MINDSZENTY: Gets Life Term

The trial of Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, was over and the verdict came as no surprise. The Cardinal was sentenced to life imprisonment on charges of treason and black marketing. If there were an unexpected element in the outcome it was that he was spared.

But at trial's end even that hung in the balance. Cardinal Mindszenty still could lose his life. Under Hungarian law, while his sentence of life could be appealed, the supreme peoples tribunal, last court of appeal, could increase the severity of the sentence which, in this mean only death.

THE CARDINAL was doomed from the outset. His plight had so stirred the Christian world that denunciations of the Hungarian government's actions were almost universal. Powerful western nations, through their leading churchmen, had attacked the trial procedure and this, in turn, had incensed the Communist-dominated Hungarian court to a point where the issue was never in doubt

It was generally believed that it was only reluctance to make a martyr out of the Cardinal that averted the death penalty.

Hungary lost no time in assailing American representatives who Instead, he lashed out vigorously actually, or purportedly, sided with the cardinal. Among targets of these attacks were Cardinal Spell-GOP ranks man, of New York, who delivered a scathing sermon against prosecution of Mindszenty, and Selden Chapin, U. S. envoy to Hungary.

INFLATION: People Curbed It

The people, themselves, can claim major credit for the recent check to national inflation. That is the conclusion of the family economics bureau of the Northwestern National Life Insurance company which conducted a study of

THE STUDY developed that a slowdown, halt, or reverse of six main factors in the 76 per cent rise from pre-war price levels had been brought about.

It found that as late as last Average $3,000 September, the public still was bidding frantically against each other for more goods than were being produced in many lines But in the final two months of 1948, consumers suddenly quit trying to outbid each other.

With industrial production in high gear and comparatively free interruptions, output and available supplies of most consumer goods were gaining steadily.

Government bidding for grain in Europe, which ran grain prices up to record heights last year, slowed down as world grain production

THE LONG RISE in wage-costsper-unit of goods was slowing down, the study said.

Continuing its listing of the six factors, the study reported that rapid expansion in money supply, both cash and credit, due to vast government borrowing, had also slowed down.

Borrowing by business for expansion was listed as the sixth factor which was slowed down because of tightened restrictions.

But the first and foremost cause of the current price deflation, the study concludes, has been the halt in the public's scramble for goods. By trimming their demands to fit within available supplies, the people have recaptured some of their normal control over prices.

B-29'S:

The army air force was making a point for its contention of its nce as an effective arm in itself. Four air force B-29's scored direct hits on nine fighting ships attacking Kediak island III the navy's north Pacific war games. An airman shoard one of the bombers said the formation spotted the nine ships 250 miles southeast of Kodial: and registered bombing hits in three runs at 20,-

THE SHIPS were part of a navy task force attempting to retake the island from a theoretical enemy.

The report was significant from two standpoints. First, because the air force termed it important enough to report. Since that was done, it was motivated, probably, by the fact that the air force wanted to show that it had demonstrated the efficacy of the power of land-based planes in an offshore attack.

American 'Know How' Aids In Development of Nations

By BAUKHAGE

WASHINGTON-When the various departments of the government began to gather data for the President to be used as the basis for pre-liminary legislation for his "bold new program" of establishing the machinery of world cooperation for the development of undeveloped countries, it was a surprise to many to learn that many of these agencies are by no means starting from scratch.

The department of agriculture of course, has had the longest and most successful record in this line- a good 10 years. In 1939 it had become all too evident that in a world where the free flow of trade was threatened by rising anti-democratic hegemonies, we had to look to our nearer neighbors for many things which we did not produce at home, and which they could, but did not, produce themselves.

Congress was quite willing to authorize the department of agriculture to lend some of its technicians to other countries and to help such countries as were willing to cooperate to set up agricultural stations for the purpose of putting American techniques into ac-For those who may have questioned the expenditure in this connection, there is some satisfaction in noting that the experiment paid from the standpoint of all concerned including the peoples of the countries involved. On the average the United States puts out one dollar for each three dollars spent by the other countries. In 1943 Latin American countries were expending $500,000. In 1948 they invested $1,178,000.

