Around Muleshoe

Members of the Muleshoe Youth Activities committee will meet Monday night at 7:30 p.m. at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum. Regular membership meeting will be preceded by the executive session at 7 p.m. President Keith Pate has asked that all members be present, and said interested parents and individuals would be welcome to attend the meeting.

Muleshoe High School's One Act Play will be Monday, April 2 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Tickets will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. Coffee and cake will be served in the cafeteria following the play at a minimal charge.

Included will be an art and band display.

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Cox of Excelsior Springs, Mo., visited in the home of Roxie Hoover last week.

Muleshoe School Superintendent Neal B. Dillman was named Educator for the Month, for March, by Texas School Business, a news magazine for Texas School Management.

The cover depicts an artistic likeness of the superintendent, and a story of his background and accomplishments is included in the issue.

Winners of the prizes given during an open house at Hidden Talents Thursday night included Bud Graves, Sudan, a latch hook rug kit; Irene Splawn, a string art kit and Jo Ann McDonald, a crewel embroidery kit.

Pete Plant will be among adult leaders participating in the 1979 National 4-H Conference in Washington, D.C., March 31 - April 6.

He will be one of the two leaders accompanying the five 4-H'ers from Texas who will be participating.

The conference will include a tour of Washington, D.C. and Capitol Hill and special sessions with Congressmen from each of the respective states.

Roy Bayless returned to his home in Muleshoe Saturday from a Lubbock hospital where he has been hospitalized recently.

He was returned to Muleshoe by his son, Sonny Bayless, who just moved back to Muleshoe this weekend.

Chavella Cordona, program director of the Kiddieland Day School at 107 East Third Street, announced late last week, that due to a lack of ticket sales, the Social Action Council has re-scheduled their raffle for benefit of the Kiddieland Day School for May 21.

She said the drawing was originally planned for March 20 and donations will be refunded to anyone RESIDENTIAL CANCER CRUSADE UNDERWAY... Marilyn Young, left, and Sherri Shipman, are co-chairman of the annual American Cancer Society Residential Crusade, which starts tomorrow, Monday, and will conclude on March 30. Volunteer workers will conduct the door-to-door crusade.

'Deadhead' Problem For Bee Entrant

He wasn't a 'deadhead' but he went 'deadhead' and won in the final round of the annual Bailey County Spelling Bee conducted Thursday afternoon. Jimmy Lee, a 13 year old seventh grader, correctly spelled 'deadhead', then went on to correctly spell 'deafen' to win the annual Spelling Bee. He resides with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Avis Burge.

Mistaking 'deadhead' for 'deadhead', was Loy Triana, who was second place winner and first alternate in the annual contest. He is 11 years old, and a fifth grade student at Mary DeShazo Elementary School.

Treasure Hunt

Slated Today

Tonight (Sunday), immediately following the evening worship service at First Baptist Church, there will be a treasure hunt for the young people of the church.

They will be divided into teams and given a clue, which, in turn, will lead them to another clue somewhere in town. By the time the fellowship is over, said Youth Director Carroll Rhodes, each team, if they have correctly deciphered the clues, will have returned to the church with all five clues. Refreshments will be served when all the teams return.

"All young people are invited to attend the evening service and stay for the fellowship," said the youth director. "Church training starts at 6 p.m. and the worship service at 7 p.m. In the Sunday night worship service, several young people will share what Christ has done for them and is doing now in their lives."

the end of the contest was Angie Salas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lino Salas and a seventh grader at Muleshoe Junior High School. The word that she threw her 'for a loop' was 'confiscate.'

Rosa Alarcon, who resides with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Benito Alarcon, found 'beneath' was too much for her and went out of the contest. 'Assent' was too much for Ray Vinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buria Vinson. He was an alternate from Muleshoe Junior High School, who filled in when contestant Suzette Rojas was scheduled to participate in a track event the afternoon of the Bee.

Kenneth Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Maxwell, went down on the word 'artistical' and watched the completion of the contest.

'Annul' was enough to throw Dorinda Shafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Shafer. In fact, 'annul' eliminated Dorinda from the Spelling Bee.

Being a young man, Gig Pierce was not familiar with the word 'amoral' and thus the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Pierce fell out along the line with that word.

Teena Sisemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sisemore, sank on the word 'afloat'. She left the stage to observe during the rest of the Bee.

Judge Explains County Policies

It was reported to the Journal for the March 1 issue of the Bailey County Journal by Chief H.E. Reeder that following a request made to the Bailey County Commissioner's Court that the commissioner's had turned down a request for the Muleshoe Fire Department to have their annual Fireman's Ball at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum.

At the time Reeder asked the Journal to apologize to the people who had planned to attend the annual sole fund raising event conducted by the firemen each year. Apparently, in an effort to clarify problems about situations where there has been some questions and on actions county court has taken, Bailey County Judge Glen Williams has made the following statement, which is being reproduced in its entirety:

"This is written for purposes of clarification and in an effort to relieve some of the confusion that exists in the mind of the public; relative to the recent publication of erroneous information about County governmental matters.

For example, it has been said that the County Commissioners turned down a request by the Fire Department to use the Exhibition Center and Coliseum for their annual Fireman's Ball. THAT STATEMENT IS NOT TRUE. The Commissioner's Court has NEVER refused use of the Coliseum to any group, club, or individual that would agree to abide by the guidelines and schedule of charges.

