

Jail inspection not too tough

Sheriff Jim Pippin and Garza County Commissioners Court Monday dismissed the inspection report on Garza County's jail received last week from Van Cleave, executive of the 1977 Fourth of July celebration to be a good one, if weather cooperates.

It's always hard to follow a celebration like a two-day anniversary celebration a year ago, but the sheriff has booked in a variety of musical acts to highlight this year's celebration.

It's hard to hear this musical act from Levelland and it's as smooth as a piece of professional and it's hits with this show.

There's lots going on in the park Monday as usual, the best of it really is that all the folks getting together once a year and having a good time together.

Warrior Pee Wee, who always gets the holiday spirit, is going to have a holiday sale at the park and books the library. It'll need for 25 cents to stop by the book and pick up a dozen.

At the girls softball game, a Fourth of July game has been scheduled for 10 p. m. It will involve the girls on the four who want to play. If there are enough parents interested, the parents get into the act too.

Whitney, who races both horses and quarter horses, told us this week that he has some quarter horses at Parr Meadows, a quarter horse track on the island which is producing quarter horses for the New York metropolitan area on a six week basis.

He said he plans to visit Parr Meadows track in July when they have some stake races scheduled. He says at the Postings, Page 14.

Federal aid for Southland park

The Department of Interior approved a $6,500 grant to be used with matching funds to develop a park in Southland.

Congressman Omar Gonzalez's office in Washington announced the approval in a phone call to the Postings Tuesday.

The $6,500 will be used for a like amount of matching funds for site preparation, playground equipment, picnic unit, tent and a sign. Gonzalez's office disclosed, Tuesday, the Department of Interior grant was made to Garza County.

County funds new request

Garza County Commissioners Court had to approve a request for an additional $1,200 from Maxwells for the proposed Maxwells program.

The court has allocated $1,200 from its federal revenue account for 1977 and $1,200 from available funds. It already had approved $1,200 for the program with the city with the federal government contributing 70 percent of the director of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

Generally speaking, while the report listed a considerable number of ways in which the jail built in 1973 fails to meet the new state jail standards, the court and sheriff do not consider the inspection report a tough one.

Sheriff Pippin, who is in charge of the jail and its operation, is working up a plan to bring the jail into compliance with state standards in many cited areas.

In the inspection report to Sheriff Pippin, Van Cleave noted that "your jail meets state standards on most items."

"There are of course a number of noncompliance items which will have to be discussed further," the executive director wrote. "Each county has unique needs and problems," he continued. "The Commission will not expect any county to correct every problem overnight. We would appreciate your giving us your thoughts on the contents of this inspection report and suggesting a program for dealing with problem areas."

The report notes the jail was built in 1973 and has a holding capacity of nine. Presently the jail has an estimated average daily population of three with an estimated annual operation budget of $25,000. The sheriff does not employ a fulltime jailer but six deputies with law enforcement duties work part-time in the jail.

The report cites these deficiencies:

The jail has only one single cell whereas at least 30 percent of the jail capacity should be in single cells.

No day room for any of the inmate living areas is provided.

The emergency operation of all doors does not permit the quick and orderly release of inmates during emergency situations.

No provisions are made for communication between inmates and custodial personnel at all times.

Visitation accommodations cannot prevent the passage of contraband during visitation.

A secure exercise area is (See Jail doesn't, Page 14)

8 CBs stolen on Chantilly

Vehicle thieves made "a sweep" of Chantilly Lane here Sunday night, stealing nine CB radios and an automatic pistol that wouldn't shoot.

Jim Pippin said Tuesday afternoon that the thefts still are under investigation. No one saw or heard the thieves, he said.

The losses were not discovered until the neighborhood families got up Monday morning.

A beer cooler was taken from the back of one pickup, carried across the street and the beer and ice dumped in a vacant lot. Apparently, the cooler was used to put the CB radios in, the sheriff says.

Big July 4th all fused

Post's ninth annual Fourth of July celebration in city-county park Monday offers an over 12-hour program of fun, food and frolic well stirred with the best ingredient of all — community togetherness — and topped off with something new.

The something new is the free country music show at 8:30 p. m. by a talented group of touring South Plains College musicians.

The holiday in the park will get under way on three fronts at 10 a. m. with a flag raising, a swimming and diving meet at the pool and a skateboard contest on the concrete at poolside.

Pool operators said the swim meet plans call for as many races in as many age groups as the number of contestants require. Every youngster who can swim is welcome.

Races will include the 50 meter back stroke, free style, and breast stroke for both boys and girls in various age divisions as well as 200 meter relays if there are enough relay teams.

Spectators are welcome. There is no admission charge or entrance fee.

The high board diving contest will include five dives for each contestant. Prizes will be awarded and the best all-around boy and girl competitor will be selected.

