Arkansas Farmers May Grow Drugs

A drug-farming program which may free the United States from reliance on foreign sources for many vital medicinal compounds has been launched in Arkansas by a transplanted Rumanian chemist, reports the magazine "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry."

Dr. O. K. Cosla, a biochemist who instituted the first successful cultivation of drug-bearing plants in Rumania, is in charge of the Arkansas program at the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, where a 20-acre tract has been set aside for his experiments.

Dr. Cosla, who has an M. D. degree as well as a Ph. D. in biochemistry, used to export to the United States part of its drug supply, and during World War II he furnished southeastern Europe with medicinal materials.

If Dr. Cosla's plans mature, Arkansas farmers will soon begin supplying the nation with such drugs as belladonna, a narcotic; stramonium, a drug processed from dried Jimson weed which gives relief to asthma sufferers, and ergot, used to control blood hemorrhages and as an anesthetic. Foxglove, the dotted white and purple tubular flower whose leaves bear the powerful heart stimulant digitalis, will also soon be blooming in Dr. Cosla's medical garden.

Some of the drug-bearing plants which Dr. Cosla is planning to cultivate already grow wild in the Arkansas backwoods. To determine the best conditions for growing each plant as a domestic crop, the Rumanian chemist will test them in hydroponic installations, in which their roots will be immersed in a watery solution containing mineral nutrients, instead of in soil.

The active drugs will be extracted from the plants in a four-room laboratory which Dr. Cosla brought with him to this country to aid his research in biochemistry and experimental pharmacology.

Dr. Cosla believes, according to "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry," that the South can eventually become one of the nation's principal drug farming and manufacturing centers, thus diverting to the area millions of dollars now spent annually on imports.

Handy Cart

Elgar Schroeder, Morrisonville, Wisconsin, believes a handy farm gadget can have an attractive appearance while saving work for its owner. His pull-push cart carries a good-size load the tools, supplies or produce easily. The cart was made from a child's discarded coaster wagon, using the box and wheels. The original wagon axle was kept, the cart was built of 3/4 inch pipe. Time required to build the cart was two and one-half hours at a cost of $1 for materials. Arc welding played an important part in the cart's construction.

650 Students Open New School Year

Monday morning at 9 o'clock the schools of the O'Donnell Independent District were declared officially opened.

Supt. Johnson and his staff used the day in organizing the students so that they would be able to follow their routines thruout the rest of the term.

Teachers were chosen sponsors by students in the different grades in high school. Home room teachers began their tasks of becoming familiar with their extra duties. All students were classified and shown their home rooms and notified of other different classrooms.

During the afternoon, students met in their appointed home rooms and the rolls were called. Twenty minute classes were held and assignments were made by the various class teachers.

Supt. Johnson gave an enthusiastic short talk of welcome and touched on the school, teachers, and methods that this institution has adopted.

Principal M. D. Conger followed Supt. Johnson in welcoming the students and stressed Supt. Johnson's methods of attaining a higher standard in student scholastics.

Supt. Johnson stated, "All precaution for students' safety will be observed by my staff at all times and that the schools are for the benefit of the students and that the teachers are eager to do their best in every way."

In the high school there are enrolled 170 students; the Grade school 432 students, the Draw school 14 students and the Colored school 17 students. There are, Johnson stated, about 650 students enrolled in the school district entoto. A happy and successful school year is predicted.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Russia Threatens Yugoslav Regime; Truman Takes Arms Row to People; Excise Tax Cut Stymied This Year

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

YUGOSLAVIA: War Clouds

Was the United States ready to go to war on behalf of Yugoslavia? That was a paramount question as the hard-boiled struggle between Yugoslavia and Russia reached the threat-of-war stage. Diplomats pondered the question: What would the United States do if Stalin sent the Soviet army to overthrow Marshal Tito's regime in Yugoslavia?

BRITISH and American diplomats, however, ruled out the likelihood of a shooting war. They regarded Moscow's threat to "take more effective measures" in Yugoslavia as only a part of the war of nerves. British newspapers took a different view. They regarded the Soviet note as the "worst threat of war since 1939."

No one outside the Kremlin could know for sure what was coming next. But the threat that began 14 months ago to upset Tito when the Cominform read him out of the Communists party developed long ago into frequent shootings along the satellite borders.

Diplomats in Belgrade frankly were worried. As an example of the jittery situation, one embassy thought it had an inside tip on an "invasion" date.

THE QUESTION of American involvement was not quite as academic as it might appear. With the issue squarely joined between Communism and the west, and with the U.S. serving as the arsenal of the west, involvement as a result of any warlike Kremlin move was an ever-present possibility.

EXCISE TAX: Not This Year

All hope for any reduction this year of federal excise taxes appeared doomed as congress shut the door on the issue. Excise taxes are collected on such items as furs, jewelry, luggage, cosmetics, transportation and telephone bills.

CHAIRMAN DOUGHTON (D., N.C.) of the tax-writing house ways and means committee issued a statement saying that he sees no prospect for a reduction in these taxes now. He gave as a reason the federal deficit threat of more than five billion dollars in the current fiscal year.

To clarify the subject for consumers, he added: "I believe it is important to make this clear so that consumers will not postpone the purchase of goods subject to tax in the hope of an immediate reduction."

BUT HE HELD out hope of tax reliefs in the future. He said he had requested the congressional staff of tax experts to begin now a study of possible tax revisions and reductions for the consideration of congress next year. There was a hint, however, that if present excises are lowered, some other taxes may be increased—unless federal expenditures are reduced.

There remained a middle course, Doughton went on, which might provide a reasonable reduction in government expenditures, to require some increase in taxes where the increase can be borne without disturbing the economy, and to provide for a reduction in those taxes which are crippling enterprise and interfering with business expansion.

ACID TEST: Fails For Granny

The gambling grandmother of Gardena, Calif., had a release. MRS. SULA BELL STIMSON, 49, had been stricken with a compelling urge to gamble. She reached the stage where she forged checks with which to obtain funds for poker playing. She just couldn't resist the yen to see what that next card would be.

Last November she was brought into court for her weakness and was placed on probation for three years. Last April she was arrested again and a physician testified she had undergone a personality change from a normal housewife to a person afflicted with a craving for gambling.

HE SAID doses of glutamic acid had been used with some success in similar cases, recommended such treatment for Mrs. Stimson. The court agreed, and she was released to the custody of her family with court orders to continue the treatment.

It didn't work. The gambling grandmother had succumbed again to the fascination of the poker deck. The acid test had failed.

U. S. AGENCIES

Six Departments Undergo 'Streamlining'

As a result of congressional action several government agencies went under the streamline plan and some mild reshuffling came about. Some 3,300 federal employees were affected as six of President Truman's reorganization plans went into effect under terms of the reorganization act of 1949.