The Fire Department is more than welcome to hold their annual Ball in the Coliseum if they will only agree to abide by the rules. But the question is, should they be allowed to bring intoxicating liquors into the Coliseum, which is forbidden by the guidelines. The Court simply did not agree to allow them to bring liquor in. If they want to hold the Ball without the liquor they are welcome. All we ask, and we ask this of all that use it, is that they abide by the guidelines.

When the Coliseum was opened for use a set of operational guidelines and a schedule of charges was officially adopted by the Court. They were distributed among City and County leaders, and were published in the Muleshoe Journal. Those guidelines stated in part that:

1. The facility will not be used as a place of public worship.
2. It will not be used for commercial purposes.
3. No intoxicating liquor will be allowed at any time.
4. Good faith deposits will be required and rental fees must be paid by all who use it.

The schedule of charges has since been changed, but all other items remain as they were. However, they have at times been abused, that is, some have rented the facility, but have not abided by the rules. So it became necessary for the Court to re-affirm its position, especially as it relates to the use of intoxicating liquor on the premises.

The Court does not presume to make any moral judgments as to whether people should drink or not drink. Those are personal decisions. But we have a responsibility to operate the Coliseum in a proper manner; To preserve and care for it so it will last for many years to come. The drinking problem, if not controlled, will soon get out of hand, and will cause the facility to degenerate into little more than a tavern or night club, and will ultimately defeat the basic purposes for which it was built.

We have more than $500,000.00 invested in the Coliseum and it takes approximately $2,000.00 per month to operate it. This is tax money - YOUR money. We are only trying to care for it the way we believe you want us to, and in the manner that you so richly deserve.

Muleshoe has a very fine volunteer Fire Department, we are justly proud of it, and are ready to support it to the best of our ability. In fact, we spent more than $20,000.00 for the construction of a garage to house fire fighting equipment at the Coliseum. We have agreed to locate a water truck there for fighting rural fires. We paid half the cost of a small fire fighting unit in the City, and also one in the south part of the County. And we are presently working out an agreement with the City whereby the County will give more support for the

'Downed' Aircraft Report Unfounded

During the heavy sand-storm and high wind Thursday afternoon, the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center received a report of a 'downed' airplane in far west Bailey County. The initial report of the plane came in from Cannon Air Force Base.

According to the report, the plane was 12 miles south and one mile east of Farwell, which would put it right in the vicinity of Kakawate Road.

Deputy Sheriffs Bob Henderson, James Williams and Monty Phipps, DPS Trooper Paul Hernandez, Tommy Black and Cleta Williams drove to the approximate area where the plane was reported to be down. Very few roads cut through the sandhills in the rolling, sandy area so the officers drove the existing roads and trails in a futile search for the reported crashed plane.

On standby was Delbert Barry, who planned to take his private plane up to look from the sky, but high wind prevented him from taking off from the airport.

Several residents of the area being searched, utilized four - wheel drive vehicles, cutting across the brush covered sand dunes and checking the rolling hills. To no avail, the aircraft, which was reported to be upside down, could not be found.

Other officers climbed the small hills, and using binoculars, attempted to spot the plane, again to no avail.

After spending some two and a half hours searching, the officers decided to come back to town until the wind died down enough to allow an air search.

Somewhere around 6:30 p.m., Barry took to the air, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Williams. Deputies Henderson and Phipps drove back to the general area where the plane had been reported. They failed to spot the downed plane.

Barry talked to the CAFB dispatcher by radio from his plane. The CAFB operator told Barry that an F-111 pilot had spotted the plane and that it was flipped upside down beside a building.

Officers surmised that the small plane had evidently been slipped by the high wind, but had been upright and placed inside a hangar. Deputy Williams said the air search covered an area

Chairman, Board To Be Named Soon

Persons interested in the industrial development of this area met Thursday morning to formulate plans to activate the Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation. Chairman Jeff Smith requested that a new chairman be chosen, and a new board of directors named.

More than 20 persons heard Smith talk about past activities of MAIF and some of the industry acquired through the efforts of the organization, which was initially formed here about 11 years ago.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Homer Tucker of the Texas Industrial Commission at Austin. He

Downs 3-Way To Win Game

The action was fast and furious, and the play competitive, but the Muleshoe Outsiders defeated the Three Way Outsiders in a basketball benefit game for the American Heart Association.

By the time the game was over, the fast-paced teams had placed a high score on the scoreboard. Muleshoe won the game, 86-78.

All funds from the basketball game ticket sales and concession stand will be used for American Heart Association projects.

Members of the Muleshoe Outsider basketball team included Jerry Harrison, Bruce Bruns, Freddie Locker, Perry Stockard, Randy Hodge, Gary Hodge and Roger Williams.

Playing for the Three Way Outsiders were Perry Lynskey, Pat Risinger, Tommy Terrell, Bill Hodnett, Terry Pollard, John Ferguson, Robbie Sower, Ronnie Richardson, Joey Kindle, Randy Locke and Wendell Williams.

assured the group that being on an industrial team takes "quite a bit of time and effort, but also takes the interest and input from community leaders, as working for industrial location in a community becomes a community effort."