The countries in which the stations are located an official of the department explained. supplies "land, buildings, associate technicians, office and service personne!, equipment and supplies available within the country, and funds for op-erating expenses." The United States supplies the "know-how" and the specialized equipment necessary.

The plan pays out, the department explains, this way. Asistance in raising crops such as cocoa, coffee, certain fibres, medical plants, tea and rubber, has increased the revenue from them. They are products in demand in this country. we don't or can't raise. The dollars they earn are turned into many manufactured products which these countries purchase from us.

In the last special report issued by the American military government on the Licensed Press of Gerother type of experience which the United States has had in attempting to provide the "know-how" for a foreign nation.

Some of the seeds which have been planted and which it is hoped will grow, thanks to the application of American techniques, are those which should produce a free and democratic press in Germany.

It would be somewhat rash to try to teach the Germans all about the publishing business. After all Gutenburg, who invented printing, was a German, and ever since his time the Germans have taken the lead in many of the mechanical processes connected with the publishing business. But when the American occupation forces moved in, there was nothing that resembled a free press in Germany, and if there had been it hardly could have flourished under the conditions which then existed. Even today the best we can expect is a "nearly free press" and that is what it admittedly is.

In the United States zone and in Berlin there are now 56 newspapers licensed by the United States. These papers own a cooperatively-operated news agency. These publications are not, and never have been, 'pre-censored." They are care fully read by the military government officials, and some have been suspended, after warning. these occasions have been few.

The mission of the military government in the field of the press, as planned and applied to date, has for its first point:

"To help democraticallyminded and trustworthy German publishers and editors to build an objective, free, democratic press in the U. S. Zone in Germany and to prevent the resurgence of Nazism, militarism, racism, pan-Germanism, or nationalism in the newspaper and news agency field."

The special report explains that controls which were imposed when the papers were first established in order to conserve scarce materials, supplies, and equipment and in order to train editors, publishers, and journalists in the tradition of a democratic, free press have been progressively lifted so that for two years at least the U. S. zone has had a "nearly" free press. The eventual goal has been from the start an absolutely free press to the extent that this condition obtains in the United States and Great Brit- into service ain or other democratic countries. What have been the results? In the view of the military govern-

"Democratically-minded and trustworthy German editors and publishers have established a solid core of independent and democratic newspapers in the U. S. area of occupation. They have been encouraged to maintain their independence and objectivity against all attacks and to resist the encroachment of government or of other special interest groups and protect their right to bring the news of Germany and the world to the people of Germany and to comment upon it.' The question that remains, however, is this: when the controls and the existing regulations are removed, will the Germans graduate from a "nearly free press" which the Americans have encouraged to a genuinely free press which Americans consider an essential of democracy? Will the Germans, who for centuries have accepted control and regimentation from above, be able to start out afresh and make use of the democratic techniques to which we have attempted to expose them? That is one kind of "know-how" it is hard to pass on.

Haylift Whips Winter Blizzards

The winter storms which attacked the range country and presented what looked for awhile like a major 'ragedy to the cattle industry didn't turn out to be as bad as some people feared, but it might have been considerably worse if it hadn't been for what happened in the Pacific slands in World War II. The Japs used to say that the American's most terrible weapon was the bulldozer and, of course, the Sea-Bees wrote epic history on a clean slate

The same might be said of the air force, so far as the snowbound we have an example of an- ranchers, especially those in Nevada were concerned. There the havlift took them over the first, worst hump of the storms

The Great Plains always have furnished hazards unknown to other parts of the North American

As C. Watren Thornwaife, soil conservation expert of the department of agriculture says of the Great Plains: "In a desert, you know what to ex-pect of the climate and plan accordingly. The same is true of humid regions. Men have been badly fooled by the semiarid regions because they are sometimes hamid, sometimes arid, and sometimes a cross between the two. Yet it is possible to make allowances for this, too, once the climate is understood."

