PUBLIC SERVICE

H. O. Tatum, Secretary of Baird C. of C. Says Some Good Things in This Article

A little self-analysis will disclose the fact that most of us want virtually everything that we can get out of this world, but we are too much inclined toward selfishness to put into these things which we should put in, and in order that others may profit and enjoy therefrom. This is both an industrial and a community menace and which is always instrumental in destroying and in stunting the growth of what might otherwise become an outstanding success. Service builds men. Service builds business, and service most assuredly builds communities. The pleasure of service is best known to those who willingly render it, and the one who gives service is able to, and does live for others more than he lives for self, and the rendering of service always increases the happiness of he who serves as well as he who receives to an inestimable extent.

The desire to throw about him the shroud of selfishness never enters the mind of the man who lives to build, or with the material and physical benefit as well as the complete satisfaction of the inner self, which service, of course, is given a reward of contentment which is not obtainable through any other channel. Service is not a habit, it is a duty and a responsibility which falls equally, fairly and squarely upon the shoulders of all those who are in anywise to be numbered amongst any community. Its cost, however, is effort and sacrifice, but is has no other attached cost. It broadens rather than to narrow. It increases the opportunity of the future as well as as the present and for all parties concerned it develops rather than to stunt, and any community is always far better for the tracks of service having been left across its holdings.

We can turn back through the pages of history and find that since the beginning of time all worth while and recordable history is but the compilation of service. Service began with creation, and back at the beginning of creation we find there existed nothing—just a beginning with everything void and dark. Then there came light—after which a master mind beheld the beauty as his creation and found it fitting and in order to build and to place on the earth a man likened unto his own image and who would, throughout all the centuries to come, prosecute and carry on the spirit of service; whose efforts would further increase the beauty, the productivity and the usefulness of the earth, and whose life would be given over for the benefit of others rather than be devoted to self. Darwin or any other of our highly trained scientific or technical mind, can dispute the fact that man has developed the art of service, and the point that we should get permanently fixed in our minds is the fact that God made man, but that man has been largely responsible for the development of human service. Through the spirit of service he has been able to conquer the

NEW FIRM OF MAYFIELD CO. TO OPEN FOR BUSINESS

The Mayfield Company, under the able management of Mr. R. F. Mayfield will open for business about the first of February in the Schwartz building next to the corner, with a complete line of Men's Furnishings and other lines will likely be added later.

Mr. Mayfield needs no introduction to the people of Baird and surrounding country for he is no stranger here. For a number of years he held a position as salesman with H. Schwartz and later in partnership with Cayle E. Hall, bought out Mr. Schwartz. They continued the business here for sometime and later moved the stock of goods to Amarillo, where a few months later they sold out to Williams Department Store. Mr. Mayfield remained with the new firm and later was transferred to Wichita Falls as manager of their store, one of the largest department stores in that city. He is thoroughly experienced in this business.

The Star welcomes Mr. Mayfield and family back to the old home and wishes the Mayfield Company every success.

RAIN, SLEET AND SNOW

Everything Wrapped in a Blanket of Snow and Ice. Damage to Electric and Telephone Service

Baird was cut off from electric service from 2:30 a. m to 5:15 p. m. yesterday caused by a break in the Highline west and east of Baird. The mist early in the night Wednesday froze as it hit electric, telephone and telegraph wires and many wires were broken, in all of this there were three breaks in the wires between Baird and Abilene, the main distributing station, and two breaks between Baird and Cisco auxiliary station thus cutting Baird off from both sources of supply. Half an hour after the break a large force of workmen were put to work by The West Texas Utilities Co. but the weather was intensely cold and lines on 30 foot poles are difficult to mend at any time and much more so with everything covered with ice and the mercury away below the freezing point. The Company could not help the breaks and had repair made as soon as possible. As the light and power service in Baird is practically on meters, the company lost over 16 hours of service, besides the cost of repairs.

The Home Telephone Company also reports considerable damage to lines in and out of Baird. Mists of rain freezing as it falls is death and destruction to light, phone and telegraph wires.

PATSY SAYS EVERYTHING IS FINE OUT HIS WAY

Eula, Jan. 18, '26—Well Uncle Billie, how are you and The Star force? We are all doing very well out this way. We are always glad to get The Star. We don't get it now until Monday. Wish the trains were running on time so we could get The Star on Saturday.

[The cause for the delay in you getting The Star, Patsy, is due to illness of Col. Symond, of The Star force, who has been confined to his bed most of the time for the past four weeks and sickness in the family of the editor. All are now improving and we hope to get The Star out on time after next week.]—Ed.