Tucker cited three things to use as a basis for an attempt to lure industrial corporations into a community. Considered should be the availability of natural resources or raw material in a community or area; how it will serve as a market; and the labor availability.

He suggested five things that need to be accomplished before trying to secure industry for any area.

First, he said, check the community appearance and attitude of the residents. If their attitude is good, and the community presents a well-kept appearance, it helps prospects.

Second, know what you have in the community and how to sell it. Emphasize the good points of the community, become knowledgeable on the community's assets.

Third, be completely knowledgeable about industrial sites and buildings available in the community. Have options on land and be able to talk with the prospect or prospects about the proper location they may need.

Fourth, have complete information on the availability of financing for the industrial prospect. Tucker added that many industries are interested in re-locating if they can have a building on a 15 - 20 year payback. Although they want the community to buy the land, and construct the building, the TIC spokesman said this is not a giveaway program.

Finally, the Industrial Foundation needs to know where to find prospects, Cont. page 6, Col. 5

Kiwanis Hear U.S. Stamps Past History

Friday morning, Otis McMillen, postmaster from Farwell, presented the Kiwanis morning program. He showed a film and explained something about the U.S. Stamp program.

He stated that the postal department was one year older than the United States, having been organized in 1775. He said the first mail did not have stamps and the receiver paid the postage. C.O.D. McMillen said he has shown the film and presented the program to 384 Muleshoe third and fourth graders, hoping that some of the young people might become stamp collectors. The United States started printing postal stamps in 1847.

The friendship coin was presented by new Kiwanian to Charles Bratcher. It was rumored that Martin might turn out to be Bratcher's campaign manager in his bid for mayor.

The Kiwanis are attempting to come up with some type invention to get Kiwanis Sweetheart Frantonya Berryhill out of bed in 10 seconds, and make it to the Kiwanis meetings. Guests at the meeting included Charles Hamilton, Lee Lewis, Joel Bratcher, Otis McMillen and Dwayne Shafer.

FAST ACTION...Last week, the Muleshoe Outsiders played the Three Way Outsiders in a benefit basketball game with proceeds to go to the American Heart Association. Shown here is some of the action as the Muleshoe team defeated the Three Way team by a score of 86-78.

Entertainment was furnished by Odessa Shanks on the piano. Cake and punch were served by the club. Flowerland donated corsages and boutonnières to the honorees.

Linda Mullin Held Program On Food Poisoning

Linda Mullin, County Extension Agent, presented a program on 'Food Safety' on March 19 in the Bailey County Civic Center for the Moonlight Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Mullin expressed that food borne illness is very much a part of our lives. There are four main types of food borne illness, botulism, clostridium, perfringens, salmonella and staph. These cause diarrhea, vomiting and stomach cramps.

To prevent these diseases, homemakers must be safer and cleaner in the kitchen. From the freezer to the table, there is a constant danger of bacteria entering the food. Care should be taken in thawing foods and fruits and vegetables should be carefully washed.

One point to remember is to wash hands before and during preparation of food. Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. Never leave foods at room temperature for more than two hours. Groceries should be put away as soon as possible, especially pork and poultry. Extreme care should be taken with these meats.

A Homemaker's Extension Fun Day will be held April 24 in Tullia. The next meeting of Moonlighters will be April 2 in the Civic Center. Anyone wishing to join may contact the Extension Office.

Past Experiences Are Key To A Happy Marriage

Today's marriages have new standards for success -- and several 'keys' will help ensure it, says a family life education specialist.

NEW STANDARDS
Companionship and each partner's personal happiness and fulfillment are major goals, Jenny Reinhardt adds.

'KEYS' TO SUCCESS
Several 'keys' to success -- acquired or experienced before marriage -- will give today's couples the greatest chance for rewarding and lasting marriages, she says.

Miss Reinhardt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

'Keys' are life skills, personal qualities and experiences that help individuals develop into self-fulfilled adults -- before marriage.

Chances of marriage success are greatest for partners who:

- **grew up in homes where parents were happy in their marriage
- **were relatively happy in childhood
- **have relatively little conflict with mother and father
- **had home discipline that was firm, but not harsh
- **have established satisfying relationships with mother and father
- **have learned -- and practice -- problem-solving skills
- **have good communication -- even when upset
- **approach situations using logic and reason rather than only emotions
- **experience love and affection from both parents
- **have frank and open communication with parents about sex, career, education, relationships and values
- **acquired a satisfying educational level
- **are prepared -- or preparing -- for a career
- **have ethnic and religious similarities with their prospective mate

**had an acquaintance, courtship and engagement lengthy enough to discover each other's major personality traits, needs and goals

**have received the approval of marriage by parents and others

**are motivated to build a successful marriage, and **have acquired the maturity to realize -- and accept -- the responsibilities involved in marriage.

MORE SUCCESS
MORE KEYS

Of course, it is not necessary to hold all the 'keys' above, but each one adds to a marriage's chance of success, the specialist says.

Certainly they are always available -- and anyone can acquire them, she adds. An individual who has not accomplished these skills or qualities can develop them through self-help or counseling, she adds.

YESTERDAY'S STANDARDS

Today's new standards for marital success are a departure from past generations, Miss Reinhardt points out.

In past generations, a basic reason for marriage was a large family -- to provide help in operating the family farm or business.

Before the age of machines, more family members meant more work was accomplished.