One of the worst blows in the winter storms was struck in the southwestern part of the area affected, southern Nevada and northern Arizona, where ordinarily there is all-winter feeding. There are low altitude ranges there which make it unnecessary, under normal conditions, to provide winter feed. When these were cut off there just wasn't any feed available

The early settlers who struck west were suspicious of the plains. They didn't realize that the gama and the buffalo grass which covered those plains and provided plenty of sustenance for the millions of buffalo which roamed them unmolested, could resist drought as efficiently as it does. For miles there would be no water in sight to the men in the prairie schooners, so they took for granted the land was not liveable and pushed on to the coast. The grass, as long as it was there-and the buffalo were good conservationists and didn't overgraze it-reduced the run-off after rains and prevented erosion. But the first adventurers had westward-ho written in their hats anyhow, and they headed toward the coast.

Then came the farmers. The eattlemen were driven further west, the plow broke the plains and dug the dust bowl.

But agriculture is a closer-knit industry now and it had many means of assistance besides the army upon which to draw to help combat the recent blizzards-help which the early plainsmen didn't have; the department of agriculture had its organization; the foresters had equipment easily pressed

Ancient Toys Were As Ingenious as Ours

The dolls of ancient Egypt were very realistic, featuring movable arms and legs, and wigs of woven hair interwoven with tiny balls of clay in imitation of the typical headdress of the Nubian maidens.

Little girls played with doll houses completely furnished with mirrors and dresser chests with movable drawers. Nor was the virtue of industry overlooked by the "baker at work." This favorite toy of both boys and girls was a movable figure mounted on a board which "kneaded the dough" by moving a lump of clay back and forth as the youngster pulled the

WEEKLY PICTURE STORY

There They Stood With Their Cameras . . .

That picture at the top, composed of a flower, a yo-yo and a plethora of human adipose tissue, reduces the male animal to a remarkable degree of absurdity. It probably will strike you as screamingly hilarious. Or it might foster in your mind a sense of vague, unidentifiable embarrassment with the race of man. That's what makes it a good picture. The photographer entitled it "Just Playing" and it won him first prize in the non-professional feature class of the 1948 Graflex photo contest. The following camera studies are other prize-winning ertries in the contest.

The fissionable photo at the left, "Dali Atomicus," took first prize in the professional action class. It is a surrealistic treatment of a surrealistic subject, Salvador Dali, in a surrealistic setting. Just what obscure symbolism is embodied in this connection of the leaping Dali, two flung cats and a flying tongue of water may not be clear to you. Don't worry about this. It probably wasn't clear to the photographer-or Dali either, for that matter.

"Oh, My Deah," the picture of the supercilious baby, was awarded second prize in the professional feature class. Photographing young children, although it generally produces an abrasive effect on the patience, nevertheless is amply rewarding when it results in a delightful study like this. Sure, it's more heart-warming than a hot brick. .

Top sports shot in the Graflex contest was "Pardon My Gloves." The action, arrested at the moment one man's glove crunched against the other fighter's face amounts to an excellent representation of suspended brutality. The impact of the gloves becomes almost a tangible thing to the vicarious beholder. Second prize in the professional action class was the award the picture earned.

No Crystal Ball Needed To Tell Needs of Soil Tests Will Give Farmer Answer to Question

You don't need a crystal ball to tell you whether your soil needs lime.

A soil test will give you the yes or no answer. Where a deficiency exists, a test will indicate how much lime your soil needs. County agricultural agents, vocational agricultural teachers or agronomists at state colleges and experiment stations are glad to cooperate in making such tests.

Testing is always the safest course in applying lime. Some soils have plenty of lime. Adding more might be harmful rather than helpful to crop production.

To soils that need it. lime is the keystone of any well-planned soil building program. Lime adds needed calcium. Lime boosts the efficiency of fertilizers. It neutralizes acid soils and makes possible the growth of sweet clover and alfalfa. These deep-rooted legumes add precious organic matter to the

But lime by itself cannot do the whole soil building job. It has to be supported by the generous use of phosphate and potash fertilizers, by plowing under deep-rooted legumes, by the return to the soil of all possible animal manure and crop residues.

