ACROSS THE HEARTH.

Across the hearth of old Love,
I watched the young blood seek
Your face. Your hair was gold, Love,
The rose was in your cheek.
Not to dead years belong, Love,
Your gentle grace and pride—
When I was young and strong, Love,
And you a bonny bride.
Though years have dimmed the light, Love,
That sparkled in your eye,
To me it seems as bright, Love,
As in the days gone by.
Though others may recall, Love,
A fairer, smoother brow,
I note no change at all, Love,
Between the past and now.
And well I know, my own Love,
That every line they see
Grew not from years alone, Love,
But sprang from thought for me
And every silver hair, Love,
That crowns your noble head
Was whitening under care, Love,
Before your youth had fled.
My looks are thinning, too, Love,
And I am feeble now;—
But I have passed with you, Love,
The years that marked my brow.
And every grove has grown, Love,
Since first, in manhood's dawn,
I sought your hand, my own Love,
And it was not withdrawn.
Across the hearth to-night, Love,
I see a faded face,
But, by the flickering light, Love,
A glory I can trace—
The beauty of the heart, Love,
That yet remains your own,
And lives the better part, Love,
Though all the rest has flown.
—Philadelphia Saturday Night.

The Wild Horses of Australia.

It may be some twenty years or so ago, says the authors of "Cassell's Pictorial Australia," that a settler lost two valuable mares. The sand flies were bad, and driven by them, now walking and now trotting, these mares, one followed by a noble colt foal, never touched by man's hand, and with blood in him that could tell of Epsom and the grand national, journeyed on toward the west.

Fifty miles from their owner's home is reached; but the country is rugged and not to their taste, and on they go. Another fifty miles, and a pleasant valley affords good water and plentiful grass; but a sudden panic—caused, perhaps, by a party of blacks chasing native game—starts them afresh, and still westward they go, till finally they rest in peace far from the dwellings of men—far from the sound of clanging hobble chain or tinkling horse bell.

Month after month rolls on. Each mare foals again, and two strangers, straying from some other part, join themselves to the little herd of five and raise their number to seven. Then another summer begins, and four additional little foals bring up the total to eleven. Recruits began to pour in as civilization invaded the wild west, and when finally they were first really determinedly hunted by the white man, he succeeded in taking but a few of the quieter ones, while those which escaped became sharper than the sharpest, wilder than the wildest, and fleetest than the fleetest roebuck.

Catching Rattlesnakes for Oil.

There are places in South Georgia where men extract oil from the rattlesnake and use it to cure rheumatism. These persons will give a negro $1 to point out a rattlesnake to them, and then they kill it in a peculiar manner. They place a forked stick over the snake's head, then put a cord around it and strangle the snake. This is done to keep the snake from biting itself. The body of the reptile is then strung up and the oil extracted from it. It sells at $2 per ounce, and this industry is a very profitable one. The snakes in that section are very large, averaging five feet in length, and one rattler gives up a great deal of oil. A little negro once saw two rattlers lying close together, and wanted to get the money for finding them. It was a mile to the nearest house. He was afraid the snakes would crawl off while he was gone, and so took off his coat and placed it between the two snakes. He went off, came back and found them still eying the coat. He had them charmed. So the snake is cultivated down there as a profitable industry.—Atlanta Constitution.

Measuring the Earth.

In 1597 Fernel, a French physician, made the first attempts to ascertain the size of the earth. After having observed the height of the pole at Paris he went to the northward to a point where the pole was just one degree higher than at the point of the first observation. He measured the distance between the two stations by the number of revolutions of one of the wheels of his carriage, to which an indicator had been attached. From these observations he came to the conclusion that the earth's circumference was about 24,408 Italian miles.—St. Louis Republic.

The Professional Good Man.

Ted—I dined at Prim's last night, and the old man took ten minutes to thank the Lord for what he had provided.
Ned—What of that?
Ted—Why, when I was going in the house earlier in the evening I heard the old man bullying his wife because she asked him for $2 to buy the things for dinner.—Drake's Magazine.

Second Citizen—I presume it hadn't enough speed to get away from a foreign battle ship.—New York Weekly.

THE DRUMMER'S LULLABY.

Soothing a Crying Baby to Rest White a College Glee Club Did the Singing.
It happened that I met on the train an old road companion named Walsh, to my great joy, for he was a good hearted man, whose I had of general information was such that no one could be in his society long without gaining some benefit.

We had scarcely left the city before the cries of a baby disturbed the entire car. The baby had a lung power which promised well for a future abbe. Conversation was not to be thought of, and despair settled on every face as the child increased rather than diminished its vocal efforts.

The tired and distracted mother could do nothing to quiet the child, and while it was probable that she had the sympathy of the entire car, no one offered assistance.

At last Walsh said to me, "I am going to help that poor woman out; she looks as if she was sick and needed some one to give her a rest," and without more ado he walked over to the lady and asked leave to take the child. He made the request in such a sympathetic manner that the confidence of the mother was gained at once, and with little urging she gave the crying child over to Walsh.

