

'Unfair' school tax is protested

In the year of massive American property tax revolt, Post school trustees Monday night heard one man protest that new homes here are being put on school tax rolls at "unfairly" high valuations in comparison with houses of similar size and market value.

Trustees, "but to express my concern about the amount of school taxes I am asked to pay." Wyatt was supported in his protest by several other owners of new homes or about to be completed ones.

New homes are being put on school tax rolls at higher values than even better homes, Wyatt contended. He urged the board to consider what is "fair for all."

Specifically, Wyatt said his new 2,700 square foot home was valued by the school district for tax purposes at $51,650 whereas in one given comparison, a nearby home containing 4,000 square feet was on the tax rolls at a $29,000 value.

Wyatt said he wanted to make two points of which school trustees might not be aware. First was that new homes here are going on tax rolls at much higher values than other homes of similar size and value.

School roofing contract let Post school trustees let construction contracts for roofing and tennis court repair Monday night and also went into "executive session" twice to discuss a mother's protest on grading against a local teacher and to consider filling the vacancy on the board by the board by appointment. By a split vote of 3 to 3, trustees denied the motion by Kay Kirkpatrick, which was seconded by Charles Morris, to name Mike Flanigan to the trustee vacancy.

Flanigan had received the next highest number of votes in the spring trustee election. A petition was presented to the board last month with a long list of voters urging his appointment to the vacancy created by the resignation of Royce Hart from the board.

Both Hart and Flanigan attended Monday night's meeting. After the "executive session" with mother and high school daughter protesting a teacher's grading procedures, the board decided to hold a special meeting Monday night, July 17, to give the teacher an opportunity to appear before the board.

Council told $7,890 needed for swim pool

Representatives of the city-county park board asked the city council Tuesday night to put what extra money they could into next year's municipal budget as the swimming pool needs a total of $7,890 in repairs and improvements.

Lewis Herron and Mrs. Zoe Kirkpatrick appeared before the council with the request. They said all the work doesn't have to be done immediately or next year but it's "in sight" and extra help is needed to keep the pool in good shape.

The council heard two insurance proposals for coverage of the municipal buildings from Harold Lucas of Post Insurance Agency and Tom Power of Tom Power Insurance and decided to award the insurance to Post Insurance.

They asked Lucas to meet back with them to determine the amount of increased coverage desired.

In another decision, the council decided to adopt a federal IRA plan for city employee retirement benefits with the city to put five per cent of employees' salary each year into the fund.

City Manager Pete Maddox told the council the city needs approximately 50 more trash containers to adequately cover the city with the new automatic containerization plan. The council also set a hearing date of Aug. 8 to bring a 130 by 150 foot residential lot of City Manager Maddox into the (See City Council, Page 10)

It was emphasized that the special session will not be a "hearing" of the teacher but the opportunity for the board to hear the other side of the story. If any official hearing is held, it will come later.

The board saved between $12,000 and $15,000 by deciding to let one contract (See School board, Page 10)

Reception to honor David Newby July 23

The Garza Historical Survey Commission decided Tuesday morning to sponsor a reception Sunday afternoon, July 23, in the new senior citizens center in the Algerita Hotel to honor David Newby.

Newby is cited by the commission as "Post's No. 1 volunteer" for getting the 3,300 square foot senior citizens center built in the back 80 feet of the first floor of the historic building.

Susanne is returning to Post for visit

Susanne Krause, who first came to Post in the fall of 1962 as a blonde exchange student from Denmark under sponsorship of the Post High School Student Council, is flying in for a week's visit here this weekend.

This time she is bringing her husband, Roland Paesch, a Danish engineer who works on satellites that fly around the earth, and her four-year-old son, David.

They are on a month's vacation trip across the United States. While in Post they will stay with Dr. and Mrs. B.E. Young with whom she lived most of her senior year in PHS.

The Youngs will host a reception in her honor from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, July 18, in the bank's community room. All her local friends and acquaintances are invited to visit with her again and meet her husband.

June is 'busiest' month for library

The Post Public Library had its biggest month of the year — as far as usage was concerned. Librarian Pee Wee Pierce reported a total of 1,610 books read for the month, easily the high for the year, with juveniles checking out more books than adults in a month for the first time in a long time. Juveniles, many of them enrolled in the library's summer reading program, checked out 846 books to 764 books checked out by adults.

The big 1,610 book check out total for June brings the library's circulation for 1978 to 5,373 books.

The juvenile total included 233 non-fiction books, 225 juvenile fiction books, and 388 easy books for the smaller children. Some 263 youngsters attended afternoon story hour sessions being held five days a week. Some 460 youngsters, many of them through the summer recreation program, saw 23 films shown during the month in the library, and 189 enjoyed 27 film strips shown in June in the library.

Also during the month, Librarian Pierce fielded the answers to 18 reference questions asked by patrons.

Fifty-two new books were added to library shelves during June to bring acquisitions for the year to date to 303.

Pines, donations and book sales for the month (totaling $22.11) in the library income to bring the six months total to $190.00.

LOUIS ROCHESTER Rotary District Governor

Governor of Rotary coming

Louis Rochester of Odessa, Rotary governor of District 573, will pay his official visit to the Post Rotary Club next Monday and Tuesday.

It's hot July, but it wasn't hard to get into a discussion of the Bill Clements vs. John Hill fall governor race here yesterday.

We noticed a big air conditioned van emblazoned with "Bill Clements for Governor" parked in the middle of the street in front of The Dispatch returning from our courthouse rounds yesterday morning.

We investigated to be sure Bill Clements himself wasn't in town unannounced.

He wasn't. Instead we found Omar Harvey of Austin, who is chairman of Independents and Democrats for Clements.

Harvey is not a stem-winder but a plain talking politician who said he is busy organizing the 230 rural counties in Texas for Clements. He had stopped in Post to visit with Giles McCrary, Post's recognized No. 1 Republican.

He reported he has just (See Postings, Page 10)

County says 'no' again

The Garza County Commissioners Court rejected as "unconstitutional" for the second time Monday a request that the county pay monthly utility costs for operating the Garza Trail Blazers' county aged program in new quarters in the Algerita Hotel.

Presentation of the request, seeking a solution to "a community problem", was made by David Newby and Jim Cornish, who pointed out the program was open to all Garza Countians 55 or over, which currently is approximately a third of the county's population.

County Judge Giles Dalby told the pair that the Texas constitution forbids the county spending public funds for private purposes. He said County Attorney Preston Poole was consulted on the matter and agreed such to be unconstitutional.

Cornish and Newby contended a program affecting one-third of the county's population is not a private one and said a ruling on the matter has been requested of the Texas attorney general's office in Austin, (See County says, Page 10)

Stock show building will cost $55,000

Directors of the Garza County Junior Livestock Association have awarded a contract to A.D. Noel Construction Co. of Plainview for an all-steel show and fair building at a cost of $45,000.

Action came at a directors meeting last Thursday night.

Noel White, president of the association, told The Dispatch that concrete and mechanical work for the new building is expected to add an additional $10,000 to the overall cost.

It will be two months before the Plainview firm can begin erection of the building on a site already staked off next to the Post

Stampede Rodeo Grounds northwest of Post on US-84. The livestock association already owned the site.

White said the contractor has promised a Nov. 1 completion date.