We have some sickness, but nothing serious.

We had a good rain, which will be fine to sow oats. You know a good oat crop would sure be fine.

There has been lots of cotton selling here lately. Abilene buyers come out and are paying fancy prices for cotton. Eula farmers who have recently sold cotton at fancy prices to Abilene buyers are: W. B. Ferguson, H. E. Jones, J. R. Gibson, B. Crow, W. F. Harrison, G. G. Gardner, E. P. Miller, F. L. Smith, W. J. Milliron and Mr. Sikes Abilene is working hard for Callahan county trade and they are making good and as long as our merchants stand back Abilene is going to get a good part of the trade.

Farmers are plowing right along, getting ready for another crop. We now have a good season.

W. P. Miller made a business trip to Clyde this week.

Cecil Harris has returned from Midland, where he has bought a good farm.

Well I see candidates are coming out early. We have a bunch of good folks running for office. I guess we will have quite a bunch out by July. I hope everything will run smooth for all concerned.

Will Gardner has bought a good farm down at Potosi. From what we know of the farm he made a good buy.

Robert Ferguson, of Dallas, visited his father, W. B. Ferguson, last Sunday.

J. C. Gist and S. H. Trotter made a business trip to Abilene last Saturday.

Well, I will ring off, wishing everybody good luck.

Patsy.

BAND STAND FOR SALE

There is an indebtedness against the Baird Band Stand of $380.00 which has been running since the building was put up and as we have no band master we feel the best way is to dispose of the building to satisfy the debt, so we offer the building for sale.

Grover Windham was in town Monday. Grover has recently moved to the Buck White farm south of Belle Plaine.

Mrs. Geo. B. Scott and little grand daughter, Georgia Cecil Cook, of Cross Plaines, spent the week end with Mrs. Scott's mother, Mrs. J. B. Outbirth.

Mr and Mrs. G. W. South, of Admral, were in Baird Monday to see their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Rube South, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

A CHICKEN HATCHERY

Stock Company Being Formed by Citizens of Callahan Co. to Build one at Baird

The Chamber of Commerce is backing a proposition of getting a Hatchery for Callahan County. A company has been formed which will be incorporated with a capital of $2500.00. The men of this County are taking to the proposition and are buying shares in the company every day.

A Chicken Hatchery is a paying proposition. It has proven so in other counties over the state and instead of discontinuing a hatchery they are adding to it every year. The hatchery that the company proposes to buy will be a Beckeye Hatchery with a capacity of 12096 eggs.

Eastland county started out a year or so ago with a 10,000 egg hatchery and today the county has a capacity of 150,000 eggs, other counties are doing the same as Eastland county and we see no reason that Callahan county can't do the same thing.

To The Voters Of Callahan County

I have had an ambition for several years to serve the people of Callahan in the capacity as County Judge, and in making my announcement for this office, I fully realize the responsibilities and the importance attached to the office that I am seeking knowing that it is the most important office within the gift of the people of the county, as the entire finances of the county are in the hands of the Commissioners Court, and as the County Judge is the presiding officer of that body, it is very necessary that he should be familiar with the laws governing the court, and its workings, and I feel like that my long service as County Commissioner and my knowledge of law qualifies me for this most important office for which I am asking the voters of Callahan County.

Running The County's Business Just A Business Proposition

I think handling the county's business is just like handling the business of any other corporation and the same methods should be used, and when a question presents itself before the court for action, it should be passed on in an intelligent business like manner and not use the hard earned tax money to boost some ones political aspirations in some future campaign, and if the people of Callahan County should see proper to elect me as your next County Judge I will be the judge and when any question presents itself, I will have no manager to see before passing on such question, I will stand ready at all times to advise and work with the tax payers for anything that is to the best interest of Callahan County, and appreciate and advice or suggestions from them at any and all times, and should I be elected you will always find me sticking around the court house ready to attend to any business that may come up for consideration.

Law Enforcement

I believe that all laws should be enforced alike without fear of any one I believe that one is just as much of a law as any other, and it will be my purpose to enforce all laws that the County Court has jurisdiction over, and work in conjunction with the District Court in all others. I only ask that you investigate my record the two years I served as Justice of the Peace, and I think you will find that I collected more and heavier fines than any Justice court in the county.

In conclusion I will say that I am

AMERICAN CAMEL COLONY RECALLED

Project Tried by Government in Fifties.

