Griffith, Fairchild winners in Tuesday's primary runoff

Gordon Griffith was successful in his bid for a fourth term as Commissioner of Precinct Three, defeating challenger J.C. Thompson by a two-to-one margin election. in Tuesday's Democratic Party primary runoff.

And at the same time, Sam Fairchild defeated Aubrey C. Bohannon for the office of Precinct Three Constable, while Don Brewer edged out Jerry D. Jones for Precinct Four Constable.

None of the three faces a Republican challenger in the November general

Voting Tuesday drew a considerably greater turnout than have runoffs in the past, according to election officials. Observers explained the two Precinct Three elections were the reason.

Griffith drew 66.35 percent of the votes cast in his race, receiving 1,660 votes to Thompson's 818.

Fairchild beat Bohannon, 756-650, and Brewer won by only a 14-vote margin, 239-225.

Of the 13 boxes in which voters cast ballots for Commissioner, Griffith won eight and Thompson five.

The bulk of Griffith's votes came from Iowa Park's two boxes: 733 in Voting Precinct 32, and 231 in Voting Precinct 33. Thompson received 66 and 31, respectively, in those two boxes.

While many observers described the race as being between candidates from Iowa Park and Wichita Falls, only one of the boxes was a shutout for either candidate. Thompson got all 40 votes cast at the Beacon Lighthouse for the Blind box in Wichita Falls.

Griffith's lead was established in the early voting, where he took a 329-156 lead.

The same was true in the Precinct Three Constable election, however. Fairchild led Bohannon 161-144 when early voting was tabulated.

Jones led Brewer 43-27 in the Precinct Four Constable race when early votes were counted.

Other boxes in which Griffith received more votes than Thompson were: Lamar Elementary, 107-36; Wichita Falls School Administration, 46-21; Fannin Elementary, 8-4; Bonham Elementary, 53-12; Huey Elementary, 31-7, and Country Chapel, 73-14.

Fairchild drew more votes than Bohannon in both boxes in Iowa Park. He led 430-353 in Precinct 32 and 142-120 in Precinct 33.

The only box Bohannon won of the three in which voters cast ballots in that runoff was at Chaparral Baptist As-

Trustees considering all-day kindergarten

Iowa Park school trustees agreed to take a closer look at a request to begin offering all-day kindergarten, approved changes in the high school math curriculum, and extended contracts for the 1992-93 school year to auxiliary employees.

Their meeting was held Monday night.

Kamay resident Catherine Norton cited transportation problems for parents residing distances away from the school, as well as additional instruction all-day students would receive under the all-day program.

would like" on the TAAS scores was cited as one reason for changing the math program.

High school principal Richard Davis also proposed permitting senior students with 19 credits through their junior years to be exempt from attending the final class period of the day.

His proposal, if approved by the Texas Education Agency, would permit a student who works to leave early. Davis also cited a problem of running out of electives which can be offered.

Also to be submitted to the state for pproval is a proposal drop requirement of final examinations for all grades.

Sales taxes up locally

February was a good month for local businesses, according to sales tax collections reported by the state comptroller's office.

Iowa Park received a check for $13,288.75, reflecting sales taxes collected in February. That's a whopping 19.25 percent increase over the same month in 1991.

For the year, the city is a plus 14.50 percent over 1991, having received a total of $63,016.04. At this time last year, the total was $55,037.32.

In fact, the other three cities in Wichita County also are showing increases for the year: Electra, 3.78 percent; Wichita Falls, 6.32, and Burkburnett, 7.70.

Overall, Wichita County is a plus 6.53 percent for the year.

But that's not the case in Archer County, where the average is a minus 13.06 percent.

Holliday, with total receipts for the year at $20,219.20, is a minus 23.40 percent, when compared with 1991, according to the report.

State okays prison site

The Texas Board of Criminal Justice met in Austin Friday and made the selection of Wichita County for one of three new 2,250-bed maximum security prison locations.

The unit will be located slightly more than 1.5 miles north of US 287 on FM 369.

Coordinating the application effort of the Wichita Falls Board of Commerce and Industry was BCI chairman Ray Clymer.

