TRANSIENT PRINTER HERE LOCKS SELF IN ROOM, TAKES OWN LIFE; RELATIVES ARE LOCATED

C. Holt, about 40, who had been employed by the O'Donnell Press as a printer, was found dead in a hotel room here last Saturday afternoon about 6 p. m.

Holt was found by the verdict rendered by Justice of the Peace Foster. Deputy Sheriff Conroy and a physician were present at the scene, and it is believed that Holt committed the act shortly after 11 p. m.

Holt's body was found on the floor of a hotel room here last Saturday afternoon about 6 p. m. A cull-bladed knife close by his throat was cut and the windpipe severed.

A search by officers revealed nineteen cents in his pockets, a pair of glasses, a watch, and other articles. Also, a large number of miscellaneous articles.

Two nieces of Holt were located in Brownwood. They reported that he attempted suicide about 15 years ago by the same method.

Holt had previously worked in Brownwood, so stated David L. Watson, newspaper equipment owner and manager, who was around Holt in Brownwood office. Watson told of Holt's previous employment.

This statement was also corroborated by Mrs. Pauline Campbell, Holt's publisher.

People here knew the dead printer. His connections, outside the office, centered around a daily grocery store where he made small grocery purchases.

The body was taken to Lamesa in a Birmingham-Bartlett ambulance in that funeral home.

Efforts to trace relatives of the dead printer proved almost impossible because of the lack of available papers, etc. He carried no Social Security card.

W. L. Palmer, Mrs. Fay Westland and Miss Yvonne Westland expect to leave Friday for Albuquerque with relatives in Albuquerque.

Christene Milwee and her mother, Mrs. Belle Knight, arrived from Abilene Tuesday.

D. Stewart was in Christoval Friday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Shackelford.

Dwain Peters Is Killed In Accident

TAHOKA, MAY 29 (Special)—Funeral services were conducted at the Harris Funeral Chapel at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for Everett Dwain Peters, for a number of years a resident of Tahoka, who met his death about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Sundown, Hockley county, when he fell from an oil derrick.

The funeral rites were read by Elder G. C. Brewer of Lubbock and the body was buried in the Tahoka cemetery.

The body was brought to a funeral home in Levelland, where it was prepared for burial, and it was brought to Tahoka after midnight. Surviving him are his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Owens, formerly of this county but now residing at Berry Flat in Borden county; his wife, Mrs. Johnnie Peters, who is a student nurse in the West Texas Hospital in Lubbock; and two foster brothers, Loyd and Boyd Barnes, who also are his cousins; besides a number of other relatives.

Everett Dwain Peters was just slightly past thirty years of age, having been born on April 1, 1911, in Navarro county, near Hubbard City. He came to Lynn county with the family in October 1927. He was married to Miss Johnnie Eaton of this county in Lovington, New Mexico, on July 4, 1932. He followed various pursuits, while here, for a livelihood. For about three years he was janitor of one of the school buildings. For some time he was also connected with a radio shop. Later, he operated a radio shop at Seagraves for possibly two years. Then he moved to Brownfield and finally to Levelland, where he resided at a hotel while employed as a worker in the oil field at Sundown.

A number of years ago deceased united with the Church of Christ and was a member of this Church at the time of his death.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Boyd visited in Lovington, New Mexico last weekend.

Softball Leagues Lid Blasted Off

The lid of the softball season was blasted open here Wednesday night in two well-played games.

The opening encounter pitted the Red and White girls club against Shorty Wright's Stars, with the latter spanking out a 16 to 12 win.

The treat of the evening came school team tangled with the Farmers, who were plenty "hot" last season.

Eight fast innings were played, with the school lads drumming out a 7 to 6 win. The Farmers battered out a run in the first of the eighth to go ahead, but the "kids" came back fighting and when the smoke cleared had scampered across the plate with the tying and winning runs.