HAPPINESS WAS MINOR CONCERN

Furthermore, the emotional satisfaction and personal happiness of the marriage partners was not a major concern, she explains.

TODAY'S NEEDS
Today's desire for more rewarding and lasting marriages stems from economic changes, increased awareness of individual needs and an improved standard of living, Miss Reinhardt concludes.

Tax Crack.

Spring fashions will bring back 'happy days' -- for those who liked the 40's and 50's looks.

In general, spring fashions are slightly tailored -- showing fewer ruffles and tiers. They follow a 'paring down' trend that sees more close-to-the-body lines -- with a big play on legs and waist.

'RETRO' RECALLS

'Retro' is today's word for styling that recalls the 40's -- with a dash of 50's. It means broader, boxed shoulders, pared down slacks and skirts, and cinched waistlines.

SKIRTS --

Slimmer-cut skirts will show a lot of leg -- with slits up the front, down the side or in the back. Soft gathered skirts will continue their popularity.

SUIT-ABLES FOR SPRING

Suits will get lots of emphasis -- with jackets cut a variety of ways.

We'll see the waiter's jacket, the peplum of the late 40's, the kimona sleeve and a carry-over of the unconstructed jacket from last fall.

PANTS GO TO ALL LENGTHS

Tapered pants will stay -- and go -- to all lengths. They will range from short shorts to Jamaicas to Bermudas.

They will go on down -- from pedal pushers, below the knee, to Capris, just above the ankle.

And they will go on to ankle length and below the ankle.

BLOUSES TOP IT ALL

To top all that, blouses will attract attention with padded, draped, or tucked shoulder styling.

DRESSES

SHIRT WAIST RETURNS
In dresses, the shirt waist will return in soft and draping fabrics. Other "new" attractions will be sleeveless dresses and lots of long sleeves and capped sleeves -- all reminiscent of the 40's.

ACCIDENT CONTROL...

Flash floods occur with such speed -- as their name indicates -- that they leave little time for escape. Any delay in evacuating an area after a flash flood warning has been given can prove fatal, cautions the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY... Horace Brock and Dottie Wilterding celebrated their birthdays Thursday at the Muleshoe Nursing Home. The party was sponsored by the Needmore Community Club.

WIFE
Women Involved
In Farm Economics

The Muleshoe Chapter of WIFE (Women Involved in Farm Economics) met March 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the Friendship Room of the 16th and Avenue D Church of Christ. President, Joan McGuire conducted the business.

The month of March is financial drive time for the chapter to implement "Let's Raise The Money Honey". All members are selling chances on a "treasure chest", donated by local merchants. It is filled with items made of natural fibers, including sheets, tablecloths, towel sets and other items. It is valued at $300 and will be given away April 10.

Plans were made to display products at the WIFE Farm Fair in Lubbock on April 6, 7 and 8.

The bill introduced in the Texas Senate by Senator Ike Harris, Dallas Representative, hiking legal interest rates to 18% on loans over $150,000 was discussed at length. As most farm operating loans are in this category, the chapter decided to write letters to the senators and representatives asking them to register some opposition to the bill. Your senator is Bob Price and your representative is Bill Clayton. They can be reached at Senate Office Bldg., Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711 or House of Representatives, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas, 78711.

Those members present were Joan McGuire, Debra Redwine, Sue Holt, Christine Ivy, Margaret Kimbrough, Elsie Williams, Jo McCray, Jane McManis, Loranette Mason, Mildred James and Susanne Wheeler.

Study Club Discussed Federation Of Women

The Muleshoe Study Club met at the home of Lois Witherspoon on Thursday, March 22 with Mrs. E.H. Boedeker, President of the Caprock District as the guest speaker.

The program was 'History On Our Federation Of Women's Club'. Joylene Costen discussed History on General Federation Women's Club; Izetta Shain discussed History on Texas Federation of Women's Club; Beatrice Blackburn talked on the History on District Federation of Women's Club and Verda Nell Arnn discussed the History of Our Local Women's Club.

Several points of interest were brought up during this program. Four-fifths of all libraries are started by the Federated Women's Club. The Muleshoe Area Public Library was formed by the Muleshoe Study Club in 1938 with the first location in the courthouse. The club still holds a great interest in the library and help to support it annually by having book sales with the proceeds going to the library.

Blanche Johnson is the chairman of the library committee with Joylene Costen and Izetta Shain helping. Mrs. Boedeker gave some information on the Federation of Women's Club building in Austin. This was built in 1932 at a cost of $157,571.68 carrying a mortgage of $80,000. In 1938, T.F.W.C. secured a loan of $92,000 from Clara Driscoll to help with the finances to carry on their work. Then in 1939, Mrs. Driscoll cancelled the indebtedness with this statement, "In order that the club women of Texas may go about their splendid work with a lighter heart, I give them the Federation Headquarters. A Texas Historical Marker honoring Mrs. Driscoll

Consumer Food News

Best buys at Texas grocery markets this week include potatoes, yellow vegetables, bananas and "specials" on canned foods.

Also, eggs, fryer chicken specials and a few better buys on beef, Gwendolynne Clyatt reports.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This week's price-quality trends are the following: FRESH VEGETABLES... Best values are potatoes, carrots, sweet potatoes, squash and onions. Dry beans and split peas also make budget-stretching menu items.

