Record fields predicted for cycle rodeo, enduro

Saturday night, most of Sunday

Record fields are forecast today for both the second Post Motorcycle Rodeo, to be staged at the Post Stampede Rodeo arena Saturday night, and the third Caprock Enduro, which will take most of Sunday over a 100-mile cross-country course laid out on the U Lazy S Ranch south of Post.

No advance registration was taken for the motorcycle rodeo, but 425 had registered up to last Saturday for the enduro and a total of about 500 entries were expected when the first two dirt bikes roar away from the starting line at 8 a.m. Sunday.

The biggest previous entry list for the enduro was 400 set last spring.

The Motorcycle Rodeo, which gets under way at 7 p.m., features four classes and eight events on a busy program. They include the long jump, barrel race, keyhole, boot race, balloon bust, flag race, 125 flat track and open flat track events.

Sixty-four trophies will be awarded to winners and runners-up in the various divisions and events.

Proceeds from the rodeo will go to help finance a dirt track practice area for local dirt bike riders here which is expected to be ready for summer use.

The Post Motorcycle Club will come back with another big Fourth of July Motorcycle Rodeo too, club officers have announced.

The Caprock Enduro is a 100-mile cross country race, but not of the speed variety. It is a six-hour event in which riders are given penalty points for passing through various check points on the course either too fast or too slow.

The 100 mile course is laid out in two loops through the rugged range country, one on each side of FM 669 with the starting point of each just off the highway. Riders go the first 50 miles in the (See Cycle Weekend, page 9)

Easter Art Show set for Saturday, Sunday

Post's community center, between the bank and the post office, will be the scene again this year of the Post Art Guild's annual Easter Art Show this Saturday and Sunday.

With small sculpture work being accepted for the first time, the number of entries is expected to eclipse last year's record number of more than 225 entries.

Dr. Emilio Caballero, professor and chairman of the Department of Art at West Texas State University, will judge the exhibits.

A display of W. Earl Chapman Jr.'s handcrafted jewelry will be an added attraction during both days of the art show.

Purchase awards totaling $950 are being offered at the show and are to be presented the winners at 4 p.m. Sunday following a talk by Dr. Caballero.

The juror's selection cash award of $100 is being donated by the Post Art Guild. There will also be a total of $250 in purchase awards from multiple donors: $150 from the First National Bank, $100 each from Giles C. McCrary, Rocker A Well Service and Dalby Cattle Company, and $75 each from Burlington Industries and Texaco, Inc.

The show will be open to the public from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday and from 1:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday.

The entry fee is $3 for each painting or sculpture, no limit, and each entry may be offered for sale if the artist desires.

Dr. Caballero holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from WTSU, Master of Arts degree from Columbia University, New York City, and a Doctor of Education degree from Columbia.

At WTSU, where Dr. Caballero has been for 22 years, he is currently teaching creative hobbies, watercolor painting, individual art (See Art Show, page 8)

McCrary wins 3rd term as mayor

Mayor Giles C. McCrary won his third two-year term here Saturday as 502 Post voters turned up at the polls to give him a 71-vote margin of victory over Ewell E.

(Gene) Gandy, 284 to 210.

In the only contested race in the Post school trustees election, Mrs. Margie Wilson polled 210 votes to 166 for her opponent, Bobby Cowder, to win place 3 position on the school board.

Board reorganizes after Saturday's trustee vote

Short, secretary.

New board members, Mrs. Margie Wilson and Bob Macy, and reelected trustee, Earl Chapman, were sworn in following the canvass of Saturday's school trustee election results.

Trustees again named Pat N. Walker to collect the district's delinquent taxes, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1973 by a unanimous vote.

The proposition to grant $3,000 homestead exemptions to persons 65 or older was tabled. Supt. Bill Shiver told the board that District Tax Collector Ira Greenfield had estimated such exemptions would mean an $8,000 to $9,000 revenue loss.

Upon Shiver's recommendation the following four teachers were voted contracts for the 1973-74 school year: Mrs. Patricia Thompson, Mrs. Tanya Buchanan, Mrs. Lee Norman and Mrs. Delores Maley.

Supt. Shiver gave each trustee a nine-page report on the school's vocational agricultural program for individual study for the board's later determination if it wishes to re-direct emphasis in the program.

The school administrator told the board after Mrs. Wilson was sworn in as a trustee that Mrs. Wilson's mother-in-law, Mrs. C. R. Wilson, who has been employed as a teacher (See School Board, page 8)

JOB GOES TO LES BROWN

One officer hired to handle adult, juvenile probations

The Garza County Commissioners Court Monday implemented only half of the federal grant for a county probation officer at an annual salary of $7,500 with 10 cents per mile car allowance.

