaper notices on the amendments.—CD

There is a logical explanation for the depression of the stock market. It dips every time a president gets sick, and we understand that President Nixon has an acute staff infection. — Sig H. Atkinson in Brownfield News.

The politicians have convinced us that some of them have to be liars. — The Rails Banner.

IT IS IMPORTANT that people read newspapers with understanding, think for themselves, and take responsible action when they believe it is necessary. One of the best ways to take responsible action is to write a letter to the editor.

This time-honored way of presenting different viewpoints and ideas is an important part of our free society and our free press, but all letters cannot be printed. Oftentimes space is lacking; sometimes the words or ideas may be spiteful, abusive or even libelous. But, most readers and writers have the opportunity to say what they think. In this way, free speech and a free press will continue to guarantee a free and open society.

THE DISPATCH usually prints every letter it receives, providing it is up to the generally accepted standards for letters to the editor. And we, here at The Dispatch, believe that these letters are widely read when they are printed, because we hear so much about them.

Something we can't do, of course, is print telephone calls—and we get many more of them than we do letters to the editor. Some of the calls are commending us or criticizing us for something we printed, and some are from folks speaking out on community issues. Many of these telephone calls are worth printing—and would be printed if the person making the call would put his words on paper and mail them to us instead of speaking them into the telephone mouthpiece.

WE GOT SUCH a call Thursday morning from a reader who said our editorial on Post's Fourth of July celebration was not complete because it did not mention the fact that some 100 people were not fed at the barbecue because the food ran out. We told the caller (who, by the way, identified himself) that the news story on the celebration stated that some people did not get barbecued chicken because it ran out, but that our figure in the news story was not as high as the one he mentioned over the telephone.

The caller's figure on the number of people not being fed because of the food running out might be much nearer correct than our own. Perhaps we were carried away by the over-all success of the celebration, and might not have been as jubilant over it if we had inched our way forward at the end of a long line only to be told when we got to the serving table that there was no more chicken.

BUT, AS WE said in the beginning, we do appreciate such telephone calls—especially from a reader who reads the editorials before he does the news. And he is as right as rain in being critical of the "food shortage" at our celebration. We're just glad that it wasn't worse than what it was, regardless of which of us is right on the number not fed. Perhaps the ones in charge of the food learned something that will keep them from running out again next time.

BUT, to be logical about it, what actually happened was that there was as much food as there was at last year's celebration—but there were many more people to be fed.

Someone who knows that I collect odd names wants to know if I know that the name of the president of the Texas Tourist Council is Robert W. Kneebone. No, I didn't know it, but I'm glad to have it to add to my collection.

WOULD YOU GUESS that trees are one of the greatest dangers to drivers? It's because they grow in the middle of roads! At least that's what 514,000 American drivers claimed last year when they hit one.

Carlsbad doctor named in suit

A former Post woman has filed a $150,000 lawsuit in U.S. District Court at Lubbock against a Carlsbad, N. M., physician alleging personal injuries and negligence.

Kathryn (Kate) Vervalin of Petersburg brought the suit last Thursday against Dr. A. J. Nadworny of Carlsbad in connection with an incident at the Carlsbad Regional Medical Center on Aug. 16, 1971.

Mrs. Vervalin said that she went to the emergency room of the medical center after a piece of meat lodged in her throat and claims that in attempting to free the meat the doctor ruptured her esophagus.

She alleges the injury caused her lung to collapse and become infected, resulting in painful and permanent injuries to her throat, esophagus, stomach and

OUT OF GAS?

By Bernard S. Ramsey

Perhaps no city in America has been hit harder by the alleged gasoline shortage than Denver, Colo., my wife and I spent the first week in July there visiting our son, his wife, and three grandsons. At one time it seemed as if we were going to have to pitch a tent there or start walking the some 600 miles back to Post. Station after station had out signs "Out Of Gas," one hospitable dealer had this sign out front "Sorry, Out Of Gas, But We've Plenty Free Water And Air!"

