Baird Luncheon Club Sponsors City Lake

By RAYMOND YOUNG
At a regular meeting of the Luncheon Club Wednesday, the members unanimously accepted the construction of a city lake as their next project.

Preliminary work on several different surveys was started some time ago, but completion of plans were discarded at the time of the construction of the City-County Hospital.

In line with the government policy of post war planning the club deemed it wise to re-open the lake project with the prospect of a Federal grant. It is the desire of the club to perfect all local details so that when applications are again accepted for public work—it will be able to submit an immediate and definite plan to the authorities in Washington.

Mr. E. L. Woodley, Ace Hickman, Felix Mitchell and Judge B. H. Freeland were appointed as a committee to investigate the possibilities and work out plans for the construction of this lake for Baird.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's wedding dress of 42 years ago, a cream silk fashioned with close fitting bodice and full skirt trimmed with ribbon and lace. She wore a finger tip veil and carried a bouquet of gladioluses. For something borrowed she wore white slippers of Miss Helen Routh of Abilene and something blue a bow from a friend's wedding veil.

Lula Mae Asbury of Monahans, as bridesmaid wore a blue all-over embroidered dress and carried a daisies.

Dee Thompson served as his brother's best man, and Donald Melton, Dale Shocklee, Bruce Bell and Curtis Sutphin were ushers.

Green and white were featured in decoration of the church where a wedding bell was suspended from a vine entwined from a latticed arch. Baskets of flowers flanked the altar.

The colors were repeated in decorations of the Fulton home where a wedding reception was held. Overlaid with lace, the bride's table was decorated with daisies and candles. Joe Ruth Arvin cut and served a decorated cake and Mrs. Vance Stephenson ladled punch.

TOMATO PLANTS SHEDDING BLOSSOMS

Many gardeners are inquiring why tomato plants are shedding blossoms and developing blossoms-end rot.

In areas where hot, dry weather prevails at blossoming time, incomplete pollination results in shedding of tomato blossoms. However, late blossoms, no doubt will result in setting fruit on healthy plants.

Blossom-end rot usually occurs when the fruit is about the size of a marble or a 50 cent piece. Disease fruit should be removed from the vine. Spraying does little, if an good.

In towns where water is available keep soil well watered during the remainder of the fruiting and growing season.

Miss Cloteel Harris and Mrs. Durwood Harris returned Monday from Louisiana and Fort Worth. In Louisiana they visited their sister and sister-in-law, Mrs. A. D. Dennis. They returned by Fort Worth and spent a few days with Mr and Mrs Otho Harris.

Frances Allen, formerly of Baird entered training to be a nurse at the Hendrick Memorial hospital at Abilene. Class began Monday, June 22nd. Frances hopes to be a red cross nurse some day.

Canning Center Now Open

The canning course has opened again in the lunch room at the Baird Public School. Mrs. Ashby White is in charge. The course opened Tuesday and will be in operation until July 3rd. This course is under the supervision of Mr. J. W. Reed, Agriculture Instructor in the Baird Public School.

The canning course has proven very popular with Baird housewives. During the first course covering a period of 11 days 2000 quarts of vegetables were canned.

Mr. Reed says: It is important that all of the surplus food produced at home this year be saved, but it is difficult for the average housewife with her limited canning facilities to do this. The pressure cooker should be used in order for certain types of home canned foods to be safe from botulism toxin, a fatal poison. The organism that produces this poison is not killed by the heat of the water-bath or oven canner, but only the high temperatures of the pressure canner will destroy it. This type of food poisoning is rare, but generally fatal, and every precaution should be taken to avoid it.

The pressure canner is not necessary in canning acid foods such as fruits and tomatoes, which may be canned in the water-bath and oven canners. It is the non-acid vegetables such as corn, beans, peas, and greens that should be canned in the pressure cooker. Even in this method, to be safe, the pressure cooker should be tested and used correctly.

If non-acid vegetable sare canned by the water-bath or oven method, they should be made safe for table use by boiling at least ten minutes after they are removed from the can. Such vegetables should not be tasted before boiling in an attempt to determine whether they are spoiled.

Mr. Reed urges those who do not have pressure cookers at home to avail themselves of the course now in progress at the School Lunch Room so that everything possible, may be canned for future use.

GMC EMPLOYEE SUGGESTIONS WIN $27,000 IN WAR BONDS

The Production Suggestion Plan inaugurated by General Motors Truck and Coach a year ago, has already earned employees more than $27,000 in War Bonds and Stamps.

So outstanding were the suggestions of GMC workers that, out of 232 production merit awards made by the War Production Board nationally, seven went to General Motors Truck and Coach employees.

Men thus honored by the WPB were Martin Pearson, Carlton Jones LeRoy Pyles, C. E. Christenson, B.D. Wright, W. J. DeBroat and Mario G. Davis.

