Jones Is Installed As Kiwanis President

He's sometimes called "Mr. Muleshoe," and he delivers a home-spun talk with lots of humor, and definitely a message for people to remember before he ends his talk. He's Max King, who was guest speaker for the Kiwanis Club officer installation banquet Tuesday night in Muleshoe.

In keeping with fall tradition, King centered his talk around a football game, comparing the Kiwanis Club to a football team. Muleshoe is the playing field, he said, and instead of 10-15 minute quarters, each quarter lasts a month.

The Kiwanis Club is the home team, and is a fine team with mature players and a common goal as all work together.

The Kiwanis Club is the home team, and is fine team with mature players and a common goal as all work together.

The coach and staff are all members of Kiwanis International, said King with James Roy "T-Bone" Jones as the quarterback. "But, he can't do the job all by himself," said King, "he's got to have some support, good support."

He said Jones will call the plays, and depend on his running backs Nick Bamert and Royce Hamilton and Delton Wilhite, fullback, to run the plays.

At the same time, the rest of the team is the club, who follow through with their designated assignments, and clear the way for the quarterback and runners.

Not to be left out are the cheerleaders. "They are very important", added King, "as they are the wives of the club (or team) members. Their support and cheering of the entire team helps them to accomplish their goals."

Some of the members of the opposing team include loneliness, sick, no money, no manpower, too early to meet, politics, narrow minded and apathy, he said.

"It's a tough game and some one quits or moves away," continued the speaker. "You will need to recruit new members. You will make mistakes, but you keep playing, trying to reach the goal."

He concluded, "Each player makes all the workouts and all the team meets each Friday at 6 a.m. to go over the game plans. Be sure you are there."

Kiwanis Lt. Gov. Bobby Treadwell of Canyon gave brief

Mules Fall To Frenship On Mud Field

It was a bad night for football for the Muleshoe Mules, when they traveled to Frenship to take on the Frenship Tigers at Wolfthorh. As the Tigers came to play football, they thoroughly trounced the troubled Mules by a lopsided score of 52-0.

The game was the "Randall Gregory Show," throughout the evening, as the Frenship quarterback ran for a trio of touchdowns, and threw a TD pass, as well as ran for two extra points.

Gregory got the Tigers on the scoreboard early as he scampered for 47 yards just five plays in the game to start a scoring rout that left the Mules confused and frustrated in futile efforts to stop the Tigers.

Tiger power shut off the Mule offense, and the Mules were never able to get it all together as the Tigers roamed at will over the Mule defense.

A soggy, muddy playing field did not appear to deter the Tigers to any great extent, as they more than made up for their first two losses of the season.

In the meantime, the Mules are still looking for their first win. Next Friday night, they will host the Friona Chieftains in a homecoming game on the Mules' home field, Benny Douglass Stadium.

At this point, the Muleshoe Mules are in a rebuilding stage, and more than ever need the support of all the hometown folks. Be sure to show your support and attend the Mule games. Pack the viewing stands and continue to back the team that keeps trying.

Drug Awareness Day Slated By School

The Muleshoe School District is sponsoring four presentations on Thursday, September 26 concerning Drug Abuse and General Drug Awareness. The presentations will be given by the Regional Coordinator for Texas' War on Drugs, Beverly Barron. Texas' War on Drugs is funded from the Governor's Office of General Counsel and Criminal Justice.

Muleshoe schools will dismiss early on Thursday, Sept. 26 so all teachers may attend the Drug Awareness Program. Elementary schools will dismiss at 1:30 p.m. with Junior High and High School dismissing at 1:40 p.m.

Working with a statewide drug abuse prevention network, Ms. Barron provides parents, community leaders, civic groups, school districts, and other concerned citizens with information and technical assistance. She aides in the organization of community and state-level coalitions, steering committees, parent support groups, speaker's bureaus and youth groups for the purpose of reducing drug abuse through education and prevention. In the past three years, Beverly Barron has personally addressed over 200 parent, civic, educational and professional organizations.