On the Thursday afternoon before we intended to return to Texas the following Friday and Saturday, I decided I was going to get my tank filled with gas by "hook or crook"; you know preachers can be pretty good at pulling "fast ones" now and then. I have to confess that I even toyed with the idea of buying a length of hose and reverently siphoning a bit of the magic fuel for the "Lord's chariot" out of some unsuspecting heathen's tank! But such drastic measures were not necessary. I drove into an Exxon station just a few blocks from my son's home. There was only one way I could drive into the station—a queue of automobiles three blocks long were headed into the station from the opposite side. But they had a very limited supply of gasoline and were pumping it into the cars as they lined up on each side of one pump. The attendant told me to drive around back of the station and take my place in line. This I did, but how was I going to squeeze 125 inches of automobile into a line of cars three blocks long—and bumper to bumper? No way!

So I just parked as close to the line as possible and shut off my engine. No sooner had I done so than a fine-looking young man got out of his sporty Ford Pinto, leaving his young lady friend in the Pinto. He walked over to our station wagon and all around it and then came to speak to me—I was still in the car. He said: "Sir (that impressed me)...my girl friend and I have been waiting two hours and a half in this line to get out of gas...But there is something about you that makes me think you are a preacher." I knew it was hoped then—most of the time if a man looks like a preacher, has two strikes on him! But he continued "So, there was again)...now that I've seen the fish on your bumper I pretty sure you're a preacher." I admitted was. He continued: "I also see you're from Texas, good state; great people! Tell you what you do, Sir!...at the car in front of us moves up in line, you just drive right in front of us...We'll take the chance of not getting any gas and let you get your tank full." Far be it from me to ignore Paul's fine word of counsel to me, Timothy: "Let no man despise thy youth." And I'm exactly as I was told. In 22 minutes flat my "runneth over" with gasoline. Incidentally, as I look back place in line there was a tremendous blast of the blocks of automobile horns—doubtless they were cheering the generous hospitality of my young man. Afterward I took time to step back and shake hands with them and say "God bless you both and God love you. How I wish I had had presence of mind to get your names and addresses.

What's all this got to do with going to church? Everything. For one thing it confirms what I feel about our youth today...The vast majority of them are "juvenile delinquents"—but we old fogies forget to appreciate of them. And then: "Are you out of gas?"...You can no more get from Post to Denver without spiritual fuel than we could get from Denver Post without gasoline. So why not drive to the church, your choice this coming Sunday. Tell the attention behind the pulpit "Fill'er up!"...And who knows...he'll do just that!"

UT is helping cope with energy crisis
AUSTIN—The University of Texas is doing its bit this summer to help cope with the current energy crisis. It has begun shutting down air conditioning in 23 campus buildings for 38 hours each weekend, when many of the buildings are not in use. The shut-down period extends from the end of the work day on Friday until 4 a.m. on Monday. The reduction of power has effected a saving of 1,600,000 cubic feet of natural gas per weekend.

Nancy Maddox and Nita Gunn are winners in 4-H dress revue

Nancy Maddox and Nita Gunn were winners in the senior and junior division, respectively, of the Garza County 4-H Dress Revue held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the community room. Alternate winners were Irene Sanchez in the senior age group and Katrina Chaffin in the junior age group.

Misses Maddox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Maddox, and Gunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gunn, will represent Garza County at the District 24-H Dress Revue at the First Christian Church in Lubbock Thursday, July 26. The theme for this year's dress revue was "Fashion Fiesta." The theme was carried out in the decorations with sombreros, festive flowers, and a live senior played by Darlene Gunn. The decorations were done by the Close City 4-H Club.

The script narration was prepared and read by Lois Flunt, chairman of the Home Demonstration Council. The welcome and awards presentation was given by Dana Feaster, county Extension agent.

A practice modeling session was held on Monday night under the direction of Patsy Sanderson to prepare the girls for the revue. Katrina Chaffin, a Pleasant Valley 4-H member, decorated the programs.

The judge for the dress revue was Billie Morris, county extension agent.

An ice cream supper was held recently in the City-County park for Mrs. Lewis Pierce and her children and families. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Ammons and girls of Front Royal, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jenkins and sons of Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Billy McKamie and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hair and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Don Ammons and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Dean and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Hair and son.

