To Build Jail and Re-do Court House

Saturday March 24th there will be a County Bond election for Lynn County on a twin proposal totaling $200,000. One proposal calls for $90,000 to be used in repairing and modernizing the Court house at Tahoka. The other proposition calls for $110,000 to be used in building a new escape proof jail, probably on the Southwest corner of the square and to include a kitchen and an apartment for the jailer.

The Index will support both issues feeling that the need well justified The present jail is not fit for animals and who can tell when your Country Ed may be "guest". On re-doing the Court house, we feel that upkeep is good business on public property as on homes, farmes or ranches. The Index has been assured that if there are increas ed taxes, it will not be because of this bond issue. A list of voting stations is carried elsewhere this issue. O'Donnell will vote at the school.

THOMPSON'S TOGGERY

Labor's Recent Revolt Called Open Warfare on Truman Administration

LABOR IN REVOLT-The Truman administration has had many and varied difficulties in its history, but few of them ever approached the seriousness of labor's recent revolt against the government's mobilization effort. The decision of labor to withdraw from the wage stabilization board and other government agencies amounted to a declaration of war on the Truman administration.

The united labor policy committee, composed of 14 top officials of the C.I.O. and A.F.L., ordered the withdrawal. As a result, labor men resigned from 24 advisory posts and other positions in defense agencies including the military.

Labor made it clear that it felt "big business" dominated the mobilization effort, and that the several labor men in top federal jobs were used merely as "window dressing." The charge of "big business" was directed at Charles E. Wilson, director of the office of defense mobilization, who ignored labor when he first took office.

Labor was especially bitter about the 10 per cent wage formula as recommended by economic stabilizer Eric Johnston. The union leaders were not pacified when Johnston exempted from the wage ceiling all cost-of-living escalator clauses in union contracts written before

These grievances were serious enough in themselves, but there seemed to be other motivating facts behind labor's revolt. Hidden behind the curtains of petty disagreements was the fear of a labor draft during the present crisis, the same fear that labor struggled against during

In the interest of mobilization and the well-being of the nation, peace between the administration and labor has become a pressing, desperate

HOUSEWIVES' DISTASTE-It has been said by critics of this country that the United States is ruled by women, that our economy and way of life centers around the wives, sweethearts, daughters, sisters and mothers of the nation.

An example of the woman's influence on the nation's economy was reflected in the meat markets of the nation when housewives' distaste of costly cuts of beef caused some real price roll-backs

A nation-wide canvas revealed that prices were cut from 10 to 25 per cent on the more expensive cuts of meat. And in every case, the price-cutters declared housewives' lack of relish for high red meat prices was the main reason for their action. There was evidence, too, that this trend might continue since meat supplies are abundant and getting more so. The agricultural department is on record as saying "prospects are for a larger meat production in 1951 than in 1950.

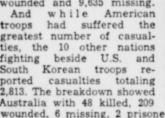

Meanwhile, the agriculture department had other interesting statistics for the general public, namely, farm-product prices climbed to a record level in February. The figures revealed that prices paid farmers for all their commodities was 2.25 per cent higher than the old record set in January, 1948, and about 26 per cent above the level prevailing before the Korean war.

However, despite the high level of the farm commodity market, only nine major products were selling at or above parity-the price standard declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and those who buy their products. The products above parity were beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, sheep, cotton, cotton seed, wool, rice and soybeans. Such products as wheat, corn, peanuts, potatoes, butterfat, milk, oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, grain sorghums, dry beans, citrus fruits, apples, sweet potatoes, chickens, and eggs were bringing less than parity prices.

CASUALTIES TOTAL 50,675-The people of the cities, home towns and crossroads of the nation were beginning to feel the full force of the Korean conflict. Every day families in communities across the nation were being notified of casualties of war. The latest summary listed 50,675 wounded, missing or killed in action. Of this total, 7,639 were reported killed, 33,041 wounded and 9,635 missing.

troops had suffered the greatest number of casualties, the 10 other nations fighting beside U.S. and South Korean troops recasualties 2,813. The breakdown showed Australia with 48 killed, 209 wounded, 6 missing, 2 prisoners; France with 44 killed, 201 wounded, 3 missing; Greece, 20 killed, 45 wounded, 1 missing; Netherlands, 24 76 wounded, 2 missing; Philippines, 150 casualties (not broken down into categories); United Kingdom, 145 killed, 442 wounded, 244 missing, 61 prisoners.

