

BAIRD COYOTES PULL FEATHERS FROM ABILENE EAGLES SUNDAY

Last Sunday, June 5th at the T-P Park the Baird Coyotes outkicked the Abilene Eagles and grabbed off a slugfest to the tune of 13 to 10; it was one of the 'argueingst, games' ever staged on the local lot.

The game opened with the wind blowing a gale and threatening rain any minute, the wind and dust made it difficult for the pitchers to put anything on the ball, also made it extremely doubtful whether a fielder would be able to stop the ball when it came his way.

Campbell, C. F.
Leddeter, L. F.
Sayles, S. S.
Potter, R. F.
Nunnally C.
J. Mormon, P. & 1st.

First inning Abilene at bat: Hodges after having one strike called on him, singled past shortstop; Pool bunted in front of the pitcher, Stapp fumbled then threw wild to first, Hodges going to third and Pool to second; C. Mormon fouled out to Patton on first; Campbell hit the first ball pitched on a terrific drive over Pool in center field for a homerun, scoring Hodges and L. Pool ahead of him; Ledbetter grounded out to Patton on first; and Sayles fouled out to Patton, giving Hatton all three the putouts for the first inning; for Baird in the first; Bouchette singled to left field and took second when Hodges missed the ball on the throw-in; Pete stole third when Nunnally dropped the ball; Olton Pool fanned; Earl Hall sent a high one sailing over the right-fielder's head for a homerun scoring Pete ahead of him; right here the arguing started; the Abilene First-baseman said that Earl failed to touch first, the base umpire (an Abilene Man) ruled Earl out; however after much arguing he admitted that he did not see the play but merely took the Abilene Players word for it, McIntosh the Umpire in chief ruled that Earl was safe; Meadows walked and stole second, when Bennett hit one over center for a homerun, the ball not being brought out of the brush until after Bennett had completed the circle of the bases; at this point J. Mormon decided that he had had enough, and changed places with C. Mormon at first base; Patton grounded out second to first and Harold Ray grounded out third to first, the score at the end of the first inning Baird 4 and Abilene 3.

In the second the Eagles went wild; Potter was safe at first when Patton couldn't quite decide what to do with the ball; Nunnally walked J. Mormon struck out; Hodges bunted down first base line, Patton fielded the ball, but couldn't beat the runner to the bag, so all bases full; Pool bunted in front of the pitcher, Stapp fielding the ball and throwing to Meadows at Home to force Potter, but Meadows dropped the ball, Potter scoring and leaving the bases still badly intoxicated; C. Mormon delivered a nice single to right, scoring Nunnally and Hodges and sending L. Pool to third; at this juncture Frank Gibson relieved Stapp on the firing line for Baird; Campbell who had hit a terrific homerun in the first inning again came to the bat and not wanting to show any partiality, promptly connected with one of Gibson's inshoots and sent it sailing over Olton Pool's head in center field for his second home run of the game, scoring L. Pool and Mormon ahead of him; Ledbetter walked; Sayles struck out; Potter hit one to Bennett, and instead of touching second and forcing Ledbetter he, (Bennett) attempted to catch Potter at first, Bennett threw wild, all hands safe; but Nunnally fouled out to Patton on first to retire the side and end the agony, after having run in six scores on a single and a homerun and four errors.

TO COMPLETE BANK HEAD HIGHWAY TO ABILENE

Another hurdle in the movement to pave Highway No. 1 east from Abilene to the Callahan county line was cleared Monday.

"Plans received and approved this morning," said a telegram yesterday from A. R. Losh from Fort Worth, Texas, director of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, to W. R. Ely, of Abilene, state highway commissioner.

"Will advertise for pavement bids from Abilene east, June 20," said another message to Judge Ely from R. A. Thompson, state highway engineer.

Approval of the corrected plans by Mr. Losh removes the last possible barrier to pave the six-mile strip except awarding the contract, Judge Ely said.

The plans approved were those sent back to the state highway department's office for correction ten days ago by Mr. Losh. The corrections were made and were approved shortly after the were received Monday by the federal official.

Bids on concrete paving on the strip will be received by the highway commission. Highway officials hope to have the paving completed by September. The next surfacing contract to be awarded in this county probably will be for a section of highway No. 1, west from Abilene to Nolan county-Abilene Reporter.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY—YEAR OF 1926-1927

The Seniors this year have been rather lucky in having a peppy class, loyal in support from the school boys and girls and a mighty good sponsor. Our President, Harold Ray, is held in high esteem and has filled his position very creditably. The other officers of our class have done their best to keep the class on the go.

The first play presented by the Senior's "Getting Acquainted with Madge," was a great success, and also, one more since then, the last one, "A College Town," was another success.

All the Seniors took a one day vacation to Cisco and celebrated Senior Day. Many entertainments, banquets and parties have been given during the year, in which the Juniors took a great part. The boys of the Senior Club, known as the "P. K." and the girls organized the H. O. P. Club.

This year the Seniors have had world's of fun and they have also had lots of work to do. The class has worked together and very few differences have been had in meetings.

To our sponsor, Mrs. Boren, and to the faculty, belongs the credit of one of the most successful Senior years in Baird High School.

A Reunion

Frank Webb, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Jack Hopkins, drove through by auto from San Antonio, to attend the family reunion held at Edmund Webb's last Saturday. A happy day was spent by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Webb, of Baird; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webb and family, of Baird; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Webb and Mother, Mrs. Doggett, of Abilene; Mrs. J. E. Malin, of Conyon, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Webb and family, of Clyde; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Webb, of San Antonio; Jack Hopkins, of San Antonio; Nora Griffen and Leland Rogers of Clyde, Texas.

Home Coming of Baptist Church, Successful Affair

It was a good day for all who attended the Home Coming of the Baptist Church, not so many came as we expected, but it was an enjoyable day and a profitable one.

The program at the church was well cared for by speeches made by W. D. Boydston, Albert Chambers, of Fort Worth, M. J. Holmes, W. R. Thompson, Edd Alexander, B. L. Russell and W. E. Melton. The Baird band rendered valuable help with the music.

A good start was made on the subscription to the church, and it is certain every one is facing the task of building a new church, with a grim determination to put it over for our dear Saviors sake.

Dinner, the next item of interest on the program was the dinner, and it was a real dinner, not just a lunch. We had a good crowd at dinner, but they could not consume half of the eats that was spread for them. It was the most magnificent feed that I have ever seen, it just went to show what our good women can and will do, when a need arrives. Several families were away and only a part of the women of the church prepared the dinner. My what would it have been if all could have been in to help. Well we all were all were dangerously full about 2:30 o'clock, when a few gathered back to the church for the afternoon program, which was to have been mainly singing, but the visiting singers bailed to show up and the pastor gave a short sermon and dismissed for the evening service.

I want to say this word, concerning the spirit of those who are most vitally interested in this task, for I think it is commendable: Take the women for instance, One Sunday School Class, is going to raise $1000, they have already pledged that, with a good $350 already on hand. Then the Woman's Missionary Society is giving $600 with $100 cash in hand. Our men are in this big worthy undertaking along with the good women, and I tell you now with such a force and the good Lord to lead and help, we can but win.

The women are having a cooked food sale next Saturday, June 11th, to help to raise this money. Now every lady of the church, I am sure will be glad to contribute to that sale. A nice cake, some pies, some eggs, butter, or baby a chicken, or if someone has some good country cured meat all of this will be nice to give them if you have more than you need. I know every body is expecting to buy something at this sale, so you bring it sisters, and you come around brothers, or sisters, and buy it.

The Texas Outdoor League Organized Here

The Texas Outdoor League was perfected by sportsmen last Wednesday night, June 1st, at the Court House at Baird.