The association and the 4-H building organization recently sold their buildings on the south side of South Lake to Garza County and combined organizations.

The move was necessitated by the four-laning of the US-84 railroad overpass which considerably reduced parking space around the building which was used for the annual livestock show and county fair.

'Shot' clinic here July 19

An immunization clinic will be held Wednesday, July 19 from 1 to 4 p.m. in the community action center located at 804 Pine St.

This clinic is open to everyone with no income restrictions.

This is the next to last clinic before the start of school and parents are reminded that if their child has not had their immunization shots, this would be an excellent time to receive them.

Another clinic will be held August 16.

Festus' coming for OS weekend' here

Ken Curtis, who was Festus Haggen as Marshal Matt Dillon's beloved deputy in Gunsmoke for so many years, will serve as official arena marshal on both days of roping, Prather said.

He won't do any routine but he will be in his colorful western Gunsmoke costume and he will mingle with the crowd, sign autographs, and "take charge of things" in the big roping arena.

He also will be available for the pre-roping party for the Art Exhibit Friday night, Sept. 29.

Dave Gottshall, executive director of West Texas Boys Ranch, and Buddy Winfield, his administrative assistant in public relations, were here Tuesday from San Angelo working on the upcoming steer roping and art exhibit project.

Gottshall is the editor of the OS Catalog this year and reports that most of the catalog has already gone to press and will be out on time.

Gottshall and Winfield both think Festus will be a big draw for the "OS weekend".

What's in voters' minds?

Proposition 13 has not completely changed the political world in which we live.

True, it has given taxpayers the country over a rather giddy feeling. True, it has chilled the politicians whose success formula has been create and spend for there is always more.

And true, it has brought Texas a believe-it-or-not special session of its legislature to put heads together for tax reform.

But according to the signs that is about as far as it goes.

To put it simply, don't expect too much — or actually very much — from the new play in Austin which has just opened.

Governor Briscoe in calling the session came up with seven proposals to aid the taxpayers. They comprise a fine package, although one already was missing from the list which had been anticipated. The missing one was to finally wipe out the small state property tax.

That amounted to only 10 cents per $100 taxable valuation and took from our pockets only $60 million a year. But after all, $60 million is $60 million. That goes entirely to fund building new buildings at the 17 universities in the state educational system.

Politicians have talked of throwing that "bone" to us for the last 10 years. But even with the tax revolt, a tax conscious governor hasn't even proposed it.

What Briscoe has proposed are:

(1) Repeat the four percent sales tax on residential utility bills at a savings of $120 million a year.

(2) Increase to $200,000 the personal exemption for Class A beneficiaries under the inheritance tax law. Current exemption is only $25,000. This would save some of us only $15 million a year.

(3) Require a two-thirds affirmative vote by each branch of the legislature "present and voting" to levy any new tax or increase an existing tax.

(4) Place a limitation upon any increases, from year to year, of any tax which may be or is levied by political subdivision of the state and place a similar limitation upon expenditures increases for these subdivisions.

(5) Provide by law that agricultural land may be taxed only at its productivity value and require the legislature to replace with state funds any loss to school districts by this provision.

(6) Exempt residential homesteads up to $10,000 from taxation by school districts participating in the state-wide foundation fund and up to $20,000 on homesteads of persons over 65, again with the state to replace revenues of school districts reduced by this provision.

(7) Provide by law a method for the electorate to initiate measures to reduce or increase taxes.

So that's the program — and what's going to happen?

About the only thing you can be sure of is that the legislature will be in Austin the maximum 30 days and that no taxes will be raised.

Some of the easy ones in the governor's tax reform package will pass, but the real "goodies" won't make it. As one lawmaker said last week, "they all can't fly."

The legislative "road block" went up the first day against the constitutional amendment to require a two-thirds majority for tax increases.

The argument is that a minority can block any tax measure thus turning the legislature over to minority bloc rule and creating a disaster. There is some hard truth in this.

But behind the argument too is the fact that the politicians don't want to give up their tax raising power.

As for the legislature approving a constitutional amendment to give the people a voice by providing a method the electorate can initiate measures to reduce or increase taxes, this one will get lost early and stay lost.

The politicians aren't going to give voters anything like that on a silver platter.

As for the homestead exemption increase proposal for school districts, don't expect anything as big and nice, especially for senior citizens, to emerge as enacted from the state capital this July. There may be a slight increase, but nothing like the major one Briscoe proposes.

As for placing limitations on local taxing districts as to amounts they can increase taxes or expenditures that will run into a heap of well organized trouble too.

We would guess the farmers at last may get a little something by having farm land put on the tax rolls at productivity value instead of sales value.

As the reader will note what may get through on the governor's list will be nice, but not impressive. And even these already have a history of organized support for a number of years.

There are even those who consider this special session a flat waste of taxpayers' money because it will cost so much to accomplish so little.

Missing from the Austin scene will be an organized taxpayers support for tax reductions from the home precincts.

It's almost like the Texas taxpayers, who might have been able to be even a lot more vocal than their California counterparts are being "sweet tricked" by this special session performance to just lay back in an election year to see what happens.

If the voters take that attitude — and they are because its darn hot in Texas right now and there is no leader or organization — then there will be a good Austin show, but little basic tax reform.

Behind the Austin scene is the terrific power of all those forces within the state who want to spend. The spending agencies aren't like the taxpayers. They are organized. For them it is a deadly business of harvesting the tax dollars.

You may not hear a lot about them. But they already are at work in Austin.

And then there is John Hill, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee who if he plays his political cards halfway right will move into the governor's mansion in January.

He has some big plans. He is an activist. He has made a lot of promises that will cost a whole lot of tax money to carry out.

Where does John Hill stand in all this? Well, John to date has kept a very low profile. We would guess he is pleased that Briscoe provided the opportunity to get all the tax reform stuff out of the legislative machinery before the regular session rolls around.

And then we come to the bottom line question. Where do Texas voters stand on tax reform.

School district taxes have been rising faster than other property tax district levies because the state has changed the state aid formula requiring school district property owners to shoulder more and more of the school support burden while the state surpluses grow.

Changing that is necessary. Also lurking back there somewhere is the question of what to do about equalizing state property values all across Texas so school districts can all approach the state handout money counter with clean hands. There has not been a Texas political leader big enough in recent years to find a solution to this one.

That brings us back to what's in the Texas voter's mind right now. The legislators are trying to figure that one too. And probably so are Texas voters themselves.

Nothing really big is going to come out of all this special session or the next several regular ones until that bottom line question is answered.

Texas A & M calls agricultural 'summit'

COLLEGE STATION — An agricultural summit, bringing together representatives of agriculture, business, labor and consumer groups from throughout the nation will be held at Texas A & M University Dec. 4-6 to explore farm problems and their effects on the lives of Americans.

The meeting, based on the work of five task force groups which begin sessions this summer, is sponsored by Texas A & M University and the Agriculture Council of America, a non-profit organization formed in 1973 to promote better understanding between farmers and consumers.

Texas A & M President Jarvis E. Miller said the task forces will conduct grass roots meetings and develop reports to be considered at the national meeting, termed a "Symposium on Economic Problems on Agriculture."

Major issues to be addressed include prices, income, international trade, production costs, nutrition and agriculture's role in governmental decisions.

