THE CONFEDERATE SOLDIER.

Deeds of daring courage and valor have immortalized and made glorious the memory of every age since the advent of time 'till the present era'.

But nothing in the annals of brilliant achievements or gallant exploit, surpasses the valor, fortitude and courage displayed by the Confederate soldier during and succeeding that long, memorable and bloody strife in our country's history from Sumpter to Appomattox where the best blood of the beautiful Southland was sacrificed on the altar of honor and principle,—passionately perhaps, but willing never-the-less. A crown of unfading glory, brighter growing with the passage of time, is his.

On the sacred summit of immortality shall his name and fame forever rest, crowned with the approval and benediction of those for whom he gave his life a ransom. And while the seal of defeat and humility was stamped upon him, he yet bore it with the manner which distinguished his conduct on the battlefield. He occupies a peculiar, though enviable, position in the world's history, and the records do not furnish a parallel. Unaccustomed to the perils, privations and hardships of a soldier, unskilled in the drills and tactics of war, he met with unflinching fortitude and courage the dangers of the former and welcomed with delight the difficulties of the latter. He fought not with the method of a trained soldier but with a passion and determination superior numbers alone could resist. He fought not for conquest, greed or glory, but for principle, home and country. The dearest, most sacred obligations were resting upon him and valorously did he discharge them. The brightest star in the southern firmament is the one "who wore the Gray," and fought under the "Stars and Bars."

Years have passed since that thrilling, eventful period in our country's development and the bloodiest epoch in our Nation's history is chronicled with the past. But few of the gallant cavaliers remain. One by one they are going to join the ranks in the great beyond and rest with the immortal "Stonewall" "under the shade of the trees" where, at the sounding of "taps" and "roll call" they all answer,—Ah! too soon—"Here."

Blessed be the Confederate soldier whose deeds will survive the ravages of time and endure forever. Honor to the living, peace to the dead, glory to them all.—W. T. B., in Benjamine Reporter.

The Father of the Fourth

THOMAS JEFFERSON
Framer of the Declaration of Independence

Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States, often styled the "Father of the Fourth of July," was born in Shadwell, Albemarle County, Va., April 2, 1743, and died at Monticello July 4, 1826, the fiftieth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. John Adams died the same day.

In youth he was rawboned and ungainly, in early manhood better looking and in later life became fairly handsome. Peale's portrait of him is noted.

Jefferson drafted the Declaration of Independence, which was composed by himself and his four colleagues on the committee, Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston. The document was debated in Congress July 2, 3 and 4, and was only adopted then because the members had become weary from the long strain.

"Never in my life," wrote one of Jefferson's grandchildren, "did I see his countenance distorted by a single bad passion or unworthy feeling. To the contrary, it was impossible to look on his face without being struck with its benevolent, intellectual, cheerful and placid expression."

LIBERTY'S Great Day and Its Celebration

By EDWARD DOUGLAS

WHILE we are engaged in the pursuit of the bashful dollar Independence day stands just now beckoning to us with open hands to lay aside the implements of toil and join with her in celebrating the nation's birthday. She beckons to us with open hands because she is not absolutely certain whether she will have any hands to beckon with after July 4 or not. That is one great thing about the glorious Fourth. When a man begins dodging skyrockets and cannon crackers, he does not know whether he is going to fight fire only a few hours or if that kind of exercise is to continue through eternity or even longer.

It is meet, however, that annually we should take cannon crackers and our lives in our hands and help in doing more or less thunderous honor to the brave martials who have died for their country. There are many such martyrs on the altar of liberty. One will find long lists of them in the newspapers of July 5 of each year. It is grand to think of a man spilling a few handfuls of gunpowder around and then laying down a cigar stub and his life together. It is magnificent to imagine the sensations of a man sitting down on a cannon firecracker when he doesn't know it is loaded. It is sublime to picture the valor of the brave citizens of the country who hold explosives in their teeth and blast out their molars. How inspiring to remember the thousands who play with dynamite and torpedoes and perish gloriously for the republic!

China is not looked upon as a great world power. In fact, the nations look upon her as sort of easy cinch, and when they get short of funds they grab a piece of China—a plate or a vegetable dish or anything near by they can get their hands on—and if China "sasses" back they just walk over her a few times, punk her up on her feet, tap her on her shoulder and say, "Indemnity, please."

And yet China, despised as a fighter and prized as a good thing, has slain her thousands—yes, her tens of thousands—for she invented the cannon cracker. She wrapped it up in red and white tissue paper and sprinkled gold dust over it until it looked harmless and innocent and sent it out seeking whom it could devour and disintegrate. It was shipped in shiploads to these United States, and on each July 4 while the centers are falling how these great commonwealths are being knit closer and closer together until they are almost as perfectly organized as a trust the cannon cracker is engaged in tearing these United States and the inhabitants thereof asunder. This method is more sure and cheaper than killing people on the banks of the Yangtze-kiang far away.

There are other days which learned men tell us are each the longest day in the year, including the day before the circus, but for a really long day July 4 is entitled to consideration as a possibility. July 4 starts in at 12 p. m. and keeps up pretty steadily until 12 p. m. again. At about 12 p. m. July 3 some patriotic young men in the neighborhood will put a cannon firecracker under your window or playfully toss a small volcano called a torpedo into your room, and after that sleep is as hard to get as a job spending money for somebody. You may put pillows in your ears and burrow under the covers, but the glorious Fourth has arrived and the air is full of patriotism and gunpowder. The best thing you can do is to get up and make it interesting for any somnolent neighbor you may have who has not heard July 4 coming in.

The First Flagg.

On the early flags the stars were arranged in a circle, but no rule was followed, and many old flags show the stars in the shape of the letters "U. S." It was finally decided, however, that the stars should be put on in regular rows, as at present. Each time a new star is added to the field of Old Glory. There are now forty-five stars, with Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona clamoring for places in the field.