The Texas Outdoor League is a State-wide organization as well as local, for the conservation and propagation of fish, game and game birds. Also other outdoor work, that might be of interest to the people.

The Texas Outdoor League expects to co-operate with all whom are concerned in this work.

The object of the League is to educate the people to the value of the wild life of fish, game and game birds.

The Camp Commander is D. J. Anderson, and E. D. Driskill, Secretary and Treasurer.

Cisco Bathing Beach To Open Sunday

Cisco, "The Galveston of West Texas" is feverishly preparing to entertain Sunday when the Lake Cisco Bathing Beach will open for business for the first time. Thousands of persons from all West Texas are expected to journey over the improved highways to Cisco for a cool plunge into what is acclaimed the largest inland bathing beach in all Texas. While swimming and diving will be the main attraction of the day, band music will be provided throughout the afternoon by the famous Cisco High School Big Dam Lobo Band, and motor boats, fishing, and roller skating will be available to the crowds.

WILD CAT NEAR BAIRD SHOWS OIL AT 1,200 FEET

Another interesting wildcat well that is on top of the sand at 1260 feet, with a nice showing of oil is that of Kaiser & Star No. 1 Gilliland, in the north-west quarter of section 124, B. B. & C. Ry. Co. survey, three miles south of Baird. This is the first well in this part of the county to have a showing of dry gas and this test will be watched with a great deal of interest.

In the extreme southwestern part of the county the Mission Oil company is swabbing an olefaneing out the rotary mud in its No. 1, in section 9, block 6, S. P. Ry. Co. survey, having topped the sand at 1829 feet to 1848 feet and was drilled to 1852 feet. This well is showing some oil and gas, but little is known about it at this time.

J. C. Cooke No. 1 McCoy & Hill ranch, J. P. Collins survey, just west of the Baird Shallow Field, is being plugged at 1180 feet. Oyster & Rife, of Abilene, have made a location for a test to be drilled on the S. C. Pittman survey, in the south central part of Callahan County.

Empire Gas & Fuel Company No. 1, Will Johnson, in section 146, G. H. & H. Ry. Co. survey, near the Coleman county line, is being swabbed and bailed, trying to bring back the gas, which it had around 4000 feet. If successful in bringing back the gas, it will be shut in.

Drew Beam's No. 1 Jackson in section 14, E. T. R. R. Co. survey, which had sand from 914 to 924 feet, was shot with 20 quarts and is estimated to be good for 25 barrels. The production from this well will be shut in until market conditions change.

DISTRICT COURT IN SESSION HERE

District Court convened last Monday with the following officials present:

District Judge, M. S. Long; District Attorney, J. R. Black; District Clerk, Mrs. Kate Hearn and Sheriff, Ev Hughes.

The Grand Jury was impaneled Monday, John Moore was appointed foreman. Not much is doing except of the grand jury, that up to yesterday had reported 4 true bills.

A few non contested cases have been tried, seems like there is not much doing this week. The Anderson murder case from Eastland, comes up next week.

The only out of town lawyer we met Monday was Virgil Hart, of Cross Plains.

TO VOTE ON COURT HOUSE BONDS HERE TOMORROW

Don't forget the election tomorrow. Regardless of what you may think of the result, if you favor rebuilding the Court House, go vote. This appeal is made direct to the voters of Baird, because it is important, more so than you may be aware of should another election have to be held later. A light vote in Baird will be regarded as proof that many people in Baird do not believe a new Court House is needed.

The tax, we are informed that if the bond issue carries, and the entire amount is issued, which is not likely, the rate will be only 12 cents on the hundred; $1.20 on the thousand dollars. Is there a tax payer in the county that is unwilling to pay this small sum yearly for a term of years to furnish a safe building for public purposes, and to have an absolute fire proof room to protect the County Records. No one that ever had their land titles destroyed by fire or otherwise, can realize the cost, some times in law suits to prove title to land. We know of an instance that cost a relative $400 to restore title to a section of land of which the deed was burned with the records in Brownwood when the Court House burned a second time. Court Houses are sometimes burned to destroy records in civil and criminal cases. That was true of one if not both fires that destroyed the Court House in Brown county with all records. Vote for the Bonds, the cost is small on each tax payer.

BIG STORE BARGAINS ARE COMUFLAGE

The word "bargain" is sometimes one of camouflage used by big city concerns who are trying to centralize the business of the country and bring it finally to a monopoly. They shout "bargains, bargains, cheap, cheap," until it seems the words have the psychological effect of making people think they are getting something for nothing, when a little common sense applied to the situation would show there is no reason at all for supposing that they can sell an article for less than it is ordinarily sold on the public market. Nor do they sell cheaper, but they talk, cheaper, that is all.

It may not seem very important to some people if merchandising should be centralized in a few of the big cities, and the home town merchants disappear for lack of trade. But a glance at the local tax lists will reveal what it would mean in the loss of taxes to the local community to say nothing of the loss of improvements and the decay of the town. But outside of all of the draw-back to a locality from loss of trade and the shifting of the benefits of trade and business to big congested centers, there is another and even a more important fact to be considered. And that is the possibility of a retail trust organized and controlled by the mail order concerns. All they need to do to control merchandising is to get control of 33 per cent of the retail trade. Once that is accomplished they can absolutely monopolize the retail business of the country and fix the prices of merchandise, for they will be able to control the manufacture an outpost of goods. They can then offer inducements to the manufacturer that will shut out the marketing of their goods except through the monopoly.

So that is another strong point in favor of patronizing home trade. If you send your money out of town you are not only depriving yourself and your community, but you are aiding in the establishment of a retail monopoly that can and will fix the price of goods once they get control.

As an opponent of monopoly and the filching of large sums out of the people by organized greed, we feel that we must oppose anything that leads to the organization of such things that are dangerous to the interests of the people.

Read the series of home trade advertisements of the business men of Baird in this issue of The Star who are awake to the dangers of this situation and wish to call attention of the people to it by a friendly discussion of the problems through The Star.

Miss Winnie McChristian, of Fort Worth, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Chan Curry.

WORLD'S HOTTEST AND COLDEST SPOTS

Siberia Holds Record With 90.4 Degrees below.

Washington.—Days are coming when we shall enjoy the thinking of the coldest spot on earth. That imaginary comfort may be enhanced by a knowledge of the exact time and location of the coldest known temperature. Verkhoyansk, Siberia, just within the Arctic circle, experienced 90.4 degrees below zero Fahrenheit on January 15, 1885. It was unofficially reported that this same place recently broke the above record with 97.6 degrees below.

However, do not start for Verkhoyansk for your vacation, for the temperature rises to 80 degrees during the two-month summer. Miles City, Mont., holds the low record for the United States with 65 degrees below.

It may help the fellow who must enjoy the sea breeze of an electric fan to know of a hotter spot than his own chair. The Italian meteorological station of Azizia registered 136.4 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade on September 13, 1922. Azizia is in the semi-desert plain of Jefara, northern Africa. The mean annual temperature for this region is 70.8 degrees.

Before Azizia established her hottest day California's similar arid inland plain held the world's record with 134 degrees in the shade. This was at Greenland ranch on the edge of Death valley, where the thermometer goes higher than 120 degrees every summer. Officials at the weather bureau question Azizia's record because the conditions under which the 136.4 degrees were obtained were not certainly proper. However, this may be the American desire for bigger and better climate, as Prof. Filippo Eredia saw the establishment of the meteorological station at the Italian settlement in 1913 and took great pains to insure the accurate functioning of the instruments after approved methods.