"In terms of agricultural policy, I think we are at the most critical juncture since the early 1930s, and that is why we put such priority on this activity, hoping to make a substantive contribution to better understanding of the basic issues," Dr. Miller said.

"Farmers are living on borrowed money and borrowed time," he added. "It is absolutely critical that identify what realistic can be done to ensure our capabilities in agriculture are not further eroded. We believe our summit will clearly establish areas of agreement within the agricultural community," Miller continued. "It should show many areas of agreement that far overshadow areas of disagreement."

Miller said the Agriculture Council of America called upon a top level board to develop a forum and approach to the summit. The group includes W. Collins, Massey Ferguson Des Moines, Iowa; J. Kautz, chairman of board, Tri Valley Growers, Lodi, Calif.; Dr. Theodor Shultz, economist, University of Chicago; J. Sullivan, dairyman, Superior, Neb.; and Dr. G. Taylor, economist, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Bruce Gardner, professor of agricultural policy in the Department of Agricultural Economics, researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the state's agricultural research agency, local coordinator for symposium.

LUBBOCK — The estimated farm level value of the cotton crop from 25 High Plains counties in 1977, according to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, comes to $825.7 million, up from $675.4 million for the much smaller but higher priced crop of 1976.

The 1976 crop totaled 1,986,500 bales of lint and 794,600 tons of seed, valued at almost $300 per bale of lint and $100 per ton of seed.

The 1977 crop topped all previous yields at 3,215,400 bales of lint and about 1,286,000 tons of seed. But prices were down for both commodities, to an estimated $228 per bale for lint and an average of about $72 per ton for seed.

Estimates of average lint prices received by farmers on the 1977 crop were gathered by PCG from several knowledgeable sources. Guesses ranged from a 46-cent low to a high of over 49 cents and averaged 47.5 cents per pound.

The all-time high value for a cotton crop in PCG's 25 High Plains counties was reached in 1973 when lint and seed from 2,888,700 bales, plus farm program payments, pumped over $900 million into the Lubbock area economy.

About the 1978 cotton crop, PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson says "It looks now as if we have about as many standing acres as we harvested last year, but the lateness of the crop, generally, and the continued shortage of sub-soil moisture make it more than likely that yields will fall well short of those seen last year, and some of our present acreage could still be lost before harvest."

The 25 PCG counties in 1977, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, harvested an average of 424 pounds of lint per acre from 3,638,800 acres.

On price prospects for this year's harvest, Johnson notes that strong cotton exports coupled with doubts about the volume of production in the U.S. and other major producing countries this year "have given the market to date considerable underlying strength."

He cautions however that there is no certainty that current prices will hold or rise for the remainder of the year. "Rumors of poor crops in Russia and China could yet prove false and with the right weather the U.S. crop, including that from the High Plains, could also be a surprise."

"Even so, with the overall supply-demand situation, less than ideal crop conditions and the market's recent resistance to downward pressures, we have to be somewhat optimistic about prices this fall."

Lake and a downtown fire in Post in 1930.

He says the Two Draw Lake pictures were made in 1922, July 4th, but "don't quite jibe" with a lake picture reportedly taken on the same date which appeared a few weeks ago in The Dispatch. "You will notice quite a difference in the water level on the walk out to the diving board," McCrory wrote, "and also on the buildings up on the hill."

"There was a large picnic held out there every year with a real large crowd up until the lake washed out."

"I am in both of these pictures and I was there in 1924 when it snowed that day."

"I thought you also might like the one of the fire in 1930."

(The building in the fire picture is the Connell Chevrolet Company on the northeast corner of Main street and Avenue I intersection.)

McCrory wrote he also has some pictures of Post's first football team.

Knocking the postal service, McCrory concluded: "It still takes from 10 to 15 days for my Dispatch to get here, and a lot of them I never get."

Five to go to summer camp

Five boys from Post will be invited to attend the Salvation Army's Camp Hoblitzelle, July 9-16.

Each summer for over 20 years deserving boys between the ages of eight and fourteen have been invited to spend a week at the 380 acre camp near Midlothian.

The participants from Post this year are Mark Odom, James Brown, C.J. Bilberry, Danny Martinez, and Richard Cisneros. These boys, joining with others from around the state, will be afforded an opportunity to enjoy the pleasures of camping in a beautiful natural setting with facilities to rival those of the most expensive boy's camps. The Service Unit division of the Salvation Army conduct four week-long outings every summer. This year over 800 boys are expected to take part. Each boy's trip will be financed by the Post Service Unit.

South Plains fair returns youth rodeo

LUBBOCK — An all-youth rodeo, which is rapidly becoming one of the more popular events at the Panhandle South Plains Fair, again has been added to the schedule for the 61st annual exposition here Sept. 23-30.

General manager Steve L. Lewis said the rodeo is being sponsored by the fair and Lubbock County 4-H.

The rodeo, to be held in Fair Park Livestock Pavilion, will be held on the final three nights of the fair.

Events, with entry fees in parenthesis, include: bareback riding ($20); tie-down calf roping ($20); ribbon roping (must be boy-girl over 14, $15); ribbon roping (must be boy-girl team 14 and under, $15); barrel racing (over 14, $12.50); barrel racing (14 and under, $12.50); pole bending (over 14, $12.50); and pole bending (14 and under, $12.50).

Cash prizes will be awarded in all events and 75 percent of entry fees will be paid back. Books open Sept. 22 and close Sept. 27. Further information may be obtained by writing 301 County Office Bldg., Lubbock, Texas 79401, or by calling 763-6351 (Ext. 235).

Six stage shows have been booked for Fair Park Coliseum. The lineup includes: the Charley Pride Show, with Dave and Sugar, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m., Sept. 24; the Statler Brothers, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sept. 25; the Johnny Rodriguez show, with Linda Hargrove, 8 p.m. Sept. 26; the Jim Ed Brown show, with Helen Cornelius and Wendy Holcombe, 8 p.m. Sept. 27; Eddie Rabbitt and Jerry Clower, 8 p.m., Sept. 28; and Mel Tillis, with the Statesiders, 8 p.m. Sept. 29 and 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sept. 30.

Tickets for all shows are $4, $5, and $6. All seats are reserved.

Only one weevil caught last week

Garza County Agent Syd Conner found one boll weevil in his check last Thursday of 29 boll weevil traps scattered throughout the county on seven farms.

The lone weevil was plucked from the No. 4 trap on the Robert Sanchez place.

Conner is making weekly checks on boll weevils in various parts of the county in an effort to determine how many of the cotton pests over-wintered in Garza between crops.

Ramirez rites on Saturday

Funeral services for Domingo Ramirez, 31, of Hutchinson, Kansas, were held Saturday, July 8 at 10 a.m. in the Iglesia Bethel Bautista with Rev. Paulo Mendoza, pastor, officiating.

Ramirez was killed July 4 at 8 p.m. in a train-pedestrian accident.

Born March 9, 1947 in Post, he attended Post schools and was a former employee of Jackson Bros. He married Anastacia Soto in 1966 and moved to Kansas. He was a member of the Catholic Church.

Survivors include the wife; two daughters, Nelda and Diana both of the home; his mother, Josefine Ramirez of Post; three brothers, Lorenzo of Phoenix, Ariz.; Coy of Lubbock and Valentino Delgado of Post; two sisters, Nora Soto of Liberal, Kansas and Frances Ramirez of Post.