During the year ending March 17, a total of 3,757 suggestions were submitted by 1,142 employees. The worthwhile nature of these suggestions is indicated by the fact that 22 per cent, or 801, were accepted and won prizes.

Many employees contributed several different prize winning ideas, one man alone being credited with nineteen War Bond Prizes ranged in value up to as high as $750.00.

High tribute must be paid these patriotic employees who, in addition to their regular war jobs, worked out and submitted ideas for increasing production, improving working conditions, and saving time and materials.

These GMC "soldiers of production" have been directly responsible for increasing the speed, efficiency and economy with which General Motors Truck and Coach has been able to supply military vehicles to our soldiers at the front.

READY PEANUT MARKET ASSURED

College Station, June 24—A ready market for peanuts when they are harvested was assured Texas farmer this week by the state USDA warehouse.

Facilities of the peanut shellers and crushers throughout the state will be utilized from the very beginning of the marketing season in order to move the maximum quantity of the peanut crop directly into food and feed channels, the board emphasized.

Under this year's agricultural production program, Texas farmers have pledged 1,297,535 acres as their share of the national peanut goal. Last year's production approximated 1,060,000 acres.

The normal channels of trade, which will operate under contract with Commodity Credit Corporation are being asked to cooperate under the purchase program. Each company will purchase, store and sell for the account of the Corporation.

Purchases from producers will be made at uniform prices averaging $140 per ton for Spanish No. 1 peanuts, with appropriate differentials for grades. This price, the war board pointed out, is approximately 17 per cent below the ceiling prices for farmers' stock peanuts but about 7 percent above the value of peanut when sold for crushing for oil and meal.

In addition to disposition of this year's crop into food and feed channels, producer cooperative associations, as agents for the Corporation, also will be authorized to establish receiving and make available storage facilities for handling the portion of the crop which is not purchased directly by processors and to distribute peanuts for planting the 1944 crop.

Restrictions on purchases, sale and deliveries will not apply to farmers' stock peanuts which county AA committees certify are to be used solely for planting in 1944 nor will they apply to sales or deliveries to consumers by producers of peanuts which have been processed by the grower on the farm where produced.

CANNING CHICKEN

Due to the meat shortage and the rationing food, the wise housewife is going to can her surplus chicken this year. Already the Callahan County club women have chicken ready for the can.

Enamel cans are best when packing chickens raw. Due to slower handling, the meat canned in glass is sometimes over-cooked. If jars are used, pints are preferred.

Clean and cut chicken as for cooking. The bony pieces should be used for broth and ground chicken. The salt is added before the meat is packed into the jars.

The raw meat may be packed tightly, leaving about 1-2 inch above the rim of the can or 1-2 inch above the jar. After steaming the meat is pressed down below the rim of the can or jar.

Steam the jars or cans before sealing. This may be done in either water bath or pressure cooker. The water should be about 2 inches below the top of the container and it should not be allowed to boil so rapidly as to bubble into the containers.

The water may be boiling hot if steaming is done in cans, but for jars the water should be warm to start with.

When the steaming process is completed, press the meat down so that meat juices will cover pieces. If pack is not full, take out some of one can to fill each of the other. If too full, remove excess broth or meat. There should be 1-4 inch headspace in cans and about 1-inch headspace in jars. Wipe off rims of containers well and seal air tight.

If more definite information as to processing time, and steaming, we shall be glad to give you that information.

PERMANENT PASTURE

There comes a time when permanent pasture can no longer furnish adequate grazing for the dairy cows. For the most economical milk production, cows must have good pasture.

What I mean by a good pasture is one where a cow can fill up in an hour or two, grazing, and lie down and chew her cud in peace and comfort and not have to walk around all day to get a stomach full, which will be used up while milking and when milking time comes, walk is all you have left. Therefore, dairymen should exert every effort to provide temporary pastures for their milk cows. When permanent pastures fail from drought or cold. Crops most commonly used for temporary pastures are: sudan and Johnson grasses, for late spring summer and early fall, and oats, barley, or wheat for late fall, winter and early spring. There still is time to plant sudan and it may even be planted on stubble land, after oats, barley or wheat has been harvested. Moisture, of course, is the governing factor. Good temporary pasture should support one cow per acre. Sudan grass, usually can be depended upon to furnish good grazing for 3 months out of 12, if properly managed. If the sudan grows too rank it can be mowed and used and fed as hay, and the after growth will furnish grazing.

COUNTY POULTRYMEN URGED TO MEET GOAL IN EGG PRODUCTION

Task For Callahan County Hens Is 12 Per Cent Greater Most Farms Have Larger Laying Flocks But Labor And Feed Are Problem

Callahan County poultrymen are asked by the government to produce approximately 1,068,000 dozen eggs this year, 12 per cent more than in 1942, as their share in the Food For Victory Program, the National Poultry Defense Committee estimated today.