Though summer out-of-doors recreation is tempting, the need for vacations is apparently greater in winter than in summer. Scientific investigation has discovered that it is a great mistake to speed up at the end of January while in May nature lends her aid and human energy is increased. We are still more energetic in October.

Nervous America might well change her habit and relax in winter vacations when the need for slowing up is greatest.

Hungarian Fencer Was in 10,000 Duels

Budapest.—Ten thousand duels, fought, arranged or attended, was the record that enabled Karl Fodor, fencing master, to die happy.

Fodor died recently after a celebration in honor of his ten thousandth duel, which was in his fencing rooms. For forty years Budapest duels were held, as a rule, in his quarters. He presided over the many political sword quarrels of Count Tisza. He saw behind the scenes of most of the political differences and society scandals of his time.

His most famous affair was the duel of Count Etienne Keglevitch and Deputy Karl Henck. It was to be a deadly fight, but it ended before it started. The count, very near-sighted, ran against his adversary's sword before the signal for the start and was killed.

Moose Cows Swim to Isle to Give Birth to Calves

Anchorage, Alaska.—Fire Island in Cook's inlet is the maternity hospital for moose. Moose cows are now swimming from the mainland to Fire Island to give birth there to their calves. The island is of small size, but it harbors no wolves and the young moose, when old enough to look out for themselves, are escorted back to the Kenaim peninsula.

The island is one of the most remarkable of the Alaskan refuges for wild game.

Two other small islands near Fire Island, Egg and Chick, are natural nesting places for the elder duck, under protection in Alaska, while Afognak island is the winter home of sea otter and the summer resort for the superb emperor goose.

Hens to Lay Eggs for Apes to Steal

Odessa.—A shipload of 14 chimpanzees has arrived from Africa and will be established on the Soviet government's "monkey farm" at Sachum, in the Caucasus. The commissary of health is opening the monkey colony to breed a supply of animals for transplanting monkey glands to rejuvenate people.

Professor Ivanoff of the Lenin-grad Institute of Medicine accompanied the chimpanzees. He returned from a year's study and experiment in central Africa, where he made scientific tests of cross-breeding monkeys with other animals.

The "monkey farm" is in tropical Russia and has been prepared to make the chimpanzees fed at home. Even a flock of hens has been provided, to lay eggs which the chimpanzees can steal and suck as they do in Africa.

EARLY HAIR BOB NOTICED BY GODS

Legend Calls Constellation Queen's Shorn Tresses.

Washington.—Possibly not the first, but certainly one of the earliest maidens to bob her hair, achieved immortality, in the sky. Look overhead this evening, if it is clear, and there you will see a swarm of rather faint stars. These are the locks which were sacrificed by the Queen Berenice, and are known as Coma Berenices, or Berenice's Hair.

Berenice was the wife of Evergetes, who was the third of the Ptolemies and ruled Egypt about 243 B. C. Previously there had been no such constellation in the sky, but the tail of the near-by lion, Leo, stretched straight into the space that it now occupies.

One day the king went to war against the Assyrians, and fully aware of the danger to him, Berenice was much alarmed for his safety. Going to the temple of Venus, the goddess of love, to pray for his safety, she vowed on the altar of Venus that if Evergetes returned victorious she would cut off her beautiful hair and give it to the gods.

The king did defeat the Assyrians, and when Berenice heard of his victory she was true to her promise, and bobbed her hair. Like modern husbands who learn that their wives have cut off their tresses, the king was distressed at the appearance of his wife with bobbed hair, even though he appreciated her kind intentions.

Astronomer Explains It.

But his anger was aroused the next day when it developed that the queen's tresses had been stolen from the temple of Venus during the night, and he consulted his court astronomer and sage, who seems to have been one of the original "yes-men," Conon by name. He had to explain what had happened, and after due consideration he announced that Jupiter had himself removed the locks from the temple and placed them among the stars. Pointing out what had previously been regarded by astronomers as the end of the lion's tail he told the king that

1,200 OIL WELLS IN TOWN OF 3,500

Everybody in Paola, Kan., Interested in Oil.

Paola, Kan.—On top of one of the shallowest oil fields in the world, the town of Paola is filled with people who either own an oil or gas well or an interest in one. Paola has a population of 3,500 and there are more than 1,200 producing oil wells within the confines of Miami county, of which Paola is the county seat.

The oil underlies the surface in shallow streams and pools. Some of the pools supply oil for 20 years or so and then die down. A pool struck recently in the northwestern part of the county has renewed interest and activity.

Well Costs $1,000.

Oil is found in the field at a depth of about 450 feet. A well costs a little less than $1,000 and if it is a good one the owner stands a chance of being comfortably wealthy. Consequently nearly every adult in town is "taking a chance."

Maps of the field are displayed in hotels, grocery stores, drug stores and dry goods stores and every operator carries his own specially marked map, by which he will show that the development is directly in line with his lease.

Excitement is at a high pitch.

Since 1875 these furies have been coming and going in the town, but none seems to have lost enthusiasm. Employees of the post office formed the Post Office Oil company and drilled a well, the men at the drug store drilled another and the men at the Kandy Kitchen still another. Some hit and some got dry holes.

Orphan Wins $100 As Collegiate's "Smilingest"

Fort Worth, Texas.—Miss Willa Mae Lee, an orphan earning her way through college, won this year's $100 prize for being the "smilingest" girl on the campus at Texas Woman's college here. Before entering college last year, Miss Lee lived at the Waco Methodist home.

As the climax of a contest instituted last semester, Willa Mae was elected "T. W. C. Smiles Girl" by vote of all the student body this spring. Despite the fact that most of her extra-study time is occupied with earning expenses in school by serving in the college dining room, she participates in much of the social life of the campus.

She is president of the Teacup club, composed of girls who assist the college dietitian and is a member of the Susan M. Key Literary society and Y. W. C. A.

Flemish Art Gem Is Sold for $125,000

New York.—Julius Bache has added to his gallery of old master paintings a portrait by Petrus Christus, leader in Fifteenth century art in Flanders. The picture carries the title "Cathasian Monk as a Saint." It had a conspicuous place in the recent Flemish exhibition, the most important of the season in London. It measures only 11½ by 8 inches, but its rank with the best is indicated by the price of $125,000 that Mr. Bache is understood to have paid for it.

Collectors of old Flemish art have set store by the work of Vermeer, because of its rarity as well as its excellence. Work by Petrus Christus is of similar quality and is rarer, his known existing pieces numbering only 23, while 50 of Vermeer's are known.

Americans own four of the Christus examples, counting the Bache acquisition.

A. W. Christle put down the wildcat that opened up the latest pool.

He sunk the first well on a location arrived at by the motions of a curved stick. Some believe explicitly in the powers of the stick and others openly deride it in favor of geology.

Good Well in Back Yard.

One of the best known wells is that of W. H. Morehouse, in a back yard in Paola. It came in 12 years ago, flowing 150 barrels a day. It is 450 feet deep and cost about $750 to drill. It still is flowing three barrels a day. When oil was selling at $3.50 a barrel the well was averaging about 15 barrels a day. Several of these back yard oil wells have been in existence from 5 to 12 years.

Back-yard gas wells also are common. Farmers light and heat their homes, barns and yards with the gas. David McCullough even lighted up the highway in front of his farm with gas from his well. On another farm a croquet ground was brightly lighted.

Two deep wells are being sunk in the field and although the shallow pool men scoff at the possibility of their bringing in oil, they have ardent backers.

Alaska Salmon Yield Brings $610,750,038

Washington.—From the island-dotted waterways of Alaska's thousands of miles of coast has come a wealth more precious, more vital than gold. It is the wealth of the sea itself—of the teeming millions of salmon that have been taken from the bosom of the North Pacific and placed on the world's table.

