

New C. W. Post commemorative medals here, sale starts today

10 sets to be auctioned

The new C. W. Post commemorative medals went on sale today at the Post Chamber of Commerce office and local buyers will have a wide selection of choices.

The medals arrived Tuesday from the W. N. W. Mint Co. of Amarillo after being on order for a number of months. Post artist Marie Neff designed both faces of the medals.

Ronald Thuet and Chamber Secretary Joy Greer were busy yesterday trying to get organized for the sale of the medals.

For those who don't have the opportunity to "shop" at the Chamber office for their selections, there will be a big "C. W. Post medal booth and display" at the annual Fourth of July celebration in city-county park and medals can be purchased there.

The first 10 numbered sets of four medals, selling for $105 a set, will be auctioned off at the July 4th celebration. Of the 45 of these sets received in the order, 26 already have been sold to buyers who have put their names on the "waiting list" during the last several weeks while the Chamber awaited delivery of their order.

It is hoped to sell several series of the medals. C. W. Post's likeness appears on one side of the medal. The other side of the medal will depict various events in Post's development of this community.

For this first series a drawing of the "rain battles" Post fought along the Caprock's rim is featured.

The medals are minted in 24K gold, on .999 silver, .999 fine silver (pure), antiqued silver and bronze.

A numbered set of each of the four is priced at $100.

Also for sale are three medal sets, excluding the gold, for $52.50, two medal sets of antiqued silver and bronze for $15.75, and a single gold medal for $52.50, and a single .999 fine silver in case for $26.25. Each of the sets come in an engraved case.

The fine silver medal without the case sell for $21, the antiqued silver for $5.25, and the bronze for $3.68.

For those buying individual medals men can buy a bolo tie in which to wear the medal or women have the choice of four different BiCentennial pendants.

If the sale of the medal is successful, the Chamber hopes to sponsor further series of the medals.

The Chamber is preparing a brochure on the medals and is planning an advertising campaign in The Dispatch as well to promote sale of the medals, but the delivery of the medals caught them just a few days short of being "ready for the rush."

Chamber Secretary Greer points out that the sale will be handled exclusively through the Chamber office so that purchasers will be registered by medal number so they can be offered the same numbers of any further series of the Post medals which are minted.

The C. W. Post medals are the major project of the Post Chamber this year.

AMONG THE CHOICES — C. W. Post commemorative medals may be purchased either in a bolo tie for men or any of four BiCentennial pendants for women. Medals in bolo tie and pendants are shown above on a desk blotter background at the Chamber office. — (Staff Photo)

There's nothing quite as exciting as a brand new project when one isn't sure how it will turn out — so don't blame Chamber Secretary Joy Greer for being excited now the C. W. Post commemorative medals have arrived.

There is already $800 in advance orders, but really this is only a small amount of the several thousand dollars expenses the Chamber financed with a bank loan to undertake the project.

Once the cost of the project is paid, whatever is left will go into Chamber of Commerce funds for community promotion, so medal buyers can rest assured if any "profit" is realized it will all go to help promote Post's future.

The medals are very neat looking in our opinion and we think purchasers will be pleased. The way local folks have bought books here at The Dispatch about Post, we think the commemorative medals project will wind up as a big success — but for a while it's going to take a lot of work.

We've seen some of the other commemorative medals and maybe we're prejudiced but we think the C. W. Post medals are the best yet.

So stop by and pick out what (See Postings, Page 8)

No change in law arm here

Sheriff E. E. (Gene) Gandy had little to report on the coordinated local law front this week, either on crime or any change in his force of deputies.

The week was a "quiet one" here except for the usual weekend drunks, Gandy told The Dispatch.

As for filling up the final two positions on his law force, nothing has changed. He "almost" hired one of the former Slaton officers this week, but at the last minute Lubbock hired the officer.

"I have no applications on my desk I'm considering," Gandy told The Dispatch, "so it looks like we'll have to operate with those we have for the present."

The sheriff along with one of his deputies still has two weeks of schooling left at South Plains College at Levelland before completing required law enforcement courses required by the state.

Gandy also told The Dispatch that his home telephone number is 495-2124. He explained his former home phone was on an extension requiring a change.

"I certainly don't have an unlisted number," he emphasized.

Library heading for new circulation record

A total of 890 books were checked out of the Post Public Library during May to boost the circulation for the first five months of 1975 to 5,165 books, Librarian Pee Wee Pierce noted in her monthly library report.

At the present rate, the library will surpass its circulation record of almost 12,000 volumes during 1975.

Seventy new books were added to library shelves during the month to bring 1975 acquisitions to 317.

In the library's new film department, the movie project or was checked out four times with four films shown to 75. Five films were checked out of the library and 20 others shown at the library with a total viewing audience of 410, according to the report.

May was a good "puzzle month" too with 125 puzzles checked out by library patrons.

Fines, book sales, and donations totaled $21.03 for the month to bring miscellaneous library income for 1975 to $142.06.

Australian cattlemen are 'in trouble' too

Big Australian "mixed" cattlemen are in trouble too. Queensland province is the major cattle producing area.

The Japanese are moving into Australia too, as they are into this country, in investments. As The Dispatch understood the visitors, the Japanese, who failed in their invasion of that continent in World War II, are not permitted to migrate to Australia.

Asked if Australia is still seeking immigrants as they were about a decade ago, Barber and Cliffon said their country was unable to absorb the stream of immigrants they attracted and had a lot of "unhappy immigrants" on their hands, so they are cutting back now on the number coming in.

Johnny Lowe archery meet to be held here Sunday

The biggest event of the local archery season — the second annual Johnny Lowe Memorial Invitational Archery tournament — comes up here Sunday under sponsorship of the Post Archery club.

Club officials say they will be pleased if they have as large a field as the 80 who participated in the initial memorial event here last year.

The tourney attracts archers from all over Texas.

It is named for the late Johnny Lowe, a state archery winner and a national competitor who was killed in a tractor accident at White River Lake two years ago. Lowe helped re-organize the Post Archery Club.

The tourney will get under way at 9 a. m. with the 14-target animal round. This is followed at 1 p. m. with the 14-target tournament, and the tourney competition concludes with a 14-target field round later in the afternoon.