District Judge George Hansard of Lamesa has appointed Les Brown, former deputy sheriff, to the position to handle district court probation cases and County Judge

Giles Dalby concurred by naming him to handle county court probations.

Judge Dalby told The Dispatch yesterday that Brown, who meets all the legal qualifications for an adult probation officer, also will handle juvenile probation cases as well.

J. B. Potts, Earl Chapman, and School Supt. Shiver appeared before the court prior to the action to urge commissioners to also name a juvenile probation officer.

No secretary, as also provided in the grant, was hired, but Judge Dalby indicated some secretarial help may have to be provided once the officer gets fully into his duties.

In other actions, the court: Decided that the county will pay county employees premiums for Blue Cross Hospitalization insurance with the employees having the option to add their dependents at their own cost.

Approved a contract between Garza County and the Lubbock County Department of Public Welfare, retroactive to Dec. 11, 1972, for medical and foster care of dependent and neglected children.

Rejected the only bid received, that of $19,716 from Pharr Construction Co. for the construction of two bridges in Precinct 4. (See County court, page 8)

City lets contract for 30 blocks seal coating

Contract for 30 blocks of seal coating was let by the Post city council Monday night to High Plains Pavers, Inc., of Plainview on its low bid of 21 cents a square yard, which totals $10,978.80 on the 30 blocks originally set up for seal coating by the council and its consulting engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, Inc.

At the same time, the council instructed the representative of the engineering firm present at the meeting to authorize the contractor to adjust his bid to include some ten additional blocks of seal coating.

The funds to pay for the seal coating were earmarked from revenue sharing funds at a recent meeting of the council.

Also at Monday night's meeting, which was the council's regular April session, the councilmen: Voted to pay 30 per cent of the net cost of ambulance service for city and county residents "at such a time as private emergency ambulances cease operations here."

Voted to advertise for bids on a new police patrol car and a pickup truck for the water department.

Agreed to a proposal by Mayor Giles C. McCrary that he suggest to the city's newly appointed community-youth center committee the possibility that operations be started at the proposed center with a paid youth director and a nominal amount of recreational equipment.

SPINE TINGLING

Senior class play scheduled Tuesday

A series of murders, voodoo, and a female impersonator create chaos and confusion in a small New England farmhouse.

All of these events and many more make up the Senior class play, "Mumbo Jumbo," to be presented at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 17, in the primary school auditorium.

"Mumbo Jumbo" is a mystery farce by Jack Barnard, describing the confusion when a murder cannot be solved because the house in which it is committed sits in two counties.

The characters are John and Sarah Reynolds, the couple who own the house; (Danny Lee and Jan Bilbo); Dick Reynolds, a college student (Roger Pace); Peelee Smith, Dick's pal and a female impersonator (Bill Hudman); Tweety, the hired girl (Jo Beth Gandy); Monahan, the state trooper (Rodney Compton); Harold Custer, a very polite young man (Randy Kennedy); Mrs. Custer, his aged mother (Crystal Nichols); Mr. Peter Beamish, a blind man (Rusty Conner); Dr. Gaza Omahandra, a West Indian mystic (Johnny Minor); Kay Samed, his ward (Phyllis Eckols); Madame Celesta, a Haitian witch-woman (Gail Browning); Peaches Greeding, a chorus girl (Gaynell King); Lem Marablehead, sheriff of Milburn (Tol Thomas); Emma Burpee, sheriff of Hope County (Colleen Gilmore); Daisy, Emma's 10-year-old niece (Terri Shedd).

We don't try to please everybody

There is an old saying that if man wants to get along with everybody, he should do nothing, say nothing, and do nothing.

In a manner of speaking, the same holds true for a newspaper. If it wants to get along with ALL its readers, it shouldn't express an opinion different from the opinion of any one of them. If it does, there is going to be at least one reader the newspaper doesn't get along with—which keeps the newspaper from being unanimously popular.

The only way a newspaper would ever win a popularity contest would be by printing nothing except the news, and even then it would be stepping on someone's toes, since every newspaper has at least a few readers who don't think even news should be printed—if it affects them in any manner.

This newspaper has long made a habit of expressing its opinion on matters of public interest, and shall continue to do so. Any newspaper that doesn't isn't worth the paper it is printed on. We step on toes, and we get our own toes stepped on in return. That's as fair an exchange as anyone could ask for.

We don't think any community of wide-awake, progressive people would want a newspaper that never expressed an opinion. If you think we're wrong, find one of those kind of newspapers and see how long it will hold your interest.

