Funds voted for firemen school

The Post City Council approved funds Monday night in the amount of $550 for attendance at the State Firemen's and Fire Marshal's School later this month of three members of the Post Volunteer Fire Department. The council also charged off as bad debts $395.34 owed the city by water customers who moved away without paying their bills. This is a big reduction from the more than $800 charged off last year, City Secretary Wanda Wilkerson told the council.

THE OLDEN DAYS—George "Scotty" Neilsen shows how the plunger worked that set off the rain for C. W. Post's rain making machine in the town's early days. He and Walter Moore (right) also used the same "gadget" to make the town's earliest buildings. At the left is Montie Moore, manager of the Post. The "blaster" was presented to the Garza County Historical Survey Committee.

The Dispatch this week—in the public interest—has chosen to ignore the "bickering" by both city and county on who should pay the most for emergency ambulance service, other than to report there has been too much of it.

Right now the ambulance service proposition appears possibly neatly hung on a legal snag, but that may be unraveled soon. When and if it is, then several aspects of the ambulance situation need to be brought into proper reader focus.

First off, we believe both the city council and the commissioners court to be composed of good citizens, all of whom have this community's best interests at heart.

When the chips are down, they probably have cooperated better together than any city council and county court near or far, in Texas or surrounding states.

Essentially, in the emergency ambulance service situation both council and court are of the same opinion. Neither has a legal obligation to provide the service, but both feel a moral responsibility to the community to do it.

But there are some aspects of (See Postings, page 12)

Bank rain ad gets response

First response to the First National Bank's "rain ad" of last Thursday came Tuesday with showers spotted over most of the county.

Only 10 of an inch was officially reported here in Post from the light evening shower after darkened skies had threatened a deluge.

An inch of moisture, however, fell in Southland and to the north of that community.

Close City reported .70 in a late afternoon shower at the gin there. Graham area farmers reported from .30 to over half an inch of moisture in two showers, one coming right after lunch and the other in the evening.

Grassland reported over a half inch of rain.

Law complex is finished, but not operational yet

Garza County now has its new law enforcement building, but it's not operational until necessary telephone equipment can be installed and state inspection approval given the new jail facilities.

The Garza County Commissioners Court Tuesday accepted the building from Pharr Construction Co. of Lubbock and made the final payment on the $100,494 contract.

County Judge Giles Dalby told The Dispatch yesterday that it may be several weeks before the necessary phone equipment is received here for installation because the order

Legal snag faces county in ambulance operation

By sheriff's department

Operation of an emergency ambulance service by the county sheriff's department with county participation may have run up against a real legal snag.

County Judge Giles W. Dalby said yesterday that the county may need special state legislation "to get into the emergency ambulance business."

He was checking with other counties now involved in such ambulance services, but believes before such counties entered into the service they had to be authorized to perform such services by a special act of the legislature.

The Garza County Commissioners Court was meeting with City Councilmen Ed Sawyers Tuesday afternoon on Sawyers' plan to put the city and county together into the emergency ambulance business here by July 15.

Although there were still major differences on what the city would pay for and the county would pay for, it appeared Tuesday afternoon that some kind of emergency solution was about to be worked out for a joint city-county ambulance service.

Then the legal snag developed. Judge Dalby had just made a verbal counter-proposal to the city on a joint financing of the ambulance service, which he called the "Dalby plan."

In it, the county agreed to pay half the purchase price of the ambulance from the Hudman Funeral Home and "to consider" the addition of another deputy to help handle ambulance service chores.

But Judge Dalby pointed out he basically was opposed to the sheriff's department's operation of the ambulance service because the department's main function was law enforcement, but that such an operation could be worked out "on a month-to-month basis" until some better solution for the ambulance service could be found. Dalby's plan would have the city paying the sheriff $200 monthly for supervising the ambulance service instead of the county. He said the county couldn't legally make such payment for such a specific duty and could not cease the payment if the sheriff ended his supervision of ambulance services. Members of the commissioners court all indicated they wanted some quick solution so the community and area could have continued emergency ambulance service.

Basically, Texas counties are only permitted to engage in those activities of government which the state constitution or state law provides. Thus, as counties move into new fields of activity special legislative enactments are required as their (See County, page 12)

AS SUBMITTED BY COUNCILMAN

City 'okays' proposal for joint participation

The Post City Council took action at Monday night's meeting which they hope will get the emergency ambulance problem here off "dead center" by approving a proposal of Councilman Ed Sawyers, which Sawyers had submitted to the Garza County Commissioners' Court earlier in the day and resubmitted Tuesday following the council's Monday night action.

The councilman estimated that the cost to the city and county would be approximately $1,400 a month, with the city paying $400 of the amount, or a little more than the 30 per cent it had voted earlier to pay as its share of the ambulance service.

Sawyers' plan would include the city and council employing an additional law officer each, the sheriff being paid an additional $200 a month for supervising the ambulance service, the purchase of one new and one used ambulance, and the part-time employment of "four or five" hand-picked firemen to assist on emergency ambulance calls.

The winners at the county revue will be eligible to compete District 2 4-H Dress Revue to be held Thursday, July 26, at the First Christian Church in Lubbock.

The community has been faced for some time with the cessation of emergency ambulance service following the announcement of Hudman Funeral Home that it would be unable, because of a lack of manpower, to continue providing the service.

It was indicated at Monday night's council meeting that July 15 will be the cutoff date on the present emergency ambulance service.

"We need to do something and do it in a hurry," said Councilman Buster Moreland in making a motion that Councilman Sawyers' proposal be approved by the council.

The council voted to approve only Sawyers' basic proposal and not any figures he had included on the payment of anyone hired by the county or on the amount of any contributions by the hospital district.