The fore part of the season's schedule was released by Fletcher Johnson, with the girls' games listed by number:

Friday, May 30—No. 2 vs. No. 3, County Line vs. Chemical, Builders Harmony vs. Druggists; June 2, vs. Harmony; June 4, No. 1 vs. No. 2, County Line vs. Farmers; June 6, No. 3 vs. No. 4, Chemical vs. Druggist; June 9, Builders vs. County Line, Chemical vs. Harmony; June 13, No. 4 vs. No. 2, Builders vs. Chemical; June 16, Druggist vs. County Line, Farmers vs. Harmony; June 18, No. 1 vs. No. 4, Builders vs. Druggists; June 20, No. 2 vs. No. 3, Farmers vs. Chemical; June 23, Harmony vs. County Line, Builders vs. Farmers.

Thrills and Spills at Slaton June 13-14

Thrills and spills like the ground diver is taking in this picture will probably be seen at the South Plains Rodeo and Round-Up to be held in Slaton, Texas, June 13 and 14.

The cowboy falling from the horse was taken at the South Plains Rodeo held last June in Slaton and as the Rodeo planned for this June will have more steers, calves and rough riding horses than last year's entertainment and there will probably be more spills and chills than last year's thrilling exhibition.

The couple only left here Tuesday after a short visit.

HOMER MAYS MOVE

Mr. and Mrs. Homer May and daughter, Frances, moved this week to the home formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Winston on East Seventh street.

Johnnie Billingsley will arrive home this week for a visit with Mrs. Billingsley and Johnny Boy. He has been employed in Arizona the past month.

Mrs. Elly McKnight will return to her home in Corpus Christi this weekend, following a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Noble of near Brownfield were here Saturday.

Replanting Now Underway Here

Planting is again underway in this section wherever farmers can find ground dry enough as an aftermath of another rain totaling 1.40 over the weekend.

Rainfall with the last two weeks here shot over the six inch mark, bringing the year's total considerably in excess of 16 inches, according to Ben Moore, government observer. A normal year's fall is around 21 inches.

It is estimated that at least 50% of the land which had been planted before the rain set in would have to be replanted.

Recent rain have proven the need of more extensive soil conservation practices in the Lamesa Camp area. Although numerous small terraces have been broken, erosion by water has been reduced considerably. Very little water and soil have been lost from terraced and contoured land but the terrace breaks should be repaired as soon as possible. Small breaks can be repaired with shovels while it is more economical to use Fresnoes or scrapers to make the larger fills. The entire terrace should be planted broadcast or close drilled to sorghum crops to stabilize the structure until they have sufficient height and width to handle heavy rains. Any gullies that have been formed can more readily be checked if sown to sudan grass or other sorghum crops and left on the land. This will not only stabilize the gully and collect silt but will also check and hold the sifting sand during the next blow season.

Mrs. John Earles and her niece, Virginia Shaw, will leave Saturday for a visit with relatives near Corsicana and in Denton.

Mrs. Raymond Busby has returned from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Womack, who recently moved to DeKalb.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

German Air Blitz on Island of Crete Results in 'Defense to Death' Fighting; U. S. Attitude Toward France Changes As Vichy-Berlin Strengthen Relations

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

NEW YORK.—One of the U. S. navy's new torpedo boats (foreground) and a coast guard cutter are shown cutting through the water of the Hudson river during recent maneuvers. These 55-mile-per-hour craft are equipped with torpedo tubes and depth bombs to battle larger destroyers and submarines.

CRETE:

An Air Test

The big island of Crete, which Prime Minister Churchill said would be defended "to the death" by an army composed of General Freyberg and New Zealand, British and Greek troops under his command suddenly became the center of the war when a dramatic and unexpected invasion of the island was made by air-borne Nazi troops.

There were some early reports that the Germans were coming also in normal transports, but there was little doubt that the air test was pre-emptive, and that the world was witnessing the first large-scale such endeavor since the days of the invasion of Norway, and of the Low Countries, particularly Holland.

Britain reported that the first 1,500 soldiers who landed in chutes were wearing the New Zealand uniform, and coldly announced that "they could expect to be shot." All of them, it was quickly reported, were either killed or rounded up rapidly.

