

Post merchants will give away 45 Thanksgiving turkeys

Three Post merchants and business firms are going to give away 45 turkeys to their customers for Thanksgiving. The biggest "turkey" in the community's 71-year history. The turkeys, weighing 12 to 15 pounds each, and 12 of the turkeys will be of the variety.

The Chamber of Commerce-sponsored project, worked out by its retail promotions committee works this way:

Drawings for all 45 birds will be conducted in front of Wacker's store in the 200 Block of East Main, beginning at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 18.

Sign-up boxes were placed in all 43 places of business Wednesday with the free registration continuing until 4 p.m. Nov. 18.

There are a number of specific rules for the big turkey drawing.

Registrants must be 18 years of age or older to be eligible. A registrant can win only one bird. Since most of Post's stores are involved in the promotion, store employees will be eligible to win.

To win, one must be present at the Nov. 18 drawing and have his or her name drawn.

Also, each merchant's drawing will be conducted separately. That means only those who register in his or her particular place of business are eligible to win that particular turkey.

To have a chance at all the birds, a registrant will have to visit all 43 places of business by 4 p.m. Nov. 18.

The Chamber's retail promotion committee, while not putting promotion money in the big give-away has organized the "Turkey Saturday" and will conduct the drawings, which incidentally could last for a while.

Each merchant is paying the cost of his or her turkey, or turkeys. Some are giving two. They also are choosing among the 12 to 15 pound birds and the smoked or uncooked varieties.

These are the participating businesses with each firm giving one turkey unless two are indicated, and the smoked turkeys are grouped together:

Giving regular 12-pound turkeys: Bob West Saddlery & Western Wear, Butler LP Gas, Caylor's Shell Service, Corner Gro. & Mkt., Danish Imports, Damon's restaurant, Glenda's Gallery, Guy's, Happiness Is, Handy Hardware & Oil Field Supplies, Hundley's, Jackson Cafeteria, and Rocket Motel, Jae's, Modern Beauty Shop.

Also, Sentry Savings Association, Palmer Oil Field Construction and Palmer

Well Service, two; Prairie Flower Shop, Tom Power Insurance, Trends for Men, Wackers, Western Auto and Lott's White Auto.

Giving 15-pound regular turkeys: Frances Camp-Texaco Wholesale, Garza Auto, Garza Feed and Supply, Hudman Furniture, Post Insurance and Harold Lucas Motors, two birds, Southwestern Public Service, Strawn Transport and Acid and United Super Market.

Smoked turkeys include the following 12-pounders, Bob Collier Druggist, Prescription Shop, Taylor Tractor & Implement Co., two, Terry's Tire Shop, Terry's Togs, and Twins Fashion; and the following 15-pounders, R.E. Cox Lumber Co., Dairy Queen, First National Bank, two, and Jackson's Meat Packers.

The big turkey give-away will bring back memories of yester-years to local old-timers. (See Turkeys to be, Page 12)

United Fund drive for $10,675 opens

Garza County's 1979 United Fund campaign swung into action today with a goal of $10,675.

The organization for the new year was completed at a meeting of new directors and officers in the bank community room late Tuesday afternoon.

Carl Alexander was elected

There are 2,672 Garza County residents registered to vote in Wednesday's general election. According to figures we received Wednesday at Reno's tax collecting office in the courthouse.

We don't anticipate a mammoth turnout. We stepped across all to Carl Cederholm's and were told that 14 absentee ballots had cast to date.

There's an indication of light interest among some folks in selecting a slate of state officials, congressional and senators next Tuesday.

Carl Cederholm expects you have to have a race to stir up the voters. Like we think he said, there are five candidates having a dogfight to become Justice of the Peace. Carl said he's heard something like 145 absentee votes there.

It will be open here at The Hatch Tuesday night with election returns but don't expect too much to be shown as the angle is the state and district totals.

The homecoming week is in store with the voters being given the lead to hold their first election in their new teen center at the community center after the game Friday night, and the "staging" their right door in the center itself.

Two dances Friday night

It might say it will be the "bands" in the Community Center Friday night as students have their first dance in the "Teen Room" and PHS will have their annual homecoming dance in the center itself.

It won't exactly be a "band" as Brown & Steel's significant Disco and Trading Light Show will be playing the music for the dancers.

The new "teen room" at the center and other center improvements had its inauguration Tuesday, but the center is still to accept the dedication.

Applications for the restaurant were broken in the center and the order is being refilled.

There is some question as to when the music hits the volume in both rooms. The double doors between the teen room and center will allow a little sound flow both ed president of the chest organization for the next 12 months and Jim Cornish was chosen as drive chairman for his ninth consecutive year.

Other officers named were Jimmy Mitchell, vice president; Allane Ammons, secretary; and Janie Davis, treasurer. Both Mrs. Ammons and Mrs. Davis were reelected to their positions.

In an election to reorganize the United Fund's board of directors, Delores Dunn, Janie Middleton and Jim Cornish were named to four-year terms, Mitchell, Alexander, Kathie Rankin and Rob Robinson to three-year terms; and Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Adams, Curtis Hudman and Charles Adams to one-year terms.

Eleven agencies will participate in the new United Fund campaign and share its funding for their 1979 operations. Included are three new organizations — the Post Special School, the Senior Citizens and the Tri-County Alcoholism and Drug program.

