

Pct. 4, treasurer races into runoff, Aten reelected

...turnout of 1,342 only 55 percent of the 2,500 eligibles... sent two out of the Democratic... contests into June 3... contributed to Hill's statewide whipping of Dolph Briscoe by giving him winning margins in every one of the county's nine voting precincts.

The Republican primary here saw a new high of 11 voters casting ballots to give Bill Clements a sweeping 8 to 2 win over Ray Hutchison with Clarence G. Thompson picking up the other vote. (Only seven Republicans voted in the first GOP primary here several years ago.)

County Commissioner Ted L. Aten scored a convincing victory over L.E. (Sonnv) Gossett, Jr., to win what is tantamount to reelection as Precinct 2 county commissioner.

In what has been tabbed as a much closer contest in the second showdown between the two, Aten received 266 or 66 percent of the 402 votes cast and Gossett but 136 votes for 34 percent.

Paul J. Jones and Voda Beth Voss will be in the runoff for the county treasurer's nomination and County Commissioner Herbert L. Walls will contest Billy G. Greene in the runoff for nomination in commissioner precinct 4.

Jones received 560 votes, or 43 percent, in the county treasurer's race to 481 votes, or 37 percent for Voda Beth Voss, and 248 votes or 19 percent for Faye Cockrell.

The former county commissioner from precinct 1 won six of the nine voting precincts and the absentee "box" to two precincts for Voss (No. 6 and 7) and one for Cockrell (No. 2, Southland.)

Commissioner Walls received 150 of the 307 votes cast, falling just four votes shy of a majority as he polled 49 percent of the vote. Green had 126 votes, or 41 percent, with Howard E. Sprayberry pulling in just 31, or 10 percent, which (See Primaries, Page 9)

Hospital Daily OKs Ambulance

Memorial Hospital trustees at their May meeting last Thursday night approved the re-three-way agreement worked out with the city and county for the operation of ambulance service.

Hospital Administrator Ed Staff said he had been advised by Mayor Giles that the city, county commissioner court and hospital trustees would meet to look together at the ambulance operation.

Administrator told the trustees that in seven hospital agency room transfers ambulance to Lubbock in April and early physicians ordered to accompany patients on four of the ambulance runs because of serious nature of injuries.

Staff said an ambulance is needed on such to help the nurse take of the patient and-or to equipment and help transfer it. He said on of the nurse-accompanied runs was the ambulance.

Alexander, chairman of hospital trustees, said this could be worked out by a committee of communications department regarding the need for ambulance runs.

Staff told the board of the hospital's plumbing electrical projects are completion. The Hospital, Page 12)

Approval to project

Post school trustees at their May meeting Monday night authorized the Lubbock architectural firm of Whitaker and Hall to proceed with detailed planning of what is now known as the Post Junior High project with a limit of $400,000 in total costs set by the board.

The motion to proceed was unanimous after Architect Sanford Whitaker, board members and junior high principal and faculty held a late afternoon session Monday in the junior high activities room to go over preliminary plans in detail with teachers.

Supt. Bill Shiver told the school board that the $400,000 project could be paid for out of this year's and next year's school budget with no bonded indebtedness.

Whitaker told the board he would confer with Shiver and whomever Shiver designated to provide use needs he will include in the expanded junior high building.

Construction appears still months away.

Trustees also incorporated into the junior high project or into a 1978 summer project repair of the high school building's leaky roof.

Whitaker estimated this work could be accomplished for $7,000 by basically treating the flashing and "trouble spots." But he said for that expenditure some roof guaranteed could be obtained on the results.

Whitaker said architectural costs would be within seven to 10 percent of construction costs for the project and that he would present his current bill when he returned with more detailed plans for final consideration.

In another major action, trustees got their first look in general at the proposed 1978-79 school district budget — and got a pleasant surprise.

Water aid is sought for two small towns

The Garza County Commissioners Court will try to obtain federal grants to enable two of the county's small communities — Southland and Justiceburg — to solve their water problem.

The court Monday instructed J. R. Johnson, who has now been given the title of "director of county affairs", to check with the Texas Health Department and the state environmental protection agency for their requirements for small water systems.

The information will be sought to work up block grant applications for funds for the two water systems.

Neither community can seek a block grant itself. Justiceburg is not incorporated and Southland's incorporation is no longer recognized.

County Judge Giles Dalby told The Dispatch that Justiceburg Lake has practically "dried up." This was the source of Justiceburg's water supply.

The Justiceburg water board, headed by Weldon Reed, has been pumping water out of the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos into the lake to provide the community's water.

Johnson estimated to the court it would cost approximately $35,000 to drill a water well or wells for the community, build overhead storage, and hook it into the already existing Justiceburg water system.

The Southland water project would cost considerably more because no water system now exists in that community where householders provide their own well water.

Mrs. Duren's rites held here

Funeral services for Rebecca Graham Duren, 84, were held Wednesday, May 10, at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church with Rev. Glenn Reece officiating, assisted by Rev. Tom Pass of the First Presbyterian Church.

Born November 13, 1893 in Denton County, she was an early settler of Post and Garza County. Married to Joseph H. Duren December 25, 1925, they moved to Colorado in the 1920's returning to Post in 1972 following retirement.

Mrs. Duren died Monday, May 8, in Lubbock's West Texas Hospital following a brief illness.

Survivors include her husband; one son, Joe of Post; two sisters, Nancy Lathem of Lubbock and Mrs. Clem Alexander of Trinidad, Colo. and five grandchildren, Kelly, Kevin, (See Mrs. Duren, Page 12)

Parents buy golf carts

Parents of six local youths who damaged 13 golf carts at the Caprock Golf course the night of April 12 to the tune of $3,500 have paid for the purchase of 13 carts for the local course.