Moonlight Madness Sale set July 27

A Moonlight Madness Sale, a town-wide retail promotion, is scheduled for Post between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m. Friday, July 27.

Plans for the special evening sales event call for stores to close at their usual time and then to reopen at 7 p.m. with special, advertised bargains for the two-hour sales period which will mark the close of the summer clearance season here.

The only similar summer evening sale ever conducted here was two years ago and drew a large crowd of bargain shoppers downtown.

Arrangements for the sale were completed by the Retail Promotions Committee of the Post Chamber of Commerce at a planning session in the Chamber secretary's office Tuesday morning.

Keith Atkins, Wacker's store manager, is chairman of the retail promotions committee.

Celebration was biggest yet

Post's fifth annual Fourth of July celebration was from virtually every consideration the best of the current series.

The crowd was the biggest in five years, the program the liveliest, the food more quickly served, the fireworks even a bit quicker in the sky because the lighting crew tried to cut the "downtime" of the nighttime show to get the kids home earlier.

And the weather—it cooperated. It was the best Fourth of July weather in the series too—not too hot and not too cold.

There probably was another ingredient one has to consider too in the success of the celebration—the day-long affair has become a fixture and the organizations were skillful with their booths and the people came prepared to enjoy themselves.

We know there were visitors because a billfold was found lost by a Lubbock youth and we had an out-of-state winner or two at the library's highly successful bingo booth.

We've heard a lot of praise for the 1973 Fourth of July celebration and that brings us to the point of this editorial.

This fine community outing was staged and financed by the Post Chamber of Commerce and its members, the Post business community.

All of you fine folks who enjoyed the holiday in the park will do well to remember that the merchants on Main Street and others in the business community both did the work and paid the bill for your holiday enjoyment.

If you liked the celebration, tell them so. Let them know their efforts were appreciated.

There are very, very few real community events left on the local scene and this is one of them that your business men are preserving.

They have in the last five years converted a hot, mid-summer holiday into something very special in Post. The old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration still lives in Post, thanks to them, and when you get ready for that next shopping trip remember them.

Post wouldn't be such a fine town in which to live without them—and they depend on you for their livelihood.—JC

A 'place of their own'

Opening of the new city-county youth center tonight with an open house for all teens and their parents will be the beginning of a "dream come true" for a lot of parents who have talked, planned, and supported such a project for years—and finally brought it to realization.

We are not one of the "knockers" of federal revenue sharing. Around Post and Garza County, we have seen it put to many wonderful uses for things this community simply couldn't afford without a tax hike.

And this new youth center is one of them.

The Dispatch is pleased that the city and county have named a youth board composed of not only enthusiastic but visionary parents.

The youth board in opening the doors to the youth center is saying to the youth of the community: "Here are the facilities. Here you will find lots to do, but what you do is up to you."

The future of the youth center—from tonight on—basically rests with the young people themselves.

How successful it becomes as a community institution will depend upon the youngsters. The youth board doesn't intend to "crowd them." What specific programs are organized in the weeks ahead will depend upon the demand for such programs.

Obviously, the youth center will cost some money to operate. Its worth to the community cannot be measured now, but will be measured in the future in how well and to what extent it fills the need of our young people for a "place of their own."—JC

Kindergartens this year

Post school officials are going to need to start making plans within a very short time for a possible influx of five-year-olds for the new state-mandated kindergarten for all five-year-olds for the 1973-74 school term.

We are sure the school officials already are under way with these plans, but this newspaper has had no reports of their progress as of yet. Neither the superintendent nor the elementary school principal could be reached Monday afternoon, but we understand that late last week the local schools had not yet received their state directives on the kindergarten procedures.

The new law, passed by the 63rd Legislature, requires all Texas school districts to offer kindergarten classes for children who will be five years of age by Sept. 1, but does not require parents to enroll their children.

The law also provides state funding only for half-day sessions, forcing local school boards to decide whether to spend local monies to extend the program to full-day sessions.

There will have to be a date set for registering the youngsters who will enroll in kindergarten, with all parents required to bring their child's birth certificate and immunization records with them when they register the child.

Meanwhile, watch The Dispatch for more definite news on the local board's kindergarten plans.—CD

Not always true to life

There's no getting around the fact that some of the television commercials are good—and apparently most of them must sell, because the cost is tremendous. But others are so inane and far out that it seems to us they would drive buyers away.

It will never happen, of course, but we keep waiting for the housewife in answer to her husband's question, "What shortening do you use?" to respond, "Why axle grease, honey—that's what makes your fried chicken so good!"

Or for the lady who's offered two boxes of detergent for one to cry out, "Sure, I'll take 'em, there's very little difference in any brand!"

The one we'd actually like to see happen true-to-life, however, is when the mother put the little girl's new party dress on her the day before the party and the little girl promptly went out and sat down in a mudhole. In the commercial, the woman explains that it seemed hopeless to try to clean the dress, but that her daughter was so upset about not getting to wear the new dress to the party the next day that she (the mother) used this certain brand of detergent and had the dress sparkling like new by party time.

In the first place, the mother shouldn't have let her young daughter put on the dress until time to go to the party. In the second place, instead of getting upset over her daughter getting upset, the mother should have tanned her good for sitting down in the mudhole in the first place. Nine times out of ten, that's what would have happened in real life.—CD

Timely Tips

CREATING ILLUSION OF SPACE

Creating space can provide very real problems in today's living. Living space has become one of our most expensive commodities. That's one reason why many young married couples decide on apartment living. And in an apartment, space becomes a major factor. If space is a problem for you, take a look at these guidelines for help.

Use low, contemporary furniture with legs. Divide your space with furnishings that don't take much room—for example, plants, mobiles or bookcases.