The passengers stared, but Walsh had been on the road too long to be affected by anything so harmless as that; besides he was a father himself.

He handled the baby like a veteran, and sang what I believe was the only tune he ever knew, a very pretty melody, by the way:

Eye, baby, day is over,
Eyes are drooping in the clover,
Eye, baby, day;
Now the sun to earth is sinking,
While the cool breeze tinkle, tinkle,
Eye, baby, day.

He sang it so often that the words were driven into my brain never to be erased. It was not long before he had that baby calmed down, and except for an occasional sob it was as quiet as possible.

Then suddenly and quietly a gentle murmur of voices from the far end of the car arose, humming the same tune and the same words, but in a subdued yet a most beautiful harmony. The singers were members of a college glee club on their way to Chicago, and they had quietly learned words and tune, and joined in the effort to keep the baby in a quiet frame of mind. A more surprised man than Walsh I never saw, but he soon got his "second wind" and said:

"That's beautiful, boys; keep it up. I'll do the shouting while you do the singing."
The bargain was struck and it was faithfully carried out. Everybody felt a peace and good will to his neighbor, which I finally believe was due to the simple act of the dry goods drummer.—Dry Goods Economist.

French "Balls."

The learned Samuel Pegge tells of a Frenchman who, having been nearly drowned in the Seine, vowed that he would not go into the water again until he had learned to swim, and Startin, commenting upon this venerable libel (which has been reported against every nationality in Christendom), supplements the tale with the story of a Frenchman who, trying to swim the Seine for a wager, turned about when he had accomplished half the distance and returned to shore, remarking at the same time that he would rather lose the bet than catch cold. ("J'aime mieux perdre mon argent que m'enrhumer.")—Eugene Field in Chicago News.

Love Among Snakes.

John Graffus, of Bell township, was out in the woods, half a mile from home, when he discovered and extinguished the light of a black snake six feet long. Tying a string to the reptile's tail he dragged it home. The next day his son went out to look at the snake, and there by its side lay its mate—a serpent fully three inches longer than its dead mate. It seemed to be in deep mental distress, and was using all its blacksnake arts to awaken its spouse from the sleep of death, when a blow on the head with a club sealed its fate also. Thus it will be seen that the trail of the serpent leadeth to destruction.—Detroit Free Press.

New Cart.

A new cart is likely to be extensively used for farming purposes. It has a leg or support at the forward end just behind the shafts. This support ends in a slipper foot, and is mounted on a screw coupled by a chain to a hand-wheel. When the cart is about to descend a hill the screw is turned until the foot rests on the road. This acts as a brake, and also takes the weight off the horse's back.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Round Harrow to Clean Ditches.

Get a log three or four feet long and about eighteen inches in diameter. Taper down one end a little and cut a notch around it, or in some other way make a fastening for the draft chain. Into the log bore holes in circular order, into which insert ordinary harrow teeth, and you have a harrow which will clean ditches of weeds in good style.—New York Independent.

Mr. David W. Bruce, for many years the head of the well known foundry of George Bruce's son, recently transferred the entire business and plant, valued at upward of half a million dollars, to three of the old employees of the concern. The transfer was virtually a gift, as there was only a nominal consideration, said to be one cent from each man.

A FOUR CENT WEDDING FEE.

Some Curious and Laughable Marriage Incidents Related.

Rev. Mr. Woodruff and Rev. J. J. White were seated in the cozy little parlor of the latter's residence on South Third street, Brooklyn. They were discussing the marriage question and reference was made to the numerous marriages solemnized by Mr. White.

"I want to tell you," said Mr. Woodruff, "a peculiar incident that occurred to me not long ago. A young couple presented themselves at my house to be married. After I had performed the ceremony the husband gave me $1. The next day the bride called on me and said her husband had made a mistake, as it was his intention to give me $5. 'Now,' said she, 'if you will give me the dollar back again I will take it and return at once with the larger amount.' I gave her the dollar and she went away, and that is the last I have seen of her or her husband. I have done nothing but talk about the meanness of that bride from that day to this."

"I married a couple a few weeks ago," joined in Rev. Mr. White. "I had married the groom's brother a short time before. The last couple brought a large party with them, and I thought I would get a good fee from the groom. On retiring after the ceremony the young man handed me an envelope. I opened it and read: 'Mr. White: I am out of work this week, but will come on Saturday night and give you $5.' I have not seen him since."

"I knew a couple in Xenia, O., who were married by Rev. Mr. White at that place. After they had been made one the husband said: 'I have no money, but I own a large field of potatoes, and if it will suit you just as well I will pay you for your trouble with some of them.' The minister agreed to take his fee in potatoes. The husband, true to his word, brought Mr. White his fee in a peck measure, potatoes at the time being worth twenty-five cents a bushel. His fee, for performing the wedding ceremony was just four and a half cents. My namesake often told me the story and laughed heartily over it."

