Former Shaw property purchased by Powells

The Ford dealership building on West Highway which has remained empty since Park Ford closed its doors almost 18 months ago, has a new owner.

But it won't be another automobile dealership.

The facility has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Chris Powell, owners of C&L Service.

Powell said the purchase from owners, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Shaw, was completed two weeks ago.

C&L's advancement into regional sales and service of industrial turf equipment has increased to a point that he needs additional space for the larger equipment.

The firm is also a dealer for electric generating equipment, commonly used in motor homes, and demand for service in that line is a potential development.

"I'm tired of freezing during the winter when I have to work outdoors on the larger equipment," Powell explained.

When C&L was built a few years ago, at the corner of Park and Colorado, it was adequate for repairs on equipment he was servicing. But that has changed, and he expects the change to continue.

Powell emphasized he would continue his operations at his current location, even after he moves part of his business into the new property.

The move isn't expected to take effect until next spring, however. Possibly sometime in March.

The building has been leased for storage by the contractor currently working on the Wal-Mart building, next door to the east.

During the winter months, Powell expects to be converting the larger structure for his operating needs.

When the change is made, there also will be other changes, Powell said. C&L will become C&S Service Center, and the new facility's name will be C&S Industrial and Turf Division.

The Ford building was built by the Shaws in the mid 1970s, when the dealership was moved from the location now occupied by Allsup's.

The property was part of the old Texas-Oklahoma Fairgrounds, and was purchased from the Iowa Park Industrial Corporation.

Council saving money on insurance changes

Iowa Park city council Monday night acted on two topics concerning insurance, both designed to save money paid in premiums.

One concerned workers' compensation. The council elected to increase its deductible and dedicate $150,000 in reserve for maximum coverage before an umbrella policy with Texas Municipal League (TML) assumed responsibility.

Aldermen decided to make the change after it was reported $178,404 had been paid for coverage the past four years, and only $122,282 had been paid to employees who had filed.

The other insurance changes dealt with general and automobile liability coverage for law enforcement and public officials.

By increasing the deductible on the policy, aldermen were informed the annual savings would amount to $7,790.

Two bids were approved, both relating to the sewer treatment plant property.

The first was to accept the highest bid for grazing rights on the 17-acre property. It was submitted by Charlie Helms, for $25 per acre. The other bid was $20.

Voting took place before Helms, who has held a lease on the land several years, retired from the council. He abstained during the voting.

The other bid was for bulldozer work at the treatment plant, where a lagoon is being dug.

The only bidder, Glen Price, was approved, at $50 per hour.

Digging of the lagoon is necessary in order for the city's only sewer treatment plant to be shut down for a brief period for repairs. It has operated continuously since completion over 20 years ago.

New alderman Bud Mercer was seated after he, Mayor Wayne House and alderman Johnny Crawford were sworn in. All had been elected in the May 2 election.

Mercer, who has formerly served on the council, replaced Helms, who chose not to seek re-election after a two-year term.

House and Crawford were both re-elected to second terms.

The council confirmed appointments of Crawford as mayor pro tem, a post he has served the past year, and two aldermen, Mercer and Mark Raby, to serve with the mayor on the Recreational Activities Center council.

Prior to his retirement, Helms was presented a plaque in appreciation for his service on the council.

City Administrator Gary Jones presented a proposed schedule of meetings for council members and staff to prepare the 1992-93 budget.

