

Lubbock to let contract to test Justiceburg lake site Aug. 14

Lubbock City Council is set to let a contract next week, costing in the neighborhood of $50,000 for a detailed study of a lake site near Justiceburg.

Results of that study will be made available to Sam Burleson, director of Lubbock works, if Lubbock goes with proposed construction of a dam near Justiceburg and the purchase of additional water from the proposed Post Lake or "backs off."

The contract will be let to Freese and Nichols of Fort Worth, who prepared the new water plan. Mason-Johnston Associates and the U. S. Geological Survey.

The last known water quality samplings upstream from the Justiceburg site indicate natural runoff on the upper reaches of the South Fork of the Brazos River is of acceptable chemical quality, Freese and Nichols have reported.

However, when the flow of the stream is low, the mineral content rises to a very high concentration. Most of the contamination under such circumstances is from sodium chloride, which suggests the presence of oil well brine.

There is appreciable oil activity in the watershed and it is apparent that some salt water was reaching the watercourse at the time of the measurements in 1966.

"This kind of problem can usually be cured by more careful oil field operation, and conditions may already be improving due to tighter state regulation of brine disposal methods, the consulting report said.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal devoted its "spectrum" feature page in last Sunday's edition to four articles on Lubbock's water problem together with a map of the proposed development here at Post and at Justiceburg to provide Lubbock with additional water for the 1960s and 1990s. (See map on page 12.)

The Post-Justiceburg water plan was dusted off recently by the city council after it had laid idle in Lubbock city files since 1971 while Lubbock focused its attention on airport expansion and civic center design.

The Justiceburg Lake conceivably could supply Lubbock with 40 million gallons of water and filtration plant tied in was estimated at $27 million five years ago.

Obviously, it is going to be much more than that today.

With Lubbock's city water facilities now valued at $26.3 million, Lubbock is looking at more than doubling its water investment.

By not doing anything the last year (See Lubbock water, Page 12)

According to figures obtained from the Avalanche-Journal's Spectrum study, Lubbock is now just about "breaking even" on its water department.

CONGRESSMAN SAYS HERE—
DECONTROL FOR GAS NOT NEAR

Decontrol for gas not near

Congressman Omar Burleson said late Monday afternoon that "we may get oil decontrol through Congress here isn't a chance to get natural gas in this country."

"Oil decontrol in Congress" is a nice phrase by Burleson, said President Ford's veto of a six-months trial of present oil controls was voted by Congress.

Conservative lawmaker, making a swing through the 100 square mile district in August recess, said natural gas produced here now costs $1.58 per cubic foot in Texas, only 53 cents per mcf in Maryland due to tax controls.

Private sales of natural gas are controlled, but intra-state within Texas are not.

Burleson reported one senator trying to get federal controls imposed on intra-state within Texas.

Burleson said he is sympathetic to oil producers, but to the independents and most of the new oil. "These people need help," he said, "if they are to be free to explore for and produce oil in the time of energy crisis."

Burleson termed the congressional energy bill only a pious hope.

At one point in his talk before a reception for the bank community in Lubbock, Burleson termed New York City "a horrible example of welfare city."

POSTINGS

The big "cotton guessing game" is on again.

Officials of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., have predicted a bumper cotton crop for the South Plains this fall.

In so doing they forecast a 30,000 bale crop for Garza County off a 45,000 acre planting.

It's the first estimate of the season and came out Tuesday.

We asked County Agent Syd Conner, who usually is considerably more conservative than the PCG what he thought about the Garza estimate. He thinks 30,000 bales is "too much."

"Our cotton looks great from the turnrow in most fields," Syd told us yesterday morning. "It's got good growth. But when you get out in the fields and look you'll find it is not squaring and (See Postings, Page 12)

City solves insurance bid problem for three years

Post's city dads, who have spent a lot of time in recent months handling over competitive bidding for the city's various insurance policy renewals, took care of the problem for the next three years Monday night.

They voted unanimously to give the Post Insurance Agency a multicover policy on all the city's buildings for the next three years on a low bid of $3,113.

The new policy, as Harold Lucas pointed out to the council, will not only provide fire and extended coverage on all buildings and contents at current replacement costs, but also will give the city general liability coverage on the buildings and their immediate premises for the first time.

Jacksons buy Rocket Motel

The Rocket Motel which has been owned and operated for the last 9 1/2 years by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bullock, has been sold to L. D. and Elsie Mae Jackson. The Jacksons will take over all operations of the motel the 15th of this month.

The motel will be operated by the Jackson's daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. David Wood.

The Bullocks have operated the motel by themselves for the time here, helped by one son, Robert, and a daughter, Jan, who both graduated from Post High School.

Mrs. Bullock stated when contacted this morning that they regret leaving their many friends in Post and they have enjoyed making their home here, but they are looking forward to moving closer to their four married children and to slowing down some. They have bought a home in Floydada and will be moving there in the near future.

Anna Miller dies at 91

Funeral services for Texas Anna Miller, 92, a resident of Garza County, were held Monday at 3 p. m. in the Calvary Baptist Church with the Rev. Lee R. Jones, minister of the Sweetstreet Baptist Church of Tahoka, officiating.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

Mrs. Miller was named a Gold Star Mother, after her son, John was the first casualty from Garza County in World War II. He was aboard the battleship Arizona when it went down in Pearl Harbor. The local VFW Post, John Miller Post, No. 6797 was named in his honor.

Mrs. Miller died August 3 at the Jewells Hospitality Home in Lubbock. She was a housewife and a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include three sons, Tom of Carlsbad, N. M., Claude and Robert of Lubbock; seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Palbearers were Bill Mills, Jim Russell, George Pierce, Marvin Williams, Ben Owen and Roy Brown.

Twelve pints of blood donated here

Twelve pints of blood were donated here last week in a blood donor program sponsored by the Garza Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

South Plains hospitals use 70 pints of blood weekly, the auxiliary was told. The organization plans to sponsor other blood donations here in the future.

Irate council blocks phone tariff hikes by tabling ordinance

Showing its ire at General Telephone Company of the Southwest, the city council Monday night at its August meeting tabled the second reading of its new telephone ordinance until the phone utility provides the city with a full listing of its "tariff charges" in effect in Post as of July 1, 1974.

Harvey Morton, attorney for the city, told the council that all that was furnished in answer to his recent request to General Telephone were two sheets of "rate changes" in the tariffs which General Telephone proposes to become effective Aug. 29, 1975, 30 days after issue July 30. The tabling of the ordinance here probably will prevent any tariff rate changes in August unless there is quick conciliatory action on the part of the phone utility.

Morton reported the attorneys for the phone utility had no objections to the city's phone ordinance passed on first reading in July other than to request that only a 30-day notice of change be required instead of the 60-day notice as the ordinance presently stipulates.

The phone utility had requested the city ordinance to clarify the phone company's position concerning rate changes. The present ordinance does not authorize any changes in any rates.