Since Alaska was purchased from Russia, 60 years ago, salmon has led the list of exports from the territory, with $610,750,038 to its credit—a figure which multiplies nearly eighty-five fold the price Uncle Sam paid for the territory.

Despite the mineral wealth of the territory, the salmon exports lead those of gold by $250,000,000.

Thousands of men, many of them native Alaskan Indians, are engaged in salmon fishing or canning and subsidiary industries. The number during 1925 was estimated at more than 25,000. The investment at that time was set at $55,400,000.

The Miami county pool has been giving up oil for more than 40 years.

Our friend, Homer Shanks, Secretary of the Clyde Chamber of Commerce, seems to be very active against the Court House bonds because, taking his own statement in last issue of the Clyde Enterprise, some people in Baird as well, said all people in Baird want a new Court House, not needed, just because it will help Baird, who care nothing about the cost to the tax payers. We ask our friend, if he thinks this is fair to the people of Baird.

Baird people are depending very little on the issue, one way or the other, but are going ahead building regardless of the result on the bond election tomorrow. Baird has spent more money on its water system than the proposed bond issue and the sewer system nearing completion and street paving contracts let and more to follow, will perhaps be fully as large. The people of Baird are paying for these things, because they are local enterprises. The Court House belongs to the county, and when it is rebuilt the people of Baird will perhaps pay more taxes outside of Cross Plains, than all other towns in the county combined.

Friend Shanks is pretty good on figures, but when he says that $175,000.00 will build 30 miles of hard surfaced roads; why man alive, where do you get that, the 37 miles of the Bankhead Highway across Callahan county cost or will have cost when completed right at one million dollars, or around $29,000 per mile. The $175,000 at that rate would about build six miles of road. We favor good roads and was fighting for good roads before friend Shanks was born, but it required a long hard struggle to get enough people to vote for one after two defeats. If friend Shanks is as far astray on the Court House issue as he is on the cost of hard surfaced roads, he is badly lost for sure.

Capt. Chas. A. Lindberg, famous world aviator, is making the return trip on a government cruiser and is expected to arrive at Washington tomorrow, where he will be received by the President and other high officials.

Chamberlain and Levine, his backer lacked a few miles of reaching Berlin capital of Germany, but they made a wonderful non-stop flight of 4000 miles, the record for air plain flight. They were forced down because the gas was out. They landed safely, but the machine was damaged when they hit the ground, that proved to be a marsh and the propeller was broken. No other serious damage to the plane and none to the men.

WHERE PAGAN KINGS ONCE RULED SWEDEN

Old Upsala Again Comes Into Spotlight.

Washington.—"Old Upsala, one-time pagan capital of Sweden, recently came into the spotlight, after centuries of slumber, when a Christian church which is more than 800 years old, was rededicated," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"The church stands on the same site formerly occupied by the famous golden pagan temple of Upsala, where worship of the Norse gods, Odin, Thor and Frey, drenched the 'sacred' building with the blood of human sacrifice.

Pagan Rites Practiced.
"Tradition has it that King Domald was slain at Upsala as a sacrifice to the pagan gods to end a famine, after the people had offered other human beings and an ox without success," continues the bulletin.

"King Aros, another early Swedish king, was promised additional years of life by the gods if he would offer up his sons. He lived to sacrifice nine, but was stopped by his subjects before he attempted to slay the tenth and last. The old king is said to have died shortly after he failed to comply with the gods' commands.

"Visitors to Old Upsala today who are not familiar with its history, would not be apprised of its ancient glory. Except for three huge mounds, the traditional tombs of the three gods, and a natural amphitheater where the ancient assemblies of Sweden were held, few suggestions of the old capital remain.

"Ostra Aros, two miles south of the capital on the Frysa river, was the royal landing place. Otherwise it was insignificant compared with the royal town. But when the first Christian cathedral was destroyed by fire in the Thirteenth century, the archbishopric was moved to the port city, and shortly afterward the royal household migrated to Stockholm. Old Upsala was soon deserted when stripped of its royal and religious leadership and Ostra Aros even usurped its name. The old capital later became known as Gamla Upsala.

"Modern Upsala, now a city of nearly 20,000 inhabitants, is about forty miles north of Stockholm with which it is connected by both water and rail transportation. Its principal industry is education, for Upsala university is the largest state educational institution in Sweden. The university was founded in 1477.

"Crowning the highest point in the city is the Upsala castle, founded by King Gustavus Vasa 400 years ago. It was the scene of Queen Christina's abdication.

"The castle windows afford a splendid view of the 'college town.' The Frysa, crossed by eight bridges, quietly flows southward toward Lake Malaren. The city is spread out on both banks. The east bank, save for a few houses, and streets that are laid out in checkerboard fashion, is the site of numerous university buildings, campuses and gardens. One of the gardens was laid out by Linnaeus, the founder of modern botany who became a professor at Upsala in 1741. Emanuel Swedenborg, mystic philosopher and founder of the religious sect called the 'Swedenborgians,' was graduated from the university in 1710.

"Fraternities Called 'Nations.'
"Wherever seen, Upsala students are distinguished by their white velvet caps. Each of the some 2,000 students are obliged to become members of the student unions known as 'nations.' There are no Greek letter fraternities. Members are chosen by accident of birth, for each nation represents one or more Swedish 'lands,' or provinces. The 'nations' have their own houses and conduct their own affairs.

"The university library is, perhaps, the most important in the country, containing more than 350,000 printed volumes and 14,000 valuable manuscripts. The chief treasure is the famous Codex Argenteus, a Fourth century translation of the four gospels into Moeso-Gothic. The work includes 187 leaves of parchment in gold and silver letters on a red ground. There is also a collection of letters of Luther, Linnaeus, Mozart and Goethe.

"Upsala cathedral might be properly called 'Little Notre Dame,' although it is the largest in Sweden. The cathedral is situated in the center of the city, its close adjoining the university campus. Here the graduation exercises of the university are held. In its burial vaults lie the remains of some of Sweden's foremost educators, among whom are King Gustavus Vasa, Linnaeus and Swedenborg. One of Notre Dame's architects, Etienne de Bonneuil, drew the plans of the cathedral, which accounts for its resemblance to the Paris church. Construction began in 1287 and it was 150 years before the building was completed."

When The Day is Young

Life is exacting—but life is consistent. Through all nature, natural laws sometimes seem hard—but only when we try to violate or evade them. Observance of them pays peaceful rewards. This major rule is no better proved to you—about your business—and our business. When the day is young—the day of life—it is time to be up and about. He who starts early to build constructively, is he who knows that the younger years are the productive years, and they must be made to take care of later years—years when earning powers are lessened—and peace and rest should be enjoyed. A bank account is the first stepping stone to such building, Do what you can to save a part of your income every week—then watch it grow. One you are on your saving way you will never regret the start.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Price, Mrs. B. H. Bennett, of Baird, and Mrs. Wade Harding and little daughter, Margie, of Cross Plains, left Sunday by auto for Van Horn, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Price.

Mr. and Mrs. Otho Lidia, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Farmer, Mrs. J. B. Cutbirth and Miss Anita Hart, left a few days ago on an automobile trip to San Antonio, Corpus Christi and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dickey and little son, Billie Frank, of Shamrock, Texas are visiting in Baird, this week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dickey and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Curry

MANLESS TRACTOR AMAZES FARMERS

Plows Without Guidance in Exhibition Test.

Lincoln, Neb.—A machine that plows a field without human guidance was given a demonstration at the agricultural college farm recently.