A former public school teacher, Ms. Barron received her B.A. at Texas Christian University. Prior to joining the staff of Texas' War on Drugs in 1981, she worked as a volunteer with the program, having spent a number of years in active community service with various organizations. In September of 1983, Ms. Barron was privileged to be invited to address the National Federation of Parents Conference in Washington, D.C., chaired by First Lady Nancy Reagan. Ms. Barron

Eagles Soar To Victory At Whitharral

Whitharral fell to the Three Way Eagles Friday night, as it became another Brett Stegall one-man show. Stegall, talented quarterback for the Eagles carried the ball 19 times for 147 yards and passed for an additional 158 yards to gather most of the yardage for the Eagles.

In the first quarter, Brett passed to Oscar Guillen, who made it into the end zone, with Curtis Tucker kicking the extra points.

Whitharral retaliated in the first okn a 32 yard run by Chad Pendergass, with the extra point attempt blocked.

Not satisfied, Stegall rambled for seven yards into the end zone, but the extra point attempt failed. At the end of the first, it was Three Way 14-and Whitharral 6.

Three Way made two touchdowns in the second quarter, both on passes from Stegall to Steven Zapata. One was a 30 yard pass play and the second was a 24 yard pass, with Tucker kicking the extra points in both TDs.

By the half, with the score 30-6, the Eagles watched Whitharral score in both the third and fourth quarters. Gary Throckmorton ran a 55 yard TD in the third and a 20 yard TD in the fourth to end scoring for Whitharral.

Three Way Eagles carried the ball 29 times for 186 yards, and Stegall completed 15-24 passes for 158 yards. Whitharral carried 42 times for 187 yards, but completed only three of seven passes for three yards.

Steven Zapata caught four passes for Three Way for 109 yards; and Throckmorton carried 21 times for Whitharral.

Next Saturday, the Three Way Eagles will be playing Texline, at Texline.

Lazbuddie 'Horns Slapped Down By O'Donnell

The game left Lazbuddie 1-2 for the season.

Agricultural reciprocity aids Texas farmers and foreign countries

COLLEGE STATION — Reciprocity — the concept of give and take — is a word that politicians and bureaucrats use, not farmers. But the sentiment is one that farmers everywhere can appreciate: you give a little and you get a little.

It's also a concept that American agricultural researchers have been practicing for generations, and it is one that the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) employs each time it engages in collaborative research projects abroad, says its director.

When TAES researchers provide assistance abroad, they always bring home valuable knowledge, said Dr. Neville Clarke, who heads the agency that is the agricultural research component of The Texas A&M University System.

"We don't work with just lesser-developed countries, but with developed nations as well, and helping them is a two-way street. When we go over there we usually bring back information to enrich our research programs and help improve agricultural production here," said Clarke.

Due to a typesetting error, the following paragraphs were incomplete in the Garth-Miller wedding in the Thursday, Sept. 19 Muleshoe Journal.

Vows were repeated before an altar decorated with two white wicker baskets holding bouquets of silk flowers and ribbon streamers in shades of blue, turquoise and orchid with white.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown made by her mother and grandmother, of white satin and rose patterned lace. The princess style gown had a lace panel in front, a sweetheart neckline and lace sleeves with hand beaded patterns in pearls. The bride's hat was a wide brimmed hand crocheted picture hat with a ring of white silk roses at the brim. It was given by her grandmother, Mrs. Vernice Garth, as something new. Something old was a gold antique lapel watch loaned by the bride's great

Creative Woman

by Sheryl Borden

Three topics will be presented on "The Creative Woman" show on September 24 and 28 and these include stir-fry pork, arthritis and frying facts.

Stir-fry is really becoming a popular method of cooking and if it's combined with pork, you're sure to have a lean cuisine and a very tasty dish. Guest Jayne Hager, National Pork Producers, Inc. from Des Moines, Iowa will discuss the nutritional aspects of pork and share a favorite recipe with viewers for stir-fry pork.

Another guest will be Hazel Wallace, Consumer Affairs officer with the Food and Drug Administration in Dallas, and she will talk about arthritis, symptoms, keys to success in controlling arthritis and quackery products on the market.

Linda Behrends, home economist with the American Soybean Assn. in St. Louis, Missouri will talk about safety concerning deep fat frying and prepare a very unusual and very attractive dessert fruit cup from flour tortillas.