Germany as promptly retorted that if any of the parachutists were treated as spies and shot, Germany would reply "ten to one" in kind. But the British and Greeks didn't have long to wait or long to contemplate what to do with the first 1,500.

By the second morning of the invasion the British radio was reporting that the Nazi invasion force was 7,000, and on the second afternoon hiked this figure to 11,500.

This brought the German force to at least one full division, and a good way into the second division. And the British quickly estimated that this figure meant that the Germans had from 2,000 to 3,000 airplanes on duty in southern Greece.

The usual silence and mystery as to what actually was transpiring immediately was clamped down by the British ministry of information, which contented itself with issuing such generalities as "the situation is in hand," leaving it up to the Germans to give the world what information could be gleaned.

The German claims, as usual, were broad, the Nazis asserting that many important points had been captured, and that many British planes had been destroyed "on the ground."

British sources seemed willing to admit that the Germans had utter mastery of the air, but General Freyberg said that every hilltop had its sentinels in Crete, that an elaborate method of signaling had been worked out, and that even those parachutists who arrived at night were promptly spotted, reported and given action from the ground forces.

Neutral observers, however, pointed out that in order to effect large-scale landing of troops who were not parachutists, the Germans must have obtained at least temporary control of landing fields, or must be using emergency fields.

British reports told of many transport planes shot down with their cargoes of men, both on the island and into the waters surrounding it. However, they also told of huge, unwieldy transport planes towing numbers of gliders loaded with men and munitions, a mode of transportation not reported in wide-scale use before.

How large the force on Crete was remained a military secret of the Greeks and the British, though there was considerable figuring done by those who had followed the course of the invasion of Greece. The British claimed that most of its army in Greece had been taken back to Egypt, there to rejoin the army of the Nile, and to be rearmed from new supplies, part of which had come from the United States.

While it was known that some forces got into Crete, and that the Greeks salvaged considerable portions of one of its armies, the quantity was largely a matter of guesswork.

Most of the troops who got back to Egypt were Australians and British, hence most observers believed there was probably about one division of New Zealanders in Crete, and possibly the same number of British, and perhaps two or three times that number of Greeks.

British dispatches admitted practically complete control of the air by the Germans over Crete, and hence it was considered still more likely that the Germans, who had no particular need of Crete, might be trying the attack to test out in actual warfare what the parachutists could do when well-supported from aloft.

VICHY:

A Turning Point

The flop of Vichy strongly into the Nazi encampment proved likely to prove a turning-point as to America's entry into the war. For one thing, it flopped one popular poll on convoys from a minority to a majority, and the administration in Washington, which had been accused in some quarters of watching these polls before acting, promptly announced that the convoy question has practically been settled.

President Roosevelt, it was said, does not like the word convoys, and is more in favor of the navy taking over portions of the Atlantic and Pacific, even as far as the Red Sea, for instance, and helping to create protective lanes through which aid-to-Britain ships could move safely.

This is the method American shipping experts have liked from the start, but it was significant that America's course was charted along these lines the day after the polls reported 52 per cent in favor of convoying and 41 per cent opposed and the other 7 per cent "undecided."

Public attention then turned to Vichy, and Secretary Hull warned France that she would have to give this country a plain and honest statement of just what her collaboration with Germany would consist of before France could hope to restore Franco-American relations to a state of amity.

This attitude was indeed a far cry from the days of 1917 and 1918, and the time when the first doughboys landed in France with "Lafayette, we're here" as their slogan.

Hull's strong declaration came at the same time when it was announced that a British flotilla was hovering about the ports of Martinique where the French aircraft carrier Bearn and other vessels were bottled up. There was some disquiet over the report that these ships had been out at sea, but the British reported they were "simply on maneuvers."

But if they were poised for an attempt to run the British blockade, it was likely that there would be either fighting or scuttling or both in the South Atlantic, well within our "sphere of influence."

Mr. Hull's message to Vichy showed plainly that the state department has utterly lost faith in verbal pledges transmitted by the French envoy to this country, Gaston Henry-Haye.