Washington.—Escape of a circus elephant 50 miles west of San Antonio, Texas, and his efforts to get back to nature by tearing up fences and striking across ranches and farms, recall the strange project to establish a government-owned camel colony in the same region, says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Egypt and Asia Minor were the main sources of supply for the federal government," says the bulletin. "Two shipments of camels were brought over in 1856 and 1857 for use in the great American desert," believed in those early days to be a sort of a Sahara of the western hemisphere.

"The project was in charge of the War department, and Jefferson Davis, then secretary of war, was its most ardent advocate. The strange beasts—75 of them in all—were landed at Indianola about midway of the coast of Texas and marched westward overland. Sixty miles west of San Antonio at Camp Verde the government's camel station was established, and for some years the test marches of the camels gave the countryside the appearance of Asia or Africa.

"Uncle Sam's camel experiment was a failure not because the beasts could not live in America, but chiefly because of the human factor. After the first year of the venture, when the sicklier animals died, certain breeds became acclimated and increased in numbers. But the army muleteers detailed to the camel station declared a feud against the strange creatures from the first; only the few Greek and Turkish camel drivers brought from Smyrna had any patience with them. The ranchmen and other residents of the country shared the feelings of the muleteers for whenever a camel appeared, horses and mules bolted in terror.

The coming on of the Civil war, however, put an end to the experiment. Some of the camels were sold to circuses, some to individuals, and some were turned loose in the rough, uninhabited country of Arizona.

Hungry Girl Passes 2 Days in Subway Car

New York.—Bertha Futell, fourteen years old, who ran away from home in New Bedford, Mass., late in November because her mother remarried, has learned that of all places in New York to pass a couple of days the subway is not one.

Bertha was found huddled shivering on a seat in a downtown Seventh avenue train by Mrs. Pauline Bergmann of 797 Croton Park north, the Bronx, who noticed her misery. She approached the girl and learned that Bertha had been riding on the train two days without food or drink.

The time between her arrival in New York and her decision to spend her last nickel for a subway ride was passed in various ways by Bertha, to whom New York was an enchanting island until that last nickel shone dully in her purse.

Bertha was fed on sandwiches and coffee at police headquarters and ate heartily until agents for the Children's society came for her. She will live there until her story is investigated.

SHELL PROBLEM IS SOLVED BY CIVILIAN

New Way of Turning Out Ammunition Suggested.

Washington.—An apparently offhand suggestion on shellmaking, dropped casually into an army ordnance experts' meeting, may serve to simplify Uncle Sam's whole problem of having at hand enough big gun projectiles to shoot up an enemy who obtained or attempted to obtain a footing on American soil.

Experiments already made indicate a wholly practical way of turning the American peace-time production of 350,000 tons of seamless steel tubing every year into a war output of shell casings up to 10-inch caliber at a rate of thousands per day without additional machinery.

All shell casings used during the war or manufactured since were turned to size, pointed on one end and squared off on the other in lathes, then bored out. It is a long, hard manufacturing process. It took terrific drive in the war to build up the output of any single factory to 200 or 300 shells a day.

He Asks Why.

At a meeting of ordnance men, a reserve officer who is a steel plant man in civilian life, asked, in discussing shell-turning facilities, why it would not be possible to spin them hot off of whirling, red-hot seamless steam tubes which are produced commercially for gas well use in virtually all sizes for the artillery up to 10 inches in diameter. Experiments were started voluntarily to test the scheme. While the War department is not in a position to make any definite announcement, it looks as though a long stride in national preparedness had been made.

"They just cut 'em off like sausages," is the way one officer described the new process.

New Angle Developed.

Even the necessity of boring out the squared and pointed ends after the spinning in order to make a place for the explosive charge and fuse has developed a new angle of its own. It appears in practice that impurities in the metal are forced toward the center by the spinning process and when this is cut out by boring the impurities are removed automatically.

The ten-year ammunition reserve project of the War department is based on storing $300,000,000 worth of small arms and artillery ammunition, the oldest projectiles and cartridges to be fired away each year and replaced with new stock.

If the spun shell case plan works out and a system for fast loading, fuse making, banding, etc., is developed to supplement it, presumably a material reduction could be made in the stored reserves, as the twelve-month delay in procuring projectiles in sufficient numbers after war is declared now controlling the department's plans would have been scaled down.

Padlocking Against Liquor Sales.