Summing up, here is the gist of what occurred: The U. S. employ-

TRUMAN: To The People

President Truman submitted his arms-for-Europe proposal to the people through the medium of the golden jubilee convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Miami.

DECLARING the armament proposal was the "price of peace," he termed it this nation's guarantee against war and urged approval.

The President, contending that peace with freedom and justice cannot be "bought cheaply," urged that congress immediately approve the 1.5 billion-dollar arms outlay.

He conceded the cost was "considerable," but added that it "represents an investment in security that will be worth many times its cost."

There were those in congress, however, who were in noticeable disagreement with President Truman. These included several congressmen who have been stalwart supporters of administration policy.

THE DISSENTERS argued that it was "pouring money down a rat-hole" to attempt to prevent war or adequately arm the north Atlantic pact signatories as the Truman proposal planned. Others declared the program was simply "putting small arms in the hands of constabulary of little nations." U. S. military experts agreed that even with the program operative as envisioned by the President, Russia could overrun the continent in 60 days.

Claiming this, they added that since the U.S. would have to pay for World War III anyway if and when it came, the wiser course would be to build up national defense and striking power to the point where no surprise attack on this nation could be successful.

ELECTRONICS: Machine Has 'Brain'

The parade of "mechanical brain" devices appeared never-ending. The newest group—an automatic computer called Binac—is smaller, cheaper, brighter than the others.

It can calculate 12,000 times faster than a human being and does problems 25 times faster than more complicated machines. The inventors predicted it would usher in another industrial revolution in which machines can take over many jobs now done by man.

BINAC, built to order for Northrop aircraft company, was designed especially for complicated engineering problems such as in designing new military aircraft and guided missiles.

But Binac was not the last word in the field of mechanical "brains." A larger, general-purpose type of "magic brain" called Univac was under construction. Its first customer will be the U. S. census bureau.

UNIVAC, it was said, could even play chess, but only about as good as an average player, not an expert. It is expected that the machine also would be able to write simple melodies and lyrics because musical harmonics follow simple rules.

With Univac, according to reports, the American people will find out a lot of things they didn't know about themselves—that is, statistically speaking.

CHINA REDS: Trading Is Out

It had a familiar ring: "You can't do business with the Chinese Communists." Remember? "You can't do business with Hitler." That certainly was true, and according to officials best informed on the Chinese situation, it was equally true of the Chinese Reds.

SLOWLY BUT SURELY, American businessmen and officials are finding out the truth of the statement. In ever-increasing numbers they are pulling out of the great centers in China. And with them goes inevitably the prospect for any important trade agreements between the United States and Communist China.

Yet there was an annoying paradox in the situation for the Chinese friends of the Kremlin. For the fact was that the Reds would have to turn to the United States if they were to obtain many things they need to fill the gaping holes in China's distraught economy.

THE American state department and other U. S. officials are incensed at the way American officials and private citizens have been treated by the Communists in China. They apparently have come to the conclusion that nothing can be accomplished by maintaining large consulate staffs in cities where the Reds have taken over. Weeks of trying to come to some terms with the Communists show nothing but failure.

To initiate, this came as a surprise to U. S. policy makers. They had expected that as the Chinese Communists poured into Shanghai and other coastal points they would take a live-and-let-live attitude toward the Americans. They also figured that the Communists would have to do business with the U.S., inasmuch as they would have to look to the West rather than Russia for imports to meet China's economic needs.

But somehow or other it didn't work out that way.

POLIO: Isolation Cut

Sufficient beds for polio patients in the nation's hospitals—a major problem in fighting the malady—appeared to be in sight as a result of a new approach to treatment and diagnosis in the early stages of the disease.

THIS may be brought about almost overnight and it can be done without adding a single bed in hospitals for acute cases, or training another nurse. Too, it will save millions of dollars in the cost of treatment.

All this is declared possible because of a decision by public health and medical authorities cutting the isolation period for early polio to one week—longer only if the fever lasts longer. Some states have been isolating polio patients for three or four, but the average has been two weeks.

The one week recommendation, made by 20 medical authorities, is part of a new guide for health officers of all the states. The guide is being sent to local health authorities, hospitals and doctors by the various state health officers.

POLIO patients are kept isolated when they are first ill to prevent spread of the disease, but medical studies have concluded that the disease is communicable only during the first three or four days before symptoms appear, and for two or three days afterward.

So for safety, isolation, the experts said, is necessary for only a week, or as long as there is a fever.

'BULL'ETIN: Now He Knows

Joe King left Empire, Wis., with a 1,600-pound bull—but he got paid for only 1,410 pounds. This will probably teach Joe a lesson.

The distance to market was 13 miles overland. Joe had a truck but he decided he and the bull would hoof it. "It was kind of cool," he said, "and it seemed like a good idea. Five hours and 15 minutes later, Joe and the bull arrived. The bull lost 190 pounds.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Reason Retreats In Face of Love

By Lawrence Gould

Can you keep a girl from "throwing herself away"?

Answer: Rarely. If you give her concrete proof that the man she's in love with is a scoundrel, that may stop her marrying him, though she's more apt to resent it than be grateful for it. But a girl who loves a man you think unworthy of her usually loves him (unconsciously) for the very qualities you disapprove of. He appeals to the repressed side of her nature, whose existence, as a "nice girl," she is unaware of. Marrying him provides an opportunity to gratify this side of herself, and at the same time, repudiate it by trying to "reform" him.

Do aggressive people develop high blood pressure?

Answer: As a rule, no, a committee headed by Dr. Henry A. Schroeder told the Medical Advisory Council of the American Foundation for High Blood Pressure. The two notable characteristics of the "hypertensive personality" are that the person is unable to assert himself and that he tends to follow rigid pattern (like the man who feels he cannot leave the office until he has "cleaned up his desk"). The apparently aggressive people who develop high blood pressure are those who are timid at heart and "put on an act" to hide their panic.

Is there a "routine" in treating mental illness?

Answer: There's no rigid formula, but every successful course of treatment goes through certain stages. According to Dr. Eugene Ziskind of Los Angeles, these are what a layman might call: (1) winning the patient's confidence, (2) encouraging him to get the things he fears or is ashamed of "off his chest"; (3) helping him realize that they are not as terrible as he imagines; (4) giving him a healthier attitude toward life, and (5) getting him back to his family and his job. It sounds simple, but may take much skilled and patient effort.