Cabbage prices are relatively high, as are rutabagas. Slightly lower prices appear on peppers from Mexico.

FRESH FRUITS... Reasonably priced items are bananas and navel oranges expect higher prices on Temple oranges and Honey tangerines.

D'Anjou pears show outstanding quality and moderate prices -- and apples have excellent quality with moderate prices. Avocados have moderate prices -- and apples have excellent quality with moderate prices. Avocados have moderate prices.

Thompson seedless and perlette grapes from Chile -- and nectarines and peaches from New Zealand -- do have high prices. This may start a new trend, and as time goes by, these items may be standard winter items.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES -- Look for many canned foods "on special," along with tuna fish, rice, pasta products and cake mixes. Also, frozen orange juice and pot pies. POULTRY -- Fryer chicken prices are a bit higher, but specials appear on parts. Also, turkeys over ten pounds have special prices in some markets. Eggs have low prices -- with Grade A, large-size eggs the best value generally.

BEEF...A few changes in retail beef have occurred. Look for good values on chuck roast, ground beef, round steak and beef liver.

PORK...Prices are stable with good values on quarter loin cut into chops, rib and loin -- end roasts, some brands of bacon, frankfurters and liver. CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS...Lenten demands are driving fish prices up.

projects carried on each year.

Mrs. Boedeker also stated that the Caprock District Clubs were 100% in participating in community improvement for 1978-79.

She also told of the number of wigs donated to the M.D. Anderson Hospital for those who had surgery and treatments that cause a loss of hair. Also kitchen kits are being made up for people going to this hospital that will have to stay for an indefinite time and wish to check out the kit to use in cooking their meals while there.

To join the Federation of Women's Clubs, a club may be sponsored by one of the current Federated Women's Clubs, being voted in by the District Clubs, and by paying the yearly dues.

Following these reports, a short business meeting was held and the members were reminded that the club will serve the Senior Citizens Thursday.

Refreshments of chicken salad, crackers, relish dish, pineapple chunks, tea and coffee, angel food cake, fresh strawberries and whipped cream were served to Wilma Thompson, Verda Nell Arnn, Charlene Bartholf, Beatrice Blackburn, Betty Jo Carpenter, Joylene Costen, Beatriet Kent, Mildred Neely, Levina Pitts, Izetta Shain, Alma Turner, Mae Wilterding, Vivian White and hostess, Lois Witherspoon.

REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT ADVANTAGES...

Real estate investments can be an attractive form of generating additional cash, believes a real estate economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. One of the biggest advantages of income-producing real estate is that of controlling a large investment with a small amount of money by borrowing or mortgaging. Real estate also offers a tax shelter since the value of income-producing property can be depreciated over the asset's useful life. Also, real estate investments benefit from inflation.

Fire Department, and in which the City will help more with ambulance services.

Recent proposals made by the City did not ask for funds during 1979, but for some funding in 1980 which would be increased in 1981. We have informed the City that we will work on that basis if they will help give more for the ambulance. At no time has Bailey County ever refused to support the Fire Department. But, because of unexpected expenditures, we have had budgetary problems this year.

For many years Bailey County has enjoyed a very pleasant relationship with the City, and with other governmental entities. It is our desire that those relationships continue. For, in the final analysis, we serve the same people, and our interests are common. The fact that the Commissioner's Court has been mindful of our responsibilities to the public, and of our opportunities to serve, should be obvious from the following:

1. We recently had all property in Bailey County re-evaluated for tax purposes, and made appraisal cards for each parcel. That cost approximately $40,000.00. But we made the information available to the City and to the Schools at no cost. We even allowed them to use our copier.

2. To aid with the construction of the new Medical Center, Bailey County donated $50,000.00 of Revenue Sharing Funds to pay medical care for indigents ten years in advance. And, even though, year by year, we have not actually used that much we have allowed them to keep the money.

3. Of recent date Bailey County spent $14,500.00 for storm warning systems, most of which is yet outstanding.

4. To operate ambulance services Bailey County has $23,000.00 invested in ambulances and pays the Funeral Home a subsidy of $12,600.00 a year plus maintenance of the vehicles and insurance. And the Funeral Home retains all the revenues produced. The City contributes $5,400.00 per year, but has no investment in capital outlay.

5. Bailey County provides a Senior Citizen Van for the use, enjoyment, and convenience, of the Senior Citizens of the County.

6. Bailey County maintains and supports the outreach office for the Central Plains Mental Health/Mental Retardation Center, and makes a monthly contribution to the operation of the Center. We are the only County in the catchment area that does make a monthly contribution.

7. For the operation of dispatching services Bailey County pays 40% of total personnel costs, or $15,045.64, and the City pays 60% or $22,568.46, plus $10.00 per day for housing prisoners. In addition, Bailey County furnishes office space for the Probation Department, the Department of Public Safety personnel, including Highway Patrol and drivers license division, for all City officers and the Chief of Police, for the police secretary, and Municipal Judge, we furnish all utilities, and janitorial services free of charge, and we maintain, repair and operate the jail.

8. Bailey County furnishes space for the Texas Department of Human Resources which required a capital outlay of approximately $20,000.00 plus insurance, maintenance, and utility bills.

9. In response to requests from agricultural interests from all parts of the County the court has agreed to provide an Assistant County Agent which will require additional expenditures.

