Condition Of Children's Teeth Is Cited

More than half of the children in this country have as many as six cavities in their teeth before they begin school. That's the estimate of Texas dental authorities and state health officials, Health Day.

Ninety eight percent of all 15-year old boys have one or more teeth missing, decayed or filled.

Over 284 million cavities are afflicting the teeth of American children, with teeth decaying six times faster than they are being filled.

One-half of the children between the ages of three and nine have never in their lives had dental treatment.

One of the biggest hurdles to be overcome," State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox says, "is the seemingly widespread attitude that baby teeth are insignificant."

He believes the attitude stems from the fact that baby teeth are only temporary, with most people thinking there is no need for concern until the child gets his permanent set.

But dental scientists say that the care given baby teeth has a direct and vital bearing on the condition of permanent teeth. Dr. Cox points out.

The Texas State Department of Health and State Dental Society are sponsoring the state observance of the day.

They are appealing to all parents to pay attention to the plight of youngsters' teeth. And they make this plea:

"The children will be grateful especially when they are no longer children."

Summary Oil Fields Given For This Area

The oil industry released a summary of oil fields on the South Plains. There are 11 wells in 6 fields in this trade area producing a total of 847 barrels of oil daily. The summary shows why oil activity has not been more brisk. Production has been relatively low and drilling costs high as most of the wells have been deep wells. Until heavy area producers are discovered, oil activity is expected to develop slowly as in the past 4 years.

PTA Backs Increase In Teachers Wages

By E. N. Dennard, State Chairman Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers

A number of bills will be introduced in this session of the Texas State Legislature directly relating to the welfare of children and youth. By the nature of its program, the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers is in the best position of any organization to influence needed legislation for the youth of this state. It seems advisable that we should concentrate our efforts on major legislative proposals.

We already know that bills are going to be introduced to increase the minimum annual salary of the teachers to $3,000 per year; to increase the allotment of principalships units, and to improve their salaries under the minimum foundation program; and to improve certification standards for Texas teachers. It should be pointed out that the above three proposals were approved unanimously by more than 1800 members of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers meeting in annual session at Wichita Falls in November of last year.

During the 1951-52 school year approximately 5,000 teachers left the profession. Less than 2,000 of the 1952 spring graduates of the Texas colleges and universities entered the teaching profession. Approximately 1,000 additional teachers will be needed annually in Texas for at least the next 8 years to take care of the rapidly increasing pupil population. By simple arithmetic, it is seen that the annual shortage of teachers is around 4,000. Who is going to teach the school children of Texas? This question must be answered by the people thru legislative action?

Rate Your Community By This Yardstick

FREDERICKSTOWN, Ohio.—Citizens of this community were urged recently by their newspaper, The Knox County Citizen, to rate their town and evaluate themselves by standards suggested in a national magazine recently. Some of the standards for small cities suggested by the magazine were:

Most high school graduates stay in town.

Local speeders pay the same fines as out-of-towners.

There's a place to swim within easy reach.

Young couples have little trouble finding a place to live.

Town entrances are free from junk, shacks and billboards.

Teachers' salaries are better than the state average.

There's at least one doctor per 800 people.

There's a library with a good collection of 1952 books.

Schools have plenty of room for students.

Fire insurance rates are low for your type of town.

A modern hospital is within your trading area.

All streets are paved and sidewalks are in good shape.

Well-stocked stores keep shoppers in town.

It's easy to find parking space in the business section.

At least one restaurant serves outstanding meals.

Sever extension keeps pace with new projects.

More than half the church congregations are under 40.

There's a recreation center where young people can dance.

Borden County Club Report Is Given

The six home demonstration clubs in Borden county have just completed their first year of club work with more than 100 women enrolled and taking active part in the Extension program.

Until the present county home W. Hughes started work Nov. 5, 1951 there had never been a home demonstration agent in Borden county. Women living near the county lines had attended club meetings in adjacent counties. In fact in the northwest corner of the county the women had organized the B and L home demonstration club and the home agent from Lynn county was meeting with this group. Women from this organized club were instrumental in getting home demonstration work started in Borden County.

As soon as the present home demonstration agent started work she set about meeting with groups and organizing clubs where desired. By the latter part of February 1952 there were six organized women's clubs in the county. These clubs were: B and L, Cedar Crest, Fairview, Gail, Misquite, and Murphy.

4-H clubs were also organized and all girls living in the county were enrolled in 4-H work in 1952. This first year's work has been more or less an orientation into club work but many of the girls are now ready to carry a good demonstration in the coming year.

After the six home demonstration clubs were underway the women met in the courthouse at Gail and organized the Borden County Home Demonstration Council. This Council was composed of one elected delegate and the club president from each club in the county. Council work for the first year has been a matter of the women becoming acquainted and getting the work organized, and they have done an excellent job of this. There has been good attendance at the meetings, and all business has been taken care of at the scheduled time. At first meeting the program was set up for the year's work, and a committee was appointed to work on the year books. The yearbook were printed for 1952. The home agent reported on this phase of work devoted 142 days to Extension organization.