When the government's plan of pad-locking places that persist in violating the liquor laws becomes more general
there will be better observance of the laws. The prohibition enforcement officers, after notifying owners of hotels and other places, where liquor is sold, that their houses are being used for unlawful purposes, have been pad-locking some places that pay no attention to the notices. Bell boys in hotels will bootleg liquor to guests so long as the proprietors wink at it and perhaps share profits. Intoxicants will be sold at cold drink stands, or at some of them, as long as the owners of the buildings and proprietors of the stands permit it. The law will be respected when law-breaking hotels are closed, when drug stores operated principally as liquor houses are locked, and when liquor prescribing physicians have their licenses revoked after it is shown that they are law-breakers.

Keeping the Farmers Puzzled.

If the farmer could know with some degree of certainty that when he grows anything he can find a market for it at a fairly remunerative price, farming would be a more attractive business. He has to gamble with the seasons to make a crop and with the markets to sell it. He is urged to make his acres produce more and in the same breath is told that if he produces more he will ruin the market. He must use all his land or his working capital will be idle, but if he works it industriously and scientifically and "busts his barns", he is likely not to realize enough to repair the barns, while the crop gamblers will enrich themselves at his expense.
Before the farmer is encouraged to produce more crops he should in some way be assured that he can market them at a price above production costs. Give the farmer a market and he will find some way to make the crops.

Marketing a National Problem.

The farm marketing problem may be helped, but it can not be solved, by community action alone. Except where the acreage is very restricted, as with the Laredo onion crop, communities or districts can not fix prices. Texas, with all its cotton crop, can not stabilize the price of cotton, with all the other cotton growing states in competition. No state is strong enough to establish a price for wheat, corn, potatoes or other staple crops. Only the national government can do it. Railroads lost money until they were placed under government control and protection.
This was justified on the ground that they were public utilities and that government prosperity depended on their success. Farming is the very backbone of government prosperity,
but is allowed to fight its own way against all the organized finance of the world. Repulsive as the thought may be to those of us reared to oppose any kind of price-fixing, and lauded from before birth with opposition to every thing that looks like centralization of power, we are being forced to admit that if farming is to continue profitable, some centralized effort must be made to improve marketing of farm products.

To Build a Woolen Mill.

Kerrville has a committee looking into the advisability of building a $1,- 000,000 woolen mill. Why not? Kerrville is right in the heart of the leading wool and mohair producing country of the United States, and Eastern manufacturers are growing rich making that wool into clothing.
Kerrville has all the facilities for making the clothing at a much less cost than it can be made in the East, except the mill. It has enough idle money to build the mill and operate
it. With splendid climate, excellent water, cheap labor, and money, all going to waste, Kerrville should build that mill. The same thing applies with equal force to the cotton mill project being considered for Center Point, in the same county.

The World Progressing.

San Antonio is having a great radio exposition at which scores of kinds of radios are being shown. Broadcasting and reception are being improved every week and it will not be long until it will be as easy to hear Hong Kong as to talk to your neighbor on the telephone. Ten years ago what is now being done would have been thought impossible. When we can hear around the world at a cost within reach of all, we will come to know the world; and knowing, hatred and war will end. War comes from ignorance. Misunderstanding is largely lack of understanding. The radio is likely to become the great educator of nations.

From 23 to 36.

Nine years is not too long a time in which to make ready for a great Centennial Exposition, such as is now proposed for Texas. It would only be too much time if the time is wasted instead of being used. There is a general inclination to put off doing a thing until so late that it has to be rushed to such an extent that it is poorly done. That is the danger that is now confronting the Texas Centennial movement. There is so much to be done in an educational way even before a start is made toward the centennial itself that there is danger that it may not be done well.

Experts are provided to care

T. K. Irwin, of Dallas, announces that he will be a candidate for attorney general provided Dan Moody is not a candidate for reelection. Our guess is that T. K. will not be a candidate unless he thinks that he can out run Moody and we doubt if many believe that he can, for our guess is that Moody will be a candidate to succeed himself with very little if any chance of defeating him.

If anyone had any doubts about where Dan Moody, Attorney General, stood on the Ku Klux question, his speech before a meeting of the W. T. C. W. at Houston, Monday, has dispelled that doubt. He condemned the methods of the Klan in no uncertain or ambiguous language. Some have accused Moody of pandering to the Klan since his election for political support. His plain statement in reference to the Klan clears up all doubts in the mind of the public. Moody says that the only place to try criminal cases is in the court room, and a majority of the voters no doubt agree with him, for this is why he is attorney general today.

