Ellis Attends Car Meet

A new Chevrolet that will create entirely new conceptions of automotive beauty and performance was promised today by John Ellis, owner of the Ellis Chevrolet Co.

Mr. Ellis made his statement following a meeting with company representatives in Oklahoma City where 1953 plans were revealed to an enthusiastic audience of dealers from this area. "When we were invited to attend we were told that this would be one of Chevrolet's most important business conferences," he continued. "This was conclusively borne out by developments. Not only were we shown the most exciting product in my experience as a dealer, but the speakers made clear that the company thru its newspaper advertising and promotion would give the model unprecedented backing."
Although the date for showing the new Chevrolets has not yet been announced, Mr. Ellis is already making plans for a display of the car here. He is confident that interest in the new model will draw record breaking crowds to his show room.

Rites Read For Dewey Harris Here

Dewey Lee Harris, age 52, of here, died at 7:35 p. m. last Friday, Dec. 26th in the Lubbock Memorial hospital. Funeral services were read here Sunday in the First Baptist church at 3 p. m. with Rev. Troy Dale, the pastor, reading the last rites.

Mr. Harris was born April 6th 1900 near Whitney in Hill County, Texas, the son of Mr and Mrs. D. C. Harris. His father preceded him in death in 1934. At the age of five he and his family moved to Greenville, Hunt Co., and he attended school near there and spent his early youth there. In 1916 the family moved to Vernon, Wilberger Co., where he finished school. On April 8th, 1920, Mr. Harris was wed to Miss Esther Copeland, in Littlefield, Texas. They have three children, William Lee, and his brother, E. C. Harris traveled by wagon west to the rapidly growing area of O'Donnell moving 11 miles of town to Pride Community. He purchased a home in town in 1924 but continued to farm until 1939. He then moved to town leasing a filling station, later being employed by Line Bros. grocery and in 1946 employed by Forbes Motor Co. he being there until only recently when confined to his home with heart trouble. He was a member of the Baptist Church since a youth of 15. While living in the Pride community Mr. Harris served as a school trustee for 8 years.

Survivors include his wife, his mother, Mrs. D. C. Harris, of here, four sons, William Lee of Roswell, N. M., J. C., Joe, and Zane all of here, two brothers, W. B. of Seagraves and E. C. of here, three sisters, Mrs. Dan Burkett and Mrs. Odell Cathy, both of Lamesa and Mrs. H. L. Cathy of here and five grandchildren.

Girl High School News Reporter Covers 'Ike'

MISHAWAKA, Ill.—High school reporter Jan Myers represented her hometown newspaper on a busload of nationally-known pressmen that covered a recent Ike Day parade in South Bend, Ind., and sent back a rather glowing report, that read in part as follows:
Following a half hour of waiting we heard the whistle; and almost before we knew it the procession which, thanks to Mishawaka's own Robert Doolittle moved with remarkable efficiency and smoothness, was underway. And the people, everywhere, were cheering and chanting, "We want Ike!"
As we moved on, the reporters (there were some of the best in the country with us; New York Herald Tribune, N.A.N.A., Chicago Sun Times) began to talk shop. We were magically included; we were for a moment a part of that great comradeship which is the American press.
Gradually the talk subsided as we entered the beautiful Notre Dame campus. As the bus stopped, there was a "swish" and it was each for himself in the frantic struggle for a good spot. We got one, too — on the administration building steps right beneath Ike, with the photographers.

Happiness Is By-Product Of Living

CINCINNATI—Happiness is a bonus by-product of life, not a goal, says a University of Cincinnati psychologist.

From the psychological point of view, happiness can be attained by almost anyone, but not by chasing after it, according to Dr. Arthur G. Bills, head of the local university's department of psychology.

How To Be Happy?
For the many people who are perplexed by the question of "how to be happy," the Cincinnati professor points out this business of happiness can be reduced to a set of rules like other scientific problems—subject always to human interpretation.

"The pursuit of pleasure as a goal does not bring happiness, but there is happiness and pleasure in the pursuit of goals that are worthwhile," Dr. Bills states. As examples of chasing the wrong goal, he mentions those "lucky" persons who retire young "to enjoy themselves"—and rarely do.

"Happiness is the state of mind of the person who is in the process of achieving goals which are, to him, worthwhile," he continues. "When goals have been achieved or motives satisfied, we then become bored until we have again started in the pursuit of further goals which are worthwhile to us.

Process, Not Attainment
"It is the process, not the attainment, which gives happiness."