Director voted to allocate the 1979 Chest funds as follows, providing the campaign is fully subscribed:

Red Cross $300, summer baseball program $2,500; Boy Scouts $2,500; USO $125; Girl Scouts $1,300; Salvation Army $1,200; Texas Rehabilitation Center $200; Post Special School $500; Senior Citizens $1,000; and Tri-County Alcoholism and Drugs $1,000. The Garza United Fund allocation also was allocated $50 for drive expenses.

The special school requested the $500 to erect a fence around their playground at the former "teentown building" which the Post school district recently contracted to remodel for the school's use.

Fencing was not included in the remodeling and a fenced playground is needed so the United Fund was requested to help. The United Fund provided funds several years ago for the fencing at their former school quarters in the Lincoln Addition.

The Senior Citizens were granted $1,000 for two needs — to provide badly needed funds to help pay utilities at the new Algerita Senior Citizens Center and to help finance the "meals on wheels" program which brings a hot meal daily to needy senior citizens.

With federal sources providing a 30 to 70 percent match, the funds used in the meals program will bring two and a third times more from the federal government.

The successful meals program has been unable to finance the expansion it needs to help all of those (See United Fund, Page 12)

Frat chooses Post girl

Miss Sherry Compton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Compton of Post, has been chosen "Little Sis" of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity at Texas Tech where she is a junior.

Phi Kappa Psi is the largest fraternity on the Tech campus and is the third largest in the nation. Sherry will represent the fraternity in any contest or such they choose to participate in.

Sherry is a 1975 graduate of Post High School and is studying for a degree in public relations at Texas Tech.

New super market opened in Post

Rick's Venture Foods, an independent super market managed and partially owned by Rick Loving, opened for business here Wednesday in the former Piggly Wiggly location at 125 West 8th.

The store's two-page grand opening sale ad can be found on pages 6-7 of today's Dispatch.

The grand opening will run through next Wednesday with lots of food specials, a timely tie-in with a Shurline food sale, double S & H Green Stamps throughout the opening except on Saturday when triple S & H Green Stamps will be given, a sign-up for grand opening prizes to be given away Saturday, Nov. 11 and free balloons and candy for the kids.

Loving comes to Post from Andrews where he was associated with a Venture Food super market there.

Sacred music program set

The 10th annual Sacred Music Program will be held Monday night, Nov. 6, in the First Methodist Church beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The program will feature music from all local churches and the Post High School choir.

The Post Music Club sponsors the program with Mrs. Louise Dietrich as program coordinator.

There is no admission charge and the public is cordially invited to attend.

PHS class of '48 to hold reunion

The class of 1948 at PHS will have its 30-year reunion Saturday night, Nov. 4 in the Post Community Center. There will be a supper for exes and visiting afterwards.

Any ex-teacher or other class friends are invited to drop by for the visiting which will begin around 8 p.m.

Father Neyland is new Catholic pastor

Father Malcolm Neyland, is the new pastor of the Holy Cross Catholic Church, coming to Post from Spur.

Born in New Orleans, his parents moved to Lubbock while he was an infant, so he calls Lubbock his home.

After attending Monterey High School and Texas Tech University, he entered the Immaculate Conception Seminary in Conception, Missouri, and earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in Behavioral Science.

He received his masters of Divinity in May, 1973 from the Oblate College of the Southwest in San Antonio and also received his pastoral psychological degree from Santa Rosa Medical Center in San Antonio.

His first assignment was associate pastor of St. Laurence in Amarillo and then as pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Spur.

While in Spur he was also responsible for pastoring Our Lady of Guadalupe Church in Matador, the Epiphany Mission in Jayton and established the Catholic Church in Turkey, Tex.

Father Neyland was a member of the Ministerial Alliance of all four towns where he pastored and has been a member of SPAG on the Criminal Justice and Advisory Council for the last six years (and has just been reelected for five more years).

Voters decisions to come Tuesday

Ballot big one

Extra large ballots — 16 1/2 inches wide and 23 inches long — will be placed in Garza voters hands Tuesday to help record the outcome of probably the most determined Republican bid in over a century to win the Texas governorship.

Republican Bill Clements, a Texas businessman who built a fortune in the oil fields, in his first bid for public office opposes Democratic Attorney-General John Hill for the state's top political prize.

Strangely enough the same general election will determine if Senator John Tower is given another six years in office over the

FOR RESULTS

The Dispatch office will remain open election night to give Garza County returns for those who wish to call. First results are not expected before about 8 p.m.

strong bid of Democratic Congressman Bob Krueger.

The latest political polls show the Democrats ahead in all major races.

Polls will open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. in the nine Garza voting places.

It's difficult for even seasoned political observers to determine whether or not the two races have captured the interests of voters, or whether it will turn out to be just another "ho hum" affair.

There are only eight Republicans on the ballot altogether as opposed to a full slate of 32 Democrats for state, county, judicial district and precinct offices.

Also, voters are offered candidates for senator and governor by the Raza Unida party and six candidates for state office from the Socialist Workers party.

Neither of these minor party slates is expected to have any effort on the outcome.

There also are nine amendments on the ballot, including the widely promoted "tax relief amendment" which heads the amendment portion of the ballot. The other eight are numbered.

For capsule explanations

Architect is Rotary speaker

Sanford Whitaker, Lubbock architect who designed the "junior high project" here, spoke briefly to the Post Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon Tuesday in the community center.

He said about 10,000 square feet of new space is being added in the renovation and expansion.

He added the project when completed will have about 50,000 square feet of remodeled or new space for junior high use.