Durwood Bartlett said he decided to buy another pair himself and has received delivery on 15 electric carts.

In addition, Bartlett told The Dispatch that several of the youngsters are now working at the course on Saturdays at their parents' direction.

Parents brought the youngsters to the course to apologize personally to Bartlett for their night of vandalism.

Ambulance plan faces complaints, revision

Operational procedures of the emergency ambulance system here will soon get another "going over" by the joint city, county and hospital district ambulance committee.

The committee drew the assignment for its recommendations Monday night at a joint city council-county court meeting in the Post Public Library after Sheriff Jim Pippin suggested a paid ambulance attendant and a letter was received from the Hudman Funeral Home opposing the present plan of ambulance operation.

Sheriff Pippin told councilmen and members of the court present he was willing to work his staff one deputy short if the city would take that money and hire an ambulance attendant who is qualified and certified.

Following the sheriff's statement, a letter was read by Mayor Pro-Tem Bill Pool from the Hudman Funeral Home which stated:

"We are opposed to the present plan of operation of the city-county ambulance service for the following reasons:

1. Post and Garza County are fortunate in having a choice of funeral homes. However, subsidizing one establishment in preference to the other is unfair as the tax dollars from one is paid to the other.
2. Having the ambulance stationed in front of one establishment leaves the impression that this particular establishment is favored.

Three saddles stolen from barn

Jim Jackson reported to the sheriff's office Wednesday morning that somebody had stolen three saddles from his unlocked barn sometime Tuesday night.

The barn is located just south of Post.

Sheriff Jim Pippin estimated the saddles probably were worth about $800.

Task force to petition

Royce Hart resigned from the Post school trustees Monday night — only a week after being sworn in to his first full term — to clear the way for Martha Hart, wife of his cousin Jay, to be hired as an elementary teacher for the 1978-79 school year.

According to the present Texas law on nepotism, Mrs. Hart could not be legally employed by the board as long as Royce remained a member of it.

A group of 15 members of the Citizens Task Force, headed by Dr. William Wilson, appeared before school trustees prior to Hart's resignation to plead for Hart to remain as a school trustee, and the board if necessary to employ Mrs. Hart despite the conflict with the nepotism law.

"We can't see where anyone in the community would bring up nepotism after 250 citizens had just voted for him," Wilson told the board.

Both Jack Lott, school board president, and Hart agreed such a procedure wouldn't work and Hart said: "I formally resign right now."

Wilson asked what was the legal procedure for replacing Hart.

Lott said the law empowered the school board to choose the best possible candidate.

The question had been raised by the group whether or not another election would be held immediately. The parents were told the law provided the board appointment to serve until next spring's school board election at which time a new school trustee would be elected for the remainder of Hart's term.

Trustee A. C. Cash explained in the past the board had filled such (See Resignation, Page 12)

EMT meeting set Tuesday

All persons interested in taking an emergency medical technician's training course here are asked to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 16, in the bank community room, Mayor Giles McCrary announces.

The course would include 80 hours of classroom work and 40 hours of emergency room training, according to McCrary.

In applying for the course, the mayor is looking forward to the day that emergency medical technicians will be required to staff all ambulances.

The mayor said the course will be explained at the Tuesday night meeting and an agreement reached as to when to schedule the training to make it available to the maximum number of persons interested in taking it.

The supper will be cooked by the 4-H club girls.

Mr. McDougle rites pending

O. A. McDougle, 77, of Post died Tuesday night, at the home of his daughter at 210 South Avenue I. The death was due to natural causes.

He was born Feb. 8, 1901 in Erath County, Texas. He was married to Uretha Howell, Oct. 4, 1919 and shortly after moved to Post where he lived until his death. He was a farmer until 1944 then began work at the Postex Plant where he retired in 1966. He was a deacon for 16 years at the Crossroads Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, One son, Oliver of Lubbock; three daughters, Irene McCommis, Juanita Bilberry and Ila Mae Holleman all of Post; 13 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.

Services are pending with Mason Funeral Home.

Thursday, May 11, 1978 The Post (Tex.) Dispatch

That primary post-mortem

Biggest surprise of Saturday's primary was John Hill's victory without a runoff for the Democratic nomination for governor over Governor Dolph Briscoe.

An even bigger surprise to us was that Hill swept every one of Garza's nine voting boxes. Considering the fact that Briscoe brought his campaign into the county personally whereas Hill relied on campaign visits by his wife, son and daughter, the Garza portion of Hill's victory would seem even more surprising.

What was behind Hill's stunning statewide victory and his sweeping verdict in Garza County?

The Dispatch believes the reasons to be the same.

Most political watchers credit Briscoe's effort to stay in office 10 years by running for a third term was the most decisive factor.

Certainly, that was the point The Dispatch raised here.

But, there were other factors too.

To start with, Texas teachers didn't like Briscoe. That goes back to teachers efforts to win better salaries. The teachers, who are one of the best organized groups in Texas politics, endorsed Hill. It was the first time, as we understand, they ever had endorsed a gubernatorial candidate.

Next, Briscoe lost thousands of farmer votes at the bridge to Mexico in March, when farmers were arrested for attempting to block food imports from Mexico. Briscoe did not step to the farmers side until too late in the game for it to mean much.

Third, there was Briscoe's six year record as governor when it was charged he spent far too much of his time on his ranch in South Texas than in his office at Austin. Certainly, he has not exerted a great deal of leadership in Austin, botched the national energy issue in which Texas has a rich oil and gas stake, and helped to guide Texas into the Carter corner in the last presidential election to most Texans' dismay today.