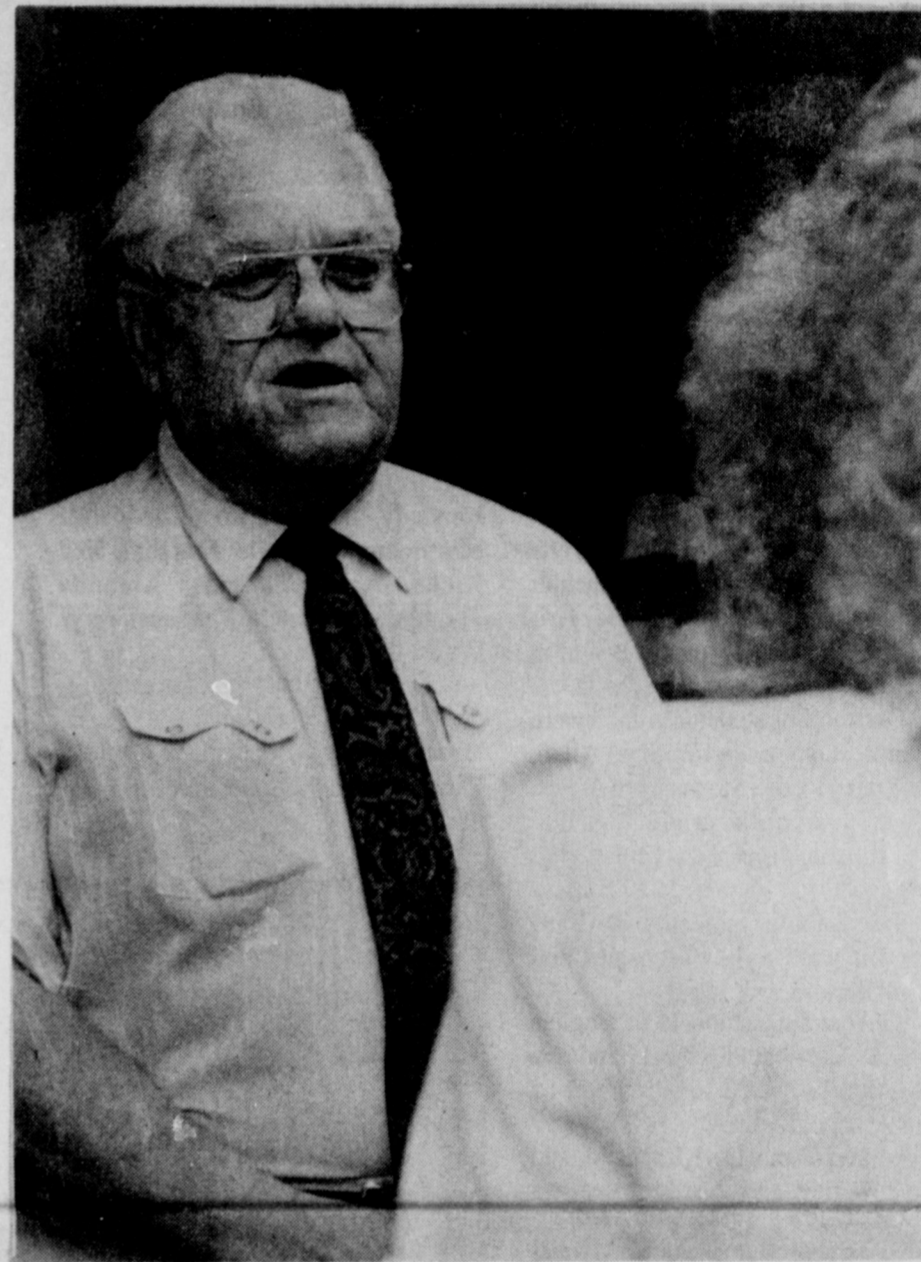

Completion of the budget is expected by September, when public hearings are to be held. The city's fiscal year begins Oct. 1.

During the general discussion period, Alderman Crawford proposed a schedule of city hall employees that would have them opening the utility payment window earlier and later than regular office hours.

He said the night deposit drawer could be overlooked or misunderstood by those wishing to pay.

It was pointed out that the police department accepts water bill payments, and it is open 24 hours a day.

Police have busy week

Five cases of criminal mischief and six thefts or burglaries were reported during the past week to the Iowa Park Police Dept.

Four of the criminal mischief reports were filed by residents in the south part of town. Two of them by the same resident, and all five concerned glass breakage by thrown objects.

The first report was at 10:44 Wednesday night, when a back window of a vehicle was shattered in the 1200 block of South Wall.

Shortly afterward, at 1:52 a.m., a resident in the 300 block of East Garden called police and reported a front window of the home having been broken by a socket someone had thrown.

At 1:19 a.m. Saturday, the same resident said another front window had just been broken by someone again.

A resident in the 300 block of East Crystal discovered a side vehicle window having been broken. That call was made at 7:55 a.m. Friday, and police believe the culprit may have been the same one as having attacked the East Garden residence that same night.

The fifth criminal mischief complaint filed during the week was from a vehicle owner in the 400 block of South Colorado, who told police at 9:30 a.m. Sunday of having found where someone had either hit or kicked the side of the vehicle, damaging it.

Two of the theft cases involved male juveniles shoplifting at the same business on Johnson Road.

The first was Wednesday afternoon, when boys ages 11 and 13 were detained by employees and turned over to police.

The second was reported at 8:03 p.m. Saturday.

A "court" was held for the three youngsters, and their punishment was to sweep the business' parking lot.

A resident in the 1000 block of Cornelia reported Saturday that a hand gun missing. The weapon's identification number was listed in the national files.

A fisherman at Lake Iowa Park told police Sunday evening that someone had removed an equalizer from his pickup sometime during the day.

Olmstead home a true 'doll house'

By Myrna Smith

They aren't musical, but you automatically think of "Hello Dolly" when you enter the living room, or any other room of the Cecil Olmstead home.

There are dolls---more than 100 of them throughout the house, and they represent more than one period.

Many of them have their own furniture and toys, made by Cecil. It may be a bed, a tricycle, a rocking horse, a "kiddie" car, a cradle, a playpen, a chair, a wagon. Or, the dolls may just be sitting on a shelf "watching" you with their whimsical expressions.

There are dolls dressed in Victorian fashions, dolls with pompadour hairdos, Indian dolls, character dolls, baby dolls, and those in modern dress.

For added interest, there are at least 25 unique clocks, displayed at focal points, also the handiwork of the man of the house.

You can say it is a family affair at the Cecil and Mary Olmsteads (he prefers to call her K, short for Katherine).

Mary was reared in a family with three boys, so she had no one to play dolls with her. She grew up playing ball and whatever her brothers wanted to play.

Cecil was reared in a family of three girls, but he was fortunate enough to have one sister who was a tomboy, so he didn't have to be bothered with his siblings wanting him to play dolls, or go somewhere else to play.

His wife remembers a picture of his family group. Cecil was the only boy with three girls and their dolls. She said, "His mother told me Cecil didn't mind having his picture made, but he was very unhappy because he didn't want to be in the picture with all of those dolls".

Now the picture has changed. He doesn't mind all of the dolls being around and he loves to make furniture for them. However, he did tell Mary if she didn't quit collecting dolls they were going to have to move out and let the dolls take over, or they were going to have to add another room to their house.

Mary's brother married Cecil's sister, and now they make a foursome in the hobby of building things and dressing dolls.

Mary began collecting dolls about 10 years ago. She met a lady from Archer City at a flea market and found out that she makes porcelain dolls. She decided she would start collecting the ones she liked. She has about 30 reproductions of antique dolls that she doesn't have clothes made for yet.

Mary does some of the sewing for the dolls, but Cecil's sister does most of it. The dolls are dressed in beautifully fashioned clothes, from their lingerie to their outer garments.

Cecil has made approximately 1000 doll bodies from 2x4 blocks of wood. He finishes the wood and drills holes for their arms and legs. He then sends them to his sister in Moore, Okla., and she completes them with rag arms and legs and dresses them for whatever type of character she decides she wants. She sells a lot of the dolls she completes.

Several years ago Cecil made a loom for his sister. She uses it to make beaded trappings for the clothes for Indian dolls.

Mary has two Indian dolls, a chief and a maiden, that her sister-in-law dressed. The chief is complete with feather headdress, buckskin clothes and beaded ornamentation. The maiden is dressed in leather with the typical fringed garment and special decorative accents.