Major state races besides the Krueger-Tower and Hill-Clements headlines include Democrat Bill Hobby vs. Republican Gaylor Marshall for lieutenant-governor, Democrat Mark White vs. Republican Jim Baker for attorney-general, and Democrat John H. Poerner vs. Republican James W. Lacy for an unexpired term as railroad commissioner.

Democrat Charles W. Stenholm opposes Republican Bill Fisher for the 17th district congressional seat, and Democrat E. L. Short is opposed by Republican Joe Robbins for the state senate.

W. S. (Bill) Healy is unopposed for state representative. (See Election, Page 12)

Costly rabies shots add to dog problem

Dr. Harry Tubbs has added an urgent new dimension to Post's "dog problem."

The city health officer told The Dispatch Tuesday that "drastic changes" have been made in the treatment of persons suspected of being bitten by a rabid animal.

Under former treatment methods, the person bitten had 10 days before having to start taking treatment and in this time it usually could be determined whether the biting animal was rabid or not.

New recommendations are that treatment begin "no later than 24 hours" after the bite.

Dr. Tubbs said it is recommended that the bitten child or adult be given a shot of human rabies immune globulin, which has recently become available but is still quite expensive.

The physician told The Dispatch that a shot for a 200-pound man — the amount varies with the size of the individual — would cost $372 for the single shot.

Not only that but it also is recommended that the bitten person be given a series (See Dog problem, Page 12)

Post man is held in slaying of wife

William Reed, 78-year-old Post Negro, is being held in Garza County jail charged with the murder of his wife, Alberta, 68, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Reed was slain in the Reed home, 202 North Avenue H, about 4:20 p. m. by a shotgun blast to the side of her face.

Sheriff Pippin told The Dispatch that Reed walked into the El Acapulco Restaurant across the street from his home and asked that the sheriff's office be called because he had killed somebody.

Mrs. Reed was pronounced dead by homicide at the scene by Justice of the Peace Racy Robinson.

Sheriff Pippin said a 12-gauge shotgun with one spent shell was recovered in the Reed home.

Reed was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robinson Monday morning on the charge of murdering (See Post man, Page 12)

Halloween becomes 'blazing weekend'

Post's 1978 Halloween was more of "a blazing weekend" as far as the local firemen were concerned.

They answered a three-hour run of eight "set fires" — all of them either trash container blazes or burning tires — Halloween night from shortly after 9 p. m. until after midnight.

But these rather "normal" Halloween activities followed a Saturday night in which the "traditional" outhouse burning on wide West Main and in another part of the city got the holiday "festivities" off to an early start.

That was followed by four tire burnings Monday night.

No real damage was caused in any of the fires although alert lawmen reported a trash fire at 12th and Ave. L which would have set a garage ablaze had it not been quickly extinguished. Even the new trash dumpsters weren't seriously damaged, except for maybe some peeled paint.

Fire Chief Neal Clary told The Dispatch Wednesday morning that he hopes the three-night run is not an indication of maybe future "Halloween weeks" instead of Halloween night.

The biggest trash blaze was set behind the new Rick's Venture Foods Super Market at 125 West 8th because of a large number of boxes around the dumpster as the result of store stocking activities. (See Halloween, Page 12)

On proposed 9 amendments

Those of you who go to the polls next Tuesday to vote in the general election will find nine state constitutional amendments listed on your ballots.

You will do well to give some thought to these amendments in advance. To give you the opportunity to do this, The Dispatch in its last edition before such elections offers explanations of the amendments, arguments for and against them, and very often this newspaper's endorsement of various amendments.

First on the ballot will be what is entitled, "The Tax Relief Amendment." It was approved at the special session of the Texas Legislature this year, which was called following California's adoption of Proposition 13 to provide Texans some tax relief.

Actually, it is a jumble of many things, not easily explained. Even if adopted, much still would be left to the legislature to legislate. Included are tax relief for residential homesteads, elderly persons, disabled persons, and agriculture lands; personal property exemptions, truth in taxation procedures including citizen involvement; a redefinition of the tax base; limitations on state spending; and property tax administration.

The Dispatch endorses it simply as better than nothing and at least a start in the right direction.

After this amendment on your ballot the last eight are numbered.

Amendment No. 1 would exempt certain products manufactured by handicapped persons from the requirement that purchasing by state agencies be done by competitive bidding.

The Dispatch endorses its adoption believing the social and economic value of employing otherwise unemployable handicapped individuals far outweighs any value of competitive bidding on products and services that can be supplied by them. The taxpayers would not suffer any loss because the law requires that the items be purchased at a fair market price.

Amendment No. 2 would allow the legislature to authorize political subdivisions to issue revenue bonds to develop employment opportunities.

The Dispatch endorses this amendment, known as the "Jobs for Texans" amendment. It recently was given the unanimous endorsement of Post Chamber of Commerce directors. Texas has been handicapped in the competition to attract new industry because Texas is one of the few states which up to now has not permitted revenue bonds to be issued as an inducement to industry. Consequently, Texas has been at a real disadvantage. The new amendment provides many safeguards and no political subdivision would have to issue such bonds unless it desired to do so.

Amendment No. 3 would grant the legislature power to authorize cities and towns to issue tax increment bonds to finance redevelopment of blighted areas.

Under this plan, used widely in other states, a city issues bonds, uses the proceeds of the bonds from the amount of increased property taxes collected in the redeveloped area because of enhanced property values.

It's a sensible plan for use mainly in cities. Amendment No. 4 would authorize the legislature to exempt from taxation solar or wind-powered energy devices.