"I have married on an average about seven couples each week. Sometimes I have had two couples at a time. I married a man from Trenton the other night to a young woman named Lockwood residing on this street. The other day I married a minister's daughter from Newtown. Her husband was 21 years old. I told her that I took it for granted that she was a very good and pious person, because she was the daughter of a minister. She did not affirm, but simply smiled. Continuing, I said all ministers' children ought to be good, though I apprehended there is a little human nature left in them, though they are ministers' daughters. I married three couples the night before. During June and July marriage rings usually fall off, but thus far they have been my busiest months."

"Some of the couples who come here are very liberal. I joined two young persons in wedlock who walked to my house and after the ceremony gave me $10. Then I have had others who drove here in their coaches who only offered $2. You can always tell them by the style they put on."—New York World.

Alkali and the Virus of Rabies.

In the account prepared by Dr. Bright, of Kentucky, of his treatment of various cases of hydrophobia he expresses the opinion that if the blood of a person bitten is kept in an alkaline condition for several weeks the virus of rabies is by this means destroyed or rendered inert. It has long been known that ammonium alkali is an antidote to the virus of venomous reptiles if injected into the circulation immediately after the infliction of the bite.

It is remarked, however, that in the cases of children it would be more convenient to administer the chloride or acetate of ammonia, owing to the pungency of the carbonate, some care being also required in keeping the latter without a loss of any of its virtues on account of its great volatility. It is thought that after the first day or two it would not be necessary to exhibit the remedy at shorter intervals than, say, every six hours for three or four weeks. This would, it is believed, sufficiently alkalinize the blood to neutralize or destroy the rabie poison.—New York Tribune.

A Lively Yankee Skipper.

A Yankee skipper is supposed to be equal to most anything, and a recent experience of Capt. A. L. Howard, of Rockland, helps to confirm this idea. Being unable to obtain a crew in Rockland, Capt. Howard resolved to alone take his schooner to a neighboring port, having obtained the assistance of two men to help him put aboard necessary provisions. When ready for sailing he sent the men ashore and started the vessel. Watching for a moment the boat he had sent shoreward, Capt. Howard saw it capsize and the two men precipitated into the water. He at once leaped from his vessel and swam to the rescue of the landmen, righted the boat, assisted the men into it and rowed them safe to terra firma. He then swam back and boarded his vessel, which was beginning to make some headway before a stiff breeze.—Rockland (Me.) Free Press.

The Rising Star Record, a bright five column paper, is added to our exchange list this week.

THE big and little fellows are wrangling over the sixth plank. The question that is shaking the party from center to circumference was whether the word "recommended" or "favor" was in the original draft of the platform and which did the convention adopt. The leading papers published it recommend. Much ado about nothing.

TO THE BAIRD STARS: If you would occasionally send us a copy of THE STAR containing articles in regard to the District Fair, which you would like to have re-published, the Mail would take pleasure in lending it assistance to the enterprise, as that which will inure to the benefit of Callahan county will also benefit Taylor county. The truth is we sometimes get THE STAR on Tuesday or Wednesday following publication day and more than half the time do not get it at all. As a matter of course we miss it as we consider it one of the leading papers of West Texas.—Merker Mail.

Thanks, Cox, for your kind offer, we shall certainly take advantage of same, because we want people from the most remote corner of Taylor county to attend the Fair. THE STAR is mailed to you regular by the scribble person, and he can not understand why it goes astray. Will investigate the matter and try and find out what's the trouble.

Col. Frank Dorsey the Gazette correspondent at Baird, and the Gazette's correspondent at Abilene have been repeating for some time about the ones & Hearn pasture which has been out several times. The Abilene an affirms that said pasture is in Callahan county, and cites the survey of Taylor county as his authority for the statement. Frank Dorsey came back at his last week with a sworn statement from Oscar Jones, one of the owners of said pasture, who says that one foot of the pasture in question is in this county, but it is all in Taylor county, and cites as his authority the surveyor of Taylor county; whom he employed only a short time ago to survey the land. In addition to this statement Col. Dorsey offers the Abilene correspondent $500, in gold to prove that any part of said pasture is in this county. This will either put a quietus upon the Abilene man or he will pocket $500. in cash. He should anti up or shut up, for he is either in a hole or has Col. Dorsey there to a dead moral certainty.

Since the above was put in type the Abilene correspondent has thrown up the sponge and acknowledges that he was mistaken. He says he alluded to Sheriff Jones pasture and this is the pasture that was generally understood at Abilene to be the one that was cut. Sheriff Cunningham and many others there could have informed the Gazette man that the Jones & Hearn pasture, the one that was cut, was in Taylor county. The Gazette man says that the surveyor of Taylor county still insists that if Sheriff Jones' pasture is the one that was cut that it is in Callahan county. Oh yes, to be sure, but Sheriff Jones' pasture has never been cut. Every body in Taylor county, according to the Gazette man, were densely ignorant of fence cutting that was going on in their county. The Gazette man tried to throw the odium upon this county by denying the fence cutting was in his county, but when cornered on this he says it was done by a lot of lawless citizens of this county. There is no more truth in this last statement than in his first, that the pasture was in this county. Who the cutters are is unknown but we know this that not the slightest suspicion rests upon any citizen of this county as being guilty of the offense, and the Gazette man's subterfuge will not go down. Failing to prove that the cutting was in this county, he makes the bold assertion that Callahan people are guilty of the crime. If he knows who the guilty parties are he can get $800. reward by furnishing proof that will bring even one of the guilty parties to justice, be he a resident of whatever county he may.