Then last, but certainly not least, was Briscoe's efforts to buy the Saturday primary with an expenditure of an estimated three million dollars. His closing media blitz actually worked against him.

As in most elections, Saturday's vote was more against Briscoe than for John Hill.

The most interesting thing about Dolph's huge expenditure for that closing media blitz (TV, newspaper and radio) was that he borrowed a reported $1,500,000 or so to finance it.

If you win, fund-raisers can pay off campaign debts. But if you lose, as Briscoe did, who is going to pick up the tab? Probably, mostly Briscoe himself though he can well afford it.

The governor's defeat Saturday sets up what looks to be the biggest efforts Republicans have made in 100 years to win the governor's mansion.

In recent elections, the state's minority party has surprised a lot of people by coming as close as they did in the general election.

That was because when Democratic liberals lost the primary, they voted "Republican" in November.

Now the shoe is on the other foot. While John Hill has not been branded a "liberal" he certainly is not nearly as far right as Briscoe.

Look for the GOP in the general election campaign to work hard to pin a "liberal" tag on Hill and try to persuade all the conservative Democrats to step over the line and vote for Republican Bill Clements.

Clements, who was an assistant secretary of defense in Washington under President Gerald Ford, is certainly going to have more money to spend in the upcoming election than any Republican before him. A lot of it will be his own. He is sure to draw strong backing from the state's big oil and gas industry, too. After all, he is one of their own.

With Republican Senator John Tower expected to face the fight of his political life from Bob Krueger, the Republicans will be making a greater determined fight than ever before for the conservative vote in Texas.

While there's still a June 3 runoff for one commissioner precinct and one county office, besides that for congressman, state senator, and one state railroad commissioner, that won't end 1978 as a political year for Texas by any means.

It is going to be a bigger scramble in the fall for the state's top offices — governor and senator — than maybe ever before in 100 years.

Letters to the Editor

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

Dear Editor:

It was my recent honor to be re-elected as a trustee of the Post Independent School District. I can't help but feel that I am betraying that confidence shown in me by now resigning the position. But after much consideration I feel this is what I must do.

I resign because of a conflict concerning our state nepotism law, whereby the wife of my cousin can not receive a position as a teacher so long as I remain on the school board. Before the first election I questioned the superintendent about our kinship and told him exactly how we were related. He stated that there would be no problem as to her receiving a job and he instructed Mr. Alexander to inform her of this fact.

After the first election and before the run-off election, I was advised by the superintendent that the possibility of a problem existed and that he would check on the legalities involved with the school's law firm. After my re-election I talked with Supt. Shiver again and was told the school's law firm had determined that the hiring of my cousin's wife with me being on the board would be illegal, and that he as superintendent could not recommend her for hiring under these conditions.

I then placed a call to Austin and talked with an assistant attorney general who confirmed what I had been told. He also stated that this was a problem existing in smaller towns where many people are related, and that sometimes the situation is overlooked, or not brought to light unless the kinship is too obvious or there is an aggrieved party who files a complaint.

I fault myself for not pursuing this question further before the first election instead of taking Mr. Shiver's initial ruling. I could have withdrawn then and supported another candidate.

You, the public can draw your own conclusions from these circumstances and if you think I am doing wrong by resigning, I give you my sincerest apologies.

I just feel that I could not have served fairly or effectively had I continued under the conditions as they would have been.

Water worries-
 The Southland schools have a good well. To construct a Southland water system would require the laying of lines and construction of an overhead storage tank to provide gravity flow. No estimate of this cost has yet been made. Johnson and his "certa crew" were busy with another water problem this week. They were pulling the water pipe out of the almost dry city-county lake here and cleaning it out so that lake water can be more easily pumped from it for park and baseball field watering when the lake fills again via rainfall. Green Tank on US-84 southeast of Post already is dry.

On Garza ranches many of the tanks which have never gone dry before are now empty. They caught little, if any runoff from last week's rain. Farmers too are feeling the lack of moisture. They are waiting for enough moisture to plant cotton and other spring crops. Dispatch classifieds get fast results.

BUYING AND USING FERTILIZER IN HOME GARDENS

In order to grow properly, plants must be provided with proper growing conditions including moisture, light, temperature and nutrients. Each of these factors is just as important as the others. Moisture serves as a carrier for nutrients. Light must be present for the manufacture of "foods" in plant leaves. The proper temperature is required to allow chemical reactions inside the plant to take place. Nutrients serve as the building blocks from which all plants parts are made.

The source of nutrients is fertilizer. Fertilizer applied at the proper time in the proper amounts is very important especially in some gardens where we are looking for maximum production, often from a very small area.

To know how much of a fertilizer to apply we must understand what nutrients are present in each bag of fertilizer. This information is contained in the fertilizer analysis which always lists the three major nutrients and is always printed on the fertilizer container, for example, 10-20-10.

The first number, 10 in this example, is always Nitrogen. This means that 10 percent of the material in the fertilizer bag is Nitrogen. In other words, 100 pounds of 10 percent Nitrogen fertilizer will provide 10 pounds of Nitrogen.

The second number on the bag, 20 in our example, is Phosphorus. For our purposes, 100 pounds of 10-20-10 fertilizer will provide 20 pounds of Phosphorus. To be accurate, a conversion should be applied, but for home gardeners this much precision is not necessary.

The third number on the bag, 10 in this example, is Potassium. This particular analysis supplies as such Potassium as Nitrogen, 10 pounds for each 100 pounds of fertilizer.