The report that Ambassador Leahy would be recalled gained in stature, and writers on the continent or recently returned from there believed that possibly this action, which could not fail to get across to the body of the French people, might sway them to take a firmer stand toward Germany.

F. of L. machinists for higher wages. There was no violence. This soundphoto shows navy trucks passing through picket line formed by the striking machinists' union.

Draft Objectors Put to Work

A group of conscientious draft objectors being signed into Camp Patapsco, Elkridge, Md., America's first camp for conscientious objectors, where they will serve their year doing non-military service. They will be put to work improving roads and doing conservation work. Seated at desk is Dr. E. Wildman, director of the camp. By July 21 such camps will be in operation throughout the country under administration of the American Friends Service committee. Under terms of the arrangement the federal government is not obligated to pay camp expenses.

Largest Transport of Its Kind

The world's largest twin-motored airliner, the new 36-passenger Curtiss-Wright transport plane. The plane, designed for army troop transport, arrived in New York after a non-stop flight from St. Louis. It can accommodate 40 soldiers. Cruising at 60 per cent of full speed, it averaged better than 215 miles an hour on the 933-mile test flight.

BROADENING CHRISTIAN
HORIZONS: THE ANTIOCH MOVEMENT

LESSON TEXT—Acts 11:19-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.—Romans 1:16.

Scattered abroad! As the flying sparks and embers from a fire which is wildly beaten will light many new fires, just so persecution of the early Christians sent them abroad and established new centers for the preaching of the gospel. Verse 19 of our lesson connects with Acts 8:4. The ministry of Philip in Samaria was paralleled by that of others in Phenice, Cyprus, and now in Antioch. That great city was not far from Jerusalem, but it was far from God. A mighty city, rich in trade, it was also deep in all kinds of sin; but there it pleased God to establish a great center of Christian testimony. God loves to do new things (see, for example, II Cor. 5:17; Isa. 43:19; Ps. 33:3; Rev. 21:5).

I. A New Church (vv. 19-21).

What a splendid church it was! Here in the midst of the most evil surroundings the sweet flower of Christian faith grew, as it so often does.

It was a church built upon a faithful testimony by God's chosen witnesses "preaching the Lord Jesus" (v. 20). Their names are not noted, but their message is, and its blessed results. It was a gathering place for all people—Jews and Gentiles. The disciples from Jerusalem preached at first only to the Jews, but God sent others (v. 20), who preached His grace to the Gentiles.

Note also that the Antioch church was a living witness. "The hand of the Lord was with them"—little wonder then that "a great number believed and were turned to the Lord." Your church—and mine—might learn much by studying the church at Antioch.

II. A New Fellowship (vv. 22-26).

The genius of Christianity is fellowship. Those who have a religious belief which makes them exclusive—not willing to fellowship with other Christians—do not truly represent their Lord.

When the church at Jerusalem heard the good news, they sent Barnabas to help the new converts and establish fellowship. He was the ideal man to send, for "he was a good man." It is far more important that a man be good than that he be brilliant if he is to edify young converts. He was "full of the Holy Ghost." He was also "full of faith," and no man that is not, need undertake the work of instructing and developing young converts, especially converts from heathenism so dark as that in Antioch. He was free from the love of gold (4:36, 37). He was free from personal ambition and jealousy in his work (vv. 25, 26). He was very sharp-eyed to see the sincerity and promise of a young convert (9:27). "When he was come, and had seen the grace of God, (he) was glad" (John W. Bradbury).

Into this new fellowship of life and service the gracious and generous Barnabas brought a new evangelist—Saul, God's prepared man for this hour.

But we have another new thing in our lesson, one of great importance.

III. A New Name (vv. 26-30).

Christian, the beautiful name of those who follow Christ was first used at Antioch. It may have held a measure of contempt (see Acts 26:28; I Pet. 4:16), but it was a remarkably suitable name for those who had come out of paganism now to live, in their old surroundings, a new life, a separated life, the Christ life.