Entry fee is $5 and each entry has to complete all three rounds to be eligible for the trophies. The tourney has three principal divisions — free style, bow-hunter and barebow.

FHA loan application made for five rental duplexes

An application for a Farm Home Administration loan to build ten rental housing units in Post has been submitted to Bill Stewart of the Lynn-Garza FHA office in Tahoka by the Post Community Housing Association Inc.

John F. Gildersleeve of Levelland, housing consultant for the South Plains Community Action Association, did all detail work on the application and brought the final application papers to Post Monday for final signatures.

The application includes preliminary architectural plans and site plans as prepared by Whittaker and Hall, Lubbock architectural firm.

Loan plans call for five duplexes to be built, three of them with two-bedroom units and the other two with one-bedroom units.

The non-profit housing corporation formed to operate the rental property when built has an option to purchase sufficient acreage on the northwest corner of the Avenue S and 13th St. intersection to not only put the five duplexes there but also big enough to house five or 10 additional duplexes.

Gildersleeve estimates FHA approval may come through within three or four weeks to permit construction to get under way by late summer.

J. B. Potts heads the housing corporation.

The corporation was formed by a Post Chamber of Commerce housing committee, headed by Potts, to get more rental units for Post.

The whole application was put together in the last six weeks and a state charter for the corporation also obtained during this time.

City has funds for new center

The Post City Council has allocated the $43,374 in federal revenue sharing for 1976 for the proposed community-youth center.

Dispatch readers will note this on a required public use report printed on page 14 of today's Dispatch.

Mayor Giles McCrary told The Dispatch a similar procedure had been followed by the city for 1975, but when the community center project did not materialize this year some of the money was spent elsewhere.

"We can change the use," the mayor explained, "but we're hoping we don't have to do it next year and the community center will become reality."

A joint city-council block grant request for community center construction funds is now in the HEW office in Dallas after the original city request.

Three fire runs to same ranch

Post firemen were called to the Kirkpatrick Ranch, six miles off US-84 south of Green Tank, twice Monday to extinguish a persistent grass fire which burned 10 or 15 acres in rough country.

The high wind rekindled the flames in the burning mesquite necessitating a second run.

It was the third trip within a week to extinguish grass fires at the Kirkpatrick ranch. They were first called to put out a blaze last Thursday.

One fireman told The Dispatch there was a broken fuel line burning in the area.

So far, local firemen have made about six grass fire runs into the country surrounding Post.

Donations still sought for July 4th celebration

Gene Moore, who heads the Post Chamber committee in charge of staging Post's 1975 Fourth of July celebration, told The Dispatch this week his committee is still accepting all donations in preparation for a beef barbecue at which some 2,000 folks are expected to eat together.

Only two of the needed seven beef halves have been donated.

"It looks like we're going into the market to buy some beef," Moore said.

Moore said some local merchants, especially the grocers have made some appreciated contributions. Money also would be handy, he added.

The Chamber lost over $800 on last year's barbecue and so directors have voted to put a dollar a plate charge on all those going through the line this year.

"We're not trying to make any money," Moore explained. "We are just trying to avoid another big loss."

He said only a few had complained of the charge since it was announced and said they wouldn't come this year. But others, according to Moore, have told him they are going to come to the barbecue for the first time because of the surrounding the large city, which one would expect to be all concrete and asphalt.

Post woman finally meets 30-year pen pal

"It is a rolling plain type of country, very plush and green," (See Pen Pal, Page 8)

Frances Conrad of Post has recently returned home from a visit to Chicago where she met for the first time a pen pal she has been writing for about 30 years.

Frances and Mrs. Barbara Voigt began writing to each other as pen pals some 30 years ago when Mrs. Voigt's name appeared in a small church paper distributed through the Methodist Church here in Post.

Frances flew to Chicago during her vacation recently to meet Mrs. Voigt and spend a few days in her home. She was to be met at the airport by Mr. and Mrs. Voigt, and was a little concerned whether she would recognize them very easily, but they recognized each other immediately. They had exchanged pictures through the years, though some not so recent, and were thrilled that they knew each other so quickly.

The Voigts took her on a tour through the Chicago area and she reports she was somewhat surprised by the country

Cornish takes Rotary's helm

Jim Cornish was installed as president of the Post Rotary Club at the club's Tuesday luncheon in city hall although he will not be taking office until July 1.

He and other new officers will be attending a Rotary district conference in Lubbock next Tuesday when the installation normally would have been held.

Cornish succeeds Ed Bruton as head of the civic organization that will celebrate its 50th anniversary here in October.

Other officers installed Tuesday by Jack Alexander were Bob Arheger, first vice president; Bruton, second vice president; Lou Marks, secretary; James Mitchell, treasurer; Walter Didway and Dr. Charles McCook, two-year directors; T. B. Odam and Tom Power, one-year directors; Bob Collier, sergeant-at-arms; and Charles Adams, editor of the club's bulletin, The Branding Iron.

Syd Wyatt gave a patriotic talk on the BiCentennial theme, reporting on his vacation visit recently to making of the famous Revolutionary War sites near Boston and also on Washington, D. C.

Woman killed in Garza wreck

Lubbock woman was killed in another Garza County road accident and two others were injured, but not seriously, about 7 p. m. last Wednesday, June 19, Sheriff E. E. (Gene) Gandy reported to The Dispatch.

Janice Caudillo, 27, Lubbock, was killed at 7:45 p. m. after being taken to Mercy Hospital in Lubbock for Garza emergency ambulance.

The Ybarra of Southland, driver of the 1969 Chevrolet, which overturned in the near accident, was admitted to Mercy Hospital in Slaton with cuts and bruises, as was Caudillo's daughter, Michelle Caudillo, of Lubbock, also with cuts and bruises.

Sheriff Gandy said he and Deputy Bobby Dean were en route home to Post from attending officer training school in Levelland when they received a radio report of the accident three miles east of Lubbock on a dirt road.

Witnesses said broken ribs punctured Mrs. Caudillo's lung.

Temp was 105 hot here on Monday

Monday was the "scorching" of 1975 to date with the thermometer sizzling up to 105 degrees.

