NUMBER 13

S. F. BOND ACQUIT- TED

S. F. Bond of Cross Plains charged with swindling, was acquitted in district court Wednesday morning, when the jury returned their verdict of "not guilty".

The case was tried before Judge W. R. Chapman of the 104th district court who presided for Judge M. S. Long, who was ill.

Dallas Scarbrough and W. R. Ely, of Abilene and Judge B. L. Russell, of Baird, were attorneys for Mr. Bond and J. R. Black, district attorney, conducted the prosecution.

The following named jurors decided the case: W. S. Bryant, H. E. Clemmer, J. E. Scott, Jr., C. C. King, Louis Crutfield, Ed Lambert, John L. Estes, J. P. Purvis, Frank Browning, Charlie Yost, Tom Wylie, S. A. Thompson.

The case really was tried before a jury of eleven as Tom Wylie, one of the number was excused shortly after the beginning of the case because of the illness of his son Gaston Wylie Foster Bond, who was formerly vice-president of the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Cross Plains which was closed in June 1931, was indicted last fall on a charge of swindling R. W. and C. F. McNeel, brothers, who were depositors of the bank.

According to testimony of R. W. McNeel, a note was executed to him and his brother by S. F. Bond and the latter's brother, Taylor Bond, cashier of the bank, and $8,000 was transferred from the McNeel account to the credit of Taylor Bond. McNeel testified he and his brother agreed to make the loan when S. F. Bond told them the money must be secured to prevent the bank from closing. He also testified the defendant said the directors and stockholders of the bank would "stand behind the note."

The defendant testified he borrowed the money from the McNeel brothers as a personal debt and that he did not represent to them that bank directors and stockholders would be responsible for it. He said failure of the bank in 1931 made it impossible for him to pay the $7,200 due. Eight hundred has been paid, according to testimony.

Rains Benefit Grain Crops in Callahan Co.

The slow steady rains which fell the past week will mean much to the farmers of Callahan county.

Dr. L. B. Gray Leading Presbyterian Meeting

Dr. L. B. Gray, pastor of the Presbyterian Churches in Ranger and Strawn, has been preaching all of this week in the Presbyterian church here. At the initial service on Sunday night the keynote of the revival was sounded by the minister in seeking to interpetate in modern terms, the present social economic and spiritual time of the times. He said the chaotic condition of today was caused by the fact that the nation and the world had forgotten God. Business had forgotten God; Society had forgotten God; politics, government, nations and men had forgotten God. "The wicked shall be turned into hell with all nations that forget God". Just before the great war two German Theologians said that only 4 per cent of the German population were found in worship on the Sabbath. Four persons were at church and 96 were elsewhere. An English professor disclosed that Great Britain was covered with a thin veneer of christian civilization, while rotten at the core. The nations forgot God, and were turned into a hell of war; and it was hell. We went thru it and conquered. Then followed a hell of prosperity; we became flabby, soft and lovers of pleasure and voluptuous unrestrained living. We were not able to stand it; men wanted everything and would not be denied. Then came the depression, and we are in the hell of adversity today, as a result of forgetting God. The Golden Rule; the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount, filled with the Spirit of Jesus Christ, would have kept us out of these hells into which the nation has been thrust. Only a real definite return to these fundamentals of Christian Civilization will give us an upward start toward prosperity. It will not come easily. The climb will be hard, but it is the only way. Our part is to begin now to put into practice the principals of Jesus Christ as taught in God's Holy Word.

Dr. Gray's sermons both morning and evening have amplified and illustrated the great themes, such as prayer, religion, God, forgiveness, service and human destiny. But all is based upon the regeneration of the souls of men by the power of the Holy Spirit through the church; and upon the conditions of repentance toward God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Tonight the sermon will be related to the young people of the community. Services also on Saturday night; Sunday morning and night. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Dr. Gray is no stranger in Baird. He has many friends here who knew him when he served as pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church more than thirty years ago, when as a young man he began his work in the ministry.

Ray Motor Company Will Display New "Standard Six" Chevrolet Saturday

Directly on the heels of the most successful new car program since 1929 the Chevrolet Motor Company has announced that a companion car to the present series to be called the 'Standard Six' Chevrolet and priced considerably below the present range, would be shown throughout the nation Saturday.

About 15,000 of the new models will have been built and dispatched to Chevrolet dealers for a simultaneous national showing, W. S. Knudsen president and general manager, stated.