Groups of interested persons watched the machine as it went about alone, with no hand at the wheel, guided solely by an arm carrying a shoe gliding along the furrow made on the previous round. To prepare a field for this operation requires that the first furrow be made under guidance and that the corners be rounded off by the same means to permit the machine to plow around the field without stopping.

A safety pilot, the invention of Frank L. Zybach, a young farmer, guided the plow around this field without stopping, except when for demonstration purposes the guide was lifted out of the furrow. Then the machine automatically came to rest.

A simple device costing from $35 to $50 which can be attached to any tractor can be made to guide a gang of plows day and night, 22 hours out of 24 if necessary, with only the casual attention of the farmer. Theoretically plowing can go on all day and all night. It only requires two hours out of the 24 to water and fuel and care for the engine. Even the experimental machines have been left alone to plow, while the farmer goes to town and remains away for hours.

Pete walked and stole second; Pool sent a single to center scoring Pete and Earl popped out to the first baseman, making the score at the end of the 2nd inning, Baird 4 and Abilene 3.

Neither side scored in the third, fourth or fifth, both teams added one in the sixth, for Abilene. L. Pool popped out to Harold Ray at Short; C. Mormon lined out to Patton on first; Campbell safe at first when Pool (now playing second base) fumbled with Ledbetter at bat, Campbell started to steal second, Meadows overthrew second and Campbell went to third; Ledbetter singled thru shortstop scoring Campbell; Sayles forced Ledbetter at second; for Baird Bennett struck out, Patton walked; Harold forced Ledbetter at second for Baird Bennett struck out, Patton walked; Harold forced Patton at Second; with Carter at bat, Harold stole second and scored when Carter shot a hot single by short stop; Gibbons walks, but Pete popped out to the third-baseman ending the inning with the score, Baird and Abilene 10.

Abilene failed to score in the 7th, but Baird added three, Olton Pool struck out, Earl Hall doubled to right field, Meadows hit a hot one that connected with the pitcher's ankle, almost fracturing the member, the ball bouncing back to the dugout, going for a single, Earl taking third on the play; with Bennett at bat, Earl scored and Meadows took third when the Catcher overthrew 2nd attempted to catch Meadows staling; Bennett struck out; Patton scored Meadows with a single to center, and scoring himself when the center fielder let the ball get away from him; Harold Ray struck out, the score at the end of the seventh Baird 9 and Abilene 10

Abilene failed to score in the eighth while Baird added four; Carter tripled to left field, Gibson hit one to Hodges at Second, Carter scored and Gibson safe at first on a closet play at home, when Hodges threw to the catcher, trying to catch Carter, however the Umpire ruled Carter safe; with Pete at bat, Gibson stole second and took third on a passed ball; Pete finally got hit on the arm; Olton Pool delivered with a Homerun to left field scoring Gibson and Pete (this hit was really a single, but the player let the ball get away from him and didn't try very hard to recover same) Earl was out short to first; Meadows doubled down the right field line, but was called out for failing to touch first base; Bennett rolled out Pitcher to first; the score at the end of the eighth, Baird 13 and Abilene 10

In the ninth Gibson took a couple of notches in his belt, and struck out Potter and Nunnally, while J. Morrison grounded out shortstop to first to end the game and added one more scalp to the Coyotes collection.

Royal Chef Prefers Job in American Kitchen

Eureka Springs, Ark.—A chef who served his apprenticeship in the kitchen of the Russian royal palace and prepared food for the tables of three czars finds Americans much easier to please.

After catering to the appetites of monarchs, W. C. Thompson, an Esthonian by birth, now is a chef in a resort hotel here. It is no trouble at all, he says, to cook for American millionaires.

Thompson's first experience as a cook for royalty was under Alexander II and then Alexander III and Nicholas II.

Skin Beauty

Easily Gained with this Simple Treatment

Here is a simple, easy way to firm your skin and make it smooth and more youthful. Every night before you go to bed rub in a small quantity of Marcellé Cold Cream. This counteracts the effects of dust and grime that have accumulated in the pores during the day. In the morning your skin will feel smooth and fresh and will appear several shades lighter. Then, during the day, as a foundation for powder, use Marcellé Vanishing Cream. It protects the skin from wind and dust, yet being entirely greaseless, it cannot reappear thru the powder. Thus unpleasant shine is prevented in a natural way. Try this simple treatment for a week and note the amazing improvement in your skin.

MUMMY FAKING IS ART OF EGYPT

Specimens Decked Out and Sold as Kings.

Calro, Egypt.—The American gold brick and Brooklyn bridge salesmen have a match in the Egyptian souvenir vendors, the local police report.

According to complaints received by the police the mummies of humble Egyptian slaves have been decked out in regal trappings and sold to gullible tourists as authentic mummies of pharaohs and Tutankhamens.

The sums paid for faked mummies. It is reported, have in some cases run into thousands of dollars.

To the natives the jest is a merry one, for mummies in Egypt are as plentiful as potatoes in Ireland. In many districts the natives dig them up and use them for firewood.

It is therefore a simple and profitable matter for a nimble swindler to dig up the mummy of some forgotten slave, transport it to his workshop and deck it out with a few gilded scarabs, inscriptions and amulets. It is then presented to the English or American traveler as a rare old Ramesses or Amenhotep.

Sometimes, to make the deception more convincing, the redecorated mummy is swathed in chemically stained linen, carefully buried again and exhumed in the presence of the prospective purchaser.

There has been a brisk trade in the renovated mummies. And the profits were large. Sometimes as much as a thousand dollars was obtained for a mummy which had cost about $20 to fake. But the high profits have tempted amateurs into the game, whose faked mummies from bones of animals have become so numerous that the matter has been brought to the attention of the police, and tourists are being warned of the dangers of collecting mummies as souvenirs of their visit to Egypt.

This Church Steeple Here Before Columbus

Tacoma, Wash.—St. Peter's Episcopal church, the oldest in Tacoma, has a steeple which is perhaps the most venerable in the nation. When Columbus discovered America the steeple was 619 years of age. Its concentric rings indicate, thus it is today 1,054 years old.

The pioneers of the Pacific Northwest used what nature provided, and so members of St. Peter's church converted a great tree into a steeple.

With the announcement of the selection of Tacoma as the western terminus of the Northern Pacific railroad. Bishop Morris came here to establish a church upon land covered by large trees. One was cut off 48 feet above ground and the church constructed around it. The opening service was on the ninth Sunday after Trinity, in August, 1873.

Lacking a bell, Mrs. Theodore Hosmer, Sunday school teacher, wrote some time later to her church in Philadelphia and soon one was received.

Ivy covers both the church and its steeple now, but the bell still tolls its message atop the ancient tower.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR BEST VOICES

National Radio Audition
Open to Young Singers
in This Country.

America's future generation of vocal stars will be disclosed to the world this Fall as another of the wonders due to radio. Every young man or woman with the gift of song, whether from country, town or city, will have an equal chance.

A nation-wide quest for the best young singers and the opening of the door of opportunity to them has been undertaken by the Atwater Kent Foundation, an institution established for scientific and educational purposes by A. Atwater Kent, the Philadelphia radio manufacturer and sponsor of the Sun's night grand opera hour, broadcast over a network of nineteen stations.

The Foundation has announced plans for a "National Radio Audition," to find by competition the best undiscovered voices in the United States. Prizes aggregating $17,500, with tuition for musical education in certain cases, are offered as follows:

The two winners of first place in the National Audition—a man and a woman—will each receive a gold

A. Atwater Kent,
President of Atwater Kent Foundation, which opens door of opportunity to undiscovered vocalists.

decoration, $5,000 in cash and two years' tuition in a leading conservatory.

Winners of second prizes will each receive $2,000 in cash and one year's tuition.