So, keep right on criticizing us when you read an opinion of ours with which you don't agree. And don't retaliate with that old worn-out platitude that the newspaper holds an unfair advantage over the offended reader because he doesn't have a newspaper of his own in which to answer us. We have a "Letters to the Editor" column, and any reader who disagrees with an opinion in this newspaper can write us a letter giving "his side". That way, just as many people will see his opinion as saw ours.—CD

Paul Revere's ride rewritten

The debunkers are at it again. They told us long ago that George Washington neither chopped down a cherry tree nor threw a dollar across the Potomac. Then they told us that Columbus didn't discover America.

And now they tell us that Paul Revere did not ride through the streets of Boston or Lexington or Concord, never saw the lanterns in the Old North Church—which were the wrong signals anyway—and found three of his compatriots with their girl friends during his famous midnight ride of April 18, 1775.

That's what Richard W. O'Donnell writes in the April issue of "Smithsonian," a Smithsonian Institution magazine.

In debunking the historical legend of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, O'Donnell says that "the famed poet took other liberties with the facts about Revere that have been believed by generations of Americans."

According to O'Donnell, the eve of the Revolution found Revere safely in Boston after having asked a friend to hang lanterns in the church to tell patriot soldiers across the river in Charleston whether the British were coming by land or by sea.

As it turned out, according to O'Donnell, the lantern-couriers gave the "two if by sea" signal.

"The British rowed only a short distance," however, "then made the rest of the trip on foot," O'Donnell writes.

Revere, meantime, was on his way to Lexington, but not to warn the citizens, he says.

Revere had made the same trip two days before to tell the minute men of British plans to attack Concord and to get them to remove their ammunition supplies.

The second ride—the one immortalized by Longfellow—was "primarily to warn revolutionaries Samuel Adams and John Hancock to leave town" before their imminent arrest.

There is more, much more, to O'Donnell's story, but it saddens us to have gone this far in describing the debunking of another American legend. Who, or what, will be the next victim? Will they tell us that Benjamin Franklin never flew a kite, or Molly Pitcher didn't grab the ramrod from her dying husband's hands and ram home the cannon shot that decimated a troop of British soldiers?—CD

Cattle too high—or too cheap?

As a neighboring editor pointed out in a recent issue of his newspaper, the current attempt to organize a boycott of the nation's meat counters seems a little unfair.

"We don't recall any attempt at an organized boycott when the auto industry raises the price of new cars," writes David Penn in the Olney Enterprise. "Nor," he continues, "when the clothing industry increases prices on wearing apparel, the cost of building materials went out of sight, interest rates soared or the cost of medical attention rose, to mention a few areas. Nor have we heard threats of boycotts when increases in wages and salaries are made."

In the same vein, here is something one of our readers handed us, suggesting that we show it to people who complain about meat prices.

—If the price of choice steers had gone up as fast since 1950 as the price of a first-class postage stamp, steers would be bringing $77 per hundred.

If beef prices had increased as much as medical care, steers would be selling for $72.34.

—If the rise had been as fast as hourly pay, the figure would be $80.60.

—Compare to the cost of having a baby, steers would be bringing $119.13.

—Compared to the daily cost of hospital service steers would bring $179.69.

GIVEN MY CHOICE, I'll take a long, hot summer anytime over a long cold winter—which is what we've had, even if the first day of Spring did come on March 21.

The man up the street says the trouble with the guy who talks too much is that he often says something he hasn't thought of yet.

CUSTOMER COMPLAINTS about the cost of beef always have caught the ear of the Texas Department of Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reports.

Back in 1916 when all food was in short supply and high-priced because of World War I in Europe, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Fred W. Davis ordered his staff to study the feasibility of commercializing jackrabbits.

THE RABBIT was regarded as a pest because it would insist on eating the farmer's grain. It looked like a chance to decimate the rabbits and fight the high costs of beef at the same time.

A banquet was given by Commissioner Davis at the Driskill Hotel in Austin on Dec. 6 and duly reported by the Austin American as a "success." The rabbit was served in soup, fried in country style, broiled in a fricassee and served in a salad.

ALL PRAISED the rabbits which they had eaten and endorsed rabbit meat as an offset to the high cost of living. What was said about the jackrabbit and "his little cousin, the cotton tail, would have made them blush with pleasure, if they had not been in the stew," the Austin newspaper reported.

It didn't work, though. They didn't get rid of the jackrabbits, and people found Texas steaks were better off than ever. But if I know my wife like I think I do, the Easter bunny better watch out when it comes hopping out around our house.

A SMALL TOWN is the place where a fellow with a black eye doesn't have to explain it to people... they already know.

And there is a junkyard near a railroad crossing in Colorado that carries a sign directed to the motorist: "Go ahead. Take a chance. We'll buy the car."

YOU SEE A lot of people out walking just for exercise these days, and you'll see a lot more as the weather gets warmer. Walking is excellent exercise, but it isn't safe for everyone. In the large cities there are areas where it is positively dangerous because of the likelihood of being "mugged." In some suburbs pedestrians are viewed by residents as potential robbers, casing the neighborhood "for jobs." One has to live in the country or in one of the smaller cities like Post to enjoy walking to the fullest.