Use some "fool-the-eye" techniques such as mirrors or painting one wall a different color. A black wall seems to disappear and therefore opens up a room.

Keep your color scheme simple. Too many colors can make a small room appear cluttered.

Save your favorite art objects and books for shelves where they'll look more attractive and help divert the eye from the size of a room.

Let your furnishings serve more than one purpose. One secret of making a small space work for you is to think through and decide exactly what you need are. Maybe your husband is a student and needs a private place to study. If so, you can "build" a room by setting up a divider such as a bookcase that extends to the ceiling.

In a kitchen-dining and living room combination, area rugs and plants or furniture may be used as dividers to separate different activities. These create mental walls as well as help organize space.

Adequate storage space puts "everything in its place"—even where closet and cabinet space is limited. Also, it lessens clutter and confusion within the home to make it more livable.

Containers for custom-made shelves and drawers are available for the asking at grocery, hardware and furniture stores. Fruit boxes, of heavy cardboard with finer holes in the ends for easy carrying, make storage compartments for sweaters, out-of-season boots, ice skates, seldom-used purses, or even copies of receipts and past tax returns.

Several of these boxes can be painted or covered with paper, stacked together and labeled. For added convenience, build a rack to hold them so they will slip out like a drawer—or they will line up on a closet shelf.

For added space on that one shelf in the closet above the rod, get heavy boxes and cut tops out. Lay them on their Extra shelves are easy to add. Two screw-eyes of appropriate size screwed into the wall of each end—so they're properly anchored to something solid—will support a shelf.

For toys, egg shipping cases solve storage problems, and cinder blocks or glass bricks will hold another shelf for books. Odds and ends—storage becomes attractive using clean ice cream or pretzel cans covered with paper or fabric. Also, they can be painted, laid on their sides and stacked pyramid-fashion, held together with paper clips or clothes pins.

On a desk, the cans will wedge into a shoe box, or fasten together with epoxy glue, and hold pencils, letters, bills or stamps.

Compton-Lane vows exchanged First Methodist Church in Post

Kay Compton and Justus Lane Jr., wedding vows Friday in the First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Jesse F. Lane, mother of the bride, and Mr. Charles J. Lane, father of the groom, officiated the double ceremony before an altar with the Unity candle and arrangement of flowers, flanked by seven bridesmaids entwined with white satin bows. The bride and groom were seated with yellow satin chairs and white bells.

The marriage by her father was a formal affair. The bride wore a white organza fashion-plate of kluny lace with a square neckline, bishop sleeves cuffed with a wide band of lace and a wide satin ribbon down the front of the skirt and around the waist. Attached to the train was a long chapel length veil of white tulle. The bride carried a cascade of white and babybreath flowers.

Miss Kay Compton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Anne Lane of Lubbock, the bridegroom, and Linda Black of Lubbock. They each wore white gowns of yellow and white, fashioned with white and yellow ribbon.

The bride carried a long yellow carnation and from a silver punch bowl. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Post High School and attended Commercial College in Lubbock. She is employed by the Murdock Food Brokerage in Lubbock.

Kay Herron, bride-elect, is shower honoree

A bridal shower honoring Miss Kay Herron, bride-elect of Johnny Mac Cathey, was held Friday evening in the home of Mrs. J. B. Potts.

Approximately 60 guests called between the hours of 7 to 9 p.m., and were greeted by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Lewis Herron, and Mrs. Doris Cathey of Wingate, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

The hostesses alternated serving duties from a table laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers and a silver candelabra. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

The guests were registered by Miss Karen Potts and Miss Mendie Stone of El Paso.

Special guests other than the mother of the prospective bridegroom were Mrs. Bill Cathey of Winters, sister-in-law of the future bridegroom, and Miss Stone.

The honoree was presented a set of cookware by the hostesses. They were Mmes. Junior Hagins, Jack Kennedy, Fred Myers, Ralph Welch, Donald Windham, Syd Conner, N. R. King, Glenn Norman, Tom Middleton and Mrs. Potts.

FROM VIRGINIA

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Ammons and daughters of Front Royal, Va., are visiting in the home of his mother, Mrs. Lewis Pierce.

"Last week's Fourth of July celebration would have been the best ever if only," Earl said, "we hadn't run out of chicken!" I agree except for my own yearly grievance — isn't there ANYTHING we can do about those kids who throw firecrackers at everybody?

I, for one, particularly enjoyed the food booths that were set up at the park and I was scrupulously fair in picking several varieties of brownies from each. Delicious, all! Please come back next year!

The Library Bingo was successful beyond our expectations. $402.51 was certainly good for a one night's stand, and we appreciate the many friends of the library who came out to play with us and made it possible.

As chairman of the event, I'd also like to thank the helpers who did such a keen job for us Wednesday night. Attention, Nancy Macy, Bryan and Minnie Williams, Giles and Louise McCrary, Kurt Chapman, Martha Cass, Bryan Williams, Jr., Maribelle Macy Pee Wee Pierce, Shelley and Frances Camp, Margie Higgins, Syd and Emily Wyatt, Ruth Ann and David Newby and Jim Cornish. Thank you!

Jim, David and Syd were our bingo "callers" for the evening and if they weren't all three so good at their own jobs already, I'd suggest that they join the carnival. What lines! They'd make terrific barkers.

Maribelle Macy had come down to visit Nance, Bob, Sharla and the boys and since Nancy was one of our money-taker-uppers, we signed Maribelle up for the same job. She had such a good time doing it she wouldn't leave when her replacement came. Who said it was hard to get good help these days?