Pallbearers were Coy Ramirez, Jr., Toby Hernandez, Jr., Freddie Ramirez, Roy Soto, John Soto and Ray Soto.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Justice-Mason Funeral Home.

VISITS HERE

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Ray over the holiday were their daughter and family of Okmulgee, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Don Rose. Also visiting were their other children and families, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mathis and Sandra and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ray all of Slaton.

McCrory calls board session

Giles McCrory, chairman of South Plains Emergency Medical Services, Inc., has called a quarterly meeting of its board of directors for 7 p.m., July 25 in the community room of the George and Helen Mahon Library in Lubbock.

Listed on the agenda are a report on EMS program development in West Texas, report on activities of the facilities and critical care committee, and a report on the activities of the ambulance operations committee.

Chairman McCrory also will appoint a nominations committee in advance of the board's annual meeting Oct. 17 when officers will be elected.

Fluid milk and cream are the most consumed foods in the U.S.—291.2 pounds per capita.

Youthoughts

By TRACY McALISTER

When Tina and I were young, we had a Ma and Pa who would look after us as if they were our own parents. We stayed with Ma and Pa after school and all day in the summer. Our Ma and Pa were Mr. and Mrs. Levi Williams.

Pa loved to scare us. Whenever we got sick and had to stay with Ma during school, he used to tell us horrible things about where we contracted the disease that we had. When Tina and I had ringworms, he told us that there were worms inside our heads, eating out all our smartness. When I had pink eye, he said that I had contracted a rare tropical disease. This disease would make me turn into a rabbit. First my eyes would turn red, then I would grow ears and a tail. The sad part about it was I believed him. I went home and stared into the mirror, horrified at the thought of spending the rest of my life emerged in rabbit pills.

Pa would come home at 3:00 after working all day in the mill. This was the big part of the day. Ma, Tina and I would run to meet him. He would then tell us of his day and Tina and I would listen intently. Then it was our turn, and we would spill our guts. From the cookies that we'd secretly stolen to the cats we had shaved.

But one day, Pa did not come home. He died. Tina and I were not at the age to understand. Once he was there, then he was gone. Ma finally explained that he had gone to heaven to see God. God had called him. It was the first funeral that I remember.

Now Ma is another matter altogether. She's sweet and kind. There is not a mean bone in her body.

To show Ma how much Tina and I loved her, we wanted to get her a present. Whatever she wanted was going to be hers. Evertime that she walked by this beehive in this huge tree, she would say, "Haven't those bees done a lovely job on that hive? So Tina and I decided that we would get Ma that hive. (Dummies that we were.) Well, Tina shoved me up the tree, I grabbed the hive, and have had bee-horror ever since. Twenty-two bee stings that you could see, and a few more that only I could see.

I remember one time that Tina, Ma's grandchildren, and I were playing some sort of game. Well, one of the grandchildren broke something and Ma heard it break. She came out and asked who did it. All of her grandchildren pointed at Tina and me. Then Ma said, "My babies wouldn't do anything like that." Her babies. I loved the thought of being Ma's baby. I'm still her baby. Isn't it great that some people are like that. Able to love other people as much as they love their own.

Tina and I don't see much of Ma anymore, or her daughter Roberta. But we still love them very much. This is for you, Ma.

"Be brief when you cannot be good."

Vegetables, poultry best 'budget buys'

COLLEGE STATION - Budget buys center on vegetables and poultry at Texas grocery markets this week, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt. Also check for economy buys on cheeses - now in exceptionally large supply, she says. Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System. FRESH VEGETABLES - Look for best buys on zucchini and yellow squash, carrots, dry yellow onions and cucumbers. Also, corn, blackeye and purple hull peas, okra and potatoes. POULTRY - Eggs still offer a good bargain for however, cattlemen more inclined to trim their herds, which usually, will bring a supply of beef to market.

Bridal shower held for Marcelia Arnold

Bridal shower honoring Marcelia Arnold, bride-elect of Ed Sawyer, was held in the home of Mrs. W.G. Pool, on Saturday morning.

Forty guests attending gathered between the hours of 10 and 11:30 a.m. Susan Sawyers, sister of the bride, presided at the shower.

Guests were served from a table laid with an ecru cloth over blue. Yellow ribbons with the couple's names engraved in blue carried out the bride's chosen colors. The party was centered with a melon basket filled with melon balls and other fruit pastries, blueberry muffins, sausage coffee and spiced tea served. Silver appointments were used and Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Fred Arnold presided at the shower.

Special guests attending were Mrs. Milton Arnold, mother of the bride-elect of Graham, Mrs. Ed Sawyers, mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. O.C. Henderson, grandmother of the bridegroom and Mrs. Raleigh Blondeau, his aunt.

The couple will wed July 22 in Graham.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. George Miller, Lester Josey, Brad Lott, Jay Hart, Fred Humble, Syd Wyatt, Lane Tannehill, Joe Williams, Henry Wheatley, Robert Craig, Bobby Cowdrey, Jim Strawn, Curtis Williams, Grant Lott, Arnold Sanderson, Bobbie Josey, Mack Ledbetter and Pool.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a vacuum cleaner.

WEEKEND GUESTS

Visiting in the home of Mrs. Jim Hays over the weekend were her daughter, Reba Propst from Castle Rock, Colo., and her daughter, Pam and friend Sherry. Also visiting was her son, Herbie and wife, Ann of Austin.

Rodeo parade float planned

The ladies division of the Post Chamber of Commerce met at noon Tuesday in the Reddy Room and voted to enter a float in the rodeo parade in August.

The ladies also heard a report on their July 4th bingo.

In other action, it was decided to send a representative to the city council to ask for more ramps in the vicinity of the senior citizens center.

Attending the meeting were Joy Greer, Anita Tidwell, Thelma Adams, Betty Posey, Faye Horton, Sue Shytle, Phyllis Morris and Geraldine Butler.

The next meeting will be held August 9 in the Reddy Room.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health

First-time school students and participants in child care facility programs will find out this fall why Texas has a model immunization program: they'll be required to have protection against six dangerous diseases.

Our school children, according to reports from the Texas Education Agency, are more than 95 percent fully immunized against such diseases as diphtheria, polio, tetanus, measles, rubella and pertussis. Protection against mumps will be mandatory starting with the 1979-80 school year.

The success of the Texas immunization program has been documented many times through the dramatic lowering of disease in susceptible children in the state.

An article in the May-June issue of "Public Health Reports" published by the Health Resources Administration of the US Department of Health, Education and Welfare states:

"Along with implementing the school law (1971), Texas has: (a) conducted a sustained educational campaign, an infant immunization surveillance program, and outreach activities; (b) made immunization without financial barrier available throughout the state; and (c) stimulated private physicians to increase their immunization activities. Such a comprehensive, multi-targeted and integrated approach may serve as a model to the nation in its efforts to provide all children with protection from major infectious diseases.

"The challenge for Texas, as for the rest of the United States, is to maintain the necessary levels of financial support, public interest, and professional activity to sustain this success when memory of the epidemics has faded and the novelty of the campaign is gone. In contrast to the monotonously recurring backsliding of our recent history, perhaps the vigor of this state's immunization drive will demonstrate how to consolidate the gains for the coming generation."