After two years of serving as presiding judge of the Garza Hospital District election, I've found that holding elections in libraries isn't as tiresome as holding them in a place with bare walls. Because of no contests in this year's hospital district election, voters were relatively few and far between last Saturday and I, along with my election helpers, Mrs. Ray Hodges and Mrs. Keith Kemp, was able to catch up on some of my reading.

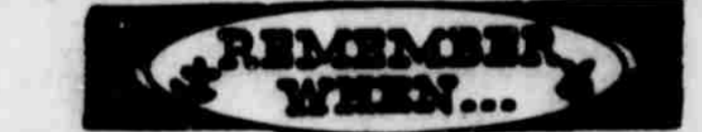

THINGS SLOWED down soon after we got the election under way, and I grabbed the first book on the library shelves, which happened to be a rather old copy of a collection of short stories. I got almost through the book before the day was over, and among the stories I read was Washington Irving's "Rip Van Winkle," which I had last read while in high school. Old Rip, most of you will recall, was the Dutchman who went hunting one day and, through a strange chain of circumstances, slept twenty years in "one night."

Reading about Rip's long snooze must have had some effect on me, because when Librarian Pee-wee Pierce came in to help out in the election after the branding was over at the U Lazy S Ranch, she found me almost asleep—and went next door to the City Hall after a cup of black coffee to wake me up.

EASTER ISN'T until April 22, but April 15 is too near to suit many taxpayers.

STUDENTS SHARE PRIZE CROSBYTON — "Crosbyton — Crown of the Caprock" has been selected by the Chamber of Commerce as its official slogan. Oddly, this identical slogan was submitted by two Crosbyton High School seniors, Janie Snodgrass and Barbara Greene, who will share the $10 winner's prize offered in the slogan contest.

LCC chorus to sing in Post on April 18

Post area residents will have an opportunity to enjoy the magic of 42 young voices blended in song at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 18, when Lubbock Christian College Meistersinger Chorus presents a 60-minute concert of sacred music in the Church of Christ auditorium here.

Numbered among this year's LCC chorus is a student from Post—Miss Karen Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Potts. "This is one of the truly outstanding choruses in the Southwest," said J. B. Potts. "I hope all Post area music lovers will be able to hear their unique a cappella presentation."

The chorus program will feature hymns, spirituals and special concert numbers. Included will be a "Sermon in Song", a regular feature of the LCC Meistersinger Chorus since its organization in 1960.

Two smaller groups, drawn from the chorus, will also perform on the program. They are a men's quartet and a women's octet.

One of seven major musical organizations of Lubbock Christian College, the Meistersinger Chorus is under the direction of Charles Cox, instructor in the LCC Music Department.

Lubbock Christian College is a four-year liberal arts college that also offers special programs in agriculture and vocational training. It has about 1,100 students, and its 120-acre main campus is located in Lubbock.

'Preparedness' is speaker's subject at class meeting

By CONNIE FLORES

Guest speaker Coach Lane Tannehill spoke on "Preparedness" at a recent meeting of the Home Economics Cooperative Education class.

The speaker stressed the following points:

In order to achieve success a person must first accept himself as a unique individual striving to reach his full potential. To do this, a person must first maintain a positive attitude, pinpoint his strong and weak points, be creative and imaginative, acquire the feeling of happiness, and get the winning feeling.

The way an individual feels inside himself is more important than what he shows on the outside. To be able to succeed means putting in your time and effort to reach your goal, no matter how many times you have previously tried.

Failure is when a person quits and no longer seems to care. Yet, inside each one of us really does care about what we do.

Coach Tannehill also recommended the book, "Psycho-Cybernetics," by Maxwell Maltz, who is a part-time plastic surgeon and psychiatrist helping people put their feelings into their actions.

Mrs. Marion Wheatley and the Cooperative Homemaking students would like to thank Coach Tannehill for taking his time and being with us to share what we each must look forward to on the road to success.

EVERYONE WELCOME

Potluck By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN

I received the loveliest letter and gift postmarked from Justiceburg last week. It's certainly pleasant to have an anonymous friend who enjoys "Potluck". Now, every time I see anyone from Justiceburg I think, "Maybe that's her", and love them all.

My favorite guest at the U Lazy S Branding Saturday was a young German girl who drove up from Big Spring with her new husband. When asked to pick out her own brownie from the large selection offered, she said, "You pick it for me—I want something very American". (To give credit where credit is due, she was given one of Ruth Young's.)

Like Norman Mailer in "Advertisements for Myself", the rest of this column is going to be devoted to one of my own crazy schemes. I hope that I can get a better response than he did!