Three additional topics will be presented on the show on September 26. Campsite cooking with Reynolds Wrap will be one topic and this will be presented by Cathy McCreery from Dallas. According to Ms. McCreery, aluminum foil is indispensable to the camper. It's not just a food wrap. It can be transformed into campsite essentials for cooking and eating.

Several years ago, Universal Foods introduced a special recipe using yeast to ferment fruit--thus creating a fruit sauce with a deliciously different vintage flavor. The recipe is called vintage fruit sauce, and it's enjoying a come-back in popularity. Fran Smith is a home economist with Universal Foods, and she will show some very tasty ways to serve the fruit sauce.

Color--the missing link in communication will be discussed by Sandy Parks, President and founder of Color Charisma from Atlanta, GA.

"The Creative Woman" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show airs on KENW-TV at 12 noon on Tuesday and Thursday and at 2:00 pm on Saturday. (All times are Mountain Standard).

Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines. In New Mexico, the number is: 1-800-432-2361, out-of-state: 1-800-545-2359, and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112.

Tax Workshops Slated In Area For December

Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the Internal Revenue Service to offer 39 Tax Practitioner Workshops across the state, reported Spencer Tanksley, Bailey County Extension Agent.

Twenty five general workshops will be held in all major Texas cities, he added. The general workshop nearest Bailey County will be in Lubbock, on December 2-3.

Tanksley also said there will be fourteen advanced workshops offered in major cities. The general tax workshops will concentrate mostly on personal taxes -- the advanced workshop's emphasis will be on business tax problems.

In addition to the general and advanced tax workshops, there will be three partnership workshops, six oil and gas tax workshops, and -- new this year -- three workshops dealing with IRS/Taxpayer disputes. Four estate planning and tax form preparation workshops especially developed for accountants will be offered in November.

The tax practitioner educational program has been highly successful, reported the county agent. Last year, about 3,200 people participated in this state-wide series. These practitioners reported filing more than 535,000 tax returns. For additional information, please contact the Bailey County Extension office, 272-4583, for a brochure explaining more about the program and registration information.

Texas A&M to host annual Career Day on campus Oct. 19

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University will hold its annual Career Day Saturday, Oct. 19, opening the campus to high school and two-year college students and their counselors, sponsors and families.

Career Day '85, which will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., gives potential students and their guests an opportunity to discover the many fields of study available at Texas A&M and the variety of career choices available to the univer-rain during the past week.

Although Coyote Lake Feed Yard had not checked their gauge Saturday morning in western Bailey County, they reported three inches at the John Birdwell home.

In the West Camp community, the Eugene Shaws said they had received three inches of rain during the past week.

At Lazbuddie, Foster Fertilizer reported 4.6 inches of rain since last Wednesday.

Fall temperatures also slipped in with the rain, and the low temperature on Saturday morning was 48 degrees, and had a lot of people hunting cover before time to get up on Saturday morning, just a hint that winter is just around the city's graduates. Exhibits will be open 10 a.m.-1 p.m. and tours will be conducted 11 a.m.-3 p.m.

Career Day activities will be centered around the Memorial Student Center, where visitors will find exhibits and displays from all the academic colleges and support offices of the university.

Faculty members and students will be available to discuss areas of interest. Many of the university's colleges (agriculture, architecture and environmental design, business administration, engineering, liberal arts, geosciences and veterinary medicine) will offer tours of their facilities during the day. In addition, The Battalion, the student newspaper, will have an all-day open house and the Corps of Cadets will conduct tours of the Corp dorms and discuss uniform issue and other aspects of the cadet lifestyle.

Questions concerning Career Day '85 should be addressed to the Office of School Relations, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843; (409) 845-3741.

the change." Mrs. Bryant will have her offices in the former First Christian Church building at the rear of West Plains Medical Center. Westworld purchased the church building, and has done extensive remodeling and repairing of the building, preparing it as the offices and out-patient treatment center for the Intercept program.

Counselors will be coming to Muleshoe, as well as other specialized personnel, according to Rigmaiden, who will be remaining in Muleshoe for some time to get the program off the ground.

"We hope to be a very stable part of the community," commented Rigmaiden, "and we understand that the community may be concerned about the new program."

