ADVANCING INTO THE FUTURE—BOOSTING, BUILDING, BENEFITTING

O'DONNELL, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1941.

For the Best Interests of O'Donnell and Lynn County

Colder Weather Strikes Area

It isn't news any more. More rain has fallen this week in O'Donnell, and late Thursday a slow drizzle was falling. Existing records for rainfall in a year are in danger of being broken.

E. I. Hill, editor of the Lynn County News of Tahoka reports over 40 inches of rain has fallen in Tahoka, and throughout the year O'Donnell has recorded higher totals for each downpour. Unofficial sources here believe O'Donnell's yearly total will exceed 50 inches.

A norther swooped down over the West Texas belt Thursday, bringing a hint of snow and close to freezing weather. A freeze at this time, many farmers say, would ruin an untold amount of cotton and feed.

Optimistic citizens point out, however, that the sun did shine Tuesday and part of Wednesday in O'Donnell.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Members of the Cemetery Association elected new officers at the meeting Monday night in the home of Mrs. Hal Singleton.

Mrs. W. W. Hancock was named president; Mrs. J. P. Bowlin, vice-president; Miss Claire Ruth Nichols, secretary-treasurer.

Thanksgiving dinner will again be served by the members to the citizens of this section, and will be held on Thursday, November 27 at the American Legion Hall.

Mrs. Stansell Jones and young daughter, Jane and Mrs. Calvin Fritz were in Lamesa Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman and Helen Jean were in Lubbock Sunday.

 Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Bryan have returned from a short visit in Rochester.

Seagraves Squad Invades O'Donnell. For Football Tilt

They're still coming plenty tough for the O'Donnell Eagles.

Walloped by Brownfield in conference play 59 to 0, but enjoying a "breather" last week when the Crosbyton game was rained out, the Eagles tackle the tough Seagraves squad here tonight. Seagraves spanked Tahoka's Bulldogs 6 to 2.

Coach Ray DeBusk has been sending his charges through new tactics this week, but admits the muddy grounds has hampered any attempt to bring out the speed boys. Following Seagraves, the "game of the season" will be reeled off with the advent into O'Donnell of Tahoka's Bulldogs. Odds are slightly in favor of the county-site growlers, but when Tahoka-O'Donnell clash anything is liable to happen, and usually does. Years upon years of rivalry makes the encounter interesting and hard to figure.

Anyway, it is a game few will want to miss.

ANNOUNCE SON'S BIRTH
 Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Jackson announce the birth of a son, Troy Lynn, on Oct. 29.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Castleberry and family visited in Rochester, their former home recently.

In a deal which would bring about the consolidation of O'Donnell's two newspapers, the O'Donnell Index and O'Donnell Press, statements of the two publishers are published below.

The change, taking effect this week, is to have no bearing on previous business affairs, so the contract reads between Mrs. Pauline Campbell and W. G. Forgy. All advertising previously run by the Index, any accounts which may be owed by that firm or any job work printed, still remain the property of Mrs. Campbell. The Press management is assuming only the subscription list, future national contract advertising and such equipment as may belong to Mrs. Campbell.

None of the printing equipment which has been used to print the Index for the last several weeks is concerned, as that belongs to other persons, and the Press will continue for the present to be printed as in the past.

To my friends and subscribers:
 This is formal notification that I have this week sold my interest in the O'Donnell Index to W. G. Forgy of the O'Donnell Press, the transaction effective immediately. Mr. Forgy will complete all Index obligations in so far as subscription are concerned, and will, I feel sure, give you the best of service.

I have disposed of my interests only after much thought and discussion, and only after it seemed certain that my own health demanded a change in occupation and environment; so-o-o, after a short time to rest and gain in strength (and weight) I hope to be physically able to go on with other work.

I wish to thank each of you for your loyalty, for your cooperation, and for your interest in me and mine. And no matter how far afield my work may take me, O'Donnell will always be my home hometown. And at the same time, I congratulate you on having, already on the scene, a competent and experienced newspaperman, who will serve the needs of this community much better, doubtless, than I.

With best wishes to all of you, always,—Pauline Campbell.

NOTICE OF PURCHASE OF O'DONNELL INDEX

Purchase of the O'Donnell Index, owned and operated by Mrs. Pauline Campbell for the last 8 years, was made by W. G. Forgy, owner of this newspaper, this week. The two newspapers are to be consolidated. This will again give O'Donnell one newspaper.

The purchase will call for the subscription list of the Index, "good-will," and other valuable considerations.

That O'Donnell can, and no doubt will, support one good newspaper, has been voiced by many people, and both Mrs. Campbell and Forgy believed it for the best interests of all that the consolidation should be effected instead of either, at this time, of selling to other parties and thereby still cause two newspapers to blossom forth where only one was needed.

Mrs. Campbell recently passed a civil service examination with high honors, and thereby secured a position which will prove of more financial benefit than the newspaper. She is to return to Washington within a few days to assume her new duties.

The publisher of the Press intends to give O'Donnell the best newspaper possible in O'Donnell, and asks that the public not expect radical changes all at once, nor a sixteen-page edition. Business conditions remain pretty much the same for one or two newspapers, and it has not been the policy of Mrs. Campbell or the Press publisher to pressure merchants just to "get the business." That same policy will still be in effect.

Kegglers Find Going Tough In Bowling League

Averages of bowlers in the City League, as revealed by Gene Gardenhire, manager, reveal extremely tough going for all. High man, Dr. J. M. Bubany, sports only 147 average.