Said one councilman, commenting on the current $30 charge to move a telephone which not so long ago was only $10: "I know they're robbing me but I can't prove it."

The council has insisted on 60 days in which the council can act on proposed tariff changes because sometimes the council will not meet for a 30-day period. The phone utility wants 30-days to make the requirement uniform all over Texas.

Besides settling the city's insurance problem for three years, the council heard a report on the "disappointing 1975 summer recreation program."

It then got bogged down for well over two hours trying to act as peacemaker in a longstanding dispute between two city neighbors, Buck Harrison and Lewis Holly, without success.

The session finally broke up at 10 minutes to 12 with tired councilmen putting off until their "work session" in two weeks the selection of a city judge from a list of several persons who have expressed their interest in the $150 monthly part-time job.

200 cowboys, cowgirls ready for rodeo opening tonight

Over 200 cowboys and cowgirls are signed up for the 35th annual Post Stampede Rodeo which opens a three-night stand here with the first grand entry at 7:45 p. m. tonight.

Other performances will come on Friday and Saturday nights.

Tommy Young, secretary-treasurer of the rodeo association, said the limit of 45 bull riders for the three nights were all signed up in just 30 minutes Monday morning after the rodeo office opened for entries at 8 a. m.

He can accept 10 more saddle bronc riders, but the other divisions are full with some divisions of the competition having waiting lists.

Young said a 50-rider field for the bareback bronc riding was filled by Monday afternoon.

All told there are about 300 entries in the six rodeo events, but about 100 of these are accounted for by one contestant entering two or more events.

Young said Tuesday afternoon, the rodeo then had 75 teams signed up in team roping, 60 calf ropers already with five more probably to be allowed, 40 bareback bronc riders, and 19 saddle bronc riders. Saddle bronc riding is always the last division to fill.

The waiting lists include 19 for the bulls, 8 or 10 in bareback bronc, and six in team roping as of Tuesday.

None of the girl barrel racers are turned away.

The traditional rodeo parade is scheduled for 5:30 p. m. Thursday afternoon with nine riding clubs from the West Texas area participating to show neighborliness and possibly take home a parade trophy.

Trophies also will be offered this year in the parade's float division.

The parade is open to any mounted cowboy or cowgirl, no matter how big or small.

Harrel Smith and his Bucking S. Rodeo, Inc. of Lawton, Okla., moved in their rodeo stock for the show Sunday and are ready to go.

A suspense-mystery movie, "The Moon Spinners", starring Hayley Mills, Eli Wallach and Peter McEnery, will be the youth center movie this week.

The two-hour movie will be shown at 8:15 Friday night in the primary school auditorium. It is the story of a young man trying to clear himself of a crime he didn't commit.

Crusade rally here Tuesday

Miss Bonnie Barrows will be the guest of the Post Ministerial Alliance at a rally to be held at the First United Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Miss Barrows, the daughter of Cliff Barrows, will be appearing on behalf of the Billy Graham Crusade which will be held in Jones Stadium at Lubbock Aug. 31 through Sept. 7.

"Those who have been listening to the Prayer Broadcasts this week will be familiar with her inspirational manner of speaking. Her appeal is to both the young and the old. We feel that we are very fortunate to have Miss Barrows come to Post, and we encourage our citizens to support this rally with their attendance," Rev. Gene Prevo said.

There will also be a youth musical group, the "Celebration Corporation" here at the rally. This should be an added encouragement to youth to attend this rally. Rev. Prevo said, adding, "The 'Celebration Corporation' has sung at conferences, and they are reported to be very good."

High school annuals to be distributed

High School annuals have arrived and can be picked up in the mornings only on Monday and Tuesday, August 11 and 12 in the commercial department of the high school. The department will open at 8 a. m. both mornings.

Hospitals to write own insurance

Texas hospitals have announced they are forming their own insurance company to develop an insurance program for malpractice insurance which they can afford.

The Texas Hospital Association made the announcement at a press conference in Austin. Called a reciprocal insurance exchange, the insurance company will be owned and operated for the member hospitals of the association.

The company intends to write the entire liability coverage for member hospitals. In turn, the new firm will cede or place a portion of the coverage on each hospital with other carriers such as the Joint Underwriting Association and other major insurance companies.

It was pointed out at last week's news announcement that a part of the operation of the company will be to fully utilize hospital safety engineering to prevent claims and emphasize legal defenses to fight fraudulent or excessive claims.

Also emphasized was that if hospital professional liability insurance can be made more available and at a reduced cost, such savings will be immediately passed on in the form of reduced daily charges to hospital patients.

The Texas Hospital Association is a statewide trade association of hospitals with more than 675 hospitals and other health care institutions as members.

It will be interesting to see how this works out. If the hospitals can write their own insurance at considerably less cost, the insurance industry will not look so good.

The reader must remember that the last session of the legislature put malpractice insurance under state regulation for the first time and this regulation is just now going into effect.

But The Dispatch wishes to emphasize that the malpractice insurance problem is not just Texas-sized but national in scope. There appears to be little chance of "regulating" malpractice insurance down to acceptable cost as far as the insured are concerned.

The problem has been brought on by huge jury awards made against physicians and hospitals in damage suits. If this is out of hand, correction must come somehow in the damage award process. Either that, or some level of government must assume some of the cost of malpractice insurance on behalf of the taxpayer public.

We doubt if the hospitals forming their own insurance company can materially reduce malpractice insurance costs though it is not worth to see the attempt made.

We don't want them here

It behooves everyone to keep track of what is happening to his neighbors. That is why we are calling attention to Lubbock's mushrooming burglary situation.

The Avalanche-Journal Monday took two full columns of type to tell of the burglaries which occurred in that city over the weekend. Generally speaking, each burglary was given but a single paragraph. The story had 38 paragraphs. We know we counted them.

The story was headlined, "Thousands of Dollars in Merchandise Stolen from Homes, But No Arrests."

Burglars are hard to catch. Let's face it. Today burglary is a business — and for many a very profitable business.

Post lies 39 miles from this army of West Texas burglars that is driving Lubbockies "up the wall."

Of course, as long as the "hauls" continue to be good and "no arrests" are made why should burglars drive 39 miles to make a haul here?

The Lubbock City Council has consistently refused to hire the 44 more policemen requested. The Lubbock County Commissioners Court refuses to hire the additional deputies requested by the sheriff.

Not only burglaries but all types of crimes — including murders and rapes — continue to rise at an alarming rate in Lubbock.

The purpose of this editorial is not to point a finger at our big neighbor, but to emphasize how crime is growing rampant up there and endangering all the surrounding small towns in the process.

Not only does our sheriff's department need to keep vigilant to prevent more of the kind of quick, fast burglary that netted several thousand dollars in jewelry in a recent gift shop break-in here, but local citizens need to help crime prevention too at the citizen level.

We need to keep our eyes open, and keep an eye on our neighbor's house when he is on vacation, and report suspicious things we see.