Republicans in session. BAIRD, TEX., AUG. 23, 1890. The Republicans of Callahan County met in Convention at Baird, on the above date with a good representation present.

Wm. McManis called the meeting to order and examined the object of meeting, by reading the call as put forth by the Chairman of the Executive Committee.

On motion Wm. McManis was made temporary Chairman and W. H. Parvin temporary Secretary.

On motion the Chair appointed the following committees: J. H. Peters and W. H. Parvin on resolutions. John Rice, Justin Cook and J. A. Barnett on organization.

Committee on organization read the following report. We your committee on permanent organization recommend that Wm. McManis be made permanent Chairman of this convention and also W. H. Parvin be made permanent Secretary, adopted.

The committee on resolutions presented the following report which was adopted.

RESOLUTIONS OF COMMITTEE. Resolved that in line with the principles and policy of the Republican party as heretofore set forth in both State and National platforms, this convention reiterates the principles of protection to American Labor and supplementary with the declaration that to secure its devotion intellectually, morally and financially, has the right to organize for protection against foes within as well as foes without, and we therefore cordially invite the cooperation in the coming election of all those persons whose interests are furthered by the American Federation of Labor.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse Secretary of State J. G. Blaine in reference to his reciprocity policy as being of vast importance to the whole country and especially to Texas, and the southwest.

Resolved, That we are opposed to hostile legislation to the Railway interest of Texas, or any legislation that might work an injustice to any of the industries and enterprise of Texas.

Signed W. H. PARVIN, J. H. PETERS.

Howard Payne College.

This College located at Brownwood will open its first session on Tuesday, the 16th day of September 1889. There is at the present time, and has been for quite awhile, a great need of a first class college in western Texas. Howard Payne College has been founded and located at Brownwood to meet the great need, and now we call upon the people of Western Texas to rally to the support of this institution, established for their benefit and to prevent the necessity of sending their sons and daughters to some College in the North, or in the Eastern part of our state. The board of directors and founders of this institution of learning, knowing the great educational spirit that is now sweeping over our beautiful state and knowing the grade and high standing of the present Colleges and Universities in this state have determined to make Howard Payne College second to none, and no pains, time, hard work, or money or anything else will be spared that will help in this. The curriculum, character and quality of its instructions will be equal to any Institution of the land.

A great many speaking of a new College say, "I will wait and see if it is going to be a success before I send to it or in any way help build it up, and make it a success." In reply to this we will say first, this College is going to be a success. Why should it not be? It is located in a section of the state where sickness is hardly known and the Goddess of health reigns "Supreme." A cool breeze continually blows over mountain and vale, and a more desirable place for a young gentleman or lady cannot be found than in the western part of our own State. How much better it is to attend school at a place like this, than to be in some Northern or Eastern city where your health will fail and after having completed your "College Course" you will return home broken down in health and your life a wreck. Yes fathers educate your sons and daughters in the West if you wish to see them leave College strong, robust learned young gentleman and beautiful, charming accomplished young ladies. It has already been stated the course of study here will be made to equal any in the South.

The President of this Institution, A. J. Emmerson, A. M. D. D., of Liberty Mo., is a man who has spent the greater of his life in College work. He is a graduate of Wake Forest College and for the last seventeen years has been connected with the William Jewell College of Mo. He is a man peculiarly adapted to this kind work.

With a man of such experience and talent as that possessed by Dr. Emmerson as President, other things being favorable, Howard Payne College is bound to be a success. Yes, under his leadership, surrounded by a good corps of professors and teachers, encouraged by the hearty support of those who love the cause of education, we expect to see Howard Payne College march gradually to the front and take her stand by the side of the best schools in our country. The financial standing of this College is on a firm foundation, and the prospects are every flattering. And the success of every College depends more upon this than anything else.

There is not a better financier in Western Texas than Dr. Robinet, and so long as he has charge of the financial business of the College it means success. Howard Payne College is not here for a year and then "freeze out" as many other Colleges have done; but she is here to stay, and her friends and supporters are determined to make her a grand success in every respect.

But in order to do this we must have students. There are hundreds of young gentlemen and young ladies in Western Texas who need a first-class education, and to those we could say Howard Payne College throws open her doors and bids you enter her classic halls where you can take any course you may desire, Collegiate, Business or Special, justas tallent and means may demand.

Board and tuition will be cheap, and one of the main objects of the Institution will be to place within the reach of every boy and girl who may desire an education, an opportunity to enjoy the best Collegiate advantages at the lowest possible cost.