He said the patients will not be leaving the hospital grounds. There is a wing of the hospital where the patients will be housed, or they will be in the rehabilitation building at the rear of the hospital. Although the new facility is not a 'lock' down' facility, the patients are all there to get well, and want to get well.

Most patients will be intoxicated when they arrive at West Plains Medical Center, and will be put to bed in the alcohol wing of the facility, said Rigmaiden. Although the primary diagnosis will be alcoholism, Rigmaiden said Intercept will also deal with secondary problems.

Each patient admitted for treatment of alcoholism will be handled as an alcoholic, and acutely medically ill, he added. They will be treated as in-hospital patients, before being placed in the rehabilitation facility on the northwest corner of the hospital grounds.

Patients will have no television, no radios. "This is not a country club," commented the director of the Intercept programs, "and the patient will not be treated as though he or she is in a country club. They are to be here to get well, and all attention will be focused on that --getting well."

There will be family nights, however, according to Rigmaiden. He said they will be encouraging all family members, as well as ministers and doctors to attend the special nights with the patient.

Tuesday night, September 24, there will be a dinner meeting for invited local business people to learn more about the Intercept program.

A&M retailing specialist says frequent sales erode price credibility

COLLEGE STATION — Retail merchants are unwittingly conditioning consumers not to buy anything unless it is on sale, says a Texas A&M University marketing professor and retailing specialist.

"Many retailers are training consumers to wait for the sale, which will be soon," writes Dr. Leonard Berry, director of Texas A&M's Center for Retailing Studies, in a new newsletter published by the Zale Corp. in conjunction with the center.

"The implication that worries me most (about all the sales) is the cumulative erosion of price credibility," says Berry, the Foley's Federated Professor of Retailing and Marketing Studies. "Too many sales diminish the meaningfulness and drawing power of any given sale. If there are sales virtually every day, how many consumers will be willing to buy bigger ticket items that are not on sale?"

Berry says retailers who overuse sales will find it increasingly difficult to stop cutting their prices as customers who are conditioned to sales will expect even more and better sales.

"Such pricing games cannot be good for retailers, or for retailing, in the long run. They destroy the meaning of 'regular' price, lessen the consumer's trust and invite government intervention," he said.

We walk alone in the world. Friends, such as we desire, are dreams and fables.

'85 Cotton Desiccation Could Begin 'Early'

Cotton farmers across the High Plains may be in for a shock in the next few days as a result of the unique weather patterns September 13-16, cautions a plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A sudden warmup following several days of cool, moist, overcast weather may cause cotton leaves to turn red and dry out, said Dr. Robert Berry, the plant pathologist. It could precipitate a significant loss in yield, he said.

"Conditions are almost identical to an occurrence here in September 1975," Berry said. Then, as this month, an unusual cold spell of several days was accompanied by cloudy skies, showers followed by light rain and drizzle, fog and humidity levels above 90 per cent. In the incident a decade ago, sharp drop in temperatures occurred the first day. A rapid warmup began after noon on the fifth day, and continued for several more days before stabilizing. Solar radiation was greatly reduced--reaching only 19 per cent of its possible amount -- during the cool period.

"In 1975, a pronounced leaf discoloration and desiccation, similar to that normally caused by frost, became evident on the affected fields by the second day of the warmup", Berry recalled.

The appearance of affected plants was similar to those defoliated by harvest-aid chemicals or Verticillium wilt, but regrowth occurred more quickly and was more abundant on the physiologically defoliated plants, the pathologist said. "Leaf Desiccation occurred in a very short time and there were no typical leaf vascular discolorations as would be seen with Verticillium wilt," Berry said.

Berry added that it is believed the leaf abnormalities were caused by transpiration demands exceeding the uptake of water by cotton roots in cool but relatively dry soils. A review of crop moisture history and weather conditions for that period showed that temperatures were high and soils were relatively dry in August and early September; many cotton fields were moisture stressed. The four days of cool, cloudy weather reduced the plants' photosynthetic activity to a minimum, and plant sugar levels probably were low.

The sudden warmup and increase in light intensity probably resulted in an equally sudden increase in transpiration, the pathologist said. But soil moisture and temperature were still below optimum for root activity and water take-up, so insufficient water was available to meet the plants' need for transpiration, causing leaf tissue to die and subsequently drop from the plants.