It was the third 100 degree day of the summer. The first two came on the previous two Saturdays.

The temperature barely reached 100 degrees on June 7 and climbed to 102 last Saturday.

PEN PALS — Frances Conrad of Post, right, and Mrs. Barbara Voigt of Chicago, pen pals for 30 years, are pictured together in Chicago when the two got together for the first time to finally meet each other after the long correspondence.

On breaking the gates

It's disgusting and ridiculous that the railroad crossing gates here on Main street are taking such a battering from impatient motorists.

Three times in one week one or both of the gates were knocked down, according to W. S. Strain of Lubbock, special agent for the Santa Fe.

Not long ago the agent placed an ad in The Dispatch offering a reward for information leading to person or persons who have "busted" the crossing gates. He thinks he is about to get the information and pay the reward. That way the guilty driver will be given the opportunity to pay the damages involved.

A number of lives have been lost by impatient or careless motorists at the Main street crossing — their own. It took a number of years of campaigning to arouse enough interest to get the safety gates installed — and they are an expensive addition, we might add, to local safety.

Now we've got some protection, what are we doing about it? Simply tearing it up, that's what.

If one takes a normal human being, who his friends would term "a real nice guy", and put him behind the wheel of an automobile he often changes in the blinking of an eye. He becomes a demon. Don't try to get him to stop or wait, or slow down, or you're in trouble.

Well, our local "demons" are breaking down our "gates."

If you see one bust through the railroad safety gate at the crossing some time in the near future, please get his license number.

Special Agent Strain probably will have some nice reward money for you.

Write letters for cotton

Cotton farmers might be happy to hear that letter writers to The Christian Science Monitor, one of the nation's best five-times-a-week newspapers, are complaining about being unable to buy enough cotton products.

"Why must we have these nylon polyester and synthetic fabrics which are horribly clammy to wear and often highly inflammable," wrote one, who declared she wouldn't buy any if she could avoid it. "There is plenty of honest cotton and natural wool in the world for all our needs," she concluded.

Another letter writer commented that "the displacement of cotton illustrates not only the limited choice available, but a waste of oil energy."

"Cotton is produced naturally by free energy from the sun," he wrote. "Synthetics are made from oil and use oil energy again in their fabrication — a double use of a nonrenewable and costly resource."

The writer contended that "the substitution of energy consuming material into our economy is so wide that we now wear oil clothing and walk on oil rugs."

He concluded by asking if the elimination of any or all of these oil related substitutes would lower our living standard, or make us less dependent upon others.

Synthetic fabrics of course are a part of the oil picture in this country and have come into the market at the start on the basis of being cheaper than cotton and to offer stay-stress materials for clothing and home use. They are no longer a price winner over cotton, thanks to the Arabs.

Now cotton scientists are well on the road to whipping the other synthetic advantage too. But in the meantime, it is nice to know that there is a segment of the buying public still retaining its love for cotton and also developing a hate for "clammy synthetics," who think so strongly on the subject that they write letters to newspapers about it.

Our energy program failure

Nobody in government seems capable of coming up with an energy program for the United States which will not put this country at the mercy of the Middle Eastern oil barons.

Congress has failed dismally with its energy law making efforts. The best President Ford seems able to come up with as an arm-twister to make motorists cut down on gasoline usage is to add on higher taxes.

To the consumer of course this means simply higher prices — whether Uncle Sam or the Arabs get the money. As long as motorists can afford present unthrifty driving habits they will continue.

The trouble with finding an energy solution is that it means facing some hard facts of life and politicians are simply politicians first and statesmen or lawmakers second. Hard solutions will not be popular with the public, so of course are not popular with politicians.

Things are bad in energy and are getting worse.

There is of course an abundance of gasoline as present high rates.

The spiraling price of energy — you can hear talk of cents a gallon gasoline all the way to a $1 in the next five years — is going to fuel world inflation again just as it did the first time around.

The recession may be nearing an end — but not inflation.

It seems to us the only way to get a solution is for the soft American public to get tough with itself. There is no political leadership for us here as it would be political suicide.

Statebeat

By KURT E. JOHNSON

AUSTIN — House Representatives Speaker for the 64th session, Billy Clayton, held a press conference in this city on Thursday, June 12, and announced at least three things which are of interest to every Texan:

(1) He said that he is a candidate for Speaker in the next legislative session;

(2) He said he already has over 90 unsolicited votes for that position;

(3) He said that a tax bill will have to be passed in the next session to finance the state budget, and the vehicle he favors is a consumer sales tax for revenues.

Clayton's assumptions are interesting. For starters he is assuming that there will be another legislative session before the general election in November of 1976, which necessarily assumes the passage of the new constitution which will be voted on in November of 1975.

If he is not making this assumption, then he would be assuming that (1) he will be re-elected and (2) each of the more than 90 representatives who pledged a vote to him will be re-elected.

It is also obvious that Clayton is confident that the powers-that-be in state government can effectively dictate an increase in state sales taxes which put the burden of financing state government on the middle class and lower-middle class consumer, not the corporations or high-income earners who would be effected by either state corporation taxes or a state income tax.

Most economists agree (and they rarely agree on anything) that a state income tax would be less of a burden on middle class citizens than an increase in state sales taxes, given the fact of a fair and equitable schedule for a state income tax system.

But Clayton and the corporation, big-business interests who are influential in Texas government will have no part of such a suggestion, and the signs of the times indicate that they are quite secure in their position — even to the extent of informing us now of how its going to be in the future and who is going to pick up the tab.

While Clayton was meeting with reporters, Representative Lane Denton of Waco was calling on Governor Briscoe, asking the vetoing of numerous line items in the state appropriations bill. Included in his suggestions was the deleting of building construction for higher education, noting that "Texas has enough buildings. What we need is more people-service for the citizens."

The scenario is already beginning to emerge. Briscoe won't veto the construction items and the precedents will carry over into the next session. Taxes will thus go up and the method of raising revenues will be in a sales surcharge. The result will be that those who spend their income on cost-spiraling bags of groceries will be helping to carpet new buildings on college campuses, including the University of Texas law school, which will add new facilities but most likely will not raise the number of students in the enrollment. Groceries, you see, can buy a lot of classroom space which is frosting on the cake.