10. As stated before, the new $500,000.00 Coliseum was built by the County and is operated at County expense. And in connection therewith, the operational guidelines we published are for the purpose of operating it according to law, and so all our citizens may feel free to use it without reservation or embarrassment. We have one of the finest facilities in this area, it can be a tremendous asset if it is properly cared for, and it is the intention of the Commissioner's Court to see that it is cared for.

In addition, we have furnished free space in the Coliseum for the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. In exchange, the Chamber was to oversee its operation. But, like the rest of us, they ran into budgetary problems. And also the oversight required more time than expected, so they asked the County for a $1,000.00 per month subsidy. The Court however thought it best to employ a supervisor to work solely for the County.

Finally, it is the desire of the Commissioner's Court to equally and fairly represent all the people of the County, and to do so in an open, honest, and business-like manner. We will provide those services that we feel are needed, but at the same time will be conservative with your money, because we do NOT want to raise taxes.

If at anytime you have questions please feel free to inquire of the Commissioners or the County Judge, or better still, attend sessions of the Commissioner's Court.

We are not interested in propaganda and we will not knowingly promote controversy.

We are interested only in rendering efficient, courteous, and unselfish service to all our people. To that end we pledge our best efforts, and will continue to cooperate with all who will work in like manner.

Written at the request and with the approval of the County Commissioners.

At least, the officers were reassured that no plane had crashed, with an injured pilot unable to leave the wreckage, and left to weather conditions overnight.

Despite the high wind, and sand that all but obscured all vision, the officers continued the search until they were satisfied they had done their best to locate the aircraft.

He suggested training for members of the industrial team and suggested they attend a one-day seminar in Austin, saying TIC was ready and wanting to assist the communities in their industrial efforts.

It was a unanimous decision by the group to begin the necessary steps to reorganize MAIF and update the existing fact books about the community.

Horses' Early Handling Helps Learning Ability

Early handling of young horses may increase their later learning ability, research conducted at Texas Tech University indicates. Dr. James C. Heird, assistant professor and director of the horse program in the Department of Animal Science, has finished a major study involving groups of yearling fillies with various degrees of handling.

Group one had been allowed to run in a pasture until yearlings. Group two consisted of yearlings, halter broken as sucklings and stalled and handled intermittently as weanlings. Group three was composed of yearling fillies from the Texas Tech horse herd, handled almost constantly by students.

The test consisted of a modified T-maze, made up of a short hall, separated into two short branches with feed tubs at each end. Each branch has an exit door so the fillies would leave the maze without retracing their steps. The walls of the maze were eight feet high to prevent outside distractions. Feed was placed in one of the branches on alternating days.

The yearlings were put through the maze until they achieved the arbitrary success rate of 11 or 12 correct selections of the stall containing the feed, with the last eight choices being consecutively correct.

The animals were only put through the maze a maximum of 30 times in one day. If the success rate was not achieved by then, the horse was retired for the day. Each horse was run in random order each day. Heird found that the middle group, with horses handled intermittently, performed best on the maze, followed by the extensively handled group and finally, by the group allowed to run in a pasture.

Heird said those results could be expected because the interest in the task should be maintained longer by the horses that had experienced more handling. The group with little handling reacted more to outside stimulus, while more experienced horses were calmer and learned the maze and alternation pattern more quickly.

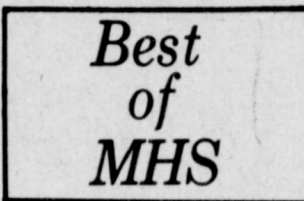

The intermediate group performed better than the most handled group because the yearlings in the group with extensive handling, he explained, needed harder tasks to keep their interest.

"They became easily bored and made mistakes out of boredom." The reason many people believe horses with early handling are harder to train, Heird suggested, is because those horses do become more easily bored and require harder tasks to keep their interest. This is particularly evident in horses raised as pets.

Heird concluded that early handling increases the learning ability of horses.

STEPHANIE BELL

Stephanie Bell has been selected this week's "Best of MHS".

Stephanie was recently selected to represent Muleshoe in the State Choir. Stephanie, 18, is a senior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dan Bell. She is HECE 1st vice president and the band drum major.

When asked to comment on HECE, she said, "HECE has been a big learning experience for me. In class I study things such as human relations and self-improvement which enables me to do my best on the job. At work, my main goal is to learn as much as I can, because it is basically another class, although I have many teachers. HECE is a great organization to be in because it allows me to explore different careers and has helped me in individual growth."

"A horse will be more reactive to outside stimulus if handled less but will be calmer in different situations if handled on a regular basis when young."

The study was a part of Heird's doctoral dissertation. He plans to continue research with the inexperienced horses by putting them through the maze until they learn the pattern in order to determine how many attempts it will require for those horses to learn new tasks.

If everyone thought alike this would be a stagnant world.

Grade Points

A new tardy system is now in effect at M.H.S. For every tardy a student receives, he or she will have two points taken off their six weeks grade. This is being done in order to cut down on the number of tardies of each student. The spanking after four tardies has been abolished and all tardy permits will be given in the office. If this method is successful it will stay intact for the coming years.

Eternal Vigil...