Additionally, Ron Mertens of the BCI credited Bob Priddy, Robert Pace and Joe Mike Pistocco for having raised in excess of $850,000 in pledges from the private sector for the project.

With an employment of some 800 personnel, estimated annual payroll is expected to be approximately $16 million.

A BIG DAY in the life of every young baseball player is opening day of the season. That's especially true in Iowa Park, where the first day of the season is marked by a parade through the downtown area, with all the players' family and friends watching.

City hears money-saving plan

The city council heard a plan by which the city could join with Wichita Falls and save money by self insuring in both workers compensation and health care, during Monday night's meeting.

Aldermen heard a plan offered by Jan Strickland, an employee of the City of Wichita Falls.

At the present time, Iowa Park insurance is carried by the Texas Municipal League.

The speaker said she had analyzed the past five-year period, and stated that Iowa Park is paying far more in workers compensation premiums than have been paid out in claims.

On health and dental care, she told how her department has worked to hold down unreasonable charges, and at the same time provided good care for employees at less cost to that city.

In both programs, Strickland proposed the city continue budgeting the same amount of money as it has in the past, for a few years, to build up an adequate and safe amount for self insuring. Then, the cost savings would begin to be realized.

Council members took the information under advisement, and are expected to take action in one form or another before the end of May.

A resolution to continue the city's participation in funding the North Texas Regional Drug Enforcement Task Force was approved.

The prorate share for Iowa Park is expected to decrease from $6,500 to about $800, aldermen were told.

Council members approved the lowest of four bids on a sewer improvement project, submitted by Coles Const. of Wichita Falls for $41,917.67. The bids ranged as high as $52,476.88.

Public Works director Mike Price made a report on the city's ongoing Similar requests have been made since Iowa Park began half-day kindergarten, but seldom has the point of transportation been exploited.

Kidwell Elementary Principal Ron Woods said the change is desired by the majority of his faculty.

In order to implement the program, temporary buildings would have to be utilized and three or four additional teachers would be added, as well as the necessary furniture and instructional materials.

Supt. Glen Mitchell told the board he would make an in-depth study on the proposal and report back to the board.

Janet Bowling, one of the kindergarten teachers, pointed to the additional improvement students likely would make with more instruction time.

A plan to restructure the high school math curriculum, presented by Mrs. Thomas Johnson, was approved.

It included dropping fundamentals of math and consumer math, and allowing students to take Algebra One twice, if desired and with teacher approval. The student would receive a second credit for the second year, if the course was passed.

Trustee Wendall House voiced concern that dismissing students the final period of the day would not be in the best interest of extracurricular programs, and voted against the proposal.

Robert Palmer, assistant superintendent, told the board he expects to recommend a decrease in lunchroom prices next year.

He cited cost savings which have been made through the bidding process, as well as good management.

The board voted to accept the resignation of kindergarten teacher Brenda Reily.

Trustees were informed at least one additional teacher would be necessary at the junior high next year, where at least 36 additional students are expected.

The increase, from the present 438, is anticipated because there are 119 pupils now in the eighth grade, and 150 in the fifth.

Supt. Mitchell told the board the district now has 1,940 students, up from 1,893 the same time last year.

The largest concentration of students in the district is at the high school, where 531 are enrolled. There are 489 at Kidwell, and 482 at Bradford.

First Step explained to Philia Study Club

LEADER

Laura Grimsinger, coordinator for First Step of Wichita Falls, presented the program for the Monday night meeting of Philia Study Club. It met in the home of Lana Gates.

Mrs. Grimsinger stated that First Step is the only agency in the 12county North Texas Area which provides free, comprehensive services for victims of family violence and sexual assault.

She discussed the various services available and also told of their new facility which will provide more space for battered women and children.

The meeting was called to order by Sue Tate in the absence of the president.

Mrs. Gates presented the meditation. Pledge to the flag and group singing of "God Bless America," were led by Helen Burrell. Recitation of the Club Collect was directed by Raydean Mattis.

Linda Springer read the minutes of the previous meeting and called the roll when members answered by giving a time management tip. Business was conducted by Mrs.

This is my favorite season of the year. But the only problem about it is, there's just not enough time to fully enjoy it.