KEEPING HEALTHY Blood Pressure and Weight Related

By Dr. James W. Barton

IT IS KNOWN that overweights have a greater tendency to high blood pressure than those of normal or less than normal weight. Many of us have read or heard of the little book "Life Begins at Forty"; others have heard that Osler stated that men past 60 should be chloroformed. Osler did not make the statement because the best mental work of outstanding inventors, musicians, professional men, authors has been done after the age of 60.

Referring to blood pressure and body weight it is interesting to know that the greatest number of heart strokes (coronary thrombosis) occur after 40 years of age and grow fewer after the age of 60.

In a series of cases reported from Finland, the results showed that the average body weight in women increased as the blood pressure rose. Among those with high blood pressure, considerable more overweight was found than among those with normal blood pressure. More cases of high blood pressure were also found in women of excess weight than in those of normal weight.

In men, excess weight up to the age of 40 did not seem to affect the blood pressure. Similarly after the age of 60 excess weight did not seem to affect the blood pressure. However in the 40 to 59 age group, men with high blood pressure showed considerable more excess weight than men with normal blood pressure, and overweight men showed more tendency toward high blood pressure than those of normal weight.

Insurance companies have been pointing out for years that as excess weight accumulates the blood pressure rises and that increased blood pressure occurs more frequently in persons of excess weight than in other persons.

A noted United States physician, Dr. Fishburg, has stated that the presence of overweight and high blood pressure in the same person is often due to hereditary predisposition to these two conditions.

The lesson from the above is that weight begins to increase and also the blood pressure at the age of 40, when "life begins," because more and richer food can be bought and less physical work is done or exercise taken.

Marines, Car Get Lift From Driver of Truck

Cherry Point, N.C. — Three Brooklyn Marine Reservists recently enroute to the Marine Corps air station here, for two weeks of active duty training, saved themselves 150 miles of the long drive when a big-hearted truck driver gave them and their car a lift from Baltimore to Norfolk on his automobile delivery trailer.

The men, all attached to VMP-132 of Floyd Bennett field, Brooklyn, N. Y., met the trailer driver in a diner outside of Baltimore and told him about the trouble they were having with their car, a 1931 sedan and hoping it would hold together for the trip.

The trailer driver suggested they run their car up on a grease rack in a nearby service station and run it on his empty trailer. This was done and the Marines settled down for the long ride. They are now trying to figure out a way of hitching another ride with the car—when they are ready to return to Brooklyn upon completion of training.

Wishing Won't
Make It So
By Lawrence Gould

"Is it morbid to feel you are useless?"

It is certainly not morbid to wish you could be of more use to your family and to society. You don't just "take it or leave it" when you are wishing, for you cannot enjoy normal self-esteem unless you feel that you are of value to someone besides yourself. But there is a morbid or neurotic sense of uselessness which is mainly an expression of self-pity, since it grows out of a feeling that you have never been appreciated or given a chance to show your real worth. You may ignore minor ways of being useful because your pride demands that you should be of use in some big way.

would love them and take care that their needs were supplied. The life histories of these potential delinquents show that there has generally been some serious disturbance of their home lives during their first five years which prevented normal character development.

Is psychosomatic medicine misunderstood?

Answer: Sometimes rather dangerously. Because disease is an unpleasant fact and most people try to find an excuse for ignoring such facts, the idea that much disease starts in the mind is twisted into the belief that a "psychosomatic illness" is imaginary and can safely be neglected. But as a friend writes: "A person may develop tuberculosis because he is unhappy, but he may also be dead if he does not seek medical treatment for it." Even solving an emotional problem will not always undo the harm it has done. That needs separate treatment.

Can delinquency be foreseen?
Answer: Yes, says Dr. Kate Alexander, British child psychiatrist. Children whose essential attitude is "anti-social" all have one characteristic: inability to wait for gratification of their desires, which is based on the fact that they have never felt sure anyone

'NO STARCH'

"THEY STARCHED my shirts again," we said to the wife. "Well, don't say it so accusingly," she replied. "I didn't do it. It's the laundry."

"But the laundry has been told again and again not to put any starch in 'em," we said. "I'm all in from repeating the word 'No starch' to it," said the wife. "What does the laundry say?" "It says 'O. K. No starch.'"

"And back it comes starched in technicolor, with the collars on summer shirts as hard as lawn-mower blades, and the cuffs so hard you have to button them with a chisel and hammer. Why don't we change laundries?" we moaned. "Hah!" snorted the missus.

"Change 'em and what do you get?"

"More starch," we suggested. "Exactly! The laundries or the laundry workers are in a great national conspiracy in restraint of soft collars and cuffs. They are in a secret society dedicated to the use of starch. Their motto is 'You'll take starch and like it!'" we leaped through the second story window. "I know," called the wife, looking out. "Starch!"

"Starch," we admitted, crawling from the shrubbery, cut and bleeding.

VIDEO AND EDUCATION

College courses by television are now being announced. We suppose the grads will win iceboxes instead of diplomas.

And get minkskins instead of sheepskins.

We can see it all now... the baccalaureate by Howdy Doody.

But a lot of people have felt that our educational system flickered too much as it is.

Personally we feel that education hasn't been dramatic enough. A jackpot could have helped us through ancient history. And we are positive that we would have done better under our professors if they had introduced puppets in the Latin, French and mathematics courses.

We just had to get an education, such as it was, by study. We had no outside aerial.

But now we are entering an era when ignorance may be easily attributed to the fact that the set was connected up poorly and lacked a "booster."

Your education may become a little dependent on fuses and you may find that your low scholarship resulted from a small screen.

Ira Hirschbaum, former education and now a video official, makes the announcement that Hunter college will make the first tests in video education, with history the first televised subject. Lectures on historic events will be synchronized with the picture, the cash prize on the commercial.

GRACE NOLL CROWELL

The Everlasting Arms

Around me and about me and beneath me,
Closer than breathing, closer than any friend,
The everlasting arms draw near to shield me,
To comfort and to keep me to the end.

Earthly arms grow weary in their holding,
Earthly arms may fail the weight they bear,
But oh, these everlasting arms, enfolding,
Have never one brief moment failed me there.

I wake each morning in their blessed keeping,
I rise to serve, or wait his blessed will.
Life passes—whether waking, whether sleeping,
God's everlasting arms will hold me still.

KEEPING HEALTHY
Teeth May Cause Heart Disease

By Dr. James W. Barton

SOME YEARS AGO an old boyhood friend called me up and asked me if there was anything that could be done for his 12-year-old boy who had heart disease. He told me that his family doctor had told him in a heart specialist who said nothing could be done.

However, since I was an old hand at heart disease, I had to admit that in this type of heart disease, inflammation of the lining of the heart, endocarditis, once the inflammation was under way, rest was the only known treatment. The boy died a few days later.