Post is going to be getting into a program of "citizen help" in crime prevention shortly. The sheriff has just "been to school on it" for two weeks.

We must pay attention to the obvious — and it's quite obvious today that crime has gotten out of hand in Lubbock and the burglars know a good thing when they see it. We don't want them coming here.

Rodeo saluted on 35th anniversary

The Post Stampede Rodeo has reached "middle age". It's 35 years old today.

The local rodeo began back in 1941 and hasn't missed an annual production as the "fastest show in the West" since.

This is a tribute to the ranchers and cowboys and local business men who have guided the organization through 35 shows.

In the 25 years ago column this week you'll find an item that the Stampede rodeo drew 15,000 people to watch it (that would be in 1946) and the gate totaled $7,300.

A bit of arithmetic makes it pretty obvious the admission price back in those days was 50 cents a head.

It's gone up of course in the last 25 years, but by normal recreational standards Stampede Rodeo tickets are not expensive.

The Dispatch doffs its editorial hat today to the men who are the officers and directors of the rodeo association this year and to all who have held these jobs over the years since 1941.

They are real "doers."

The Stampede Rodeo is a fine show and a fast moving one. The rodeo association has a good plant and continually makes improvements on it.

Over the 35 year span we doubt that you could find any other organization here which works so hard and so well at its task.

Have some fun. Go out and enjoy one, two or all three of the performances.

going to hinge entirely on the upcoming Justiceburg tests.

It is nice to know that after four years of letting the water expansion plan draw dust in a desk drawer, it has finally been gotten out and the first steps taken to implement it.

Our guess is that Lubbock will find out it is going to need the new water supply a whole lot faster than it now thinks it is, that the water quality will test sufficiently well for construction of the Justiceburg Lake and in the not too distant future the go sign will be given.

The engineers are usually right. The same firm was for the White River project and they're the most knowledgeable in Texas. One point not to overlook is that really the Justiceburg site is Lubbock's only hope for a water supply lake within reason.

So just be patient.

Statebeat

By KURT E. JOHNSON
AUSTIN — There's a bit of dissension in the ranks of high-level state democrats because a number of them supported a "nonpartisan" salute to John Connally, the former democrat and former governor who is now a republican.

Among those giving support was Gov. Dolph Briscoe, and ranking democrats are wondering whether or not they've been duped into supporting the cause of a republican presidential candidate. Connally has said that he'll use the money for a national speaking tour, which sounds like more than a campaign for dogcatcher.

On another front, the House of Representatives convenes on August 4 to take up the matter of the impeachment articles drafted by its committee against Duval County Judge O. P. Carillo. If the House indicts the judge, there will be a Senate trial, with full presentation of the evidence.

At the same time, Carillo's peers who sit on the Judicial Qualifications Committee are about to jerk him off the bench by their own right. If such were to be the case, the legislature would probably halt its proceeding unless it wanted to spend around a million dollars in taxpayers' money to pursue the matter.

When you add up per diem expenses, staff expenses and miscellaneous costs, it takes a lot of dough to keep even one house of the legislature in session, and it would take more than a little time to go through all the volumes of evidence which have been assembled on the matter.

While, on the face of the evidence, the charges against Carillo bear legitimate concern, he is certain to be deposed even without the legislature. If the Judicial Qualifications Committee doesn't get him (which is unlikely), the Attorney General will make tax evasion charges a reality in the matter.

Thus it seems almost superfluous for the House and Senate to involve themselves in the matter, unless of course the entertainment value is worth the cost.

And no one can argue that the legislature doesn't entertain itself when in session, particularly on a matter as hilarious as this one. The whole affair will remain the circus it has been if the committee action is any indication.

At one point in the committee hearings, Attorney Terry Doyle was questioning a witness on behalf of the committee. The witness was invoking the fifth amendment on every question and Doyle was obviously miffed because he was getting nowhere.

Finally, he asked, "Are you married?"

The witness replied, "I refuse to answer on the grounds that the answer I give might incriminate me."

"Do you have any children?"

"I refuse to answer on the grounds that the answer I might tend to incriminate me."

The crowd broke up in laughter. And so it went, and so it will go. Apparently a man cannot be deprived of his right to the fifth amendment if he is willing to undergo derision and ridicule. And things will scarcely be different on the floors of the legislature at the same time that Carillo's removal is already guaranteed by other processes.

It is, to say the least, an expensive theatre for passing the time. The money spent on the impeachment inquiry alone could rehabilitate 300 drug addicts in a methedone program. But, in state government as in other realms, first things must come first.

A short note on the upcoming state constitution revision vote on November 4: a lobby group has set up shop in downtown Austin (already properly registered with the Secretary of State's office) for the purpose of preserving the 1876 constitution in deference to the new one which is proposed.

The lobby would appear to represent anti-labor union forces in the state, who feel that the new constitution would give organized labor a better foothold in the continuing struggle between labor and management. Credible sources note that Brown and Root of Houston is one of the supporters pumping money into the lobby effort.

It will be interesting to see what position such newspapers as the Austin American Statesman will take on the new constitution. The American Statesman, while supportive of constitutional reform, is decidedly against labor union interests, as evidenced by its strong editorials against the unionizing of local city and county employees.

Oh well, look at it this way. If people were on strike they wouldn't be working, and if they weren't working, they would pay no taxes. And if they paid no taxes, the legislature couldn't afford to be in session.

It's going to work out

The expansion of Lubbock water supply reservoirs to Post and Justiceburg at a cost of probably $35 million or more is a tremendous undertaking.

Readers will get an understanding look at what is planned by a map published on page 12 of today's Dispatch.

Construction of the proposed Post Lake is closely tied to Lubbock's water needs.

Although a contract to thoroughly test the proposed Justiceburg dam site will probably be let next week, Lubbock officials are indicating no final decision is expected from the city council to actually undertake the big development before 1977.

Actually, the White River Water District wants to construct its lake here before Lubbock will need the water in 1982 for a lot of reasons, but Lubbock's future water development is COMPETITIVE BIDDING IS GOOD BUSINESS. If you want lower prices in purchasing insurance ask for competitive bids. This is a good way to save money. We have offered competitive DISCOUNTED (deviated) rates on the insurance premium (the customer's cost) for Homeowners Insurance, automobile insurance, business buildings, contents, schools, city and county property insurance, hospitals etc. We have been quoting deviated premium prices from A plus 5A companies like The American General Group — Maryland Casualty Company and others.

We are rounding out two years in Post in the Tom Power Agency this time. Originally I started this General Insurance Agency (in connection with my authorized Ford Dealership) in 1961, and repurchased the Agency from Wallace Barnett just before he passed away in 1973.

During the past two years we have submitted Competitive Bids to the City of Post, Post Independent School District and other governmental agencies and this has caused other insurance agencies to begin DISCOUNTING their premiums for the first time in twenty years. We think this is great. This saves money for the taxpayer; allows the buyer to purchase more insurance — to be more properly insured and still not be out any additional money.