This would be a governmental encouragement to develop new energy resources devices. The argument against such an exemption is that almost all local units of government depend primarily upon property taxes as their source of revenue, and this exemption, like any other exemption, would not reduce taxes but merely shift them to other taxpayers thus establishing an invisible subsidy.

Take your pick. Government today subsidizes a whole lot of things despite the arguments in opposition.

Amendment No. 5 would expand the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in civil cases.

Justices of the peace now have exclusive jurisdiction in civil matters where the amount in controversy is $200 or less. The amendment would retain that jurisdiction and expand it to include concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in civil cases where the amount in controversy exceeds $200 and does not exceed $500. It would also authorize the legislature to further expand JP jurisdiction to include concurrent jurisdiction with both county and district courts in civil cases where the amount in controversy exceeds $500 and does not exceed $1,000.

Arguments in favor are that since the $200 limit on the civil jurisdiction of the JPs was adopted a century ago, inflation and economic conditions have changed so greatly that what once was handled in JP court no longer can be. Also, it would help relieve county court dockets, and also it would provide the legal means for settling small claims that do not justify expensive litigation and attorney fees.

In opposition to the amendment, many point out that the justice of the peace court is an untrained court which was devised when lawyers were scarce and now has outlived its usefulness. Also that expansion of the present small claims court in Texas, now operated by justices of the peace, may not provide the best real justice for persons with small claims as a competent judge with legal training and experience is needed where the parties to the dispute do not have lawyers representing them.

Amendment No. 6 would authorize the legislature to increase the number of associate justices on a court of civil appeals and permit a court of civil appeals to sit in sections.

The great growth of the work load of our civil courts is the reason the amendment is being offered, but there are legal arguments on this both pro and con.

Amendment No. 7 would abolish the state building commission and the state building fund.

The commission was created in 1954 to plan and construct specific state building and the building fund established to finance its work. It's work has been carried out and the commission now exists in name only with its records, property and personnel already transferred to the State Board of Control.

Amendment No. 8 would authorize water districts to engage in fire-fighting activities and to issue bonds and lend their credits for fire-fighting personnel.

This is a method to finance fire departments for heavily populated areas around cities which now do not have adequate fire protection. Lubbock's outlying areas have experienced such difficulties in recent years, as one example.

"I vote we print all tax forms on Kleenex. If they're going to pay through the nose — they might as well be comfortable."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The State Coordinating Board for Colleges and Universities says Texas institutions of higher education must slow their expansion and emphasize quality.

In a 142-page report, the board said no more new public colleges or universities should be established, and that some existing programs are due a critical look.

"Substantial support will have to be maintained and perhaps even increased for colleges and universities already in operation . . . if high quality is to be sustained . . ." the report stated.

The study concluded: Enrollment increased less than one per cent in both public and private institutions last year and will increase only 16.9 per cent in the next 10 years.

Student expenses at public colleges increased from $1,972 five years ago to $2,829 today.

State funds going to higher education increased 354 per cent—from $676 million to $2.8 billion in a decade.

The board further recommended that the Permanent University Fund and the state property tax should be used for renovating and reconstructing buildings. The funds are now available for new construction only. The University of Texas at Austin and Texas A&M University at College Station are now sole beneficiaries from the PUF. Seventeen state colleges benefit from the ad valorem tax.

Save $48

The tax relief constitutional amendment on the November 7 ballot would save the average homeowner about $48 a year in property taxes, according to Texas Research League.

The League estimated savings would vary from $10 to $75 annually, because of the exemption on the first $5,000 of homestead values from school taxes.

According to the League, 15 per cent of homes would be exempted from paying any school tax, and in 30 districts 90 per cent of homes would be exempt.

Net result: a $104 million reduction in school taxes. The legislature also allowed the legislature to provide an additional $10,000 exemption to disabled homeowners and those over 65, which amounts to another $16 million a year reduction. And new tax breaks for agricultural land would cost 589 districts about $48 million while 353 would gain $15 million a year.

Grant Offered

Texas Air Control Board was offered a $2 million federal grant to work up a new state plan to control pollution.

The grant would come from the Environmental Protection Agency and amounts to nearly a quarter of the total board budget.

It is linked this year to the required "state implementation plan," which must be developed by January 1, and a transportation control program.

An auto inspection-maintenance program is required for areas which cannot meet federal ozone standards by 1982.

Vote FOR Amendment No. 2 ON NOVEMBER 7, 1978

Amendment No. 2 would allow the legislature to authorize political subdivisions to issue revenue bonds to develop employment opportunities. This amendment will provide an important industrial development tool for local communities. Under conditions prescribed by law a political subdivision could acquire and construct facilities suitable for manufacturing or other enterprises that would provide jobs (improvements and equipment included). The political subdivisions would sell or lease the facilities to the industry involved and use the resulting revenue to repay the bonds. Use of Industrial Revenue Bonds would not increase property taxes.

FORGIVENESS The founder of the nursing profession, Clara Barton, never was known to hold resentment against anyone. Once a friend recalled to her a cruel event that happened to Miss Barton many years previously, but the nurse didn't seem to remember the incident. "Don't you remember the wrong that was done to you?" the friend asked her. "No," Miss Barton answered, "I distinctly remember forgetting that." It takes a magnanimous person who is too big to remember little slights. Clara Barton certainly knew the true meaning of forgiveness.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health

Parents should stay familiar with the revised immunization regulations adopted by the Texas Board of Health, even though school has already started.