Today physicians are not helpless in the treatment of endocarditis, now that we have penicillin and streptomycin which render these dangerous organisms harmless. These organisms, as do many other dangerous organisms, the streptococci, start in infected teeth and tonsils. Thus, instead of all these cases of endocarditis dying, the majority of them are saved. Unless they allow infected teeth, tonsils or other parts to remain in the mouth they will live many years.

Because an inflammation in the lining of the heart can do a lot of damage to the valves of the heart in a short time, heart specialists advise proper dosage of penicillin into a vein at once. While streptomycin is also effective, reactions to streptomycin occur in some patients so penicillin is the treatment of choice.

In "Modern Medicine of Canada," Dr. Leo Loewe, assistant professor of clinical medicine, Long Island college of medicine, warns patients and families of the danger of further attacks of endocarditis despite the fact that an eight weeks' course of penicillin cures the great majority of cases. He reports a series of 33 dangerous cases in which 81 per cent were cured by penicillin.

To prevent further attacks Dr. Loewe and his associates state that they early recognized the danger of infection as a cause of new attacks and following attacks. Dental infections are particularly notorious as planting the seed of infection in the blood stream. It is dangerous to try to continue to keep infected teeth; heart disease and rheumatic fever may result.

PRETTY ROSEMARY PETTIT thinks she's just like any American girl; had no exotic birthplace for Hollywood to make a fuss about—she was born in Tulsa, Okla. She went to high school and college, one year, in California, where she lives. She had to go to New York for Hollywood to discover her and take her back for bits in Michael Curtiz productions.

ROSEMARY PETTIT

She returned to New York to study, went back again, really ready for films this time. You will see her in Warners' "The Lady Takes a Sailor," and later in Curtiz' "Young Man with a Horn," for which she's just gone west, after a season in summer stock at Princeton, N. J.

Paul Henreid, seen currently in Paramount's "Rope of Sand," will be long remembered for his appearance as the family counselor on "The Second Mrs. Burton" August 31. Vivially interested in doing what he can to further the conquering of polio, Henreid's own experience when a member of his family was struck by the disease gave him touching material for his talk.

Joan Crawford's six-year-old son, Christopher, believes that his mother is the bravest woman in the world. So does Joan. During her vacation in the wilds she caught six lizards for him, put them in a box and brought them home.

Helen Hayes returns to radio's "Electric Theatre" Oct. 9 in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street"; meanwhile she and her daughter Mary are doing a new play for six weeks in summer stock; if good enough they will do it on Broadway. 12-year-old Jamie, last member of the family to become an actor, has appeared in "The Corn Is Green"—once in a part all written in Welsh!

The Fiction * ON BUSINESS *

Corner

By Richard H. Wilkinson

WHEN DOUG PRINGLE signed a contract to illustrate stories for Midweek Fiction magazine at a figure that surpassed any amount he had earned in the rather uncertain past, he felt that he had reached a milestone in his career.

"Now," he declared to his wife, Aggie, "we can begin to have a few of the things we've been doing without for the past seven years."

"And the first thing we'll have," Aggie told him, "will be a nice little camp on Spur Lake where you can work amid surroundings that you love and where, accordingly, things will be easier for both of us."

"The camp," he told her gravely, "will come immediately after Mrs. Pringle has replenished her wardrobe."

It turned out that Aggie could have her new clothes and they could purchase the camp and not feel too extravagant. They went up to Spur Lake the following week and talked to a real estate agent. They had been there many times before. They knew just what they wanted for a camp site and where they wanted it. That afternoon the real estate agent made the easiest sale he'd transacted in years.

The Pringles sat down and made up a schedule of guests for weekends. They wanted to have company. This was the first time they had lived in a place big enough to hold guests conveniently. They were eager to share their possession.

And so two weeks later the first guests arrived. Doug and Aggie slept in the work room and everything was fine. All hands had a swell time. The guests departed in high enthusiasm. In fact, their enthusiasm apparently bubbled over, for in the middle of the following week some friends dropped in who had "heard so much about the cute little camp the Pringles had bought." Aggie and Doug asked them to stay over night and they did.

The summer hadn't progressed very far when Doug decided they ought to turn the present workshop into another bedroom.

"I'll build a studio for myself down by the lake. It seems there are a lot of people who are just Gosh! After all, I'm a working dandy to see our cute little camp man."

It's fun having guests, though," Aggie said. "Sure," Doug agreed. So the Pringles built a studio for Doug, a rather attractive building that added to the general outlay. He moved into it with all his equipment—and the next week-end Aggie moved in with him.

In August the Hollands arrived. The Hollands were bores. Steve Holland belonged to Doug's golf club. They were friends of some of the Pringles' friends.

HOWEVER, they arrived and Mrs. Holland spied the studio and wanted to look at it. Aggie smiled wearily. She was getting used to this sort of thing. She led them down to Doug's workshop and Mrs. Holland peeked inside.

"Why, there's no one there!" she exclaimed.

Aggie nodded. "Doug's away. On business."

The Hollands were disappointed at not being able to see the artist at work, but there was nothing they could do about it. They departed shortly after.

At dinner time Doug came home. He was in high spirits.

"I've found just the place I wanted. A room right in the heart of Goodwin's business district. Plenty of noise and dust—a place where a man can do a real day's work without being bothered."

Aggie smiled fondly.

"The Brants are arriving tomorrow."

"Swell!" said Doug. "Show them the works and tell them I'm away—on business."

Watch The Teeth

Tooth decay or dental caries is a destructive, progressive disease of the teeth. A large part of a tooth may be destroyed by decay with little evidence of decay on the surface. Surveys of large groups of preschool children reveal that 50 percent of them have decayed teeth at three years of age, 75 percent at four years of age and 90 percent at five years of age. Six out of ten children age 4 and 5 have as many as seven or more cavities.

Decay begins most frequently in the small pits and fissures on the chewing surfaces and at the point of contact between the teeth. Pits and fissures with structural flaws should be filled at once to prevent decay.

Dental examination and care should follow as often as the dentist advises. The first or baby teeth should be kept in a healthy condition until it is time for them to be lost.

X rays aid the dentist in finding hidden cavities, especially those between the teeth. Many of these beginning cavities are located in areas where they cannot be found in any other way. These pictures are also useful in finding other conditions that require immediate attention such as abscesses, impacted teeth, broken roots, loss of teeth and other information that is important in treatment of the case. With periodic dental examination and adequate dental care for each child, beginning at the years of age, the great majority of the children will reach adulthood with healthy teeth.

City dwellers may complain of the hot days but farmers realize how necessary sunshine is to their growing crops. Moisture Conservation Helps With Wheat Crop

A 30-acre field that had produced little during the last few years, even with favorable moisture conditions, produced a good wheat crop, according to the Kansas state college extension service.