When you're busy, time always seems to pass rapidly. And spring is always loaded with activities that make days, weeks, months, and the season pass by so fast they become a blur in my memory.

Along with the improved weather that makes my golf game more comfortable and increases the number of days I can play, elections and city and school activities pick up considerably.

It's not unusual for my schedule to include several activities after the regular business hours. And often those activities are taking place at the same times.

I guess the only part of time that seems to pass more slowly is my anticipation for my annual sports outing the state high school track meet. That's coming up in five weeks.

Many have an annual outing for hunting, fishing, skiing, etc. Mine has been for the past 32 years, attending and thoroughly enjoying watching the cream of Texas high school athletes competing in track and field events.

And, of course, I always love the change of color from brown to green. Our unsightly trees become towers of beauty, and the fields and lawns carpets of green instead of dead and dirty flat-

As more and more get into the act, it's not going to be unusual at all to see a prison in any community.

The BCI bid package is a good one though, and maybe a few Wichita Falls politicians have enough clout to pull it off. Only time will tell.

There was a protest in New Jersey this week as that state has adopted a new welfare ruling. The rule says that an unwed mother who receives welfare will not receive welfare for additional children she gives birth to. These pregnant unwed mothers are protesting because it would be unfair to their unborn children. There are, however, many instances where the welfare system is paying these women more than they could make if they were employed, so why should they ever plan to become employed.

A local reader pinned our grocery cart against the frozen food section and chastised us for calling the nation's homeless a bunch of bums.

She thought those unfortunate victims of today's society carried sufficient burden without the humiliating added burden of being called a bum.

She declared the word "bum" was an old fashioned word no longer acceptable in today's enlightened and caring atmosphere and only an old fashioned, non-caring, unenlightened mossback would use such a term.

Since she had our rear pinned against the ice-cold frozen-food cabinet, we were not in our usual diplomatic or tactful conciliatory manner used with overbearing women.

Hicks', Watson's work to be displayed this month

Kathy Hicks and Louise Watson are the two Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Association members who will display a sample of their work at Tom Burnets Memorial Library and State National Bank for the next month.

Kathy's display is a painted wooden cutout of a rabbit with movable legs to sit on the edge of a shelf. To depict the Easter theme, Kathy will place a decorated Easter basket with the rabbit.

Kathy is serving as president of the the Arts and Crafts Association this year.

Every other Wednesday Kathy and several friends meet, have lunch together and spend the day painting. Her friends are learning to paint and she is giving the instructions. It was in one of these sessions that Kathy made the rabbit that will be on display.

Skillful crafts is a joint venture with Kathy and her husband, Richard. He especially likes to do woodcrafts. He does the cutting and sawing and she does the painting and decorating.

People appreciate Kathy's expertise at making beautiful cakes and artistic decorations. She also gives demonstrations on making and decorating cakes.

Richard serves as a scoutmaster and is busy now with minor league baseball which their older son, Jered, is involved with.

Louise will have on display what she terms as "my $200 frog". She adds to that an amusing story about how the frog came to be.

"There were several young people in the class and after the first week they already had done beautiful landscapes. I was still pulling strings."

The next week the teacher asked Louise what she saw in her piece of fabric. Her answer, "I see a frog." The teacher, puzzled over her answer for a few seconds and then said," I have never had anyone see a frog before."

But Louise began embroidering her frog, and that is what people will see on display this month. She laughed about her frog and said, "You can see how creative I am, but if you don't know what to say about it, you can always say it's unique."

This piece also started a collection for her, even if she says she isn't a collector. After the frog incident, people started bring her frogs of all descriptions.

Louise does do creative stitchery, such as counted crossstich and crewel embroidery--if she has a pattern to go by.

The Watsons met in Groves where she was teaching school and he was a coach.

Louise grew up in San Antonio and received her degree from what then was Abilene Christian College.

After living in the Panhandle of Texas, they went back to San Antonio and Louise taught math in Middle School, although she was an English major. She retired after 37 years of teaching.

After they settled in San Antonio, George was a family counselor 28 years.

They had lived in Iowa Park a year in February.

Louise likes to socialize so she joined the Arts and Crafts Association, the Iowa Park Garden Club and is a member of the Bridge Club that meets at the RAC.