Some new grace periods have been added for this year, and by next year at this time a history of mumps or measles must be verified by a physician. In addition, mandatory age limits for future generations will be expanded over the coming school years.

At present, children entering school in Texas must be immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, measles and rubella. In September of 1979, mumps will be added to this list. All kindergartners and first graders will be required to have this vaccination.

One grade a year will be added until coverage is complete. A history of mumps in the child's medical history will exclude the child from the vaccine. This history must be verified by a physician.

As of September 1, 1978, all children between the ages of 18 months and 12 years were required to be immunized against measles. After this year, the maximum age of the child requiring immunization will be raised. Parental histories of measles will be acceptable until September 1, 1979, and after that must be verified by a physician's statement.

"Childhood diseases are an ever present danger to the health of our children even though they are not as prevalent as they were in the past," according to Euel Smith, Director of the Immunization Division of the Texas Department of Health. Smith cites the school law passed in 1971 as an important factor in disease reduction. Diphtheria cases are down from 234 in 1970 to four in 1977; measles down from 8,494 to 2,032; and rubella from 8,409 to 776.

Parents concerned about records need to keep a few things in mind. You need to have an up-to-date immunization record when your child enters school. It should be validated by a licensed physician or public health clinic.

Some new changes referring to grace periods have come about. A 45-day period is allowed for response to Form C-90 which is a note to parents concerning measles immunization.

Most newspapers pick Hill over Clements

"John Hill may be the best candidate for governor in decades. Judging from his record, he should win easily over his Republican opponent, whose chief qualification is money. Unlike his opponent, Hill is not given to outrageous promises, intemperate personal attack or underhanded tactics. He will work hard for the best interests of the state and its people."

— Austin American Statesman

"The more Mr. Clements has explained his blunt viewpoints — even those views we could agree with — the more he has raised doubt as to how effective a bulldozer could be in Texas government. Conversely, John Hill has grown in our evaluation as a man who not only is the best state attorney general in recent history, but also is a man with the intelligence, savvy and ability to serve Texas well as governor."

— Abilene Reporter-News

"We believe Hill will bring vitality and leadership to state government. Hill is not an advocate of big government. Nor is he a free spender. He has pledged that no new taxes will be levied if he is elected. His anti-inflation program is the kind of fiscal conservatism Texans can accept gleefully."

— Corpus Christi Caller

Fryers, eggs, spuds onions 'best buys'

COLLEGE STATION — Fryers at Texas grocery stores this week include chickens, eggs, potatoes and onions, Gwendolyn reports.

"feature" items in the departments make the best buys, she says. Mrs. is a consumer information speaker with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at the Texas A & M University System. This week's price-quality trends are the following:

POULTRY — Fryers are a leading feature in some markets with whole birds the best value. Eggs are a good value, but prices will trend upward, most likely, as the holiday season nears.

FRESH VEGETABLES — Low prices appear on onions and potatoes. Other economical buys are cabbage, winter squash, carrots, sweet potatoes, and rutabagas. Broccoli supplies are increasing.

FRESH FRUITS — Cranberries are nine percent more plentiful than last year's crop. Buy fresh cranberries that are plump and dry, firm and bright. Choose smaller dark red berries for best keeping quality. Present prices for cranberries are moderate.

For economy, buy extras now and freeze for later. Put the original package into a plastic freezer, seal and store in the freezer.

Red grapes have reasonable prices. Apples are plentiful, especially "by-the-bag" in small to medium sizes for lunch boxes or snacks. Apple prices are moderate. Texas grapefruit is available, but prices will remain high until it is plentiful. Bananas and Bartlett pears are other choices, but prices are moderate.

MARKET AISLES — Features include processed fruits and vegetables, peanut butter, tuna fish, sugar and flour.

LAMB — More lamb will probably be available. Features may be shoulder cuts and leg of lamb, although the wholesale markets are steady.

Stenholm in final two visits

Charles Stenholm has been coming to Post many times during the past 12 months campaigning for election to the United States Congress.

The young Stamford farmer-businessman, who is expected to realize that goal in next Tuesday's general election, visited Post for the final two times seeking Garza votes during the past week.

He was here last Thursday night for a reception in his honor in the bank community room. It was given by Garza's Democratic central committee.

Then he came back Monday afternoon with his charming wife, Cindy, and a busload of his hometown supporters making a final swing around the huge 17th congressional district.

"I'm 40 now," he explained in The Dispatch office Monday, "and I was 38 when I started this campaign. It has been a long one."

Stenholm is seeking the Washington post being vacated by Omar Burleson, and has been endorsed by the veteran legislator following Stenholm's landslide win in the Democratic runoff in June.

Stenholm, who has held just about every community position of trust in Stamford, started his campaign with a busload of his Stamford friends who at each stop scattered down the Main streets of small towns or large cities to tell strangers why Charlie was "their candidate."

It worked very well. In a tough May primary, Stenholm surprised the political forecasters by leading the way over candidates from the rural district's "big cities."

Obviously, this week, the way that long campaign started was the way it ended with Stenholm touring the district with his bus load of Stamford campaign workers for the last time.

E.L. Short of Tahoka, the Democratic candidate for the state senate from this district, was at Stenholm's reception here Thursday evening to pay his respects. Mrs. Short accompanied him.

Short told Stenholm that his own campaign — and it was a come-from-behind kind in the Democratic primary — had kept him away from Stenholm's rallies.

Stenholm has a Republican opponent in the general election, but few voters in this area can tell you his name.