Mary has a Madame DuBarry doll in one of their bedrooms that has an extremely full dress with hooped skirt over layer upon layer of petticoats and reminds you of a "southern belle" ready for a ball.

Another beautiful, porcelain reproduction doll wears a dress, handmade by Mary's sister-in-law. It is made of pink satin and is trimmed with lace and dainty ribbon roses in a design used over the entire dress. It is closed in the back with tiny pearl buttons. Underneath her dress are lace trimmed petticoats.

One little boy doll sits astride a wooden horse made by Cecil. He and Mary took their time to dress the doll just the way they wanted him. Some of his clothes are little boy clothes. His chaps were made at a leather shop. His combination leather boots are some they found for a baby's feet. The saddle he sits on is one Cecil found at a flea market that was part of an old leather purse, and it fits the horse perfectly.

That is part of the fun the Olmsteads have now that he is retired and they have time to attend craft shows, flea markets and take short trips when they wish.

Olmstead moved to Oklahoma from Chicago with his parents when he was two years old. Mary was born in Wilson, Okla., and has always lived within a radius of 100 miles from there. Her family moved to Ardmore when she was in the seventh grade. She met Cecil there when they were in the same ninth grade math class and they soon began dating. They have been married 47 years.

They have lived in Iowa Park 18 years, moving here from Jacksboro. He worked for Lone Star Gas Co., 33 years, retiring in March 1986 as North Texas District Manager of Technical Services. His territory covered an area from Amarillo to Fort Smith, Ark.

News Briefs

Baccalaureate service set Sunday

The baccalaureate service sermon will be delivered Sunday night by Dr. Derrell Monday, pastor of First Baptist Church.

The service is to commence at 6 p.m. in the high school auditorium for the 1992 graduating class of Iowa Park High School.

Invocation will be given by Rev. Charles Hensley, pastor of the Assembly of God Church. Scripture is to be read by Rev. Patrick Burke of Christ the King Catholic Church. Benediction will be given by Rev. Ole Olds, pastor of Lakeview Church of God.

Special music will be provided by the high school choir, under direction of Matthew Haddock, who also will play the processional and recessional.

Graduation ceremonies are to be held at 8 p.m. Friday, May 29, in Hawk Stadium.

Memorial Day service scheduled

A Memorial Day service will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the pavilion at Highland Cemetery.

Dwight Parker, pastor of Iowa Park

Church of Christ, will be the speaker. Highland Cemetery Association is sponsoring the event.

Pet vaccination clinic is Saturday

The annual small animal vaccination clinic sponsored by the Vocational Agriculture Dept. at Iowa Park High School will be held Saturday.

Shots will be administered from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m., in the Vo-Ag Building on the east side of the campus. Entrance to the area is off Johnson Road. All pets should be restrained by leashes. Students will be available to assist owners.

Types of vaccinations, and prices, include: Rabies, $7; Parvo, $5; Distemper, $12; F.E.R.C.T., $7, and Leukemia, $12.

Rains raise May level to 1.52 inches

Everyone except those farmers who were either starting or ready to start harvesting wheat is expressing appreciation for the recent rains.

Since the storm that hit the area the evening of May 10, Iowa Park has received .86, according to Virgil Woodfin's measurement Wednesday morning.

It was beginning to rain again as the measurement was taken.

For the month of May, Woodfin reports he has measured 1.52.

Student loses finger in mishap

An Iowa Park High School senior lost a finger in an unusual mishap during sixth period physical education class Monday, according to school officials.

J'Frank Springer reportedly jerked the middle finger on his right hand off on a basketball goal in the gymnasium. He was rushed to a Wichita Falls hospital, accompanied by the detached finger, but the attending physical determined it could not be re-attached.

The student is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Springer.

Rose growing is program

Iowa Park Garden Club members met Friday morning in the home of Frances George. A program on "How to Grow Roses," was given by Vickie Gilmore.

Kay Cole read the thought for the day entitled, "Flowers Leave Their Fragrance on the Hand That Bestows Them," by Helen Steiner Rice.

Roll call was answered with the name of a favorite bulb by the 16 members attending.

Mrs. George, Community Service Chairman, reported that the flower bed around the rock at Kidwell Elementary School had been cleaned out and planted with periwinkles.

Denise Gilmore, vice president, informed members that the final meeting before the club breaks for summer will be May 22 at the Woman's Forum in Wichita Falls.

Vickie Gilmore presented a video that gave tips on how to perform simple maintenance tasks that protect rose bushes and keep them productive.

Members also learned how to prevent pest problems before they occur, and how to create a beautiful long lasting flower arrangement with cut roses.

Hostesses for the meeting were Louise Watson and Amy Conley. They served refreshments from a beautifully appointed table decorated in a spring motif.

Card of Thanks

I would like to say thank you to all the friends, neighbors, fellow workers and medical personnel for the flowers, calls, visits, prayers and all the acts of love and kindness shown to me during my recent hospital stay and illness at home now. It has meant so much to me and my family. May God bless each of you.

Mrs. Danny Haynes

Nancy (Mrs. Danny) Haynes has been cooking since she was a small girl.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Daume, she grew up at Holliday and is a graduate of Holliday High School. While her mother worked with her dad in the fields, Nancy helped by cooking, doing the laundry and housecleaning and caring for a younger sister.

Because she can choose the hours, and the pay is good, Nancy now cleans houses for other people, and has many regular customers.

Nancy moved to Iowa Park after she married Danny who is employed by D.J.'s Auto Sales. They have three daughters, Jennifer, 20, Christie, 19, and Shelia, a 16-year-old sophomore at Iowa Park High School. Jennifer works at Wal-Mart in Wichita Falls and is the mother of Nancy's 10-month-old granddaughter, and Christie is a beauty operator.