Conditions of the 1985 season have followed very similar patterns except that the crop is more mature this year. The physiological defoliation may not occur this year, but cotton farmers will be able to better understand the cause if it comes, the Extension specialist said.

Berry concluded, "There isn't anything farmers can do to counteract the problem, but if desiccation and defoliation of cotton leaves occur quickly following a warmup, producers can blame it on the weather which started on Friday, the 13th.

Reducing eggs in diet won't necessarily reduce chances of heart attack

COLLEGE STATION — Health buffs who believe they can reduce their chances of heart attack by reducing the number of eggs in their diet are finding their hopes are ill founded, says a scientist whose research focuses on cholesterol.

Dr. Barbara O'Brien of Texas A&M University's Department of Biochemistry and Biophysics says most Americans can add as many as three eggs to their daily diet and still not worry about higher cholesterol content or increased chances of a coronary attack. She isn't suggesting that people eat more eggs, however, but thinks the American Heart Association's diet recommendations on the subject are misleading for most people.

"We've confirmed what previous studies have indicated," said O'Brien. "Changes in cholesterol in the diet don't mean that blood cholesterol levels will significantly increase or decrease for most people."

"The recommendations may give a false sense of security to those who believe reducing cholesterol in their diet will reduce chances of heart attack."

Cocaine Abuse TV Documentary Slated

Cocaine abuse has reached epidemic proportions with an estimated 25 million Americans having tried cocaine, according to U.S. government sources. Five-to-six million people use it at least once a month, and two-to-three million are addicted to it. Cocaine has become a big industry in the United States with over 100,000 pounds of cocaine consumed annually by Americans spending over 50 billion dollars on the drug. If cocaine sales could be listed as a legal business, it would rank eighth on the Forbes top 500 companies.

One startling fact about cocaine use in the U.S. is that an increasing number of people working on critical jobs are abusing cocaine on the workplace. The new cocaine abusers include airline pilots, school bus drivers, nuclear power plant and defense personnel, firemen, police officers, physicians, and other health care professionals.

Actor Stacy Keach, released this summer from a six-month term in a British jail for cocaine possession, will host a one-hour documentary entitled "High on the Job" Tuesday, September 24th, 9:00 pm on KJTV, Channel 34. Keach told reporters he is doing the cocaine documentary because he wants as broad as possible an audience to know the perils of cocaine abuse. Keach, best known to television viewers as the stars of CBS's "Mike Hammer", made his first public statement on his own cocaine problem in July before the House Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control.

"High on the Job" will tell the stories of professionals with jobs that affect the quality and well-being of all citizens' lives...a former judge, a cardiologist, a railway mechanic, and an airline pilot...all hooked on cocaine. Executives from major corporations tell how cocaine is a serious deterrent to a smooth and efficient work flow.

Locally volunteers will man the phone lines in Lubbock to take calls from viewers of "High on the Job" who have or know of someone who has a problem with cocaine. Viewers can ask questions about cocaine abuse and addiction by calling (806) 742-8787 or 1-800-692-4606 the night of the broadcast of "High on the Job."

For more information on the cocaine documentary, please call Larry Barber at Charter Plains Hospital, 744-5505, ext. 740.

Know Your Chamber Of Commerce

Toni Eagle, Mgr.

Even though the Chamber hasn't been as noticeable the past two months, we at the Chamber have been extremely busy. It was time for some major changes and revisions.

The constitution and by-laws were carefully read and suggestions on revisions made. A dissolution clause was added as well as provisions for past president, treasure and general wording changed. The changes were needed to comply with changed or new laws and to stay abreast of new developments.

While one task force was working on the constitution, another task force was preparing a "Procedures and Personnel Manual." This manual will assist the Chamber to streamline its activities and familiarize new chamber board members with the workings of the Chamber.

Also accomplished was the up-dating of our general files, revision of our membership files, dues and lists and bringing our informational lists to date.

An "in house" audit was done on the Chamber's books and new financial statement forms devised for the board of directors. The task force believes this new system will be easier on the bookkeeper and board of directors.