Races for persons 20 and over also will be scheduled if enough interest is shown. The skateboard contest will be conducted at the same time as the swim meet.

Entertainment at the Post show wagon in the park is scheduled to begin at 11 a. m. and continue throughout the afternoon and through the serving of the beef barbecue.

A variety of booths, offering food, drinks and games, will be operated throughout the afternoon by various organizations.

The annual barbecue, always a feature of the celebration, will be served at 5:30 p. m. There will be a change of $1.50 per plate to partially offset cost of the food.

A celebrity dunk at the Antelope Booster Club dunking booth is scheduled for 5 p. m. and the boosters to have some community VIPs ready to hit the water.

Cooking of the barbecue will begin Sunday evening at the park by a group of cooks under the direction of Head Cook Jimmy Moore.

Enough food will be prepared to serve 2,500 (See July 4th, Page 14)

40 songs and dances in holiday musical

LEVELLAND — "Texas — Cradle of Giants" South Plains College's salute to country music in the Lone Star State will come to Post July 4.

Showtime will be at 8:30 p. m. in the city-county park as the highlight of Post's ninth annual Fourth of July celebration. There's no admission charge.

"Texas — Cradle of Giants" tells the story of country music in Texas through song and story, from the time Alan Lomax, folklorist, first heard Git Along Little Doggies at a cattlemen's convention in Fort Worth in 1910 to the current revolution in country music being spearheaded by native Texans Willie Nelson and Waylon Jennings.

Songs will include "Home on the Range," the cowboys' national anthem, "The Prisoner's Song," the first country music recording to sell over a million copies; and "California Blues" by Jimmie Rodgers, known as the Blue Yodler and father of modern country music.

Other songs will include "Silver Haired Daddy of Mine," made famous by Gene Autry, one of the first cowboy movie heroes; "Maiden's Prayer," "Faded

Love" and "Steel Guitar Rag," made famous by the king of western swing Bob Wills and his Texas Playboys; and honky tonk son's like "Born to Lose" by Ted Daffan; "Pistol Packin

Mama" by Al Dexter, king of honky tonk. Also "Walking the Floor Over You" by Ernest Tubbs, Ray Price's "Don't Let the Stars Get In Your Eyes," "White Light" (See Texas Cradle, Page 14)

Half Garza ranchers in beef referendum

Approximately 65 Garza livestock men and ranchers will be eligible to vote here, beginning next Tuesday, in the Beef Referendum.

It is not known exactly how many eligibles the county had for the referendum, but it is believed that approximately half have signed up to vote in it.

In Texas over 42,000 cattlemen are registered to vote in the referendum, and in the U. S. over 295,000 producers have registered, according to the Texas Beef Development Task Force.

"We're extremely pleased with the interest and turnout," says J. D. Sartwell, a Sealy rancher who is chairman of the Texas Beef Development Task Force.

"More than a thousand cattlemen on the Texas BDT have worked to inform cattlemen about the merits of the program and pushed for a high registration."

Only cattlemen who registered during the June 6-17 sign-up here are qualified to vote July 5-15.

Tom Middleton, who heads the BDT in Garza County, declared:

"With the passage of the Beef Referendum, the cattle industry will have means of stabilizing our industry and increasing profits for cattlemen."

He pointed out that the

No mail coming in Fourth of July

There will be no mail put up for postoffice boxholders here on the Fourth of July holiday.

Postmaster A. J. McAlister said a new postal policy of not putting up holiday mail applies only to Christmas and the Fourth of July. He added that the mail would not be brought down from Lubbock Monday.

No link of Post cave to murders

Sheriff Jim Pippin told The Dispatch Tuesday that there is "absolutely no connection between the murders of the two Lubbock women two years ago and the unknown person who apparently stayed in a small rock cave just off US-84 three miles southeast of Post this spring."

Whoever that was, Sheriff Pippin said, was either a hobo or some kids, and not a murderer of women.

The sheriff said vandals have completely destroyed the crude shelter after the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal gave it a front page feature treatment with pictures some weeks ago.

The Dispatch, which hasn't seen fit up to now to publicize the cave "mystery," believing it not to be anything news worthy, asked Sheriff Pippin about it this week after the Lubbock newspaper connected the grisly slayings of the two Lubbock women two years ago with last week's slaying of three small Girl Scouts in an Oklahoma camp and with the unknown cave man south of Post.

Sheriff Pippin said he has been contacted by Oklahoma authorities trying to unravel the Girl Scout murders concerning the possibility of a connection with any unknown cave man here.

"I told them there was absolutely no connection," Pippin told The Dispatch.

"There would be no reason whatsoever for a man like that to try to hide in a small town where everybody knows everybody two years after the Lubbock murders."

"That was just some kids or maybe a hobo out in that cave," Pippin declared.