The legislative session ended only some 15 days ago, but the capitol is still smoking. Governor Briscoe is mulling over whether or not to sign a strip-mining bill into law. In addition to being concerned about the environment, he is also concerned with whether or not a friend who has a uranium mine in Karnes City will have his profit diminished if he has to participate in land reclamation, as prescribed by the bill.

I'll bet you didn't realize that being Governor involved such difficult decisions.

On another front, we can note that the would-be, almost-was State Personnel Board which didn't pass into law will now

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK - Provisions in current farm law which authorize payments to farmers whose crops fail victim to capricious weather bounced back into the spotlight on the High Plains in recent days as a succession of hail storms damaged or destroyed upwards of 400,000 acres of growing cotton.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. sponsored the "disaster program" of the 1973 Farm Act, and the 25-county Lubbock-based cotton producer organization, along with USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), is being bombarded with questions about program benefits and regulations.

The present law provides that a farmer suffering a total loss on cotton after the final replanting date in his area (the date after which planting is not required for disaster payment eligibility) can be paid 12.7 cents per pound times the established yield from his "disaster allotment." The final replanting date for cotton ranges from June 1 in counties north of Lubbock to June 15 in southern sections of the Plains.

Whether or not the final replanting date has been reached, the producer may replant cotton if he wishes, in which case he remains eligible for the same disaster payment if the crop is destroyed by the elements later in the season. Or, a yield deficiency payment may be applied for after harvest if the new crop survives but fails to produce a "normal" yield. The per pound payment rate in this latter case is also 12.7 cents, with the total equal to that rate times the difference between actual yield and the farm's established yield.

Producers not wishing to replant must within 15 days report their loss to ASCS, certify the number of acres planted, and request an inspection. ASCS appraisers will inspect damaged fields (after a 7-day waiting period on hail damage) to determine the extent of loss. When the producer and the appraiser have agreed on the percentage of loss, ASCS will release the field and it can be planted to another, shorter season crop if the farmer so desires. The disaster payment is not affected by production of the subsequent crop.

In 1974, USDA administered the disaster program in such a manner as to deny disaster payments to many producers who overplanted cotton, wheat or feed grain allotments and underplanted one or both the others. But, largely as a result of a protest led by PCG and Lubbock's Grain Sorghum Producers Association, production of each program crop in 1975 will stand on its own for purposes of figuring disaster payments.

Also in 1975, when one program crop is overplanted and another underplanted, the farm's "disaster allotment" of the overplanted crop is increased to reflect the underplanted portion of other program crop allotments.

Take, for example, a farm with a 100 acre cotton allotment and a 100 acre feed grain allotment. If the full 200 acres is planted to cotton and no feed grain is planted on the farm, disaster coverage will extend to the full 200 acres of cotton. On farms where there are cotton, feed grain and wheat allotments, underplanting of one grain crop will be credited to overplanting of the other before cotton disaster coverage is increased.

ASCS appraisers begin their assessment of cotton crop damage by assuming that a stalk every 6 inches is a perfect stand. The number and length of skips that measure over six

New change on phone payments

The Garza Branch Office of the Slaton Savings and Loan Association here will become payment contractors for General Telephone Co. of the Southwest effective next Tuesday.

This means local phone patrons may pay their phone bills at the savings and loan office beginning Tuesday. The Tom Power Insurance Agency has been the payment contractor for the phone company here since last November, and before that phone bills were paid at Bob Collier's drug store.

A General Telephone official told The Dispatch yesterday that payment contractors are established for customer convenience in communities where the telephone company does not have a business office.

RULES FOR KEEPING FOOD SAFE IF YOUR FREEZER FAILS
Have you ever thought about what you would do if your home freezer stopped running? If your freezer does stop running or the electricity goes off for some time, you can take special precautions to keep your food from spoiling.

Follow one of these rules suggested by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and you stand a good chance of preserving your food:

- Keep the freezer closed. Open it only to take food out for transport or to add dry ice. Try to determine how long the current will be off, and how long the food will keep. The length of time food will stay frozen depends on:
 - The amount of food in the freezer. A full freezer will stay cold many hours longer than a freezer only a quarter full.
 - The kind of food. A freezer full of meat will warm up as fast as a freezer of baked food.
 - The temperature of the food. The colder the food, the longer it will stay frozen.
 - The freezer itself. A well-insulated freezer will keep food frozen much longer than one with little insulation.
 - Size of freezer. The larger the freezer, the longer the food will stay frozen.
- If you have a locker plant in your area, make advanced arrangements to take care of food during an emergency. When transporting the food to the locker plant, wrap it in newspaper and blankets, insulated boxes. Then put food to the locker plant.
- Your next best alternative is to add "dry ice" to the freezer to retain the cold. More dry ice you use, the longer your food will stay frozen. Invest some time, telephone, when you have an emergency, to find out how you can buy "dry ice" you need it.
- If all else fails, freeze the home canning equipment and cook the whatever ways you may like it. Here, again, sure you have the canning lids, and other canning equipment on hand, and canning recipes handy.
- Sometimes frozen food completely or partially before you discover that freezer is not running. You safely refreeze foods that thawed if they are above 40 F. - provided have been held at temperature no longer than two days. But, use refrozen foods as emergency ration only.
- Always examine meat poultry before you decide to do with it, because it become unsafe to eat if it is spoiled. Get rid of the color or odor of the food is questionable.
- Remember, be prepared when your home freezer running. Don't let a blackout wipeout your foods.

Bicentennial Bits

the first winter in their thrown-together cabins and shacks. Some never reached the coast. One of the transports,
"Martha", went down off Nova Scotia. 115 Loyalists were drowned, including 40 women and children.
For each Loyalist who left the country four remained. Tensions had been growing since the 1760's. The Regulators, a disgruntled group of North Carolina frontiersmen had been fighting the "establishment." In 1765 a prominent Bostonian, Andrew Oliver was appointed tax-collector. He soon resigned.
He was hanged in effigy, and dragged to the Liberty Tree and forced to re-sign. It was often neighbor against neighbor, and father against son. One Tory noted, "he that would not trust his own blade through his brother's heart was called an infamous villain."