The full line-up of the "blistering" averages is as follows:
 Bubany 147, Applewhite 144, Brewer 141, Forgy 141, Brock 139, Schooler 138, Wimberly 131, Hancock 130, Howard 129, Nowell 129, Koeninger 124, Thompson 124, Davis 121, Whitsett 120, Allen 119, Caldwell 118, Liddell 114, Barnes 112, Jess Barnes 110, Sloan 103.

The O'Donnell Motor Parts are still setting the pace in league play, with the Corner Drug trailing next.

A change has been made in the schedule, Gardenhire says, and only two teams will bowl on Monday nights hereafter. The other two teams will bowl Wednesday night.

Draw Man Injured By Saws At Gin

TAHOKA, Oct. 30 (Special)—Injuries sustained by W. E. Dubree of Draw, sustained when his hand was caught in the saws of the Thomas Bros. Gin at that place on Wednesday of last week, are said to be healing as satisfactorily as could have been expected.

All five of the fingers on one hand were badly lacerated, and the bone in one finger was fractured and the finger almost completely severed from the hand, it is reported.

He was brought to the Tahoka Clinic where the wounds were dressed and medical treatment given.

Stansell Jones Named As Mayor Of O'Donnell

Stansell Jones has been named mayor of O'Donnell by members of the City Council to succeed C. H. Mansell, resigned.

Jones, young and progressive, is in the employ of the Cicero Smith Lumber company here. His conscientious attention to his work with that firm, his leadership in church affairs and interest in the community was all considered in the council's decision to "draft" him.

The appointment has met with universal approval of O'Donnell's citizenship.

COUNTY COURT WILL CONVENE NEXT WEEK

TAHOKA, Oct. 30 (Special)—County Attorney Calloway Huffaker states that several cases are expected to be called for trial Monday morning when county court opens.

Among the cases to be tried are four liquor cases; one charging a Tahoka man with unlawfully transporting intoxicating liquor, and three against an O'Donnell man, who is charged with two sales and with unlawfully possessing intoxicating liquor.

One man, whose conviction on a charge of drunken driving was reversed by the court of criminal appeals, is also to be tried again. He was tried and convicted in the district court the first time, but as the legislature has since reduced this offense from the grade of felony to a misdemeanor, the case will be tried this time in the county court.

Also pending is a charge against a Lubbock man for operating a truck without a permit, and a case against another Lubbock man charging violation of the pure food law.

Jimmie Lee Shook of Tahoka visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Shook, Sunday.

Judge J. E. Garland of Lamesa visited in the Noble home Sunday. cart of Tahoka and was reared here. They will make their home in Tahoka.

Soil Conservation Election Carries

TAHOKA, Oct. 30 (Special)—The soil conservation election held in Lynn county last week seems to have resulted in the approval of the proposition by considerably more than the required two-thirds majority, according to returns made to County Agent Don Turner.

Not all of the voting boxes have sent in official returns and Mr. Turner is not sure that his figures are exactly correct in each instance, but it is not believed that changes will be sufficient to materially affect the result.

The vote as given to him is as follows:

Tahoka, 44 for, 3 against.
 Wilson, 26 for, 3 against.
 O'Donnell, 33 for, 13 against.
 New Home, 3 for, 11 against.
 Wells, 0 for, 8 against.
 Grassland, 4 for, 0 against.
 The total vote: 110 for, 36 against.
 It may be seen from the above figures that very little interest was taken in the election. The size of the vote was also reduced by the fact that rain fell much of the day Saturday and country roads in many places were impassable.

Mr. and Mrs. Naymon Everett and Nancy Gail and Toby Johnson attended the circus in Lamesa Wednesday night.

Mrs. Fred Henderson and three months son Billy Bob and Mrs. Guy Bradley were in Lubbock Wednesday for Billy Bob's check-up.

J. R. Miller made a business trip to Stephenville this week.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Shipping Losses and Kearny Incident Have Effect on Neutrality Act Debate; British View Invasion as 'Impossible'; French Assassinate Two Nazi Officers

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

KEARNY:

Starting Things

The fact that the Kearny, U. S. destroyer hit by a Nazi torpedo, had been more than slightly damaged, had suffered the loss of some 11 lives and had several persons badly wounded landed with a jolt in a Washington already jittery in the midst of a debate on the Neutrality act.

The navy refused any information except the broadest facts, pending a fuller report of the commander, and the incident left congress in a welter of excitement.

On top of this had come two further sinkings, those of the Bold Venture, former Danish ship carrying the flag of Panama, and the Lehigh which was flying the Stars and Stripes.

The Lehigh was sunk off the coast of Africa, far from the combat zones.

The impact of these three incidents on a congress which was being asked to permit the arming of merchant ships was terrific. Immediately measures were placed before congress ranging all the way from a complete repeal of the Neutrality act to a resolution asking for a declaration of war.

This last was not actually introduced, but certain isolationist senators said that it would be as a counter measure to the "pressure" being exerted from the White House.

Out of it all emerged the second half of the Neutrality act legislation, the measure to send American ships into combat zones, and this had been reported to have received presidential favor as a matter of present business.

Again, as the administration was meeting severe opposition on one of its measures, fate and the news played into its hands.

RUSSIANS:

Tough Battle

Pressure shifted from one direction to another along the Moscow front with the Russians putting up a desperate fight.

There had been a sudden heavily reinforced attack, however, in the southern, or Orel district, and the Nazis had claimed the capture of Stalino, a city of 450,000 people, and described as "a leading armament center of the Donets basin."

Still later the Nazis had announced gains on the Azov front and the defenders believed the Germans were shifting their attack to the south.