The sheriff did reveal an interesting connecting link between the Lubbock and Girl Scout murders.

He said Oklahoma authorities told him that clippings of the Lubbock murders including pictures of the slain women were found at the site where the three small Girl Scouts were slain in Oklahoma.

Apparently, the murderer had dropped the clippings in carrying out the three killings.

New trial for Walker is ordered

District Judge Wayland Holt in Snyder Monday ordered a new district court trial for Pat N. Walker, Post attorney and oil operator who had been convicted by a Scurry district court jury in May on a felony theft charge after a change of venue from Garza County.

He set Sept. 6 for Walker's second trial before him.

Judge Holt gave no reason in his order for a new trial Monday, but told The Dispatch Tuesday that he "had announced the reason in open court and all the attorneys know what it is."

He said he "didn't see any reason to point the finger at anyone" in the order.

Judge Holt denied that his reason for ordering a new trial was "misconduct by the jury" as the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal had said Tuesday "court sources" indicated.

Asked by The Dispatch if the reason for a new trial was because Special Prosecutor George Thompson of Lubbock had referred before the jury to the fact that Walker had been indicted twice by the grand jury after the court had instructed Thompson not to, Judge Holt said that was the reason.

In the trial, Walker and an oil business partner, James Kennedy of Post, were accused of taking scrap iron belonging to Erwin Young, formerly of Post and now residing in Colorado.

Kennedy was acquitted of the charge, but Walker found guilty by the jury after three hours of deliberations.

The Dispatch Tuesday also contacted District Attorney Joe Smith at his law office in Seminole to inquire if Thompson would be retained as special prosecutor for the second trial Sept. 6 and if so, would Thompson be paid an additional fee, and if so, by whom.

Smith replied that his answer to all three questions were "At this point, I don't know."

Smith said he had only heard the night before of the judge's order for a new trial and had been tied up in court in Seminole all day and had not had time to study the ruling.

Thompson agreed to handle the case at a certain time rate with a ceiling of $2,500.

The district attorney did point out that a case isn't completed until the judge's sentencing and in this case Judge Holt had not sentenced Walker.

No bill for Thompson's services has been presented to Garza County Commissioners Court here as yet, and the court says it has no agreement with Smith to pay the bill, or had even been approached on the subject.

Wanted man is arrested here

It took only 20 minutes for Sheriff Jim Pippin to arrest a youth working in the oil fields here on a third degree felony warrant from Jordantown, 30 miles south of San Antonio Monday afternoon.

After getting the call, Pippin checked with the firm with which the youth was reportedly employed and was told he'd be coming back into town in a few minutes.

Pippin made the arrest of Danny Aldridge, 22, a few minutes later on US-380. Officers from Jordantown picked up the prisoner early Tuesday morning.

Grass planting is authorized

Directors of the Post Community Housing Association Inc., at their June meeting in the community room last Thursday afternoon authorized Mike Custer, project manager, to have the entire area of the duplex rental project sown to bermuda grass.

A water system already has been installed.

Custer reported that installation of storm windows and doors on the 14 units cost slightly more than $2,900.

He also reported that all the units are occupied.

Attending the session were Robert Cox, chairman, James Mitchell, Lewis Heron, Jim Cornish and Custer.

Airport board to meet Friday

The city-county airport board will meet Friday noon in the Post Public Library to discuss construction of a terminal building at the local airport, Harold Lucas, board chairman, announced Wednesday.

Walter Didway new president of Rotary

Walter Didway, personnel manager of Postex Plant, was installed as president of the Post Rotary Club Tuesday noon at the club's weekly luncheon in the community center.

He succeeds Gene Moore at the helm of the civic organization for its new club year beginning July 1.

Other new officers installed with Didway were Tom Power, vice president; Mike Beard, secretary; James Mitchell, treasurer; Jack Alexander, sergeant-at-arms; and Dr. Tom Pass, Henry Wheatley, Curtis Hudman, and Danny Shaw, directors. Beard was the installing officer.

Moore in a few closing remarks before the installation of new officers reviewed the Rotary club year just ending, pointing to the move from the city hall auditorium to the civic center as the club's meeting place at a cost of several hundred dollars in equipment and service charges; the club's pancake supper project which raised $2,500 for Garza Memorial Hospital; the changing of head cooks for the club; and a loss of membership from 45 to 42, although three new members were added during the year.

As the program for the luncheon, Rotarians saw a slide presentation on "prime farm land" and the steps some states are taking in an effort to keep it in food production.

Cracking the A-J's knuckles

If the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal wants to write horror stories on poor guess work by over-eager crime reporters, we would thank them to stay the hell out of our bailiwick.

All the efforts to try to establish a link between somebody who camped out in a strange little cave just south of Post this spring with the slayings of two Lubbock women two years ago, or the three Oklahoma Girl Scouts last week in Oklahoma is just plain foolishness.