The Texas Board of Health recently passed revised rules and regulations for immunization requirements in child care facilities and schools. The rules tighten up some of the regulations and extend mandatory age limits. In addition, mumps immunization becomes mandatory in September, 1979.

Texas isn't resting on its laurels.

As part of the National Immunization Initiative Assessment Program, the Department is checking protection levels to make certain of the immunization status of all children enrolled in the licensed child care facilities, as well as making a broad survey of children enrolled in the 1,114 school districts in Texas. All grades and all ages are being surveyed in the schools through a cross-sampling of children enrolled.

To date, every school district in Public Health Regions 1, 7 and

A pressure canner "scrub up" for home canning operations means cleaning and checking all its parts — to help insure safety and high-quality food, advises a foods and nutrition specialist.

Home pressure canners destroy botulism spores in low-acid vegetables, and proper cleaning is one key to their success.

In washing the canner, remove any stains from aluminum canner with a paste of whiting and vinegar.

For porcelain-enameled steel canners, use water instead of vinegar.

Be sure to clean the edges of kettle and cover thoroughly.

If necessary, scrub them with whiting and water, since dried food, dirt or scale from hard water on either edge may prevent a tight seal and allow steam to leak out.

Special cleaning also solves problems with odor or metallic taste.

For example, an aluminum or tin-lined steel canner may have an odor after storage and a new metal canner used also for cooking may give food a metallic or rusty taste.

To get rid of problem odor or taste, put one inch of water in the canner, add a handful of potato peels and any racks and pans with similar problems. Heat for 15 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Cool. Wash kettle, pans and racks in hot soapy water. Rinse and dry.

Be sure to clean the petcock so that during canning all the air can be driven out of the canner in 10 minutes. Clean the gauge to prevent incorrect pressure readings due to clogging. Clean the safety valve so it can work if pressure becomes too high.

Before canning — and throughout the canning season — clean the petcock and safety valve openings by drawing a string or narrow string of cloth through them. Never use sharp tools that might nick and damage openings.

Occasionally, remove the petcock and safety valve and soak them in vinegar for a short time.

Unscrew the ball-and-sock type of safety valve and clean them after each use. Occasionally clean the ball and its socket with silver polish.

Correct canning pressure for a certain time span will destroy harmful bacteria, so pressure gauges must be accurate.

Check accuracy of a dial-type gauge either with a steam-gauge thermometer or an electric testing device.

As the local county Extension Office for information on where to have a gauge tested.

Once the gauge passes the accuracy test, check the canner for pressure.

Using only water in the pressure canner, try raising the pressure to ten pounds.

If enough steam leaks around the lid, the pressure will not rise. An old hardened gasket may be the cause. If so, soften it or replace it. To soften a gasket, remove it from the lid, place it in boiling water, boil it for 20 minutes, remove it from the water and stretch it gently.

Return it to the lid, pushing the gasket in and to the left, if it seems too large for the lid. This will take up the slack.

Try bringing the pressure up again, and if that fails, buy a new gasket. Generally, they are available at appliance and hardware stores or from the manufacturer of the canner.

Also remember to keep the gasket free from grease.

Painting tips for Art Guild

Grandparents are Mrs. Bobby Josey of Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Huestis of Denver City. Great grandparents are Walter Josey and Bevie Chandler of Post.

US-380 bid opening today

AUSTIN — Bids for the reconstruction of US 380 in Garza County are expected to be opened at the July 13-14 letting of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

The project extends on US 380 from the Lynn County line eastward 6.8 miles and in Post from Avenue S to US84. The present facility has a deteriorated surface which requires reconstruction.

Included in the project is reconstruction of grading, structures, salvaging and replacement of the base, scarifying and reshaping the base, installation of flexible base materials, and surfacing.

When completed, the project will provide a safer, smoother travel surface and an extended life of the facility.

Julian Smith of Post, the department's engineer in charge of the project, estimates it will require about 180 working days to complete. Lubbock District Engineer George C. Wall, Jr. will provide overall supervision of the project.

Revival will open Sunday

Humility The piece of timber was heavy, so much so that the squad of soldiers couldn't move it. A rider on horseback rode up, watched for a time, then asked the corporal who stood by giving orders to "heave" why he didn't help them. "Me?" "Why, I'm a corporal siri!" Dis-mourning, the stranger took his place with the soldiers. "Now, all together, boys-heave!" he said. And the big piece of timber fell into place. The man mounted his horse and turned to the corporal. "The next time you have a piece of timber for your men to handle, send for the commander-in-chief." The horseman was George Washington.

Drive Line

Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q. On the highway I usually drive at the speed limit. What should I do if someone wants to pass?—L. J., Pasadena

A. Move to the right even if you are driving at the speed limit. It's safer to be passed on your left. Trying to block another driver could also lead to an accident. Many drivers have adopted the European signal of flashing their lights at the car ahead to remind the driver to move-over. It's safer for both of you and easy on the nerves.

Q. How can I tell if something minor is wrong with my car before it gets worse?—P. H., Carthage

A. Keep a tally on your fuel mileage. Start by writing down the odometer reading when you fill up. At the next fill-up, check the odometer reading again and record the new reading. Then divide the number of miles you've driven since the last fill-up by the number of gallons it takes to fill the tank again. The result will be your total mileage for that tankful.

A car will get better mileage on the highway than it will in town, and one driver may get better mileage than another. But any drastic change in your car's normal mileage is an indication that something is wrong, even though it may mean just a tune-up. An out-of-tune engine will use about 15 per cent more fuel than a well-tuned one.

Q. Is it true that steel-belted radial tires can't be used for high speed driving?—S. R., Quitman

A. No. There were some problems with domestically produced steel radials that led to bad publicity. But those were problems with particular brands, not with steel radials in general. Good, high-quality steel radials will last longer and provide better traction than any other tire. With proper inflation, they also will increase fuel mileage.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas legislators headed back to their desks at Austin this week for a special session on tax relief.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who called the session for high noon July 10, said he anticipates it will result in "hundreds of millions of dollars" in effective tax reductions.

The meeting followed weeks of speculation in the wake of California's adoption of controversial Proposition 13 slashing that state's property taxes 57 percent.

Briscoe emphasized his particular fondness for a provision of the California initiative proposal requiring two-thirds legislative approval of any state tax bills.

House Speaker Bill Clayton, meanwhile, preferred a limit on state and local government taxation and controls on the growth of the state's budget, with allowances for inflation and population growth.

Briscoe got no sympathy from Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby on the two-thirds requirement or another plan to dedicate $1.9 billion in state sales tax revenue to local school districts which slash their property taxes sharply.

Hobby expressed doubt the Senate would ever go for the two-thirds majority restriction, since the House hasn't passed a tax bill in 20 years by that margin.

Among proposals suggested for legislators' consideration:

—Repeal of the four percent state sales tax on home utility bills ($122 million a year).

—Raising the inheritance tax exemption. ($15 million a year).

—Repeal of the state property tax for college building purposes.

—Allowing taxation of farm and ranch lands on the basis of productivity rather than market values.

—Further homestead exemptions for the elderly.

Up the Water Bills?
A proposed federal regulation may cause increases of up to 70 percent in Texas water bills, a governor's task force on water conservation and development was told.

The proposal calls for removal of organic complexes from municipal water supplies.

Organic complexes are created when chlorine is mixed with raw water containing organic material.