Salt air, the beating of heavy waves, and rains... these are just a few of the elements that a ship must face constantly. With all of these things, it is little wonder that the crew must be alert, looking for rust and other damage. New paint to protect the ship must be applied regularly.

An individual faces many things in this world, that would rust and corrupt his life, therefore it is good to begin each week with a renewing of spirit, that can be obtained only through worship in the Lord's house.

Tower Boosts Aid For Turkish Economy

Senator John Tower (R-Tex) today told a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing that "...it is a matter of greatest urgency that the United States take a strong initiative toward the restoration of Turkey's economic vitality and military strength."

Tower, the ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, asked to testify before the Foreign Relations Committee after returning from a six-nation NATO tour "deeply disturbed about the current situation in Turkey."

"Turkey is virtually bankrupt, her government is fragile, and the international political situation is volatile. The military situation in Turkey is precarious. Turkish armed forces, though well disciplined and well led, are in a poor state of readiness. Obsolescence makes much of her equipment, in many cases, no longer logistically supportable. These conditions militate against Turkish effectiveness as a member of the NATO alliance at the very time when the alliance needs stability and strength in the area," Tower testified.

The Senior Texas senator stressed that the strategic importance of Turkey, always great because of its ability to control the flow of Soviet naval vessels to and from the Black Sea, has grown enormously since the loss of listening posts in Iran, posts considered vital to adequate verification of a SALT II Treaty.

"Although we have other national technical means by which to continue gathering these data, the loss of the Iranian listening posts does put a serious gap in our ability to gather all the data needed. Now, partially to fill this void, we must rely on the good will of the Turks to permit the United States to do this monitoring from their country. Even so, the data previously gathered by the Iranian sites cannot be fully duplicated from bases in Turkey," Tower declared.

Tower told the Committee, which is considering the International Security Assistance budget for FY 1980, that Turkey needs either by disaffection or through internal collapse would be a disaster of major proportion. What I have proposed here is a modest outlay compared to the incalculable cost of the alternative. Delay in meeting this urgent need could be fatal," Tower concluded.

Tower recommended that the Committee: (1) Increase the proposed $98 million Security Supporting Assistance loan to $200 million and convert the entire amount to a grant; (2) Convert the $200 million Foreign Military Sales proposal to a total of $201.2 million in Military Assistance Program grants; (3) Provide $2 million for military education and training; and, (4) Forgive all existing FMS loans amounting to almost $437 million.

Tower said the net effect of his proposals would restore Turkey's confidence in the U.S. as a trusted and valuable ally, but "would not make Turkey into a military power able to threaten the security of any of her neighbors, including Greece."

The consequences of the loss of Turkey as an ally increases military assistance, but, because Turkey is in no economic position "to buy" military equipment or the "pay back" Security Supporting loans, U.S. assistance must concentrate primarily in the economic area to help maintain Turkey's internal security.

The Texas Natural Resources Information System (TNRIS) was recently cited in a study by the national Council of State Governments (CSG) as a good example of state agencies working together to save taxpayers dollars and coordinate the gathering, storing and disseminating of natural resource data.

The TNRIS is administratively housed in the Department of Water Resources and uses the Department's equipment, facilities and some staff. The system provides maximum availability of natural resources information to state, federal, regional, local and private entities to support a variety of activities including water resource planning, coastal zone management, land use planning, energy conservation efforts and other resource endeavors.

A staff known as "TNRIS Systems Central" is available to respond to inquiries for natural resource and related data and information by walk-in, letter or telephone.

In addition to providing access to a wide variety of state-held data, the system provides access to a number of automated, natural resource data bases available from federal agencies and private entities. The TNRIS can interface with the U.S. Geological Survey's National Water Data Exchange, the National Cartographic Information Center, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the Census Bureau, the Environmental Protection Agency, the National Technical Information Service and other such data systems.

Thirteen state agencies functioning through an interagency task force guide the development and activities of the TNRIS. These are the Department of Water Resources, General Land Office, Air Control Board, Railroad Commission, Department of Agriculture, Industrial Commission, Department of Health, Coastal and Marine Council, State Soil and Water Conservation Board, Texas Forest Service, Parks and Wildlife Department, Bureau of Economic Geology at the University of Texas at Austin and State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Destroy Bagworm Cocoons Found On Evergreens

The best time to prevent bagworm infestations of trees and shrubs, especially evergreens, is now, says Spencer Tanksley county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Tanksley says the simplest method is to remove old cocoons hanging from tree limbs. He also advises burning or depositing them with trash to be hauled away. If cocoons are dropped on the ground, reinfestation may occur.

This method of control can best be understood by looking at the life cycle of the bagworm, says Tanksley. During the winter the cocoon contains only eggs. In the spring, each larva crawls from the old cocoon and spins its own. It never leaves its cocoon, so it is relatively safe from predation by birds.

As the larva matures, its food supply declines. Upon reaching adulthood, the larva seals the cocoon to form a pupal stage and transforms into an adult moth. The female moth is wingless and does not leave her cocoon. The male is winged and does leave in search of a female.

The male moth dies soon after mating while the female deposits her eggs in the cocoon and then dies. Her remains plug the lower end of the cocoon. The eggs remain in the cocoon until the following spring when the cycle begins again.