Our local oilmen and businessmen really came through with some good prizes for the bingo. Quite frankly, I'd dreaded the idea of going around and asking for them, but everyone was so nice to me I just might do it again next year! Our thanks and appreciation most certainly go to: United Supermarket, Dwayne Capps Gulf Station, Joe McCowen's Texaco, Shelley Camp, Hans Hudman Texaco, Pinkies, Rucker A Well Service, Jim Wells, Butch Wilson, Strawn & Chapman, Wood's Bait & Grocery, Ge'nez Steak House, Service Welding & Construction, Hudman's, Post Dispatch, Corner Grocery & Market, Garza Auto Parts, Garza Feed & Supply, Dan Cockrum, Johnny Robison, Harry Tubbs, Pat Walker, Southwestern Public Service, Charlie Didway, Hundley's, Short's, Cox Lumber, Continental EMSCO, Piggly Wiggly, Jess Cornell Texaco and the First National Bank.

My three very favorite prizes — Butch Wilson's free office call, Charlie Didway's free name analysis, and Pat Walker's free didn't even get picked. I can't decide whether to save them for next year or cheat and use them myself.

Let's hear it for the 4th of July! HURRAY!

Two winners named in tractor drawings

Winners in the John Deere toy tractor drawings held at the Fourth of July barbecue at the park by the Gamma Mu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha were Charles Coulter of Victoria and Mrs. Peggy Altman. Coulter won the small tractor and plow set and Mrs. Altman was winner of the large pedal tractor.

The toy tractors were donated to the sorority by the Taylor Tractor and Equipment Company of Post and Tahoka.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Both the consumer and the door-to-door salesman will have reason to think twice about an at-home sale now that there is a new State law which gives the buyer the right to change his mind.

The "Home Solicitation Act" by Dallas Senator Bill Braecklein and Representative Chris Semos of Dallas became law when the governor signed it June 13.

Basically, this law provides that if a consumer is solicited at his home for a sale or merchandise or services costing $25 or more, and subsequently decides that the goods weren't what they'd been cracked up to be, he can back out of the deal within a three-day period.

But it also imposes some strict responsibilities on the consumer, as well as the seller.

For instance, the Home Solicitation Act does not cover sales of farm equipment; insurance regulated by the State; realty sales in which the transactions are being negotiated by a licensed real estate broker or attorney; or sales made pursuant to a preexisting retail charge account, or based upon prior negotiations at a business establishment where the goods were displayed.

The original offer must have been made and agreed upon at your doorstep. And that seems fair enough, since the whole idea was to put the consumer on equal footing with the itinerant salesman whose sales pitch may be better than his product.

The salesman is required to give the consumer a "fully completed" receipt of contract—written in English, or Spanish, or in whatever language the sales presentation was made—at the time of the transaction.

Also, he must tell the signer about his cancellation rights, and furnish him with a copy of this printed statement:

"You, the buyer, may cancel this transaction at any time prior to midnight of the third business day after the date of this transaction. See the attached notice of cancellation form for an explanation of this right."

The form recites a detailed description of the duties of both parties.

The buyer has the duty to meet the three-day deadline by letter or telegram, and he must be prepared to take "reasonable care" of the goods or property in his possession until the cancellation procedure has been completed.

If unacceptable home improvements are involved, the merchant has to restore the property to its prior condition, unless the consumer says otherwise.

Violation of the act by a door-to-door seller not only would make him liable for actual damages to the consumer, reasonable attorney's fees and court costs, but he risks having the contract voided.

And if the merchant doesn't refund the consumer's payment and recover the goods which have been rejected within 20 days after receipt of the cancellation notice, the buyer does not have any more duty to return the goods.

Hopefully, merchants specializing in home solicitations will accept the challenge of this new law by making certain that the goods and services they offer are worth keeping.

But it is the sad truth that there always are just a few people who would rather try to make a "fast buck" than an honest sale.

It now appears almost certain that cotton, wheat and feed grain farmers after this year will be operating under a "target price" type farm program. Producers will be exhorted to produce abundant supplies for the benefit of consumers, and in theory at least, will be insured against financial losses by a payment to make up the difference between market prices and a "target" specified by law.

The Senate passed such a bill on June 8. The House Agriculture Committee on Friday, June 15, was expected on the following Monday to report legislation built on the same philosophy. And, amid cries of "it can't be done," House Committee Chairman Bob Poage of Waco was saying he'd have the bill on the House floor by Thursday, June 21.

The Senate bill for cotton sets a target price of 43 cents per pound and calls for producer payments equal to the difference between that price and the average market price for Strict Low Middling (SLM) inch-and-a-sixteenth cotton as quoted in the spot markets during the first five months of the marketing year, August through December.

The House version is expected to come from Committee with a target price of 38 cents a pound, with the payment based on the difference between this figure and the weighted average price paid to farmers for all cotton qualities. Not yet settled by the House Committee on Friday was whether the average farmer price would be figured on the August-December period or on a 12 month, January through December basis.

The change from SLM 1-1-16 inch cotton in the spot quotations to average prices paid to farmers was pushed by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., on the grounds that spot market quotations do not accurately reflect prices paid to farmers. The House Committee agreed with this PCG position.

PCG is also asking that average market prices be figured on a 12 month period, using the last 7 months of one marketing year, January through July, and the first five months of the next, August through December. Otherwise, cotton grown on the High Plains, Rolling Plains and in Oklahoma, much of which is marketed in January and February, will have very little influence on average prices and therefore no effect on payment rates.

"The thing to remember in this regard," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, who was in Washington during House Committee deliberations, "is that the payment will not be the difference between a target price and the price received by any individual farmer, but on an average of prices, and how that average is figured can mean the difference between profit and loss for our High Plains farmers."