WATCHFUL WORLD-As deputy foreign ministers of France, Great Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States met in Paris in an attempt to work out an agenda for a big-four conference, a watchful, but pessimistic world waited for announcement of first results.

Considerable doubt existed as to whether or not even an agreement on an agenda could be reached among the four nations. The Soviet Union indicated it would stress the German problem and charge the western powers with rearming western Germany. On the other hand, the United States announced it would direct the discussion to the vast build-up of arms in the Soviet Union and its eastern European satellites, and argue that those arms are the basic cause of the world's ills.

It was believed doubtful, therefore, that the big four could even agree on a list of subjects about which the big-four could talk with any

It was also reported the United States would try to put the settlement of an Austrian peace treaty on the agenda, an achievement long sought by this government, but continually blocked by the Soviet Union.

Even if the deputy foreign ministers could reach agreement on an agenda, there exists little hope that the big-four can reach any settlement of the world's ills that will materially decrease the possibility of open conflict in the immediate future.

SPRING OFFENSIVE -- The threat of a big spring counteroffensive by the Chinese Communists still hung over the Korean front as United Nations troops continued their push northward. Heavy movements of troops were reported at several points behind the Red lines.

Increasing numbers of Communist trucks were reported moving south into Seoul and the Reds stepped up night mortar and artillery fire from the old South Korean capital. There were also indications that a new Chinese division may have been moved into Korea in preparation for the expected offensive.

Frontline observers pointed out that the Chinese have switched from night to day operations, usually a sign of desperation. There was no indication, however, that either side could chop out a clear-cut victory that might terminate hostilities. It remains a battle of Chinese manpower

REDS DECLINE IN EUROPE -- An indication that the Communists are losing the battle to take over western Europe by boring from within was revealed in a state department report that said the party had lost a third-1,295,000-of its members in the west since World War II.

The report said there were 1,673,002 Communist party members in western Europe (except Italy) in 1946, and 2,300,000 in Italy in 1948-a total of 3,973,000. The number dropped to 2,678,000 in 1950.

about a major change in child dental hygiene. Every afternoon

school session in the past two years has had a period devoted to supervised brushing of the teeth.

The Walpole studies have been carried on by the Tufts College Dental School in Boston. Dr. Helmut A. Zander, professor of dentistry at Tufts, chose the town (population 9,000) because it offered the opportunity to study the dental problems of children in two schools representing similar home environment. In some cases, different children were enrolled from one family in each of the two elementary schools. His purpose was to note the effect of penicillin when applied locally as a dentifrice.

tory study and experiments, Dr. Zander's research staff had settled on penicillin as an effective control for dental caries (cavities) They had eliminated several hundred chemical compounds during their experiments.

WALPOLE SCHOOL and health authorities cooperated with the Tufts hygienists, dividing 400 youngsters into two groups, one in each elementary school. Their ages ranged from 5-14 years. Each child brushed his teeth regularly-following a course of instruction on the proper method for brushing teethunder classroom supervision.

One group used a tooth powder containing penicillin, and known as dentocillin. The other group used the same tooth powder, without the added penicillin. Both groups were given dental examinations at frequent intervals.

The children who used the tooth of 55.3 per cent at the end of the first year. At the end of the second had 53.8 per cent fewer cavities than the children who used the tooth powder only, without the peni-

Your Bank Account Backs Up Government Deficits

By Wright A. Patterson

SINCE JULY 1, 1950, the government has spent more than it took in. The government now owes $255,979,876,517. Although the government is not taking in as much money as it is spending, it is paying all bills promptly. No one with a bill to collect is left standing on the steps of the treasury building to wait for more money to arrive. I have frequently wondered about the government's continued cash operations and have just had the answer. Government bills are being paid with the money of American bank depositors from both saving and checking accounts. The government demands that each bank maintain an extra reserve in addition to that maintained for the protection of depositors. This is a sum equal to a prescribed percentage of deposits. Against this extra reserve, the government writes checks. So, out of the money of depositors, the government writes checks in settlement of its debts when sufficient taxes have not been received. Simple, isn't it? People with bank accounts are financing government deficits.