I guess you might say we did our "spring cleaning" a little late this year.

We held our election of officers and directors. We had four positions to fill on the board. Those attending their terms are Hubert Kidd, Lonnie Adrian, Dianne Nieman, Vivian White, and Eddy Morris. Eddy Morris completed a term for Doran Reynolds and was eligible for a full term. Those running for directors were Eddy Morris, Ron Montgomery, Mike Hahn, Terry Burton, Roger Williams, Elaine Burgess, Johnny Young and Ray Day.

Elections results are as follows:

- President-Charles Moraw
- Vice-Pres.-Eddy Morris
- Treasure-Phil Kent
- Past President-Gerald Reid
- Jennyslipper representative Thursie Reid

New Directors: Eddy Morris, Ron Montgomery, Elaine Burgess, Mike Hahn

The election was very close and the Chamber has the largest number of ballots returned than in prior years. Plans are being made now for a busy productive year in 1986.

Angels Of Mercy Of West Plains Medical Center

If you were searching for two words to describe Linda Tucker LVN they would be: Conscientious and adaptable. Mrs. Tucker graduated in 1979, from Plains Memorial Hospital School of Vocational Nursing in Dimmitt, Texas. She commutes into Muleshoe each day from nine miles east of town where she lives with her family. Mrs. Tucker is a nurse because she hates boring tasks. "In nursing there is never a dull moment. You experience everything from seeing one of God's many miracles to holding the hand and offering compassion to the terminally ill." Linda has a good sense of humor which helps her patients cope with their illnesses. Of the changes taking place at WPMC she says, "I'm very proud Westworld had the confidence in us to come here and offer us this chance to learn about areas of nursing we have been, up to this point, unfamiliar with.

With Westworld, we have been given the chance to really grow together and work more as a team." The Nursing Staff, as well as everyone else, has concerns regarding the establishment of an alcoholic treatment center in Muleshoe but Linda voiced the general concerns of the staff when she said, "Yes, it is all new but knowing that alcoholism is a disease is the first step to becoming less fearful and more realistic regarding this particular disease process. The way for all of us to become less fearful and hesitant regarding the disease of alcoholism is with education: General education of the public and specific education of Medical and Nursing personnel." Linda is one of YOUR nurses. Say HI the next time you see her!

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
 GENERAL ELECTION
 NOVEMBER 5, 1985

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Sections 1 and 2 of House Joint Resolution 6 propose a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development bonds.

The additional bonds to be issued will be dedicated for deposit in the Texas Water Development Fund, with $190 million of those bond proceeds to be used for water supply loans and facilities acquisition and with $400 million of those bond proceeds to be used for state participation in the acquisition and development of facilities for storage, transmission, transportation, and treatment of water and wastewater. Of the remaining bonds authorized, $190 million will be dedicated for use in water quality enhancement projects, and $200 million will be dedicated exclusively for flood control projects.

The amendment would also allow the legislature to provide for the creation, administration, and implementation of a bond insurance program to which the state pledges up to $250 million of its general credit to insure payment of the principal of and interest on bonds or other obligations issued by political subdivisions of the state for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, recharge, chloride control or desalinization. Unless authorized to continue by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the Legislature, the bond insurance program will expire on the sixth anniversary of the date on which this section becomes a part of the constitution. Bond insurance issued before expiration of the program will not be affected by such expiration. The amendment would authorize the legislature to create and appropriate money to special funds in the state treasury to make grants, loans, and other financial assistance available to governmental entities for certain enumerated water planning purposes. Also, the legislature would be permitted to extend the benefits of constitutionally approved water projects to nonprofit water supply corporations.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds, to create special water funds for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, subsidence control, recharge, chloride control, agricultural soil and water conservation, and desalinization, to authorize a bond insurance program, and to clarify the purposes for which Texas Water Development Bonds may be issued."