Marcia Newby wed to Robert Brenden

Miss Marcia Newby and Robert Andrew Brenden exchanged double ring wedding vows Sunday, July 14, at 2 p.m. in a meadow at the Faraway Ranch in Norwood, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. David Newby of Post are parents of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Elaine Brenden of Denver, Colo., and Andrew Brenden of Grand Junction, Colo.

The Rev. James Hall, director of the Ghost Ranch of Abiquiu, N. M., performed the ceremony.

For her wedding the bride wore a white formal gown of dotted swiss trimmed with eyelace. She wore a wreath of wild flowers in her hair and carried an antique willow basket filled with wild flowers.

The bride's and bridegroom's rings were handcrafted by the bridegroom.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the meadow under a red and white striped canopy.

Approximately 100 guests were served a buffet dinner from picnic tables.

Nancy Brown and Company, friends of the couple, played and sang folk music during the reception.

After a wedding trip to Grand Lake, Colo., the couple will reside in Norwood, Colo.

Out-of-town guests were from San Francisco, Calif., Chicago, Ill., Fort Worth, Denver and Post.

Aug. 22 is set as wedding date

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lon Baker announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Joy Lynn, to John William Redman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Redman.

The bride-elect and prospective bridegroom are students in Post High School.

The wedding date has been set for Wednesday, Aug. 22.

VISIT SISTER HERE

Mr. and Mrs. True Rosser and Mr. and Mrs. Neal Vervalin were here from Petersburg Sunday to visit Mr. Rosser's and Mrs. Vervalin's sister, Mrs. Ira (Fritz) Greenfield, who was readmitted to Garza Memorial Hospital early Sunday.

VISIT PARENTS HERE

The Rev. and Mrs. Lewis McMahon of Kankakee, Ill., visited over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. McMahon.

Mrs. Lillian Nance is Priscilla hostess Kaye-Hutchins betrothal told

Mrs. Lillian Nance was hostess for the July 13 meeting of the Priscilla Club.

Ten members and three guests enjoyed visiting, knitting and sewing.

Those attending were Mes. Viola Kuykendall, Stella Bre-shars, Mary Goodwin, Evelyn Neff, Odie Kemp, Wanda Cox, Emma Mueller, Irene Mitchell, Vada McCampbell, Vada McBride, Rose Askins and Miss Mueller.

A man has to put up with a good deal in life—he also has to put up for a good deal more.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kaye of Houston announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Karen, to James "Bo" Hutchins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hutchins of Post.

The couple plan to be married Aug. 11 in the Southwest United Methodist Church in Houston.

Program is on portraits at Guild meeting

Mrs. Jan Bell presented the program on portraits in charcoal during the July 9 meeting of the Post Art Guild in the Reddy Room.

Mrs. Bell conducted a discussion on charcoal portraits and exhibited some of her portraits. She concluded the program with a demonstration in which she did a charcoal portrait of Mrs. Evelyn Neff. She also announced that a workshop would be conducted July 23 with members participating in sketching with charcoal.

Mrs. Marie Neff, president, presided during the business session. The art classes that are to be conducted by Biggs will be held Oct. 22-26.

Mrs. Lil Conner, hostess, served refreshments to the following members: Mes. Evelyn Neff, Marie Neff, Lucille Richardson, Ann Bishop, Inez Hartel, Lois Williams, Iva Edwards, Inita Cannon, Mineola Stewart, Bell and Mr. Bill Craig.

Most drivers know the rules of safety on the road, but too few practice what they know.

1. Intriguing costume can be as disconcerting to your partner as your opponent.
 2. Don't make your partner fetch all the loose balls around the court. He may abhor the helpless type.
 3. Compliment your partner generously but unenthusiastically when he makes a good shot. His ego is the key to his performance.
 4. Don't chat with the other players or the bystanders.
 5. Play the net uncomplainingly if your partner asks you to. He may have a reason.
 6. Always play your best; men prefer to win.