But because Stenholm didn't like what his opponent was saying about him,

Stenholm held a news conference in Abilene Friday to correct what he termed "last minute distortions and political innuendoes."

He said 82 percent of his campaign funds came over from 7,000 individual contributors — and "not one penny of support has been accepted from organized labor."

Stenholm called a statement that "I support President Carter 100 percent is political hypocrisy at its worst."

"I do and I will support the President in performing the most difficult job in the world," Stenholm said.

"I fully support his current efforts to bring peace to the Middle East. I agree that we need to balance our federal budget. I agree that our civil service needs reform as well as our welfare system. I fully concur that the multitude of federal regulatory bureaucracies need to be brought under control."

"I have also on several occasions disagreed with the President — on the Panama Canal give-away, the B-1 bomber, energy bill, neutron bomb, representation for Washington, D.C., and the ERA extension."

When Stenholm started out the door at The Dispatch office Monday afternoon to continue his bus campaign, he was advised to be sure and come back to Post once he was elected.

Charlie grinned and said, "If elected I promise to visit Post at least every two years."

He was told Garza Countians were counting on him to do just that and a whole lot more while he was representing them in Congress.

Graham 4-H club meets

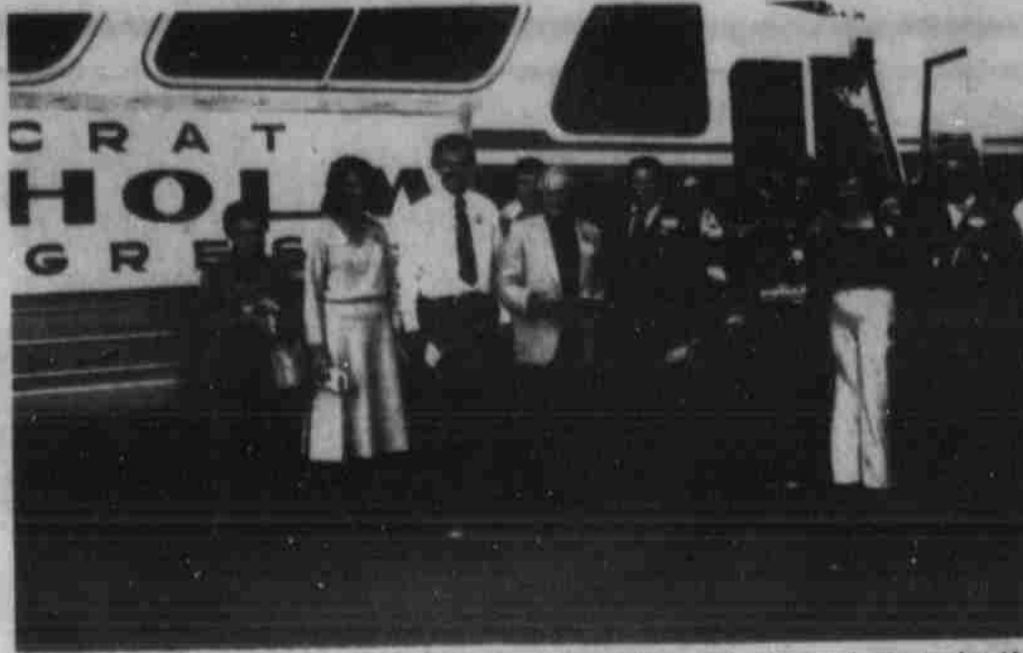

The Graham 4-H met Monday night, Oct. 30 at 7 p.m. in the Graham community center.

Brad Mason, president, called the meeting to order. Business for the evening included election of new officers. They are president, Patti McClellan; vice-president, Brent Mason; secretary, Belinda Fluitt; reporter, Brad Mason; council delegates, Barry Tyler and Roxanne McClellan, and alternates, Curt Cowdrey and D'Linda Tyler.

Plans were made for the motorcycle rodeo to be held sometime in April. It was decided to have meetings every third Monday night in the center.

Refreshments were served by the Cowdreys to Belinda, Russell, and Steven Fluitt, Russell and Ron Graves, Patti and Roxanne McClellan, Barry, Phil and D'Linda Tyler, Kurt Stevens, Keitha White, Rynn and Kim Norman, Lisa and Mike Kocurek, Clay, Curt and Lisa Cowdrey and adult leaders, Noel and Orabeth White, Jane Mason and Diane Graves.

The remainder of the time was spent decorating the center for the Halloween carnival to be held Halloween night.

Amendment 3 gets support

Amendment Number 3 on the November election ballot has received a big boost toward approval with the announcement of a state-wide Steering Committee to promote its passage.

Ray L. Hunt, President of Hunt Oil Company of Dallas who co-chairs Texans for Better Towns and Cities with State Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls, said the organization was supporting Amendment 3 because it "is in the best interest of all Texans."

Amendment Number 3 calls for approval of "tax increment financing" which creates a new financial tool to allow towns and cities of any size to make improvements in declining areas without federal or state funds and without using general revenue funds of the municipality.

Hunt said, "Amendment 3 will allow private development activity to pay for municipal improvements in the development area itself. It is a positive financial tool which can be used by numerous Texas towns and cities to renew and improve older commercial areas."

"Many other states use this system with great success because it is a self-sustaining, self-help way of creating municipal improvements by the use of revenue bonds which are repaid by the increased value of property in a specific tax increment district. The credit of the city or town using this process will not be at stake and the bonds do not count against the bonded indebtedness of the community."

Plans were made for the motorcycle rodeo to be held sometime in April. It was decided to have meetings every third Monday night in the center.