The new 'Standard Six' is built for business use and for that group of private owners who want a car without the deluxe features and extra long wheelbase of the present Chevrolet Master Six, he stated. He emphasized that the new line would offer the lowest-priced, full-size, six-cylinder enclosed models the industry has yet seen—and would be ideal for utility use.

A new and slightly smaller Chevrolet has been rumored in trade circles periodically since April of 1932, a circumstance which Mr. Knudsen attributed to the fact that the new line of cars has been under development for two years. It will be a quality line throughout, machined to the same close limits as the present Chevrolet and built of the same raw materials, although it will have a slightly shorter wheelbase and will lack some of the features and improvements of the present Master Six line.

In bringing out the new car, Mr. Knudsen said his company is simply producing a supplementary line which will open up new markets and further entrench the company in its position of leadership. He added that he expects the new 'Standard Six' to account for about one-fourth of the company's total production and sales in 1933.

W. J. Ray and sons, Rawleigh and Harold Ray, of the firm of Ray Motor Company, local Chevrolet dealers attended a meeting of Chevrolet dealers in Dallas Tuesday, where the new 'Standard Six' was shown, and they will have a 'Standard Six' Coach on display in their show room here Saturday.

PROBABLE EXTENSION OF BANK HOLIDAY

The five-day bank holiday for Texas banks, as ordered by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, expires today, but as we went to press last night it looked as though the holiday would be extended, probably until early next week.

Congress was convened in special session yesterday and the reorganization of the banking system is being considered by that body with our new president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, at the helm and those who are best informed on the problem, feel sure that the country will be benefited by this bank holiday.

There has not been any great amount of slacking up of business here. Baird merchants have had a fair business the past week.

The First National Bank officials have done everything possible to help. The bank was opened Monday for the purpose of making change, paying government checks and permitting patrons access to their safety deposit boxes. The bank has been open every day for this purpose, which has done much to relieve the situation.

Bob Norrell, cashier of the First National Bank, informed us last night that the bank was ready to open at the moment the order was given.

With Baird Baptist

The rain settled a good deal of our service last Sunday as it settled the dust, but a few of us met and had a right good time in both Sunday School and preaching.

We will have no preaching service next Sunday night; but will have our morning service and that service will be an introduction to the week of prayer to be observed next week by the women of the church. In this service our young people will sing and have some other parts. We invite all to attend these hours of worship.

Our women will meet on Monday and Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon for these prayer services and will study along with the prayer service, the Home Mission Field.

Let me urge every woman of the church to attend these exercises.

Next Sunday afternoon is our time for the Midway appointment and I will be there and will preach on 2nd Cor. 5:21. 'For He Hath Made Him to be Sin For Us, Who Knew No Sin; that we might be made the righteous of God in Him'. Let's all go and have a good service.

The following attended the Workers Conference at Seranton: Mrs. H. F. Foy, Mrs. W. B. Atchison, Royce Gilliland and I. The meeting was extra good although the afternoon program was broken into with a funeral. We were glad to give way for we certainly sorrow with those whom we have sorrow. Our next meeting will be held with the Atwell church. Mighty fine, we always have a dandy good time when we go to Atwell.

This Week In Washington

(Autocaster Service)

Washington, D. C. Mar 4—The Administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt started off with the largest gathering of visitors in Washington, and the biggest inaugural parade since President Harding and his Republic Administration took office in the spring of 1921, after eight years of control by the Democratic party. The nation has had twelve years of Republican control of the executive departments, and practical control of Congress except for the past two years. Twelve years is not such a long time as politics go, and many of the faces which are coming back to Washington are familiar reminders of the days of President Wilson.

President Roosevelt himself of course, lived in Washington through those eight years, 1913 to 1921, as Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Also, he was the nominee for Vice-President on the Democratic ticket in 1920.

Old Friends Back

Daniel C. Roper, the new Secretary of Commerce, is far from being a stranger in Washington. He first came into public office in the Wilson Administration, in which he was Commissioner of Internal Revenue. For the past twelve years he has been engaged in the practice of law in Washington, specializing in income tax cases, in which his experience as the head of the Government's tax collecting machinery has been of great value to him.