This name "combines Jewish thought with Greek and Latin language, and thus, like the inscription on the cross, bears witness to the universality of Christianity as a religion for the whole world. The idea of 'Christ' (Messiah) is Jewish; the substantive 'Christ' (Christos) is Greek, and the adjectival termination 'ian' (-ianus) is Latin. . . . This new name was intended to introduce and mark the difference between Jews and Gentiles on the one hand, and those who, whether Jews or Gentiles, were followers of Jesus Christ. . . . The term 'Christian' evidently points to the Person of Christ, and to those who are associated with Him as His followers. It implies and involves union and close association with Christ" (W. H. Griffith Thomas).

Those believers at Antioch not only bore the name, they practiced the life of Christ. Next Sunday we shall study their activity for Christ, for in that city began the great missionary movement which goes on to our day. In our lesson today we have another practical expression of their faith. They gave of their means, "every man according to his abilities," to meet the need of their new-found Jewish brethren in Judee

'A PICNICKING WE WILL GO...'
(See Recipes Below)

IT'S PICNIC TIME!

The soft, sunny days of late May and early June tempt even the most conscientious to turn their backs on work, and, since "the only way to get rid of a temptation is to yield to it," a picnic is the answer!

One reason for the nation-wide popularity of picnics is that they're easy on the lady of the house. . . . sliced tomatoes and green onions for salad . . . corn-on-the-cob, if a vegetable "roasting ears" may be cooked in hot coals, allowing 20 minutes to a half hour for the best flavor) . . . taste-tempting cheeseburgers . . . lemonade, milk or coffee, or all three . . . and dessert—it's as simple as that!

No dishes to wash afterward . . . no table linen for the laundry bag . . . in fact, it's almost a case of "no work and all play!"

For that "something hot" which is a picnic "must," I suggest plump, juicy cheeseburgers. If you're picnicking in the woods, your array of "burgers probably won't look like the above picture, but they'll no doubt taste the same. If you are entertaining the family or guests at a "back yard" supper, you can serve a large tray of cheeseburgers with assorted relishes, shoe-string potatoes, and tall glasses of milk or iced tea—they'll love the combination!

Cheeseburgers With Piquant Sauce.
2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
3/4 pound American cheese
1/4 pound butter
8 buttered buns

Mix ground beef with milk, salt and pepper. Form 8 patties of meat about 3 inches in diameter. Cut 8 slices of cheese slightly smaller than size of meat patties. Melt butter in skillet and fry patties slowly for about 10 to 15 minutes, turning several times during the cooking period. Place on buttered toasted buns, spread with piquant sauce and top with a slice of cheese. (If prepared indoors, place under broiler flame until cheese begins to melt). Serves 8.

Piquant Sauce.

1/2 cup chili sauce
1/4 cup pickle relish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard, or
1 tablespoon horseradish
Mix all ingredients together well. If a more highly seasoned sauce is preferred, a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce may be added.

Or you may want to try fried eggs and hamburger, sandwich style. Cook hamburgers, set aside to keep hot. Fry eggs in same skillet, and serve eggs atop the hamburgers.

LYNN SAYS:

When hamburgers are included in the picnic menu, form the patties of ground meat, mixed with minced onion and seasoning, before you leave home. Place between waxed paper, and they're ready to cook when the fire is ready.

Hash goes upstage when it is used as a bun filler. Scoop out rolls, (leftover or fresh) butter insides and pile full of savory cooked hash. Brush top with melted butter or gravy and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven. Ideal for out-of-door suppers.

To "dress-up" your picnic bill-of-fare, there are colorful oilcloth and/or paper tablecloths and napkins. You can find them designed to carry out nearly any theme you so desire. And, as an added tip, in case you're planning to spread an oilcloth covering on the ground, attach it to a pair of old curtain rollers. They'll prevent even the strongest wind from blowing it away!

Good news for picnic lovers are the new "lunch" kits. In them you'll find two one-quart vacuum bottles, plus a metal lunch box. The bottles carry their own cups, nested within their screw tops. The nicest thing, however, is the leg which converts the inside lid into a table.