DEVIATION — The legal discount allowed by the State Board of Insurance makes sense. Why not take advantage of a discount, if your property qualifies, and still be properly insured. You still get the same quick friendly fast service on claims and counseling for your important business.

We will continue to offer the public DEVIATED DISCOUNTED rates — meaning a savings up to 25 per cent from the published standard rates. You can get the same CONFIDENTIAL SERVICE from the Tom Power Agency as you might expect from any agency in Lubbock or any City and this makes for a happier life for everyone. Don't you agree?

Even bigger crowd for second library movie

The Post Public Library's second family night movie last Thursday night drew an even bigger crowd of youngsters and some parents than did the first one two weeks before.

Librarian Pee Wee Pierce reported 133 paid admissions of 50 cents each to see "The Shaggy Dog," another Walt Disney production starring Fred MacMurray.

She reports the special film rental fund is now "slightly in the black" for the two shows.

No movie is planned this weekend, due to the Post

New class for hwy. patrol to begin Oct. 28

The Texas Department of Public Safety is in need of qualified applicants of both sexes and from all racial backgrounds. "The next class for Department of Public Safety Recruits will begin on October 28, 1975, with what we hope will be a full complement of 110 persons," Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander announced today.

"The qualifications an applicant must meet are to be between 20 and 25 years of age, of good moral character, excellent physical condition, weight proportionable to height, visual acuity of 20-20, a citizen of the United States and have a minimum of sixty college hours," Major Bell continued.

"Among the benefits that a Department of Public Safety Trooper enjoys are: two weeks annual vacation, all holidays provided for by the legislature, modern liberal retirement system, group hospitalization and life insurance plan, traveling expenses, longevity pay, and uniforms with all necessary equipment to perform their duties."

A Department of Public Safety Recruits training consists of eighteen weeks of comprehensive programs in all aspects of modern law enforcement at the Homer Garrison Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. During training the October School Recruit will receive pay of $768 dollars a month. Upon graduation the new trooper will be assigned to one of the uniformed services of the Department.

The Texas Department of Public Safety has been increasingly successful in its search for recruits from minority racial groups of both sexes and encourages persons who think that they would qualify to contact the nearest Department of Public Safety Trooper or Department of Public Safety office to receive complete information regarding the application and employment procedures.

"Region 5 is most interested in being well represented by the best qualified persons available from the Northwest Texas area in the upcoming school," Major Bell stated, "but to do this, we must have the persons apply."

The Texas Department of Public Safety is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

SYD CONNER
Garza Extension Agent

PATIENCE, CAUTION NEEDED

Early planted sunflower crops in Garza County have completed the bloom stage and are now in a period of grain filling.

Since this is the period in which oil content and seed weight are being determined, farmers need to be careful not to stop plant growth too quickly with harvest-aid chemicals. Early killing could have a drastic effect on final yields.

The agent says that with the excellent moisture conditions prevailing on the High Plains, it could take four to six weeks after completion of the bloom stage for seed to reach full maturity.

By that time, he points out, the back of the head and stalk should be lemon yellow in color and most of the leaves will be dead or appear to be dying. The triangular shaped bracts on the outer edge of the head will be brown and brittle. The seed in the center of the head will be as dark in color and as firm as the seed on the outer edge.

When these characteristics are noted, the seed is mature but the fleshy head base (which when cut open with a knife looks something like a sponge) will not be sufficiently dry for combining. To avoid adding this high-moisture foreign matter to the seed during the combining operation, the head base must be dry.

Several weeks could be required for the head base to dry naturally. During this period seed will begin to shatter and some yield will be lost. The best alternative is rush the final drying process with the use of a harvest-aid chemical.

Recently, Paraquat was cleared for use as a sunflower desiccant in Texas. The chemical may be applied at a rate of 1 to 2 pints per acre when sunflower seeds are mature. Five gallons of spray mix (Paraquat plus water) should be used when treating by air and 20 to 40 gallons with ground equipment. For best results, a surfactant such as Ortho X-77 should be added at a rate of one quart per 100 gallons of water.

READ ALL LABEL DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY BEFORE USING PARAQUAT.

Once a harvest-aid chemical is applied, the crop will be ready to harvest in seven to 10 days. A combine equipped with a sunflower header attachment should be immediately available, because delays could be costly in terms of seed loss due to shattering and bird feeding.

"Keep in mind, Paraquat is a non-selective desiccant. That means it will kill any plant tissue it contacts, including cotton, sorghum and other crops in adjacent fields.

"Chemical drift is a potentially serious problem." "Since desiccation will, in most cases, be done with aircraft, producers should insist that the aerial applicator pick a calm day for the spraying operation."

Aerial applicators can help by equipping their aircraft with the new types of drift reducing nozzles such as "Raindrop" or by using drift reducing agents such as Target or Nalco-Trol. These equipment changes and additives will probably increase the costs of spraying operations. In the long run, however, this could be money well spent if there is danger of damaging adjacent crops.

This is what the label says on use of Ortho-Paraquat CL.

Sunflower (oil seed varieties only) — For desiccation of sunflower plants and broadleaf weeds and grasses to facilitate harvesting.

One to two pints Paraquat CL per acre in five gallons spray mix by air or in 20 to 40 gallons by ground application equipment. Use the higher rate when crop stands or weed infestations are heavy. Apply when the sunflower seeds reach physiological maturity (when the heads are yellow and bracts are turning brown) and harvest 7 to 21 days after application. Add Ortho X-77 spreader (non ionic) at one quart per 100 gallons of water. Do not graze treated areas or feed treated foliage to livestock.

This label was developed based on use data from North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa. Use experience in Texas has been very limited and therefore treatment must be used with extreme care.

Drift to cotton, grain sorghum and other crops must be avoided.

Paraquat is a contact herbicide that kills all green plant tissue. Do not apply under conditions involving possible drift to food, foliage and other plantings that might be damaged or the crops thereof rendered unfit for sale use or consumption.

Follow all precautions on the product label.

Letters to the Editor

TEXAS DRUG PROBLEM

Thanks to authorization by House Speaker Bill Clayton, one of the most important discussions in the history of this state occurred in the office of Congressman George Mahon on Friday, July 11, 1975.

After studying my notes and thinking several days on this meeting, I feel the best way I can convey the thrust is to write a simple summation which is basically fact, with an insertion of some of the strong opinions expressed by those present.

There is a drug problem in Texas today. Opinions vary as to the severity, but this we do know: drug arrests in Texas are increasing each year. In 1965 there were 1,094 arrests; 1976, 12,091 arrests; 1971, 12,309 arrests; 1972, 16,077 arrests; 1973, 24,403 arrests; and 1974, 31,312 arrests. These arrests were largely the victims.