One of the local lawmen had a more practical explanation of it: "They're just trying to cook up a story to sell more newspapers."

Well, selling more newspapers is one thing, but starting to arouse the fears of the women in a small community like Post is another.

The subject should be treated very carefully even when there is good reason to suspect a connection as there was not in this case.

When experienced lawmen say there is absolutely nothing to it, why try to scare people? We heard one woman here telling another every time she drives by where that cave was on US-84 she speeds up to about 100 miles per hour.

It wasn't but two years ago that The Dispatch editorially applauded the efforts of the Lubbock A-J to keep the case of one of those murdered women hot enough in the public's eye to maybe find some new clues.

Now we're editorially citing them for going overboard the other way. We heard they clipped our first editorial and hung in their newsroom. We hope they clip this one too and stick it on the bulletin board to remind all over-eager reporters about how no' to get carried away with their yarn-spinnings.

Interested about interest

It seems mighty strange to us that the State of Texas isn't drawing any interest on its deposits which at the end of the last fiscal year totaled over $400 million.

The city, county and school district here have been drawing interest on their funds for several years now in the local bank.

Yet the state with some really big money in some 1,300 banks across the state gets nary a penny.

State Representative Frank Hartung is trying to stir up enough interest in the matter to persuade Governor Briscoe to include the item on the agenda for the upcoming special session of the legislature in July.

According to Hartung, the state is losing two million dollars a month in interest in not requiring interest payments on deposited funds.

Usually when something this obvious doesn't come to pass in the normal course of legislative events, there is a very good reason for it. Proper legislation passed the House the last session but was bottled up in the senate.

The obvious target to point at is the bank lobby, although we have no knowledge as to just where the holding action is.

Of course when you scatter state funds all over the state it is not as easy to secure a good interest return as if you piled them into just a few big accounts. Representative Hartung may be away off the mark too when he says $2,000,000 a month is being wasted by the state due to this lack of required money management.

But why and whatever, the fact remains the state should draw interest on its funds and do the best it can for us folks at home.

One speed limit enough

The 55-mile-an-hour Texas speed limit, with all its present implications, is here to stay — at least for now.

Governor Briscoe last weekend vetoed a bill which would have eased the penalties to those whose speeds weren't faster than the former 70 miles per hour.

That would in effect have created two speed limits. The 55 mile an hour one would be the bottom one and 70 miles an hour would be the maximum for those willing to pay a ticket or two to "make some time on the road."

A lot of Dispatch readers may disagree with us, but we think the governor made a wise decision.

The governor well knows Texas should not risk the loss of federal highway funds with such a devious measure as the legislature put through to take most of the sting out of those traffic tickets.

But more than that, the 55 miles per hour speed limit is the only discipline imposed on American motorists since the Arab oil embargo, and most of us accepted it only grudgingly, installed CBs and sparred via the airplanes in efforts to outwit waiting highway patrolmen.

Drivers alerted to July 4th dangers

AUSTIN — The Fourth-of-July holiday period was the deadliest 3-day weekend of last year. Fifty-five traffic related deaths were recorded in Texas. Statistics also show July to be the heaviest traveled month of 1976.

Mindful of the long weekend and increased travel, Governor Dolph Briscoe asked Texans to rally to face the problem of traffic accidents. Said Briscoe, "Texans pride themselves on their sense of individual responsibility. If they are properly informed of a problem, it is my conviction they will respond positively and quickly. The fatality rate on our streets and highways during the Fourth-of-July holiday must be considered a critical problem facing all Texans. Any real solution depends on each of us taking full responsibility for his own behavior behind the wheel," said the governor.

Cotton Council rips into OSHA

MEMPHIS — The National Cotton Council has registered a strong protest with a Congressional panel about the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's arbitrary actions in recent cotton dust rule-making procedures.

In a statement filed with a House Small Business subcommittee, the Council charges that OSHA's actions were characterized by "double standards" and "abuse of authority."

Among examples cited were: (1) OSHA's refusal to grant an extension of the hearing date on the proposed standard despite the fact that the industry had no advance knowledge of the standard's scope; (2) the agency's double standard that required industry witnesses to file advance copies of their testimony but allowed proponents to testify without prior filing; (3) OSHA's moving ahead with an industry-wide standard while another branch of the Labor Department was conducting studies to determine whether a standard was needed; and (4) the agency's disregard for the government's own authorities who recommended that the standard not apply to all sectors of the cotton industry.

The Council quotes a memorandum from a high-ranking agency official to the head of OSHA advising that there was no basis for applying the standard to the industry's non-textile sectors. The memorandum noted that 12 government and industry experts had been polled on the issue and their unanimous opinion was that the agency would be on "very shaky ground" to propose an industrywide standard.

