International Kids' Village Peace Inspired

TROGEN, Switzerland-In the Swiss canton of Appenzell, overlooking the Boden See (Lake of Constance) and the German shore across the lake, is a new kind of village, an experiment in bettering international relations through the minds of children.

The International Pestalozzi Children's Village, on the outskirts of the modest village of Trogen, is the temporary home of some 200 children of varying European nationalities. All of them were in need of help when they arrived, and many were war orphans.

The village is the outgrowth of the idealism and compassion of Walter Corti, an Italian-speaking Swiss, who not only deplored the ravages of war upon children in belligerent nations, but who did something about it.

Popular Subscription Corti first suggested a children's village in neutral Switzerland in 1944, while the war was still raging. The suggestion was received with enthusiasm by the Thus French children live in French homes, English children in English, and so on. They live much as they would in normal homes in their own countries, speaking their mother tongues and studying the subjects they would in their native schools, with teachers of their own nationality. Joint Activities

There is a difference, however. In some classes the entire group works together. Recreation and community duties are internation-Italian, Greek, German and English children may be playing soccer together while French children teach Finns the French words to a German tune.

Mutual suspicion and distrust were problems when the school first opened. In the immediate postwar days Polish children refused to play with Germans and the Finns had a tendency to keep to themselves.

The problems changed gradually as the war faded into the past. Fewer of the children entering the school now are war orphans. And some new troubles have arisen. Polish and Hungarian children once in the school have not been allowed to return after summer vacations in their homelands.

African Parrot Makes Music In Restaurant

gray parrot named Coco sits atop an old nickelodeon in the bar of a country French restaurant near this small town and whiles away the time whistling snatches from operatic airs.

Learned To Whistle

He learned to whistle the C major scale (white keys) on his perch on a piano in a back room. The waiters unintentionally taught him music by running a finger over the keyboard as they passed between the kitchen and the dining

He came to live at the Villa Victor in 1930 when it was being converted from a farmhouse into a restaurant without changing the surrounding lawns and ponds and poultry. Rudolph, a son of Victor Zani, the founder, said Coco was obtained with a green parrot named Tony from a Mr. Smith who brought the parrots here from Africa. Until Tony's death from pneumonia in 1942, the two of them used to whistle a sort of duet.

The gray bird's age, 65 years, was estimated by the late animal collector, Frank Buck, Buck said that a parrot does not learn to talk until it is 45 years old and that after 70 it probably becomes senile and dodders irritably around its

Taught Him Tunes

When Coco had mastered the scale, the waiters taught him tunes and persuaded the Zanis to move his cage into the restaurant where the public could enjoy his songs.

In Coco's repertoire there are 12 tunes. Although he never completes a song, he can whistle about a dozen bars of each one, including: "The Drinking Song" from "La Traviata," the "Funeral March" from "Aida," "Hall of the Mountain King" from "Peer Gynt," airs from "La Boheme" and "Carmen" and the songs, "Souvenir D'Amour," "Ciribiribin" and the Fascist "Giovinezza," which a waiter taught him in the Thirties,' to everyone's subsequent regret. "Ciribiribin" is the favorite. Whenever Coco is stumped in trying to repeat a new and unfamiliar tune, he pauses, gives an angry squawk, and swings into his favorite stand-by.

Smart Styling of '53 Chevrolets

Front-end styling of the completely re-designed Chevrolets accentuates the appearance of power and fleetness in the new line. As shown above, the surface of the hood this year extends farther forward before curving abruptly down to the radiator grille. Adding its note of beauty and distinction, the outer rim of the grille encircles the parking lamps and center bar mounting three decorative "prop bars." Increased performance, comfort and convenience are outstanding features of the 1953 Chevrolet line.

School Lunch Is Important

To assure good health for children,, special attention should be paid to the school lunch, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. If good nutrition is obtained the diet must include meat, milk butted, fruit, vegetables, and whole grain and enriched cereals in proper quanities Inadequate lunches can deprive children of the nutrition necessery for good health and intelligent work at school. A sandwich and a soft drink are not sufficient even though the child may have a good breakfast and evening meal.