The drug scene in Texas includes marijuana, amphetamines, barbiturates, heroin, glue, gasoline sniffing, paint and other hard drugs. The medical profession still offers a wide variance in opinion as to the effects of most drugs, but there is building evidence that hard drugs are closely related to the crime wave throughout the Nation, as well as in Texas.

Dr. Judianne Densen-Gerber, lawyer, doctor, and an authority in the field of drug abuse with most experience in the area concerning drug victims, states without reservation that she has reliable information which indicates the target market for heroin right now is all states along the Mexican border. It is the plan of the drug distributors to create as many addicts in Texas as they have done in New York and other eastern cities, with concentration on the urban areas, and accent in colleges, high schools, junior high schools and even in elementary schools.

Dr. Densen-Gerber said Texas is on the threshold of an epidemic and unless immediate and drastic steps are taken, 10 per cent of our school children will be exposed to heroin this year. What it will cost this state in crime and violence will be literally millions upon millions of dollars, and the drug traffic will realize equal millions in profit as they are now doing in the eastern cities.

There is little awareness among Texans concerning the enormity of the drug problem. As Chairman Mahon said, "we have great pride in our section of the country and hesitate to admit the presence of this problem until it hits us personally through a member of the family or a close friend." An evidence of our lack of awareness is the fact that Texas ranks 53rd among the fifth states and three territories in state funds to fight drug abuse. During the fiscal year, Texas appropriated $103,000.00 for drug abuse treatment programs; local funds have increased from no funds in 1971 to $1,042,964.00 in 1975; and federal funds have increased from no funds in 1971 to $6,148,716.00 in 1975.

As an elected official, I believe we need to get into the meat of this program immediately. If Dr. Densen-Gerber is right, then the public must be aroused, and the problem attacked quickly with all resources available.

TEXAS TALK

Another Federal Agency is moving closer to the farm. This time it's the Environmental Protection Agency. EPA officials are now sifting through the chemical analysis of nearly 35-thousand pesticides to decide which ones will require a government restriction. Those chemicals classed as restricted may be applied only by persons certified. Although the starting date for the certification requirement is more than a year away (October, 1976), many farm operators are all ready checking the requirements for certification. The establishment of two levels of certification will make things easier for most ag producers. To be certified as a private applicator (applying pesticides on your own land) boils down basically to being able to read and follow instructions. Commercial certification will involve passing a written test which will cover chemical formulas, equipment specifications and EPA rules and regulations.

ORATION SPEAKER — Mrs. Lyndon Baines Johnson will deliver the principal address Friday at dedication of Scott and White Memorial's new Lucy King Brown Special Treatment

TO BE DEDICATED — This $9,600,000 Lucy King Brown Special Treatment Center, the first phase of a $25 million development program at Scott and White Memorial Hospital will be dedicated at 4 p. m. Friday, Aug. 8.

New special center for Scott-White

TEMPLE — Scott and White Memorial Hospital and Scott, Sherwood and Brindley Foundation have accomplished the first phase of the 10-year $25 million development program with the completion of the Lucy King Brown Special Treatment Center according to Charles S. Coates of Houston, Chairman of the Hospital-Foundation Board of Trustees.

The $9.6 million facility, adjoining the hospital and clinic, is designed to provide health care services in four areas: Psychiatry, rehabilitation, sub-acute care and additional acute medical and surgical care.

Dr. Richard D. Haines, president of Scott and White Memorial Hospital said, "The six-floor, 184-bed center is a unique concept in patient care. Treatment emphasizes total medical and psychiatric rehabilitation. Patients can enjoy, or have available to enjoy, a variety of different spaces in which to move, entertain themselves, meet others and reduce the "sameness" or institutional appearance which, in sub-acute care, so often deters recovery of the body and spirit."

The special treatment center provides a number of unique features for the patient. Psychiatric care and rehabilitation located on the main floor provides beds for intermediate and long-term care. In addition to full-time psychiatric services the facility accommodates a day hospital for the patient who requires only partial hospitalization. There is a large workshop where patients will become involved in creative projects of every sort. Conference rooms and small gathering areas permit use of audiovisual aids in patient care and the development of individual patient image. Sliding glass walls open from social and recreational areas into landscaped courts.

The upper floors accommodate nursing units for patients requiring subacute care, rehabilitation and ambulatory care. These are patients who require less constant attention; who require limited medical procedures not possible outside the hospital; and who require certain therapies on a long-term basis.

The ground floor houses an expanded physical medicine department, a therapy center for daily living activities, and an inhalation therapy center.

Dedication ceremonies of the Lucy King Brown Treatment Center will be held on the Scott and White grounds Friday, August 8, at 4 p. m. Mrs. Lyndon Baines Johnson will deliver the main address with Board Chairman Charles S. Coates of Houston serving as Master of Ceremonies. An unveiling of the portrait and dedication plaque of Mrs. Brown will precede the ceremonies.

Tours of the new facility will be conducted Saturday, August 9th from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m.

50 Lopes expected out for first grid drill Monday

Rebuilding interior line on defense No. 1 problem

Coach Bobby Davis expects to greet approximately 50 Post Antelope grid hopefuls at 9 a. m. Monday morning when Post's 1975 grid season opens with a week of "two-a-day" practices.

With 12 lettermen returning, including seven offensive and four defensive starters, Coach Davis will be faced with one basic problem — rebuilding the interior of the defensive line — to be in the thick of the running against for the District 5AA crown.

Optimism is running high here that this can be done.

Grid candidates got their new football shoes checked out to them at 7 p. m. last night so they could have a few days to do some break-in running.

Physicals for varsity and junior varsity candidates will be given at 7 p. m. tonight (Thursday) at Dr. William C. Wilson's office.

Freshmen physicals are scheduled at 7 p. m. Friday at Dr. Wilson's office. Freshmen will not report for practice until after the first week of "two a days" for the varsity squad.

Coach Davis told The Dispatch that morning workouts next week will be held at 9 a. m. and the evening workouts tentatively have been set for 6 to 8 p. m.

The first four days of practice the squad will work in shorts and no contact equipment before donning pads for the first time on Friday. This is in observance of Texas Interscholastic League rules designed to help get youngsters into good condition before harder contact drills in the late summer's heat.

Pre-season scrimmages this year have been booked with Rails here on Thursday, Aug. 21, time as not yet determined; and against Littlefield at Littlefield Aug. 29.

The Antelopes have their 1975 open date on the first Friday night of play, Sept. 5, and then will open their season in Antelope Stadium here against Coahoma Sept. 12.

Of last season's 27 lettermen, 12 are returning and half of the 22 starting offensive and defensive positions will be manned by returning regulars.

The offense has seven veterans with only four on the defense.

Offensive starters coming back include George (Shorty) Hester, Jr., at center; Ray Martinez, guard; Dale Odom, tackle; and Mike Shepherd, who was right end last year and will become the split end this season.

Backfield starters will include Bryan Davis at quarterback, Edward Price at tailback, and Garland Dudley or Jimmy Dorland at halfback. Both Dudley and Dorland started at this position last year. That leaves the fullback position open.