Weed Control Can Save Farmers Millions Of Dollars

New techniques for applying herbicides may save several million dollars for Private Williams Completed Basic Automotive Course

Marine Private First Class Jackie J. Williams, son of Charles A. and John A. Williams Jr., of Sudan has completed the Basic Automotive Mechanic Course. During the 12 week course at the Marine Corps Service Support School, Camp Lejeune, N.C., students received instruction on the procedures to inspect, service and repair the wheeled vehicles used by the Marine Corps. A 1977 graduate of Sudan High School, he joined the Marine Corps in April 1978.

farmers on the Texas High Plains, a researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station here said.

"In some instances," Dr. John R. Abernathy said, "new techniques still being tested already have proven highly effective in controlling the six most troublesome perennial weeds in cotton at reduced costs to producers."

Abernathy is TAES weed scientist at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center here in Lubbock. The researcher said the six perennial weeds which cause most problems for cotton producers are silverleaf nightshade, johnsongrass, woollyleaf bursage, yellow nutsedge, field bindweed and ber-seedgrass. "Economically," Abernathy said, "silverleaf nightshade is most important because more than two million acres are infested." The conditions under which cotton has been grown for the past 10 or 15 years have provided an ideal climate for its spread, he noted.

Control measures for it in cotton are being developed, he said. "However, many farmers have achieved best control with a spot-spraying technique using Roundup." They have found it cheaper and longer lasting than hand labor, he noted.

If the herbicide is applied in the fall at the proper stage of weed development, it will control the perennial the following year, he said.

"Johnsongrass is a problem across the cotton belt," Abernathy said, "although infestations in the western part of the country are not as serious as in the Mississippi Delta."

The most promising new control technique, using Roundup is a recirculating sprayer, spot - spraying and through a rope - type applicator, is providing excellent control of johnsongrass, he said.

"Another perennial weed that is causing problems in High Plains cotton production is woollyleaf bursage," the TAES scientist said. Originally an inhabitant of plays lake bottoms, this perennial has been spread across cropland by tillage equipment dragging the weed's root system. This is how it became a problem, he said.

"Control of woollyleaf bursage in cotton is quite poor," he said. The herbicide MSMA is effective in burning it down and Roundup will control 60 - 70 percent of the weed, the scientist reported. "The most successful experimental control method is the use of a soil sterilant, whereby the land is fallow for four to five years," Abernathy said.

"Yellow nutsedge is a problem across the Southwest and often is mistaken for a grass by many farmers," Abernathy said. It is spread by tillage implements dragging through it, distributing tubers across the field. "The weed gradually loses its competitiveness," said the TAES researcher, "but early season nutsedge is a serious threat and causes economic loss."

Harold Brown, Defense Secretary, in Israel: "We have common strategic interests in the stability and well being of the Middle East."

Select Peach Rootstock For Insurance

Successful home peach plantings begin with selecting the right rootstock.

"The right rootstock is one that is resistant to root knot nematodes and compatible with the variety to be grown," points out Dr. Jerral Johnson, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "This is just as important to the life of a peach tree as selecting the right insurance for your family needs. Root knot nematodes are a serious problem for homeowners raising either peaches or plums."

Root knot nematodes are microscopic "worm like" animals that live in the soil however, once they begin to feed on plant roots, plant tissue forms a gall or swelling around the nematode. This gall is clearly visible to the eye.

Nematodes interfere with normal uptake of nutrients from the soil to plant foliage which is essential to the continued health and development of the tree, explains Johnson.

"Texas homeowners should insist on a nematode-resistant peach rootstock such as Nemaguard for their home orchard, emphasizes the plant pathologist. "Such a rootstock can be grown in an area infested with root knot nematodes, yet remains free from infestation."

Nemaguard gives excellent resistance to nematodes, says Johnson. Most Texas nurseries are currently budding their trees on Nemaguard rootstock, thus making them available to homeowners throughout Texas.

Recent rulings by the Environmental Protection Agency have severely limited the use of chemicals previously recommended to control nematodes on peaches. Therefore, homeowners must depend on plant resistance for nematode control.

The alternative to using a nematode resistant rootstock such as Nemaguard would be to use a susceptible rootstock such as Elberta. When placed in nematode infested soils, it will soon become stunted and in many cases will die in two or three years.

"Most peach varieties are now available on Nemaguard rootstock, and this should be a major consideration for homeowners selecting trees," contends Johnson.

Jimmy Carter, President:

"We have steadily reduced the federal budget over the past two years and we will continue to reduce the federal deficit further."

Social Security Student Benefit Check Threatened

Social security student beneficiaries were warned today that their monthly checks will stop if they don't complete and return a required school enrollment report.

Laura Peacock, social security District Manager in Lubbock, said reporting forms are being mailed to the more than 850,000 students 18 to 22 whose monthly social security checks currently total $1.7 billion a year.

"This spring, for the first time, school officials are being asked to verify on the form that the student is enrolled on a full-time basis," Peacock said.

"If a student fails to return the form, or the form comes back without the necessary school certification, the student's monthly checks will be stopped."

Students will have 60 days to complete and return the reporting form.

If a student does not return the form, or fails to have the school verify enrollment as required, social security checks will be suspended and the student's eligibility for previous payments will be investigated.

"If a student received checks for months he or she was not a full-time student, then those benefits must be repaid," Peacock said.

Peacock encouraged any student who needs help in completing the form or has questions about it to contact any social security office.