One man who will be welcome back to Washington by many is William Gibbs McAdoo, the new Senator from California, who held more and bigger jobs in the Wilson Administration than anybody else. He was secretary of the Treasury, director-general of the liberty loans, director-general of railroads, and held five or six more administrative posts, besides being the son-in-law of President Wilson. Mr. McAdoo is expected to exert a powerful influence with the new Administration, and to take a leading part in the deliberations of the Senate, while Washington society is expecting Mrs. McAdoo to be one of its leading lights.

Democratic faces are not the only familiar ones coming back to Washington after a considerable absence, James W. Wadsworth, Jr., newly elected member of the lower house from New York State, was here for six years as one of the United States Senators from New York. Political historians here do not recall any other instance of a man who has once been Senator coming back as a Representative; but there was once a President of the United States who became a member of the lower house of Congress after he had finished his term in the White House. That was John Quincy Adams, who died while making a speech on the floor of the House.

There is Work to Do

A lot of politicians are concerning themselves with trying to get their men into the one hundred and fifty thousand Federal jobs which Postmaster-General Farley will distribute among the faithful, but the main concern of the new Administration, as soon as the new Congress assembles, is to get through some more financial legislation and something that will answer the pressing problems of farm relief.

The banking situation in many parts of the country, resulting in the closing down and reorganizing of big banks in many big centers, which have stood the strain so far, but finally had to yield because of their frozen assets, is reviving talk of the Government itself going into the commercial banking business, for which it as the nucleus already set up in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Federal Reserve System. Nobody can guess yet how far the new Congress and the new Administration may desire to go or succeed in going in that direction, but it is regarded as possible that some temporary plan may be worked out where by Federal agencies and departments may take over the nations banks and operate them, as an emergency measure, as was done with the railroads during the war.

Nobody knows yet very much about the policies of William H. Woodin, the new Secretary of the Treasury, and it is regarded as probable that the two last previous Democratic Secretaries of the Treasury, Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Glass, both of them now in the United States Senate, will have a great deal of influence in shaping the new Administration's financial policies.

The Farms and Europe

There is apparently an excellent outlook for early passage of some sort of a domestic allotment farm relief measure, which would limit acreage and production and thereby insure better prices for farm products. Except for opposition from the White House it might have been passed before now.

The European debt situation is going to hold the center of the stage for some time to come. Mr. Roosevelt's plan, it is understood, is to deal with the debtor nations of Europe one by one, trying to work out with each of them the best deal that can be made for the interests of both parties. There is going to be no cancellation of the debts that Europe owes us without something of value to us in return.

The first of the European nations with whom the bargaining will be taken up is England, and the British Prime Minister is expected here in person to conduct the negotiations with the President. Once a deal is made with England it is going to be easier to deal with France. The French people are beginning to realize that their Government made a mistake in not paying the installment on the debt to America which was due December 15th, and that they are in a bad position when it comes to asking favors.

The talk of giving President Roosevelt practically war-time authority to run the Government single-handed is beginning to die out. A good many Senators and members of the House of Representatives are unwilling to yield any of their authority, and some of them are pointing out that Congress has no right to shrink its own responsibilities.

The one subject on which Congress would like to pass the buck to the President is that of cutting down the expenditures for veteran's relief. Members of Congress are very much afraid of that subject. They want to save the taxpayers' money, but they also want to get reelected, and they don't like the idea of having the American Legion votes against them. But Mr. Roosevelt has made it clear that he is not going to let them shift their responsibility to his shoulders.

Now for the New Deal

(An Editorial from The Dallas News)

Old Man Depression and his brother Gloom gave one last grand kick at the close of the Hoover regime by trying to stampede the Nation by a series of bank holidays throughout the United States. As it happens, the bank holiday is taken more as a joke than with seriousness. It is indeed rumored that the bankers themselves were behind this holiday, since the spring weather is excellent for golf. More likely, however, they needed more time to count up their piled up deposits, awaiting the day when business will revive and loans on good security again be in demand.

But a new administration is now in charge at Washington and the whole country is expectant. Twin brothers Depression and Gloom are getting nervous, wondering what that dawning light, centered round about Washington, really means to them. The Governors of the several States are to meet in consultation with Roosevelt. The British are to confer with him regarding war debts. He is planning solutions for the problems that will face the world economic conference next spring and he proposes that the United States have a definite voice in its decisions. The President also summons a special session of Congress and expects it to pass needed legislation without wasting precious time. Really things are humming and, in spite of depression, citizens are preparing to smile in expectation of a "right about face" toward prosperity once more.