The loan level in the Senate bill for practical purposes would be set at whatever level the Secretary of Agriculture thought necessary to keep U. S. cotton "in line" with world prices.

PCG objected to this provision also and asked that the loan be set, firmly, at 90 per cent of the average of world market prices for the preceding three years, with no Secretarial authority to reduce it below that level. Current law governing the 1973 loan level is similar to that in the Senate's new bill, and the Secretary has announced the 1973 loan at 20.65 cents, basis SLM 1-1-16 inch cotton, as compared to a considerably higher level that would be justified by the "90 per cent of the world market price" language.

Efforts succeeded in getting a change in the loan provisions of the House Committee bill, but not exactly what was asked for.

Johnson says he hasn't seen the exact language relating to the loan, "but some have calculated that the loan under the House Committee's bill couldn't be lower than about 26 or 27 cents for 1974, whereas there would be no lower limit under the bill passed by the Senate.

The House Committee version also bases the loan and other sections, it is understood, on Middling one-inch cotton, the quality used prior to 1973.

The most disheartening aspect of the Senate's bill, Johnson believes, was the $20,000 per farmer limitation on total payments. This was adopted by the Senate in the form of an amendment to the bill reported from committee. The current program, the Agriculture Act of 1970, limited payments to $35,000 per person Ark.

Proper Perspective
By Bob Ford

A young college girl wrote home to her parents: "Mom and Dad: You had better sit down before you read this. I want you to know that I wrecked my car the other day, and I was at fault. I broke my leg and was bruised in several places, but I am now doing pretty well. I am out of the hospital anyway. I wanted you to know that I have moved out of the dorm and am living with a young man. We are not married, but we love each other. Too, I wanted you to know that we are expecting our first child in a couple of months. Signed, Your Daughter, P. S. Mom and Dad, I just wanted you to that I was kidding about the above matters, but I did make an "F" in French. I just wanted to make sure that you put this in a proper perspective.

How often do we 'sit down' and things in a proper perspective? Or do you me, run off in all directions when even a catastrophe or less hits? Jesus was always to react to situations which would throw off into confusion (the feeding of the 5,000) because he had a proper perspective about life. He knew where he was going. He knew what was expected. He knew to whom he belonged. We?

SAFETY AWARD—For the third consecutive year Santa Fe Railway has compiled the best safety record among major railroads, and again received the Harriman Gold Medal Award for safety in 1972. The Hon. Harley O. Staggers (2nd from right), congressman from West Virginia, made the presentation in Washington. Receiving the award were (L-R) John S. Reed, chairman and chief executive officer, and Warren Roanhorse, safety supervisor for the railroad, while Wallace Hanley, staff assistant to the chairman of the Navajo Nation, looked on. Reed invited Hanley to participate in recognition of the outstanding safety record compiled by the many Indians who work for Santa Fe.

North Carolina men are BI's doffing champions

GREENSBORO, N. C.—In the sports world it's often said that a tournament winner is the guy who gets the lucky breaks. One break was all Monnie Wilkie, of Caroleen, N. C., needed to win the Burlington Industries' Super Doffer Tournament.

Wilkie got his chance when Caroleen plant champ Lester Coffee fell off a horse and broke his right wrist, sidelining him from further competition. So, Wilkie, the first runner-up, was called in.

And the more he doffed, the faster he got. Wilkie knocked off eight other doffers to claim the Burlington Greige Fabrics Division title.

Friday he captured the Burlington corporate championship in the warp doffing category, defeating Lewis Turman, of Calhoun Falls, S. C.

Walter Capps, of Asheville, N. C., won the Company Super Doffer title in the filler category Thursday, defeating Chester Warren, of Post, Texas.

Wilkie and Capps each won $200 and now enter the national tournament in their respective categories.

The Super Doffer Tournament is the textile industry's answer to the Super Bowl. It's a search for the fastest doffer in the land, sponsored by the American Textile Manufacturers' Institute. Company doffing champs will clash in a single elimination tournament, beginning July 15.

Doffing is one of the last original textile arts still performed by hand. It is the AUSTIN—Experts offer little hope for an early easing of the energy crisis, and Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Langdon warns a lot more oil and gas is being used than is being found.

A House committee studying the crisis heard a national authority's grim opinion that "there is no way out."

Dr. John McKetta, past chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee, said President Nixon should declare a national emergency, since it's too late for problem studies in the area.

Langdon told the same committee legislative efforts to cope with the problem will be frustrating because solutions must be sought at the national level.

Although the state regulatory agency has been permitting 100 per cent production for more than a year, Langdon said Texas producers are still falling short of demand for oil by 400,000 barrels a day, or roughly 10 per cent.

Atty. Gen. John Hill termed the situation "extremely critical," and said no other matter should receive more attention today.

As the commission set the July oil allowable at 100 per cent for the 16th straight month (with buyers seeking a record 3.8 million barrels a day), Langdon issued a new warning that only nine million barrels of oil a month are being added to Texas barrels are consumed in the same period.

"Unless this trend is reversed, the Texas oil and gas industry is in the process of self-liquidation," said Langdon.

Texas crude oil stocks as of June 8 were 94.7 million barrels, a decline of 7.2 million from 1972.

Langdon asked for reports at the July commission meeting on the amount of oil companies discovered in 1972, and "somewhere along the line," he said, he will want to know "what it will take to find more"—and whether the industry will really be "able to stay in business."

FUTURE HIGHWAY NEEDS—Mass transit needs should be financed from its own funds, not from highway funds, Roy D. Chapin Jr., board chairman of American Motors Corporation, told Texas Good Roads Association members and the Texas Highway Users Conference here last week.