This county goal, which is based on the percentage increase suggested for Texas by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, can be reached if adequate supplies of labor and feed are available, declared Committee Chairman Hobart Creighton.

"Poultry farmers are now working harder than ever in all-out war production," Creighton said, "continuing the fine job they did in this county last year by producing approximately 954,000 dozen eggs to help supply civilian, military and lend-lease needs. Also, two developments during last year have resulted in larger laying flocks on most farms today:

"First, egg prices as shown by purchases of the A and P Tea Company, one of the larger buyers which paid $800,900 in Texas last year for 2,522,040 dozen, were so favorable that farmers saved an unusually large proportion of potential layers.

THESE WOMEN! By d'Alessio

"Quick! Hide the books! We don't want the boys to get the wrong impression!"

Second, conditions in 1942 were good for raising pullets, as Fall weather was generally mild and the average hatching date was early. "Those factors point to increased egg production," Creighton explained "if an improvement can be made in the farm skilled labor situation and if farmers can get enough protein feeds. There are critical shortages of protein ingredients because import have been cut so drastically. Even soybeans oil meal is not being processed fast enough to meet demands. These are major problems facing the industry."

Texas poultrymen, who produced a total of 233,916,000 dozen eggs in 1942, are asked for 262,671,000 dozen this year as their share of the national egg goal of 4,780,000,000 dozen

Then he yells - 'BOMBS AWAY!'

What boy wouldn't like to just sit in a flying fortress! And to fly it... well, this pilot ranks with Superman! One look at the instrument panel and you feel the same way. It's hard to believe that ordinary mortals could ever master the maze of dials, buttons, levers and switches required to fly and fight a 30-ton bomber. But a lot of West Texas boys are doing it with deadly efficiency. (Ask Adolf, Benito or Tojo.) And they don't learn their jobs just by reading a book. It takes intensive training and practical experience to produce the bomber teams who risk their lives together. The electric business is like that. You can't make kilowatt-hours with theories. You've got to learn how—the hard way. That's the way most of the men and women with us got their start. It's the American way. Do a better job—and you get better jobs to do. It's the system of free enterprise. It's simple—but it works.

It works so well that America's big peacetime industries became great war machines overnight.

It works so well that America's electric companies, under business management, were able to supply war plants with far more electric power than any nation has ever known before in addition to normal peacetime needs.

They're doing the job without rationing—and without increased cost to you!

It works so well that we're winning the war in spite of socialistic bureaucracies. But to hasten the day of victory, the bureaucrats must concentrate on the war and desist from their plans to permanently change our system of government by which America stands to lose its freedom at home.

Among the many industrialists expected to visit Texas on American Made Rubber day, June 28, are L. A. McQueen and T. Spencer Shore, vice presidents of The General Tire & Rubber company.

To focus attention of the nation on the part Texas is playing in the production of synthetic rubber, General Tire will open its synthetic plant at Baytown, June 28.

Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce, and William M. Jeffers, rubber administrator, have been invited to take part in the ceremonies, by Thornton Hall, president of the Texas Newspaper Publishers' association and chairman of a committee on arrangements.

Shore, who spent a year and a half with the WPB in Washington, will talk at various Texas points on his experiences in the nation's capital.

War Time FEEDING TIPS

Save on Food Budget With Domestic Rabbit

Many women are pleasantly surprised when they serve domestic rabbit meat for the first time. They're pleased too when they find what a budget saver it is.

With not enough meat to supply home demand and still provide "fighting food" for our armed forces and allies many folks are raising domestic rabbits in their back yards, and are finding them a delicious addition to the family diet.

We are indebted to the Purina Chow Merchant of our town for the following facts about this increasingly popular Victory Food:

The meat of domestic rabbits, unlike that of the wild rabbit, is just as good in hot weather as in cold.

Only 8 percent of a dressed domestic rabbit is bone, and there is very little other waste. Actually, about 82 percent of a dressed rabbit is edible. This high percent makes domestic rabbit an economical meat to serve.

Domestic rabbit meat is high in calories. Analyses by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Dept. of Agriculture shows an average of 855 calories per pound.

Domestic rabbit meat is all white, wholesome, tender, fine-grained, and has a flavor generally considered delicious.

Delicious Rabbit Salad

2 1/2 cups diced, cooked rabbit
1 1/2 cups diced celery
1/2 cup diced sweet pickle
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper

Put rabbit meat, diced celery and pickle in mixing bowl. Mix with remaining ingredients. Chill and serve on lettuce with a garnish of hard-cooked eggs and sweet pickles. Serves 4.

NOTE: A 2-pound dressed rabbit will yield 2 1/2 cups diced meat when cooked. For cooking directions, see recipe for Rabbit Pot Pie.