The Texas Department of Water Resources said whether the complexes (trihalo-methanes) cause cancer is under debate.

Dallas estimated a 70 percent jump in water bills if activated carbon filters must be installed. Houston estimated treatment costs would raise bills there about 40 percent.

Bootlegging Costly
Cigarette bootlegging is costing the state about $21 million a year in lost tax revenue, according to the state comptroller's office.

Another $22 million is lost through exemption from tax ation of cigarettes sold on military bases.

There's little "organized crime" involved, according to a comptroller's enforcement officer. Violations reportedly are mainly the work of individuals.

Tobacco taxes accounted for $288 million in state revenue last year—bulk of the income from the 18.5 cent a pack levy on cigarettes.

Federal authorities are concerned with taking of tax-free cigarettes from bonded warehouses along the border back into Texas for sale.

Courts Speak
A Dallas judge overstepped the constitution in ordering a divorced mother to take her daughters to Sunday school and church, the State Supreme Court held.

In other recent opinions the high court:

—Affirmed lower court findings that a Dallas doctor was not liable in a malpractice suit complaining that treatment with drugs of a girl for over-weight and high blood pressure caused her nausea.

—Reversed lower courts who had awarded $87,000 to the family of a tire test driver who was killed when a tire blew out on his tractor-trailer.

—Agreed with an intermediate court that a controversy over whether the Webb County courthouse could be moved outside Laredo should be sent back to the county for trial.

—Decided a Houston man didn't move fast enough to bring suit against an Odessa supermarket which claimed erroneously he had passed a forged check.

—The Austin Court of Civil Appeals revived an order approving Independence Savings and Loan Association in Gonzales.

AG Opinions
A magistrate in an administrative hearing may probate the suspension of a driver's license, Attorney General John Hill held.

Hill concluded in another recent opinion:

The Commissioner of the General Land Office is responsible for enforcing prohibition clauses in the Natural Resources Code. Under leases of state park lands, the Board of State Park Lands has such responsibility. Remedies for breach are contained in the lease and state law.

Short Snorts
The AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education endorsed John Hill for governor and Bob Krueger for U.S. Senate and urged election of the entire Democratic ticket.

An illegal roadside advertising sign cost the Smith County owner $1,000—stiffest fine under the 1972 Texas Highway Beautification Act.

Demands for overhaul of the personal property tax are being heard following a Grayson County court's enjoining county commissioners from approving their tax roll until all personal property as described in the constitution is included.

The U.S. Small Business Administration declared Bandera, Real, Uvalde and Zavala counties and adjacent counties disaster areas due to drought and hailstorms. USBA also assigned the designation to Montgomery and adjacent counties hit by June 7 floods.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby predicted the Senate will reject appointment of Hugh Yantis as State Insurance Board chairman, one of many interim appointments by Briscoe to be considered in the special session.

TEEN SCENE

By Norm

This has been a busy summer for most of Post's teens. Some working, some playing baseball and some visiting. It won't be long until football practice begins and school will be starting, ending the lazy days of summer.

Just to keep you up with the latest goings on of some of the kids, here's the low down on just a few.

—Evans Heaton and Rodney Teaff started their summer off right when they visited in New York for two weeks. They made the trip with Evans's brother and family from Odessa. They also visited in Tennessee with another brother and family. They both remarked they were glad to be back in Texas where people smile and are not afraid to speak to each other on the street.

—Mike Tatum and Kohen Josey are in Colorado doing a little trout fishing and enjoying the cool weather. They went with Kohen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Josey.

—Pat Mitchell left last Monday for Port Arthur where he is visiting the Paul Jorginsons. Pat is doing some deep sea fishing and is having such a good time that he delayed his return back to Post a few days.

—Melissa Langston of Fort Worth has been in Post for the last month visiting the Lewis Hollis and other relatives. Mike and Raymie Holly are going to take Melissa home later this month.

—Eddie Baas along with his dad and 24 others went deep sea fishing at Freeport in June. Eddie reported he caught a small shark (but not the man-eating kind) and he almost won the biggest catch of the day award but lost by just a few inches. He had such a good time that he plans to go back in August.

—Charlie Dalby and Charla Williams recently spent several days in Lubbock as guests of Charla's cousin, Lisa Evans. They went to Buffalo Lake and did some skiing and boating.

—Kurt Chapman, former Postite now from Arizona, is in town visiting with Randy Conner and other old friends.

—Giles Dalby Jr., is attending the first session of summer camp at Camp Elkhorn near Taos, N.M. He will return home this weekend.

—Congratulations to all you athletes who have been doing so well during the summer. Bryan Compton, Trushell Marts, Tim Tannehill, Leslie Looney, Raymie and Mike Holly, and all those who were selected to the all-star teams.

—Well, my knowledge has expired for this week. If you've been somewhere, had company, had a party, gone to a party, been to a concert or whatever and want to see your name in print. Let me know the latest.....

—P.S. — Don't forget the dance at the Youth Center Saturday night. It starts at 9 and last til 12. Hope to see each and everyone of you there. KSEL will be playing the music and $2 per person and $3.50 a couple will be charged.

—Chow.....

NEW MEXICO WEEKEND
Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mitchell spent the weekend in Ruidoso, N.M., and while there, they met Don and Linda Black of Calallen, former Post residents.

Alexander attends bilingual academy

Jack Alexander, Post elementary school principal, was one of the 50 Texas elementary school principals selected to attend a three-day bilingual education in Austin last week.

The group is the first one selected to participate in a statewide project which focuses on the role of the elementary school principal in the educational processes of children whose first language is other than English.

The ultimate goal of the three-day academy was to develop 50 advocates of bilingual and migrant education.

Other meetings are scheduled for the group in Dallas Nov. 3-4, Corpus Christi Feb. 2-3, Edinburg April 6-7 and next July in several schools in the "valley."

The academy was sponsored by jointly by the Bilingual Resource Center, Education Service Center of Region XIII, the Texas Education Agency's Bilingual Education Division, and the Federation Bilingual Training Resource Center in Denton.

Alexander told The Dispatch this week that "bilingual education is becoming stronger in Texas."

"The new guidelines which are being formulated at the state level make it mandatory for students of limited English speaking ability to receive bilingual education from kindergarten through the third grade," he added.

He said the law requires that a program be established if a school has 20 or more limited English speaking ability students per grade level. Alexander said Post had 21 projected, but as yet untested for kindergarten in the fall, 20 for first grade, 32 for second grade and 25 for third grade all tested in the LESA category.

"We are required to send home a language survey to all students with Spanish surnames," Alexander said. "The students then will be tested and if they qualify, they must remain in a bilingual program until the end of the third grade or until they score in the 23rd percentile in an approved standardized test and have the written consent of their parents to be removed from the program."

He added that the law forbids isolation of these students from others, thus the Post schools need each teacher in grades K-3 to be able to provide a bilingual program.

Alexander said at present we have one bilingual resource teacher that is helping to meet the needs of these students on a temporary basis. He said several of our teachers have completed institute studies and have received their bilingual endorsements. Two teachers are attending institutes this summer. After Jan. 1, 1979 these language institutes will no longer be available.

ATTEND MUSIC CAMP
Tom, Susanne and Garrick Pass returned to Post Saturday following a week's stay at the Mo-Ranch near Kerrville where Tom and Susanne were counselors for a music camp. 200 people attended the camp from four states. All chores, including youth, adult and bell, were enjoyed as well as liturgical dancing.