Another object is to build up a home institution, managed by men whose interests are our interests. Supplied with professors and teachers who are determined to build up and maintain a grand Institution of learning and make its work a success in every respect.

Howard Payne College offers to the farmers, stockmen, merchants, ministers, bankers, lawyers, doctors, editors and all other classes of Western Texas, an opportunity of educating their children at home. Will they take advantage of this great offer? We sincerely hope they will.

I will gladly furnish catalogues and circulars on application, or any other information desired. W. D. McCHRISTY, Traveling Agt. H. P. C., Brownwood, Texas.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

H. BUCHEN, Secretary. D. RICHARDSON, President.

It is highly creditable to the Republicans of Texas that not a single county convention, so far as we can now recall, has demanded the enactment of the force bill.—Fort Worth Gazette.

H. C. Pritchett, the nominee of the democratic convention for the office of superintendent of public instruction, was born in Warren county Missouri, Aug. 12, 1852, and was consequently 38 years old the day the convention met. He is of a Virginia family, both father and mother having come from Virginia at an early day. He lived on a farm until 1867, when his father removed to Glasgow, Mo. for the purpose of educating his children. Here he attended high school and college, graduating in 1873 with the degree of A. B., and two years later, on account of work done in mathematics, received the degree of M. A. He taught in the public schools of Missouri and in Morrisville college for several years. In 1876 he was married in Huntsville, Tex., and returned to Missouri, but in 1878 returned to Texas, where he has since resided. He taught three years in the public schools and in the institute at San Marcos, Tex., and in 1881 was elected professor of mathematics in the Sam Houston normal institute. He has been there for the last nine years and will leave this work to accept the position of superintendent of public instruction.

Although quite small in stature, Prof. Pritchett is a man of unusual mental and physical vigor. His professional work in the state normal school as well as his services in conducting various summer normal schools throughout the state has given him high rank among the active teachers. He possesses not only profound scholarship, but brings to bear a large stock of common sense that is not always found even among eminent educators. His executive ability is of a high order and it is said he is in full accord with the administration and plans of Superintendent Cooper.—Dallas News.

We send out this week by permission of the Fair management season tickets to the Co. Fair to all our exchanges (the editors we mean), and we shall take it as a personal affront if they do not all come or send an affidavit duly sworn to stating good and sufficient reasons for not complying with the request.

Those who do not think that the democratic party committed, as a party, to the commission plank, are respectfully referred to the press of this state and its recorded interviews with the leading men. The Times Herald of Dallas piles up an array of testimony quite formidable and it all concluded that the platform committed the party to the support of the amendment. It will secure such support, too. The democracy will swallow that plank and never feel a splinter.—San Antonio Light (Republican.)

SHE WAS POISONED!

Not by anything she drank or took, but by bad blood. Is it any wonder she feels "blue"? In most cases blues are only another name for bad blood. A man or woman feels unhappy. Life seems dark. The heart is heavy. Bad blood is carrying its poison all over the body, and we call it "blues."

Read these experiences:
Mrs. C. C. Hutchinson, of Pittston, Pa., says: "I consider Dr. Acker's English Blood Elixir the best medicine in the world, not only for blood troubles, but also for dyspepsia, with which I have been afflicted."
"Both my wife and myself firmly believe that Dr. Acker's English Blood Elixir is the best of all blood medicines, and will remove all impurities of the blood."

NOTICE TO LUMBER BUYERS.

Do the people of Callahan county prefer lumber at reasonable prices all the time? Or do they prefer to buy it at less than its value for a short time, after which they will have to pay the highest prices, as has been proven in Baird in the past? We would remind the people that it is all with them, and if there is only one yard at Baird it will be because we are not sustained in trying to sell lumber at Baird as cheap as sold in other towns. We are determined to make an honest effort to sell lumber at the very lowest price possible without actual loss, and we appeal to all fair minded men to co-operate with us, otherwise our efforts will be in vain.

Very Respectfully,
MOON & CROWDER

BAIRD WATER AND POWER COMPANY - BAIRD, TEXAS.

We, W. C. Powell, T. E. Powell, J. L. Lea, Harry Meyer, D. Richardson, W. E. Gilliland and F. W. James, all of the town of Baird, Callahan County Texas, being desirous of forming a body corporate under the laws of the State of Texas, have this day associated themselves together, under the provisions of Title — of the Revised Statutes of the State of Texas, as a private corporation by subscribing to the following articles of association.

1st. The name of the corporation shall be The Baird Water and Power Company.

2nd. The purpose for which it shall be formed, 1st. To supply water to the public, 2nd. To supply light and heat to the public, 3rd. To construct and maintain mills and gins.

3rd. The place where its business shall be transacted shall be at the town of Baird, Callahan County Texas.

4th. The time for which this corporation shall exist shall be for fifty (50) years.

5th. The number of directors shall be seven in number, and the directors for the first year shall be with their residences as follows.