"Highway construction and maintenance needs during the next 20 years will be $600,000,000,000 in the United States," he explained. "Mass transit needs will total $50,000,000,000 for rail construction and development and $13,000,000,000 for bus transportation."

"Highways are still the basic answers for urban transportation needs. The Department of Transportation says by 1990 that 92 per cent of transportation will be on roads and streets—with only eight per cent on bus and railroad facilities."

Chapin, who is chairman of the board of the National Highway

Users Federation, spoke to a partisan audience, but his statistics impressed neutral observers about the need for political unity in the current struggle between eastern states and the rest of the nation for current highway user funds.

"HUD says that population density will continue to drop in urban areas," Chapin concluded. "Travel patterns will be from suburban home to suburban jobs. Buses and car pools can start lowering congestion—but highways are still important to those methods of transportation."

He spoke against "crisis" legislation because of the "current misunderstanding and misinformation on the so-called energy crisis. Some restrictive actions may be taken in the name of crisis, increased tax on gas, excise taxes and personal property taxes on automobiles, Chapin added.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED—Nine more proposed constitutional amendments will appear on the Nov. 6 general election ballot—just a couple of months before the Legislature sits as a constitutional convention.

The amendments for the November ballot are:

SJR 8—proposing a $15,000 a year salary for legislators and annual legislative session.

SJR 13—extending the $3,000 property tax exemption to homesteads of unmarried adults.

SJR 29—authorizing cities to levy ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay the principle and interest on general obligation bonds.

HJR 6—providing an additional $100 million for the Veterans Land Program.

SJR 1—establishing new requirements for conservation and reclamation districts.

SJR 25—exempting water supply cooperative property from taxes.

SJR 26—giving district courts concurrently with county courts general jurisdiction of probate courts.

SJR 12—providing for financing of seawalls by bonds.

HJR 7—similar to SJR 13, plus exemption of property from forced sale.

AG OPINIONS—University authorities and courts must determine if student service fees are used properly to benefit students, Attorney General Hill held.

Way Patrol considers female applicants

The Texas Department of Public Safety is considering applications from women for its uniformed Highway Patrol. Major C. W. Bell, commander of the department, announced that the department is considering new uniformed personnel for enforcement beginning Sept. 25, 1973. He stated that the DPS is increasingly successful in recruiting persons from groups to these efforts in this area. Major Bell said persons selected as cadets will be assigned to Austin for training at the DPS Academy. The salary during training will be $625 per month. Upon being commissioned the salary is raised to $719 monthly with the opportunity to advance to $848 per month. Uniformed personnel receive additional longevity pay for each five years of service to 25 years. They are also granted a monthly uniform cleaning allowance, and receive travel expenses when away from their Officers participate in the Employees Retirement System of Texas as well as Social Security. Vacation, holidays and sick leave are as provided for all State employees.

Successful graduates will be assigned to the Highway Patrol, License and Weight Service, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service, according to the needs of the DPS and consideration of personal preference.

Dickens County goes all out in weevil fight

LUBBOCK—Dickens County is "really going all out" to cooperate with the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program in 1973, according to Ed Dean, Director of Field Services for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., coordinator of the program.

Dean's comment stems from the fact that the county is furnishing, without charge, space for a field office in the boll weevil control effort. Through County Judge Martin Pope and the Commissioners Court, an office was made available June 1 in the Dickens County Court House Annex, Dickens.

"Dickens is just about in the center of the multi-county program," Dean said, "and having an office there greatly facilitates the maintenance of good communications with all areas, a highly essential component of such an operation. The various agencies involved in the application of the program are highly pleased with this assistance and expression of confidence on the part of the Dickens County officials," he said.

Martha Campbell, wife of Dickens County Agricultural Extension Agent Harry Campbell, is secretary at the field office and is prepared to help farmers and others who may need information concerning the program's operation, Dean stated.

Rancher-built ponds can serve two-fold purpose

Bob Arheiger, district conservationist, says ponds built by local ranchers with the technical assistance of the Soil Conservation Service can serve a two-fold purpose.

Many hours of relaxation and sport can be enjoyed by the family and friends by stocking these ponds with fish.

Arheiger adds that the fishing can be improved with a little simple management. The pounds of fish in a pond can be increased by maintaining the proper algae level or water "bloom."

A clear pond is not a good fish pond. A white marker should disappear when placed 10 to 18 inches below the water surface. If the white marker disappears at a depth below 18 inches, the algae level in the water is too low.

The algae level can be increased by applying 50 pounds of 20-20-0 fertilizer per surface acre of water. Fertilizer application may start in early spring when the water temperature rises to 55 degrees. The fertilizer should be scattered in shallow water near the shore line. The algae level should be checked two weeks after the fertilizer application. If the water is too clear, the fertilizer application may be repeated.

Arheiger cautions pond owners not to overdo a good thing. Too much fertilizer applied at one time may fill the pond with green scum and surface moss. The oxygen level of the water may be reduced, and the fish suffer.

Arheiger also says you should not place a wire net across the pond spillways. Overstocking is the main problem in a fish pond, especially if it is stocked with bass and blue gill. The more a pond is fished, the better the fishing will be. To maintain a proper balance, no fish that are caught should be put back into the pond.

Further details on fish pond management are available at your local Soil Conservation Service office. SCS personnel will be glad to assist you with any conservation problem.

Monday's second game, between Tahoka and Slaton, is scheduled to start at 7:30, or immediately following the Post-

O'Donnell contest. Monday evening's losers will play for third place at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, and Monday's winners will play for the area tournament championship at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The area champion will advance to the district tournament to be played in Lubbock next week.

Dwayne Capps, Post Little League president, is tournament director.

Larry Waldrip is manager of the Post All-Stars and Lewis Holly is the coach.