"A combination of things made the land productive again," a conservation district cooperator said. "Use of sweet clover, seeded in the spring of 1946, for green manure and terracing, and contour farming for moisture conservation were important."

The land, he explained, was badly eroded. The soil was thin, dense and hard to work. It had not produced a decent crop in the previous six years and was practically idle land.

Gullies were plowed shut after the terraces were built, so that the whole field could be contour farmed. In addition, grass waterways were developed and more terraces planned.

Insecticides Urged In 'Hopper Control

Declared Better Than Use Of Poison Baits

Farmers have access to easier and better ways to protect their crops against grasshoppers than by the use of poison baits.

Any of three newly-developed insecticides — chlordane, toxaphene or benzene hexachloride — are recommended by the U.S. department of agriculture for general use against 'hoppers on a large number of crops.

Another well-known insecticide, DDT, doesn't work against grasshoppers.

Experimental work with the three insecticides has been carried on by federal and state agencies long enough to be sure of the results. Each has advantages and choice should depend on special needs. The type of sprayer or duster used makes little difference so long as the insecticide goes on evenly and in right amounts.

All three insecticides are both stomach and contact poisons. Under field conditions, chlordane and toxaphene are best as stomach poisons.

Chlordane is best as a spray made from an emulsion. For half-grown and most full-grown hoppers, use one-half pound of actual chlordane per acre. Double the dose for full-grown or big, yellow grasshoppers. Chlordane is a slow killer and results are not apparent at once. But hoppers stop feeding as soon as they swallow a good dose. The killing effect of chlordane lasts about 10 days.

Benzene hexachloride is best as a dust, although it may be used as a spray made from wettable powder. Use at the rate of three-tenths of a pound of actual gamma isomer benzene hexachloride per acre or 30 pounds of one per cent gamma isomer dust per acre. (Directions on the package will tell you how to get this concentration.) The effect of this insecticide lasts about two days.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Deep Freeze Gifts 'Chill' Demos; Senate Kills Welfare Setup Plan; Taft Is Target of AFL Vote Drive

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

DEEP FREEZE: Capitol 'Chilled'

To paraphrase an old tune, it was "January in June" in Washington as the story of the gifts of the home freezer units unfolded and expanded. Finally, the sordid angles of the "5 per centers" operations reached to the White House.

WITNESSES before a group probing the extent and results of "influence" obtainable by the "5 per centers" testified that several deep freeze units given away by the manufacturers, one went to Mrs. Harry Truman, wife of the President of the United States. Others who apparently received a similar gift were Chief Justice Vinson of the U.S. supreme court, James K. Vardaman, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, Mr. Truman's military aide. In fact, General Vaughan got two, so the witness said.

In connection with that development, there was a question which it seemed should have been answered long ago by the man most concerned. The man was President Truman. The question was: Why hasn't the President declared that White House influence and prestige are not for sale, cannot be wheedled by favorite hangers-on, and cannot be swayed by anything except the best interests of the people of the United States?

ANY FAIR-MINDED citizen will concede that there is no reason to think the acceptance of the gifts mentioned involved any law violation. Even though the company which paid the bills for the home freezers is linked with the ubiquitous John Maragon and the inquiry into the activities of "5 per centers" the mere fact of receiving personal gifts does not constitute legal offense.

In any sense of the word, it seems to be an offense against propriety. It is further evidence of a downward trend in political morals, a not too new development in these changing times. On the evidence at hand thus far, the deep freeze affair is not important—it is merely symptomatic.

ELECTIONS:

Taft Is Target

The American Federation of Labor, looking to the 1950 congressional elections, set plans for raising a million dollar war chest with which to knock off candidates obnoxious to the organization.

THE MILLION DOLLAR figure was the "minimum" officials said, with a voluntary contribution of $2 a head to be asked of the federation's members for work in the 1950 campaign.

It was no secret that Ohio's Senator Taft was the main target of AFL efforts, with the second target being Senator Donnell (R., Mo.) who was described by AFL's William Green as "more like Taft than anyone in the senate."

The per capita contribution, double that of the organization for the 1948 elections, will be split evenly with the state federations whose share is to be used in working at the precinct level.

AFL's election activity will have an important bearing on the future of the Republican party in the nation. For instance, if Taft should be knocked off in his race for reelection to the senate, it would mean that Dewey would remain as a top figure in the GOP hierarchy. On the other hand, if Taft should win and Dewey were defeated in a bid for his third term as New York's governor, the party would be all Taft's.

SYRIA:

New Cabinet

The fighting, the blood-letting were over. Peace of a sort reigned in Syria after a lightning like army coup that overthrew and executed President Hossni Zayim. The army committee which took things into its own hands was replaced by a new coalition cabinet which was organized by Col. Sami Hennaui who headed the revolution.

IT APPEARED that civilian rule would predominate, inasmuch as the new cabinet was composed mostly of civilians. The new government represented three political parties and various independent groups that opposed both Zayim and the constitutional regime which fell last March.

The premier is Hashim El Atasy, head of the national bloc and a former president of Syria.

TOO MUCH WHEAT?

Problem of Farm Price Support Mounting

It might be an unpleasant task, but an inescapable one—the demand for wheat was falling off. That was the conclusion of the National Industrial Conference Board.

This organization reported that total domestic consumption for the year beginning July was expected to be lower than at any time since 1941.

Slim Pickings

It will be slim pickings for holdup men who go after Frank B. Tippins' store in Miami. Twice within one month hold-up men came and got a total of $513. Smartened up now, Tippins will no longer be a lure for robbers.

WELFARE:

No Cabinet Status

The senate was having none of President Truman's proposal for creation of a federal department of welfare with cabinet status. A coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats dealt the project a pulverizing blow by a vote of 60 to 32.

WITH a constitutional majority in either house able to veto any such plan, the senate action meant complete and final defeat of the plan to transform the federal security agency, which handles the nation's education, health, and social security functions, into a department of welfare.

This proposal stemmed from the recommendations of the Hoover commission which spent two years seeking ways and means to make government more efficient and economical.

OHIO'S Republican Senator Taft, denying the Republicans were repudiating Hoover in opposing a plan they believed ran counter to the Hoover commission recommendations, declared:

"I believe very strongly that Mr. Hoover was misled."

This led Senator Lucas, Illinois, Democratic floor leader, to state that he was both "shocked and surprised that the good Republican from Ohio would deal with Mr. Hoover in this manner."

'THOUGHT' LAW: Held too Broad

The fallacy of attempting to deal with ideologies through laws has been highlighted by a Maryland circuit judge. The judge, Joseph Sherbow of Baltimore, ruled that the state cannot punish a person for what that person thinks.