A childs lunch should provide at least one third of the daily food requirements. Whether eaten home or at school, it should include include one half pint of milk, a substantial protein food as meat egg, cheese or peanut butter sand-wich, a vegetable for fruit or both leaving the attack cargo ship and whole grain or enriched bread harmonica, usually associated with the ear-assaulting first musical attemps of children was an honored instrument recently as this south German town celebrated its 500th anniversary.

NOISY CELEBRATION

The honor comes naturally, because Trossingen, in the Frenchzone province of Wurttemberg-Hohenzollern, owes much to the harmonica. One of the world's largest and best known makers of mouth organs is located there, and the factory provides much of the town's employment.

The harmonica, or, more correctly the mouth harmonica, is much younger than Trossingen itself. It was invented by Friedrich Buschmann in Berlin in 1821 and employs an originally oriental system of producing music by passing air over "free" reeds-vibrating metal reeds that fit exactly the wind aperture.

Some 14 Feet Long

There were oriental mouth organs long before Buschmann produced his "Mundharmonika." The Chinese and Japanese models were made with a gourd, or a gourdshaped piece of carved wood, as an air reservior. 13 or more slender canes were inserted into this windchest, each cane producing a note form a different free reed. Some Chinese mouth organs use bamboo pipes, or canes, 14 feet long.

Nutrition Expert Sees No More 'Three Meals'

AUBURN, Ala.-The usual American custom of three meals a day is not necessarily the best eating schedule.

Mary Hulsey, API extension nutritionist, explains that some people, often the elderly, feel better if they eat more frequently, but less at a time. They may prefer to divide their daily fare into four or five meals instead of three. Or some food may be saved out for snacks between meals or at bed-

"However," warns Miss Hulsey "older people who eat frequently need to guard against two hazards First, don't spoil the appetite for milk, fruit, vegetables, and other needed food by filling up on toast and tea or cake and coffee. Second, don't overeat and become overweight.'

The specialist adds that growing children, active workers, and underweights also may benefit by between-meal snacks. Non-appetite spoilers that give children nourishment for active play are a glass of milk, a sandwich, fruit, or a hard-

DELTA, Col.-This and several neighboring towns sell scenery of spectacular proportions. The road outh from Grand Junction through Delta, Montrose and over the "million dollar highway" to Durango is traveled daily by many tourists.

Despite the new boom in tourist entertainment, the main industries in this community are mining, cattle raising, and fruit growing.

About 20 miles out of Montrose traveling south is the Black Canyon of the Gunnison river, a narrow gorge which rises almost straight up from the banks of this famous trout fishing stream.

Thirty-six miles south of Montrose you come to the little mountain town of Ouray, almost completely hemmed in by towering rocks. Box Canyon at Ouray, headwaters for the rushing Uncompahgre River, houses a roaring waterfall.

Beginning at Ouray, the motorist starts south over a spectacular road built of ore containing gold, silver, copper and other precious metals. That's were it gets its million dollar name.

This road crossing the San Juan range, provides scenic splendors not matched in the west. One towering peak after the other comes to view and there are more after you leave Silverton.

None of the mining towns is more picturesque than Silverton, now a center of uranium producing. Durango is a sort of headquarters town for the Mesa Verde National Park where a long lost race of Indians built their dwellings in the sheer canyon walls.

Oklahoma Farmers Are Crowding PMA Office

CHICKASHA, Okla.-The embattled farmers of Grady county are crowding the counters at the P.M.A. office these days to get in on the alfalfa, vetch and sweet clover subsidy which the United States is paying this year.

The subsidy this year will be the smallest ever paid. Only 20 cents a pound on 3,000 pounds, or 60 dollars a farm will be paid for alfalfa planting and only ten cents a pound on three thousand pounds of vetch will be paid for the same amount of sweet clover.

One farmer said he sure wanted to get in on the alfalfa planting this year for he was afraid if Ike got in they wouldn't give away alfalfa money next year. The vetch and sweet clover subsidy meets with general farm approval but a considerable number of farmers doubt the wisdom of the alfalfa