Cotton prices go up again

LUBBOCK — Prices High Plains cotton growers received were around $5 to $7 per bale higher the week ending Oct. 27, according to Paul R. Dickson, Area Director at USDA's Marketing Services Office in Lubbock.

Growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and better staples 30-33, mikes 3.5-4.9 around 58.35 cents per pound. New crop lots of mostly grades 42 and 52, staples 30 and 31, mikes 3.5-4.9 brought about 55.10 cents per pound, Dickson said.

High Plains Marketing Services Offices graded 39,800 samples this week, bringing the season's total to 71,600.

Barley gets 25-year pin

Glen Barley, local manager for Southwestern Public Service Company in Post, received an award for service at a dinner at the Lubbock Country Club Tuesday night.

A 25-year award was presented to Barley by Berl M. Springer, president and chief operating officer of the company.

This is the second of four service award dinners to be held throughout the company's territory. A total of 367 employees, with a combined service of 5,535 years are being honored.

Mayor proclaims smokeout Nov. 16

Mayor Giles McCrary has signed a proclamation declaring Thursday, Nov. 16, to be the Great American Smokeout and urges all Post citizens to pledge not to smoke that day. The Great American Smokeout is sponsored by the American Cancer Society who will attempt to get all the nation's smokers to take the day off from smoking Nov. 16.

ORAY!!! The homecoming dance plans have finalized and is going held in the new Youth Center. The dance will be the game beginning at 7 p.m. and going until 11 p.m. The center is near enough that we are able to use it. The game will be the Brown's Mangift-Disco and Traveling Show again. So see you out there that's asking, it will open this coming weekend.

Following the homecoming Friday night, the Center will open Saturday night at its hours 7:30 til 11 and on Sundays from 7:30 til 10. If you out there that's asking, it will open this coming weekend.

Homecoming activities are scheduled this Friday night. The car bash begins at 7:30 p.m. and continues on Saturday night. The crowning festival will be held during the homecoming pep rally and will even a bon fire Friday night before the final details have been worked out.

One of our local kids has good in college. Bryan told me he got his degree in his college paper. I got to ask him why.

Who ever want to keep a secret, don't tell Daniel.

Don't forget, Happy Birthday to Dan Nelson (his husband) and Danny (Joyce's son), both 3.

Young is sporting a "dent." (Thought I was to say car didn't you?) Can tell you the story.

The band looked sharp Friday night at Roosevelt. I know how they performed so well due to the fact that some of the members had been to a pep party for Jerri's Thursday night and me they didn't shut their eyes all night long. The involved were Gayle, Jana Terry, Patti Allan, Starlet Riedel, Davis and Vickie.

REV. JOE NORTON, Guest Speaker
CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
 10th & K Post, Texas

The future of Texas is in your hands.

Bill Clements is a part of this great state. Texas has a great future, but that future is only as bright as the man who's in charge. The time has come to elect a proven businessman, a leader, and not just another politician.

We must control inflation and taxes.
 Bill Clements knows how. With less government in Austin, not more. With reorganization and sound planning as alternatives to increased spending. With the elimination of unnecessary and excessive taxes.

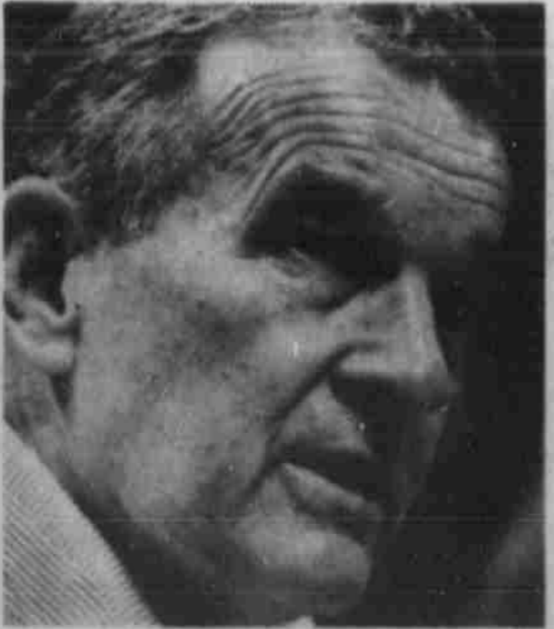

We must solve our energy problems.
 Federal control of Texas' gas and oil will destroy our state's economy for the benefit of the East and the North. Clements will fight that. He'll fight for an energy program of increased production. He's well qualified because he's worked in the energy business all over Texas and around the world.

We must improve state-wide education.
 The Texas state education system ranks in the lowest third in the nation. Bill Clements will change that. As chairman of the Board of Governors at Southern Methodist University for eight years, he has been an innovator in education. He knows the children of Texas are our most valuable resource.

We must have a strong spokesman in Washington.
 Washington doesn't understand farmers, ranchers, or Texas. Bill Clements is one person who can do something about it. He knows Washington. And, Washington knows him. As Deputy Secretary of Defense he managed the Defense Department for four years starting in 1973, and was responsible for the Pentagon's $100 billion a year budget and 3,000,000 employees.

He commanded respect—the one thing Texas demands now more than ever.

BILL CLEMENTS
 A great governor for Texas. $1895

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK — Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, are encouraging every PCG member to go to the polls and vote his conviction Nov. 7.

Prohibited by law from endorsing political candidates, PCG is stressing the need for individual members to become involved in the political process, plus the added importance this year of a heavy farm vote influence on the fate of the "tax relief amendment."