There is talk of paving the one block on market street traversed by the Bankhead Highway and streets from Market to city limits west. We would be glad to see these two streets traversed by the Highway through Baird paved, but think the owners of abutting property should pay for it, and some say they are not able, financially, to do so now, street paving is expensive. We would like to see all streets traversed through Baird by the Bankhead, paved, but many on the east end of town, the writer for one, is not able to stand such an expense. We may be forced to build a 6 foot retaining wall to prevent the side walk, 300 feet, from washing away. Rock walls as well as rock paved streets, are costly.

The winner of the grand prize of $1000.00 offered by the Dallas News for the most cotton produced on five acres, was won by G. Mont Adams, of Tyler, Smith County, who produced 15 1/2 bales of cotton on five acres, that is he raised 8081 pounds of lint cotton. The second highest was J. W. McFarlane, of Palestine, who won the prize in the 1924 crop, with two bales to the acre. He made three bales to the acre in 1925 and only lost by 197 lbs to Adams. These cotton contests are doing more to educate the farmers how to farm than anything that ever happened in Texas, and in inaugurating this plan the Dallas News has done the greatest service for the farmers imaginable. The land on which the winner won the prize for 1925 was worn out fifty years ago, but Adams got hold of it a few years ago and won a prize in 1923 offered by the business men of Smith county for the greatest yield of cotton. The prize is not the main thing. It is only secondary, yet it has stimulated farmers all over Texas to study the needs of their land, drainage, terracing, fertilizing and intensive cultivation. Many farmers who entered the contest in 1924, but failed to win a prize, said that the experience they gained was invaluable to them.

Gov. Ferguson issued a proclamation designating January Laugh Month. The Fort Worth Star-Telegram leads off in a ruffian a column length editorial, and a few, very few die hard anti Ferguson organs followed suit with me too, but most Editors made no comment. Gubernatorial designation of various subjects, such as Good Roads Week; Education Week or month; State Park Month and so on, by Gov. Neff, that people do not pay much attention to them. But why should not January be "Laugh Month." That is a good way to start the New Year as any rate, no matter who suggests it, Mrs. Ferguson is no doubt doing her best to discharge her duties faithfully and at as little expense to the tax payers as possible but the enemies of Jim Ferguson can see no good in anything she does. The only thing that would please some of the bitter critics of her official acts would be to resign as Governor and sue Jim for a divorce. The Star-Telegram and a few others might then find something good to say about her, but this is never likely to happen, and the sun will continue to shine on grand old Texas no matter whether disgruntled politicians laugh or cry.

Everything indicates a red hot campaign among politicians this year, but so far the voters who will decide all issues, show no signs of rising en masse to fight for or against the present state administration.

In fact so far as one can see at this distance the people as a whole are contented or indifferent about who will be the next Governor of Texas. No doubt they will wake up in time to disapprove many politicians in the primaries.

Why not laugh? The antics of the politicians trying to force a called session of the Legislature to save the state is enough to provoke laughter if nothing else is mentioned.

world and in a physical manner has become its sovereign. The wilderness has given way before his hand like so much chaff before the gale, and in its stead there have appeared our magnificent and beautiful cities. The desert places, and forty-five years ago this particular community might well have fallen in this class, have been transformed into a veritable garden of Eden spot, while he talks and rides with comparative ease through what was considered a short time back the unfortable spaces of the air.

Unfortunately, however, we have during the past few decades shown symptoms of intensified selfishness. Selfishness which is decidedly hurting our every day business competence, and which it permitted to go on rampant will eventually honeycomb our community. Selfishness which breathes of the spirit of "let George do it, Jones pays the freight" and selfishness in no wise bears the earmarks of brotherly interest or human belief.

It is true that we are living in a mechanical age and this powerful light which is thrown from mechanics and science is having a tendency to blind our eyes and to turn our heads away from the human side of life, and we are obviously developing an attitude of taking rather than of giving. Are we going to tear down in the twinkling of an eye what has taken centuries of sacrifice and effort to build up—the spirit of service? Are we going on and on worshipping at the shrine of mechanics and science and totally and completely forgetting the human side of life, or will we be able, through determination and willingness, to stop this mad rush in which self is involved and get to realizing that our prime objective is to build a life for the benefit of others, and that this is only possible through consecrating ourselves to the ideals of service.

This community and every other community will remain pagan until we begin to fully realize and appreciate the fact that we cannot ever expect to get happiness out of life until we begin to put some of happiness into it. And until every clear thinking individual reaches the conclusion that community building is a well defined part of every citizen's life and his job. The object of life is to build, and such building taken collectively can only mean community building—a place in which living is found to be both pleasurable and profitable—a place we love to call home—a place where we are assured of our children being well raised and educated, and a place where confidence and trust, and harmony and tolerance will permit us to build a substantial and a god fearing city through the building of better men and better women.