According to the Council statement, OSHA also was "irresponsible" in stating on the opening day of the hearings that it would ignore the costs or inflationary impact of the proposed standard.

"OSHA chooses to ignore an installed cost for dust abatement equipment of $3.2 billion and total annualized costs of $947 million," it points out. "These are costs that impact very largely on small businesses and the smaller the business the greater the impact."

Citing the cotton ginning industry as an example, the Council says dust abatement equipment costs for small gins would be 80 percent as much as the typical plant's total value.

"The regulatory agencies created by the Congress are theoretically accountable to Congress, but in many cases the Congressional oversight procedure has proven to be less than satisfactory in establishing accountability," the statement notes.

The Council strongly urges Congress to "systematically and carefully" examine the records of federal agencies in order to establish and maintain better accountability.

Library given pioneer book

The Post Public Library has been presented a gift copy of the book, "The Golden Free Land," written by Texas author-historian Crystal Sasse Ragsdale of Austin.

The gift was made to the library by the Alice G. K. Klebert Fund of Kingsville, Tex., which is presenting a copy of these reminiscences and letters of women on the Texas frontier to every public and academic library in the state.

"The Golden Free Land" is a collection of personal narratives by ten pioneer Texas women who related their experiences of living on the Texas frontier from 1832 to 1880. Although each of the women speaks in her own words, Mrs. Ragsdale has carefully annotated the selections.

Lewis said signing of the popular aggregation to its first stint at the fair marked the beginning of a search to find a slate of family entertainment to headline the exposition, scheduled September 24-October 1.

Three other shows are being negotiated. Free entertainment will be provided in the Fair Park Coliseum on closing Saturday, Lewis added.

Record cotton crop is possible in Texas

COLLEGE STATION — The 1977 Texas cotton crop is off to a good start. With good market conditions, farmers have planted fence row to fence row, and this year's crop could yield well over four million bales.

That analysis comes from Charles Baker, marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Furthermore, prices should be good," says Baker, "because we have a worldwide shortage of cotton. World stocks at the beginning of the August 1 crop year have averaged 40 percent of world consumption the past 10 years. Beginning stocks on August 1, 1977 will be a low 30 percent of projected consumption. Low world stock levels in 1972 and 1973 preceded the sharp price rise of 1973. Low stock levels in 1976 were accompanied by price increases for the 1976 crop. Yet, those levels for 1972, '73 and '76 were not nearly as low as current levels.

"Prices have been down for the last month because of the expected big crop for 1977," notes Baker. "This big crop is needed badly, but it cannot be big enough to restore stocks to normal. Therefore, prices for this year's crop are expected to average near those received for the 1976 Texas crop."

Library group names officers

Post Public Library trustees elected officers for the next 12 months at a June meeting in the library last Thursday morning and the adjourned for the summer. Jim Cornish was reelected chairman.

Other officers, all new, are Mrs. Ruth Young, vice chairman; Mrs. Ruth Ann Newby, secretary; and Joe Dobson, treasurer.

Trustees authorized Librarian Pee Wee Pierce to purchase a new card catalog cabinet for the library plus a base for the present cabinet.

The library's growing book collection necessitates expansion into a second cabinet for a file on the books.

Texas forecast: 30 days of dry weather

COLLEGE STATION — Texas farmers and ranchers, the next few weeks will hold nothing new as far as the weather is concerned if the National Weather Service officials are right in their forecasts. Nearly all of Texas is expected to have below normal precipitation for the period of mid-June through mid-July, according to the National Weather Service. On the temperature side, the mercury should climb to above normal levels for the northern half of the state while southern and western sections should experience near normal temperatures. The hot, dry weather that prevailed for several weeks and that is in the forecast for the next 30 days will have a marked effect on the state's agriculture notes the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Crops in eastern sections, particularly have been suffering from lack of moisture although recent rains have provided some relief. Another month of dry weather could cause serious losses in areas where moisture is already short. Additional hay cuttings will also be at a minimum should the dry conditions persist, and forage for livestock grazing will be limited. Some increase in livestock market is already under way due to poor grazing conditions. Even in areas where moisture is still generally adequate, surface moisture is depleted rapidly during periods of hot, dry weather, so all of the state's dryland agriculture could be suffering by mid-July if the weather forecasts hold up, notes the Extension Service. On the positive side, the hot, dry weather should allow field operations to move forward and should help producers keep up with spray programs to control crop insects and diseases. Looking down the road, the National Weather Service sees some reprieve from the hot, dry conditions in late July and August. With a general idea of the type of weather in store, Texas farmers and ranchers must pay particular attention to all management aspects so as to meet their production objectives.

Cards, Sox clash tonight with title at stake

Two teams to finish scoreless standoff

In the most dramatic finish of the Post Little League baseball season in many a year, the Post Fire Department Cardinals and the George R. Brown Red Sox will clash tonight at 6 p. m. for the 1977 championship.