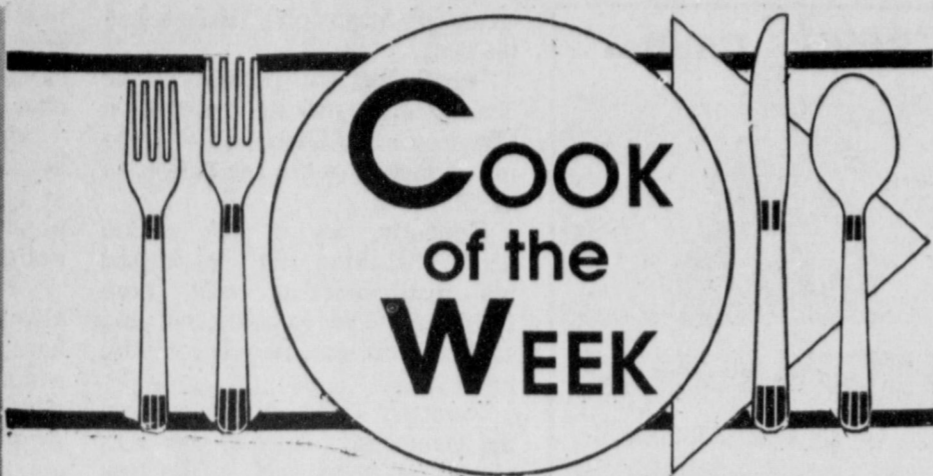

The Haynes are members of the Iowa Park FFA Booster Club and are kept busy with the group's many projects. Nancy said she also likes to babysit her granddaughter and play dominos and cook out with friends. They are members of the First Baptist Church.

Nancy said that her mother-in-law, Wilma Haynes, has had a large influence on her cooking, and she helps her cook when they have family get-togethers. Although Nancy prefers to cook sweets, one of her favorite recipes is for enchiladas, given to her by Susie Martin. She said this dish is very popular when feeding a crowd, and the recipe can be cut down to feed smaller groups.

Grandma's Oatmeal Cookies

- 3/4 cup vegetable shortening
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 3 cups oats - uncooked
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. soda

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Beat together shortening, sugars, egg, water and vanilla until creamy. Add combined remaining ingredients and mix well. Drop by rounded teaspoons full onto greased cookie sheet. Bake 12-15 minutes. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

Susie's Enchiladas

- 2 1/2 lbs. lean ground beef
- 1 - 1 1/2 lbs. Cheddar cheese, grated
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 pkg. taco seasoning

Brown and drain meat well; add taco seasoning.

- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 can milk
- 1 can Rotel tomatoes and green chilies
- 2 lbs. Velveeta cheese
- 1 carton sour cream
- Corn or flour tortillas

Dip tortillas in oil and stack about 6 high. Heat until softened in microwave. Mix soup, milk, Rotel tomatoes, Velveeta and cook until melted.

Make enchiladas by filling tortillas with Cheddar cheese, onion and meat. Pour cheese sauce over them and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes 70-80 tortillas.

NOTE: The recipe can be cut in half or thirds, and it freezes well.

Jello Salad

- 4-5 potatoes, quartered
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 4 stalks celery, chopped
- 1 can cream of mushroom soup
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 can Cheddar cheese soup

Brown ground meat and drain. Layer potatoes, onion, celery on top of meat. Mix the soups together and pour over the vegetables. Season with salt and pepper. Cover and bake at 350 degrees until potatoes are tender.

Class of 1982 plans reunion

A reunion of the Iowa Park High School graduating class of 1982 is scheduled June 19-20.

Those class members who have not yet been contacted should call Dana Hicks Ross, 592-5048, or Debbie Wright Brixey, 438-2269.

FFA team competes in national contest

The land judging team, composed of Future Farmers of America at Iowa Park High School, recently competed in the national contest at Guthrie, Okla.

Members of the team are Lance Shortt, Joey Shephard and Mark Phillips.

Top land judging teams from more than 33 states across the nation competed by evaluating land characteristics like topsoil, subsoil, slope and plant life.

A team from North Carolina won top honors, while the high individual was from Tahina, Okla.

Iowa Park 4-H Club

Iowa Park 4-H Club met last week at the ASCS office. The meeting was called to order by President Jennifer Panter. Roll call was answered with the member's plans for the summer. New member Ricky Spruiell was introduced. Dee Decker, club manager, gave a report on the latest fundraiser concession stand and discussion was held about an end of the year party.

The program was presented by Beverly Williamson. She talked about the "Nature Center" proposed to be built in Lucy Park.

After the program, an election of officers was held. Those elected to serve next year are: Lori Kyle, president; Shelley Panter, first vice president; Julie James, second vice president; Jennifer Spruiell, secretary; Steven Raby, treasurer, and Jennifer Panter, reporter. Ky Hunter was named Council Delegate with Ricky Spruiell chosen as alternate.

Lychelle Monday chosen outstanding student

Lychelle Monday, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Derrell Monday, has been chosen Outstanding Senior of Iowa Park High School for 1992 by the members of 23 Study Club.

She was presented a valuable dictionary Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Erwin Soell and Mrs. Howard Marlar, the youth awards committee of the club.

Recognizing outstanding seniors has been a project of the club since 1963. For many years recipients were honored at luncheons and presented engraved plaques.