Here are more let's-have-a-picnic suggestions:

Cole Slaw.
(To Make "On Location")
3 cups finely shredded cabbage
1/2 cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons french dressing
2 tablespoons thick cream
Mix the mayonnaise, french dressing and cream together and mix into the cabbage just before serving. Add more salt if necessary.

Old-Fashioned Potato Salad.
4 cups diced, boiled potatoes
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/4 cup finely minced sweet pickle
2 to 4 tablespoons minced onion
1/4 cup pimiento, chopped
Salt, pepper and celery salt
1 cup cooked salad dressing
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Mix all ingredients together lightly. Let stand, chilling, for at least 1 hour. If desired, the onion and potato may be marinated over night in french dressing before being mixed with other ingredients.

Marshmallow-Graham Cracker Dessert Sandwich.
For each person, allow 1/2 milk chocolate candy bar, 2 graham crackers and 2 marshmallows. Toast marshmallows, then place them on the chocolate candy that is on one graham cracker. Put the second graham cracker on top and it is ready to eat. The marshmallows should be hot and soft.

While your picnic group may be addicted to frankfurters in their own sweet, natural style, you might like to try a new trick. Split the large frankfurters down their middles, spread with rich, brown prepared mustard, and fill with chopped sweet pickle and turn them over to the "cooking department" to broil. They'll prove ever so popular!

Here's a good one to cook in a kettle: put in one potato for each person, and cover with water. When potatoes are almost tender, add frankfurters (enough for everybody) and heat thoroughly. With buttered buns, ketchup, and perhaps some fresh fruit for dessert, you have a simple and extremely tasty picnic meal.

If it's ice cream you're planning for dessert, I'd suggest you use an ice cream freezer (little son can do the grinding before "starting" time), or pack refrigerator-made ice cream in dry ice. Here's a recipe for a favorite that should please everyone.

Chocolate Ice Cream.
1 square unsweetened chocolate
2/3 cup sweetened condensed milk
2/3 cup water
1/2 teaspoon powdered mace
1/2 cup whipping cream
Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over boiling water for five minutes until mixture thickens. Add water and mix well. Chill thoroughly. Add mace. Whip cream to custard-like consistency and fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing pan. Place in freezing unit of refrigerator. After mixture is about half frozen, remove from refrigerator. Scrape mixture from sides and bottom of pan. Beat until smooth, but not until melted. Smooth out and replace in freezing unit until frozen for serving. Serves 6.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Cut small mats from discarded felt hats and use them under vases, ornaments and book ends. They will prevent the scratching of polished furniture. If the felt is soiled clean by washing it in warm water and mild soap.

If washable curtains become rusted on the rods during damp weather, dampen the rust spots, cover with a thin coating of salts of lemon and let stand until stains disappear.

If late in starting the roast for dinner sear it under the broiler while waiting for the oven to get hot. By the time the meat is nicely browned the oven will be hot enough to continue the cooking.

An assortment of rubber bands comes in handy for the kitchen. Use them for holding waxed paper over dishes of food stored in the refrigerator, for sealing tops of puddings for steaming and to hold heavy waxed paper securely over the rising bread dough. They are also useful to hold up long sleeves while working and to keep the pages open in the cook book.

Diner Turned the Tables On Conniving Couple

Upon receiving his bill, the diner added it up and found that he had been overcharged $1.

"How come?" he asked, looking sharply at the waitress. "Well, you see, sir," she replied, "the cashier bet me half a dollar that you wouldn't see it and I bet him you would. Just a friendly little wager."

With a smile the customer wrote something on the back of the bill, folded it, and said: "Take that to the cashier."

She did so, and on opening it the two were startled to read: "I'll bet $5 I shall not be here when you get back."

And he wasn't.

My Week by Eleanor Roosevelt

Ladies of the Senate Lunching with the ladies of the senate the other day was very pleasant.