Mahon takes over lead, rodeo race

DENVER, Colo.—Larry Mahon of Dallas, Texas, took the lead for world champion all-around cowboy this week with $28,313, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

The five-times world champion all-around cowboy now leads Bob Ragsdale by $685. Ragsdale of Chowchilla, Calif., on the injured list, was unable to compete in the rich Fourth of July rodeo run, while Mahon moved ahead with a couple of small wins, including $334 in saddle bronc and bareback riding money at the St. Paul, Ore., rodeo, which ended Wednesday night.

Cowboys pushed themselves to the limit this week competing in 34 association-sanctioned rodeos across the country. More than $145,000 was won at the week's top eight rodeos, including the Greeley, Colo., Independence Stampede, where prize money was nearly $40,000. But the competition was stiff, spreading the money out. Only 19 cowboys won more than $1,000 each.

Biggest winner was Bob Marshall of San Martin, Calif., who collected $2,131 in steer wrestling at Cody, Wyo., and Livingston, Mont.

Joe Alexander of Cora, Wyo., was the second largest winner, stretching his lead in bareback riding by picking up $1,842 at St. Paul, Cody and Red Lodge, Mont. Alexander leads his event with $16,368.

Cowboys were to compete Thursday at another major rodeo, Belle Fourche, S. Dak. They were also scheduled to compete in, among others, the Frontier Days rodeo in Prescott, Ariz., which ends Sunday, and the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede rodeo, which ends July 14.

Three Post players on All-Star '9'

Three Post players have been named to the South Plains League All-Star team that will play next week at the state Senior Babe Ruth League Tournament in Olton.

Representing Post on the all-star aggregation will be Leroy Holly, Richard Dudley and Tony Conner.

Others on the South Plains all-star team will be Louis Zedlitz, John Thomas, Jim Thomas and Menor Gandy, all of Tahoka; Lonnie Graham, Tim Walker, Gary Brown, Gary Willis, Lewis Roberson, Jerry Roberson and Chick Giddens, all of Brownfield; and Kyle White, Billie Welcher, Lane Heald and Sam Jefferson, all of Lamesa.

The South Plains team's first game will be at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 17, when they play ALMO.

Other teams in the state tournament, which is to begin Tuesday and continue through Saturday, are: North San Antonio, Graham, South San Antonio, Lubbock.

The tournament is a double elimination affair.

Plan ahead for the future, but don't overlook the present.

Snyder Rodeo scheduled for July 18 start

SNYDER—The 38th annual Scurry County Rodeo is to be held here four days next week, beginning Wednesday, July 18, and continuing through Saturday, July 21. Each night's performance is to begin at 8:30.

The opening day parade is set for 5 p.m. Wednesday.

This will be the second year for the Snyder rodeo to be sanctioned by the International Rodeo Association. Although the IRA is a professional organization, non-member contestants living within a 125-mile radius of Snyder are eligible to compete.

The events for the rodeo will be bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding, barrel race, calf roping and steer wrestling, and a goat sacking contest for children.

Smoko Davis of Houston is stock producer for this year's rodeo. Lecille Harris of Collierville, Tenn., IRA president, will be the rodeo clown. Lecille has made several appearances this year on the TV show, "Hee Haw."

Specialty acts will be performed by Lenore Rowe, who has performed at the IRA Finals three consecutive years. Jim Miller, rodeo announcer from Rapid City, S. D., will be at the microphone for the sixth consecutive year.

A dance will be held after each night's rodeo performance with music by Hoyle Nix and his West Texas Cowboys.

BANKING CHANGE
A new "Seasonal Borrowing Privilege" is designed to help rural banks expand loan fund sources where the local economy has a seasonal loan need, such as with grain sorghum, wheat, cotton or rice production. The leading change in the Federal Reserve System could make an estimated additional $1 billion in loanable funds available to Texas residents from the state's rural banks, says an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Tennis tourney is under way in Post

Seven matches were played in the first round of the junior division of the first annual Garza County Tennis Tournament Monday and Tuesday before Tuesday night's rain halted the last four first round singles matches.

"It wasn't the bank ad that brought rain—it was the tennis tournament," said Rosemary Chapman, one of the tournament directors.

The tournament's junior division is to end Saturday, July 14, with the doubles finals at 5 p.m. and the singles finals at 7 p.m.

The adult division, for players over 16, is to be held July 16-21, with July 15 the registration deadline. July 21-28 are the dates of the mixed doubles division.

In junior division first round matches Monday and Tuesday, the results were as follows:

Chris Wyatt def. Kyle Duren, 9-7, 6-3. Joe Giddens, referee.

Lorry Chapman def. Christy Davis, 7-5, 6-1. Nancy Macy, referee.

Jimmy Dorland def. Brad Davis, 6-0, 6-4.

Matt Allison def. Mike Dye, 6-1, 6-2.

Kim Hester def. Sandy Bullard, 6-4, 6-3. Rosemary Chapman, referee.

Randell Wyatt def. Wayne Bell (forfeit).

Mike Macy def. Evans Heaton, 6-1, 6-3. Kim Hester, referee.

Tournament directors besides Mrs. Chapman are Giddens and Syd. B. Wyatt.

July 4th celebration is 'biggest and best' yet

Post's fifth annual Fourth of July celebration in City-County park, despite a few minor hitches like running out of barbecued chicken and having a band that "didn't show up", was probably the biggest and best to date. "Eater estimates" for the free barbecue ranged from 2,500 persons upward passing through the fast-moving serving line.

Only about 20 or so had to be turned away without any barbecued chicken although beans, bread, and pickles were left.

It was a bigger eating crowd than 1972 when there was barbecued chicken left over and a hundred or so came back through the serving line for "seconds."