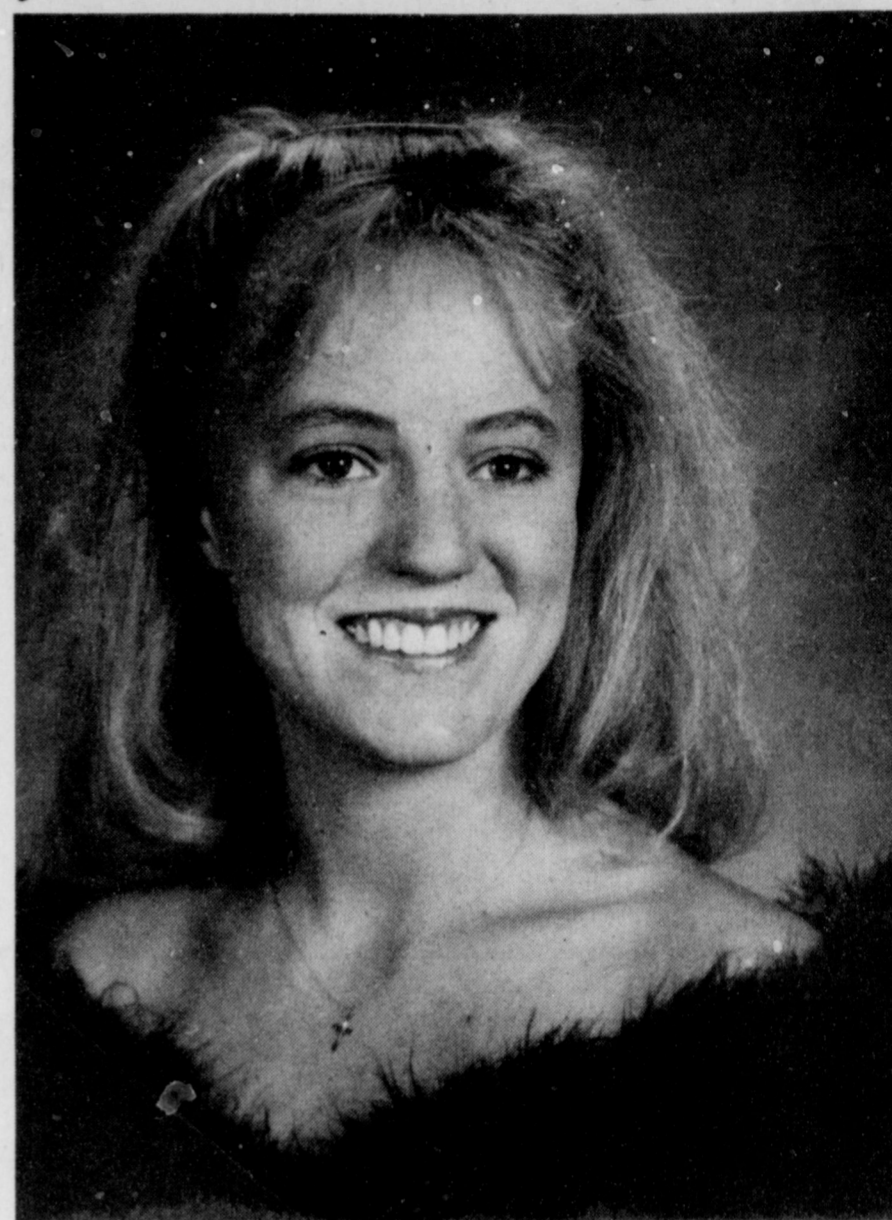

Lychelle has been a Double A Honor Roll student throughout her high school years and is graduating this year with salutatory honors.

She has been a two-year member of National Honor Society, having served as president this year. She is a member of the Student Council, co-captain of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and a member of the graduation and prom committee.

A member of First Baptist Church, Lychelle serves as president of the Youth Council, is a church soloist, and has worked with Vacation Bible School. She has worked at Hughes Pharmacy two years.

Lychelle was recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen Award this year. Other honors include Who's Who Among American High School Students four years; All-American Scholar two years; United States National Mathematics Award; Optimist Club's Outstanding Youth; Rotary Club's Student of the Month; Red River Optimist Club's "Young Texanna", and Outstanding English I, II, III, Geometry, Algebra and Spanish Awards.

She plans to enter Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene in the fall with math as her major.

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

We had a period of "old home visitation" Saturday afternoon during the state track meet in Austin.

In a very brief span of time, Earnie Reusch, my long-time state meet companion, and I met with former assistant coach Dean Kirkpatrick.

It was by the shot putt arena. As we were talking, I glanced over to one side and saw a familiar profile. But the color of the cap made me question its wearer. So I walked to the other side for a different view.

Sure enough, it was former high school principal Bob Dawson. My confusion was: he had on a black cap, and you know his thoughts concerning black being used as school colors!

As we were shaking hands, he tapped his son, Robert, on the shoulder, and he joined in the conversation. He introduced his son, Philip.

It was Philip's school-color cap Bob was wearing.

That new conversation was only a couple of minutes old, when about 30 yards away, I spotted another familiar face. It was former Iowa Park coach Bill Carter.

Well, that one did it. Carter, who guided the Hawks to the state track championship in 1960 and second place the following year, was Robert's coach. Bob, at the time, was a classroom teacher.

Coach Carter, now living in retirement in southern Oklahoma, has been in Iowa Park only a couple of times the past 22 years. One was for a reunion and the other for a funeral.

We keep hearing comments about what a small world this is.

You get the full appreciation of the saying, when you are in the University of Texas Memorial Stadium, along with thousands of people, and have a gathering of "Hawk folks," none of whom were looking for the others.

As usual, the state track meet was outstanding.

What was unusual about it was, this is the first time in my 33 years it has rained more than one day of the meet.

Yep, it rained both Friday and Saturday.

Worth Quoting

There's been a lot of talk lately about Ross Perot and his possible (probable) race for President.

I've heard Ross Perot speak a half-dozen times, and my wife sat next to him during a luncheon in Dallas a couple of years ago, and we both think he's a pretty neat guy.

But I'm not ready to go to Sherry Parker's office and cast an "early vote" just yet because I haven't decided whether he would be a good president or not.

One thing important to remember is that Ross Perot is a big businessman -- and big business does things a lot differently than most of us are accustomed to doing. They play hard ball and let absolutely nothing stand in their way when they want something done.

Witness the tax-abatement debate several years ago in the Northwest school district. I wrote a column saying it was a bad idea, as did a reporter from The Keller Citizen. Reaction was not long coming.

A Wise County realtor, with close ties to the Perot group, quickly arranged for a meeting with then Messenger editor Phil Major and Ross Perot Jr. That meeting was followed by a 14-page fax entitled "The Truth" slashing away at my arguments against tax abatements.