I know of one rural bank that is forced to carry 4 million dollars of extra reserve so the government may draw on the bank for all or any part of that amount. The gove:nment pays no interest on that reserve it forces the bank to keep.

But the bank must pay the deposit insurance covering its depositors. The people of the community are denied the right to borrow any part of the $4 million. The denial affects not only the bank's earnings, but the accommodations it can offer its patrons. The local economies are affected. I do not know whether it was congressional or presidential edict that demanded this extra reserve, but it is a long step on the road to social-It socializes the money of people with bank accounts. If it is the result of presidential it is a long step toward dictatorship. When government can control people's money, it can control all their activities.

The fact the government is paying its bills does not mean it is not going into the red. Bills are being paid from American bank deposits to the detriment of the banks' stockholders at a cost to the communities the banks serve.

It is fair to assume that the people of no community would have approved of such methods of government financing had they known what was happening. But neither the government nor the banks explained. It was just another of the moves the clever guys in Washington got away with such prosperity. During that former lush period, which they expected would continue indefinitely, farmers went wild in the investment of more land. Then the war time prices dropped, leaving mortgaged farms and no high-priced market. To-day many of the mortgages have been paid off or greatly reduced, and prices for what they raise are still high, but the farmers should not continue to expect those prices to continue to advance. When and where it will stop is within the hands of congress, and the farmers should not forget that there are five urban votes to each one on the farms. When the families of the towns and cities get fed up with paying exhorbitant prices for farm products they will appeal to their representatives at Washington and congress will act. The farmers must moderate their demands if they are to be allowed to continue a reasonable degree of prosperity. Just remember those five urban votes to one farm vote!

People on both the east and west coasts are clamoring for the installation of radar signal stations on both coasts as protection against Russian bombing planes. Congress made an appropriation for such installation, but nothing is being done. It is all talk and no action. That could be a job for the corps of engineers instead of the building of needless and expensive projects on which they are engaged, and what do you think of that?" have American farmers enjoyed which we could get along without.

Home Towners May Be Vital Link In Nation's Civil Defense Chain

(This is the last of a series of five articles on civil defense by galler A. Shead. Western Newsparer In 10 n's Washington correspondent.)

By Walter A. Shead

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Whether nou live in a city or a small town, on a farm in the rural areas of e nation, you have an obligation as a citizen interested in saving your own life and the life of your fellow citizens in the civil defense

Many folks in small towns or on arms may be inclined to take the langers inherent in a full-scale war with a grain of salt. There are barriers to poison or nerve gas-There are no limits to biological arfare, and the destruction of the means of providing food to our ilitary personnel may be a main ective of our potential enemy. Suppose your neighbors in a nearcity have the most efficient civil defense system possible to work out and an enemy attack knocks out large numbers of its personnel. hen it may be the duty of those in urrounding cities and towns and unties to move in as rescue teams to care for evacuees, to improvise espitals and many other essentials of defense work. There are hundreds of jobs for rilians which must be-filled: airane spotters, apprehension of aboteurs, guarding against water isoning or pollution, amateur raio operators, ambulance drivers, nessengers, first aid trucks, storage of thousands of items of supply medication and food-transport, engineers, housekeeping employees or nursing and dietary departents, cooks laundresses, blood watchman at plants, utilidairies and pasteurization plants, munization of small animals to revent rabies, grave diggers, speially trained radiation detection ams, air raid shelter construction, nd dozens of other essential work-

tant. The bureau of animal industry already has given instruction to a large number of veterinarians in diagnosis of these diseases and at the first suspicion the farmer should call the state livestock sanitary officials for prompt investigation. In many instances large amounts of vaccine must be promptly available and in any outbreak, quarantine precedure and destruction of animals and their burial may be allimportant to prevent spreading. Special equipment for disinfecting crews should be immediately avail-

The same watchfulness is essential in detection of plant pests and diseases. County agricultural agents, farmers, and regional, state and federal agricultural agencies will advise which crops in their respective areas are most essential for national welfare and, therefore, more likely to be the aim of biological warfare.