Section 3 of House Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Texas Water Development Board to issue and sell Texas agricultural water conservation bonds in an

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 54 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature to authorize a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property if such relocation or replacement is done in conjunction with or immediately following the relocation or replacement of water mains serving the property. Any legislative enactment permitting the expenditure of funds for such purposes would authorize the city or town to fix a lien on the property, with the owners' consent, for the cost of relocating or replacing the water laterals, and would provide that such cost shall be assessed against the property, with repayment by the property owner to be amortized over a period not to exceed five years at the rate of interest set by law. Such liens could not be enforced until after five years from the date the liens were affixed.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to enact laws permitting a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 21 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the use of the proceeds from the sale of permanent school fund land to acquire other land for the permanent school fund. Currently, the constitution requires that proceeds from the sale of such land be invested in certain bonds and other securities.

Aggies lead nation in repayment of federal student loans

COLLEGE STATION—Texas A&M University graduates have compiled one of the best records in the nation for repaying federally insured student loans, so they will be among the least affected by the federal government's move to block income tax refunds to former collegians who have defaulted on such obligations.

Taft E. Benson, director of Texas A&M's student financial aid program, said studies in recent years have traditionally shown that Texas A&M's loan default rate is among the lowest nationally and the best in Texas.

He said the most recent figures compiled by the Texas Guaranteed Student Loan (TGSLC) Corp. show that Texas A&M's default rate is 1.29 percent, while the state average is about three times as high at 4.4 percent.

Social Security News & Views

Despite the widespread use of the Social Security number for identification purposes, there is no intention of making it a national identifier, as some have suggested. Neither does its use outside the Social Security program represent a threat to the confidentiality of Social Security records, as others have speculated.

Use of the Social Security number is largely a matter of convenience in a society in which just about everybody has one. The main use for the number is to record Social Security covered earnings and to control subsequent benefit payments.

The Social Security Administration has assigned about 295 million 9-digit numbers since 1936. Because no restriction was placed on use of the number by private organizations, it has been adopted as a readily available identifier for a broad spectrum of uses.

Many federal agencies also use the number. The food stamp and aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) programs require each member of the family to have a Social Security number. The Internal Revenue Service mandates use of the number as the individual taxpayer identification number for all tax returns and for records of income-producing activities, such as bank accounts or investments. The Department of Defense uses the Social Security number as the identification number for military personnel.

The information in the Social Security record the number identifies is confidential. When the law specifically authorizes the Social Security Administration to do so, it may release the Social Security number to specified government agencies. When there is no law authorizing such disclosure, information from Social Security records can be released only with the written consent of the number holder.

The growing illegal and fraudulent use of the Social Security number resulted in changes concerning its issuance. Since 1978, all applicants for Social Security numbers have been required to present documentary evidence of age, identity, and U.S. citizenship or lawful alien status when they apply for a number. As a result of a 1983 change in the law, new cards are now printed on counterfeit-resistant bank-note paper.

People who lose their Social Security card should apply for a duplicate as soon as possible. Many employers are reluctant to hire a person who attempts to provide a Social Security number from memory.

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Acres this week discusses international trade or perhaps horse trading, one or the other.

Dear editor:
According to numerous congressmen who spent their recent vacation sounding out the voters back home, the big issue in the people's mind is this country's international trade deficit.

I don't think the congressmen did their sounding-out on the day the sunken Titanic was found or the day Pete Rose broke baseball's hit record. To get people thinking about international trade, you've got to do it on an off day.

As I understand it, or perhaps misunderstand it, a trade deficit occurs when we buy more goods from other countries than they buy from us, and right now the others are 150 billion dollars ahead.

Now, as I further understand it, if all countries traded equally with each other, there'd be no trade deficit and everybody'd show a profit.

I can't help but recall a story I heard a long time ago.

Joe and Tom were neighbors. One day Joe bought a horse for $100. When Tom saw that horse he was so taken with it he offered Joe $150 for it. Joe took it. "Made $50," he said.

But in a few days he regretted it. He wanted the horse back. Tell you what," he told Tom, "I want that horse back. Give you $200 for it." Tom took it. "Made $50," he said.

A month later Tom decided he needed that horse. "Give you $250 for it," he told Joe. "Oh, all right," Joe said. He smiled. "Made $50 profit."

A month later a horse trader came through and bought the horse from Joe.

When Tom found out about it he hit the ceiling. "Why in the world did you sell the horse to an outsider? We were both making money off of it."

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

PS: You reckon that horse was shod with shoes from a foreign country?