W. C. Powell, J. L. Lea, D. Richardson, T. E. Powell, Harry Meyer, W. E. Gilliland and F. W. James, and the officers for the first year shall be J. L. Lea, of Baird, Texas, President, T. E. Powell, of Baird, Texas, Vice President and W. C. Powell, of Baird, Texas, Secretary and Treasurer.

6th. The amount of capital stock shall be twenty thousand (20,000) dollars divided into two thousand shares of ten (10) dollars each.

Given under our hand at Baird, Callahan County Texas, this the — day of — A. D. 1890.

Fair Items.

To show that all the officers and committees are doing their best to make our Fair as interesting and attractive as possible, let me give the following items:

Race tracks in good shape and 1-2 mile long. The entrance of the ground neatly completed and the erection of the buildings going on.

Purses for races, Tournament and Roping contests amounting to $1000; premiums for Live-Stock department, to about $600; premiums in the Agricultural department, to $300; and in the Ladies department, to $300 more.

These figures will be proven by our premium list, which will be in the hands of all concerned in a few days. Don't forget to ask your postmaster or store-keeper for it, and remember that additional and very valuable premiums are coming in daily.

At the last meeting of the Executive Committee it was decided to decline the services of the Abilene Light Infantry Band and to fall back on our home talent. The members of our old band were perfectly willing and fortunately a leader was found in the well and favorably known Prof. Miller, who is not only himself an accomplished artist, but an excellent instructor besides. It was my good luck to attend the other night one of their meetings. The boys consisting of Messrs Dean, H. & A. Schwartz, Rice, Scott, Dean, Bowlius and the Bowman boys show the best will and great energy, the Professor is himself an expert on a cornet and trombone and also drum and understands it with witty and humorous sparks to enlighten and enliven the tedious and hard hours of practicing and there is no doubt, that our band with such remarkable material and under such an experienced leader will show up second to none. The citizens may congratulate themselves, that in this way a new era was opened for our home talent.

Secretary.

John B. Long, late editor of the Rusk Standard-Enterprise, was nominated yesterday to succeed Howdy Martin in congress. It is understood that he is a mild type of Union Laborite wearing. Democratic breeches. The circumstance is a painful reminder that life's pleasures and its regrets just about offset each other. —Fort Worth Mail.

It is also a reminder that the Union Laborites have changed their tactics this year. They have abandoned the idea of fighting the Democratic party from the outside, but have crept into the fold and propose to capture the whole shebang. "Howdy" Martin was the equal in ability if not superior to his opponent and was a Democrat, which is more than many will say of John B. Long.

"Howdy" MARTIN made a good congressman and did his duty thoroughly to his district and his constituents, but when it came to electing his successor there was some disagreement, and Mr Martin had to give way to popular sentiment. —Dallas News.

Oh, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by R. Phillips.

Salt as Clear as Glass.

The salt mountains located on the banks of the Rio Virgin, an affluent of the Colorado river, in Lincoln county, cover an area of twenty-five miles, extending to within seven miles of the junction of that stream with the Colorado. The salt they contain is pure and white, and clearer than glass, and it is said that a piece seven or eight inches thick is sometimes clear enough to see through to read a newspaper. Over the salt is a layer of sandstone from two to eight feet thick, and when this is torn away the salt appears like a huge snowdrift. How deep it is has not yet been ascertained, but a single blast of giant powder will blow out tons of it. Under the cap rock has been discovered charred wood and charcoal and matting made of cedar bark, which the salt has preserved, evidently the camp of prehistoric man. —San Francisco Chronicle.

A Hot Place to Stand.

There is a grating in the sidewalk next the Potter building, Park row, from which hot air comes up from the steam boilers in the basement. Near by is a handsomely decorated show window. One hot day I saw a countryman standing over the grating and looking intently at the window display. I stopped a few steps away and presently saw him take out his pocket handkerchief and wipe his face and forehead. The beads of sweat were pouring out of his skin and he was as red in the face as a boiled lobster. He saw me looking at him after about the fourth or fifth wiping with his handkerchief, and he remarked: "Gosh, but it's hot! This must be another of them days that break the weather record." —New York Press.

Married Twice.

A rather unusual marriage ceremony was performed in Shapleigh the other day. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Shaekley were married thirteen years ago, and soon after the wedding the clergyman who united them died. Recently Mrs. Shaekley, not having any marriage certificate, became uneasy, instituted inquiries and found that no legal record of the marriage existed. So she determined to have the ceremony performed anew and properly recorded, and this was done. The wedding was in the presence of invited guests, and not even the cake was omitted. —Springvale (Me.) Advocate.

AN ADVANCE MOVEMENT WHICH IS HEARTILY SUPPORTED.

Organize, Organize, Organize—The Funds Are Coming in and the Party Movement Feels the Impetus—Every Prohibitionist Should Send in His Offering.

Chairman Dickie sends out the cheering news that the appeal for a regular income for party organizing work has met with such prompt and liberal response that he is sanguine of success. This does not mean that the fund is already secured and that your contribution is not needed, far from it. Every Prohibitionist's mite should be sent monthly to the treasury, and it is hoped every Prohibitionist will promptly write to 82 East Fourteenth street, New York, stating the amount he proposes to contribute.