Improvements made on area community center

By MRS. GLENN DAVIS
The H. D. club will meet in the center next Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. Not with Rene Fluitt as first announced.

We thank all those who worked on the center building last week. They put paneling on the walls and repaired the air conditioner and other improvements.

Mr. and Mrs. Quannah Maxey, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClellan and Mrs. Willie Mason, visited in Lubbock Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Duff Green and later with Mrs. Bernice Probst.

Mrs. Brenda King is visiting in Post with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Sparlin.

Jay Scott Stone of San Antonio received a very nice gift when he graduated from high school this year. His uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Aimo and family gave him a plane ticket to Germany for a visit with the family this summer. Jay Scott is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Stone and Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClellan.

We extend sympathy to all the relatives of Mrs. Eula Mae Oden. The family once was residents of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ledbetter visited Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClellan.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Thuet Sr., visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Wade Terry.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossett met Rev. Douglas Gossett and Mrs. Gossett of Matador in Lubbock recently and had lunch with them and Donald and Keith Gossett.

Mrs. Wade Terry returned home last week from the hospital after having major surgery. She is recuperating well at home.

The Graham Church of Christ will have a gospel meeting from July 21 through the 29. Everyone is invited to attend.

Bill McMahon is feeling some better. We wish for him a continued improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Ritchie and Mr. and Mrs. Elvius Davis attended a musical in Meadow Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thelbert McBride visited Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fluitt. Mr. and Mrs. Delwin Fluitt and family were Sunday luncheon guests.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stone recently attended funeral services in Waco for Mrs. Stone's sister-in-law, Mrs. Ora Stanley. We send sympathy to the relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fluitt and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Morrel went to Kingsland last Monday and returned home on Thursday. They didn't have any luck catching fish but had a nice enjoyable outing.

Shannon Edwards of Hurlwood is visiting friends here this week. Mr. and Mrs. Jason Justice visited Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossett.

Sunday afternoon visitors of the Carl Fluitts were her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks of Olton and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Morrel of Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClellan recently visited in Post with Mr. and Mrs. Morris McClellan. They also visited one evening with Mr. and Mrs. Bill McMahon and Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fluitt.

Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Peel were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Byrd and family and Mr. and Mrs. David Haoten.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Carpenter and family visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Waggoner Johnson and family.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. James Stone last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean Jr. and family of Captain, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Pierce and family of Lubbock.

Mrs. Clovis Tucker, Bobby and Joy of Lubbock visited Saturday with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fluitt visited Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Bill McMahon.

'Breath of Life' Week proclaimed by Mayor

A proclamation officially declaring July 23 as Breath of Life Week in Post was signed into effect today by Mayor Giles C. McCrary.
In signing the proclamation, Mayor McCrary urged all citizens to support the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation's Breath of Life Campaign, conducted by the North Texas C-F Chapter on behalf of children who suffer chronic respiratory diseases.
Mr. and Mrs. Georgie Willson and Mrs. Charles Tubbs, 1973 chairmen of the fund raising drive for the chapter, stressed that parents and prospective parents should become more aware of the symptoms of cystic fibrosis, the most serious lung-damaging disease, and the

VISITING PARENTS
Mrs. Richard Fontaine and daughter, Alison of Abilene were here this week visiting Mrs. Fontaine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Herring, who, with Miss Pam McCrary, have just returned from a six-weeks trip to Australia and New Zealand.

Mayor McCrary reported that a tremendous upsurge of scientific interest in genetic diseases is being felt throughout the world. "This heightened interest will benefit research under way to find a control for C-F, which is considered a model for genetic disorders."
"Most of us are lucky and don't have to think much about the act of breathing," said Mayor McCrary, "but these children can't take breathing for granted. They need our support and understanding, and I hope every citizen will regard their struggle for breath as a very personal matter."