There had been reports of Stalin personally in command at the central front, his headquarters in an armored train. But the capital had been moved to a spot 550 miles southeast of Moscow.

Russian sources had declared the picture at Leningrad to be the brightest of that on any part of the long front, with the defenders of Russia's second city inflicting terrific losses on the attackers, and still holding their defense lines.

INVASION:

'Impossibility'

British sources, following a protracted demand on the part of labor and certain sections of the press for an immediate invasion of the continent, officially declared this plan "still an impossibility."

The R.A.F., it was stated, was still smashing the Reich territory on a 24-hour basis, however.

London authorities were testy over the hint, however, that Britain was not doing all she could to aid Russia, and it was revealed through high officials that shiploads of tanks, airplanes and munitions had been sent, that many already had arrived. Others were en route.

The British declared that fully one-half of the German air force was being compelled to be held in the west because of the daily attacks by bombers, and that the British are doing everything that the Russians themselves have suggested in the way of aid.

50 FOR ONE:

Officers Shot

The killing of Colonel Holtz, the Nazi commander at Nantes, France, by assassination was promptly avenged by General Stuelpnagel, occupation commander, by the killing of 50 French hostages.

The commander said: "Cowardly criminals paid by England and Moscow killed the field commandant at Nantes with shots in the back on the morning of October 20. Until now the assassins have not been arrested.

"In expiation of this crime I have ordered, as preliminary measures, that 50 hostages be shot. Considering the gravity of the crime 50 other hostages will be shot if the assassins are not arrested."

The general offered a reward of 15,000,000 francs for the surrender of the guilty parties.

Four members of the gendarmerie at Nantes had been taken into custody, including the prefect of the district. He and the mayor of Nantes issued an appeal for aid in the arrest of the killers.

On that very day, however, in the neighborhood of Nantes, a freight train was derailed, a section of track having been removed.

For other offenses four Frenchmen had been executed, and the total of hostages executed during October was said to have reached 134.

Next day reports told of the killing of another Nazi officer in France. This time, a major.

G. O. P.:

Willkie Policy

At the height of the neutrality debate more than 100 Republicans took part in an appeal for the repeal of the Neutrality act, in the face of the recollection that this action in the last war was shortly followed by American entrance as a full participant.

These were led by Wendell L. Willkie, who said:

"Millions upon millions of Republicans are resolved that the ugly smudge of isolationism shall be removed from the face of their party.

"At the same time he criticized the administration for the handling of labor relations, saying "the desire of many in the administration to rewrite our social and economic life under cover of the national effort must be ruled out during the emergency."

WICKARD:

On Prices

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, calling the parallel between the present war and the last one too close for comfort, urged on congress the necessity of immediate price fixing to stave off disastrous inflationary tendencies.

He declared himself in complete agreement with the provisions of the pending price-control bill, and said that the planned price-fixing authority might not be necessary.

The nation's agricultural production next year, he predicted, will be the highest in history, and the increase would be mostly in meats, milk and eggs. He recalled that of the 14,000 banks which failed most were country banks, and said he didn't believe the American economy could stand a second siege like that.

SIBERIA:

Or Thailand?

Watchers of the perilous situation in the Orient were still wondering whether Siberia or Thailand would be the first to feel the touch of Japan's expected military effort.

In spite of unconfirmed reports that the United States and Japan had reached some basis of agreement, the tension continued high. Japanese quarters were pressing on the government to do something first about Thailand.

Low-Down-on-Low-Bid

Appearing before the Senate defense investigating committee, Sidney Hillman, OPM associate director general, is pictured as he declared that low bid by a CIO contractor for a Michigan housing project was disregarded because its acceptance might result in strikes and open violence involving the entire construction industry in Detroit. The committee was probing charges that OPM shows favoritism to AFL.

LABOR:

Civil Strife

An internal war within the C.I.O. organization was revealed when a strike at a Detroit steel plant was suddenly halted.

The public was treated to the unusual spectacle of a union leader telling his members to go back to work because the army had been ordered to take over the plant "unless," and being roundly hissed.

There were yells of "bring on the soldiers."

The union leader, John Doherty, said:

"The United States army already has received orders to move in. The government has notified our union that this strike will not be tolerated."

The men, who claimed that their own union leaders had "sold them out" in wage negotiations, hissed and catcalled, but they went back to work.

There were hints of sabotage in this strike, and the open charge by Federal Conciliator Dewey that he was looking for a "sinister purpose" in the walkout. Dewey had been in the conference which resulted in this particular steel company signing a contract with the SWOC.

MEXICO:

Releases Aliens

Latin-America and the United States had been puzzled by a report from Mexico stating that close to 500 Nazis and Fascists from the seized Axis ships had been released and returned to their former status of foreigners legally in the country.

American circles could not understand why President Camacho took this action, as it was believed certain to complicate Mexico's espionage problem, already quite complex. It had been pointed out that, prior to their seizure, these Nazi and Fascist ships had been hotbeds of propaganda, and that one of them, the Orinoco, had maintained a printing plant aboard, and that in addition to flooding the country with material along the Nazi party line, had given many entertainments aboard for Mexicans and had shown many propaganda movies.

BRIGADE:

Of Heroes

The British official reports of the Dunquerque episode were filled with many stories of heroism, but none of them more poignant than the story of the lost brigade of Calais.

This was a group of 3,800 British soldiers who held the French port, vital to the use of Dunquerque as a debarkation point, for all the days while the evacuees were crouched on the beaches, vulnerable to attack, thus permitting their brothers-in-arms to escape.