The District of Columbia librarians came that same day to look at the books which the American Book-sellers have presented to the White House library.

The Marine band played delightfully and, in listening to them, I forgot to be tired.

Later I received the Hungarian minister and his wife for the first time since their arrival.

I am trying to catch up on what seems like an almost unending amount of mail.

PICNIC LUNCHEON

The next day the cabinet ladies and I gave our annual picnic luncheon for the ladies of the senate and were fortunate in having a beautiful day.

I surmise that there are few people in this country who have not speculated on that subject during the last few days.

A number of people came to tea and in the evening I went to hear All-American Youth orchestra.

After coping for some time now with almost perfectly straight hair, for I wanted to wait as long as possible before having a permanent wave again.

Somewhat late and somewhat breathless, I arrived at the luncheon given by the ladies of the Seventy-sixth congress.

Afterwards, I went to see the exhibition of water colors at the National Gallery of Art.

It is interesting to find that most of the painters exhibiting are under 30 years of age and come from 27 states, Hawaii and the District of Columbia.

It is interesting to find that most of the painters exhibiting are under 30 years of age and come from 27 states, Hawaii and the District of Columbia.

One afternoon I had the pleasure of having Madame Ruiz-Guinazu, wife of the Argentine minister of foreign affairs, her two daughters, and Madame Espil, wife of the Argentine ambassador, have tea with me.

Madame Ruiz-Guinazu was fairly exhausted by the amount of sight-seeing which they had done, but everything was of great interest to her.

Her son is in charge of this work in the Argentine. Having become blind himself at the age of 17, he evidently determined to lead a busy, useful and, therefore, happy life.

THE SMOKY YEARS

By ALAN LE MAY

W.N.U. Release

INSTALLMENT 6 THE STORY SO FAR:

Dusty King and Lew Gordon had built up a vast string of ranches which stretched from Texas to Montana.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued Presently it began to appear that the tough, notoriously trouble-making outfits under Cleve Tanner were not holding together as they always had before.

Mid-August, in the season of driest heat—

Into the Potrerros, by a little used trail, a black-sombreroed horseman rode. He was a tested gunman, a proved man whose name was known and feared half the length of the Great Trail.

Loping down the almost invisible trail through the dark, his horse suddenly dropped from under him, head long into nothingness.

West Texas, far up the lonely Pecos— One of Cleve Tanner's outfit bosses was talking to the Ranger stationed at Mustang Point.

The ranger here was Val McDonald.

December day. The sky was low and heavy, and the bitter norther had brought a scud of hard snow a long way to throw it sharply in his face.

He pulled up his horse a few yards from the kitchen gallery.

first step was to start a cattle war in Texas. He made this decision against the opposition of Lew Gordon and the tearful pleading of his sweetheart, Jody Gordon.

CHAPTER IX With the fall, Lew Gordon, now in sole charge of the far-scattered cattle holdings he had shared with Dusty King, came to Texas to inspect the southern holdings of King-Gordon—the breeding ranges from which all the King-Gordon holdings drew their essential sustenance.

Reports kept coming to Bill Roper at his constantly shifting bases by way of the many riders who kept him in touch with his far-spread wild bunch.

He had told himself that there was no use in his going to see Jody Gordon; but in the end, of course, he went.

He rode up to the Two-Circle ranch house in late afternoon of a cold

Thorpe's herds. Cleve Tanner, manager of Thorpe's Texas holdings, seemed helpless to stop him.

"Sometimes it looks like I'm not even doing that."

"If you haven't accomplished anything else, you've astonished my father. He's said himself, over and over, he wouldn't have supposed it could be done."

"They're saying that the worst renegades of the trail are working together, for the first time—the killers, the men who don't care if they live or die."

"Eleven outfits," Roper said.

"Then it was really you?"

"Those eleven outfits they speak of—those were outfits roughed away from little lonely men, on pretenses that hadn't any justice or any true law."

"Call it that if you want to. I guess there isn't anybody knows as well as you do what I'm trying to do."

She said in a dead voice, "I never believed it; I couldn't believe it—until now."