A Fourth of July Horror.

Mrs. Jones thought the Emitt had been reached when the Smith family had asked to borrow her eye-glasses, but it hadn't. On Fourth of July morning Mrs. Smith's little boy came over to the Jones house and asked: "Mrs. Jones, my ma wants to know if you'll loan us some firecrackers and if we can shoot them off on your steps, 'cause ours have just been painted?"

Plenty of Patriotism.

First Westerner—Much patriotism in Injun Creek on the Fourth of July?
Second Westerner—Much patriotism? Say, pardner, even the boss thief that we lynched was howlin' for liberty!

Handy, but Dangerous.

"I wish I had six tails, ma," said the pup, "because they're so handy to brush off the flies."
"You'll wish you hadn't say after you've seen your first Fourth of July," dryly replied his mother.

Saved A Woman's Life.
To have given up would have meant death for Mrs. Lois Cragg, of Dorchester, Mass. For years she had endured untold misery from a severe lung trouble and obstinate cough. "Often," she writes, "I could scarcely breathe and sometimes could not speak. All doctors and remedies failed till I used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was completely cured." Sufferers from Coughs, Colds, Throat and Lung Trouble need this great remedy, for it never disappoints. Cure is guaranteed by Powell & Powell. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Mrs. J. S. Rogers is quite ill with slow fever.

Mr. Hugh Ross returned the latter part of last week from Mexico Missouri where he spent two or three weeks visiting relatives. He reports plenty of rain in Missouri and crops fine but says when he struck Texas he at once noticed the effect of the drought, but says crops in Callahan are in better shape than in North Texas.

It is reported that Lou Hadley counter plates moving to Memphis, Hall county.

County Commissioner J. W. Merrick made THE STAR a call last Thursday.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.
"My mother suffered from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verons, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats anything she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effect as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. Sold by Powell & Powell.

July 1.—As we have been absent from the columns of our valuable county paper for two weeks we will try to give the news of our little city. We are needing rain badly. The hot winds of the past week has damaged corn and the crop will be very short, and if we don't get rain soon some fields of corn won't be worth gathering.
Mr. Mart Nix is ruing his hay press every day and the farmers are saving everything in the way of roughness.
We have been having good road meetings at Clyde and are making preparations to clay the sand beds on the two roads running south from Clyde. There has been a subscription list circulated around Clyde and Eula and something like four hundred dollars subscribed for the work and the Commissioner's Court has agreed to donate as much as we have, which makes something over eight hundred dollars that will be put into clay on the two roads which ought to put them in good shape. Mr. T. E. Miller has been appointed to oversee the road from Clyde to Mr. H. C. Darden's place. Mr. Tom Marshal to oversee the road from Clyde to Mr. L. L. Welch's place and work will begin on July 7th. Clyde people never do anything but what they do it right. When these two roads are clayed we will have the best roads in the county south and our business men expect to make Clyde one of the best cotton markets in the state which will bring trade to Clyde. No just watch Clyde come to the front and make one of the best little cities in the West.
Mr. W. D. Lee road overseer has the hands warned out to straighten the road from L. L. Johnson place to L. L. Welch.
We hear some talk of a new brick business house going up at Clyde. We also hear that Abilene men are talking of putting in a lumber yard.
Mr. L. L. Johnson and son Geo. have bought ten lots adjoining their shop at Clyde.
Mr. Walter Steward has rented his barber shop to Mr. Eugene Lynn. Some of our best citizens went to Baird last week to confer with the commissioners court about our road business.
Mr. Geo. Cauthen and family of Putnam visited Mr. Lee Lovelady Saturday and Sunday.
Mr. Sam Johnson made a business trip to Cisco Saturday and returned home Sunday.
Mr. McCoy of Bosque county who has the contract to carry the U. S. mail from Clyde to Tecumseh for the next four years was here last week making preparations to take charge of the line the 1st.
Mr. Hubbard Hampton and Robert Stevenson of Eula, was in Clyde Sunday.
Mr. A. G. Whittington left Saturday night for Peck City where his family is. He will move his family to Clyde this week.
We were surprised at Harold Fenwick saying that Tan was still living, we supposed he had gone up Salt Creek with the defeated candidates, or else when Ruben left the gap down and he got out he just kept hitting the grit. We would like to know how he got the new hat.
There was a musical entertainment given at the residence of Mr. L. L. Welch Wednesday night which was well attended by our young people, and all report a nice time.
Mr. John Kennard came very near getting seriously hurt going home from the entertainment. He was riding a bronco horse and he became unmanageable and fell with John, fortunately he was not seriously hurt.
Dr. J. M. Estes little baby has been seriously ill for a week but is reported better at this writing.
Mr. T. H. Floyd our popular county surveyor came up Mouday evening to survey part of our road that is to be clayed.
Mr. Phillip Payne made a business trip to Baird Monday.
Now Mr. Editor if there is more of this than you can digest, burn it and do not feed it to your cow for as the new political party that is making so much noise in the grand old State of Texas, and that we put on the dump ground the 7th day of June said it might be pisen. AGINALDO.

Don't fail to see our large assortment of wall paper. Powell & Powell.

Mrs. J. R. Johnson, of Dallas, and Mrs. Alice Walker, of Memphis, Tenn. who have been visiting friends in Callahan county for the past month, returned to Dallas last night.

J. W. Tatum, of Belle Plaine, called a few minutes at THE STAR office Wednesday of last week while we were running off one side of the paper. With the windows almost closed on account of the wind blowing the sheets off the press and a fire roaring in the little engine it must have been warm in the office, especially as the thermometer outside registered 108 in the shade, at least J. W. said it was hotter'n—and fied.