Horse Sale is set for Boys Ranch

SAN ANGELO—Bill Shaw, 1973 West Texas Boys Ranch Roundup chairman, has announced that a special horse sale will be held in Brady at Brady Livestock Commission Company, Thursday, Aug. 2, to benefit West Texas Boys Ranch.
Miers Johnson has said that all horses consigned for sale with proceeds to go to West Texas Boys Ranch will be sold without commission charges. Shaw has requested that anyone who has any horse that can be hauled, ridden, or walked to the sale that you would like to donate to the Ranch, be donated at this time. If you would like a horse picked up ahead of time, you may call Benny Friend at West Texas Boys Ranch, 949-1936.
Shaw said the special horse sale is a new feature of Roundup this year and urges everyone who wants to get rid of a horse to consider donating it to West Texas Boys Ranch. All such gifts are tax deductible and are badly needed right now.
Anyone wishing more information can contact either Bill Shaw or the West Texas Boys Ranch office.

Art student design to aid heart drive

AUSTIN—A simple, but striking, design by a University of Texas art student will be used by the American Heart Association, Texas Affiliate, on 300 billboards in the state this summer.

The billboard message reads: "Perform a death-defying act; have your blood pressure checked."

The design was created by Mary (Dixie) Langridge of San Antonio, under the supervision of Assistant Prof. Leonard Ruben, an advertising design expert on the UT art faculty.

Babe Ruth '9' is still in running

Post's 15-year-old Babe Ruth League All-Stars lost to Lynn County, 3 to 4, Tuesday evening in the District IV tournament, at Lamesa, but are not out of the running yet, since the tournament is a double elimination affair.

The Post team's next game will be at 6:30 p.m. today (Thursday), but who their opponent will be was depending on the outcome of other tournament matches.

Each team got back to Lynn County's win over All-Stars, with Danny Saldivar and Dudley the loser.

Lynn County scored in the bottom of the Post tied it up in the walks to Buddy Britton, Saldivar and King's single.

Lynn County regaled, 3-2, with a run in the fourth, but Post again in the sixth on Britton, Saldivar and Koslan and a fielding error.

Lynn County scored in the bottom of the game when Dudley walked, Villareal and Britt hit, and Britton brought home Allen Nettles brought with a two-bagger.

Post's final run came seventh on a single by walk to Bryan Davis and by Dudley.

Howell qualifies for state meet

Ralph Howell placed third in the mile run, intermediate division at the West Texas AAU Junior Olympics in Borger Saturday to qualify for the state AAU Junior Olympics at Robinson, near Waco, on July 28.

Of the seven boys Coach Lane Tannehill took to the Borger meet, Howell was the only one to qualify for the state contest.

Tim Tannehill tied for first in the 50-yard dash and placed second in the long jump in the bantam division, and Edward Price placed fifth in the long jump, senior division.

Other Post boys taking part in the Borger meet were: Mark Odum, bantam division; Benny Kennedy and Bradley Howell, midjet division; and Terry Holloway, junior division.

Tahoka nips O'Donnell for LL tourney title

Tahoka won the championship of the Area IV Little League Tournament here Tuesday night by defeating O'Donnell, 5 to 2, and Slaton won third place by edging Post, 5 to 4.

The champion Tahoka team's next stop will be the district Little League Tournament in Lubbock.

In first round games Monday, O'Donnell bombed Post, 16 to 7, and Tahoka won over Slaton, 4 to 2.

Slaton came from behind with four runs in the fourth frame to beat the Post All-Stars for third place in the area tournament here. Each team scored a run in the first inning, with Brent Terry, who had singled, crossing the plate for Post.

The locals went ahead, 3-1, in the second inning when Mike Dye drew a walk and scored on Mike Holly's double, with Holly scoring on an infield error.

Trailing 5-3 in the bottom of the sixth, Post made it one run closer with Jeff Williams' lead-off home run, but Owen Gilbert, Dye and Holly went down on ground-outs to end the game.

Danny Gunn was the losing pitcher, yielding seven hits, while Post came up with five in a well-played game.

Dudley helps in win at Olton

The South Plains All-Stars, whose roster includes three Post players, defeated Alamo, 7 to 0, Tuesday in a first round game of the West Texas 16-18 State Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament at Olton.

Richard Dudley of Post got two hits in the South Plains team's shutout win. Other Post members of the team are Leroy Holly and Tony Conner.