The opinion was given in a case involving a state law against people who join or work with subversive organizations. It was the first courts test of the new law that required loyalty oaths by public employees and candidates for office.

"The supreme court," Judge Sherbow said in his opinion, "has made it clear that laws may punish acts and conduct which clearly, seriously and imminently threaten substantive evils."

"They (the laws) may not intrude into the realm of ideas, religious and political beliefs, and opinions. The law deals with overt acts, not thoughts. It may punish for acting, but not for thinking."

The law which Judge Sherbow tossed out did not specifically ban the Communist party. Its preamble said communism is a dangerous, world-wide conspiracy that fits the definition of subversive activity. Anything that aims at the overthrow of this government by force was deemed subversive.

Justice Sherbow said the law was too general. Declaring it violated the first, fifth and 14th amendments to the constitution, and Maryland's declaration of rights, he added:

"As stated by Justice Jackson (in a West Virginia case before the supreme court):

"If there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation, it is that no official, high or petty, can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion or other matters of opinion, or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein."

WOMAN'S WORLD

Collar Fashions Rule the New Fall Clothes

By Erita Haley

THERE ARE MANY changes but few upsets in the fall and winter fashion picture, advance previews indicate. Your last year's wardrobe will not look outlandish, but you may find yourself wishing for the new basic slimmest that new clothes show, as well as some of the new neckline interest.

Skirt lengths, too, are something women always ask about first when talk gets around to new clothes. Hems for fall are going up an inch or two, but it should always be remembered that smart designers and wise women insist that the woman wear the length best suited to each individual. Favored length is fourteen inches from ground.

As you see the new clothes, you'll be impressed with the lack of trimming used on them for the very simple reason that so much interest is centered on fabrics. Decor is provided mostly by buttons or interesting pockets.

Fabric dominates every costume because so many lovely new materials are now available, and so much can be done with each one as well as a combination of two of them.

Youth, Movement Are Reflected in New Silhouette

Slenderness and movement, youth and grace might all be used to describe the currently popular silhouette. This does not mean that only youth has been considered in its planning. Even when the mature woman wears new clothes, grace, youth and a feeling of fluidity can be created.

Even though basic slimmest is evident in the designing of most clothing, fullness is used here and there. However, tucking and pleats are cleverly manipulated so that they give the effect of slimmest.

Movement is achieved through the use of flying godets, fantal panels or giant, inverted folds. Many suits are belted and have a wind-swept effect because of billowing front or side drapery.

Slimmest is more evident in daytime clothes while evening clothes reflect a flower-like type of fullness. The all-American shirtwaist look is being revived.

You'll notice, too, that the new silhouette swings to the side, rather than to front or back as seen in the past year or two. Neck lines pull dresses to one side with a side plunge or sling, while panels,

Design Simplicity

A junior fashion which will be ideal for the girl who goes back to school this fall is this dress designed with classic simplicity. The slanting bodice and skirt buttons on this kelly green New York designed dress are fashion highlights for the season. A high neckline, three-quarter sleeves and slim belt complete the dress.

godets, and buttons swing it to the other side and big clouds of drapery heap themselves on one hip. Little period influence is seen in the silhouette but Italian influence is seen in many of the popular colors.

Neck, Shoulder Lines Reveal Changes

Most striking changes noted in the new clothes come in the neck and shoulder lines. You'll be seeing large collars of arresting shapes everywhere on suits, dresses, coats and evening gowns. Forward flying collars and big, pointed cuffs give the clothes the movement for which the silhouette is distinguished.

Normal shoulders are still fashion-wise, but that doesn't mean they look poor or droopy. The secret of the new and exciting line is the "rising" shoulder line, an optical illusion made by flanges and points shooting up from the bodice. Bias-cut shoulder folds and draped halter necklines will be popular.

Other bodice interests include high-laced, out-curving pockets, bows, points and twists of fabric.

Tuxedo treatments are coming to the fore in the new clothes, as well as the shorter length jackets and young-looking, short, boxy coats.

One of the more popular neckline treatments seen thus far is called the two-way closing neckline which may be buttoned high or left unbuttoned to form a collar. This is seen on both coats and dresses.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Leopard Doesn't Change Spots

WHY DO HUSBANDS, so often, after marriage, want to change the women they found so completely perfect in pre-marriage days? And why do so many engaged girls speak with assurance of the alterations they expect to make in their mates, once they are sure of them?

Early married life consists, for such couples, in an unending war between Dick's preconceived ideas of what a wife should be, and Betty-Lou's iron determination that he shall abandon all his old ways, friends, amusements, interests.

Whatever threatens successful marriage is of vital national importance in these domestically-shaken days, and this is one of the most serious threats. It seems to me that any mother or father who wants the future of a daughter or son to be somewhat secure, could do worse than warn that daughter or son of this particular danger.

Here are some quotations from the letters of two June brides of 1947; one written from Montreal, one from Tucson, Arizona, and both with the same complaint.

Two Letters

"Harry," writes Joan, the Canadian wife, "used to come down to Buffalo on business, and our courtship was there. He liked everything I did then, he likes nothing that I do now. My manner with his friends, my occasional loyal mention of my own country, my resentment of his mother's interference, the words I use, my handwriting, my liking to sing now and then, though my voice isn't anything remarkable, my planning of meals—

Be Smart!

If you're buying a bag now, you'll want to choose one which will serve you in the fall, too. A revival which will serve you just as well now as later is the beaded bag or the metal mesh bag that gives a beaded effect. There's newness in their soft, crushed look that looks equally well with summery print dresses or the semi-dark dresses which you'll be choosing for fall. Another trick which you'll appreciate for two-season use is the black bag which is touched with white in place of all-white bags of the earlier summer.

THE READER'S COURTROOM

Drawback to Idling

By Will Bernard, LL.B.

May You Get into Trouble By Doing Nothing At All?

Two coeds went swimming at a lake resort, but soon lost sight of each other in the water. When one of the girls was unable to locate her companion, she became alarmed and reported her fears to the proprietor of the beach. He replied: "She is probably on the shore — look around for her!" The man made no effort to help find the missing girl. That evening, her body was recovered from the bottom of the lake. The victim's family later filed a damage suit against the proprietor. In his defense, he argued that a person can't be held liable just for "doing nothing at all." However, the court disagreed and made him pay damages to the bereaved family. The judge said there are times when a person has no right to stand by and do nothing — and this was one of those times!

A woman was speeding past an amber signal when a taxi hit the side of her car. Her auto swung out of control and crashed into the porch of a house. Miraculously, no one was hurt — but the owner of the house sued both the woman and the taxi driver for damages. The cabbie admitted his guilt, but the woman plead innocent. However, the court decided she was just as responsible as the cab driver and had to pay part of the cost. If she hadn't been speeding, her car wouldn't have rolled so far.