The program planned for the first year touched briefly on different phases of homemaking in order to give the women a more complete picture of the Extension work available. Demonstrations were carried in clothing, food preparation and preservation, and in home improvement. At the end of the year the home agent reported 57 days devoted to home improvement, 28 days of foods work, and 54 days spent working with clothing. 80 method demonstrations were given with 1211 people in attendance.

Clubs are so organized they have one meeting with the agent presenting the demonstration and one meeting without the agent at which time a leader in the club gives a demonstration. The president of the Cedar Crest club reports they have had a demonstration given at every club meeting this year. Clubs are beginning to carry extra projects as a part of their program. During the past year the Mesquite club women made 2 quilt which they presented to Girlstown at Whiteface.

A school house which is no longer in use has been converted into a club house by the women at Fairview.

Recreation has been an important phase of the Extension program in Borden county. In more than one instance the Murphy club has combined club and community activities in a wholesome recreational program. The Gail club women sponsored a picnic for the community last July, and in December they planned their Christmas party to include the families.

Highlighting the 4-H program was the county wide Christmas party held at Gail in December. There was an award program and outstanding 4-H work was recognized at this time. All 4-H members who had completed their projects received pins.

Barbara Reeder and Gail Rogers accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Aubrey Rogers attended the Round Up held at College Station in June. Six girls accompanied Mrs. Joe Rudd, 4-H leader attended the District camp at Lubbock this year. 4-H girls attending this camp were, Sue Rogers, Donna Radd, Barbara Sharp, Patsy Burkett, Mary Lynn Stages, and Dortha Jean Kroop.

The club women also have attended out-of-county meetings. Mrs. Ben Weathers, president of the Murphy club and chairman of the Borden County Home Demonstration Council was voted delegate at the state THDA meeting held at Kingsville this year. Women attending the District THDA meeting at Dimmitt were: Mrs. L. B. Jones, Mrs. Carl Griffin, Mrs. Roy Reeder Mrs. Isaac Ledbetter, and Mrs. Ben Weathers. Women attending the meeting in Big Spring on Beautifying The Home Grounds were: Mrs. John Whitmore, Mrs. Floyd Buchanan, Mrs. Carl Griffin, Mrs. Roy Reeder, and Mrs. W.C. Croson.

Extension work is underway for 1953 with the new yearbooks already in the hands of club members. Major demonstrations selected were clothing and food preparations. Officers of all clubs and of the Borden County Council have started the new year's work by the appointment of committees. Council officers for 1953 are: Chairman Mrs. Ben Weathers, Murphy club, Vice

Michigan Counties Solve Wintertime Depression Worries

BELLAIRE, Mich.—When Labor Day comes, all the rich vacationists take off from this community of waters and woods like wild ducks, leaving the natives in a severe economic depression after a boom in guiding fishing parties, baby sitting, working in hotels and carpentering.

But the citizens are taking steps to alleviate the effects of this depression. Several years ago a committee, headed by Betty Parker, whose husband publishes the Antrim County News, began selling, by letters, Christmas greens in August.

Day and night, the men left jobless by the departure of the tourist trade hauled in big branches and the women made them into Christmas wreaths.

The venture has been repeated in other fields, and now there is a winter workshop in Bellaire. Five other Michigan counties hardest hit by the winter depressions are co-operating. Everything in the workshop is handmade.

A pine rocking horse was made by Durbon Death, Starvation Lake. Hardwood lawn furniture was fashioned by Mark Trail Osburn of Cedar. Mrs. Loren Lacey learned how to make aluminum and pewter trays with designs of maple leaves, pine cones and deer. Mrs. Harry Siebold crochets silky drawstring purses.

Lady Pitcher Saves Man's Life

LANCASTER, Wis.—A farm woman's throwing arm got the credit for saving a farmer's life.

Ray Slater, 60, Ellenboro Township, nearly suffocated when his wrecked car was almost submerged in a cold creek.

Mrs. Helen Beyer, called by the farmer's children, began throwing rocks at the rear window. The first rock hit but bounced off. The next two missed.

The fourth one, a heavier stone, broke the glass.

Slater held his nose to the broken window for more than an hour until a wrecker pulled the car from the water. He was able to keep his face above water in the back seat.

Soldier Goes Home AWOL to Read Bible

GROVE CITY, Pa.—A 22-year-old soldier went AWOL from his army post recently and took refuge in his hometown because he wanted to go to a Bible school. Three men seized him here recently and brought to an end his three-week armed holdout in his home.

Two Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and a military policeman persuaded the soldier to come from the house by posing as newspapermen and asking him to come out and pose for a picture. He left in the house the pistol and gun with which he had said he would resist arrest by shooting to kill.

The youth struggled with the agents for several minutes as his mother harangued the officers. He was overpowered, placed in the agents' automobile and taken away.

The soldier was Allen Keller, a blond, soft-spoken boy who left Camp Kilmer, N.J., in an overnight pass.

Keller's mother said the officers, who were dressed in civilian clothing, hustled her son into an automobile and drove away. She said she had learned shortly afterward that her son, who believed peace the only solution to the world's woes, may have been planning to kill himself.

She found a note in his clothing, she declared, saying that "laws made by the men in the government and their lack of understanding have caused me much pain and suffering, but forgive them." Mrs. Keller said her son wrote that he wished the note read at his funeral.