THE STATE AND local governments are furnishing approximately half of the three billion dollars appropriated in the national civilian defense act to provide for this nation-wide program. But in spite of every thing the federal administrator may do, the responsibility of adequate defense rests at each level of local government including the responsibility for health service operations. It is up to the state civil defense director to map out his state and to determine in each locality just what type of organization must be setup. A community then would find itself in one of three categories: first, cities within critical target areas; second, mutual aid communities; and third, mobile support communities. The ies, and essential services such as folks in the small towns and rural lairies and pasteurization plants, areas would find themselves in one of the last two categories and their principal function would be to receive casualties from the nearby principal city, and to send health service rescue teams to its aid.

The mobile support communities may be anywhere from 50 to 150 miles from the nearest principal city. And while these latter communities might not be the deliberate aim of a bombing attack there is always the possibility of a bomber's error, as many communities in Euope and Asia discovered in the ast war.

The organization of these mobile support communities in rural counties are of greatest importance to the whole civil defense program. The health service in these communities would be organized to operate as self-contained teams in such fields as first aid and radiological defense. Larger communities with hospitals or sizable clinics would also be prepared to receive casualties and should be able to supply complete surgical, burn and shock teams to disaster areas.

So just because you do not live in a large city, do not get the idea nd, under contract to Columbia, that you and your family should Gorham's foreman, dark-skinned, not be trained in every possible aspect of civil defense or that you will not be called upon for aid in case of an emergency disaster. You will be. If the weight of atomic attack or other of the phases of warfare discussed in these articles ever falls on this nation, the responsibility of defense will not fall so Ten Presidents of the United much upon a plan of organization as it will upon the shoulders of individuals who are trained and ready and who know how to save their own lives and the lives of their neighbors. lke's Duty Is To Integrate 11 Military Commands

By Wright A. Patterson

THE INTERNATIONAL ARMY General Eisenhower is to organize, equip and command, should the Russians attack us or any one of the Western European nations, presents many intricate and difficult problems.

It will be composed of troops from 11 different countries, speaking and understanding 11 different anguages. All must understand army orders in exactly the same way so that none work at cross purposes in battle and cause what could prove to be disastrous confusion. He must devise a workable system that will make any misunderstandings impossible before he can hope defeat the Russian hordes on

In Korea, General MacArthur, as commander of the United Nations forces, composed as it is of troops from several nations, speaking and understanding several different languages, has had somewhat the same problem, though to a smaller extent, and he has solved that problem. He also has had the problem of arms and ammunition supply for the troops from different nations. That was difficult, but he solved it.

Eisenhower will have the greater problem of providing interchange-able arms and ammunition for his of supplies for which they are best equipped. America, England, France and Germany will each contend it can provide the best of planes, tanks, trucks, guns and ammunition. The decision will rest with Eisenhower.

That decision, when made, will arouse many antagonisms which can only be removed by the contesting manufacturers being shown, diplomatically, the reason for his decision. To permit such antagonism to go unanswered would create distrust on the home front that could result is disaster on the bat-

That problem of production of arms, munitions and supplies for this international army constitutes what is probably the greatest single problem Eisenhower has undertaken. It will call for the exercise of all the peace in the international family, without which victory on battlefield will go glimmering. But to attempt to fight a war with the arms, munitions and supplies not being interchangeable, coming from 11 different sources, would be impossible.

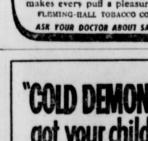

The general will have no great difficulty in organizing his general staff. He can pick the best of the work for all troops regardless of the country from which they come. The ability of the general staff, applied to the North Atlantic pact is that each will aid materially in providing so-

Such a job as that Eisenhower has assumed calls for the ability of a superman. No soldier in all the world's history has ever before been expected to do so much, to solve so many intricate problems. Eisenhower is the one man in the armed forces of all the 11 nations who could best be expected to have the organizing ability and strategy in the field, the patience and diplomacy to meet problems of the home front, and those of army organization and

"WHEN A MAN BUYS A USED CAR from us, we want him to get his money's worth in performance and operating cost. That's why we put new Conoco Super Motor Oil in all our cars and tell the buyer to use nothing else," says H. C. Wheeler, Wheeler Motor Company, Denver, Colorado.