Fields of value enumerated by Dr. Bills are handy points against which a man can test himself. One of them should fit the predominant interests of everyone. These basic values are:

Theoretical: These people feel the greatest value is in science, philosophy, the promotion of better understanding of the universe.

Economic: Persons with this value predominant wish to add to the soundness of the economic structure, their own or the world's.

Esthetic: As John Keats said, so these people feel that "beauty is truth, truth beauty—and that is all ye know on earth and all ye need to know."

Social: Betterment of oneself or the world, including welfare and community interests are found in this value.

Religion: A value for one to whom the mystical life or sense of oneness with the Creator is all-important.

Keys to the City Come in All Kinds Of Sizes, Meaning

NEW YORK CITY—First tenants in all new apartment houses in New York will receive "keys" to the city, but they are not likely to unlock any doors.

The "keys" are on the letterhead of welcome distributed over the signature of the mayor and consist of a simple code, or key, to aid newcomers in finding their way around the city.

Presentation of some sort of a key to a city is an ancient custom, even if the keys will not unlock so much as a street-numbering system. Many cities engage in the practice when distinguished visitors arrive at city hall.

It was not always a happy occasion. In ancient times keys to the gates of a walled town were sometimes handed over to a conqueror by defeated citizens, and the ceremony was not one that called for rejoicing.

In the Middle Ages, however, the custom became more or less honorary. With the gates of European cities locked at night it proved practical and convenient to give keys to particularly distinguished or wealthy—and trusted—visitors so that they could come and go as they pleased at any hour without challenge from the guard.

The custom of giving keys to the city has even been given a reverse twist. In Washington, a District of Columbia commissioner greeted the visiting Mayor of Lima, Peru, with the traditional key and was surprised when the South American official returned the favor and presented him with a beautifully worked silver key to Lima.

Various cities give various kinds of keys. In Baltimore, distinguished visitors receive a suitably inscribed wooden key, carved from the beams of the old flag house where one of the first American flags was made. Miami has honored guests with cypress keys, and in Portland, Oregon, plywood has

Indian Says U. S. Is Just an Indian Giver

SIoux FALLS, S.D.—An Indian, Henry Paul Irving, went on a gay spending spree with a $4,800 check he received by error and neglected to report.

The government is suing Irving to recover the money. Irving was supposed to get $1,200 for a 40-acre tract of land he sold to the government. A clerical error gave him a $6,000 check intended for another Indian, the government said.

Herd Management Pays Off for Farmers

BROOKVILLE, Ind.—Dairyman are finding that the system of herd management forced on them by high production costs are paying off in increased production and profits. A program outlined by G. A. Williams, Purdue university, that has the approval of local farmers is as follows:

Grow more grass per acre. Once established, a stand of grass good enough to carry one cow per acre, costs no more to maintain than a pasture requiring three acres per cow.

Make the first cutting of alfalfa into silage. The amount of milk produced per acre from grass silage has been found to be 13 per cent more than is made when the hay is harvested.

Use less and cheaper concentrates. A study of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association records shows that many farmers with poor pasture feed as much and sometimes more grain for each pound of milk on pasture as they do during the winter months.

Labor costs on pastures are only about 10 per cent of those for growing crops.

Some dairymen when short of quality roughage attempt to substitute concentrates for hay and pasture. This allows for heavy grain allowances and often brings about a physical condition in a cow that is favorable to mastitis and other diseases.

Twins' Fingerprints Come Out Identical

LAMESA, Texas—Lamesa twins have beaten odds of 1,750,000 to one. The story was reported by the army news service from Kansas City.

Two army signal corps ROTC cadets are identical twins, even to their fingerprints. The Federal Bureau of Investigation found their fingerprints nearer alike than any on record.

This unprecedented fact was discovered when David and Walter Messingale, 21, Lamesa, reported to Lubbock, Tex., police for the customary pre-campment fingerprinting.

The officer in charge found their fingerprints identical and several of their fingers shaped almost exactly alike.

"Although we have records of this having happened in a few prior instances, the Messingale fingerprints come nearer being alike than any we have ever seen," the officer said.

"These boys have the same primary and secondary fingerprint patterns."

Pennsylvania Town Tackles Tough Job

CANTON, Pa.—Under the leadership of the Canton Borough Authority (water service), plans are now progressing for the complete numbering of every property in the borough.

The cooperation of the Canton Borough Council seems assured, thus paving the way to make the project legal. The plan has the backing of the post office, public utilities, and local firms.

Attempts have been made several times to have the town numbered but each time the task seemed too great and the project would fall by the wayside.