How many times have you told someone in the grocery store or elsewhere that you knew you needed to exercise but it was just too horrible and boring to do it by yourself? If you just had some other poor soul to suffer with you, the story goes, you could do it. Well, now's your chance to test that particular old theory.

Recent bride is shower honoree

A bridal shower honoring Mrs. Jay Bird, the former Miss Cindy Long of Goodland, was held April 5 in the home of Mrs. Bob Macy. Approximately 50 guests were greeted from 7:30 to 9 p.m. by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. C. B. Hightower of Goodland, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Jimmy Bird, and grandmother, Mrs. D. D. Smith of Arlington.

Sisters of the bridegroom Misses Sherry, Cindy and Dana Bird, members of the house party, served punch and cookies from a table laid with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of blue and white flowers, the bride's chosen colors. Cutglass appointments were used.

Hostesses were: Mmes. Rex Allison, Lil Conner, Polly Cravy, Jan Bartlett, Nelda Dalby, Janet Hall, Katherine Johnson, Helen Miller, Elizabeth Hart, Patsy Sanderson, Ida Mae Wilks and Nancy Macy.

Ross. The chapters' "Girl of the Year" elected by secret ballot at Monday's meeting will be announced at the banquet.

The last regular meeting of the year, which was scheduled for May 28, has been changed to May 31 due to conflict with high school commencement.

SEEKS INFORMATION

Dear Editor:
I am seeking information about Art Names. During the 1930's and 1940's he operated a traveling tent show which I think played in this area. I am searching for information about him and his show with the ultimate hope of writing his biography. I would like to hear from anyone who knew him who would be willing to correspond with me about their memories. I would also like to hear from anyone who might have pictures, letters, poems, or other memorabilia about Art Names or his troupe.

ECOLOGY—WHAT CAN YOU DO

With each new environmental issue that comes up, I seem to get more and more ecology-minded. I feel I should do my part, and I want my neighbor to do the same. I fall short at times because being ecology-minded takes more time and more concern; and there are also conveniences that I just don't want to give up—like plastic waste bag liners.

But, when I see two of our citizens out picking up "litter" on the Clairemont highway near the cemetery—it reaffirms my belief that I can and should do my share. What can you do about the environment? Below are some things that you and I can and should do. Become ecology-minded. Develop a respect for the environment. Realize that it is people who pollute. Do your part to eliminate pollution.

Become as informed as you can about the problem of the environment. Form responsible viewpoints based on factual information. This is your responsibility as a good citizen.

Let yourself be heard on issues on which you are informed. Write a letter to your local newspaper editor concerning ecological issues about which you feel strongly. Write phone, or tell your views to your local officials, state representative, and congressman. If you are a stockholder, write the president of the company and ask him what "our company" is doing to improve environmental quality. Investigate the type of sewage treatment and garbage disposal your community uses. Is it adequate? Support conservation groups and clean-up campaigns. Find out what your local school system is teaching on ecology and the environment. If nothing is being taught, find out why. What can you do about it?

All of the above are more or less public things you can do, however, there are private things too.

For short distances, either walk or ride a bicycle.

Share transportation with your friends and neighbors when possible.

Buy lead free gasoline when possible.

Buy returnable bottles rather than throw-away bottles and cans.

Buy products which are packaged in cardboard or paper containers instead of plastic containers.

Buy products which have a minimum amount of packaging.

Take your own reusable "tote bag" to the store to cut down on the use of paper bags and wrapping paper.

Turn out lights when they are not really needed in order to use less electricity.

Avoid buying colored tissue since the dyes pollute water.

Avoid having the radio and TV

Questionnaire devised on industry attitudes

AUSTIN — A questionnaire devised by two University of Texas scholars makes it possible for a city to survey what attitudes its citizens have about new industry.

Drs. Grandy Bruce and Robert T. Green of the UT Marketing Department say the feelings of citizens frequently are overlooked in economic development plans.

Because it reveals a "profile" of citizen thinking, the survey model can be useful in measuring public support for new industry as well as in identifying types of industry a city's residents would find most desirable.

on when you are not really listening.

Turn the water off while brushing your teeth.

Run your dishwasher only when it is fully loaded.

Measure and use a minimum amount of dishwashing and laundry detergent.

Use air conditioning and heating only to the extent needed.

Repair all leaky faucets and toilets as soon as possible.

Buy either low phosphate detergents or soap.

Crush your metal cans and paste-board boxes before putting them in the trash.

Use pesticide sprays and dusts only when absolutely necessary.

Use a litter bag in the car.

When you see a litterbug, pick up his discard and politely hand it back to him.

It is up to you and me as citizens to do something about the quality of the environment. After all, it is the quality of our lives and the lives of our children and future generations with which we are concerned.