The tax relief proposal will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot as one of the nine proposed constitutional amendments. Designated as House Joint Resolution No. 1, it reads "...a constitutional amendment relating to ad valorem taxation of agricultural property, exemptions of certain property from taxation, and conditions for increases in total property tax revenues."

In addition to farmers and ranchers the amendment offers hope for property tax relief for homeowners, the elderly and disabled.

"There is definitely a need to relieve the heavy and unfair tax burden borne by Texas farmers and ranchers," stated PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson in a recent interview.

"As pointed out in an analysis of the problem by the Texas Farm Bureau," he continues, "the property tax in Texas was intended as a general tax on all property and all wealth but has become primarily a tax on real estate. And since farmers and ranchers own and use more real estate than most others they have been paying an unfair share of the State's property taxes."

Passage of the amendment Nov. 7, Johnson says, will not necessarily mean an elimination of the inequities of property taxation. "What it will do," he said, "is give the State Legislature a mandate to provide for taxation of land used for the production of crops, livestock and timber on its value for the production of those commodities, not on its value for development speculation or other purposes."

The exact method of figuring land value for tax purposes on its productive capacity will be determined by the legislature, and Johnson makes the point that the fairness of that method will depend to some extent on who is sent to the legislature in the Nov. 7 election.

"Which simply means that people in agriculture should cast every eligible vote on election day to assure the success of those candidates best able and qualified to represent their interest."

Turkeys to be-

(Continued From Page One) timers. Back to when the fire department used to throw live turkeys off the roof of a downtown building the Saturday before Thanksgiving — and whoever caught a fluttering, squawking bird, took it home, chopped its head off and cooked it for the holiday meal.

Things were not quite as "refined" then, but just as much fun. So Post's long "turkey tradition" will be re-established come Nov. 18.

Unopposed Democrats for county office include County Judge Giles W. Dalby, District and County Clerk Carl Cederholm, County Tax Assessor-Collector Ruth Reno and County Treasurer Voda Beth Voss Gradine.

County Commissioners Ted L. Aten in district 2 and Herbert Walls in district 4 also are unopposed, as is District Judge George Hansard and Justice of the Peace Racy Robinson.

Voting boxes include: Presbyterian Church, precinct 1; Southland School, precinct 2; bank community room, precinct 3; Justiceburg school, precinct 4; Close City Community Center, precinct 5; Graham Community Center, precinct 6; Post High School library, precinct 7; Post Junior High, precinct 8; and Lorenzo Alexander Community Center, precinct 9.

Bond was set at $25,000 but Reed remains in the county jail unable to make the bond.

Sheriff Pippin said statements were taken from three people concerning the case.

Funeral services for Mrs. Reed are scheduled to be held at 2 p. m. today in the Pleasant Home Baptist Church with the Rev. Arthur Kelly, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in the Terrace Cemetery under direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

Mrs. Reed was born Oct. 10, 1910 in Oklahoma.

Survivors, besides the husband, include three daughters, Dora Lee of Lorenzo, Anna Bennett of Oklahoma City and Dorothy Pringler of Post; four sons, Bill and Charles, both of Lubbock, W. M. and Dolores, both of Post; two brothers, L. C. Young and Bozie Young, both of Roxston, Tex.; and 18 grandchildren.

Dog problem-

With all the expense involved to protect a bitten person from rabies, it now appears more essential than ever to get all dogs "up" by owners and all strays off the streets.

With treatment costs like this, dog owners who let their pets run free can expect to be sued for treatment costs, not counting pain and suffering, if their dog bites somebody, thus necessitating the above mentioned treatments.

25-YEAR AWARD — Pictured above is Postex employee, Harold Britton, who completed 25 years of continuous service Oct. 30. Britton, right, Postex Plant's production planner, was presented this 25 year service pin and certificate by plant manager, Don Smith.

Halloween-

Two of the blazes were around the Post schools. The wire trash cage at Allsup's North Broadway store also was flamed.

Sheriff Jim Pippin had his entire law enforcement force on duty Tuesday night or the "burnings" might have gotten really out of hand.

Besides the fire burnings and trash fires there was some egg throwing. Several "eggers" were taken to the station by deputies and then released after a reprimand.

There was only one arrest — a 21-year-old "Halloween" was booked for public drunkenness and jailed.

Sheriff Pippin had four cars, three deputies, and four reserve deputies besides himself out on the "Halloween beat."

The sheriff admitted the kids "are pretty smart" and with CB radios can communicate with each other just as well as the sheriff's officers.

who are qualified for the hot meal delivery program.

The Tri-County Alcoholism and Drug program will be new for Garza County, but it has the support of the county commissioners court which is providing office space and the services of one federal paid employee.

The program has proven highly successful in Snyder both in the battle against alcoholism and drug abuse. State funds through the Texas Commission on Alcoholism will be available for treatment of those participating in the program. United Fund directors thought the cause was worthy enough for partial support by the United Fund, Cornish said he will try to get the campaign in the next few days. Aim is to complete the Thanksgiving, but late organizational year that will be impossible. The fund directors reached its goal for eight consecutive years but never by much usually early December before it can be

The Tax Relief Amendment reaches...

"The constitutional amendment providing for tax relief for residential homesteads, elderly persons, disabled persons and agricultural lands; for personal property exemptions; for truth in taxation procedure, including citizen involvement; for a redefinition of the tax base; for limitations on state spending; and for property tax administration."