So, bank holidays have no terror these dark days, for a new day is dawning, hope is reviving and confidence is on the way. Roosevelt, the Congress, and the States, all combined, must pull together and give the United States and the world in general

Austin—As a tax measure of major interest, the sales tax which was the subject of a great deal of discussion during the early days of the session, has given way to other tax proposals. A suggestion, which at present time is claiming more attention than any other single tax measure, is one which proposes a radical departure in raising revenue and controlling production of oil.

The proposal embodies a repeal of the gasoline tax and the gross production tax on oil as its major revenue features. By a sharply graduated tax on oil production, beginning, in some bills carrying the idea into effect, with one cent per barrel on production from wells with maximum daily output of five barrels and scaling up to much higher rates as the per well production increases. The top bracket calls for $1 per barrel tax on production of well in excess of 1,000 barrels per day.

The bills on this subject carry into effect suggestions made by Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Railroad Commission, who claims that problems of both oil conservation and taxation would be solved by its adoption. The graduated tax on oil production, would automatically regulate oil production to the market demand, supporters of the bill claim, and the same time provide an easy and equitable means of obtaining revenue. The bill is facing determined opposition, and the chief argument offered against it is that it will place Texas oil at a disadvantage by imposing a serious price differential. Hearings are being held, and the measure will doubtless undergo considerable modification. Opinion seems to be that while the proposal in its present form has little chance of adoption, there is a strong likelihood that the present State production tax on oil of two per cent of its sale price will be changed to a definite sum per barrel. This would stabilize State income from this source.

The House has passed a bill authorizing the creation of a special division in the Comptroller's department to enforce collection of gasoline taxes, as well as providing more drastic penalties for evasion of these taxes. It is claimed that the State is losing from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 per year in taxes from this source and at the same time subjecting legitimate dealers to unfair competition by gasoline "bootleggers." This is regarded as a highly important tax measure.

The Comptroller at present has a field force of only thirty men. Until recently he had only twenty-five men. The personnel increase was made possible by reducing salaries and thus using the same appropriation to employ a larger number of field men. This force has the duty of enforcing collections of the following taxes: gasoline, gross receipts, inheritance and cigarette. Combined, they brought into the State treasury about forty million dollars last year.

The field men have many other duties, such as auditing records of county tax collectors and generally protecting the State's interests in tax matters. It is obvious that such a small force cannot adequately deal with the thousands of different persons, firms, corporations and county officials, throughout the State. Serious leaks in State revenue are inevitable. Comptroller Sheppard estimates that at least five million dollars is lost annually in evasions of the gasoline tax and cigarette tax, besides considerable losses in inheritance taxes and losses in ad valorem taxes, because of inability of the field men to make regular and thorough audits. With these evasions stopped, Sheppard believes the State would now be on a cash basis, even without any other needed reforms in fiscal affairs.

Senators Moore of Greenville, has introduced a bill limiting benefits of the Confederate pension to those who are in actual need. There is a large deficit in this fund and the total claims are increasing, due to liberalizing provisions of the law. For example, payments increased from $2,917,000 in 1930 to $3,562,000 in 1932.

The House has passed a bill reducing the poll tax to $1. The Senate is yet to act on the measure.

Proposals to reduce the gasoline tax below four cents per gallon were rejected by the House during the past week.

Attendance Sunday and Sunday night was far better than we expected. The subject announced for last Sunday night pertaining to Catholicism will be preached next Sunday morning. The subject for Sunday night will be 'The Operation of the Holy Spirit'. The following questions will be dealt with: 1. Do we receive the same measure of the Spirit as was possessed by the Apostles? 2. What means do Christians have? 3. How does the Spirit work in convicting, and converting sinners?
We invite all.

Well folks, we have had another million dollar rain, and my observation is, when we have plenty of rain at this time of the year the grasshoppers will be here this summer in full force. Miss Susie Burks was in Baird Monday.

J. M. Hardin visited Burton Roberts Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Hope was some better Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Louis and daughter, Edith, of Baird, went to Dallas Friday to visit Mrs. Louis mother and W. V. Roberts went to Dallas with them to visit friend Dr. Chas. F. Carter. Mr. Roberts had not seen Dr. Carter in 29 years. Miss Mary Carter, an aunt of Dr. Carter and whom Mr. Roberts considers as his 'second' mother gave him a counterpin she had made some fifty years or more ago. She spun the thread and made the spread on a hand loom.

Mr. Roberts prices this gift very much as a keep sake.