Guide to Texas state agencies is published

AUSTIN — The maze of Texas government may appear a little less complex with publication of an up-dated "Guide to Texas State Agencies" by the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs.

The University of Texas school has put into the 230-page manual a description of each of the State's 221 agencies. A bonus document is a large fold-out diagram featuring an organization chart of Texas state government and an illustration of how bills become law.

Copies of the new guide are $10 each (plus five per cent tax) and may be ordered from the LBJ School of Public Affairs.

Crucified and The Third Day Rise Again

By Robert D. Griffin

Mr. Henry H. Barstow has a poem entitled "If Easter Be Not True" in which he declares that Christ died in vain and we as Christians have no hope, but praise the Lord, He is risen indeed, Easter is true! He was crucified on Calvary's hill on an old rugged cross and He also arose just as He said.

clothes, and are pressing up and on in the wake of His resurrection and ascension.

These are the two poles of the Christian life—Death and Resurrection. That which was true in the history of our Lord must have its counterpart in our own experiences. That Jesus died and rose again is not only the dual basis of justification, but it is the dual basis of sanctification. Did He die? Then we must arm ourselves with the same mind. The crucifixion was not finished on Calvary, it has continued through all ages, and will continue unto the end, not in its stoning aspect, but with the view of each man denying himself and taking up his cross to follow daily. So also we are perpetually leaving the things of time and sense where Christ left his grave.

It is a solemn question, how far we are participating in this daily dying and daily rising. "Be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed; Mortify your members which are upon the earth; seek those things which are above. If one died for all, then all died that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him who died for them and rose again."

Jesus simply asked the disciples to "come follow me, deny self". That is all He asks of us today. We must declare with the apostle Paul, "I am crucified with Christ, nevertheless I live." Easter is true, but is it true in your heart and life?

If your six year old saw something like this, would he know how to phone for help?

It's too important a question to leave to chance.

That's why we're running this ad.

If there are any six- or seven-year-olds around your house, teach them how to report emergencies. Tell them to dial "0", give their name and tell the operator where they are and what's wrong.

With older children, train them to dial emergency numbers direct, since that's the fastest way to call for help.

But don't stop there. Copy down the emergency numbers listed on the inside front cover or first page of your telephone directory. Add your family doctor's number. And the number of the nearest hospital. Next, tack up the list near your phone.

Then get your kids to memorize it, in case it gets lost.

By the time they're through memorizing those numbers, they're going to have every grown-up in the house knowing them, too.

Which is also why we're running this ad

Production costs increase in '73 may offset higher farm receipts

COLLEGE STATION—"Farmers and ranchers will have to exercise severe cost control to protect their income levels in 1973," says an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "This year agricultural producers can expect higher gross receipts, but production expenses are increasing rapidly."

According to Wayne Hayenga, "Farm production costs rose more than 7 per cent across the nation last year. And the trend may continue in 1973." Farmers profited last year because of higher than normal prices they received for their product. "Unless price increases keep pace with increase in production costs, farmers will be struggling to make ends meet," contends the economist.

The three major cost items for farmers—seed, feed and livestock—increased by 10 per cent in 1972. Even higher increases can be expected this year as the demand for these items continues to increase as farmers expand their production. "This is especially true in Texas where farmers and ranchers use more high-cost items than the average producer across the nation," points out Hayenga.

Other major contributors to increased farm expenses are the high cost of hired labor, interest and rents. Rents paid to nonfarm landlords jumped 13 per cent in 1972. Last year's farm labor bill increased 8 per cent and a sharp rise is expected again this year. The possibility of legislation to boost the minimum hourly wage for farm workers would further add to the labor bill, especially in high labor using areas such as the Texas Rio Grande Valley. Hayenga also points out that the current Phase III economic program may further contribute to rising farm costs. The program has relaxed price controls on many farm inputs so that an increase in demand of these inputs is likely to send prices upward further than they advanced the past year.

Open house held at courthouse Scurry County

Open house was held Sunday afternoon at the remodeled Scurry County courthouse. Officials were hosts to tours of the remodeled building. The revamped building was opened late last summer, but this is the first time county officials have had the opportunity to invite the public to inspect the building.

The overall cost of the remodeling was $117,269.28. The weight-bearing walls remained from the old building. The remodeled courthouse has granite exterior walls and the interior was filled in with about 10,000 square feet of additional floor space. The courthouse is carpeted throughout.

The courthouse was originally built in 1909 at an estimated cost of $100,000. It was repaired and

Trucks, buses big business in Garza

AUSTIN — Trucks and buses are big business in Garza County, and figures recently released by Texas Motor Transportation Association prove it. In 1972, in this county alone, 403 persons were employed by the trucking industry. They earned $3,033,381.