"Touchstones of Faith" was title of the program presented by Berniece Compton for the Tuesday morning meeting of Susannah Wesley Circle of First United Methodist Church.

The group met in the home of Gerri Thurlo, with Reba Snow as cohostess. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Compton.

She stated that the purpose the program was "To identify moments, people, and touchable evidence of God's active presence in our personal lives."

She also suggested individuals should claim these experiences so they may become touchstones of "One should learn that sharing these touchstones of faith with others is important for our faith and theirs," Mrs. Compton concluded.

She was assisted by several members of the Circle in presenting the program.

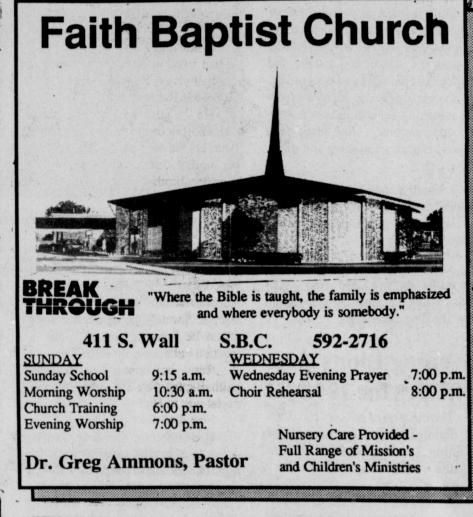

Ten members were in attendance.

THIS IS JESUS. THE KING OF THE JEWS This is the inscription Pilate placed over Jesus. (Mt. 27:37). As I read Psalm 2, the accounts that the four gospels record, and the preaching in Acts 2 the only possible conclusion is Jesus of Nazareth was crucified, died, buried, and indeed was risen from the dead and ascended back to God the Father in heaven. As we view those in power and the events that took place at that time it is evident those in power thought that were finally rid of that troublemaker Jesus. Oh yes, they were fully determined to make Him pay for His cleansing of the temple! As I attempt to visualize that scene in my mind through the pages of God's Word, imagine the characters that came in contact with Jesus. Annas and Caiphas showed their malice toward the Son of God. Herod and Pilate became the best of friends after the trial of Jesus. The Romans in all likelihood relished the thought of putting a Jew to death by crucifixion. Many laughed and mocked Jesus on that day. The friends of Jesus are deeply saddened and grieved by the death of the best man they have ever known. A mother mourns the passing of her first born son. What does all this mean to us today? It means that Jesus died for our sins according to the Scriptures. buried, and raised again the third day. (1 Cor. 15: 1-4). Because He lives, we also have the opportunity to live beyond this life! It means I can become a follower of the Savior by doing the same things the people did in Acts 2. It means I can be a member of Jesus' church that came into existence on the day of Pentecost. To have the blessing of forgiveness of sins and the pattern of the New Testament to teach us how to live and worship is one of the greatest blessings and gifts one may have! It this something that interests you? Are you in search of the Lord's way? If we may assist you in any way in your search for truth, we will be happy to answer your questions pointing you only to Jesus Christ, the Son of the living God, the Head of His church showing you the biblical pattern for our lives today. Travel nothing new for retired couple

By MYRNA SMITH

LEADER

Jean and Bill Cochran are such avid travelers it is hard to know just where home is. However, Texas has been their home state for 22 years and Iowa Park is the choice town for their stationary home. They consider themselves Texans.

They have a beautiful new "home on wheels", and are anticipating their several months trip in the near future.

This will be their first time to travel in their new trailer. When they leave here they will go to Colorado where Jean still has some relatives, and their son lives in Colorado Springs.

Jean is a native of Colorado, having grown up in Denver. They really like to be in Colorado during the hot weather season in Texas.

In August they plan to go to upstate New York where Bill's family will have a reunion. He is a native of Pennsylvania.

Following that reunion, the Cochrans will wind their way to Toronto where they will attend a Travel Club International Rally.

On their return trip to Texas and home they will probably come via Albuquerque in time for the annual balloon festival there.

The Cochrans have never stayed in one place for more than eight days, and that was because Jean "caught the flu bug" and didn't feel like traveling.

"We are going to try to stay a month at one place in Colorado this year," Bill commented.