It won't be a full game either — just the amount of innings it takes to finish a scoreless standoff which went the first seven innings last Thursday night.

A Card victory will clinch a title repeat for Manager Ronnie Dunn's team. A Red Sox triumph will move the current second place Sox into a title tie with the Cards in the final standings and the two teams will be crowned co-champions.

The game will be finished from the point it was halted by the 9:30 rule last Thursday night — after it had already gone one dramatic extra inning with both team threatening to get the winning run across in that final frame.

The Cards managed three hits, two by Catcher David Farquhar and the other by Pitcher Tim Tannehill, and Manager Emmett Shedd's Sox got only two, both by Second Sacker Richard Cisneros.

Milton Williams of the Sox and Tannehill locked in a real mound duel for six innings.

In the extra frame, Cisneros was moved to the mound for the Cards and Curtis Clinesmith for the Sox.

Most of the tension came in that seventh. The Cards loaded the bases on walks with two down in the top of the inning. In the bottom half, the Sox put runners on second and third with only one away, but Cisneros got the next two batters on strikeouts.

After that, the Sox came on with two clutch victories, clinching at least undisputed runner-up honors Tuesday night with a 12 to 4 thumping of the contending Yankees who going into the game were even up with the Sox in the lost column.

The Yankees pushed the race into tonight's final game by upsetting the Cardinals 10 to 9 Saturday night in the final regularly scheduled game of the season for both teams.

Then the Cards came back Monday night in a makeup game with the Yankees to easily subdue them 9 to 2.

It was the Monday and Tuesday night losses that dropped the Yanks out of title contention as essential makeup games were scheduled involving the top three contenders.

The final week of the season also saw the last place A's rally to win two of their last three games, beating the Tigers 17 to 14, and the Dodgers 18 to 10, to escape the cellar and move past the Dodgers into fifth place in the standings.

The Yankees edged the Cardinals, 10 to 9, Saturday night by coming up with a four run rally in the bottom of the sixth on five walks, an error, and a double by cleanup hitter, Dickie Odom, all with nobody out.

The Cards had an 8-3 lead going into the fifth but the Yanks on two hit batsmen, a walk and a single by Jeff Lamb got three across to close the gap to 8-6. The Yanks managed only two hits but didn't need their bats all that much with what three Card pitchers were giving up.

It was a different game Monday night though as Tannehill breezed to an easy two-hit triumph while he and his mates were cracking nine to thump the Yanks 9 to 2. The Yanks were held scoreless until the final inning.

The Red Sox raced to a 13 to 3 victory over the A's in the other Monday night makeup game with Irvin Price getting three of the A's four hits and walking his other appearance at the plate.

In losing 12 to 4 to the Red Sox Tuesday night in a vital makeup game, the Yanks actually outhit the Sox 11 to 8 but couldn't convert them into runs. The Sox didn't actually put the game away until the final inning when they tallied six runs in the top of the sixth.

Catcher Ben Ayala and Third Baseman Joe Samora of the Yanks each collected three hits in four trips to the plate to top both clubs in the hitting department.

Awards will be presented tonight following the finishing of the Card-Red Sox title game and the league all-star team announced for post-season play.

Danny Chisum to Wilson helm

Danny Chisum, junior high coach here under Bobby Davis two years ago, has been named head football coach and athletic director at Wilson High School.

He replaces Charles Seagler who has accepted a coaching position at El Paso this fall.

Chisum plans to move to Wilson with his family within two weeks has also previously coached at Idalou and Spur before coming here. He went to Calallen High School of Corpus Christi last year with Davis when Davis left Post for the AAA school.

Davis a number of years ago was the Wilson football coach.

Unbeaten Cubs sweep to 1977 Babe Ruth loop flag

The Strawn Transport and Acid Cubs were easily the class of the Post Babe Ruth League title as they captured the championship this week with an unbeaten string of nine victories. They topped it off Tuesday night in their final game by lambasting the defending champion White Sox 20 to 0, putting the White Sox in the league cellar at the windup.

Danny Gunn would have had a no-hitter in that one for the Cubs, but the first batter up in the game for the Sox, Alvin Taylor, cracked out a single for the only Sox hit of the night.

Only three baserunners got aboard for the Sox as Gunn struck out 12 and walked only one. One error behind him put on the other runner.

Entry fees range from $4 to $8 per division.

Entries should be made as soon as possible as some divisions may be closed before the entry deadline July 25, if the bracket would be too large due to limited court space.

Entries should be mailed to Post Tennis Club, P. O. Box 296, Post, Texas 79356.

For further information, those interested may call Jerry Johnson, junior and high school tourney director, 495-2668; or county directors, Arnold Sanderson 806-629-4272; Dan Lamb 495-2003 or Preston Poole, 495-2015.

enough players Saturday night.