So now you say, not too many gardeners use 100 pounds of fertilizer at a time. This is very true. The important thing for home gardeners to remember is the relative amounts of nutrients in each fertilizer. 100 pounds of a 5-10-5 fertilizer provides the same amount of nutrients as one pound of 10-20-10. The higher the numbers on the bag, the less fertilizer needed to supply the same amount of nutrients.

A complete fertilizer is a fertilizer which contains all the major plant nutrients such as 10-20-10. Most gardeners should use a complete fertilizer. Moreover, a fertilizer which contains twice as much Phosphorus as Nitrogen or Potassium, such as 10-20-10, is a 1-2-1 ratio fertilizer. Again, most gardeners should use this type of fertilizer.

Now that we have understanding of the fertilizer analysis, we can consider how to get the best deal for our money. When you buy groceries, you often look at the price per pound or ounce of produce. The same can be done with fertilizer. In most cases, the larger the bag, the lower the price per pound of nutrient in the bag. Likewise, a higher analysis fertilizer such as 10-20-10 or 16-16-16 is often a better buy than a lower analysis such as 5-10-5. When buying fertilizer for your garden do not buy lawn fertilizer. Lawn fertilizers are usually high in Nitrogen. Many lawn fertilizers also contain weed killers. Be especially careful not to use any of these on your garden.

Fertilizer should be applied at rates recommended for your area, usually 3 to 4 pounds of complete fertilizer per 100 square feet, prior to planting. Spread the fertilizer evenly over the garden and mix it into the soil. At transplanting use a starter fertilizer of a fertilizer high in Phosphorus. Mix two tablespoons of 10-20-10 fertilizer in a gallon of water; pour one cup around each plant.

After the plants are growing you can apply more fertilizer to the side of the plants. This is called

Student council election Monday

The senior members of the student council had a luncheon meeting Thursday to select nominees for council officers for 1978-79.

Nominees are: secretary-treasurer, Lance Dunn, Drew Kirkpatrick, Tricia Craig, and Holly Giddens; vice-president, Meg Reed, David Poole, Chuck Black and Leanna Davis; and president, Larisa Shiver, Darrell Reece, Nita Jo Gunn and Beth Elliott.

According to the student council bylaws, the president must be a member of the senior class, the vice-president must be a member of the junior class, and the secretary must be a member of the sophomore class.

Each candidate must present a petition with the signatures of 25 students and 10 teachers in order to run for office.

Campaigning is already in progress, beginning Monday and ending Friday of this week. Students have been displaying posters and making campaign speeches over the PA system.

A school-wide assembly will be held Monday, May 15, for a campaign rally. Each candidate will present his or her views in a speech. Elections will be held following the rally.

Winners of the election will be announced Tuesday, May 16.

Employers honored at HECE banquet

The HECE class held its annual banquet, Thursday, May 4 at the community center with the meal catered by Damon's.

Theme for the banquet was "Spring into a Working World."

Dr. Tom Pass, guest speaker, spoke on "not wasting a minute of your time doing what you don't like."

Employers were honored guests at the banquet.

Attending were Patricia Rogers and her employer, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Childers; Daniel Yarbro and Fabian Morales, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Tyler; Michale Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Sanchez; Karla Kennedy, Kelly Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Reynolds; Darlena Johnston, Sherri Bishop,

Mrs. Glen Norman; Donna Josey, Melinda Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Long; Susan Troxtell, Diane Guthrie; Sherri Morris, Mr. and Mrs. D.E. Morris;

Also attending were Gloria Martinez, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Collier and Mr. and Mrs. Don Payne; Nancy Clary, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Norman; Tricia Dudley, Dr. and Mrs. William Wilson; Nancy McCowen, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bird; Debbie Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris; Sheri York, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Owen; and Eddie Reece and Mr. and Mrs. George Blair.

Advisory council for the HECE program is Jack Alexander, Mrs. Bob Collier, Billy Hahn, Lane Tannehill, Mrs. Henry Wheatley and Mrs. Ed Sawyers.

Senior class play curtain up tonight

The senior class of 1978 will present its class play, "It's a Great Life!" Thursday, May 11 (tonight) in the primary auditorium at 8 p.m.

Box office admission will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. Reserved seats are still on sale and can be purchased from any member of the senior class.

"It's a Great Life" centers around the Peabody family and their problems. Bills are piling up, Jeannie Peabody goes into fits of psychosomatic illness at the thought of marriage, and Russell Peabody is frantically flunking all his courses. When the father, George, makes valiant effort to straighten everything out, things get wild — Jeannie's choice of a husband, Russell's decision on a career, Grace Peabody's astounded solution to the budget problem. It's all hilarious and surprising fun. In the end, however, everyone realizes that it really can be a "great life."

Make plans now to be the primary auditorium on Thursday evening to see "It's a Great Life." You don't want to miss it.

8th grade banquet held Saturday night

"Stairway to the Stars" was the theme of the eighth grade banquet held Saturday night, May 6 in the Post Community Center.

Kathy Kirkpatrick welcomed the class members and guests attending and Kraig Peel gave the invocation.

Dinner was catered by Damon's and served by the eighth grade mothers.

A movie of Laurel and Hardy was shown following the dinner and a homemade movie of a football game was shown by John Robinson.

Following the movie dance was held until 11 p.m. Officers of the eighth grade class are president, Kathy Kirkpatrick; vice-president, Patti McClain; secretary, Kraig Peel; treasurer, Dana Scott.

Class favorites are Jerry Terry and Kraig Peel. Class sponsors are Scott Rombokas, Dennis Webb, Patricia Webb, Judith Lewis and Priscilla Williams.