Of this body, only 47 ever returned to England. The commander was Brigadier C. Nicholson, and after standing heavy bombardment and with the town he was defending in flames, he received this terse command:

"Every hour you continue to exist is of the greatest help to the B.E.F. The government therefore decided that you must continue to fight. We have the greatest possible admiration for your splendid stand."

One spearhead of the German attack was desperately anxious to take Calais and to sweep on to Dunquerque, to fall on the helpless and vulnerable men at that point.

But the riflemen of the Calais brigade held them, despite the bombings by wave after wave of Stukas. Nicholson himself was among the missing. His last radio appeal was:

"Please send us more guns—still holding out."

It was the evening of the fourth day. Calais had held out long enough. Their work was done.

Ruins of London Town

This photograph, just released by the British censor, shows some of the devastated sections in the great business center of London after air raid clearance work. An entire block of demolished buildings has been completely removed, leaving nothing but vacant lots, as shown in the picture. Hardly a building escaped damage.

At Neutrality Hearing

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, left, is shown talking with Rep. Sol Bloom, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, during the neutrality hearing on Capitol Hill, on the arming of merchant ships. The attack on the U. S. destroyer, Kearny, gave impetus to the hearings on revision of the law.

$5,985,000,000 Bill

Acting with determined speed and unity, the senate, by a vote of 59 to 13, passed the new $5,985,000,000 Lend-Lease bill to send a new torrent of planes, guns, tanks, etc., to the nations fighting Germany, including Russia. Photo shows Sen. Alva B. Adams of Colorado, chairman of the subcommittee of the senate appropriations committee, writing date on bill.

Honeymoon

By JOSEPH Mc GORD

INSTALLMENT NINE

THE STORY SO FAR: Larry Cutter started pretty Jacqueline (Jack) Anthony, public stenographer at the Hotel Raynear, by telling her that she could realize her globe-trotting ambitions by marrying him.

Before the afternoon was over, Jacqueline had made her decision. That first feeling of hurt, because Larry had not let her know he was back, vanished.

There was a problem. It would be simple enough to call his room, but dangerous. Even if she went into the nearby drug shop and called from a booth, the conversation might be overheard.

But she could write him a note. There was the solution! Type it. Use no signature and place it in a plain envelope.

In her excitement, she was able to appreciate the humor of that letter. The first one she ever had written to her husband.

Actually, she guarded her information a little more closely than that. But she hoped Larry would understand—that, at least, he would be on his guard when he came to the office.

She left the office promptly at closing time and went three blocks out of her way to put the note in the postoffice, looking guiltily over her shoulder as she thrust the envelope through the slot.

The first working hour of the next morning was taken up by a customer who was maddeningly slow with his dictation. About the time he seemed near the hoped-for finish of his work, Jacqueline glanced into the lobby just in time to see Larry passing.

He gave her a bright smile which she returned mechanically, then began typing once more. From the corner of her eye, however, she watched her husband drop into a chair and unfold his newspaper.

Before the client was finished, Jacqueline had assured herself that Lieutenant Staples was not in sight. Then, Larry looming in the doorway, his familiar drawing voice asking: "Is Miss Sherlock Home?"

Then Larry had received his note and understood the message! Jacqueline's sense of relief was so great that she repressed a thankful exclamation with difficulty.

Larry dropped into the official chair and produced some papers from his pocket. His face was perfectly sober, but there was a glint of amusement in his dark eyes, as he said, "Just one letter, please."

"This is just a personal letter . . ." Larry raised his head and stared up at the ceiling, as though giving his entire concentration to the composition. "Dear Jack," he began.

A few staccato taps of the keys. Silence. "Yours of the nineteenth instant received . . . contents carefully noted. Please accept my thanks for information contained. I am somewhat at a loss to know how this particular data came to your attention, but I am accepting it gratefully. I was not particularly surprised to read what you had to say and will be pleased to discuss the matter more in detail when the opportunity presents itself. I hope it may be soon. Paragraph.

"With renewed assurances of my appreciation, I beg to remain yours very . . . sincerely. That's all."

Without changing his tone, Larry continued, "Tell me in an off-hand fashion where I can see you tonight. It's important. Please."

Jacqueline took the sheet from her machine and looked over the few lines as if to assure herself there were no errors. She held it out gravely, saying in a low tone: "Tonight, Baxter street entrance of the South Side Hospital. Nine o'clock. Twenty-five cents."

Larry rose to his feet, chuckling silently as he reached in his pocket for the change. "You're superb." Then he added rapidly, "Don't forget that my Montreal friends are Todman, Kell, Limited. Thanks."

"Todman, Kell . . ." Jacqueline found herself repeating as Larry walked away without another word. Why did he say that? Oh . . . Now, she knew. If anyone were to ask her to whom he had written, she was at liberty to mention that firm. She wouldn't, though.

posals, and they were married after signing a contract providing that he is to care for her, and that she may continue to live as she is living for six months, after which she could tear up the contract. He gave her $10,000 in U. S.

first visitor that night, making the stop at his office before going to see her father. Vince's operation was scheduled for tomorrow at eleven. His daughter felt that she must have a final word of assurance from the surgeon.

"I don't believe there is the slightest cause for apprehension," was the doctor's comforting report. "Your father has responded very nicely to treatment. I'm not looking for any complications. If I were you, I should go to work tomorrow as usual. You can call up the hospital in the afternoon. If anything should happen, I'll see that you hear at once. That's a promise."

"Surely?" "Absolutely. By evening, you should be able to see him. Trot along now and don't worry."

But it was not so easy to be cheerful when she found herself with Vince. She couldn't bear the thought of anything happening to him . . . with things in such a dreadful muddle. In another hour she would have to face Larry, too. No telling what that was going to mean.