Plowing Under Organic Matter Aids Oxidization

Plowing under some organic matter in the field or garden is a good way of disposing of crop residues because the microbes "burn" or oxidize them.

They do this slowly, yet the process of microbal combustion of such materials may have disastrous effects on a crop planted soon after plowing, in which case it is said the crop was "burned out."

Microbes need more than energy "go" foods. They need the "grow" foods, too, just as humans do. They do not demand that the nitrogen be given them in the complete proteins or the more complex compounds of this element as humans do; nevertheless, they are just as exacting in their needs for nitrogen, at least, in its simpler forms.

Dr. William A. Albrecht, chairman of the department of soils, University of Missouri college of agriculture, in discussing how soil microbes get their food, points out that they get it before growing crops get theirs.

Heat Hurts Cows

American dairy farmers have learned that some discontented cows, like some discontented women, can be expensive as well as

Most of the cow's troubles can be traced to heat and humidity. A cow, unlike a human being, can perspire only through the mouth. So when the temperature and humidity inside a barn get high, the animal becomes uncomfortable and stubborn-particularly at milking

The U. S. department of agricul ture says an average cow gives off almost a pint of water every hour through breathing. In addition to the high humidity caused by this breathing, a cow has an extremely high body temperature.

During the winter months when the cows are in the barn most of the time, this combination results in the generation of an enormous amount of water vapor and heat When the warm, moisture-laden heat comes into contact with the cold walls, condensation and frost is formed.

The net result to the farmers is rotting beams, joist and siding; a loss of hay because of the mold created by moisture and frost; milk contamination, disease, particularly among the young stock; reduction of milk production because of the discomfort to cows, and farmers are forced to work under unpleasant conditions.

A simple solution to all these costly problems is an automatic cooling unit which is proving tremendously popular with dairy farmers in general and cows in particular.

Then cut 8 or 9 shamrock shapes with a shamrock cooky cutter. With spatula, carefully arrange shamrocks on first gelatin mixture, allowing one for each serving. Chill. Cut in squares.

If desired, cubed or riced gelatin may be used for decorating instead of shamrocks.

Asparagus tips riding on toast points with smooth, well-flavored cheese sauce make a truly springlike dish for luncheon or supper. The green and yellow color scheme which this combination makes will make a welcome sight for winter-weary appetites.

ASPARAGUS,, that aristocratic vegetable, which comes into season early in Spring is some green-tipped vegetable is one of the true appetite treats of the sea-The can be changed from supplementary to a main dish if you serve it on toast with a cheese sauce because cheese is a high grade protein food. The cheese sauce is also an excellent idea to remember if you want to add interest to leftover vegetables.

Asparagus on Toast with

- Cheese Sauce 2 tablespoons butter
- 4 tablespoons flour 2 cups milk 1/2 pound American cheese

shredded Salt, pepper Hot, cooked asparagus tips Toast points

Make cream sauce with the butter, flour and milk. When thick and smooth, add the shredded cheese and stir until it is melted. Season to taste. Place each serving of asparagus on 2 toast points and cover with a generous amount of hot

If you want to make a spring vegetable platter that looks pretty as well as one which interests winter-jaded appetites, this next recipe is just the thing:

*Spring Vegetable Platter (Serves 6)

- 1 pound green beans 4 medium carrots, cut in strips
- 1 box frozen asparagus 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped 1/4 cup butter
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Cook green beans in boiling, salted water for 30 minutes. Cook carrots in boiling, salted water for 15 minutes. Cook spinach without water 5 - 8 minutes. Arrange spinach in center of platter and garnish with egg. Arrange drained green beans and carrots in spoke fashion around the spinach. Pour over them a sauce of the butter melted and mixed with lemon juice. Garnish the platter with the following: Roll slices of luncheon meat spread with salad dressing around tiny sweet pickles. Fasten with toothpicks.