A woman was driving along a narrow side street when she came to a main thoroughfare. She noticed a car coming, but—since it was still some distance away — she started across. Just then, the oncoming car suddenly speeded up! There was a crash, and the man driving the other car was hurt. Later he sued the woman for damages, insisting that he had the right-of-way. However, the court exonerated the woman from all blame. The judge said the man should have proceeded with caution.

May a Convicted Killer Get a New Trial—On a Mere Technicality?

A young man was arrested on a charge of murdering his sweetheart. The trial lasted for several days, finally drawing to an end late Saturday afternoon. Anxious to wind up the case, the judge immediately began giving his instructions to the jury. He talked, and talked, and talked — until 10 minutes after midnight! Now it so happened that the local law prohibited any court sessions on Sunday. When the jury brought in a "guilty" verdict, the convicted youth filed an appeal on the basis of this 10-minute overlap into Sunday morning. And the court — very reluctantly — granted him a brand new trial. The judge said it was just as wrong to break the rules by 10 minutes as by 10 hours!

"... crushed, dumb feeling . . ."

everything! For days I go about with a crushed, dumb feeling of being an utter failure. Sometimes I try to discuss matters with him, but he resents that. He is the master, and what he says goes, and what I say is just annoying and boring."

Now here is the Arizona letter, in part.

"Fred," writes Ethel Nelson, "knew when I married him that he had faults, serious faults. He promised to amend them. He was, and is, a successful businessman, but without any background. He never finished grammar school, rarely reads a worth-while book, knows nothing of music or art, has abrupt gruff manners at times, pooh-poohs me when I talk of college for the baby, goes with his old crowd of poker-playing noisy associates, and in no way has shown any inclination to improve, or to take my constant suggestions seriously."

"I hate nagging wives," the letter goes on, "and I try not to nag. But I want Fred to be a gentleman. I want to be proud of him, and have him a man who will never shame or embarrass little Peter. But I make no headway and, on the contrary, Fred is getting into a chronic state of ugliness and resentment, slams doors, eats meals in silence, talks or gulps coffee with a mouth full of food, slings his clothes about, and last week made a real scene when I spoke of the baby's daily bath and said, before several of my friends, that he never had seen the necessity for it himself."

Wants Perfect Marriage "We love each other," Ethel concludes. "If I didn't love him I

Don't Be Sorry For Tall Girls

'Stratoliners' Say They Like Height

NEW YORK—Don't be too sorry for poor Cousin Lucy because she happens to be 6 feet tall. Maybe she likes it that way.

Take 6 foot 2 Catherine Bedell, New York telephone operator and member of the Stratoliner club, who says:

"You're all by yourself up there — and it's nice. When I'm with our crowd I'm really annoyed because I can't see over their heads. A tall girl looks better in her clothes, too — when she can get them. A lot of us make our own."

It isn't any harder for a tall gal to get a job, she asserts, and a lot of medium sized men like to go out with a tall girl.

"How do we like it? Oh, we think it's fine. Still, we do like tall men." Question 6 foot women and nine out of any 10 probably will tell you they like it that way. And you will note, too, that most of them wear high heels.

And where do you find ten 6 foot women?

There were 200 men and women as tall, or taller, at a convention just held here.

There were delegates from 24 clubs the country over, such as the Kansas City Skyliners, Pittsburgh Star Dusters and a lot of others banded in the American affiliation of tall clubs. Men members must be 6 feet 2; women can get by at 5 feet 10.

All of the elongated fraternity were much concerned with the problems as well as the advantages of their height.

"Being tall is all right, but it has a lot of complications," says Chester Aronson, 6 foot 4 president of the New York Stratoliners and chairman of the convention.

Delicious Fruits Still Available for Housewife Canning, Preserving

IF YOU'VE suddenly decided to embark on canning, there's still time to put up jellies, pickles and jams for your favorite winter meals. Then, too, some of you may still have space on your canning cupboard shelves for some of the late arrivals. Peaches, pears, plums and apples are now available in abundance for preserving.

All these fruits have a definite appeal whether you're a master at the art of preserving or a new bride about to embark on her first jelly-making adventure.

THERE ARE SOME colorful and delicious jam combinations which are guaranteed to please because the flavors of fruits used complement each other:

Peach-Plum Jam
(Makes 12 6-ounce glasses)
4½ cups prepared fruit
¾ cup sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

Prepare fruit by peeling and pitting 1½ pounds soft ripe peaches, or grind fine. Pit but do not remove 1 pound fully ripe plums. Cut the small pieces or chop. Combine fruits and measure 4½ cups into a large saucepan.

Add sugar to fruit and mix well. Bring high heat, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add pectin, stirring. Stir and boil for 5 minutes, ladle into sterilized glasses and paraffin at once.

Pear-Peach Jam
(Makes 8 8-ounce glasses)
2 cups finely chopped pears
2 cups finely chopped peaches
1 box powdered fruit pectin
¾ cup sugar

Add powdered fruit pectin and sugar to fruits which have been mixed together. Mix well and heat to the boiling point, stirring constantly. When a full rolling boil is reached, boil for 1 minute. Remove from heat and skim. Seal in sterilized glasses.

Pear-Plum Jam
(Makes 8 8-ounce glasses)
2½ pounds peeled, ripe pears, chopped
2½ pounds ripe plums, chopped
¾ cup sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

Mix fruits, stir in pectin and sugar and heat to a full rolling boil. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from heat and skim. Ladle into sterilized glasses and seal at once with paraffin.

Crabapple-Grape Jelly
4 peck crabapples
4 pounds Concord grapes

Many delicious combinations of jam may be made from two favorite fruits in place of one. A good example of colorful and appetizing jam is the use of peaches and plums, as illustrated here.

FRUIT SAYS:
Always Popular

Children will cheer when you serve them bananas which have been dipped in melted semi-sweet milk chocolate and placed in the compartment of the refrigerator to freeze until chocolate hardens.

Make a man-sized sandwich using corned beef hash slice or pieces of bread and spread with tomato sauce. Broil until hot.

Make certain your canning cupboard has shelves well laden with pickles, jams and jellies for good winter eating. There's still time to make the pickles and jellies from late-ripening fruits, berries and vegetables.

Water barely to cover
Sugar

Select under-ripe apples and grapes. Wash and pick over. Add just enough water barely to cover the fruit and boil until soft. Mash and pour into a jelly bag to drip. Do not squeeze. Measure juice and let boil for 5 minutes. Add sugar (¾ cup sugar for 1 cup of juice) and cook until a drop jells on a cold plate, or until two drops come off spoon at the same time. Pour into sterile glasses and seal with paraffin at once.