At the present time, Floyd D. Taylor, a member of the authority, has mapped the town and has the task two thirds completed for assigning numbers to each property.

It is the plan of the authority to have numbers purchased and as each resident is notified to have the numerals placed on the house.

In order to make this program fully effective it will be necessary to have an ordinance passed by the council and published.

The numbering project will come as good news to all residents of Canton as well as to strangers coming to town. At the present time there has been no rhyme, reason or sequence to the numbering. If a person didn't like his number he could buy any number and place on his building.

Town's Teeth

Improved in Three Years

ASKOV, Minn.—Three years ago this village was chosen to be the site of a ten-year community dental health program sponsored by the Minnesota State Dental Association, the Minnesota Department of Health, the United States Children's bureau and the village of Askov.

After only three years, tooth decay has been reduced 41.6 per cent in the three to five age group and 8.4 per cent in the 13 to 17 age group. These reductions are in comparison with the nearby town of Hinckley, Minnesota, chosen as a "control."

Before the program started Askov had no dentist and had a high rate of dental disease. The program covers 350 children and includes instruction in tooth brushing and diet, complete dental examinations, dental corrections and applications of sodium fluoride.

Marshland Muck Transformed Into Kids' Playground

COLON, Mich.—Along with operating his dairy, Lyman Decker has found time to develop another project on his property, benefitting not only his own children but all the kids in that part of town. He has transformed the greater part of his property back of the buildings, which was marshland muck, into a fine playground. It has taken several years of labor and filling but well worth the effort, and shows what can be done with wasteland.

The transformed playground is several rods wide and of good depth, running back to a spring-fed creek, making a good background. To give an idea of its immensity, there is ample room for a ball diamond, which is used for baseball, softball or football — which ever is in season. Also another section for playground equipment—swings, teeters, bars, etc. Then you find several picnic tables, convenient for anyone who desires their use, and along side the green grounds is a bit of menagerie—a pair of fox, two pairs of coon—interesting to the grown-ups as well as the youngsters.

The transformed marshland makes a safe and ideal place for an unlimited number of children to congregate for hours at a time, away from traffic.

BIG BUSINESS

New Ford Warranty Firm Grows Fast

DETROIT LAKES, Mich. — A new business here which is literally growing by leaps and bounds is the Sales Engineering Institute, Inc., which set up headquarters the first part of June.

The corporation with C. H. LaFleur as president furnishes warranties on products of the Ford Motor company.

National in scope, the corporation is increasing at the rate of approximately 200 new accounts a month.

It was 1948 that Mr. LaFleur commenced to develop his idea of a six months or 6,000 mile warranty for used cars and nine months or 9,000 miles for new cars. In 1951 he started to merchandise the warranty on a national basis, working exclusively with Ford Motor company dealers.

Approved by Ford The warranty has been approved by the six Ford Motor company regional offices in the US and in a little more than a year the warranty has been used in the sale of more than 250,000 new and used cars.

At the present time Mr. LaFleur is making plans to go into Canada, Alaska, Cuba, and Hawaii with the warranty.

The corporation has some 765 Ford dealers, including the Ford agency in Detroit Lakes, using the warranty in the United States. This figure is increasing steadily each month.

According to Mr. LaFleur there are a number of unusual features about the warranty supplied by the Sales Engineering Institute. It covers repairs on new or used cars without exclusions. The warranty is honored at any authorized S.E.I. Warranty national dealer in the nation.

Employs 18 people Five people are on the staff of the Sales Engineering Institute of office here and there are 13 men in the field.

Mr. LaFleur explains that he has used the present name of the corporation since 1931. In those early years the Institute specialized in sales training covering the ready-to-wear, hardware, automotive, and several other merchandising fields.

Hold Reunion of 2,000 Member Family

GRACEVILLE, Fla. — As you would have suspected, Florida's highest public officials and most ambitious politicians were present when the state's largest family held its 49th annual re-union in this small town recently.

The Williams family got together at Old Galilee church and made plans for a bigger and better celebration for the 50th annual re-union next year. The politicians had a field day, for the Williams family numbers approximately 2,000 members, many of whom are voters in the state of Florida.

Attendance at the re-union was larger numerically than the population of Graceville, the site of the re-union.

The Williams family members are descendants of Andrew Elton Williams, who settled near here more than a century ago and started the family off with 22 children.

The youngest and only surviving child of the patriarch is Uncle Wiley Williams, 83, Pollard, Ala. He attended the re-union as the guest of honor.