Winners of third prizes will each receive $1,000 and one year's tuition.

Winners of fourth prizes will each receive $500.

Winners of fifth prizes will each receive $250.

Musical, civic and women's clubs in each community in each state will be invited to hold local contests to select the best young man and best young woman singers of their towns. These winners will then be certified to a state audition, which will be broadcast by a radio station in each state. A state winner of each sex will be chosen and will receive a silver medal.

The next step is a district audition. The young men and women who have won state honors will be taken to a central broadcasting station in one of five districts, where an audition will be broadcast to select the two winners—a young man and a young woman—from that district.

The two winners in each district will receive gold medals and the ten finalists thus selected will be taken to New York for the final National Audition, to be broadcast over a national network of stations. All expenses of contestants in the district and final auditions, including railroad fare, hotel bills, entertainment, etc., will be paid by the Atwater Kent Foundation.

The spirit and purpose of the National Audition are indicated in a statement by A. Atwater Kent, president of the Foundation, who said:

"The discovery of one of those rare voices, of which each generation produces a very few, seems to me an event of profound national importance. Even when such a voice could give pleasure to only a few thousand people in a year it was a national treasure. Now that millions may enjoy it on the same evening through the medium of radio, such a voice has become priceless.

"The National Radio Audition, supported by the Atwater Kent Foundation, is an undertaking to search the entire country for beautiful voices; and to offer these singers an opportunity for full development, recognition and reward."

The principal qualifications for contestants are as follows:

Must not be over 25 years old; must never have been associated with a professional theatrical or operatic company; must never have been paid principal in any concert held outside their own states; must declare an intention to follow a musical career and must be free from theatrical or musical contracts.

This limitation permits choir singers to enter the auditions, even though they may have received financial compensation for singing in churches. Other groups from which entries are anticipated are students in musical schools and locally prominent singers in high schools and colleges. Musical organizations in each state are also afforded an opportunity to participate.

—with 4-wheel brakes

The most active Six in its price class—nimble in traffic—fleet in the open—powerful on steep grades. Accelerates 10% to 23% faster from 5 to 25 miles per hour than its nearest competitor.

It's the lowest priced Six with 4-wheel brakes. Smarter to drive—and safer. An up-to-the-minute car with these advanced features:

Full-pressure lubricating system—as on cars costing much more.

Lower gravity center—makes the car cling to the road at all speeds.

Full vision body—with narrow front pillars that eliminate the "blind spot" hazard.

Easy handling—steers with less effort because of roller pivot bearings.

Snubbers—on front springs provide exceptional riding ease.

Smooth, flexible power—exceptional in proportion to weight—makes the Whippet Six a joy to drive—all day and every day.

FELIX DU PONT IN COPS' BAND

Millionaire Dons Uniform to Play Barytone Horn
as Hobby.

Wilmington, Del.—A Felix du Pont is a vice president of the Du Pont company. He lives in a mansion, Elton, on the Kennett turnpike, just outside of Wilmington. He is one of the wealthiest Du Ponts and has many interests, but his chief hobby is playing the barytone horn in the police band. He does not claim to be a great player, but he likes band music and always has ever since he played in the Yale university band.

"Only fair," said the police band instructor when he was a kid if Du Pont was an extraordinary musician. The members, however, vote him a good fellow and, although none but regular policemen may play in the band, Du Pont has been elected an honorary member. He takes it as an honor, too, and recently when the police band went to New York with the Wilmington firemen, who were the guests of "Bill" Todd, shipbuilder, Du Pont went along and marched in the parade given for Todd's benefit. He rode with the policemen on the owl train, paraded with them and returned home with them in the day coach early in the morning, tired out after the day's activities.

Dons Uniform to Play.
This is how the millionaire came to be a bandsman. One day from his office in the Du Pont building, which overlooks the police station, he saw the men going out to play at some function. Putting on his hat and coat, he went into the office of Superintendent of Police Black and discussed the progress made by the band. The superintendent asked him to come around some time and listen to the music. One night he turned up at rehearsal. He expressed his interest and then it was that he was elected an honorary member. After that he donned the police uniform twice a week, Tuesdays and Fridays, and rehearsed with the other members. On numerous occasions he has played at celebrations. As he marches through the streets few persons know he is not a regular policeman.

Du Pont is very Democratic, "one of the boys," his police associates say. Several times he has had the band at his home, where he entertained the men lavishly. He takes pride in showing his piano, phonograph and fine radio set.

Although Du Pont is fond of yachting, his chief diversion is music. He is a church member, and before he was elected a warden recently he sang in the choir. He seldom misses a church service if he is in Wilmington. He is about fifty years old and grew up with the Du Pont company when its chief business was the making of powder and dynamite. He is slim, tall, fair and slightly bald. Of a genial disposition, he dresses well, but does not go to extremes.

Not Active in Society.
Before the war he was known as one of the "poor Du Ponts." He showed his ability during the war period when the plant was rushed with munition orders. His millions were made then. Du Pont does not care much about society. Here he differs with his wife, who is very active in society circles and entertains extensively at her home, which is one of the show places of Delaware. The estate adjoins that of Lamont du Pont, the president of the Du Pont company.

He has three daughters—Lydia C., Alice F. and Sarah Chichester—and two sons—A. Felix, Jr., and Richard C. He has three brothers—E. Paul, Archibald and Francis I.

The bandsman is not the only member of the Du Pont family who is musical. Alfred I. du Pont is a musician and composer, and it is said that if he were not a rich man, he could make a fine living by playing and selling his compositions. Francis I. at one time led the orchestra of the Du Pont school, near the A. Felix du Pont estate.

"Natives," That's What They Were

By HELEN BILLINGS WRIGHT

(Copyright.)

"NATIVES." Mary Ann tapped a tiny foot against the fat, red barrel and looked across the harbor.

A motor horn sounded and a roadster rumbled over the uneven boards of the fish wharf. A girl leaped over the two French horns. "Captain Eldridge is yet?"

"No," Mary Ann answered shortly, taking in the details of the other girl. A blue dress, a close blue hat, pearls at her throat.

"When do you expect him?"
"He's coming now." She bowed toward the sea.

"Tell him to bring up, right away, eight pounds of mackerel to Mrs. Clayton Smith's residence. Please." She added that as an after-thought and abruptly backed the car out of sight.

Just for once to be a girl like that! Mary Ann picked up a cork float and twirled it on her thumb. Mary Ann had an idea. She would be one of them.

Without waiting for her father to dock, Mary Ann rushed into the fish house, tripped over a pile of rope heaped on the floor, and tore a piece from the margin of a two weeks' old Monitor. Then, scribbling the girl's message, she stuck it to the fat, red barrel with her 50-cent gold and emerald bar pin. "My husband shall buy me diamonds and real emeralds," he laughed to herself and ran from the wharf.

A week later Mary Ann was on the beach. She wore a gay cretonne cape over a short, black silk suit. Peacocks, bright blue and green, drooped from her shoulders in a background of gay flowers. Would anyone speak to her she wondered. The crowd had come down to the beach, some playing ball, shouting; others rushing into the water.

"I'll duck you! Look out!"
"No fair. It's a foul!"
"Second base under water."
"Run, Sally, run. Too bad. You're out."

She could hear their shouts; could see them as they played in the water, diving from the hotel raft, swimming out to boats anchored off shore. More and more passionately Mary Ann yearned to escape—the Natives.

It was nearly one o'clock. Most of the crowd had left the beach when she saw a man—yes, dressed all in white—slowly coming down the beach. A nice face, tanned, with a little red. Perhaps he had been fishing.

The stranger saw her; came toward her. He sat down before her.