Winner of the double elimination tournament will advance to the five-state regional tournament next week in Kenedy, Tex.

Chamber

printed containing four scenic views of Post. Ed Neff, Don Ammons and Secretary Kay Lamb were named to work on the post card project and submit ideas for the directors' approval.

The secretary informed the directors that Ben Owen is making a sign for the "Yard of the Week" contest to be sponsored by the Women's Division and that the contest is scheduled to start when the sign is delivered.

Another Chamber business breakfast was scheduled for September, at which time the newly-purchased Nativity Plate will be on display. The plates are in a limited, numbered group and the first five of the plates will be auctioned off at the breakfast. After that, they will be on sale at the Chamber office and business places.

The directors agreed to make a donation to the downtown park being built at the site of the former Algerita Hotel after it is determined what is needed there.

In support of the new youth center, the group voted to purchase 30 folding chairs for the center's use.

The secretary made a report on the Fourth of July celebration and said "thank you" letters had been mailed committee chairmen, food donors, money donors, clubs sponsoring booths, the City of Post, the fire department and all entertainment groups.

Although the Herrings have been just about everywhere else on their buying trips, this was their first time to visit Australia and New Zealand. Miss McCrory had been to the Orient, but it was also her first trip "down under."

Herring said upon their return here that he was amazed at the devaluation of the American dollar abroad. "The rate of monetary exchange as far as our dollar is concerned has about hit rock bottom in Australia," he said, adding that it takes $200 in our money to buy from $138 to $140 in their money.

blood pressure, giving your heart and brain a better chance at good circulation. It is well demonstrated that cigarette smokers have more trouble with blood vessel disease than do people who do not smoke. With all the publicity about cigarettes and lung cancer, it is interesting to observe that more man-years are lost from the effect of cigarettes on heart disease and stroke than are lost from the effect of cigarettes on lung cancer. It's not that cigarettes don't cause lung cancer—but rather that so very many of us die from heart disease and strokes.

"Excess weight is the next factor that imposes a burden on the circulation. Fat doesn't just get made and then lay around innocently as a storehouse of energy. The body spends a considerable amount of energy to maintain that useless, heavy fat in good condition. We say it's natural to gain weight as you get older. NUTS! It's not any easier for any of us to carry fifty pounds of fat around now than it was ten years or so ago. If any of us has that increased fitness, I'll bet he isn't fat! The reason we get heavier as we get older is that we form appetite habits when we are ten and twenty, and then gradually get more and more able to get out of work, but we keep the same eating habits. But we don't naturally get a younger, more healthy heart and pair of lungs to keep the fat nourished. Fat really is a burden to the heart and lungs.

"There has been a lot of talk about cholesterol and low cholesterol diets. I am not at all sure that for most of us that it would hurt to forget about all that. But it is certain that there are some people who have increased amounts of one or another type of fat in our blood stream, and for these people it is advisable to correct the abnormality. Strange, for some people, the necessary correction is to eat a diet low in starchy foods, but other people benefit more from a 'low cholesterol' diet. The only way to tell for sure is by a blood test. I usually recommend this for patients who have some of the other characteristics that I have mentioned which lead to heart attacks or strokes. You need to know the warning signs of diseases of circulation to the heart or brain, because these warn of heart attacks and strokes.

"Heart attacks often occur completely without warning, but may be preceded by a chest pain, usually on the left side, usually not sharp like a knife but rather dull and squeezing, and usually made worse by exercise, by exposure to cold, or appearing after a heavy meal. If you have these signs, a doctor should know. If they are beginning for the first time, he should know immediately. I repeat—if you have dull squeezing heavy left chest pain, don't wait. Most deaths from heart attacks occur in the first hours after pain begins, very often before the person sees fit to go to the doctor. Another thing—An electrocardiogram can give a clue to heart trouble, and a single EKG taken during a spell of severe chest pain can be hard to interpret. It helps to have a normal EKG taken a year ago or so to compare with. Every person over 40 ought to have a cardiogram every five years, unless his doctor tells him otherwise. I believe that this is really important, especially in men.