Mob violence was real. On a severe winter night in 1774, John Malcolm, Boston Loyalist, was tarred and feathered, taken to the gallows and fitted with a noose to terrify him.

This tarring bit was no harmless prank. It was an awful experience. Hot blistering pine tar was spread from top to toe. Goose feathers were sprinkled all over, while the tar was still soft. At times the feathers were set afire. Sometimes the feathers ignited the tar. Often the victim was hailed around town in a cart, and beaten with clubs. Removing the tar often removed skin and flesh.
Another pastime was riding a
Tory out of town on a rail.
Carried astride a sharp rail, held in place by men on each side, the effect was said to be akin to sliding down a razor blade.

Unlucky Seagoe Potter was found guilty of stealing arms from the patriots. His sentence:
"it is considered by the Court that you, Seagoe Potter, return to the prison from whence you came, from thence you must be drawn to the place of execution.
When you come there you must be hanged by the neck but not till you be dead, for you must be cut down alive, then your bowels must be taken out, and burnt before your face, then your head must be severed from your body, and your body divided into four quarters, and these must be at the disposal of the Supreme Authority of the State."
On both sides, there were white hats and black hats, and many, many gray hats. And all wore "with liberty and justice for all."

CLOSE CITY MEETING
The Close City community center meeting will be held Saturday night, June 21 at 7 p.
m. in the center. Potluck supper and games will be held.
The public is invited to attend.

Shooting the Breeze

By NAN HAIR

Camps of all kinds have begun to take away some of the boredom which often overcomes a lot of Post Youth during the summer.

Several Methodist youth left Sunday to attend Methodist Camp at Ceta Canyon. This week the camp will be for the junior high age youth. Those attending from Post are Leanna Davis, David Gandy, Mark Metzger, Chuck Black, and Ronnie Eaton. I remember the fun I always had and I'm sure these people will return full of wonderful stories and lots of memories.

The First Christian Church Camp hosted a group of high school youth this past week. Post had its share of campers attending also. They were Christy Davis, Rodney Owen, Matt Allison, Jimmy Dorzint and Joe Blacklock. I've talked to some of these people and from what I've heard they really had a great time. Unfortunately Jimmy and Joe had to return home a day or so early to take care of some personal business. How did it turn out, boys?

Our junior high girls basketball teams should really be something this fall. It seems that despite the fact that the season is quite a ways off several girls are sacrificing the lazy days of summer to polish up on their game. Five Post girls attended basketball camp at South Plains College in Levelland. Two of the girls were awarded honors for their outstanding ability. They were

Marksmen are road menace

AUSTIN — Trigger-happy gunmen are endangering the lives of motorists. Texas Highway Department officials report an upsurge of vandalized signs and safety markers in the last several months.

Self-styled "marksmen" have been shooting out reflectorized object markers, delineators, flashing signal lights and stationary signs erected to guide and direct motorists at danger points on the highway. Motorists' lives are endangered when these safety devices are destroyed.

One woman was lucky to escape death when her vehicle was struck broadside at a highway intersection north of Del Rio. Witnesses say they had seen two men shoot out lens on all sides of the flashing signal at this dangerous intersection.

By coincidence, another "marksmen" paid $344 for shooting out the lens on a flashing signal at Breckenridge about the same time the Val Verde County signal was damaged. A district court judge fined the man $150, added $44 court costs and then ordered him to pay $150 for replacing the lens in the light.

Mitchell. Cindy Kirkpatrick was unable to attend as she hasn't returned from her trip to the Holy Land. These girls should really be prepared to cheer PHS through another outstanding year.

Susan Sawyers, who received the award for "Best Hustler", and Donna Baumann who received the award for "Best Attitude for a Forward". Also attending the camp were Jenny Thomas, Susan Jackson and Lacy McGinnis. Congratulations to these girls and good luck this next fall.

Holly Giddens also attended a basketball camp this week. She is attending the camp sponsored by Wayland Baptist College in Plainview. From what I've heard Holly has really had a good time and also learned a lot.

The 1975-76 cheerleaders for PHS left this week to attend cheerleading camp at Western Texas College at Snyder. The girls attending the camp are Kim Mitchell, Karen Williams, Christy Conners and Kelly Tony Conner, Gary Bilbo, Chris Wyatt, Dianna Collier, Nan Hair, Dana Babb, Carol Davis, Dana Giddens, Leanna Davis, Amy Babb, Karen Williams, Patricia Bilberry, Terry Smith, Jenny Thomas, and Nancy Reno. I have a feeling that its going to be a long week-end for Don Collier, Bud Davis, Ronald Babb, Barbara Babb and Doris Giddens who will accompany them.

Several Post people have begun to visit friends and relatives and seeing a lot of the U. S. of A. Scott Walker is in Washington DC visiting his sister, Deann. Scott has filled his early summer days by doing all kinds of fun things like canoeing down the Potomac River. Scott is scheduled to return to Post Tuesday. I hope he doesn't find himself too bored by the contrast of Post to DC.

Brad Davis was the guest of Bobby Macy this past week. They went to Ruidoso, N. M. I haven't talked to Brad but I hope he won more money than he lost.

Nancy Gandy is visiting her sister, Jo Beth at Stephenville. Jo Beth, who attends Stephen

F. Austin in Stephenville, is a member of the east of the summer production of "Godspell." I hope that Nancy can tell us some of the latest fads on the college campus.

Several of the boys here at Post have begun working at the Cal-Maine chicken farm northwest of Post. Their jobs vary from assembling a sprinkler system to constructing the cages for the chickens. Working out at the farm are Rodney Teaff, Randy Bell, Gary Bilbo, Joe Moore, and Randy Babb. When these guys start clucking we will know they have been working too hard.

I received a letter Monday from an old school mate who moved away several years ago. His name is Stacy Robinson. Stacy made the comment that the only way he was keep up with the times going in his old house through what he read in the Post. I hope that other people informed youth and their activities. Thanks for the Lockhart, Texas.