"I RECENTLY CHECKED A CAR that gone 39,000 miles on Conoco Super Motor Oil," reports Joe Prestidge, Chief Garage Mechanic, St. Paul, Minnesota. "I found the connecting-rod journals were within five tenthousandths of an inch of the original factory specifications, I've never seen so little wear!"

'50,000 MILES-NO WEAR!"- PROVED HERE:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper crankcase drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence...in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts.

AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000! This test proved that new Conoco Super, with OIL-PLATING, can make your car last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil.

Death to Life

Lesson for March 25, 1951

THE FLOWERS in the church on Easter morning will not have been there long. Less than 24 hours before, the church was dark and empty. At no time in the year does the church look gloomier than on Easter Eve. In many churches the altar is draped in black. Good Friday commemorates the saddest day in earth's history, Easter the most joyous. Yet they come only 48 hours apart. This reminds all Christians that neither Good Friday nor Easter stands by itself, but each gives meaning to the other.

Cross and Crucifix

THE Protestant churches usually have a cross. That is because Protestants wish to remember that the Cross is empty, that it is not a dead Jesus whom we worship, but a living, risen, reigning Christ.

Even in the churches where crucifixes are numerous, there may be pictures or statues representing the risen Christ. Suppose there had been only Good Friday, suppose that had been the end of Jesus? Then there would have been no particular point in the cross. It would have been the mere instrument of one more violent death, another ease of justice gone wrong, another tragic failure. The Resurrection showed who it was that hung upon the Cross; the Resurrection showed that the Crosss was not a scene of failure but of victory. "Death could not keep its prey; He tore the bars away!" But on the other hand, what would the Resurrection have been without the Cross? Just another miraclesomething to make our eyes pop, but not to make us grateful. The New Testament tells of or hints at many resurrections during the time of Christ; but it is not enthusiastic about any of them, with this one exception.

Victim and Victor

THE New Testament represents the Resurrection in many lights. One of the most striking is that it was a reward, a reward for the Cross. That is, God "highly exalted" Jesus because of his willingness die on behalf of others (Isaiah 53:12; Phil. 2:8). The Cross was the battle with the dark powers, and the victory; the Resurrection was the march of triumph.

On the Cross Jesus was both victim and victor; on Easter morning he was all the victor. The Cross was a perfectly nat-ural event; by it Jesus underwent the worst that nature, and human sin, can do. On the Cross Jesus was murdered, for murder it was, however "legal" it was made to seem; and he called down no miracle to save himself.

But at the Resurrection Christ rose above nature, as nature's Lord. The early church preached both Cross and Resurrection; and it has never forgotten either one.

"As He is, so are we ..."

THERE is another important truth about the Cross and Resurrection. From the very beginning, the church has resfused to think of these events as concerned with Jesus alone. The Christian who has begun to work deeply into the meanings of his faith will see farther than the child does. He will see both Cross and Resurrection from the inside.

The church has long taught that on the Cross God was doing something for us, and that through the Resurrection God is doing something for us. Paul expresses the life of a Christian as of one who is "dead with Christ" and "risen with Christ." The Christian life is thought of as one which has undergone both death and resurrection. Death to sin; rising to a new kind of life; death to a kind of existence in which we are slaves to what is worst in us; rising to a kind of life which we are "more than conquerors."

Not all Christians have understood this, to be sure. Perhaps the greater number of Christians think of their life as one of simply trying, not very hard, to do the best they can, and usually failing. But the really high-level Christians have discovered something more pro-found: that the Christian actually has access, by faith, to an inner power which is the very same that raised Jesus from the dead. Every Christian can share now in the resurrection-life of Christ. And this is the secret of Easter.