Of the four starters back on defense, one is at end and three are in the secondary. Dale Odom is back at defensive end; Garland Dudley, all-district strong safety; Mike Shepherd is at free safety where he won all-South Plains honorable mention last year; and Davis is at strong halfback. Dorland who saw a lot of varsity action last year, will be at free halfback.

That leaves a big gap in the interior line with the starting noseguard, both tackles, and the two linebackers all lost by graduation. While not so experienced there are plenty of eager candidates wanting to step into these starting jobs.

Working hard for starting jobs will be four other lettermen who are back, two transfers who have great promise, and a group of B team graduates up for their shot at varsity glory.

The other lettermen are Mike Waldrip and Benny Greene, both of whom saw a lot of varsity action behind Chris Wyatt at defensive end last year; Oscar Sanchez, who has some game experience at tackle; and Duke Bell, the hard-hitting senior who will back up Shepherd at split end and according to Coach Davis "will play on defense somewhere." Bell will be remembered as the fast, sure tackler on the Lopes' specialty teams last year.

The two transfers who will make their presence felt this year are Perry Rogers, a junior, who transferred in a year ago from Big Spring, and Alfred Pena, a senior, who transferred in from Tahoka.

Coming up from the B squad and challenging for varsity jobs will be Casey Zachary, a tackle; Mike Babb, a guard; Danny Saldivar, a tackle; Buddy Britton, an end; Randall Wyatt, an end; and Mark Kirkpatrick. All of these are juniors. Another will be end Johnny McCowen, who will be a senior.

Post coaches returned home over last weekend from Fort Worth where they attended the annual TIL coaching school. Head Coach Davis came home with a gold wrist watch on his arm, a memento of two years as a district director for the TIL.

Johnny Rays get in lots of visiting

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Ray have returned from two family reunions, one held at Kileen and one at Hye. The Palmer and Ray reunion was held at Kileen last Saturday, Aug. 2 and approximately 60 members of the family were present from New Mexico, Oklahoma and all over Texas. They attended a Church of Christ Camp meeting at Nolanville on Sunday and in the afternoon visited with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Henderson and their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hensley at Marble Falls, former residents of Post.

They then went to Hye for the Greer family Camp meeting. They then visited with Mr. and Mrs. Terry Mueller in Fredericksburg and Mrs. Frank Smith at Coleman.

FIVE OUT OF SIX WINNERS — Only Syd Wyatt is missing from this picture of the three winning mixed doubles teams in last week's county tourney. BRYAN DAVIS NAMED REGIONS TOP QUARTERBACK

Lopes, Ponies picked to tie for 5AA title

The Post Antelopes and the Denver City Mustangs are picked to tie for the District 5AA football crown come November by Top of Texas Football.

The annual grid magazine featuring prospects for high school and college teams in the West Texas and Panhandle area picks Roosevelt to finish third, Slaton, fourth; Frenship, fifth; Cooper, sixth; and Tahoka, seventh.

In comparison, Texas Football two weeks ago picked Denver City as its pre-season pick in District 5AA with Post ranked third behind Slaton.

The Top of Texas pre-season picks names Olton to have the best Class AA team among the 34 teams in six districts.

Floydada is named runnerup, Tula third, Ballinger, fourth, Crane, fifth; Spearman, sixth; Littlefield, seventh; Denver City, eighth; Post, ninth; and Lockney, tenth.

Picked as the top quarterback among the 34 district AA teams is Post senior, Bryan Davis, 6-3 and 185 pounds.

Not only is Davis named as the best AA quarterback but he is picked on Top of Texas' top offensive eleven for all high schools in West Texas (AAAA on down) as the quarterback.

Two other District 5AA stars also are named to this all-star offensive unit, Wild Bill McClesky, Slaton's 302-pound senior fullback; and Ricky Lehnert, Denver City's fine senior center.

Other District 5AA players listed on the Class AA all-star team but not the Top of Texas all-star eleven are Denver City tackle, Sam Snead, 6-2, 230-pound senior on defense; and Derrick Harper, 175-pound

Frenship junior, as a defensive halfback.

Head Coach Bobby Davis is all smiles these days" reads Top of Texas' writeup on the Post team under the headline: "Antelopes Are Loaded."

"He has good reason to be because his squad returns 12 lettermen and seven offensive starters (three of which were all-district last fall.)

"Post is expected to battle Denver City again this fall for district championship honors. They meet on Halloween night in Post. Denver City won last year's battle by a single point.

"Three-fourths of the Antelopes' backfield is returning. They are Bryan Davis (6-3, 185, senior) quarterback; Edward Price (5-10, 155, senior) tailback and Jimmy Dorland (5-10, 165, junior) halfback. Davis is considered one of the top college prospects in Top-O-Texas.

Garland Dudley (5-10, 165, senior) halfback, who was an all-district safety last fall probably will round out the starting backfield.

"Davis will only have to replace one side of the Post line, because center George Hester (5-8, 160 senior), guard Ray Martinez (5-9, 180, senior) tackle Dale Odom (5-10, 200, senior) and end Mike Shepherd (5-10, 150, senior) are returning.

"All but Martinez are two-year lettermen.

"Hester was all-district and Shepherd was honorable mention all-district last fall.

"Guard Mike Babb (5-9, 185, junior), tackles Benny Greene (6-0, 175, senior) and end Mike Waldrip (6-5, 175, junior) should be the top candidates to replace the side of the line that graduated.

"Post should have a very good season this fall if their young line and unproven defense can jell early.

"The plus factors for the Antelopes are very excellent attitude, more overall team size and experience in the set of backs."

Top of Texas headlines Denver City's story: "Mustangs in Familiar Role" and says:

"The Denver City Mustangs have proved a prime example of what things like pride, tradition and desire to win can do for a schoolboy program, having won no less than 16 league crowns since 1945. They are now taking dead aim at No. 17."

"Coach Bill Gravitt, who welcomes back five offensive and four defensive starters, says his team's strong point this season is a tremendously good attitude."

Top of Texas says Ricky Lehnert at center and Steve Snead at tackle are a pair with all-state potential for the Big Red.

Ronald, Shirley Storie grab mixed doubles tennis crown

Ronald and Shirley Storie won the mixed doubles crown of the Garza County tennis tournament Friday evening with a 7-5, 6-6, 6-3 victory over Syd Wyatt and Nancy Clary.

A better than full bracket of 17 mixed doubles teams competed in the week-long event.

Royce Hart and Kay Lamb were the consolation winners with a 4-6, 6-0, 6-3 win in the final over Cliff and Zoe Kirkpatrick.

The Stories had to take two tough three-setters in a row to win the title. They got to the finals with a 6-4, 6-8, 6-3 victory over Ronald Thompson and Nancy Kemp in the upper bracket semi-final.

In the lower bracket, it was an easy march all the way for the Wyatt-Clary team.