Delicious Cucumber Pickles
6 quarts of cucumber slices
1 quart sliced onions
4 large green peppers, cut fine
6 cups vinegar
6 cups sugar
3 teaspoons turmeric seed
Few whole cloves

Place layers of cucumber slices, onions and green pepper in a crock or large vessel and cover with salt water, made by using ¼ cup salt to 1 quart water. Let stand for 3 hours. Drain. Mix together vinegar, sugar and spices; heat thoroughly but do not boil. Pour over the vegetables and seal in sterile jars.

Raw Tomato Relish
(Makes 6 pints)
1 peck ripe tomatoes
2 cups chopped celery
6 large onions, chopped fine
2 cups sugar
½ cup salt
2 ounces white mustard seed
1 quart vinegar

Peel tomatoes and chop fine. Drain in a bag overnight. Add celery and onions and remaining ingredients to tomatoes. Mix thoroughly and seal in sterile jars. This may be served just as it comes from the jar with sandwiches, or it may be warmed slightly to serve with leftover meats.

Sweet Pear Pickles
1 peck ripe pears
6 large onions
2 red peppers
2 green peppers
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon mustard seed
3 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon salt

Pare and quarter the pears. Slice onions thin and mince the peppers. Combine all ingredients and cook until the pears are tender. Seal in sterilized jars.

Hungry men will appreciate a sandwich from the pork roast when it is made by placing slices of the meat on buttered bread, then topped with thin slices of unpeeled, cored apples. Top with a slice of buttered bread and serve with cheese-stuffed celery stalks and potato chips.

Combine canned fruit juices for interesting beverages to serve with sandwiches and cookies. Half and half combination of apricot whole fruit nectar and sweetened grapefruit juice is most refreshing.

Jesus and the Psalms

Lesson for September 11, 1949

SOME parts of the Old Testament Jesus never once mentioned. Others he quoted again and again. Could this be because some parts were more helpful to him than others? At any rate, the Psalms were one section of his Bible which he often quoted.

Worship

ONE Use Jesus made of the Psalms was in public worship. Whenever he went to the Temple he would join in singing or in listening to the great choirs singing these ancient hymns. Many of our own best-loved hymns, while not direct translations, are based on Psalms. For example, "Still, Still With Thee" is from Psalm 16; "God Is My Strong Salvation" from Psalm 27; "The King of Love" from Psalm 23; "O Worship the King" from Psalms 104.

In private worship also we know Jesus used the Psalms. One of the Hebrew names for them was "The Book of Prayers," and Jesus, like many another who has loved these Psalms, found in them the natural expression of what was deepest in his heart when he turned toward his Father in heaven.

A striking proof of this comes from the story of Calvary. The cry, "My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" is a quotation from Psalm 22:1, and "Into thy hands I commend my spirit" is from Psalm 31:5.

Thus, two out of three prayers he uttered in his last moments were from the Psalms. So the reader today, pondering in a quiet moment these immortal poems, either from the printed book or better yet, as Jesus did, from the treasures of memory, may often find in them prayers which seem breathed from his own mind and to which he need only say, Amen.

Truth about God
JESUS also found in the Psalms a revelation of truth. It would be too much to say that Jesus derived his ideas of God from the Psalms. But certainly some of the great teachings about God which we hear from Jesus we can read already in the Psalms.

Jesus did not use the Psalms stupidly, of course. He would never have supposed that you could take just any sentence about God out of some Psalm or other, and quote it as the last word about God.

For instance, during his temptations the thought was suggested to him that he could jump off a high building and not be hurt; had not God promised just that in a Psalm? Now it is true that Psalm 91:9-12 does say that God will keep you from "dashing your foot against a stone" but Jesus knew that does not mean that God will guarantee to keep you out of trouble or harm no matter how foolish you are!

Christ in the Psalms
JESUS found in the Psalms also prophecies. There is a rather thin line between illustration and prophecy.

For instance, when the Jerusalem boys and girls were making such a noisy welcome for him, and the dignified priests were protesting, Jesus quoted Psalm 8:2 in defense of the children: "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise."

Did he mean that the Psalmist had predicted that very occasion, or did he mean that the Psalm expressed a truth always good?

At all events, we do know that Jesus often took a Psalm, or a part of one, as a prophetic picture of himself. He knew himself to be the true King of Mankind, "the Lord's Anointed," as his use of Psalm 110:1 plainly shows.

Yet he also knew that he must pass through suffering to his throne (Luke 24:26). When the leaders of his people rejected him he was not surprised, for he thought at once of Psalm 118:22-23. When he hung on the cross, and saw the soldiers gambling for his clothes, Psalm 22:16-18 would surely come into his mind.

And can we doubt that in his last agonies, one who knew the Psalms so well would not have remembered also the later lines from the same prophetic Psalm? It begins with prophetic question—Why? But it rises to a song of triumph—"When he cried unto him, he heard!"

G-Man Hoover Scans Career

Has Served Bureau For Past 25 Years

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It was 25 years ago that John E. Hoover, a librarian turned lawyer, took command of a run down police force whose officers could neither make arrests nor carry guns.

In a quarter century, much has happened. America's criminal glossary has been swelled by such terms as "G-man," "G-heat" and "public enemy." The era of gang warfare as a national characteristic and kidnaping as a big time source of racket money have flowered and faded. The careers of "Machine Gun" Kelly, Dillinger and Karpis have boomed in the news headlines and ended at morgue and prison gates.

And along the way, "John E." has become "J. Edgar" and the sad sack police force of May 10, 1924, has blossomed into the pride of a nation which once maintained that law enforcement was a strictly local problem and no business of Washington's bureaucrats.

In honor of his silver anniversary as head man of the federal bureau of investigation, director Hoover reviewed the FBI story and told how it all began.

It is a story of politics, good and bad, of an era that created a new enforcement approach, and of a criminal punk with a machine gun and a smart wife who did a million dollar publicity job for the FBI. Above all it is the biographical tale of an unimportant federal employe who took an unimportant appointment in 1924, and, without changing jobs, has become one of Washington's and the nation's most potent figures.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: Is there anything I could put on my aluminum outdoor clothes line so that black smudges can be kept off the clothes? Even after thorough wiping it is possible to rub "black" off the line.

ANSWER: After thorough cleaning, rinsing and drying, give the line a coat of good spar varnish. To get an even coat, saturate a piece of cheesecloth with the varnish and wipe it on the wire. Since there will be a great deal of friction, the varnish gradually will wear off, and the treatment must be repeated. Instead of all this fussing, why not use a good cord clothesline, to be taken down and put away when not in use?