At nine o'clock, Jacqueline gave her father a lingering kiss. She left the room, smiling at him through her tears and waving a cheerful little farewell. Then out through one of the side entrances to Baxter street.

Parked in the shadows was a long roadster from which Larry leaped when he heard Jacqueline's step. "You're very prompt," was his greeting. "Hop in. We'll take a little spin somewhere and talk as we go." He chuckled slightly. "And I haven't been trailed. So don't let that worry you."

Jacqueline said nothing until they were some distance from the hospital. In spite of herself, her thoughts persisted in straying back to Vince. Larry might have guessed the reason for her preoccupation, for he asked quietly, "Visiting the sick tonight?"

"My father." "What! You mean he's a patient? Why, I thought . . . I mean, I didn't know he was in the city." "He has been in the hospital for a little time."

"Come home sick, then. That's tough. Nothing serious, I hope." "He's going to be operated on tomorrow. The doctor thinks there is no danger."

"I wish I had known. Is there anything at all I can do for him? Doctors or nurses . . .?" "Oh, no," Larry had gotten all these things for Vince, but he didn't know it.

"Care to tell me?" "Larry . . ." she burst out miserably. "Vince has been in town all the time! He kept out of my way until . . . until he finished one of his inventions and . . ." Her voice was breaking treacherously. "I see," Larry offered easily. "He wanted to surprise you. And he was taken sick instead."

"Yes . . . Yes, that was it." "What a tough break." "Larry . . ." she began, "I couldn't manage about Vince . . . I had to use some of your money . . ." "My money!" "Those bonds."

"Whatever are you talking about? Those are yours . . . yours to use in any way you like." "I know . . . but I couldn't. You don't understand. I won't spend any more than I have to, and then I will put it back. If I didn't . . ."

"If you didn't, you'd think you had sold yourself. That's what you're trying to say, isn't it?" "Yes."

"Wish you could forget it. I'm only too glad to do anything I can for your dad . . . But we'll fix it any way you like. When is the operation?" "At eleven."

"Going to the hospital?" "The doctor thought I'd better wait until afterwards . . . until evening. He promised to call me, in case . . ."

"I get you. I'll tell you what I'll do. If you don't mind my passing myself off as a friend of the family, I'll drop around and make sure that everything's all right. Sort of a double check, you know. Okay?" "That would be awfully good of you."

"It's all in the family . . . so to speak. And now that that's out of our systems, I want to talk about something else. I'm curious about that note of yours."

bonds as surety. She cashed a $1,000 bond when her father, Vince Anthony, needed an operation. Detective Staples told Jacqueline that he was watching Larry.

"Don't you see? He figured, if you had been staying at the Raynear, you might have dictated letters to me and . . ."

"And you weren't able to tell him what they were about. That's where our hero ran into a stone wall."

Jacqueline tried to see the expression of Larry's face, but the darkness concealed it from her.

"When he described you," she admitted quietly, "I did remember that you had given me several business letters. And that was all I did tell him."

Jacqueline found herself in a fresh quandary now. She had somehow dreaded this interview. It had been quite impossible to down the suspicions in her mind, hateful as they were. She knew that her attitude toward Larry should be one of cool resentment until he had made an explanation. He should be very grateful to her and give her the assurances she so much needed. He must.

But now, she must have succumbed again to the spell his presence seemed always to exert. Worst of all, she didn't care.

Vince's welfare seemed the only real important thing in the world just now. If anything should go wrong tomorrow . . . Larry's quick sympathy and desire to be of help had touched her strangely. His very nearness brought comfort . . . He was so big and dependable.

Her pride would not let her demand an explanation. "Look here, Jack. I don't know whether that gum-shoe gave you a bum steer on purpose or not. I was rather looking for something like that to happen, but I didn't think you'd be worried with it. I told you that fate was in all this, and you've helped me a lot tonight. That's all I'm going to say because you've got troubles enough of your own without packing any on my account. I don't want you to be bothered with my affairs. So let's forget it. Could you eat anything, provided we can find any place that looks inviting?"

"Oh, no. I think, perhaps, we should turn back now. It's getting late."

"Whatever Her Highness commands." Nothing was said after that until Larry slowed at a busy intersection a mile from Courtland street. Jacqueline laid her hand steadily on his arm.

"I think you'd better let me out here. I can take a car." "Why?" "I just happened to remember . . ."

"Nonsense! There's no danger of that. I'll see you home, of course." A few squares from the apartment house, Larry said quietly, "Don't worry about tomorrow, Jack. I'm going over to the hospital and stick around until it's over. Just as soon as I get definite word, I'll give you a ring. You can depend on me."

"Thank you . . . so." "Righto." He brought the car to a quick halt in front of number 907. "Coast's clear. Run."

CHAPTER VIII

Jacqueline never forgot the long hours of that next morning. Fortunately, she was quite busy. But it did not keep her thoughts from straying constantly to the hospital and wondering how her father had come out of the operation.

When Larry finally called at one-thirty, her hands were shaking so that she scarcely could hold the receiver to her ear. Larry's voice was quiet and reassuring.

"Everything's fine." "Oh . . . Are you sure?" "Perfectly. I've just talked to Dr. Kennedy himself. No complications, he tells me. Nothing to worry about, so far. I guess you thought I had forgotten you. But, you see, an operation is like a procession. They never start on time."

Larry did not see fit to tell her that Kennedy had added he had found Anthony's condition somewhat more involved than he had thought and that the operation was long and tedious. But successful.