Tune in to Morrow

By David Morrow

Plans are being finalized for all the senior activities surrounding graduation. The class decided to have a select group of seniors sing several numbers as entertainment, since there is an abundance of vocal talent in this year's senior class. Plans have been set for the breakfast and reception also.

Larisa and Cindy tell me they had a wonderful time in Austin during the state UIL meet. They enjoyed elegant meals, accommodations, and generally "got away from it all" during their trip. Lucky girls!

Bryan Compton, a PHS junior, will be competing in the state track meet this weekend in Austin. Top places at both district and regional make him a leading contender for state honors. Good luck, Bryan, and remember PHS is behind you all the way.

When 8 Thursday evening, Where: primary auditorium. Why: for the best entertainment you've experienced in a long time—the senior play. Come see it and find out what the great life really is.

The walls of the halls (what, poetry?) have been blossoming with colorful campaign posters and amusing slogans as student council election time draws near. Some of them include: "Have Gunn, Will Travel", "Hang your hat on a star", "D.P. for V.P." and numerous others. This year's elections promise to be exciting and controversial, as the various candidates have some interesting views. Watch for election results next week.

Garza County has a new drilling location announced for its big Post field. It's J.C. Stelzer's No. 1 George Beggs, located 12 miles east of Post.

Eleven inducted into honor society

By KERRI POOL
The Post Chapter of the National Honor Society held its annual induction banquet Tuesday, May 2, at the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church.

New members inducted that evening were: Beth Elliott, junior; David Poole, Brent Mason, Lynn Simpson, Susan Sawyers, Meg Reed, Melodie Willson, Donna Nelson, Lea Ann Babb, Leanna Davis, and Donna Simecek, all sophomores.

After the invocation by Brad Shepherd, the covered-dish meal was served by Mrs. Patsy McCowen, Mrs. Emily Wyatt, and Mrs. Loveta Josey.

Following the meal, NHS officers Nancy Clary, Brad Shepherd, Kerri Pool and senior member Peggy Jackson presented the program on leadership, scholarship, service, and character.

Special guest speaker was Miss Jane Tice, who read the poem "If" by Rudyard Kipling and commented on NHS ideas. Sharon Johnson, president of the society, acted as mistress of ceremonies.

The new members were then sworn in. Second year members were recognized for having kept ideas and living up to the requirement of the NHS by receiving a card of membership. Senior members received National Honor Society certificates.

Accomplish Age has little to do with what we can accomplish during our lifetimes. For example, Mozart was 8 when he composed his first symphony. Cervantes completed Don Quixote when he was nearing 70. Alexander the Great made his major military conquests while he was in his twenties. Michelangelo at 79, although an artist, was writing sonnets. Jane Addams founded Hull House in Chicago when she was 29. Verdi composed Otello at 73. Falstaff in his late 70s. Alexander Graham Bell patented the telephone when he was 29. Clara Barton, at 59, founded the Red Cross. You can be what you want to be.

Beer Preacher
I see nothing wrong drinking on the premises of my own home. I just had a drink of rock and I feel better. It picks me up and settles my nerves.

I just had my second drink of whiskey and am feeling better. My grand mother always had whiskey in the house. It never harmed her!

My dog will be a good mouth to be better than a Schmutz? I just took another drink and felt better than my mother ever felt!

And you don't know how good a drink is for the stomach and community? Just had my fourth drink and I feel like a champ!

City council---

The continuous upgrading of requirements by the federal government will require additional hiring of personnel. Item 6 will facilitate this hiring.
It was our understanding when we gave up the ambulance service that it would be operated by the city and County with no connection with any firm.
To rectify this situation we recommend this service be placed wholly in the operation of a governmental department with a full time supervisor hired for this purpose. The supervisor in charge could be used as an ambulance deputy that would allow him to respond immediately to an ambulance request. He should be trained in the proper operation and driving rules regarding ambulances. He would also be in charge of training of all other personnel. This individual would be assisted by other employees of the law enforcement agency. As a back up, a group of volunteers could be recruited and trained. This supervisor would not be used as a regular deputy.
If the proper operation is not worked out for the benefit of all concerned it will be necessary for us to take proper action to protect the interest.
In answer to the letter, Councilman Jim Jackson said, "that when the ambulance service was taken over by the sheriff's responsibility, that it was not bid out, that he did not realize it would create a problem." He said that "no bid was intended, that a man was hired who was willing and trained to be the ambulance." Jackson added, "We will work with the sheriff and try to have a mutual understanding."
Justice, the present ambulance driver said, that he wanted all present understand that in no way would the Mason Funeral Home be subsidized.
Following the decision for the ambulance committee to bid again, the council would bid to other business concerns. Mary Ann Wylie, school attorney, and Pete Pennell question the council as to why Pennell has not been rehired in the part-time employment he received with the city in the past.

Ms. Wylie told the council that Pennell wants to continue his employment and was told that after equipment repairs, he would be able to continue with the city. She added, "that the city has hired one man to take his place."
Pennell told the council that he had turned down two job offers, thinking the city was going to rehire him.

In reply to the questions by Ms. Wylie, Harvey Morton, attorney for the city, said that in checking with city councilmen and the city manager, Pete Maddox, that Pennell had chosen to terminate himself from the city at the close of last year because of Social Security reasons. He was not fired, that the city intended no such action and that the equipment in question has not been used since he terminated himself.
Ms. Wylie asked the council if they had intentions of rehiring Pennell in the future and the question went unanswered.