Scott Walker hit a home-run and a double, scored twice and drove two across in leading the Braves to a 9 to 4 win over the White Sox Saturday night. Alonza Luna and Lance Dunn also got a pair of hits for the winners, one by Dunn being a triple.

The Cubs had a six-run third to defeat the Braves 7 to 2 last Thursday night with a homerun by Jackie Stelzer the big blow in the big inning.

Jimmy Pruitt hurled a four-hitter for the winners.

Anyone interested in entering two track meets scheduled in July are asked to contact Lane Tannehill at 495-2178. The first meet is scheduled in Borger, July 9, and the second at Lubbock Taff July 16.

Meanwhile the Cubs were swatting out an assortment of 13 hits, scoring in every inning but the first and wrapping it up with an 11-run rally in the fifth.

The Cubs won three in the final week down the stretch, including a forfeit from the Indians who didn't have

The White Sox did salvage one victory that final week, whacking the Indians, 13 to 3, last Thursday night with Chris Hall holding the losers to three hits and shutting them out except for a three-run fifth.

The Sox pounded out 12 hits, and had a seven-run rally in the sixth when they batted around — and then some.

Rangers are Minor champs

The Rangers are the Post Minor League champions for 1977. They wound up the league season Saturday night with a 25 to 5 plastering of the Texans.

Three teams were knotted for the lead with 2-1 marks two weeks back, but the Rangers swept their last three games while the Mets and Texans were each losing two out of their last three starts.

All the games down the stretch were close with only the Rangers final victory a runaway.

The Colts salvaged their only victory of the season in edging the Texans 13 to 12 June 17.

The championship trophy will be presented to Lewis Holly, sponsor of the Rangers, at tonight's Little League award presentations.

GEARING UP AGAIN
Officials of the Diapause Boll Weevil Control program, now in its 13th year of operation, are gearing up for 1977 activities and are optimistic that boll weevil numbers in Texas High Plains cotton fields will be significantly reduced from last year's record infestation levels.

Dr. James F. Leser, area entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Lubbock, says that heavy spring rains delayed cotton planting in the control zone which in turn set the control program's mapping operations back three weeks, but that all the signs point to another successful program.

"According to trapping information we are receiving from Ronney Edwards of the USDA's Plant Protection and Quarantine office in Crosbyton, fewer boll weevils are being caught this year than were captured last year," says Leser. "Not only are trap catches as a whole reduced from last year, but also fewer weevils are being caught in traps in counties within the control zone than outside that area, indicating that 1976's spray program was a success."

The Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program is administered by Plains Cotton Growers and USDA's Plant Protection and Quarantine Service. Operations were begun in 1964 to prevent the westward spread of the boll weevil from its overwintering habitat in the Rolling Plains. Cotton producers in a 15-county control zone are voluntarily participate in the program. The control zone area stretches near or along the Caprock from Briscoe and Hall counties on the north to Martin and Dawson counties on the south.

Leser says that the success of the program depends on the close cooperation of several agencies. Leadership is provided by Ed Dean, director of field services for PCG, and Roy Moritz, local PP&Q officer in charge.

"A new program year begins with the mapping of every field in the infested area throughout the control zone," says Leser. "Each field is drawn as close to scale, shape and acreage as possible, then colored and numbered."

"Such maps are used extensively by surveyors who enter each field on a weekly basis to determine the location and degree of boll weevil and bollworm infestations," Leser adds.

"They are also used to direct the aerial applicators to locations which need treatment."

Leser says that while routine surveys will not begin until later in the summer, Extension's evaluation of the program's effectiveness has already begun. "We have selected fields within and outside the control zone and have just started monitoring them for insects and damage," he adds. "Scouts will continue to survey these fields until the first freeze."

"In addition to the program evaluation, cotton variety demonstrations are also underway in Dickens and Kent counties," Leser says. "We are paying particular attention to the effectiveness of the newer short-season cotton varieties as a management tool for controlling boll weevils. Dr. James R. Supak, area agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Lubbock, will work very closely with these tests."

Dr. Don Rummel, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, will again conduct boll weevil trap studies. Research is also continuing to see if Dimilin, which is a material that reduces boll weevil egg hatch, will fit into pest management schemes. "Dimilin performed well in tests last year," Leser added.

Crop acreage reports due

"As soon as farmers begin reporting their 1977 acreage of all program crops, we will begin visiting farms on a random basis to spot check the reports," Joe Barnes, county executive director, said.

ASCS is requesting acreage reports from all farmers this year because 1977 crop data may be needed to determine 1978 set-aside requirements if there is a need to set-aside land from productions. Congress is now considering legislation which would change the basis for benefits from allotments to planted acres.