Mary Ann saw Allan Kendrick's after that every day for a week. They swam together, walked far down the beach.

"Mariana," Allan asked (they were lying on the sand, watching the gulls flying in great circles), will you go to the dance with me tonight? Will you, Mariana? She had told him to call her that.

She looked up at Allan. Her eyes glowed. She smiled.

"The hotel?"
"No. The tearoom."

Mariana frowned. The tearoom. She could not go there—yet. For there on the rough floor both summer people and Natives danced. Danced and jostled elbows to the merry tunes of the Ramblers. One supercilious, the other gaping.

"Oh, let's go somewhere else," she laughed carelessly. "There are so many places on the Cape."

"Have your own way, but we will have to go in my car."

Mariana's heart burst. One of the great cars, low and powerful. "Because the family's using theirs tonight. It's a flivver," he apologized.

It was after the dance. Mariana, in a smart pink crepe dress which she had laboriously made for the occasion, sat dreaming, and wondering just how long she could keep her secret. Meeting him at the hotel, running out a back door at night, then across the flats. But she was happy, really happy, in spite of the car.

"Let's go down on the fish wharf and park—just for the atmosphere," Allan tensed. Mariana hardly recognized her own voice.

"No," she cried wildly. "Any place but there. Please."

So they drove off down the boulevard into a pine woods—deep, dark and fragrant.

"Mary Ann."

Mariana looked up quickly. "Why did you call me that?"
"Oh, I dunno, I hate Mariana. It's so sort of formal. Mary Ann's cozy and warm. You don't mind?"

But Mary Ann's face was buried in a rough shoulder. She was crying softly.

"I just can't help it," she sobbed, answering his whispered question. "Oh, I do love you so, but I have something awful and horrible to confess. It will spoil everything."

Mary Ann could not finish, for Allan's arms were around her, his face close to hers. "Mary Ann, listen to me, darling, first. I'm not the swell New Yorker you think me." He rushed headlong. "I'm just a Native from up in Orleans. These clothes even aren't my own. A boarder's, a young chap staying at the house this summer. What shall I do? What can we do?" He looked helplessly at the pretty girl in his arms.

Mary Ann sighed. "Oh, Allan, it's been a lovely dream." A sudden moonbeam lit her face. "A pretty dream for both of us. We shall never forget it. For I'm a Native, too."

We Call For And Deliver

Has Speedy Craft to Cross the Ocean

Rome.—An attempt to cross from Europe to the United States in 50 hours by means of an especially constructed semi-submersible boat, is to be made late this year by Ettore Bugatti, owner of an automobile factory in Alsace, France.

Bugatti, who is of Italian origin, declared, after being received by Premier Mussolini that plans for his invention are virtually complete.

The craft, about 32 feet long, with a beam of 10 feet, will be enclosed like a submarine, but will travel only half submerged. In the center will be a cabin and a tube, about a foot and a half wide, for ventilation.

There will be two forward and two aft motors, each with an entirely independent system of control.

The boat is expected to develop 2,400 horsepower and carry eight persons for a cruising radius of 60 hours at a top speed of 62 miles an hour. Bugatti said he intended to build it in an automobile factory here.

Farmer Does Good Turn, and then Picks Up $50

Detroit, Mich.—Garwood Lanzeman, a farmer living near Brown City, Mich., saw a horsehoe with protruding nails lying in the middle of the road. Thinking that he would save a motorist the misfortune of a puncture, Lanzeman got out of his car and waded through the mud of the road to salvage the shoe. As he was about to climb back into his car with the luck emblem he saw a pocketbook half buried in mud. The purse contained $50 in bills.

Man, 77, Regains Sight After Twelve Years

London.—After being blind for 12 years, James Donaldson, seventy-seven, suddenly recovered his sight. The first person he saw was his son, whom he did not recognize because he had grown bald. Twelve years ago, while Donaldson was out walking, everything "suddenly went black." His sight returned the other day just as suddenly and unaccountably as it had vanished.

Brothers Estranged

6 Years Meet in Jail
Atlantic City.—Two brothers who had been estranged nearly six years faced each other under unusual circumstances in the county jail here. They are Thomas M. Davis and Harry Davis, real estate brokers. They found themselves in adjoining cells at Mays Landing for contempt of court. Because of differences, the two hadn't spoken to each other all that time, and, according to the jail warden, their sudden meeting did not cause them to break the silence. Tom Davis was committed to jail for "contempt of court, perjury and violation of the election laws." Harry Davis was committed by the same judge, having been held in contempt for failure to meet alimony payments of $50 a week.

Seattle's Woman Mayor Hits at Circus Parades

Seattle, Wash.—Securing reports from numerous western cities Mayor Bertha Landes is investigating her theory that circus parades with unfettered elephants should be barred from the streets of large cities. During the past year, she cites, there were numerous instances where elephants broke and threatened serious damage. Traffic conditions here also compel the reduction of all parades to the minimum.

Treble Joy

New York.—After much sorrow in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Orchowsky of the East side there is treble joy. Two years ago their twins died, then a boy was drowned in the East river. Now they have triplets.

London, England.—London's mounted police are now equipped with first-aid kits to render prompt service to victims of traffic accidents.

Ring Songs' Author Is Believed Identified

Berlin.—Prof. Aloys Schroff of Muenster in Westphalia claims to have discovered the real author of the "Nibelungenlied," or cycle of "Ring songs." Scientific researches covering many years have convinced him that the author of this famous German lay was Bishop Pilgrim of Passau, on the Austro-Bavarian frontier, who lived in the Tenth century.

Vet Has Own Methods for Running His Farm

Banbury, England.—Brig. Gen. Gage, D. S. O., who has been running a farm on feudal lines since helping to win the war, says he doesn't know anything about farming, so he had to develop his own methods. "I went to buy a cow," he says, "and, knowing nothing about cows, I chose a nice looking one and told the farmer to make her jump a fence. She took it well, so I bought her."

Lesson for June 19

PETER TEACHES GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Temperance Lesson.

LESSON TEXT—I Peter 2:11-17: 4:1-4.

GOLDEN TEXT—Love worketh no ill to his neighbor.—Rom. 13:10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter Tells Us How to Behave.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Rules for Right Living.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Makes a Good Citizen.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Character of a Good Citizen.

In order to get an intelligent grasp of today's lesson, one must get a view of the entire epistle as to its purpose and method. The purpose was to establish all who were passing through suffering and testing (see ch. 1:7, 8:14, 4:12, 5:10-12).

The principles of Christian behavior set forth in the text of this lesson are of broader scope than citizenship. They embrace:

1. Behavior as Pilgrims and Sojourners (vv. 11, 12).

Christians are merely sojourners on the earth. They have not here their permanent home but are journeying through the earth on their way to the eternal home in the heavens. Our heavenly citizenship (Phil. 3:20) should constrain us to the maintenance of conduct consistent with our high calling.

1. Abstain from fleshly lusts (v. 11). The term lusts includes the entire army of unclean forces springing from our carnal natures. They are enumerated in Gal. 5:19-21. These war against the soul. The Christian should not be under the sway of carnal passion.

2. Behavior as citizens (vv. 13-17). While the Christian's true citizenship is in heaven he has a responsibility as a citizen on the earth.

1. Obey all requirements of civil rulers (v. 13).

Fidelity to Christ is shown by loyalty to civil authority. The intelligent Christian recognizes the necessity of government and graciously submits to those in authority over him regardless of the form of government. His duties as a citizen he performs as the Lord's free man—not through servile fear. Government even of a low order is better than anarchy.

2. Honor all men (v. 17). He will see in every man the image of God and therefore give honor to him. This applies to all relations wherein we touch human life.