Traveling isn't anything new to the couple. They have traveled in all 50 states, going to Alaska in 1985 They went with a tour group to Rome, and in February made a travel trailer tour to New Orleans.

In addition to that they lived in several states, and Germany, England

MR. AND MRS. BILL COCHRAN ... with new travel trailer.

to create new events, which she did

"Bill kept saying 'let's retire so during her tenure.

Sheppard Air Force Base three times. After spending three years in Japan he was returned to SAFB the last time for retirement.

He was in air traffic control, in radio and broadcasting and was station manager.

Jean worked 17 years for Station KWFT. When she started she was we can travel'. We finally agreed on a time," Jean related. He retired in January 1990 on a Tuesday and I retired on Thursday and right after I retired, I broke my knee."

As soon as her physician would let her she went back to work because he said she could not travel yet. When he finally told her if she could get up in the trailer she could go, they didn't hesitate.

The first big trip they made after retirement was to Washington State. Luck still wasn't with them, or perhaps it was. Bill suffered a heart attack in Washington and went to the military base near Tacoma. There were no heart specialists there because of Desert Storm. He was sent to a hospital in Tacoma where it is noted for its heart specialists and heart surgery.

Bill had to have a five-way bypass. "That was the longest day of my life. He was in surgery eight hours," Jean said.

Shortly after he had his surgery was when they decided to go to Rome. He couldn't carry anything that weighed more than 10 pounds, but she was glad to carry the luggage.

Bill was stationed in Thailand one year and Korea one year. His family didn't go there with him. He was in Thailand during the war when planes were flying out from where he was stationed to Laos and Cambodia. The Cochrans lived several places in the United States. They were stationed a while in upstate New York. "It is beautiful country, but I guess we liked it less there than any place we were," Jean commented.

They lived three years in England, three years in Germany, and three years in Japan.

In Japan they lived in Chitose located on Hokkaido, the northernmost island. Bill was station manager for the Armed Forces Broadcasting station there. He did sports and newscasts.

Jean also worked for the Far East Network. She did weekly radio programs and television specials on holidays. Jean interviewed teachers from the United States who came to teach on the base.

One of many interesting experiences Jean had while they lived in Japan was to narrate a fashion show. She narrated in English with a Japanese interpreter sitting beside her. "I often wondered just how her narration came out in Japanese," Jean remarked.

Jean taught English to adult Japanese students for a year. She said everyone wanted to learn English. She traveled 30 miles each way twice a week at night.

"One reason they were so anxious to learn English was because the Olympics were to be held there the following year," Jean remembered.

Both Bill and Jean really enjoyed their time in Japan. He said the American government had helped the island a great deal. They had mapped out their roads and helped in many other ways. They found that the people were very friendly and more westernized than the rest of Japan.

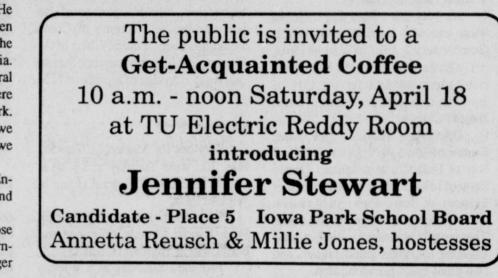

Jean poured tea at several special social events and they were always invited to attend the big Fourth of July celebrations. Bill dressed in full dress uniform and Jean in a party dress. But, they ate hot dogs and ice cream.