Postings

(Continued from Page One) this emergency ambulance service that are far different from numerous other community projects which city and county have been jointly dispensing their federal revenue sharing funds upon.

Whoever takes over ambulance runs is getting into a new governmental type business for a long haul—a haul so long that it very probably will outlast the supply of federal revenue sharing dollars. Which means in the end that the ambulance service is going to wind up someday, somewhat locally tax supported.

So you can't blame city and county for wanting to step in just as lightly as possible in the beginning.

Still and all, a number of weeks have gone by and one way or another it's time for a solution to be worked out. The Hudman firm has been quietly patient, but it has served ample notice of its intentions and wants to step out of this business as close to July 15 as possible.

It looks to us like the city and county now need a joint committee—a real action committee—to work out something both city and county can live with. Counties and towns and hospital districts already into the ambulance business two or three years are still feeling their way cautiously ahead, making constant adjustments. There is no easy solution, no inexpensive plan.

The city and county do have a mutual starting point. Both council and court have shown the good judgment to indicate they want to see the community served with emergency ambulance service.

That looks to us like a good place to start with a joint action committee composed of representatives of both council and court beginning as soon as possible to "get something going."

The court Tuesday authorized the expenditure of $1,423.32 for various office equipment for the new building and an additional $720 for a document cabinet and a book case for the justice of the peace office. The other new equipment includes four six-foot folding tables for the training room, 24 plastic chairs, and two file cabinets.

The court also voted assignment of offices to the sheriff, city police, highway patrol, justice of the peace, and game warden in the new building.

An open house for the new law enforcement complex and jail is planned, but it won't be scheduled until all the equipment is installed.

"That could be September," Judge Dalby said yesterday.

Dynamite detonator is given historians

One of the instruments used to set off the dynamite used in town founder C. W. Post's rain-making experiments some sixty years ago was presented the Garza County Historical Survey Committee Tuesday morning by Monta Moore of Levelland, manager of the Post-Montgomery interests here and in Hockley County.

The presentation was made at the historical survey committee's regular July meeting Tuesday morning in the bank community room. Among those present were committee members George "Scotty" Samson and Walter Duckworth, both of whom had used the blasting instrument on several occasions.

In addition to the rain-making experiments the instrument was used in quarrying rock for the construction of some of Post's first houses and business buildings.

Also at Tuesday's meeting, a letter of appreciation was read from Jimmy Napier, a stone mason who came to Post with Samson to "help build the town."

It was announced that the Garza County film strip being prepared by the Texas State Historical Society will be ready within the next four months.

Mrs. Lottie Shelton made a report on the oral history seminar held at the regional meeting in Crosbyton on June 28. She said oral history projects are becoming a part of the national movement to record and preserve history, and told how to plan and organize such projects.

Other committee members who attended the regional meeting in Crosbyton were Mrs. Gwen Boren, Mrs. Vada McCampbell, Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Evelyn Neff and Mrs. Nita Burress.

The committee agreed Tuesday to sponsor the design and adoption of a Garza County flag.

Mrs. Boren, acting committee chairman, reported on changes in the historical marker program, and also discussed the planning of county observances and celebrations.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick gave a general summary of the regional meeting and told of her visits to the Crosby County Memorial Museum and the Ralls Historical Museum.

Those attending Monday's meeting were Mrs. Boren, Mrs. Winnie Tuffing, Mrs. Shelton, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, J. E. Parker, Samson, Duckworth and Moore.

Also at its regular July session Monday night, the council authorized Gene Gandy to install a new three-ton air-conditioner for the Post Public Library and council room to replace one that recently went "out." The approximate cost of the new air-conditioner will be $1,000, the council was informed.

The council voted to reduce the minimum charge for customers on the water line running north from the city limits from $6 to $4.50, which is what it originally was. Four new customers have been added to the two-inch water line, making a total of ten, the council was told.

Garza 4-H group goes to area electrical camp

Six Garza County 4-H Club members, accompanied by Mrs. Dana Feaster, county Extension agent, left Monday for Cloudercroft, N. M., and a fun-filled week of recreation and leadership training in electricity at Scott Able 4-H Camp.

Approximately 110 4-H boys and girls from 17 South Plains counties are spending the week at the camp, where Mrs. Feaster and Bill Griffin, county Extension agent of Lynn County, are serving as agent advisors.

The planning committee for the electric camp includes the 4-H Council delegates from Crosby, Garza, Lubbock and Lynn counties. The two from Garza County are Tony Conner and Cindy Bird. Also attending are Jay Kennedy, Darlene Gunn, Connie Percy and Genetta Kennedy.

The camp is sponsored annually by Southwestern Public Service Co. Company representatives will give instruction on lighting, house plan wiring, space age cooling and electrical craft activity. Instructional material presented at these group sessions will be aimed toward developing method demonstrations on electricity and its use.

Organized recreation is scheduled throughout the week and a vesper service will conclude each day's activities.

Ex-Longhorn to be FCA guest

Ted Koy, former University of Texas football star and now of the pro Buffalo Bills, will be guest speaker at 7 a.m. Saturday, July 14, at a breakfast meeting of the newly-organized Post adult chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Koy will also show a film, "Running for Daylight," at the breakfast, which is to be held at Betty's Grub Stake Cafe.

Bill McBride, secretary and publicity chairman for the Post chapter, said all local members and prospective members of the FCA are invited to the breakfast. Syd B. Wyatt is president of the chapter and Bill Pool is treasurer.

Judge Dalby has been in touch with the state attorney-general's office on the problem. Several weeks would be required to secure a legal opinion on this point, Dalby said, but unofficially the attorney-general's office "tells us we don't have the power to act in this field without specific legislative enactment."