While Judge Dalby and the commissioners were still in attendance the subject of the 4-H barn and Garza County Jr. Livestock Show Barn came into discussion.
The building in question is located at the city-county park and with the widening of the new overpass on South 84, vital parking space is being taken away from the building.

The Garza County Junior Livestock Association is discussing constructing a new building elsewhere and the county is interested in buying the property. The council told the county that the city would not be able to sell the property in question but could lease the property. The county would like to use the property for precinct storage and office space if a new building is built in the future.
This was tabled until a later date and more information is available.
Jim Johnson, manpower coordinator for Garza County told those present that a FAA inspector was in Post Monday to inspect the city-county airport and that runways at the airport were in need of repair.
Johnson also stated that he was inquiring with the FAA to see what funds were available to make improvements at the airport

School board---

Although teachers' salaries will increase an estimated $55,882.95 through state legislative action at the state level, the district's total budget will show a decrease of $103,641.72 — from $2,055,789.36 for the current school year to $1,952,147.64 for the new year.
Supt. Shiver told trustees they would receive individual copies of the proposed budget for study in the near future although final board action will probably not come before August.
Biggest budget reductions will come in $78,461 less in costs other than salaries for plant maintenance and operation, $33,456 for costs other than salaries in general administration, $18,573 in co-curricular activities and $44,141 in pupil transportation.
While total salary costs for the school system will go up an estimated $67,155 next year, all other costs will be reduced an estimated $170,796.

Trustees authorized the superintendent to call for bids for the next school year for milk, gasoline and oil, wash and greasing of buses, and the printing of the football programs.
Also trustees approved bus routes without change for the 1978-79 school year, accepted the final statements, and approved the signing of $22,339.79 in checks.

The board also accepted the resignations of High School Principal Billy Hahn and Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander. At the end of their meeting, after a 45 minute session with another delegation from the Citizens Task Force, trustees went into "executive session" to discuss Hahn's replacement.
such as a new building added, a beacon and whatever improvements were needed. He said he would meet with the airport board at their next meeting to see what could be worked out and by that time hoped he had heard from the FAA funding.
In other actions the council:
Scheduled a work agenda May 22 with discussions to be held on the airport, retirement plan and 10th street paving.
Adopted a resolution to the Post Art Guild for the painting given to the community center.
Granted J.W. Rogers with Southland Butane a letter from the city council to build a 30,000 gallon propane storage tank in the city limits, providing it meets with State and Railroad Commission requirements.
Reappointed Jim Cornish and Ruth Ann Newby to the Public Library Board, whose terms expire August 1, subject to their approval.
Ask the three local insurance agencies for bids before the July meeting on the city multiperil insurance policies which expire August 4.
Loaned the stove in city hall to the Garza County Heritage Association for the Algerita Senior Citizen's Center as long as it is needed.
Granted permission for City Judge Louise Greene to attend law enforcement schools in Lubbock and Brownwood.
Approved sending a letter with all councilmen and mayor's signature requesting the U.S. Air Force mobile radar site here, be made a permanent one which would involve approximately 40 families.

Walls had a 25 to 15 margin in the Justiceburg box, a 119 to 110 edge in the district's Post precinct, No. 7, and a 6 to 1 edge in the absentee.
In the governor's race, Garza Democrats gave John Hill 703 of the 1,275 votes counted in the five-candidate race for 55 percent, to only 439 votes for Governor Briscoe or 34 percent. Preston Smith bagged 100 votes for 8 percent, and Ray Allen Mayo 15, and Donald R. Beagle 18 for only 3 percent together.
In the scramble for the party's 17th district congressional nomination among seven contenders, A.L. (Dusty) Rhodes of Abilene received 450 of the 1,176 votes cast for 38 percent.
He goes into a June 3 runoff with Charles W. Stenholm of Stamford who received 332 Garza votes or 28 percent.
Other votes were distributed to Fike Godfrey, 145, or 12 percent; Jim Baum of Big Spring, 109 or 9 percent; Jim Snowden of Tye, formerly of Post, 80 votes or 7 percent; James R. (Jim) Sharp, Jr., of Abilene 45 or 4 percent; and Crews McCulloch of Weatherford 15 or 1 percent.
In the 28th district state senate race, a runoff between Don Workman of Lubbock and E.L. Short of Tahoka was the result of a tight five-candidate race.
In district totals, Workman had a big lead over the field with 16,990 votes, or 30.9 percent, to 10,770 votes, or 19.6 percent, for Short.
Short was followed by Morris Turner only 381 votes behind, then Delwin Jones with 9,975 votes and Jesse George last with 6,758.
In Garza County, Short held a narrow lead over Workman, 382 to 365, followed by Turner with 205, Delwin Jones 170 and George 77. This was a 32 to 31 percent margin for Short over Workman.
Garza Countians also stayed with the majority of voters in both parties state-wide in rejecting parliamentary wagering on horse races.
The vote was 715 against to 388 for in the county Democratic primary, but was much closer percentage-wise, statewide.
Actually of the 1,342 Garza Democrats who voted Saturday, 13 percent of 166 didn't cast a vote in the congressional race, 5 percent of 67 voters didn't make a selection for governor, and 9 percent of 153 took no interest at all in the state senate nomination free-for-all.
Garza Demos gave Robert (Bob) Krueger a 107 vote margin in winning the United States senatorial nomination to oppose John Tower in November, 597 to 490. They also handed Mark White a 128 vote edge over Price Daniel, Jr., in his winning effort for the attorney-general nomination, 635 to 507.
In other contests, Garza Democrats voted this way:
State treasurer: Warren G. Harding 697, Harry Ledbetter 212, and C.R. (Charlie) Sanderson 191.
Commissioner of Agriculture: Reagan V. Brown 571, Don G. Sewell 282, and Joe A. Hubenak 183.
Railroad Commissioner: Mack Wallace 691, John Thomas Henderson 322.
Railroad Commissioner (Unexpired term): Jerry Sadler 609, John H. Poerner 236, Ray Lemmon 125, and Jake Johnson 100.
Associate justice, supreme court, place 1: Franklin Spears 697, O'Neal Bacon 280.
Associate justice, supreme court, place 4: Robert M. Campbell 600, T.C. Chadick 348.
Judge, place 2, court of criminal appeals: Sam Houston Clinton 658, Jim Vollers 287.
Judge, place 3, court of criminal appeals: W.C. (Bill) David 595, Marvin O. Teague 346.
County clerk: Carl Cederholm, unopposed for renomination, led the Demo ticket with 1,052 votes, closely followed by County Judge Giles W. Dalby, also unopposed, who totaled 1,043.