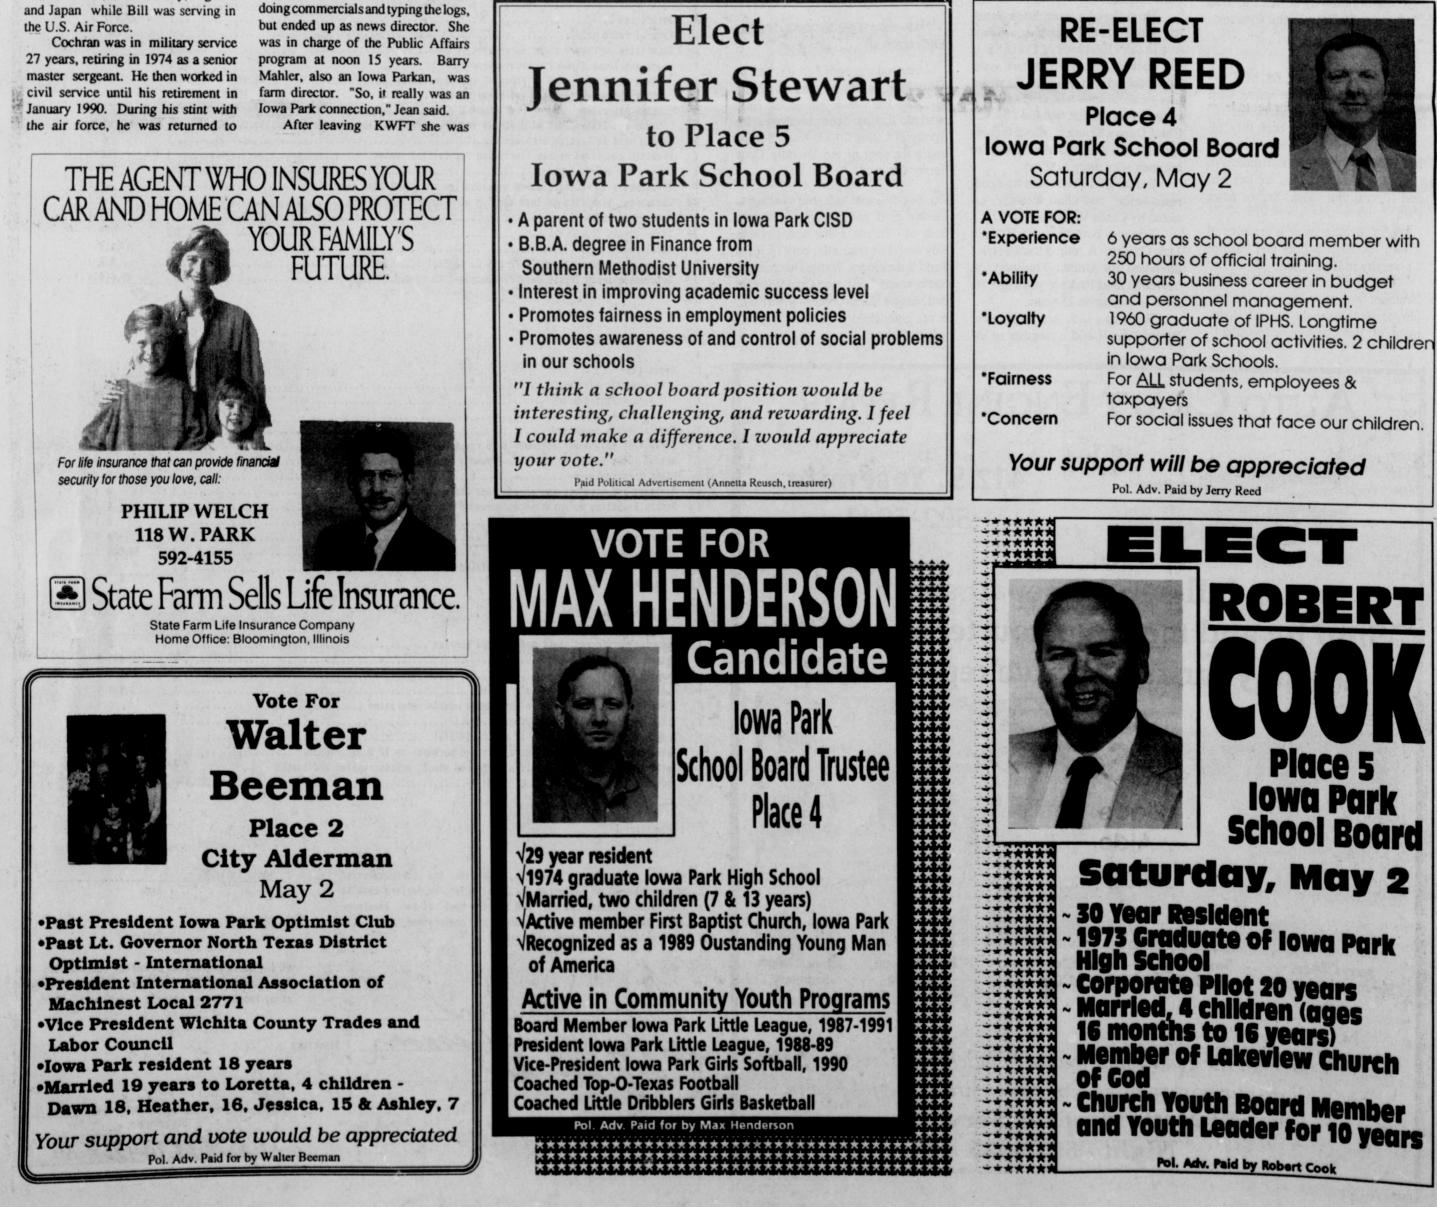

At one of the special events in Sapporo, chief city of the island, the American ambassador was there and several Japanese industrialists. Jean said the men participated in a special reunion. They had all attended the same college in the United States.

Billattended several conferences for newcasters where Hirohito was in attendance.

Jean's mother lived with the Cochrans while they were in Japan. Many places had single rest rooms, used by both men and women. One time her mother went into one. There was one stall which she used and then the men started coming in and her mother "wouldn't come out". Jean said her mother never would use that kind anymore.

Another humorous experience Jean related happened about three o'clock one morning. Someone came by and shouted to everyone to "Open the windows and lie on the floor." Jean understood them to say, "Close the windows and lock all the doors." The reason for that was because a plane carrying an atomic bomb was having a problem. But everything turned out alright.

That reminded Jean of another funny experience they had in Germany and that too involved her mother. Her mother had been visiting them in Frankfurt and was returning to the United States.

Both Bill and Jean went with her to get on the fast train from Frankfurt to Bremerhaven, with a stop in Cologne. "Fast" didn't prove to be a misnomer. The train wasted no time and the doors shut automatically. Anyone who hadn't got off stayed there until the first stop. Bill got off in time, but Jean didn't.

Bill went to the stationmaster and was told he might as well find a way to pass the time because it would be about six hours before a train would be back with his wife. Jean spent her time in the station reading and Bill went to a movie.

But he thoughtfully sent Jean's mother a telegram telling her that Jean was alright and would arrive okay in Frankfurt and he hoped she would have a good trip.

But when Jean's mother got the telegram it informed her that he hoped that Jean would be alright and have a good trip.