This requires work and hard work. It requires unselfish and unending work—work whose reward is in no wise measured in terms of dollars and cents, but whose reward in measured in a commodity over and beyond the measure of mere money and here in Baird there could not possibly be gotten together a better qualified group of workers or under more aggressive leadership than this Chamber of Commerce. The thing that Baird needs, however, is a bigger and a better Chamber of Commerce.

At the present time we are boasting of our strength to the extent of some 56 members. What we need is 200 more members and then 200 times as much willing effort and energy put into that sized organization and we are going to be able to truthfully tell the world that there is no better city under the sun than Baird.

The practical and attractive side of the proposition is that the thing can be done. I reiterate what I said a few moments ago, that this will require work, and I believe I am safe in saying that of all the membership of the Chamber of Commerce there are none who are physically unfit.

Then suppose we quit trying to render service on paper and begin to render it in a physical form. Suppose that we quit trying to make ourselves believe that we can make this city what we all want it to be, by simply thinking and talking about it, and take off our coats and roll up our sleeves and actually go to work. Suppose that we begin to understand that the boys and girls in this city are bound to be men and women that will be found here tomorrow, and that we therefore take immediate steps to remove every possible obstacle that in anywise tends to stop their progress. And that we agree here and now that it is going to take the Chamber of Commerce and all the men, women, boys and girls to put over the program that will eventually make this city second to none; that will be the means of creating more beautiful homes and more attractive streets; that will put in actual constructive use work day in and day out the wonderful climate and sunshine found in this locality; and that will honestly earn for us the title of being not only the most progressive, but the most beautiful city in all the West.

I hope that we will become closer and better acquainted with one another, and that we will discover that our aim and objective with regard to service is one and the same.

I hope that we will appreciate the fact that building a city calls for proportionately as much character building as it does brick and mortar, and hope we will be furnished with the thought that life in its final analysis is just service, and that there is no greater service that we can render than to willingly become in our own community the standard bearer for a bigger, better and more beautiful Baird.

Pair Unable to Say

Farewell Before Death

Budapest, Hungary.—With five minutes to say good-by before their death, allowed by the court, Mitzi Lederer and her husband, Gustav, a former lieutenant, choking with anguish and blinded by tears, were unable to say a single word. They had been convicted of the murder and dismemberment of the owner of a sausage factory, Frank Kudelka, who was visiting the couple in a suburb of Budapest. The two embraced in a final meeting while the presiding judge held a watch. "You have five minutes," he said. "Four—three—two—one, and now no more time to bid each other good-by." The man and wife were parted and immediately executed.

Cave Discovered When Quarry Bottom Falls

Hagerstown, Md.—Collapse of the bottom of a stone quarry during blasting operations, in the vicinity of Rohrer'sville, south of Hagerstown, revealed a cave of rare beauty.

The cave is on the farm of C. C. Keedy. The walls are of many colors, as revealed when lanterns played upon them. The cave was filled with many stalagmites and stalactites.

Several years ago farm workers fell into a hole on the farm of E. E. Hutzell, between Boonsboro and Keedysville, and a cave running nearly a mile into the earth was found, with many wonderful formations.

TO MAKE EVERY YEAR A BETTER YEAR

My young friend, what did you accomplish last year? How much improved is your store of financial wealth and how much have you gained in practical knowledge that will improve this year and years to come? Have you a foundation upon which you can build a career—the future you desire?

Here is what the graduates of the Byrne Commercial College have done and what they may accomplish in the future, through what they have accomplished in three to four months in that institution. In this space of time they have stored up practical knowledge that has enabled them to accept good paying positions from which they may advance to places high up in the business world. They are on the road to success. They have not only learned a trade, so to speak, by which they are assured independence, but they have laid a foundation, financially and socially.

They have accomplished this by work, effort and interest. Three of these students have exceeded all previous world's records in the mastery of shorthand. These students have taken one hundred and twenty five awards from four typewriter companies, for speed and accuracy in typing. They have made enviable records in bookkeeping and cotton classing. All this in this short space of time. Every graduate is employed and rendering satisfactory service, and more could have been placed.

In Byrne training there are "no blanks". Every one who completes one or more of the ten courses in the Byrne Commercial College is sure of a position if he wants one. He is bound to advance and grow, he can't help it if he works.