W.S. (Bill) Heatley was unopposed for state representative as was District Judge George H. Hansard.
Racy Robinson polled 322 votes for renomination as justice of the peace in precinct 1. He also was unopposed.

J.E. Tanner was reelected Democratic party chairman, receiving 983 votes, unopposed.
Elected precinct chairman, all unopposed, were: Ms. Mike Custer, pct. 1, 214 votes; Ruby Ellis, pct. 2, 55 votes; Mrs. Ruby Jones, pct. 3, 98 votes; Don R. Blacklock, pct. 4, 28 votes; Cleao Sappington, pct. 5, 41 votes; Quannah Maxey, pct. 6, 116 votes; La Nell Warren, pct. 7, 169 votes; Ruth Ann Newby, pct. 8, 227 votes; and Billie Jean Cross, pct. 9, 73 votes.

Compton ready for state meet Friday

Bryan Compton will compete in the state Class AA track meet in Austin's Memorial Stadium Friday after tuning up for the final weekend of the spring season by placing third last weekend in the state qualifiers meet at Lubbock.

He jumped 21 feet, 5 inches at Lubbock to finish behind a pair of AAA longjumpers, Gilbert Franco of Brownfield who sailed 22 feet on his best leap and Jimmy Faulkner of Levelland who was just half an inch behind Franco.

The AA broadjump is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. Friday.

It's going to be a gala track weekend at Austin with AA state finals on

Howard Jones picked by GE

Howard Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, has been named head of General Electric's Solar Energy program in Schenectady, New York.

Jones, married and the father of two children, is a 1957 graduate of Post High School, received his bachelor's degree in engineering from Texas Tech University, a masters from Florida and his doctorate from Georgia Tech also in engineering.

For the last four years he has been associated with General Electric's Aerospace program in Philadelphia.

Howard was selected to head the program from the company's 15 leading engineers.

Friday and AAAA finals on Saturday afternoon. Then on Saturday night everyone will stay to see the Southwest Conference championship track meet.

Coach Alexander resigns here

Post school trustees accepted the resignation of John Alexander, Post high school basketball coach for the last seven years, Monday night to bring coaches' resignation from the local staff to three within the last month.

Alexander is moving on to Class AAA Jacksonville high school for next season because he and his wife decided they wanted to move to East Texas.

Alexander's new Jacksonville contract arrived in the mail last Wednesday and they are going to Jacksonville over the weekend when Mrs. Alexander will apply for a teaching position.

They hope to live on Lake Tyler which is only seven miles away. Jacksonville is 25 miles south of Tyler.

Alexander has won one district title in boys basketball during his seven years in Post and tied for another half, with the Lopes losing that playoff.

The only thing about the AAA team to which he is going, he will start at the bottom. Jacksonville won only two games last year.

"The only way we can go is up," John told The Dispatch.

Tennis Coach Greg Eubank resigned last month and last week Coach Bill Unberhagan wrote his exit

Ron Garland of Lubbock, assistant Boy Scout executive for this 20-county area, told Post Rotarians at their weekly luncheon Tuesday that "Boy Scouting is relevant today if citizenship training is relevant, character development is relevant and physical fitness is relevant."

He said Scouting is working hard to form an explorer troop in Post and develop a very active cub pack. He commended the club on its long sponsorship of a Boy Scout troop.

Burial was held in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

Tour taken of senior center

The Algerita restoration for the Garza Trail Blazers' Senior Citizen Center was toured by city council members and others attending the council meeting Monday night.

Guided by David Newby, who is responsible for the restoration work, the council found vast improvements in the rear portion of the first floor.

A new floor has been laid and partitions built for the six or seven rooms which will serve as the center.

The kitchen and the dining area already have wall coverings and the heating and cooling system ducts are now being put in.

Pallbearers were Kelly, Kevin, Kyle Duren, Tim Morris, Bill Gordon and Don Ammons.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Mason Funeral Home.

MYF GROUP
 The MYF group of the Graham Methodist Church met Sunday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Moore. They enjoyed a cook-out and then watched home movies.

Hospital-

(Continued From Page One) plumbing has been finished and only a few more days work is needed on the electrical, he said.

To complete the project, the board approved a $550 bid by Jerry Conoly to do some plumbing in the hospital kitchen which wasn't included in the original plumbing-electrical renovation project.

Hospital directors discussed a bid by the Texas Hospital Insurance Exchange to provide professional liability and comprehensive general liability coverage for the hospital.

Directors decided to first ask for bids from local insurance agencies before making any decision.

In another action, directors voted to send the hospital administrator to the Texas Hospital Association's 49th annual convention and exhibit show May 21-25 at San Antonio.