"We've had a lot of great experiences," Jean recalled, "and we wouldn't take anything for any of them."

While they were in Germany Jean went to some classes to learn enough of the German language to shop and be able to understand at least part of what they said, and hope they could understand her.

She said in Japan she learned how to ask for the ladies rest room, how much an item was, and to read the names of the towns.

The hardest thing for her to learn gether," Bill said. But eventually they decided they wanted to spend the rest of their lives together.

"We have met a lot of nice people in the years we've been together, and a lot of them have been campers we have met. They are really nice people," Jean said.

They really love to travel in their recreational vehicle and their new one has everything a person would want in their home.

They belong to the Carriage Travel Trailer Club and the Coast to Coast Camp and Resort Club, which automatically gives them access to 450 camp grounds throughout the United States.

Jean is a member and past president of the Texas Press Women's Association and was coordinator of the recent state convention held in Wichita Falls. She also serves on the Hospitality Board of the North Texas Rehabilitation Center.

The Cochrans have three sons. Tim of Amarillo who is tennis coach and history teacher at Caprock High School.

Their son, Bill, works for Car Quest in Wichita Falls and is umpire for baseball and softball., and the third son, Glen, lives in Colorado Springs and has just gotten out of military service. He currently is trying for a position on the police force there.

They also have eight granddaughters and two grandsons.

Holliday schools to offer early retirement incentives

Holliday school trustees voted to offer an early retirement incentive to faculty members who are fully vested.

The board voted Monday night to offer 25 percent of a teacher's threeyear salary average, Supt. Dan Owen reported.

There are three or four teachers on the faculty who are qualified, he said. But the board must be notified no later than June 1 to receive the incentive.