"I'm so glad! And so . . . much obliged," said a choked little voice at the other end of the wire. "Glad to be of some use. By the way, the doctor thinks your dad will be able to see you after dinner."

SIN AND ITS CONSEQUENCES

LESSON TEXT—Galatians 6:7, 8; 1 John 1:5-2:8. GOLDEN TEXT—If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.—1 John 1:9.

Sin is an appalling reality, hideous and horrible in itself, and bearing with it the gravest consequences both in this life and in the life to come. Man does not find it pleasant to face that fact, and so he makes light of sin and even may go so far as to deny its existence.

Far better to meet the reality of it, admit its awfulness, and seek God's way of full deliverance. Sin, which came into the world when man listened to Satan and disobeyed God in the Garden of Eden, has gone on to mar and to mark all mankind. We note that

I. Sin Brings Corruption (Gal. 6: 7, 8).

Seedtime is followed by harvest. This is the law of nature, the law of God. The farmer who sowed wheat in the spring looked for wheat when the harvest time came. The same principle holds in the spiritual realm. Just as the one who sows to the Spirit reaps eternal life, the one who sows to the flesh reaps corruption, and death.

A life of self-indulgence (which is sowing to the flesh) brings moral decay. The weakened will yields to desire, and it "bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death" (James 1:14, 15). This death is spiritual, bringing separation from God, a loss of fellowship and communion with Him. Spiritual death as well as physical death came upon mankind through Adam's sin.

II. Sin Loves Darkness (1 John 1:5-7).

There is not a bit of darkness in God. He is light. When Jesus came into the world, He came as the Light of the World. But "men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved" (John 3:17-21).

The corollary of that truth is that a man who says he has fellowship with God, but continues to walk in darkness, brands himself a liar (v. 6). Compare Revelation 21:27-28 for what God thinks of liars.

The light still shines, and the one who is walking in darkness has only to step over into the light (v. 7) where he will find fellowship with all God's people and know the cleansing of the blood of the Son of God.

III. Sin Is an Undeniable Fact (1 John 1:8-10).

It seems impossible that a man who knows himself and knows the life he lives would ever deny sin, for it is one of the most evident of all facts. Yet men have denied it, or sought to explain it away, calling it error, or a "fall upward," or a step in man's development, or the evidence of man's self-consciousness and desire to learn.

There is no hope for a man as long as he assumes such an attitude, for he not only lies himself, but he makes God a liar. He denies the truth of God's Word about sin, makes meaningless or wicked God's dealings with sin, and reveals that God's Word is not in him. Those who make such statements declare that they do not belong to God and do not accept His Word. It is evident that they ought never to be permitted to teach such things in the church, or in the name of Christianity.

IV. Sin Calls for a Saviour (1 John 2:1-6).

Christ the propitiation, the mercysat covering for our sins, is the only Saviour. He paid the price, and made it possible for God to be just and at the same time a justifier of the ungodly. The sinner needs such a Saviour.

Sin in the life of the believer also calls for a Saviour, one who will cleanse us (1:9) and who will in His own blessed name plead our cause "if we sin." He is our Advocate (2:1) pleading His righteousness in our behalf when we do fall.

This does not mean that we may then become indifferent or careless about sin. If we say we know Him, and do not keep His commandments, we lie about our professed relationship to Him. The mark of a true child is a spirit of obedience.

God's children prove their love to Him by keeping His commandments. Talking about our devotion to Him, giving our service for Him, or sacrificing for His cause mean nothing if we do not obey Him. We only pile evidence upon evidence of our untruthfulness by making claims and doing things which are negated by our disobedience.

OT MUCH CHANCE for you to go clocking different brands of motor oil to prove which one flows fastest in Eskimo season. Yet the quicker the lubrication at every cold start, the less "dry rub" on delicate surfaces in your engine. Then why not change now to Conoco Nth oil for Winter and get an OIL-PLATED engine? OIL-PLATING is high up in the cylinders to fight fierce grind, much sooner than any plain oil-flow alone could even start wiggling.

Conoco Nth oil, you see—all in addition to speedy flow—fastens OIL-PLATING to inner engine surfaces, as if by "magnetic attraction." This close-bonded OIL-PLATING is up to its topmost point before you even touch the starter—and that's "faster than fast," to aid you toward anti-friction starting.

Even up in Iceland, of course, any engine's normal firing is hotter than the Land of the Hottentots. Yet you don't want to "burn up the oil." And Conoco Nth proved it could last for more than twice the mileage averaged by the five other big-name oils in the impartial Death Valley Death-Test. When all five others were used up—engines ruined as each strict 5-quart fill gave out—the Conoco Nth oil that competed under identical conditions was still up at 2.7 quarts! Certified!

1903 Ford Given Canyon Museum

CANYON, Oct. 24.—The little red Ford has finally reached its last resting place—the Panhandle-Plains Museum. Walter Irvin of Amarillo donated a 1903 model in the name of his daughter, Miss Peggy Irvin. Henry Ford has the only two older models in his museum at Dearborn, Mich.

The machine, which has a two-cylinder motor, will operate now and can speed along at "several" miles per hour. The frame is made of iron and wood with imitation leather upholstery. The now faded paint once covered yellow spokes, black fenders, and a red chassis. Forward, reverse, and neutral are the only gear shifts available with the lever placed on the far right side of the seat. The steering wheel is located on the right side in the manner of English-made cars. Other features of this ancient car, serial No. 28, are chain drive, motor under the seat, crank in the middle of the right side, and kerosene lamps preceding headlights.

Irvin has driven the Ford in hundreds of parades throughout the Panhandle. He presented it to the museum on October 14.