TEXAS TALK
 By FRED MYERS

Sorghum planted in a field of plastic? That's one of the possibilities being studied by research groups now taking a hard look at a variety of water conservation programs. Experiments have actually been done in the Oklahoma Panhandle whereby plots were covered by large plastic sheets... holes cut in the plastic for the plants and irrigation water supplied under the plastic. Results... less than half the normal water required. Costs... terrible. So the search goes on with new attention focused on special breeding for water retention and improved plant utilization. Tests at Oklahoma State University reportedly indicated that as much as 2 inches of water a year can be saved by planting sorghum in rows running north and south rather than east to west. Direction of rows, spacing of furrows and development of new breeds are all subjects the sorghum producer will be hearing a lot more about... especially if the weather forecasters are right.

As It Looks From Here . . .

By OSMAR BURLINSON, M. C. 11th DISTRICT, TEXAS
WASHINGTON, D. C. — The mounting problem of disposing of solid wastes plagues all America. Cities, towns, manufacturing and commercial operations are finding it more and more difficult to meet standards of disposing of liquid effluents but getting rid of solid materials is even more so.

In the past four or five decades, according to reports, the amount of solid waste discarded per person in this country has doubled. Collections of throw-away stuff amounts to more than 225 million tons per year with disposal costs of more than $5 billion annually. The National League of Cities reports that about half our towns and cities will run out of current disposal capacity in from two to five years.

The increase in the volume of materials entering the solid waste stream has a potentially serious drain on our national resources. The U. S. Geological Survey has warned that by 1985 our nation will be dependent on foreign imports for more than one-half of its supply of nine basic raw materials. Some studies on the subject warn that we are approaching a mineral crisis which could rival the energy shortage unless steps are taken to encourage the recovery and re-use of raw materials.

In spite of the continuing increase in the size of our national trash can the U. S. today recycles a lower percentage of discarded solid materials than ever before. It is estimated that we recycle only one per cent of municipal wastes. Published statistics gathered by the Environmental Protection Agency indicate that we recycle only 19 per cent of all newspaper, 18 per cent of aluminum, five per cent of glass and four per cent of textiles. According to the Midwest Research Institute, recycling will continue to decline in the absence of new developments towards recycling and the need for economic incentives to do so.

Studies show that the recovery of even a small portion of the 110 million tons of industrial solid wastes which must currently be disposed of each year would produce significant energy savings. The President's Advisory Commission on Environmental Quality estimates that more than 90 per cent of energy presently required could be saved if worn-out aluminum products were recycled. Paper manufacturers could save upwards of 66 per cent if full use was made of recycled paper, instead of the use of wood pulp. If steel and other scrap metals were recycled to the full potential, 50 per cent of present energy use could be saved.

At a time when we are searching for ways to conserve energy, federal tax policies and freight rates continue to favor the use of virgin materials. One of the most sensible sections of the energy bill now pending in the Congress provides incentives needed for recycling facilities for millions of tons of wasted raw materials. It provides tax credits for research and development, to find ways and means to get rid of solid wastes and allows certain tax credits for facilities installed to cope with this very serious situation.

Our affluence in this country has led us to think that we have an inexhaustible supply of natural resources but we do not. This, together with the fact that we are cluttering our environment with cast-off materials, is enough to make it obvious that there must be better answers to present practices.

Pen pal—

(Continued From Page One) with a large strip of land running through Chicago and the surrounding area that is untouched and full of wildlife," says Francis. "The land was part of a large portion of land willed to Cook County, but was specified in the will that this particular part of the land was to be left as it was to preserve for the future the woods and the wildlife that lives in it." The homes are very pretty and well cared for, with small squirrels and cottontails running free throughout the residential areas.

She also visited the "famous loop" where the large business buildings, banks and high rise apartments are located. They went to the 103rd floor of the Sears building, and also dined in one of the high rise restaurants, which is a revolving dining room that scans the skyline above the city.

All in all her trip was very successful and one that will obviously be remembered. It's not every day you get to meet someone you have gotten to know so well without really seeing them.

$29,946 damage suit filed here

Mrs. Marion Minor of Post has filed a $29,946.50 damage suit in Garza County District Court here against Tommy Woods, doing business as Bill's Long Branch, as the result of a fall Mrs. Minor sustained there on Oct. 20, 1974.

The suit alleges negligence of Mrs. Woods' part as the cause of the fall on the front steps of the Long Branch. The suit says Mrs. Minor sustained a leg fracture in the fall which required an operation and a hospital stay of a month and even now she requires use of a walker.

Mrs. Minor seeks $4,946.50 for medical and hospital expenses and $25,000 for pain and suffering, past, present, and future.

6,000 new jobs are found

AUSTIN — More than 6,000 jobs have been identified through the TEXAS FIRST program in its first month of operation — 50 per cent more than was projected for the entire year, Jim Harwell, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, has revealed.

"At this rate, we could expect to identify more than 15,000 new jobs and find the right workers to fill them within the year in Texas," he told a Capitol news conference. "This will mean an economic impact of more than $1 billion annually."

"We believed all along, and it's now proven, that there were jobs out there, but no concerted effort was in effect to match the people with the jobs. We believed we could develop a system that would bring them

Rep. Heatly explains his view of new school bill

"The House of Representatives voted to concur in the Senate Amendments to House Bill 1126 by a vote of 129-18, with these amendments representing major concessions in the fight to protect schools similar to those in my District," Rep. W. S. (Bill) Heatly said in a statement this week. "Several 'Save Harmless' provisions were added by the Senate as a means of gaining enough support to insure passage of the Bill. "I am not satisfied with the financing of the Bill, however, it does contain many features for the improvement of education for children of the state. The Governor has pledged no new state taxes and I feel the Legislature should have pledged no new local taxes, however, since it appeared to be the best we could do at this time. I voted for it. "Not only does the Bill call for increased local funds, but the percentage which each local district is required to raise is increased. Since 1949 the State has been assessed 80 percent of the cost of the Foundation School Program while local people have paid 20 percent.