Like creamed cauliflower? Stick 1/2 cup of salted almond meats in the white sauce after pouring it over the vegetable for appetite appeal. Young cabbage cooked in milk rather than water is delicious to taste. Melted butter mixed with lemon juice and chopped parsley makes an excellent sauce for whole cooked carrots. Cup of corn added to 3 cups of is delicious

Ideal World

Lesson for February 27, 1949

ANY MAN with a revolutionary new idea has to try to explain it. Jesus was no exception. As a young teacher of religion, he had to answer the question which older teachers were bound to put to him: If your teaching is new, how can it be true? And if it is true, what can be new about it? This was a fair question. The Sermon on the Mount is Jesus' answer to it. The Dr. Foreman main theme of that sermon is the kingdom of God, an ancient phrase but with new meanings as Jesus used it. We can say "The Ideal World" and mean just the same thing.

The Right People TESUS EMPHASIZES, above all, the kind of people who belong to God's Ideal World. This would be surprising to some modern planners. Communists think that if you can once get a world in which every one has enough to eat and drink and wear, a world where nobody is poor (or everybody is as poor as everybody else, which is all the same thing), you will have the perfect world. Jesus would know this is nonsense. You do not get the perfect world by improving the soil, or the system of government, or the economic system; you do not get it by passing laws of any kind. This does not mean that such things are unimportant-far from it.

But the fact is that even after you got your perfect social system, with perfect politics and perfect distribution of wealth, even a perfect climate and soil, you would still be nowhere near the Ideal World unless you have improved your people.

Is This You

WHAT WE call the "beatitudes" (Matt. 5:7-12) is Jesus' eightpoint program for the citizen of the Ideal World. The right people are happy people, to begin with. (The word translated "Blessed" is a regular Greek word for "happy.") But the main difference between different kinds of people is not that some want to be happy while others do

Jesus' ideal people are humble not proud; they see their sins and are sorry for them; they are "meek"-that is, they are not in a hurry to demand their own rights; they do not merely admire goodness, they are positively hungry for it; they are merciful, not careless or cruel; they are pure in heart and not only in speech and act; they are not mere peace-wishers or peacelovers (who isn't?) but peacemakers; they are people who are brave enough to do what is right.

DO YOU really want an ideal world? The best way to begin is to learn how to be a citizen of such a world. Jesus uses two interesting simple words to describe the kind of people he means. You are salt, he said,-you are light. Salt and light are old-fashioned things but they have never gone out

So there is no substitute for a really good Christian. Living, here and now, like citizens of the ideal world to come, Christians are both salt and light.

Salt because they give a taste to otherwise flat or bitter life. Salt hecause they keep human society from going rotten.

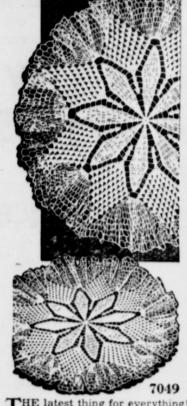

A ND LIGHT! Like salt, light ought not to be too noticeable. A glaring light is bad on the eyes, as too much salt is bad on the tongue. So a Christian is not supposed to rub his goodness in on other people, so to speak. He is as indispensable as salt in bread-and should be as inconspicuous. But light, like salt, if it is any good has to be applied directly. A strong light concealed in a steel tube does no good. Swishing the glass end of the salt-cellar around in the soup gives it no flavor. The salt must get into the soup, the light must touch what we

So the Christian, God's ideal citizen-in-training, can do the world no good by running away from the world.

If a Christian is going to leave this world better than he found it, even a little bit farther on toward the Ideal World, -he must come into touch with the world, not to imitate it but to change it.

For Joyful Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

This splendid recipe is used by mil-lions every year, because it makes such a dependable, effective medicine for coughs due to colds. It is so easy to mix—a child could do it. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a special compound of prov-en ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial irritations.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dis-solved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey. instead of sugar syrup.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and fill up with your syrup. This gives you a full pint of cough medicine, very a full pint of cough medicine, very effective and quick-acting, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it. You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving quick relief. It loosens the phiegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way, Pinex Saves You Money!