Farmers who have planted acreage in 1977-crop wheat, corn, grain sorghum or barley, and fail to report such acreage may be ineligible for program benefits in 1978.

Happy Birthday

VISITS GRANDFATHER
Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Baumann and family were in Lubbock over the weekend visiting her grandfather, Tye Hildreth, who is seriously ill.

LUBBOCK — It is hard to believe President Carter would carry out his threat to veto the Senate-passed farm bill because of "excessive cost," states Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers Inc.

"And if he does," Johnson says, "It will be a direct contradiction of his pre-election campaign promises and will destroy the Carter image that bought the farm vote last November."

Carter has indicated he may veto any farm bill with an annual estimated commodity support program cost substantially exceeding the arbitrary figure of $2 billion. The administration, operating on the illogical assumption of favorable crop production weather for each of the five years of the bill's duration, sets cost of the Senate farm law at an average $3.9 billion per year.

The Senate Ag Committee, acknowledging the high probability of variable weather during the five-year period, says the average cost is more likely to be in the neighborhood of $2 billion.

Moreover, as Committee Chairman Herman Talmadge of Georgia pointed out in his presentation of the bill, nearly a third of the commodity cost figure consists of crop loans, most if not all of which will be paid by producers or recovered by the government when the commodities are sold.

Talmadge also pointed out the inconsistency of the President, "quibbling" over a $2 billion or even $4 billion government program to assure the economic health of the nation's biggest industry while signing "with such pride and fanfare" the recently enacted economic stimulus program.

That program allocates $2.6 billion for employment and training assistance, $6.8 billion for temporary employment assistance and $4 billion for local public works.

"The most enthusiastic supporters of the economic stimulus program claim the total outlay of $12.4 billion would result in the employment of only a few hundred thousand people," Johnson notes, "whereas the comparatively small cost of the farm bill would protect the much more productive employment of over four million people directly employed in agriculture and another 12 to 15 million people working in closely related enterprises."

The House is slated to consider in July a farm bill with less costly commodity support provisions than the Senate measure, and it is assumed the bill which winds up on Carter's desk will contain provisions that indicate a cost somewhere between the House and Senate versions.

Other federal expenditures cited by Talmadge included $20 billion for natural resources, environment and energy; $44.3 billion for health; $43 billion for interest on the national debt, and an estimated $99.9 billion for defense. When one places the farm program in the context of these outlays, he said, "What we are requesting appears paltry by comparison."

Johnson adds "What Talmadge didn't say but might have said is that without adequate food and fiber, all these huge expenditures will go for naught."

Noted singer heads revival

Johnny Ray Watson, singer, writer and composer, will lead a four-night revival at the Graham Methodist Church, beginning next Tuesday night, July 5, at 8 p. m.

This 6-8 basketball star at McMurry College was the leading scorer, rebounder, and most valuable player for the 1970-71 season at the Abilene school after receiving all-state recognition in high school.

In December, 1972, Watson began traveling across the country, and then across the world singing and sharing in churches, auditoriums, military bases, high schools and colleges.

He has appeared in numerous concerts with Andrae Crouch and the Disciples, and with the Billy Graham Crusade in Lubbock and now has his first album out, "The Straight and Narrow Path."

Everyone is invited to attend any or all of the four revival meetings.

Cattle producers would assess themselves 3-10 of 1 percent (30 cents per $100 value) for each animal they sell. That money would be "passed through" at the point of each sale, but money would be remitted only at the time the animal is slaughtered.

The funds would be sent to a national beef board, administered by 68 cattle producers from the major cattle producing states.

"The 68 producers will be nominated by cattle organizations in each state. The nominees will be selected from these associations either by a membership election or through appointment by the directors of each group," Middleton points out. The Secretary of Agriculture will confirm the appointees and assure that the funds are properly invested in accordance with the law, he adds.

"In order for the referendum to be valid at least 50 percent of those who registered must return to their ASCS office and vote. Then, at least two-thirds of those voting must vote "yes" before the program will be put into effect," the Garza chairman said.

"This may be the last opportunity that producers have to vote on a self-help program," concludes Middleton. "So we urge every producer who registered to return and vote 'yes' for a more profitable beef industry."

The show will be staged in SPC's new Shomobile.

present the only quarter horses owned by New Yorkers are for riding purposes, but once they get a good look at quarter horse sprint racing, he figures they will be developing quarterhorse racing stables in the East too. # JULY 4TH

A Time to Repledge Ourselves . . .

Born of a revolution, this country began with a pledge: Liberty and justice for all. Now . . . over 200 years later . . . We, the American people, are still striving for these goals. It's easy to find fault . . . but it takes dedication and unity to bring about changes, as our forefathers did. We have the freedom now to do it peacefully. Let's celebrate that freedom and honor our nation for what's been achieved. Then, let's join together . . . with a renewed sense of purpose . . . to reach our goal.