What will 1926 bring you? "It's up to you." You can make it just what you will and on what you do now, depends your future life. You are at the turning point; which way will you turn? Will you join the ranks of the progressives, the B. C. C's, or will you go on deeper into the rut? For free catalogue, clip and mail to H. E. Byrne, Pres., 1924 1-2 Main St., Dallas, Tex. ## ONCE NOTED SALOON IS NOW CURIO SHOP

Great Display of Snakes' Rattles and Antlers.

San Antonio, Texas.—In the heart of San Antonio is a saloon which is known round the world for its curios. In the days when a fellow could raise a thirst this curio shop, which persists in keeping the name of the saloon in spite of its Volstead dignity, brought horns and heads from all parts of the globe to the city.

The horns, about a thousand of them, including heads, are still on display. This is the finest collection of its kind in the world and a unique one. In it there are represented the horns, and heads with horns attached, of deer, elk, rhinoceros, walrus, giraffe, etc., from all parts of the earth. Almost any animal that can boast a horn is to be found at Albert's Buck-horn curio shop, as it is called today.

Over the bar there is mounted the largest steer head in the world, the dimensions of which are, from tip to tip, 7 feet 9 inches, 11 feet along the horns and 21 inches around the base of the horn.

This is an African product and is valued at $5,000. To compare with this is the smallest cow horn, which is 10½ inches long and 3¾ inches around the base.

Forty-two-Prong Antlers.

Other African products are the heads of the bull and cow buffalo, the springbok, boschbok, Lichtenstein hartebeest, gazelle, gemsbok, Koker's hartebeest and the brindbill gun. Besides there are many other conspicuous heads.

Among the deer specimens is the 42-pronged head which is a rarity. Musk deer, Axis deer, deer goat, antelope and mountain deer are to be seen. These latter are from India. Other foreign deer are the Sikka and Shomberg varieties from China, all heads from Colorado and the Canadian and Alaska moose and the Norwegian moose.

Here are to be found the Rocky mountain wild sheep and goats, and particularly interesting are eight sets of deathlocked horns. These are the result of some primitive deer fight for the love of a mate. The prongs of the antlers became locked and the deer died before they could unlock them.

Texas has the greatest variety represented, however. These heads and necks are in their natural position. There are the wild Texas mustangs, the longhorn steers, two of the heads having horns measuring, respectively, 8 feet 1½ inches from tip to tip and the other 7 feet 1½ inches. Texas antelope and deer have horns in the Buckhorn.

Thirty Thousand Snake Rattles.

Above the bar, which is now devoted to soft drinks, is a fine specimen of a buffalo head, flanked by fine deer heads. Around the walls are cases with pictures of Indians, flags, cactus, eagles, etc.

One of the unique things about the place are the 30,000 rattlesnake rattles represented. On one wall is an impressive picture of the United States flying coat of arms. Upon close inspection it is found to be made up entirely of rattles, highly polished. There are 925 snakes represented in this one picture, which is highly artistic. Other rattler pictures are two Indian heads, with a bow and arrow between them, composed of 1,000 rattles, one titled "A Rattling Fine Deer," which is made of 674 rattles.

A gruesome detail is the enormous African gorilla, with many human characteristics, which was shot October 9, 1914, by one Wilhelm Mayer, in Abyssinia, West Africa. It is estimated that the age of the animal was twenty-five years. The height is 5 feet 4 inches; chest, 4 feet 6 inches; arm length, 3 feet 7 inches and hand length 12 inches.

Albert Friederich, founder and proprietor of the place in 1881, still runs the business and still is on the lookout for any new specimen he can find.

Boy Chats With Surgeon

After His Leg Is Cut Off

Nyack, N. Y.—Emil Stritwater, eleven-year-old boy who chatted with a surgeon treating his left leg which had been cut off below the knee while the boy was trying to leap aboard a moving freight train, was said to be convalescing rapidly in Nyack hospital.

After the accident the boy told his companions to call a doctor and without any outcries awaited his arrival. Nurses said he was absorbed only in his toys and was a model patient.

May Add 20 Years to Man's Average Life

New York.—Twenty years may be added to the average life of man, at present well short of three score and ten, within the next 50 years, according to indications in two of the three localities in New York state where the Milbank Memorial fund is spending $2,000,000 in community health tests.

A congested district in New York's East side, the city of Syracuse and rural Cattaraugus county, in the western end of the state, are scenes of the tests, known as the New York health demonstrations. While the New York city research is only beginning, the other districts already show decreases in the number of deaths from disease and in the amount of sickness.