3. Love the brotherhood (v. 17).

The Christian has a peculiar love for those who are of the same household. The brotherhood is composed of those who are children of God by faith in Jesus Christ.

4. Fear God (v. 17).

5. Honor the King (v. 17).

This has a peculiar significance because in all probability the wicked Nero was then reigning as emperor.

II. Behavior in a World of Opposition (I Peter 4:1-5).

1. Armed for the conflict (v. 1).

Christians are engaged in a tremendous conflict with evil forces within and without. Satan and his angels are bent on the believer's defeat and destruction. The only way to keep from being overcome with his darts is to arm oneself with the mind of Christ.

2. The salutary effect of suffering (v. 1).

Suffering has a remedial effect upon God's children. The one who suffers with Christ as an example will have the consciousness that it is his identity with Christ that calls forth the opposition of the world.

3. God's will, the regulating force of his life (v. 2).

Not the lusts of the flesh, but the will of God is the directing force of his life.

4. The consciousness of a wasted life (v. 3).

Since the flesh has so long had sway over the life, God is entitled to the rest of the believer's energy. Looking back upon a wasted life in serving the lusts of the flesh will move one to give no more time to serving such a master.

5. The attitude of the world toward the one who separates himself from it (v. 4).

The world speaks evil of those who will not go its way. The world not only wonders at the life of the Christian who separates himself from its pleasures, but will heap upon him sickness and reproach.

6. Account shall be given (v. 5).

The Christian should so live as to be able to render an account to God.

The Joy of Christ

O believer, the joy of Christ is within you; give it room, let it spring up within you like a well of living water, and you will rejoice in the Lord always, and again rejoice.—G. H. C. McGregor.

Praising God

When you find that a man has got to praising God it is a good sign. Oh, let us get to personal love, to personal praise! That is what is wanted in the church today.—D. L. Moody.

PORTUGUESE STILL LOVE EXILED QUEEN

Banished 16 Years Ago, She Enjoys Lasting Honor.

Lisbon, Portugal.—Queen Amelle of Portugal, who was exiled from this country 16 years ago with the rest of the royal family, left her name associated with so many charitable institutions that she still is loved and respected in the Portuguese republic.

This princess of Orleans is very democratic. She founded many children's hospitals and homes, where she helped doctors to tend the sick. At home she supervised the educations of the princes, Louis-Philippe and Manuel.

Amelle de Braganza, exiled from her native France, lived in England until her marriage to Carlos, the crown prince of Portugal.

Prince Manuel, who became king of Portugal, owes his life to his royal mother's courage. When King Carlos and the crown prince were assassinated as the royal family drove through the streets the assailants shot at the younger prince. The queen, seeing the gun aimed at her son, rose in the carriage, and with a bouquet caused the bullet to swerve, so that it merely grazed his hand.

Since the proclamation of the republic in Portugal the exiled queen lived for many years in England with her son. But now that the French republic has annulled the ban against the former royal family of France Amelle of Orleans lives in seclusion in a small house near the palace of Versailles, where her ancestors once reigned.

U. S. Land, Just "Found," Slated for Park Site

Washington.—Land that the federal government has possessed for 80 years in the mountains of northern Alabama has just been "discovered" by search in the records of the federal land office.

The surveyor who mapped the territory in 1847 for allocation to settlers seems to have been daunted when he came to the brink of May's gulf, a beautiful gorge ten miles long and a quarter to a half-mile wide. Or perhaps he concluded that no one ever would want it. Anyway, he mapped only to the brink on either side, drew two lines marking the bluffs and labeled them "perpendicular bluffs 300 to 500 feet high," and let it go at that.

The state legislature is expected to buy the territory for a park in accordance with a federal law passed last year permitting transfer of such tracts to the states.

Wedding Scene Ready, Bridegroom Skips Out

Liberty, Mo.—Rev. H. H. Luetzow of the Methodist church in Liberty was astonished when a prospective bridegroom left the minister's home on a pretext of "saying a word to the taxi driver" and never returned.

The prospective bride, a thirty-five-year-old widow from Kansas City, barely had enough money to pay her fare back to Kansas City.

A man giving the name of Morris F. Long, forty years old, appeared before the county recorder with the woman and obtained a license. The taxi driver said the man told him he had changed his mind about getting married.

He drew a revolver and held it against the driver's head, saying: "I won't hurt you if you drive me back to Kansas City just as fast as you can." The man left the taxicab in Kansas City.

Air Mail Service Shows Big Increase

Washington.—Use of the air mail has shown marked increase since the new 10 cents per half ounce rate went into effect and April business established a record, Second Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover announced.

Approximately 1,800,000 letters were carried over the 14 contract air mail routes during April and contractors were paid $133,120 for their services. Air mails over the transcontinental and New York-Chicago overnight routes have shown a corresponding increase because of the new rate.

Finds Fortune in Her Back Yard Fish Farm

Watts, Calif.—A 50-foot back yard is a gold fish "factory" for Mrs. Anna G. Gray, who once kept a few pets in one glass bowl and since her first experiment in breeding, has built up a market for 12,000 goldfish, 130,000 snails and 2,500 water lilies annually.

She has developed an infinite variety of fish strains. The results show fish of silver and gold tones, some striped with black, others spotted. Some are totally black with only the glints of the virginal gold tone.

The raising of snails was a by-product of her first hatchery. The scum accumulated at the bottom of the tanks is used for their food, and the snails, in turn, sold to gardeners as scavengers.

GOOD THINGS TO SERVE AT THE AFTERNOON TEA

By CAROLINE B. KING
Culinary expert and lecturer on household science.

ORANGE PEKOE is the tea usually preferred, but recently Japan tea has received a warm welcome for afternoon affairs. A cup of tea takes on a festive air when accompanied with different attractive accessories. These may be slices of lemon cut in different shapes, or a slice of lemon with a clove inserted in the center. Strawberry preserves are served with tea in Russian fashion, and the English manner of serving tea with cream is being revived. Another attractive accompaniment is a Maraschino cherry, in which a whole clove has been inserted.

With the tea serve:

Afternoon Canapes

Cut white or graham bread in thin slices, then in tiny rounds; butter them delicately and place tender inside lettuce leaves on each, making a tiny cup. Sprinkle lightly with salt and fill with a cucumber cream, made by mixing finely-chopped cucumber with a small quantity of mayonnaise.

Filled Cookies with Dusky Marmalade

1 cupful of shortening
1 1/4 cupfuls of sugar
2 eggs
1 cupful of milk
1 teaspoonful of vanilla
1/2 teaspoonful of salt
2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder
5/8 cupfuls of pastry flour

Mix and roll thin and cut in circles, spread half the circles with the filling, place the other circles over them and bake until lightly browned. Spread with Dusky Marmalade made from one pound of prunes, soaked, pitted, and cooked in one pint of water. Add the grated rind and juice of one lemon; one-quarter pound of walnut meats and three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Simmer until thick.

Toasted Cinnamon Sandwiches

Slice bread or round rolls very thin, and toast to a light brown. Spread with softened butter, then cover half with brown sugar and a dusting of cinnamon. Cover with the other slices of toast and set in a hot oven for a few moments until the sugar begins to melt. Serve hot.

Prune Sweetmeats

Select large prunes, soak, steam and when cool remove pits. Stuff with mixture made from chopped raisins, walnuts, candied cherries or pineapple. Then roll in melted unsweetened chocolate. Especially nice served with afternoon tea.

Cracker Bonbons

Place a marshmallow on a buttered thin and place in a moderate oven until puffed and slightly browned. Insert a Maraschino cherry in the marshmallow and serve hot.