Under this new Bill, the local taxpayer will pay 40 percent of the new cost while the State will pay 20 percent. In my opinion this is the most dangerous precedent in the past 30 years of public school finance legislation. Hereafter every Session of the Legislature can raise taxes for the local ad valorem taxpayer by simply adjusting the percentages between state

The protective features of the bill will expire at the end of two years and at that time further legislation will be necessary to prevent local tax increases of a ruinous nature to the agricultural industry and property owners of our district. We will need the active, concerned commitment of every citizen of the district if we are to maintain some sanity in the ad valorem tax system of financing good schools for our children. It is an established fact that when a community loses its school, the churches, businesses and homes soon follow. We cannot afford to allow this to happen to our communities. In accordance with the interpretation, the bill will not bring about an increase in local taxes the next two years other than those that have been encumbered. "I will continue to work for

I trust that the majority of my taxpayers and constituents will agree."

Deeres take Little League lead as Tigers drop three

Lance Dunn hurls first no-hitter of season

Lance Dunn, Post Volunteer Fire Dept. Cardinal pitcher, became the first hurler to throw a no-hitter in Post's 1975 Little League season Saturday night when he shutout the Storie Gin Tigers, struck out 13, and dropped the Tigers out of a tie for the loop lead.

It was the second defeat of the week for the Tigers who took a 10 to 1 beating last Thursday night from the Taylor Tractor Deeres.

The Tigers virtually collapsed this week after running up nine straight wins.

They took their third straight loss Tuesday night when the Red Sox upset them 9 to 7 and climbed out of the league cellar.

All these losses moved the charging Cardinals, who won three straight victories for the week, into a tie with the Tigers for second place.

More is to come as the three clubs battle into the final week of the season with the Deeres scheduled to play both the Tigers and the Deeres.

Then, if it affects the final standings, the top two clubs, the Deeres and Tigers, will have to play their earlier rained out game.

Only two games to date have been rained out and will be made up only if they would effect the final standings. The other postponed till is the Dodgers vs. the Yankees.

The regular schedule winds up Saturday night. But the way the Deeres' pitching is turning in top performances, the Deeres rate the odds to wind up the season just where they are right now — in first place.

Overshadowed by the no-hitter was Adolfo Varela's one-hit shutout of the Brown Brothers Red Sox for the Deeres on Friday, the 13th.

It was a four-inning stint stopped by the 15-run rule as the Deeres pounded out 13 hits, including three for three by Catcher Danny Wright, to swamp the Red Sox 18-0.

Varela almost had a no-hitter at that. He had two outs in the final inning before giving up the game's only hit, a single by

First Sacker Danny Martinez. In Dunn's no-hitter for the Cardinals Saturday night, he had 10 runners on the paths and even had the bases loaded in the sixth before ending the game on a strikeout. He walked four and hit two and had some errors behind him. But 10 runners or no — it was every pitcher's dream, a no-hitter.

The Cardinals three wins for the week also included a 24 to 2 thumping of the Yankees on Thursday night and a 13 to 11 victory over the Dodgers Friday night.

The Yankees found things more to their liking Monday night when they went up against the second-division Dodgers and routed them, 20 to 3 in a game which found pitchers on both sides too wild for their own good.

The Red Sox had two big innings — a five-run second and a four-run fifth to upset the Tigers Tuesday. The Tigers punched out 10 hits, but couldn't get the runners across. The Sox did all their damage on only four singles, but mixed it in effectively with a lot of everything else.

The Deeres continued to roll along Tuesday with a 26 to 3 romp over the Dodgers, which included 15 hits, three of them

Sox take first loss in Babe Ruth play

Nobody is exactly threatening to overtake Post Pipe & Supply's defending Babe Ruth champions, the White Sox, but it has now been decided that the Sox aren't going to march through the entire schedule undefeated either.

The Indians took care of that unbeaten string last Thursday night when they squeaked out a 6 to 5 victory over the White Sox.

The loss was made even more bitter for the Sox because they lost their regular centerfielder and leadoff hitter for the rest of the season when Kelly Baumann broke his right arm stealing second base in the first inning.

The loss still left the White Sox in a comfortable lead, but there is still enough of the schedule left for them to face a stretch challenge if things get worse.

In the Indians' big victory, Leslie Looney went the distance to get the win for the Indians, giving up five hits.

The Indians scored five times in a big second inning to overcome a 2 to 1 White Sox first inning lead and appeared to have it well in hand until the Sox rallied in the sixth to score three times and put the tying run on second before Raymond Gonzales flied out to center to retire the side.

Looney put up with no White homeruns and a lot more for extra bases.

Timmie Greathouse got one homerun, but Ronnie Price got two to go with a double.

Sox foolishness in the seventh. He struck on the side — one, two and three — to protect the

Some champs are named

Three divisions of the Garza County Junior Tennis Tournament, which got under way here Monday, were completed Tuesday with the champions named.

Will Kirkpatrick defeated Mark Odom in the 10 year old boys singles final and then teamed with Odom to win the doubles title in the same division by downing Wade Giddens and Tim Tannehill.

In the doubles of the 14 year old boys division, Raymie Holly and Bruce Waldrip won the title defeating Ken Bell and Terry Holloway.

Conner hits two homers as team gets Shortstop Tony Conner did what a switch hitter is supposed to do here Monday night in leading the Post Senior Babe Ruth team to its first league win in three starts.

He hit a homerun batting lefthanded and then when Lamesa changed to a southpaw he stepped up from the right side and hit another homerun. Post took a 16-1 victory.

Grandson wins men's shot put

Walter Stelzer, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Stelzer of Grants, N. M., and freshman from Webster Junior High, recently competed at the New Mexico AAU State Championship Track and Field Meet in Albuquerque where he placed first in the shot put competition in the men's division, 15-29 years of age.

Stelzer had been working out with an eight pound shot during the junior high track season, yet was able to win the AAU event using a 16-pounder.

As a junior high athlete, Stelzer lettered in football and track and was a member of the high school junior varsity wrestling team.

He is the grandson of Mrs. Edna Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Stelzer all of Post.

Stelzer, Seals win trophies

The Post Archery Club held a tournament Sunday, June 15 with the following results:

Men's Freestyle Division: A Class, John Nay, first; Men's Bowhunter Division: A Class, Joe Gary, first; Bobby Snow, second; B Class, Junior Stelzer, first; Donny Stelzer, second; Will Parker, third; C Class, Leslie Seals, first; Keith Little, second.