Owen explained the board's action discuss a recent law suit against the district, concerning termination of a driver's education instructor. The Texas Education Agency office has ruled in favor of the district's decision, Owen said, but has not given a decision on non-renewal of contract.

Trustees approved ordering a new, 71-passenger bus, estimated to cost $36,000.

They also decided to have another bus of that size completely reworked at pitchers for 21 hits.

Iowa Park knocked off Breckenridge 11-1 Friday and picked up 10 more Tuesday against Bridgeport. And both those games were on the road.

All the conference teams will take off until Tuesday, because the district track meet has been scheduled Friday.

So the Hawks will put their 3-0 district record on the line Tuesday, when they host 1-2 Bowie at 4:30 p.m.

And if Iowa Park and Graham continue their winning ways, the Hawks and Steers will have a first-half showdown the following Friday at Graham. The Steers are also 3-0.

Robert Denton picked up his third win of the season on the mound against Breckenridge, allowing only one hit.

Tuesday, it was J'Bill Merrick's turn. He limited the Bulls to seven, but most of those were in the first inning. Merrick is undefeated in six contests. Both Denton and Merrick are seniors.

Tony Lozipone, Denton and Patric Kennedy accounted for eight of Iowa ranked high among players across the state, according to the Dallas Morning News. Patric Kennedy is among the top 15 best hitters, and joins Todd Pulley, Robert Denton and Jason Miller in the best 50. J'Bill Merrick is rated among

SS SS SS SS SS

Breckenridge's boys' and girls' track teams gave a strong indication last week that they have the ability to successfully defend their Dist. 4-AAA titles. With seven teams competing in the Buck's home meet, Breckenridge outpointed Brownwood, 138-123. And in the girls' division, with five teams, the Park's hits at Breckenridge.

Lozipone was three for four, Denton three for three, and Kennedy two for two. Kennedy was credited with five runs batted in, and Denton three.

Two of Denton's hits were doubles. while Kennedy and Jeremy Carroll had one apiece.

Against Bridgeport, Kennedy, Lozipone, Scott McNeely and Ralph Dillard each had two hits. Both of McNeely's were doubles, and Kennedy had one.

Bridgeport put the Hawks under pressure early, scoring twice in the opening frame.

The Hawks, who had been hitting, but all of them to defenders, didn't light up the scoreboard until the fourth inning, when they racked up four.

could actually result in a lowering of how much the district pays in salaries. He said teachers with several years experience qualify for higher salaries than entry-level teachers or those with fewer years experience.

If a teacher's three-year salary average was $30,000, the school's incentive would amount to $7,500, he said. An executive session was held to the state prison in Huntsville, at a cost of $11,911.

In other business, trustees accepted bids for athletic and maintenance supplies; called for teacher supply bids; discussed the governor's plan for financing public education, as well as the state's shortfall of funds this year which amount to $57,000 for the district.

The superintendent also reported that Holliday High students won the district's UIL literary meet.

STIFF NECK!

A stiff, painful neck is a common problem, but one that puzzles most people as to what caused it. Most people just wake up with it. The search for the injury that causes it usually reveals no answers, as it is a "slow injury" that occurs during sleep.

A large study at the Pain Clinic, Alexandria Hospital in Australia in 1986 brought several points to light concerning this type of neck pain. Stiff neck is commonly caused by pinching of facet joints, small pain sensitive spinal joints that can trigger pain in the neck, back of the shoulder, muscle spasm and headache. These researchers found that 71% of the patients evaluated at their clinic proved to have a pinching facet joint in the neck.

In a related study, these researchers found that the simplest and most effective way to diagnose this disorder is by palpation of the joints of the neck. This is the procedure used by chiropractors to detect joint tenderness and movement restriction by feeling the spine with the hands. As stiff neck from facet syndrome is caused by pinching of these small joints, chiropractic manipulation can be very effective in freeing the problem, relieving neck pain, resulting muscle spasm and headache. Exercises are often then used in addition to treatment to improve neck joint flexibility and to improve muscle tone. This treatment program is often effective for both acute and chronic stiff neck.

While position of the head and neck during sleep can allow these facet joints to pinch and cause stiff neck, chiropractic treatment can effectively resolve the pain. Prompt treatment can prevent prolonged suffering.