Eventually, of course, The Perot Group won its battle with the Northwest school board, but not before some hard-nosed trustees carved out a pretty good deal for the school district.

There was nothing unethical about how Perot handled this situation -- it was just a little different than the way we do things around here when there is a dispute over some issue.

In addition to The Perot Group, I've had personal business experience dealing with two other large companies -- Hallmark and General Motors. And I'm here to tell you they know all the rules and how to apply them to their best advantage -- to your disadvantage when it's to their advantage.

Ross Perot plays hard ball, and perhaps that's what America needs right now.

But, many of Perot's fellow big businessmen aren't too excited about his candidacy. The Business Council, an exclusive all-male club of 200 of the nation's top business leaders, met last week in Virginia and asked what they would do if Perot won the election and asked them to serve in his cabinet.

"It would be refreshing to hear Ross ask for some advice," said the head of AT&T.

Another, the head of Southern California Edison, said he would tell Perot to "resign, if you want to help the country."

Businessmen say they just don't think Perot knows how to compromise -- an important skill for a President of the United States.

Joseph Walker, a bishop in The Church of Jesus Christ of latter-Day Saints, wrote a column recently in the Fort Worth Business Press entitled "Real leaders don't resign, they serve."

"What I care about is leadership -- real leadership, the kind that comes from within the individual and not just from a title of some office door," Walker wrote.

"As I study various campaigns, I find myself less impressed with rhetoric, and more concerned about values. I don't want someone to vote for; I want someone to believe in. I don't want to put someone in office; I want to put someone out front. And I want to be willing and anxious to follow."

Continuing, Walker said "I'm looking for leaders who have the skills they need for the job. Indeed, I want leaders who are gifted -- the best and the brightest, if you will. You'd think that would almost go without saying. I mean, you wouldn't elect a dog catcher who hated animals, would you? But we've entrusted our troubled national economy to a bunch of people who seem to have a hard time balancing their own check-books.

"I'm looking for leaders who understand that they are there to serve, not to reign. Their first thought is for their constituents and doing what is best for them. For some of them, unfortunately, personal gain and comfort have become a priority, which has made them less a leader and more of an aristocrat. Real leadership requires no special privilege beyond the privilege of leadership.

"I'm looking for leaders who build their service on a foundation of honesty -- honest effort, honest answers and honest decisions. Nobody expects that every decision they make will please us. But we do expect that each decision will be honorably determined and legally implemented -- no more and no less."

I'm going to try to keep Walker's ideas in mind over the next six months as I sharpen my number two pencil for the November general election.

I hope you will also.

The dreaded April 15 deadline has passed and if you were one of the many Americans left staggered by the 1991 tax bite, you were not alone. The amount of taxes paid compared to the amount of income earned has steadily increased during the late 1980s and early 1990s.

Many feel that the increasing tax burden has fallen hardest on the middle class, with the rise in Social Security taxes leading the shift to the middle class.

Actually, the total tax increase has been unfair to everyone in the fact that they were continually rising. Total taxes nationwide were 35.1 percent of national income in 1991, the largest portion of the economy to be taken by the government in U.S. history.

In recent years, the lower income Americans are saddled with a larger portion of their income being taken by excise and sales taxes and a new, higher income tax rate has hit the top two percent of taxpayers.

Accelerating federal taxes have combined with inflation to make a typical American family $362 poorer in 1991 than in 1990. This $362 loss in real income comes on the heels of a loss in purchasing power in two of the three prior years, for a total loss of $695 since 1998. The family made its biggest gains in the mid-1980s when real income rose an average of $768 per year between 1982 and 1987.

Despite all the clamoring of helping the middle class through tax breaks, the federal budget's bottom line for the typical American family is that the tax burden will be higher than ever -- $16,608 in federal taxes alone. That's more than 30 cents out of every dollar earned -- and that doesn't count state or local taxes.

This year consumers will pay federal excise taxes of $25 billion for gasoline, $9 billion for alcoholic beverages and $6 billion for cigarettes.

In order to pay this staggering tax bill, the Tax Foundation estimates that in 1991, 2 hours and 49 minutes of the average American worker's 8-hour day went to pay federal, state and local taxes. The remaining 5 hours and 11 minutes paid for food, clothing, health and medical care, transportation and other essentials.

Voters should be aware of politicians offering middle class tax relief that plays the rich against the middle class. For example, a proposal that would impose a higher tax rate on just the top 10 percent of taxpayers -- the group that is already paying 54 percent of our personal income tax -- would hit couples with an adjusted gross income of $61,780, an income level that hardly qualifies for the "fat-cat" status.

We don't need to shift taxes from one class to the other. We need to shift taxes out of government coffers and back into the American pocketbook. The only way to ease the average American's tax burden is to stop tax growth from outrunning income growth. And the only way to do that is to stop runaway spending at all levels of government.

Whoa! Or should I say WOW? Could you believe the margin by which Randall voters turned down the bond issue for a race track?

It was pretty apparent that being against the bond issue in Canyon was like "preaching to the choir." But I was worried about the vote in Amarillo, where the "winds of thought" aren't always of the same variety as those that blow through Canyon.

It's gratifying to know that the concept of county voters guaranteeing the loan for a race track was voted down. But I also get more than a little ticked that we were put through this issue in the first place. It should have been obvious that -- by any stretch of the imagination -- it is not the place of county government to guarantee loans for race tracks, or any other risky business.

It took the county a $10,000 election and the loss of some credibility to realize just how bad an idea that one was.

One obvious observation from the process was noticed by anyone who looked at the Amarillo Globe News race track opinion poll published Friday.

According to the Globe's phone-in poll, the $10 million bond issue was favored three to one - For 1,267 and Against 439.

How ironic that the track was actually defeated three to one. One would deduct from that example that the Globe's opinion "surveys" aren't worth the paper they're printed on. And certainly less reliable even than the horoscope column.

Or maybe that's not a "statistically valid" deduction.