Paints For Homeowners

HOUSE PAINTS THAT WEATHER THE WEATHER

If you are planning to paint your house exterior this year, consider these basic guidelines from William S. Rosenthal, technical marketing manager for PPG Industries' Coatings and Resins Division, maker of Pittsburgh Paints. His major concern has been to provide house paints that are weather-resistant.

1. If you live in the ice-storm, snowbelt, or quick-change weather regions, be certain that you choose a house paint that has maximum flexibility and breathing character. Use paints that will endure harsh exposure such as Sun-Proof house paints, either latex or oil base, for exterior wood siding and trim.

2. Before you repaint, check all house surfaces for any signs of blistering, peeling or rotting. If moisture that is forcing its way out through the exterior paint film from inside the house. Or it may be moisture from too much paint buildup, from lack of good surface preparation on earlier paint projects, or from previous use of the wrong type of paint or inferior paint product. Fix the moisture source, eliminate it and repair its damage before applying a new finish.

3. For repainting, it generally a good idea to use the same basic type of paint that was used before. For example, if you used an oil-base product originally, a new oil-base top coat will be more compatible.

4. Currently, most quality paints provide good excellent color retention both latex and oil-base finishes. However, if you live in the very strong ultraviolet sunbelt area, choose an earth-color paint made of inorganic pigments for an extra measure of color assurance.

A THOUSAND WORDS

This baby is different from many other babies. Oh, you can't tell by looking. On the surface he looks just like all babies. He is different because he is one of the 596,000 babies born out of wedlock in the U. S. last year. IMMORALITY is the cause of this tragic picture. God knows and will punish those who are responsible and do not repent.

Construction reported the theft of a two-inch dye worth $250 to the sheriff's office Monday. It was apparently taken by thieves sometime over the weekend.

COOKING

TIPS TO HELP YOU

Bridal Customs Then And Now

It's as true now as it has been throughout history—the kitchen. That's why the kitchen has always been so popular.

In colonial times, pots were made almost exclusively of brass and copper were popular in Europe and early Americans often improved them for gifts, notably wedding presents.

Today, people who want to give a wedding gift that is both practical and elegant are choosing cookware with the look of burnished pewter. This Premium cookware is Wear-Ever. It features non-stick, easy to clean, interiors "SilverStone." The bright-polished heavy aluminum exterior of the cookware adds a look to your kitchen. Handles are contoured to fit your hand comfortably, and they have special hang-up flanges and polished flame-ards.

All of these qualities combine to give the bride tomorrow's cookware with today's appeal.

8-run rally gives Post Teenagers final victory

Trailing 1-6, Post's Teenage baseball team came up with a wild eight-run rally in the fourth, which included a tarantula biting the visiting leftfielder in the neck, and went on to win 11-7 over Levelland in the local club's final game of the summer season.

Post banged out seven hits in the big rally.

The triumph left Post with a 10-4 season's record and second place in the final league standings behind undefeated Brownfield.

The league managers, meeting at Tahoka Friday night to select an all-star squad, decided to award the championship to Brownfield although it still had some makeup games, including one with the Post club.

Brownfield would have had to lose all four games for Post to climb into a tie.

Levelland was leading 6-0 when Post got its first tally in the bottom of the third on a single by Leslie Looney and two fielder's choices.

Post batted around in the big fourth with Doug Hall, Danny Gunn singling to open the frame, Looney doubling, and Steve Shedd singling. Barry Tyler struck out but Mike Holly hit one over the fence which hit the light pole and bounced back onto the playing field for what was ruled a ground rule double.

That was followed by singles by Kelly Baumann and Bryan Compton, a trip

Play again Wednesday at 6 p.m.

Post's Babe Ruth All-Stars (14-15) dropped a 10 to 7 decision to Brownfield Tuesday night in their first start in the area tournament at Lamesa despite the fact they outhit the winners 11 to 7.

Manager Roy Sappington's local club was scheduled to make its next start at 6 p. m. Wednesday in the losers' bracket.

Brownfield, which already had a tourney win over Lynn County Monday night, jumped into a 4 to 1 lead in the first inning when they converted two singles, two walks, a fielder's choice and an infield error into the biggest cluster of runs of the game.

The winners put three hits together with a hit batsman and an error in the second for three more.

Post got a run in the first when Bryan Taylor led off with a single and a single by Danny Wright and an error got him home.

They added three more in the second on a single by Mark Holly, a double by Alonzo Luna and doubles by Bryan Taylor and Ronnie Price.

Post closed the Brownfield lead to 7-5 in the third when Kevin Craig led off with a single and scored on a double by Luna, his second hit. Lance Dunn followed with a single but the side was retired with runners on second and third.

Neither team could score in the fourth or fifth innings.

In the top of the sixth Post tied the score at 7 all with two runs on walks to Dunn and Price, a fielder's choice, an infield error, and a single by Adolfo Varela. Again the final out saw two Post runners stranded.

Brownfield came up with a three-run rally in the bottom half of the inning to win the game on only a single with a walk and two errors contributing factors.

Post got two aboard in the top of the seventh after two were out on a single by David Foster and a walk to Bryan Taylor but couldn't keep the rally going.

Dunn went the route on the mound for Post.

ALL-SOUTH PLAINS — Shown left to right, Mike Holly, Raymie Holly and Leslie Looney who were selected to the All-South Plains All-Star squad and will play in the all star tourney at Lubbock which began Wednesday night.

Three named to all-stars

Three Post Teenage Babe Ruth players were named to the All South Plains All-Star squad in a meeting held Friday night in Tahoka.

Raymie Holly, Mike Holly, and Leslie Looney will play in an All-Star game Wednesday night, July 12 at Mackenzie Park in Lubbock beginning at 8 p.m. and again in Brownfield Thursday night at 8 p.m. against the Lubbock All-Stars, in a best two out of three series with the winners advancing to the state tourney at Pampa July 17.

The All-Stars are managed by the Brownfield coach.

TEENAGE PARTY

The Teenage Babe Ruth players and families will have a barbecue in the city-county park Saturday night, July 15 beginning at 7 p.m. Umpires and their families are also invited to attend.

Story of fouled-up homerun, tarantula

How's this one for a wild baseball play?

In the fourth inning last Thursday night in the Post Teenagers win over Levelland here, the locals rampaged for eight runs.

But that wasn't all.

Mike Holly hit what should have been a homerun with two on base but the ball hit the light pole and bounced back into the playing field.

The umpire ruled a ground-rule double.

Levelland Leftfielder Dale French, 16, had trouble

fielding the ball and the runners kept running.

But that wasn't all of it.

When things quieted down,

Pete Hays, a fan sitting near the leftfield line started yelling at the leftfielder call time and have someone look at it.

French had been bitten by a tarantula. He had brushed it off his shoulder and stepped on it.

Hays kept yelling at French and everybody else to get time called. He finally got the attention of the Post bench. When the play started running out French he collapsed.

The tarantula had bitten him on the neck. French was taken to the hospital by ambulance where he was given a shot.

School board---

The low bid of $56,860 by the Lydick Roofing Co. of Lubbock, Inc., was accepted from the four submitted.