Women's Bowhunter Division: C Class, Sandra Dudley, first.

Cub Division; Lynn Williams, first; Susie Williams, second.

Those winning trophies in this tournament were Junior Stelzer and Leslie Seals.

time up and walked in his other two appearances.

The same two teams first met at Lamesa Saturday night. Things were different. Lamesa won that one, 11 to 0, and Post managed but four singles, three of them in the last inning. Conner got two of the four.

In the locals' opener here last Wednesday night, Tahoka broke up a pitchers' battle with a five-run rally in the seventh inning to take a 5-2 triumph.

Tony was pitching in that one and was protecting a 1-0 lead until the top of the seventh.

He had allowed only a single in the second. He got two out in the second after walking a pair.

Tahoka was one out away from a 1-0 loss and then came a double and three singles in succession for the flurry of runs. It didn't matter that Mike Hair was hit by a pitch, stole second, and scored on a double by Charles Clanton for Post's only other run in the bottom half of the inning.

Post got its first run in the opening inning on a lead walk, a single by Clanton and a sacrifice by Randy Josey.

In that loss, Post got only three hits, Josey getting the other in a leadoff single in the

Arlon Ford wins Samson golf tourney in hot gale

Arlon Ford, sporting a 20 handicap, was named champion of the annual "Scottie" Samson Golf Tournament after turning in a net score of 135 over the tough Caprock Golf Course. The tournament played on two consecutive Saturdays, was concluded with the presentation of awards on Saturday, June 14.

Hampered by gale-like winds, the 24 golfers saw scores soar as the wind and temperatures combined to make the last Saturday of play one not soon to be forgotten.

Colley Gatlin, playing his usual steady game, turned in a sparkling 160 gross to capture that category.

sixth. Tahoka leads the loop with a 2-0 record, having also beaten Lamesa 6-0. Both Lamesa and Post are tied at 1-2 in the three-team circuit.

Garland Dudley started the Lamesa games, taking loss at Lamesa and getting win here, although he allowed Lamesa only one that in the fourth.

Post will journey to Tahoka Friday night for their next game and then meet Tahoka here their next one Monday night 8:30 p. m.

Motorists wreck rail gates 3 times in week

The Main Street crossing gates have been installed for the public's safety, not the railroad's, W. S. Strain, of Lubbock, special agent for the Santa Fe Railroad, told The Dispatch last weekend.

The problem is that some driving members of the public are knocking them to pieces almost faster than the railroad can get them back up.

Six times this year, vehicles have smashed one of the two gates. Three of these came in succession last week.

Strain advertised a reward for information as to who splintered the Main Street gate recently and says he thinks he is going to pay the reward.

The special agent says impatient motorists drive around the gates in front of a slow train and when they meet an impatient motorist coming from the other direction, one of them has to swerve into the gate and break it off.

Just repairing one of the two gates cost $50 to $150 and the guilty driver can be made to pay the tab.

Truckers with big units sometime snap off the gates when they are in an upright position by driving too close to them.

While the state, railroad and county shares in the expense of installation, the railroad pays the maintenance — and in Post its getting to be a problem.

Record high enrollments reported set by GI bill

WACO — GI Bill enrollments have set two record highs, topping all monthly totals for the current GI Bill and exceeding all previous fiscal year totals in only nine months, Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Director, announced today. Veteran enrollments under the Veterans Administration program reached 1.8 million high mark in March, pushing the total in the first nine months of the fiscal year to 2,158 million, Coker said. This compared to 2,128 million for all of fiscal year 1974. Enrollment among active duty servicemen also was up — 11,000 more than the fiscal year 1974 figure — bringing the total for veterans and servicemen to 2,370 million. College level trainees during the period numbered 1,501 million.

Coker added that the spurts followed enactment of a December 1974 law raising benefits by 22.7 percent.

Fifty-eight per cent of all Vietnam veterans have used at least a portion of their eligibility. This compares to 50.5 who used World War II benefits and 43.4 using the Korean Conflict program.

"These increases in GI Bill use," Coker said, "are increases we can all take satisfaction in." He anticipates high enrollments to continue through the current school year spurred by the December raise in allowances.

Under current rates, a single veteran enrolled full time at an institution receives $270 monthly. Veterans with one dependent draw $321 monthly, with two dependents $366, and those with three or more dependents draw an additional $22 for each dependent over two.

Twin Cedars Nursing Home News

By LOIS DAVIS

There was much activity at the Twin Cedar Nursing Home this past week. The residents enjoyed such activities as daily Bible readings, and records, all the many visitors in and out of town, plus an occasional ride about town and country. They seemed to especially enjoy the music last Thursday by Mrs. Esker Stone and yours truly. Mrs. Stone brought her accordion and with the electric guitar there was much foot-patting in the Sun Room.

Again we wish to thank Bro. Bob Connel for his gracious time and efforts each Wednesday afternoon. Also we want to thank Bro. Houston for his time that he has given us. He and Bro. Bob sang several duets last Wednesday. They were beautiful as usual.

Also appreciated were the services that Bro. Daniels brought to us last Sunday.

On June 10th, we celebrated Mr. Lew Baker's birthday. Mrs. B. E. Young and Mrs. Dietrich each baked a large cake and also brought punch for the party. Mrs. Dietrich entertained by playing Happy Birthday and many other pieces on the organ. About 35 people attended. Everyone enjoyed the evening.

Ted and Miles Cox were visitors from Hart, Tex., this past week. They are friends of Billy and Dee Caylor.

Paul and Lois Sherrell visited his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Sherrell.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Newberry visited with his father, Mr. George Newberry.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ledbetter visited with Mrs. Susie Brown. Jess and Margaret Osborn of Paris, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lee, relatives of Mrs. Martha Lee, and Mrs. Laura Mae Vaughn were visitors here also this past week.

Mary Tillman is a regular visitor of her mother, Mrs. Emma Dunlap.

We also wish to thank Mary Welborn, Edith Clary, Thelma Epley and all the many others who visited at the home this past week. These visits mean so much to the residents. You help