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN -- Gov. Ann Richards personally led a midnight inspection on a non-compliance nursing home and former Gov. John Connally said he would probably support Ross Perot's Independent presidential bid.

Meanwhile, the new franchise tax, which Comptroller John Sharp admitted was an income tax on business, took effect on some 270,000 Texas businesses.

"Some call it earned surplus, some call it income," Sharp said, becoming the first Democrat official to admit that Texas, for the first time in history, has an income tax.

Workers' Comp Solvent

Good news for business: The workers' compensation insurance pool is in the black, enjoying only its second surplus in 39 years.

Business lobbyists were elated, and one said the clincher will come when the "Garcia case is decided favorably."

That case, now pending before the 4th Court of Appeals in San Antonio, was filed by organized labor and challenges the constitutionality of the 1989 workers' compensation reform law.

The Perot Challenge

Connally's surprise announcement shocked his friends in President George Bush's camp; earlier, Perot and supporters marched to the State Capitol to hand over 270,000 petition signatures to Secretary of State John Hannah and his staff.

Perot's feat will put him on the Texas ballot, making three down (Tennessee and Utah) and 47 to go in his race to make the ballots in all 50 states.

Connally, saying the nation needs "shaking up" expressed his disillusionment with both Democrats and Republicans, and said he was watching Perot with interest.

Connally, who switched from the Democratic Party to the GOP almost 20 years ago, is the first major public figure to give Perot a boost.

How President Is Elected

Speculation that Perot could throw the presidential election into the U.S. House of Representatives has even informed voters confused.

The system works like this: the candidate who wins the popular vote in a state gets all that state's electoral votes, equal to the total number of congressional and senatorial seats.

The candidate winning the majority of Electoral College votes becomes president; if no majority is won, the election is given to the House of Representatives to decide.

There, each state gets one vote, cast by each state's delegation; the winner is the first to get 26 votes, no matter how many ballots it takes.

The looming irony for Perot, and Bush as well, is that both are calling for Americans to clean out Congress, but may well find themselves beseeching that Congress to put them in the White House.

Democrat Bill Clinton could finish third, but win in the Democrat-majority House, or, in an even more bizarre twist, fellow Democrats might vote for an elder statesman, such as U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen.

Justice Won't Probe Mauro

The U.S. Justice Department said it won't pursue a criminal investigation of Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, a Democrat, for using his state office to campaign for presidential candidate Clinton.

Mauro's internal audit, spurred by media reports, found several of his employees used state telephones to make more than 1,400 political calls.

Attorney General Dan Morales, also a Democrat, said he does not have the jurisdiction to investigate Mauro and that the authority rests with Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle and his public integrity unit.

Earle, a Democrat, is looking into it, his office said.

Soon after the story broke, criminal complaints were filed against Mauro by the Texas Republican Party with Justice and Earle.

Cheap Shot: Guerrero

Lena Guerrero, Texas Railroad Commission chairman, said rumors her agency was conspiring with Texas gas producers to regulate natural gas production and drive up prices were "nonsense."

The commission recently set new rules, which she said will keep producers from draining adjacent gas fields owned by those who don't wish to sell while prices are low.

Guerrero, a Richards appointee who has come under fire for taking large political contributions from the industry she regulates, said talk of creating a "Bubba cartel" was a cheap shot.

Other Highlights

■ Morales said last week that counties can use tents and temporary shelters to relieve crowded jails, clearing the way for the Texas Commission on Jail Standards to set new rules.

■ "I am sort of emotionally undone. I kept thinking about my own parents, and people ought to be able to end their lives better than this," said Gov. Richards, after a midnight inspection of the Montrose Care Center in Houston. She was appalled to see feces smeared in bathrooms and a stench so pervasive it stung the eyes.

Chamber changes budget plan

President Gene Jordan appointed members of the budget committee, during Monday's regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

Members appointed include Larry Dutton, Cathy Riggins and Joe Hughes.

Jordan criticized the format followed by the Chamber in the past, of waiting until spring before adopting an annual budget.

He pointed out the organization's annual year begins Jan. 1, and said a budget should be decided and in place at that time.

Directors, after agreeing with the president's point, approved a plan to have the committee's preliminary budget hearing ready in October, and act on it within two months after presentation.

Other topics discussed Monday included landscaping of the corner by the Chamber office, the June 5 golf tournament, naming of a committee in June to plan the Whoop-T-Do, and the annual Crazy Day Sale in August.

Now that we have been pronounced dead by the Geraldo type "reporters" from Channel 6 in Wichita Falls, please don't rush in to unplug the life support systems yet. These fool-hardy types from Channel 6 exulted on the six o'clock newscasts Wednesday that the closing of the Haggard plant was the "final nail in the coffin of a dying town." How utterly stupid and irresponsible, and this includes most of the media types in Wichita Falls. Granted this is a blow that we all have expected since 1985. We have been expecting this after watching the trends develop... that is plants moving to Third World countries and those other countries whose pay scales are similar to those in the U.S. back in the late thirties and forties. For example, Nike moved out of Taiwan to Bangladesh because the pay scale there is $1 a day.

This is gonna be a tough fight, but, we can win. The leadership of the city and chamber, along with our help can pull Bowie back from this setback. One thing is for certain, if we sit around and whine about it with apathy draped around us, we will make the "Geraldos" of Channel 6 correct in their premature predictions of our death. Buying in Bowie and pulling together we can send them scurrying back to Wichita Falls with their tails dragging.

Two of the thefts reported involved gasoline, both filed Tuesday.

One was a pickup owner in the 1100 block of South Texowa, who said approximately 40 gallons had been siphoned from his vehicle's tank.

The second was by a school official, who said about $20 worth of gasoline had been taken from Drivers Education vehicles parked at the school maintenance barn on Johnson Road.

The only arrest reported during the week was filed on the police blotter Tuesday.

Officers took Daniel Carranzas, 32, into custody on a charge of violation of a protective order. He was taken before Justice of the Peace Bill Robinson, where a $500 bond was set, and transported to the county jail.