LEGION PLANS NAVY RECRUITING

Governor Coke R. Stevenson at his desk in the reception room of the Governor's office, Austin, discusses plans for immediately recruiting two companies for service in the United States Navy or Naval Reserve in Texas with The American Legion, Department Commander Andrew Dilworth of San Antonio and Capt. H. W. Underwood, United States Navy, commanding the Naval ROTC Unit at the University of Texas. The campaign was started by the American Legion in response to a telegram from Secretary of Navy, Legionnaire Frank Knox, asking the American Legion to "recruit a minimum of one company consisting of not less than 140 men The Navy has 338 ships in commission and 353 building. Need for men is obvious," said the telegram in part.

Commander Dilworth wrote the Secretary of the Navy "Texas will recruit two companies of 140 men each from the Houston and Dallas recruiting area."

Capt. Underwood said "The Naval ROTC unit of the University of Texas is anxious to make any contribution to the success of this campaign."

"I am ready to do all I can for the War and Navy Departments and all-out defense as urged by President Roosevelt, in fact I think I am about two jumps ahead," said Governor Stevenson.

Each American Legion Post is requested to send to the nearest Naval Recruiting Station, or sub-station, at least one recruit for the Navy or the Naval Reserve on or before October 27. Fitting ceremonies will be held on October 27 either at Austin, or Houston and Dallas with high State, Navy and American Legion officials participating.

Governor Stevenson issued a proclamation calling upon Texas citizens to observe Navy Day, October 27 "For it was in October, 1775 that our forefathers . . . came to the conclusion we must have a Navy to maintain peace."

VICTORY PAGEANT TO BE PRESENTED AT WOMEN'S MEETING IN DALLAS

CANYON—Indicative of the policy of club women always to keep in tune with the times will be the presentation of Mrs. J. A. Hill's pageant, "V for Victory," at this year's meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. The meeting will be held in Dallas Nov. 10-13.

Mrs. Hill, wife of President Hill of West Texas State College, Canyon, is a member of the state board of the Federation and is a past-president of the Seventh District. She has written various magazine articles but is best known for the book, "In Little America With Byrd" of which she and her son, Joe, are co-authors. Joe was with Admiral Byrd on the second expedition to Little America.

Flags and costumes of many nations will be seen in the two colorful episodes of the pageant. The first episode, "The Changing World" depicts Hitler's many conquests, while the second episode, "Our All for Defense," introduces the Federation's new department of defense. A narrator will give a survey of the present world situation.

The cast of the pageant will be composed of Dallas women.

New Yorkers Are Talking About:

Babe Ruth's price ($25,000) for his services in the Gehrig film, which Goldwyn screams is too much.

The way the British radio pounds away at Italy's slipping morale with eight daily broadcasts urging the country to unclash itself from Berlin.

The book, "I Paid Hitler," by Fritz Thyssen, the industrialist who first helped the Nazis in Germany.

The way some of the pro-Nazis ever here outsmarted themselves. The coin they saved on postage by having their hymns of hate franked through the mails doesn't begin to cover the costs of lawyers and bail.

Notes of an Innocent Bystander:

The Story Tellers: Clifton Fadiman will have you know that he's a book-reviewer, not a literary critic.

The Front Pages: An editorial in the Herald Tribune epigrams the spot the Bolo armies have put the Huns in.

Broadway Is Like This:

Broadway is where after you've reached the top—at least a dozen acquaintances claim having played a big part in it.

Broadway is still the zippiest street of them all. Remember when some people wrote articles alleging it was dead a few years back?

UNITED WOMEN

One night, Mayor LaGuardia flew down to Washington, had dinner with us, and spoke before a meeting of the United Women's Organizations in the District of Columbia.

They started with a meeting of 12 and stated that they would come together in a united organization to work for civilian defense.

The next morning, Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt arrived in time to have breakfast with me at eight o'clock on the south portico.

At 10 o'clock, I was at the Office of Civilian Defense, and returned before lunch in time for two appointments at the White House.

I hope this will develop in every part of the country and am anxious that we should use all the work that has been done.

PLANNING AHEAD

One afternoon I again had the pleasure of meeting with the regional directors of the social security board.

It is a great satisfaction to me to find so many groups looking forward and planning ahead, so that we shall not be caught unawares.

POSTCARD REQUESTS

I have received several post cards which interested me very much. Suddenly people seem to have the urge to put their innermost secrets on post cards!

I also have a post card which directs that I shall bring certain practices of a local draft board to the attention of the President.

However, these two cards show a confidence in the fact that the White House will take an interest in private matters which are brought to its attention.

FREEDOM'S PEOPLE

On another night, Dr. John Studebaker and Dr. Ambrose Caliver, and several of their assistants, brought over the transcription of their radio program, "Freedom's People."

These programs should bring before the whole people, the contribution of the Negro race to the nation. After we listened to this program, Lord Mountbatten brought in the records of two songs by Noel Coward.

Beloved Singer Pleaded For Mercy, Not Justice

The beloved Madame Schumann-Heink was a woman of rare charm and geniality. She was the first to make fun of her own shortcomings, and was often heard to comment good-humoredly on her decidedly matronly figure.

On one occasion, a fashionable portrait painter asked her to sit for her portrait. The plump opera star hesitated for a long while before making her decision.

"Don't be afraid, Madame," said the artist teasingly. "I'll do you justice."

"Ah," replied the prima donna, "it isn't justice I ask at your hands; it is mercy!"