They disposed of Jack Kirkpatrick and Christy Davis 6-3, 6-3 in the first round and Ronald and Beverly Simpson 6-1, 6-0 in the quarter finals.

Other first round matches: Thompson-Kemp 6-2, 6-3 over Cliff and Zoe Kirkpatrick;

Jerry Johnson and Cindy McCowen.

In first round of consolation, the Kirkpatricks defeated Peel-Dye 6-1, James Dye and Jane ousted the Macys 6-3, Kirkpatrick-Davis defeated Chapman-Hester 6-0, 6-4, Hart-Lamb defeated Sanderson-McCowan 6-1, 6-1.

In the consolation semi-final, Cliff and Zoe Kirkpatrick defeated Dye-Peel 6-1, 6-4, Hart-Lamb defeated Sanderson-McCowan 7-5, 4-6, 6-0.

In a preliminary match to reduce the bracket to 16, Thompson and Nancy defeated James Dye and Jane 6-4, 6-1. When the Dye team entered the consolation bracket they received a bye from the Mitchell team in preliminary match in the bracket.

The mixed doubles team for Shirley Storie gave her clean sweep of titles in all divisions of play, she has won the women's singles and shared the women's doubles crown the week before.

Brent Terry is up to his old tricks in the AJRA Rodeo Association. This weekend Brent won the 13-15 year old bull riding. This win places him second in the world. Brent was reserve champion last year. Congratulations Brent and keep on buckin'.

Mark Terry has been really making several rodeos this weekend. At Plains Mark rode his bull and placed fourth. He entered in Abilene but unfortunately he didn't place. At Morton he placed fourth. This past Sunday he won the jackpot at the buck out held at Jackson's. Mark has really been on the move and is really getting a lot of experience which he'll be able to utilize in future years.

Zack Short returned to base Tuesday afternoon. I finally had a chance to talk to him about the Navy. I asked Zack how he liked it in the Navy and he said, "it's just a job." Life while enlisted in the Navy is like civilian life, according to Zack. This surprised me. I thought military life as strict and terribly disciplined. "I go to school five days a week. Each day I spend three to four periods a day in classroom. Then I go to the workshop to do actual repairs. After I finish with the days assignments the rest of the day is mine." Zack goes to Chicago on the week-ends, much like many of us go to Lubbock. I asked Zack what Chicago has to offer in the way of entertainment. He said, "imagine putting all the clubs and dancing places of Lubbock on one street and add about 900 more and then you know what type of night life you find in Chicago." Zack would not tell me anymore wild stories for fear of incriminating himself. He will be stationed at Great Lakes for 26 more weeks. He will then be transferred to New London, Connecticut. While in Connecticut he will be going to submarine school. The nuclear submarines that Zack will be working with are different sizes. One of the largest is a nuclear submarine approximately 30 yards longer than a football field. Zack will not be on this "monster." He will be assigned to "standard" size submarine. I hope Zack enjoyed his visit home. And we look forward to talking to him after he experiences life in a fully submerged submarine.

I have got a mystery informer whom I shall call the "Shadow." The "Shadow" called me and informed me that there have been more couples seen around Post. They are Donna Ammons and Randy Bell, Patricia Posey and Garland Dudley, Patti Parrish and Benny Greene, and last but not least, Mike Babb and Peggy Jackson. Whoever "Shadow" is, thank you and call again.

Genetta Kennedy returned from a vacation in California last week. She definitely had a good time. While in California she not only received a lasting tan but also lasting memories of many good times. According to Genetta, life is fast and furious in California. There is never a dull moment. There are things to do and places to go as long as a persons free time holds out. Genetta met several young people whom she hopes she will be able to keep in touch with. And Genetta says that before she returns she plans to take a course in diction and lose her faint Texas accent.

Kent and Kevin Craig returned last week from a boys camp at Piney Woods located in Wood Lake. The camp is church sponsored and is really a lot of fun. The boys played baseball, volleyball and swimming among the many activities. On their way back with their parents they stopped to watch the Rangers play ball at Arlington. While watching the players warm-up, a player turned and threw a ball to Kent to keep. Which goes to show even pros have time to do thoughtful things for their fans.

The large number of Vietnamese refugees have begun to find homes and shelter here in the United States. Mostly you hear about persons in the larger cities and northern states sponsoring these persons. Sue Ray, an attorney here in Post has sponsored a family of seven members who have made their home in Lubbock. Pat Walker has sponsored a family of five members. The youngest member of the family that Sue is sponsoring may decide to make Post her home for the following school year. She is 18 years old and her education in Viet Nam is equivalent to education through the eleventh grade here in Post. Her name is Loi Thi Hoang. Loi has a brother who has been a student at Tech for the last three years. Her brother was a member of the youth organization at Tech that was trying to get families of Vietnamese students into the U.

Brucellosis eradication program to be explained

LUBBOCK — Interested Texas cattle producers will have an opportunity to hear and discuss proposed changes in the state's brucellosis eradication program during a series of public meetings on the Texas High Plains in August.

Scheduled by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Animal Health Commission, the meetings will be held in Big Spring, Lubbock, Amarillo, Canadian and Paducah.

As of July 1, 24 Texas counties had qualified as bovine brucellosis free areas and 23 other counties had no known infection, according to Dr. H. Q. Sibley, TAHC executive director. Current regulations do not contain provisions for protection of these clean areas, Sibley emphasizes.

The TAHC has proposed a number of major changes in the brucellosis program. The Commission voted to propose the regulation changes to bring the Texas program more in line with national brucellosis standards contained in the "Uniform Methods and Rules" for eradication recommended by the United States Animal Health Association.

These meetings include: August 19 at 8 p. m., Lubbock Plains Coop oil Mill.

Changes in brucellosis regulations which will be discussed by TAHC area veterinarians include the following:

- (1) Outlining the manner in which cattle may move into, within, and from certified areas to protect the status of these areas. If an adequate number of breeding cattle are being sampled at the time of slaughter from a clean area, the commission could allow cattle to move from these areas without further tests.
- (2) Authorizing testing of all eligible test cattle prior to loan, lease, sale, or any change of ownership except, (a) breeding cattle that are consigned from herd of origin directly to slaughter and (b) animals originating in certified brucellosis free herds. These changes would give the commission flexibility in handling the various situations that occur in different parts of the state.

- (3) Requiring "S" branding of brucellosis exposed cattle only when going on permit to slaughter or to a quarantined feedlot. This would comply with federal regulations which became effective on April 22, 1975.
- (4) Authorizing and providing for using supplementary tests in certain phases of the program.
- (5) Allowing official brucellosis calfhood vaccination down to two months of age instead of the present three months of age.
- (6) Outlining provisions to move breeding cattle from a county which has lost its modified certified free status.
- (7) Providing for methods of handling brucellosis negative cattle at livestock markets by keeping them separate from infected, exposed, or unknown status cattle.