In reviewing hospital operations and financing for April, Zingraff told the board he is convinced that the hospital district can complete its fiscal year operations through Sept. 30 without further borrowing.

The April financial report showed the hospital collected $26,415.29 on accounts and taxes in April and spent $38,609.47, the difference being met in tax money received earlier.

In the seven months operation of the current fiscal year, ending Sept. 30, the hospital has collected $207,287.72 from accounts and $245,120.02 in taxes.

Operating expenses have totaled $295,989.35. The district has paid off $51,775.34 in notes to complete operation for the last fiscal year before tax increases became effective this year.

The heating and air-conditioning project now being completed has cost $48,999.15 to date outside hospital operating and this is being financed by a loan to be paid off in the next few years.

The hospital district has about $50,000 in tax money left from this year's collections to make up for operating deficits in the five months remaining in the fiscal year, Zingraff said.

He said economies are being effected in hospital operations in an effort to hold any operating deficit for these months within $50,000.

The administrator told directors the only portion of the hospital operations running higher than amounts budgeted is the hospital kitchen. Rising food prices here have hurt.

Fifty-six patients were admitted to the hospital in April for an average of 7.6 patients per day, an increase of 1.2 patients over the April average in 1977. The average for the seven months is 8.2 patients per day.

Although only 14 of the patients admitted were Medicare patients, they accounted for over half of the patient days in the hospital for April, 122 of a total of 228.

Seven babies were born in the hospital during the month to bring the total to 62 for seven months and 172 outpatients treated in the emergency room.

Director Charlie Brown was named to replace Alexander on the joint ambulance committee with city and county now that Alexander has been elected a city councilman.

Choir festival--

(Continued From Page One) was held on West Beach on the Gulf, and everyone enjoyed swimming, surfing and beachcombing for the rest of the evening.

The boys choir and quartet performed on Saturday. After they finished, the choir members spent the day at Sea-A-Rama, enjoying the marine exhibits and shows. A dance was held Saturday night for all students involved in the choral festival, and Post students attended until midnight, when they left Galveston to return to Post.

The Willsons were presented with a gift—a decorative model ship—from all the choir members, in appreciation for their efforts.

Despite some illness, everyone thoroughly enjoyed the trip and all felt it was worth the time and effort spent in fund raising.

Hart resignation---

"We like to have farmers, ranchers, oil, industry and business interests all represented," Cash added. "We don't have any businessmen now because it is hard to get them to run."

Someone else pointed out at this point that a minority representation could be appointed as the board has no minority representation at this time.

Wilson asked if the trustees would consider appointing a person supported by a petition.

Lott replied the board would give it "fair consideration."

School trustees took no action Monday night to consider a successor to Hart.

Hart explained during the discussion of his resignation with the Citizens Task Force group, which has taken an obvious interest in school discipline and school affairs since its organization as parents concerned with teenage drug use here a few months ago, that he had conferred with School Supt. Bill Shiver before the April school election on whether or not the hiring would be nepotism.

He said Shiver told him he thought Mrs. Hart was married to his brother and not his cousin, and that a cousin relationship would not involve the nepotism law.

Then the matter came up after the election with the school board's attorneys ruling it would be nepotism if the board hired Mrs. Hart while Royce was still a member.

"I feel I'm being pressured off the board by the superintendent," Hart said, "because this didn't come to light until after I had been elected."

Trustee K. W. Kirkpatrick interjected a comment quickly to the effect "If you're going to shoot at Bill like that..."

Lott, board president, then broke in to say to his knowledge final word had been received from the attorneys between the first election and the runoff and Supt. Shiver had been advised by the attorneys not to say anything until after the runoff or he would be "influencing an election."

Supt. Shiver, who was in his third day with a severe flu attack, was not present for the board's conversation with the Citizens Task Force group in the high school library. He had been excused from the meeting after he had presented information on the school district's 1978-79 budget to the board.

One trustee pointed out Russell Wilks Jr., had resigned from the board a number of years ago so his son-in-law could be hired by the local schools.

Trustee Wanda Mitchell said that Royce had called the state attorney-general's office in Austin after being told of the school attorney's ruling and had been told the hiring of a cousin with him on the board would be illegal.

Mrs. Mitchell pointed out the nepotism law was quite complicated with three degrees of nepotism so classified.

Hart at this point declared, "I feel I have let everybody down because I didn't know the law."

A letter to the public by Hart concerning his resignation appears in today's Dispatch on page 2.

The Citizens Task Force group also had asked to appear before the school board on what was termed on the agenda, "discriminatory policy of the athletic department."

Athletic Director Jackie Brown fielded all the questions on this one and school trustees just sat and listened to the exchanges.

Brown explained it is "my philosophy" that a strong track program is required to make a strong overall athletic program. That is the reason, he explained, why boys out for football are required to compete in track and are encouraged to go out for basketball.

The athletic director pointed out if a youngster does not compete in track and an off season sports program when not out for another sport he will fall behind others in development.

He said the coaches can't legally prevent junior high girls, for example, if they quit track from going out for basketball in high school the next year. But, he added, those girls probably will find themselves "behind the others" when the next basketball season arrives.

Main objections voiced by parents were that students were required to compete in other sports in order to go out for one sport they liked.

Another objection raised by some parents was that students were ordered to continue training at times when they had a physician's permission not to participate because of illness or injury.

Brown said emphatically he did not order participation in sport in opposition to a physician's order and he did not believe "my coaches would disregard doctors' orders either."

A number of parents disagreed with the statement.

"We're trying to do a good job for you with this athletic program," Brown told the group. "I think we have a good coaching staff too," he added.