Architect Sanford Whitaker explained by contracting for all the five roofs together the school district could obtain the roofing for an average cost of 84 cents a square foot, whereas cut up into smaller projects, the roofing would cost about $1 a square foot.

Three of the five buildings are included into the contemplated junior high school renovation and expansion project. The roofing will take six months to complete.

Trustees also awarded the lowest of two bids to resurface the south pair of tennis courts in the present four-court complex across the street from the high school.

The contract went to Antoco Tennis Court Construction and Resurfacing of Lubbock for $5,300.

Trustees then went ahead to look over progress plans by Whitaker on the junior high project and selected a central water heating system with boiler for the high school over individual roof units.

Still to come is the decision on air conditioning, although there appears little interest on the board for the cooling because of the high energy operating costs involved.

The central heating system will cost $99,198 as compared to an estimated $72,486 for the individual roof units. But the central system has a life expectancy of 20 to 30 years, compared to only five to ten years for the rooftop units. The central heating system also would be easier for the addition of air conditioning at a future date. The roof units would have to be completely replaced for air conditioning.

Whitaker told The Dispatch the junior high project is still approximately two months away from bidding.

School trustees will still have to decide whether or not to approve final plans for bids, which means there is no final "go" yet for construction.

In another action, trustees employed Phillip Alford, a young graduate of Wayland Baptist College who has been studying music at Texas Tech since mid-term graduation, as Post High School's new choir director.

Trustees also accepted the bid of $800 each for the sale of two inoperable school buses to the Springlake Baptist Church of Plano, Tex.

In yet another action they instructed Supt. Bill Shiver to write a letter of explanation to local teachers on local teachers contracts which have been redrawn by the school district's attorneys.

County says-

In other business, the court briefly discussed renovation of the 4-H buildings recently purchased by the county.

J.R. Johnson was authorized to receive bids on laying of the concrete floor. Other bids will be received at the July 20 meeting. The court also agreed to lease the Xerox 1000 copy machine on a yearly basis and reaffirmed the employe policy.

Suzanne back-

This will be Suzanne's first visit back to Post since her senior year. The Paechs have lived two years in Switzerland and are now living in Holland but plan to move back to Denmark to put their son in school in the near future.

Gun in lounge brings charge

Sheriff Jim Pippin said Wednesday officers have a warrant for Johnny Pena, who reportedly flashed a handgun in the 77 Lounge July 1.

The sheriff said after the incident Pena is alleged to have taken a shot at George Mindieta Jr., the lounge operator, outside the lounge and that Mindieta fired back and hit Pena's pickup but not Pena.

The charge against Pena is a third degree felony.

Reception to-

Garza's Green Thumb Crew assisted Newby in the construction now nearing completion.

In other action the group presented the medal sculpture plaques as done by local artist Glenda Morrow. It was decided that the plaques would sell for $8 each and be available at the Post Public Library and Chamber of Commerce office and perhaps other businesses.

Glenda Morrow told the organization that she was giving one of her paintings to the senior center for donations to help defray costs of the center. The painting will be given away at a later date.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Glenda Morrow, Pee Wee Pierce, Winnie Tuffing, Nita Bursess, Lottie Shelton, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Gwen Boren and Maxine Marks.

The next meeting will be held in September.

Tarantula bite-

(Continued From Page 8) emergency shot. He returned to the game a couple of innings later, but did not reenter the game.

The scorer could have scored that one as the most unusual baseball play in Post for the 1978 season.

Tom Power-

Kerri Pool was introduced as the club's new pianist. The Post Branding Iron, the club's weekly bulletin, made its reappearance with Tom Pass its editor.

Unfair taxes---

(Continued From Page One) called the Idalou school district to inquire about taxes if he built a new home in that district. He said he was told that a 3,000 square foot new home costing $85,000 would be put on the tax rolls there at $18,000. Wyatt said his school taxes here are $707 and would have been only $324 if he had built it in Idalou. He added that all his property taxes in Idalou would not equal the amount of just his school taxes in Post.

Wyatt said the school district did not receive a great amount of increased taxes by placing the eight new homes built in Post this year on the tax rolls at much higher values than of other comparable homes, and that the question to be considered was whether the district was treating all taxpayers alike.

Jack Loft, president of the trustees, told Wyatt that it was much too late for the board to take any action on his grievance this year, that the complaint should have been taken to the school district's board of equalization in May, but that the board would take Wyatt's complaint under consideration for the future.

Wyatt said he realized he "was late" in making his objection but it had taken him some time to study the situation and learn about it.

Lott told Wyatt and the others that a property tax reevaluation here would cost a lot of money and they might consider if they would like a single reevaluation by all taxing units together after which they would have all their property on the different tax rolls at the same value.

The board president pointed out that if property valuations went up, then tax rates would be lower. Wyatt pointed out that Post as a community needs new homes, but that unfair higher taxes on a comparative basis on such homes will discourage new construction here.

Postings-

(Continued From Page One) completed a swing through 45 counties in the Texas panhandle and was enthusiastic about Clement's chances there. He said Hill scored a virtual sweep in the panhandle but that he was told they were "anti-Briscoe votes" not "Hill votes."

Harvey says this is the year for conservatives to "come out in the open" in support of Clements who he termed the best candidate to run for the Texas governorship since away back to Pappy O'Daniels time.

He said he was finding a lot of community leaders who told him they were going to vote for Clements because they were afraid of Hill but that it would hurt them in their businesses to come out in the open and work actively in Clements' campaign.

This has always been the stumbling block for Republicans in the rural areas of Texas where they find a little or no organization because the Democratic party includes both conservatives and liberals although they often produce heavy Republican votes in November.

The key to the November election may well be whether organizers such as Harvey who already is hard at work on the problem can change things around.

Oh yes, for what it's worth, Harvey is calling John Hill "another Jimmy Carter who is promising everybody everything."

On page 6 of today's Dispatch you'll find a new column, Teen Scene, written by Norma Baumann who is known to the kids as "Norm" during her hours as youth center director. You're going to like it because it reports on the comings and goings of Post teens — and they do move around.

City council-

The city agreed to follow the county's lead in not charging city employees who need city-county ambulance service while at work.

8-run rally-

(Continued From Page 8) to first by Raymie Holly when he was hit with a pitch, followed by a double by Hall, up for the second time, to complete the scoring.

Post added two insurance runs in the sixth on a double by Raymie Holly, a walk and a sacrifice by Looney.

Compton started on the mound for Post and was relieved by Looney in the Levelland third. Looney went on to hold Levelland hitless the rest of the way with an error setting up the other Levelland run in the top of the seventh.

All told, 15 Levelland batters struck out, 10 of the whiffs by Looney in the final four innings.

Post got 10 hits all told to seven for Levelland.

Rotary gov.-

He is chairman of the board of Murphy & Rochester, Inc., a real estate firm in Odessa and is Odessa's largest land developer.

Rochester and a friend originated the concept of mini warehouses, which are operated under the name of Colonial Self Storage in nine southern states. He also is chairman of the board and director of Colonial Food stores, a convenience store operation with 63 locations in central and west Texas.

He is a director of several banks and one of the organizers of the Metro Bank at Midland Air Terminal.

A member of the Odessa Downtown Rotary Club with a 30-year perfect attendance record, Rochester is a Paul Harris Fellow and has served his club as president and director. He attended the last Rotary International convention held in Tokyo, Japan in May, 1978.