OT MUCH CHANCE for you to go clocking different brands of motor oil to prove which one flows fastest in Eskimo season. Yet the quicker the lubrication at every cold start, the less "dry rub" on delicate surfaces in your engine. Then why not change now to Conoco Nth oil for Winter and get an OIL-PLATING engine? OIL-PLATING is high up in the cylinders to fight fierce grind, much sooner than any plain oil-flow alone could even start wiggling.

Conoco Nth oil, you see—all in addition to speedy flow—fastens OIL-PLATING to inner engine surfaces, as if by "magnetic attraction." This close-bonded OIL-PLATING is up to its topmost point before you even touch the starter—and that's "faster than fast," to aid you toward anti-friction starting.

Even up in Iceland, of course, any engine's normal firing is hotter than the Land of the Hottentots. Yet you don't want to "burn up the oil." And Conoco Nth proved it could last for more than twice the mileage averaged by the five other big-name oils in the impartial Death Valley Death-Test. When all five others were used up—engines ruined as each strict 5-quart fill gave out—the Conoco Nth oil that competed under identical conditions was still up at 2.7 quarts! Certified!

A known economy record... plus a known aid to safe prompt starting... when you change to Conoco Nth for Winter OIL-PLATING, at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Today. Continental Oil Company

GAVE TWICE THE ENGINE LIFE!

This oil that OIL-PLATES gave its engine more than twice the life averaged by the engines using the other oils in the Death-Test. In these times use your car prudently. And use oil that's great for engine life—changing regularly as recommended. Good starting—good lubrication against all needless wear—helps conserve gasoline, too.

1903 Ford Given Canyon Museum

CANYON, Oct. 24.—The little red Ford has finally reached its last resting place—the Panhandle-Plains Museum. Walter Irvin of Amarillo donated a 1903 model in the name of his daughter, Miss Peggy Irvin. Henry Ford has the only two older models in his museum at Dearborn, Mich.

The machine, which has a two-cylinder motor, will operate now and can speed along at "several"

miles per hour. The frame is made of iron and wood with imitation leather upholstery. The now faded paint once covered yellow spokes, black fenders, and a red chassis. Forward, reverse, and neutral are the only gear shifts available with the lever placed on the far right side of the seat. The steering wheel is located on the right side in the manner of English-made cars. Other features of this ancient car, serial No. 28, are chain drive, motor under the seat, crank in the middle of the right side, and kerosene lamps preceding headlights.

Irvin has driven the Ford in hundreds of parades throughout the Panhandle. He presented it to the museum on October 14.

LEGION PLANS NAVY RECRUITING

Governor Coke R. Stevenson at his desk in the reception room of the Governor's office, Austin, discusses plans for immediately recruiting two companies for service in the United States Navy or Naval Reserve in Texas with The American Legion, Department Commander Andrew Dilworth of San Antonio and Capt. H. W. Underwood, United States Navy, commanding the Naval ROTC Unit at the University of Texas. The campaign was started by the American Legion in response to a telegram from Secretary of Navy, Legionnaire Frank Knox, asking the American Legion to "recruit a minimum of one company consisting of not less than 140 men * * *. The Navy has 338 ships in commission and 353 building. Need for men is obvious," said the telegram in part.

Commander Dilworth wrote the Secretary of the Navy "Texas will recruit two companies of 140 men each from the Houston and Dallas recruiting area."

Capt. Underwood said "The Naval ROTC unit of the University of Texas is anxious to make any contribution to the success of this campaign."

"I am ready to do all I can for the War and Navy Departments and all-out defense as urged by President Roosevelt, in fact I think I am about two jumps ahead," said Governor Stevenson.

Each American Legion Post is requested to send to the nearest Naval Recruiting Station, or sub-station, at least one recruit for the Navy or the Naval Reserve on or before October 27. Fitting ceremonies will be held on October 27 either at Austin, or Houston and Dallas with high State, Navy and American Legion officials participating.

Governor Stevenson issued a proclamation calling upon Texas citizens to observe Navy Day, October 27 "For it was in October, 1775 that our forefathers * * * came to the conclusion we must have a Navy to maintain peace."

VICTORY PAGEANT TO BE PRESENTED AT WOMEN'S MEETING IN DALLAS

CANYON—Indicative of the policy of club women always to keep in tune with the times will be the presentation of Mrs. J. A. Hill's pageant, "V for Victory," at this year's meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. The meeting will be held in Dallas Nov. 10-13.

Mrs. Hill, wife of President Hill of West Texas State College, Canyon, is a member of the state board of the Federation and is a past-president of the Seventh District. She has written various magazine articles but is best known for the book, "In Little America With Byrd" of which she and her son, Joe, are co-authors. Joe was with Admiral Byrd on the second expedition to Little America.

Flags and costumes of many nations will be seen in the two colorful episodes of the pageant. The first episode, "The Changing World" depicts Hitler's many conquests, while the second episode, "Our All for Defense," introduces the Federation's new department of defense. A narrator will give a survey of the present world situation.

The cast of the pageant will be composed of Dallas women.

New Wildcat Oil Test Near Draw

One of the latest wildcat oil tests being drilled on the south plains is a well situated a few miles south of Draw in the northwest corner of Borden county, about two miles south of the Lynn county line and three miles east of the Dawson county line. It is being drilled by the Pure Oil Company.

Reports early this week were to the effect that drillers had reached a depth of more than 3,200 feet. It should be several hundred feet deeper than that by this time.

After the machinery had been removed from the Dan Auld well in western Lynn county one mile east of the Terry county line, it was decided to give this well another and a bigger "shot", it is said, which will be done as soon as equipment can be replaced.

The Rice well thirteen miles north and slightly west of Tahoka has been finally abandoned as a dry hole.