The proposed changes will be posted in every Texas courthouse for at least 30 days prior to the September 4 public hearing, said Sibley.

Questions concerning the brucellosis program should be directed to the Texas Animal Health Commission in Austin (78701) or to TAHC field veterinarians.

Irate council---

(Continued From Page One) invited to the council session after Mayor Giles McCrary and Councilman Jim Jackson had made a trip to look over the adjacent property in dispute just beyond Second street near the Gail highway.

The only city involvement is that Harrison claims the city has an 80-foot street right of way between his property and Holly's which is basically a drainage area for runoff surface water.

Although the street has never been dedicated, as The Dispatch understands the argument Harrison insists on 40 feet of that right of way instead of leaving his fence where it is four inches inside his property line.

Joe Giddens, program director for the city-county summer recreation program, asked the council to restore for 1976 the $2,000 it cut this year from his recreational budget.

He said the big reduction in number of participating youngsters to only 130 this summer was caused he believes because of the big reduction which had to be made in recreational classes offered because serious cost cuts had to be made.

Giddens pointed out the crafts program, the most popular one for the smaller boys and girls, had to cut out entirely because of the expense involved and several other classes also had to be dropped.

The program director asked the council to consider restoring the funds when the next city budget is prepared.

Councilmen do not very often receive thank you letters, but they had one to savor Monday night.

It was signed by Shirley L. Hays and Brenda Baas on behalf of the CHAC and read:

"We would like to express our sincere appreciation for your accepting our recommendations for improving existing conditions of animal maintenance and control. We as citizens recognize the re-writing of the animal ordinance, the building of a scrubber device, the addition of pens at the shelter, and the appointment of an animal control officer as major steps forward in controlling Post's stray dog population. These achievements also will

Burleson --

(Continued From Page One) congressman pointed out that the United States government "had to borrow every dime of that to be able to give it back to the taxpayers."

On federal revenue sharing, he commented: "What revenue does the federal government have to share with cities, counties and states" with our present national deficit?"

Revenue sharing was set up for $36 billion and the next time around they want $40 billion, he declared.

Even the "good people" gang up on you if you try to cut down on the spending, he declared. Congressman Burleson said he was proud of the fact that he has won a seat on the house budget committee, "although some tried to block me." He went on to explain for the first time congress is trying to control the amount of money it votes to spend, by asking a budget committee in each house to set limits on various programs.

He said while unemployment in some parts of the country is a very serious problem, it is not a very significant one in Texas. Not only does most of Texas have a very low unemployment rate, he pointed out, but there are 4,400 jobs in Texas going begging, 40 at one airbase alone, because people can't be found to fill them.

The congressman was accompanied here by Walter Grubbs of Abilene, who operates the congressman's home office.

Of course there is still 90 days or so left in the growing season and if it turns hot and stays that way it is possible to reach the 30,000 bale estimate, the county agent admits. But right now, he doesn't think it is there.

He says the younger cotton has had too much rain and not enough sunshine.

The overall South Plains estimate is for a 2,193,000 bale cotton crop as compared to only 1,192,100 bales last year. The 30,000 bale estimate for Garza should look pretty good too to farmers in this county after last year's puny 8,300 bale crop.

The rodeo this weekend ought to be another goodie. So don't miss it.

result in the more humane treatment of both pets and unwanted animals.

"Our working with the city council has proven that concerned citizens can work in harmony with civic officials to bring about needed changes. It proves our system of city government provides for the working relationship between citizens and the council."

The letter also singled out Councilman Ed Sawyers for special thanks for "his efforts in working with us toward accomplishment of these improvements."

Burglar suspect held here

Here is a good example of law enforcement cooperation.

The state highway patrol here had a suspect in a Monday evening knifing, Domingo Romo of Lubbock, under arrest before the sheriff's department had completed its investigation.

Romo was booked for driving while intoxicated after a highway patrolman stopped him after a chase in which Romo was doing 91 miles an hour heading home for Lubbock on US-84.

Elmo Lopez, older local Mexican American, was treated and released from Garza Memorial Hospital. He told police Romo had driven him nine miles into the country, cut him up with a knife, and then brought him back in to a local tavern.

Romo is in county jail in lieu of $2,000 bond. County Attorney Preston Poole told The Dispatch Wednesday morning he has not been given details of the stabbing for filing of a new charge against Romo.

City solves --

Lucas said on the basis of "adequate coverage" the warehouse actually should be insured for $14,000.

After a short silence while councilmen mulled over the apparent hitch in the latest insurance bidding, Dr. William Wilson said he would rather leave the warehouse uninsured for the present if it would help the council move to investigate an overall insurance plan which would include liability coverage which the city now needs according to recent court rulings which permit municipalities to be sued.

That's when Lucas "dusted off" the written plan he had presented to the council two months earlier but which had not even received a reading at that time.

Lucas pointed out that he had had trained engineers from two different insurance firms personally inspect all of the city's buildings to determine present day replacement costs while his overall plan was being prepared.

He estimated that by insuring all buildings at once, a savings in premium could be effected.

He estimated the city under his plan would save 15 per cent of its insurance costs by buying a single insurance plan rather than various separate policies.

After a little more discussion, Dr. Wilson made the motion to accept the Post Insurance Agency's new plan with the understanding that all current insurance policies in force would be cancelled and the refunds used to help pay for the new three-year policy.

four years that city has lost the chance to lease valuable new water well acreage in Bailey county now converted into irrigated farm production.

This has moved up the Post-Justiceburg proposal by two more years on the timetable.

Some Lubbock officials believe a 20 per cent boost in Lubbock water rates today is a better idea than a 30 per cent hike in two more years, but the political realities are that a water rate boost now is not palatable just after a 26 per cent boost in electrical rates.

Lubbock is hoping for federal aid in the financing of its new water plan.

Lubbock's maximum allowable from Lake Meredith, its present major water source, is 12.04 billion gallons a year and in 1982 Lubbock's annual water consumption is expected to reach 12.22 billion gallons.

If the Justiceburg water reservoir proves feasible, the Lubbock City Council will decide about 1977 whether to move ahead with the development.

Bill Drewell is new deputy

Bill Drewell is Garza County's newest deputy sheriff. Sheriff Ewell E. (Gene) Gandy has signed on Drewell as the fourth county deputy leaving only one position open on the law enforcement staff.

The sheriff said he hopes to have that slot filled by Monday.

Drewell, who is single and comes here from Lubbock, is a young man who recently completed his law enforcement training at South Plains College in Levelland in the same class with Sheriff Gandy.

Lubbock lake — Stamp club is organized here

The Garza Stamp Club held its first meeting Monday night at the Post Public Library with 12 enthusiastic collectors showing up to elect Mrs. Pee Wee Pierce as the club's president.

Other officers will be chosen later. A slide program was presented by Carolyn Carver of Lubbock and a discussion followed on the various aspects of stamp collecting.

The club's next meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. Aug. 25 at the library with all interested persons urged to attend.