A reduction is reported in the infant mortality rate in Cattaraugus county from 93 per 1,000 living births in 1923 to 65 in 1914, while the general death rate for the latter period was 12.6 per 1,000 persons, as against 14.4 in 1923.

$50,000,000 Vein of

Silver Found in Idaho

Boise, Idaho.—A vein of silver and lead ore, measuring 38 feet in a driven cross-cut, 2,200 feet below the apex, and which conservative estimates of productive value are given at $50,000,000, was found in the Walker H. McGinnis Metals company mine at Clayton, in central Idaho.

The ore tested 50 ounces of silver to the ton and 53 per cent lead, an estimated value of $1,000 a ton. Operating costs of recovering the ore were given by the state mine inspector at $5 a ton, with additional costs of transportation to the nearest present smelter of $17 a ton.

Walker H. McGinnis Metals company is a New York firm in which the General Motors corporation is said to hold a heavy interest. An adjoining property and mine prospect, the Red Bird, upon which proving operations are now being forwarded, is owned by Henry Ford.

Saturday Just a Day to Unwashed Colony

Irkutsk, Siberia.—Government sanitary inspectors have discovered several hundred miles from here a large community of Russians who have never washed or bathed and who have never used water for any other purpose except to drink.

When the inspectors tried to induce the natives to bathe there was almost a riot. The first man who was compelled to bathe was reported to have died of fright.

The members of the community, who live in great isolation and under the most primitive conditions, had never even washed their clothes or their cooking and eating utensils.

BARE HISTORY ON WAR OF REVOLUTION

Collection of Letters by Important Men Just Found.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—William L. Clements, a regent of the University of Michigan, has just made a notable purchase of important historical documents and letters pertaining to the period of the American revolution.

He does not say what he paid for the lot, for which several other collectors of historical documents have been fishing, but they say he must have paid about $30,000 for them. During his address of welcome to the five national historical associations that held their annual meetings in Ann Arbor he told them of the find and purchase of papers and letters of Gen. Nathaniel Greene and Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Clinton which contain, among other documents, 50 letters from General Green to Gen. George Washington and the same number of letters from General Washington to General Greene, all bearing upon the course and conduct of the Revolutionary war.

Tells American Story.

These letters tell the story, from the American standpoint, of the war and the Clinton papers deal with affairs in New York, Philadelphia, Charleston, Savannah and other centers of British war activity.

In the collection is the letter of General Cornwallis announcing his surrender at Yorktown; the correspondence between General Clinton, Maj. John Andre and Benedict Arnold, which led up to the treason of Arnold, and an unpublished history of the revolution written by General Clinton some time after the war.

These documents are now on their way from the East to the Clements library. It is said that there are more than 14,000 separate items in the Clinton collection alone.

Boon to Historians.

The historians have a systematic survey of the Clements library collection, and they are agreed that nobody will ever again be able to write on the American revolution with the support of documentary citations without visiting this collection.

Even the casual student of American history realizes that most of the existing histories are loaded with errors which have grown out of partisan prejudices, partial information and misinformation, but the great scholars are of the opinion that most of it stands in need of a complete revision and an elimination of false and unfounded statements which have been disproved by later discoveries.

Sentences Boy to Go to Church and Read Bible

Porterville, Cal.—Floyd Jefford, eighteen-year-old Porterville youth, must attend church or Bible school every Sunday for four months, according to suspended sentence pronounced by Judge W. B. Haines.

Jefford was charged with possession of liquor and was fined $100 or 100 days in jail. If he attends church or Bible school regularly for the next four months and no more charges are preferred against him the sentence will be withdrawn.

Judge Haines declared there was much greater need for kindness and guidance in juvenile cases than for punishment.

Oriental in Hawaii Take English Names

Honolulu.—Girls in Hawaii do not wait for marriage to change their names.

An account given recently by David Akana, of the Territorial birth registration bureau, says that upon entering the teens, Chinese and Japanese children give themselves English names.

According to Akana, the same must change when the native costume does, and oriental flappers and shells search for names that will be better suited to the dash of American sport clothing. Consequently the names of Yoshi, Yuki, and Haru become reincarnated in Elsie, Daisy, and Rose. Girls are more fickle than boys in the matter of changing their names, and when oriental parents register a birth, the officials encourage them to give the baby an American name, to obviate any later changes. However, the majority of the parents, especially the Chinese, are insistent that their children follow the old names.

Following an ancient custom many oriental babies are named after holidays if the birth occurs then. Consequently some oriental children in Honolulu have such names as Easter Sunday, Armistice Day and Victory Day, and so on, down the list.