Every Prohibitionist speaker should make it his business to secure some pledges for this fund. Blank pledges can be had on application to national headquarters.

They read as follows:

Samuel Dickie, chairman, 82 East Fourteenth street, New York:

Dear Sir—I hereby agree to pay $— per month to the treasurer of the national committee of the Prohibition party for the period of seventeen months, commencing August, 1890, and ending with December, 1891, subject to the following conditions:

(1) This pledge shall be binding upon me only when by similar pledges you have secured not less than $1,000 per month.

(2) In case of my death during the time covered by this pledge the same shall not be a claim upon my estate.

(3) Your treasurer may draw upon me on the — of each month, through the — bank of —

On the back of the pledge blanks is the following note:

DEAR SIR—I am well aware that prudent business men are often reluctant to sign pledges of this character which involve future obligations, but do not see how our work can be carried on otherwise. Should you desire to modify any of the conditions of this pledge, such of course, is your privilege, and should you find therein anything so objectionable as to deter you from signing the same, will you kindly inform me of the difficulty, so that it may be remedied. The objections which you see are quite likely to suggest themselves to others. Yours respectfully,

SAMUEL DICKIE.

Chairman Dickie writes as follows:

"The effort to secure a regular income for organizing work has met with a generous response. Before our proposition was put in type the intimation of our purpose brought two liberal pledges, one for $100 per month for twenty-four months, and one for $50 per month for seventeen months.

"These, with a number of smaller pledges, make an excellent beginning. The importance of this undertaking cannot be overestimated. It ought to reach speedy success. To organize our party and put it upon a basis of self-supporting operations in the new and unorganized states is neither a small nor unimportant matter. Nor will the benefit of such work be confined to these states alone.

"Growth anywhere stimulates everywhere, and progress in the south will be especially helpful in the north.

"As soon as this fund is assured it is our purpose to commence an energetic organizing campaign.

"Unless this work can be persistently followed up it is useless to commence it. In a number of the states the work must be done under the direction of the national committee, partly, at least, at our expense, and must be continued until such time as the state organization has reached a self-sustaining basis.

"To do this we need a reliable revenue.

"Even with a liberal amount in the treasury we cannot enter upon such an undertaking, uncertain as to our ability to continue, until a condition of self support is reached.

"With a reliable monthly income we can accomplish the desired end. Let every one who wants the work done come promptly to our assistance. This is a personal and urgent appeal to every reader. It is to you, not to your neighbor.

"If you cannot contribute $100 per month, give less; but give something. Remember, we are seeking to secure $1,500 per month for seventeen months. Remember, also, that every pledge is conditioned upon reaching not less than $1,500 per month."

We will report progress on this fund from week to week. Let every report show a splendid increase.

Farmers, Read!

No farmer should fail to vote for Prohibition because the saloons are not on the farms. In the cities the saloon is the controlling political force, invariably exerted for the worst men and measures—men that fill offices dealing with county affairs, and measures that extend over the farm as well as the city lot. Further, the saloons are responsible for the greater part of the burden of taxation to maintain courts, jails, poorhouses and asylums, of which burden the country bears its share; and if saloons are licensed the fees do not go into the county treasury to pay for courts, jails and poorhouses, but into the city treasury to pay for light, water, etc., that benefits the city only. Farmers get none of the saloon license fees.—John M. Stahl, editor Farmers' Call.

The Only Way in Politics.

The Champion, after a long article on the "Beer Statistics of the World," in which it develops the fact that in twenty-three countries there are 50,295 breweries, exclaims, "What chance is there for the Prohibition cause to rule the world? To which we reply that we don't expect to do it by chance. We mean to do it by methodical voting.—Northwestern Mail.

A Republican Opinion.

Prohibition is a hypocritical and unconstitutional interference with the liberties of citizens. No one but a fanatic would preach it, and none but fools would continue to uphold it.—Editorial in Philadelphia Daily News (Rep.) July 28, 1890.

American Gallantry.

The swinish propensities of the human race are confined to no nationality, sect or color. I have met with them in England, France and Germany quite as often as in America. Indeed, I am far from sure that, take him with all his faults, the American has not a larger share of the generous virtues than the man of any other country. I remember once returning from an extended tour abroad, during which I had seen women sickened with cigarette smoke in close railway carriages, standing on the decks of the Rhine steamers while their wedded lords enjoyed the scenery and the Bala-bier on the few chairs in sight, and wading through seas of mud at street crossings, while a gallant Gaul, perched on the only dry spot, bared his head in deference to their sex as they passed by.

The day I landed in New York I rode once down and up Broadway in an omnibus to see how the city had changed in my absence. The street was in a vile condition, as usual. Next me sat an elderly woman of the middle class, very plainly but respectably clad. She was evidently a visitor from out of town; and when the stage stopped for her to alight at her destination she looked timidly this way and that, as if fearful she might lose her footing on the slippery stone pavements and be run down in the crush of moving vehicles.

