Draw Methodists Hold Homecoming

The Draw-Redwine churches enjoyed the day together at Draw Sunday, the occasion being "Homecoming Day" for former members of Draw Methodist Church, according to Rev. Jesse Young, the progressive pastor.

"Some sixty former members of the Draw Church were present to enjoy fellowship with friends," Brother Young stated.

"Rev. Ben Hardy of Ta'ora", he continued, brought a very timely and soul-stirring message Sunday morning on "Work".

"Lunch was served in the church for all, and some said they never saw so much good to eat."

"In the afternoon Rev. W. L. (Billie) Porterfield of Blackwell, Texas, a former member of the Draw Church, who surrendered to preach while living here, brought a message that will long be remembered by all present on "The Way in Which the Christian Follows Christ."

The Church was organized in March, 1907, by Rev. J. O. Gore, with four members, Brother Young states. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Waller, Miss Emily Waller, and Mrs. Kattie LeMond. Miss Emily Waller is the only charter member living, and was present.

The Church has had twenty pastors, Brother Young further reports, and five preachers have gone out from the body and are making good: Rev. G. P. McCollum of the First Church, Gainsville; Rev. Claud LeMond, Follett; Rev. W. L. Porterfield, Blackwell; Rev. Burven Caswell, Aztec, N. M.; and Rev. John Sewell, serving in Louisiana.

The Redwine Church (Baptist) has sent out three preachers and two girls for special missionary work. "God has honored these communities in calling their sons and daughters into this high calling," he observed.

Draw and Redwine are close neighbors and really constitute a single community, and it is indeed remarkable that this one rural community should have sent forth into the big world eight of her sons as ministers of the gospel. We doubt if that record can be duplicated by a like community anywhere in Texas.

It has been suggested that the Draw Church shall make this Homecoming an annual affair, and that a

Fight Against Tuberculosis Aided By Bill

AUSTIN—The fight against tuberculosis added momentum this week when the help of the entire legislative body was sought by Texas health authorities to support the bill introduced last week by Senator Rogers Kelley and Representative Augustine Celaya, proposing a 100-bed sanatorium which would serve South and Southwest Texas.

"The rate of 147 tuberculosis deaths per 100,000 in the section to be served by the proposed sanatorium is one of the three highest in the United States", Dr. E. G. Faber of Tyler, President of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, pointed out.

"The lower Rio Grande Valley has less than 17% of the state's population, but nearly 33% of the state's tuberculosis deaths, No Texas home is safe until this highly contagious disease, with its constant danger of spreading, is under control. During the last five years, 6,500 persons have died in this section from tuberculosis. When one remembers that nine new cases may be traced to each tuberculosis death, the imperative need for this sanatorium can no longer be questioned", Dr. Faber said further.

MIDWAY CLUB STUDIES ELECTRIC MIXERS

"In buying an electric mixer, these are some of the things you would look for", stated Miss Maurine McNatt, home demonstration agent, in the home of Mrs. Henry Warren March 28.

"It doesn't matter a great deal what material the mixer is made of, or what finish it has, because all of them are good. You do want to look out for these points, however.

"It should have an automatic speed control, with full power on all speeds, that is, when the speed is cut down to one or two it should still have full speed power means that it will not stop although it is at low speed.

"A detachable motor means the user to carry the mixer, a table, or any other place. This will also save space since the food which is prepared would not necessarily be placed in the mixing bowl.

"The revolving platform however; most all mixers have this feature.—Reporter.

Advice Is Given On Sale Of Equities

"If you sell your 1940 cotton loan equity, be sure to get all it's worth," was the advice Fred M. McGinty, chairman of the Lynn county AAA committee, issued to cotton producers today.

"The relatively high domestic demand for cotton resulting from the defense program and the recent substantial increase in the price of spot cotton have made it possible for cotton producers to dispose of their 1940 cotton equities at substantial profits," the chairman declared.

Reports have reached the county office, however, that certain abuses have developed in the disposal of the equities, particularly in the use of Commodity Credit Corporation Form R, which is provided by the CCC to be used to record the transfer of the producer's interest in the loan to the buyer.

"In some instance," McGinty said, "producers are not receiving the full value of their equities and buyers are purchasing the equities without properly executing the form. The buyers then carry the forms for weeks, awaiting a rise in the market price, and then transfer the forms to a third party without actually ever possessing the cotton."

Common abuses are: Failure to date the document at the time of the sale, failure to insert in the form the exact amount the producer receives for his equity, failure of the first purchaser to sign the document, and failure to leave with the producer the green carbon copy which he should have.

Producers desiring to sell their