"Didn't I tell you about it? I told you about it before I began. I set out to break Cleve Tanner; and by God, he'll be broken—if I live."

"You know Cleve Tanner has put up five thousand dollars for your arrest?"

Bill Roper chuckled crazily. "All right. I'll put up ten thousand for his arrest. There isn't going to be any arrest, and he knows that, too."

"What about me?"

"Oh, Billy, it's unbearable! That you—you've turned yourself into the festering point of all that struggle, and hate, and lawless gunning—"

He had to grin at that, unhappy as he was. "Don't realize I was festering," he said.

"You had everything," she said, "and you threw it away . . ."

"I'm sorry that we can't ever see things the same," Bill said. "I started out to get Cleve Tanner, and I'll get him. After Tanner, Walk Lasham; and after Walk Lasham, Ben Thorpe. But when it comes to saying I had everything before I started in, I guess maybe that isn't so."

Jody said hotly, "There wasn't one thing in all the world you didn't have—or couldn't have had—before you chose this crazy way!"

Her voice rose sharply. "Can't you see there's no hope in this ghastly thing? Thorpe's grip is unbreakable." She came close to him, and her words came through her teeth.

SHOULD BE DIRECT, NOT INDIRECT TAX

WHEN WE TAX business we tax production and distribution. When we tax production and distribution, we tax the consumer.

Taxes are a part of the cost of production and distribution. They are a part of the cost of a product.

Politicians looking to their personal future—a continuance of their jobs—attempt to mislead the mass of Americans by boasting of their intention to take from business the money needed to pay for the extravagances of government.

Men well versed in finance and industry, well qualified to speak on the subject, tell us that before we are through with the present world holocaust the federal government will be facing an indebtedness of $150,000,000,000.

Despite the fact that more than a million men are now in the armed forces of the nation, that industries engaged in providing implements of preparedness for ourselves and war materials for England are providing work at high wages for millions of men, and seeking more help, our relief costs do not come down.

The politician is not willing to say to those who prefer the meager living a government dole provides to working for a better living that they must either work or starve.

We must prepare for defense. We must have battleships, airplanes, tanks, merchant ships, all the implements needed for war.

Congress should economize in every practical and possible way, and it should levy an honest tax and collect it in an honest way so each individual may know what he pays—a direct instead of an indirect tax.

PIONEER SPIRIT STILL ALIVE

ORANGE, CALIF., is a little city of 8,000 people, typical of the Golden state. It was founded by pioneers who stopped there when it was but a crossing place of trails.

But it was the evidences of the pioneer days that appealed to the people and caught and held the crowds. These displays represented the spirit that is back, not of Orange only, but of all the towns and small cities of the West.

OUR DEBT THEY TELL US that to maintain a democracy it is essential that the citizens be informed. One of the things we should like to be accurately informed about is what we owe nationally, including the liabilities of the numerous corporations and administrations we have financed and whose debts we have guaranteed.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it.

When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling.

WOULD YOU BUY AN ARTIFICIAL LEG FROM A PLUMBER?

Inferior repair parts are sold for International Harvester Company machines just like all other popular machinery, but the consumer takes an unnecessary risk when he buys them.

If the International Harvester Company manufactured or supplied inferior repairs for its machines it would not only face the loss of its reputation but its business. We realized that several years ago when we first started selling FARMALLS and other IHC farming equipment.

Our customers know that whenever they find repairs furnished them for IHC machines not as GOOD as the parts on a new machine they are NOT getting the genuine IHC parts.

If parts could be manufactured at a lower cost and sold at lower prices without sacrificing quality, this would be done. Competitive business forces this requirement. The right material for the purpose and the knowledge acquired through years of manufacturing enables International Harvester Company to produce quality that will not be found in imitation repairs.

A plumber might sell you an artificial leg at a much cheaper price than you could buy from a person who has spent his lifetime in study of artificial limbs.

We hope you don't need an artificial leg but its the time of year when your tractor does need repairs and may we suggest that you