PROTECTION FOR TREES

Trees need special care to protect them from diseases, says a plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Proper watering and fertilization are especially critical. Care should be used to prevent construction injury, and caution is needed when using weed killers and pesticides near trees.

The courthouse was remodeled in 1949 at a cost of $112,200.

According to TMTA, the state association representing the truck and bus industry in Texas, truck registrations in Garza County last year were 1,156 and the total value of trucks in use totaled $1,583,720.

Statewide, trucks and buses give employment to 677,000—that's one out of every five non-farm paychecks. Obviously, the truck and bus industry is a big one. And no other business more directly affects the daily lives of all Texans than do these two forms of motor transportation. The clothes people wear, the food they eat, the items they use in making a living—all come at least part way by truck.

In fact, Texas needs trucks more than do most states because 62.2 per cent of the communities in the Lone Star State depend entirely on trucks for transportation. They have no other kind of shipping service. This number includes 49 county seats and 21 entire counties. And many of the towns which have other transportation service depend on trucks for the smaller shipments which railroads cannot handle.

Law school gets 2,900 applications, takes 525

AUSTIN — The University of Texas Law School, one of the leading public law schools in the nation, receives applications from more than five times the number of students it can accept each year. Last year 525 students entered the UT Law School out of 2,900 who had applied.

According to Associate Dean T. J. Gibson, an applicant is considered on the basis of undergraduate grade-point average in combination with his score on the Law School Admission Test.

Benefit branding nets $343 total

The second annual O. S. Ranch Benefit Branding Saturday morning netted $268.71 for the memorial building fund of the Post Public Library with a $75 donation by Harold Lucas bringing the overall total to $343.71.

Mrs. Patty Kirkpatrick, chairman for the project, said $197 was received in ticket sales plus a $50 donation from the First National Bank for the 18 foreign flyers from Reese AFB who attended the event and took turns riding some of the horses.

The remaining $21.71 came in concession stand revenue. One bearded Lubbock teacher wrote out a check for $10 because he wished to make a larger donation to the library here than the $4 the tickets cost for his wife and himself.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick expressed her thanks for all the help from so many people who helped to make the benefit event a success.

'Messiah'—

In 1741 and has become a classical part of Christmas and Easter celebrations all over the world. Handel was under such intense inspiration in composing "Messiah" that he worked day and night for 23 days and completed the entire work. At one point, after having written down the loved and popular Hallelujah Chorus, he called to a manservant and with eyes filled with tears exclaimed, "I did think I did see all heaven before me, and the great God Himself."

The presentation this Sunday night will include seven of the Easter choruses and will conclude with the Hallelujah Chorus. Soloists will be Margie Pennell, Marita Jackson and the Rev. George Miller. Organist will be Patty Kirkpatrick. The public is invited to attend.

UT gets collection of botanical literature

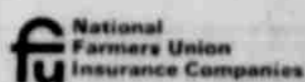

AUSTIN — The University of Texas has received a 6,000-volume collection of botanical literature that is considered one of the three or four best of its kind in the U. S.

The C. L. Lundell Rare Book Library was given by Dr. Lundell, a UT Austin-UT Dallas plant scientist.

Among works in the Lundell Library are those by most of the famous names in botanical sciences—including Darwin and Linnaeus, plus a superb assemblage of literature on orchids. The two oldest books in the collection were published in Paris in 1547 and 1549.

How much do they put out in time, thought, effort and money for our schools, churches and youth activities...to create more jobs and protect our personal and business property values?

Nothing at all, of course. Why should they? Smart business people work for and contribute to the support of their own local communities, large or small. And the big-city people use a lot of our money to build their areas when we donate to them the one-third of our trade money which always goes to pay for supporting the community in which it is spent.

In Our Time

THE ARMY RECOGNIZED AERONAUTICS WOULD OCCUPY A VITAL ROLE IN MAJOR CONFLICTS AS EARLY AS THE CIVIL WAR... UNION AND CONFEDERATE ARMIES BOTH EMPLOYED GAS-FILLED BALLOONS FOR RECONNAISSANCE.

HELICOPTER PILOTS ARE TRAINED IN TODAY'S ARMY FROM SELECT HIGH SCHOOL AND COLLEGE GRADUATES. THEY RECEIVE SILVER WINGS AND A WARRANT OFFICER APPOINTMENT ON GRADUATION.

ARMY PILOTS FLEW AIRMAIL ROUTES ON TWO OCCASIONS FOLLOWING CIVILIAN ESTABLISHMENT OF SCHEDULES.

INCLUDED AMONG PILOTS WAS LIEUTENANT CHARLES LINDBERGH WHO LATER DISTINGUISHED HIMSELF IN THE FIRST NON-STOP FLIGHT TO FRANCE IN 1927.