In an instant a young man who had been reading his newspaper sprang up, alighted, held open the door and helped the old woman down, escorted her to the sidewalk in safety, ran after the stage and caught it, jumped aboard again and resumed his reading as if he had done only the most natural thing in the world. A thrill went through me as I felt that I was once more in the country where even though polish of manner was sometimes lacking the real essence of politeness was deeply seated in the national heart. Oh, yes, we do have the great human hog here—no body denies that—but he's the rare exception, not the rule.—Kate Field's Washington.

To Protect Metal.

To protect metal from oxidation, polished iron or steel, for instance, it is requisite to exclude air and moisture from the actual metallic surface. Therefore polished tools are usually kept in wrappings of oiled cloth and brown paper, and thus protected they will preserve a spotless face for an unlimited time. When these metals come to be of necessity exposed in being converted to use it is necessary to protect them by means of some permanent dressing, and boiled linseed oil forms a lasting covering, as it dries on, is one of the best preservatives, if not the best. But in order to give it a body it should be thickened by the addition of some pigment, and the very best, because the most congenial of pigments, is the ground oxide of the same metal, or in plain words, rusted iron reduced to an impalpable powder for the dressing of iron or steel, which thus forms the pigment of oxide paint.—Exchange.

A Brave Soldier.

Of bluff old Gilman Marston, who died in New Hampshire, these stories are told: "He was badly wounded in the arm at Bull Run, but refused to have the member amputated, though the surgeons told him his life depended upon that operation. He insisted upon being placed upon his horse, and was led to the front amid cheers from the 'boys' of his regiment. He once refused to allow his troops to board an overloaded transport because he had brought these men from New Hampshire to fight, not to be drowned." The orders of a tyrannical superior to build a guard house "without so much as a crack in it" he obeyed literally, solid logs being so used that there was not even a door to enter by. On one occasion he coolly walked along a parapet under a terrible fire of shot and shell that he might inspire a wavering brigade of his own reassurance.—Exchange.

The English Channel Problem.

The English will not consent to a tunnel under the channel, lest it might serve as a path for an invading foe, and objection is made to the proposed bridge across the channel, not only because it would obstruct navigation, but for the more serious reason that the project is impracticable. As a compromise, M. Bunan Varilla, a young French engineer, who has already distinguished himself, proposes to construct the tunnel to within half a mile of either shore, to build viaducts one hundred and fifty feet high the rest of the way, and to connect the tunnel and the viaducts with elevators running in iron towers. In case of danger of invasion, he points out, it would be a simple matter to stop the elevators.—Exchange.

Praying by Machinery.

Praying by machinery is usual among the inhabitants of central Asia. A large, hollow cylinder like a drum is erected, and within it are inclosed the prayers that any one may wish to offer, written out neatly. The cylinder is then made to revolve by wind or water power, and every time that it goes round the devotee imagines it to be equivalent to a verbal repetition of all the prayers it contains.—Chatter.

It is stated that a German artillery officer has succeeded in making a new explosive from carbolic acid, and that a shell filled with this material possesses a power hitherto unobtainable. Experiments made with these shells thrown from mortars have all, it is stated, proved highly successful.

Supper.

This is what you ought to have, in fact, you must have it to enjoy life. Thousands are suffering for it daily, and mourning because they find it not. Thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent annually by our people in the hope that they may attain this boon. And yet it may be had by all. We guarantee that Electric Bitters, if used according to directions and the use persisted in, will bring you Good Digestion and ease the distressing symptoms of Dyspepsia and Indigestion. We recommend Electric Bitters for Dyspepsia and all diseases of Liver, Stomach and Kidneys. Sold at 50c. and $1.00. per bottle by Baird Drug Co.

Catarrh originates in scrofula taint.

P. P. P. purifies the blood, and thus permanently cures Catarrh.

Terrible blood poison, body covered with sores, and two bottles of P. P. P. (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium) cured the disease, making the patient lively as a ten-year-old.

Rheumatism was so bad that James Irvin, of Savannah, could hardly walk from pain in his shoulders and joints of his legs. P. P. P. (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium) was resorted to and Irvin is well and happy.

Abbot's East India Corn Paint removes quickly all corns, bunions and warts without pain.

MELTON, FLA.

This is to certify that I have been afflicted with Scrofula, or Blood Poison, for a number of years. The best physicians of Mobile and this city said nothing could be done for me. I also took a large quantity of—, but found no relief in anything that I took. My limbs were a mass of ulcers, and when I was sent to a physician in Mobile my entire body was a mass of sores. I had given up all hope, and as a last resort tried P. P. P. (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium), and after using four bottles (small size) the sores have entirely disappeared, and my general health was never better than at the present time, and people that know me think it a wonderful cure.

Respectfully, ELIZA TODD.

THE FIGURE '9'

The figure '9' in our dates will make a long stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure '9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain ten years and then move up to the second place in 1900, where it will rest for one hundred years.

There is another '9' which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure '9' in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No. 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the greatest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.