"Strokes give warning by brief spells of dizziness, confusion, clumsiness, or vision disturbance. These spells often involve only one side of the body. Treatment is available for these conditions which often give a clue to a bigger than average chance of a full blown stroke.

"CANCER! That is a scary word! The reason it is so terrifying is that it sneaks up on you, and that you can't always cure it when it does. The thing to do about cancer is to avoid the things that make it more likely to occur, and to pay attention to the things that give you notice that it has begun. The most common, and most curable, kind of cancer is skin cancer. If you've got a place, especially on your face, that you wonder about, especially one that is changing, or a sore that won't heal, or something that has to do with the sun, go see a doctor about it. Maybe something can be done about it that won't even leave a scar. The next common cancers are different for men and women. They include breast cancer, and cancer of the cervix in women and lung cancer and cancer of the intestinal tract in men. So for women, the big things are monthly breast examination and annual Pap smears. By these techniques, these cancers can be caught early enough so that they can be cured about 80 per cent or more, of the time. Lung cancer is first noticed by a recurrent cough, or a recurrent pneumonia, or by a routine chest x-ray. Cure is not so likely with lung cancer—so it's important to try to prevent it. The more you smoke and the longer you smoke the more likely you are to develop a lung cancer. We all know of people who have smoked for hundreds of years and don't have lung cancer. Nobody knows why some people's lungs seem able to resist the irritation better than others, but the statistics say that if you smoke you are much more likely to have a lung cancer than if you don't.

"Cancer of the stomach and intestines is really tricky. The warning signs are pain, change in bowel habits, anemia, the appearance of blood (often black and sticky) in the bowel movement. If you notice these things—that stomach pain just doesn't seem ever to go away—I've gotten to where I always have to take a laxative—my wife keeps telling me I look pale. Ask your doctor about those things. Get an annual check-up. You treat your car or your tractor that well.

"TRAUMA—accidents. We all know what there is to say about that. Traffic is responsible for a lot of deaths. Please wear your safety belts. I have not yet seen one person with my own eyes, either my own patient or someone else's, who died as a result of a seat belt. I have seen very few patients who have serious injury during an automobile accident who were wearing a seat belt. The closest contact I have had with a patient whose death could have had anything to do with seat belts was a lady who died after a head-on collision at highway speeds near Snyder. She was fat and a lot of fat was crushed as a result of the injury. She died several days after the accident, after doing well for the first day or two. I expect she would have died instantly if she hadn't been wearing a seat belt.

"Oh yes—And tetanus. An adult needs a tetanus booster every ten years. It is really better if you carry a card in your wallet telling the date you had your last one.

"ARTHRITIS—Briefly— I know you've heard about all you're going to listen to— arthritis is, for most of us, a disease of wear and tear. Really, the only reason I am mentioning arthritis now is to tie it in with overweight. The more you weigh, the more of a load the joints, particularly the knees, carry, and the sooner they show painful signs of wear.

"EMPHYSEMA. Some people get away from smoking as far as cancer is concerned, but I don't think everyone who smokes as much as a pack a day suffers some simple mechanical destruction of lung tissue. I don't know if I'm getting away with my four to six cigarettes a day or not. Emphysema does get some better if you quit smoking, but if you've already got emphysema and have to smoke to cough in the morning to get to where you can breathe enough to bend over and fasten your shoes, you really need some medical help. But even then, quitting smoking helps.

"One more and I'll stop. Diabetes. To some degree, this is an inherited sort of disease. But once again, weight has something to do with it. Diabetes is aggravated by stress, such as infection or pregnancy or obesity. Pregnant girls who run high blood sugars and urine sugars usually go back to normal for many years after the stress of pregnancy is over. Many fat people who have diabetes can control their disease by losing weight. If they had never gotten fat they would never have known they had diabetes at all!

"That's all. Nothing you didn't already know.

"Don't smoke.
"Fasten your safety belts.
"Get your blood pressure checked—don't wait until you are old and already in trouble.

"Get a physical exam every year or, at most two, and see if we can find any thing we can help.

"Control your weight.
"Honestly, these things really will make a difference. Good luck!"