LIBRARY LISTENING POST

By GEORGE L. MILLER

"Far away places with strange sounding names"! Do you remember that old song? If you want to sell a book to me, keep that song in mind. I'm a sucker for the exotic and unusual location.

Like Ian Cameron's "The Mountains as the Bottom of the World" that's presently available in the library.

Here's a novel that has as its locale an undiscovered volcano at the foot of Chile. When I saw that on the book jacket I WAS HOOKED. Add to it names like Tierra del Fuego and Punta Arenas and you've got me as a captive audience for the rest of the evening.

Not that it was the best book I ever read. It wasn't. But what a locale! The ice and snow of the Antarctic on the mainland of South America. Can't you just see it? And an undiscovered volcano to boot?

Only wait a minute, there's one more item of interest in this novel, an anthropological find like none other ever discovered. Living in caves around the edge of this volcano is a race of men that goes back to the age of Neanderthal Man. Called "Paranthropus", here is a real, live, honest-to-goodness cave man living in the 20th century. Now resist a plot situation like that if you can. I dare you.

Mr. Cameron takes a small party of scientists through the wilds of the southernmost reaches of South America, finds the volcano and the lost tribe of cave men, and then hangs one cliff-hanging adventure on top of another until every hair-raising possibility has been explored.

Great literature it isn't, but a supremely satisfying feast for the "far away places" lover.

Next to far away places, a good ghost story suits me best. I love the unexplained and the supernatural. I love the cold shudders down the spine. That's why I thought I'd enjoy "The Exorcist" by William Peter Blatty.

It's supposed to be a spine tingler. It has demon possession as its subject. It's been very popular on the Best Seller list. But reader beware, it's not the spellcaster it's supposed to be.

It's about a 12-year-old girl who suddenly, and inexplicably, becomes the tragic victim of demon possession. Her antics and contortions are pretty gruesome.

If you've ever been curious about demon possession, you'll get a full description here. The author leaves no doubt about every stage of the malady. He dwells on each twitch of the child's body, each obscene smirk, each foul word. Such filth erupting from an innocent young girl is designed to shock us and fill us with pity.

Only it doesn't. Instead the reader begins to feel like a peeping tom leering at a bizarre example of sexual depravity and drooling for yet more obscenities. Here's one ghost story where the demon is more interesting than his victim

New producer in Justiceburg area

The Rocker A (Glorieta) field of Garza County has received an addition to production with completion by C. W. Guthrie of No. 9 K. Stoker, four miles northwest of Justiceburg.

Perforations from 3,002-3,073 feet potential to pump 35 barrels of 32-gravity oil plus 10 barrels of water in 24 hours. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure. The section was treated with 6,000 gallons of acid.

Location of the new producer is 990 feet from north and 1,650 feet from east lines of Section 538, Block 97, H&TC Survey.

Easter Seal drive said going well in Garza County

Garza County's Easter Seal representative reported today that the 1973 Easter Seal Appeal of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults is going well. Mrs. Martha Compton serves as Easter Seal Appeal treasurer for Garza County.

Twice we have announced in the paper that we were going to have meetings in order to organize this year's program. Twice we had meetings and only two people bothered to show up. They were Eddie Valdez and Paul Quinonez, who, incidentally, were managers last year. Eddie does not even have a son to participate in the program - he merely loves to work with our young men and he loves baseball.

We can only conclude that the people and parents of Post are not concerned enough about the teenage boy to get involved in our summer baseball program. Therefore, we can only let the Babe Ruth League die for lack of adult workers.

Dear Editor:

We, the 1972 Babe Ruth League officers, wish to publicly announce that we are resigning from those positions.

Abnormal weather causes severe highway damage

AUSTIN — Abnormal weather conditions during the winter 1972-73 resulted in approximately $28.4 million damage to highways throughout the state. Some late-developing damage may be disclosed later.

A survey just completed by the Texas Highway Department indicated that extensive freeze-thaw damage was reported virtually throughout the state in addition, two districts—Pharr and Beaumont—reported extensive wet weather damage approximating $850 thousand and $900 thousand, respectively.

Reports of damage in the department's 25 districts ranged upward to $10 million in the Amarillo District. Each highway district is comprised of approximately 10 counties.

Estimates of the more extensive freeze-thaw damage in some representative districts included:

El Paso, $2.1 million; Fort Worth, $1 million; Lubbock, $1.5 million; Abilene, $6.5 million; Amarillo, $10 million; Waco, $1.4 million; Austin, $1.2 million; Bryan, $950 thousand; Odessa, $700 thousand; Lufkin, $750 thousand; Corpus Christi, $600 thousand; Lufkin $750 thousand and Brownwood, $900 thousand.

Extent of winter damage will result in some other highway construction projects being deferred to complete the weather-induced repairs to prevent more extensive loss.