Praise Retiring Telephone Man

HOMER, N.Y. — When Denis Hartnett, local telephone installation and repair man retired recently, there were many words of praise and affection for him.

A local business man asked the newspaper here if he could run an ad about Mr. Hartnett as a tribute to 45 years of faithful service to the community. The advertiser was the proprietor of a real estate agency.

The ad ran in part as follows: We have known you, Deny Hartnett, thru all these 45 years of splendidly rendered service to the local telephone companies and to their patrons.

Your accented, booming, happy tone of big-hearted, courteous, good nature has been of great value to us, to your telephone company, and to thousands of individuals through the years.

If, as we believe, "real friends and their appreciation makes one rich" then we know of no one who is wealthier than you, Deny.

We thank you, Deny Hartnett, and may future joy and comfort "ring you up" for many healthy years to come and your priceless laugh continue to echo happiness.

Small Town Anything But Slow and Quiet

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. — Some people can't reconcile the idea of a small town with the idea of speed. But when they visit Farmingdale, their conception of a small town as a place of horse-and-buggy slowness is likely to be blasted from their heads by the roar of man's latest symbol of speed—the jet airplane. This is the home of the Thunderjet.

And as the home of the Thunderjet, the community must keep pace with the speed of progress that is being made in jet plane performance.

Less than 10 years ago the first American-built jet got off the ground, and a 15-minute jet flight was quite a performance. But now Thunderjets are racking up records of more than a thousand combat hours in Korea, they are spanning the Atlantic and Pacific and making double coast-to-coast flights non-stop, carrying heavy loads.

Today's single-engine, single-seat Thunderjet can fly faster and farther than many of the multi-engine, multi-manned light bombers of World War II, and they pack as heavy a wallop.

That is the symbol of speed this home town, often confused as small towns are in public thinking with places of drowsy tranquility, must live up to.

No More Suttons In Bixler School

ELDORADO, Ill.—Is an old name about to die in this community? Has Bixler school, south of Eldorado, seen the last of the Suttons?

For the first time in 47 years the family of the late T. W. and Sarah Sutton will not have a descendant as a student there, the Eldorado Daily Journal reports.

The Sutton family moved to that vicinity in 1905 from White county and six of their children entered Bixler school, which then was a one-room affair. The late Henry Dodd, father of Curtis and Cecil Dodd and Mrs. Cassie Mabrey, was the teacher of all the grades then, with a total of about 50 people.

Those first six Suttons attending Bixler school were Frank, Charles, Simon, William, Herman and Mary. They are double cousins of Hubert Sutton, former White county superintendent of schools and presently principal of the Fairfield city schools.

Janice Sutton, daughter of William, who graduated in 1952 from Bixler, was the last of the long line of Suttons. That is, until the great-grandchildren come along.

The building in which the first Suttons studied is now located in Parish Addition near the Boutwell property. The present school was built during World War I and since that time rooms have been added to it.

Smart Prairie Dogs Build Huge Towns

BAR HARBOR, Me.—If anyone ever tells you that your home town is going to the dogs, consider some towns that have always belonged to the dogs—prairie dogs. These squirrel like rodents are as capable in many ways of forming livable communities as man is.

Their social behavior, which has been studied by the staff of the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial laboratory here, resembles that of clannish human communities. Prairie dog towns are often enormous, covering tens or even hundreds of square miles and providing homes for thousands of animals. Despite the continuity of the towns, cliques of as many as 40 dogs are formed. The members keep out strangers. Young and old dogs of both sexes do the excluding.

Members of a clique are happy when they are not fighting a war. They groom one another, play among themselves, defend one another against strangers, and work together to build their burrows in peace.

The advantages of social harmony are shown in adaption to the environment. Amount and kinds of food available are controlled. The "dogs" cooperate in furnishing themselves with numerous homes and refuges. Such advantages might easily be lost by overpopulation, which could cause mass starvation and disease. But the smart prairie dogs exercise and control the density of their num-

This Community Has Five Names

CARROLTON, Ind.—Most towns are satisfied to have one name but this town has five and, in the 1870's, James Whitcomb Riley wrote a poem about it.

The highway signs call it Carrollton, the postoffice is named Finly, after Rep. Finly Grap; the place once was called Kinder and the railroad thinks its name is Reedville. In his poem, Riley termed it "The Little Town of Tailholt". This name came into being when an early auctioneer was selling town lots. They were not exactly going like hot cakes so the auctioneer said: "Just buy one old lot; a tailholt is better than none."