The police radio dispatcher received an Emergency 9-1-1 call at 10:50 a.m. Wednesday, from a woman in the 200 block of James Drive.

The woman, four months pregnant, was experiencing contractions and her water had broken.

Emergency personnel were dispatched at the same time a Lifeline Ambulance was sent enroute. She was transported to a Wichita Falls hospital.

McIlroy, Galloway nuptials read in Saturday afternoon ceremony

The solemn recitation of wedding vows by Miss Angelia Gail McIlroy and Joel Fisher Galloway Saturday afternoon at First Baptist Church was witnessed by a host of relatives and friends.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Sammy D. McIlroy and Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Galloway.

The church foyer gave guests the first glimpse of meticulous decorations and appointments having harmonious connections with the wedding, typical of those throughout the church.

Mrs. Amy Brewer presided at the bride's book that was placed at one extremity of a long table that was draped to the floor with exquisite white lace.

The table was centered with a silver tray encircled with strings of pearls and held a bouquet of peach silk hollyhocks, roses and baby's breath arranged in a crystal basket that held special sentiment for the bride. It was given to Mrs. Claude Cantrell, the bride's grandmother, as a wedding gift. Wedding scrolls of the bridal couple and a white plume pen completed the table decor.

In the sanctuary, pews were decorated with fan-shaped bouquets of peach silk rosebuds, baby's breath and long peach and white silk streamers. Bouquets on the family pews were enhanced with sprays of pearls in the bouquets.

The double ring ceremony was performed in a decorative setting illuminated by cathedral candles burning in two 15-branched candelabra and two seven-branched candelabra accented with variegated English ivy.

Other altar decorations were tall white Grecian posts holding pots of Boston and maiden hair fern. Adding to the setting were kneeling benches where the couple knelt for prayer, and the unity candle in the lower altar which the bride and groom lighted to seal their vows.

Dr. Derrell Monday, church pastor, and Rev. Patrick Burke, pastor of Christ the King Catholic Church, were the officiants for the exchange of vows and the exchange and blessings of the rings.

As the bride and groom were leaving the altar space after they had been introduced as Mr. and Mrs. Joel Galloway, they paused for the groom to present a peach rose to her mother and for the bride to present one to his mother.

The musical program was introduced by Mrs. Glenna Via, organist, and Mrs. Nancy Gholson, pianist. Numbers included "Through the Eyes of Love", "Be My Love" and "Love Story".

During the seating of the mothers, the organist played "Ave Maria", and while the candles were being lighted, Ed Hefti, soprano soloist, sang "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring", with piano accompaniment.

"Trumpet Voluntary" was played by the organist as members of the wedding party took their places in the nuptial area, then swelled to the strains of Wagner's Processional for the bride and her father to walk the aisle to the altar. After he presented her for marriage for both parents, Scott McIlroy and Miss Alicia Forsyth presented a vocal duet, "There Is Love". They were accompanied by the pianist.

While the bride and groom were lighting the unity candle, Mrs. Tanya Daume sang "One Friend", accompanied by Larry Thompson on the classical guitar.

To conclude the musical program, Mrs. Meri Guyette sang "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied by Mrs. Gholson, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the recessional played by Mrs. Via.

The bride wore an exquisite designer gown of white satin lavishly embellished with Alencon lace, English net, teardrop pearls, round pearls and sequins.

It was fashioned with a Victorian neckline and a lace covered net yoke in front that extended around the shoulders and dipped to a point at the waistline in the back. The rich ornamentation on the gown was repeated at the shoulders and points of the long sleeves that extended over the bride's hands to accentuate the elegance of the gown.

The gown's straight floor length skirt was bordered with lace, pearls and sequins at the hemline. Her full elaborately trimmed train was attached to a wide bustle bow and fell into cascading tiers at the sides and extended to chapel length.

Complementing the bride's gown was her headpiece that featured a pearl headband that dipped in the center front from a spray of pearls. Large puffs of silk tulle held her jeweled tulle veil that fell softly in a ruffle effect the length of the train. She carried a small cascade bouquet of fresh peach roses, baby's breath, tree leaf fern and English ivy.

To observe the bridal traditions, the bride carried the same white Bible that her mother had carried on her wedding day. The Bible was given to the bride's mother when she was a young girl, by her paternal grandmother. It was covered with white satin and lace from the bride's mother's wedding dress and was used for "something old".

Other sentimental accessories were earrings belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Cantrell, for "something old"; "something blue" was her garter, and her wedding gown served as "something new". The bride placed in her shoe a sixpence coined in England and dated 1949 to fulfill the ancient nuptial rhyme.

Miss Marci Frohock served as maid of honor for the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bobbi Stallings,

Mrs. Joel Fisher Galloway
(Miss Angelia Gail McIlroy)

Mrs. Hope Hopkins and Miss Pamela Hayslip. They wore identical formal length navy blue iridescent taffeta dresses designed with sweetheart necklines and peplum overskirts. A trio of self material roses marked the waistlines.

The attendants wore matching shoes, and pearl drop earrings and necklaces that were gifts from the bride. Each carried a bouquet created with peach and cream roses, baby's breath, and pearl and ribbon streamers.

Miss Audrey Cantrell and Miss Brooks Cantrell, cousins of the bride, took part in the wedding as flower girls. They were attired in long peach taffeta dresses styled with sweetheart necklines and three back ruffles.

They wore white shoes and gloves, pearl necklaces and bracelets and dainty halo headpieces of peach rosebuds and white baby's breath. They carried fresh peach rose petals in white satin faille baskets with rattach cording handles trimmed with white rosebuds and pearls.

Robert Baurner and Sean Lucy, nephews of the groom, carried the wedding rings on white satin pillows with delicate trim of rosebuds and pearls. They wore tuxedos to match the attire of masculine members of the wedding party.

Ushers and candlelighters were Don McIlroy and Joel McIlroy, brothers of the bride.

The groom wore a black Parisian tuxedo with tails, white shirt and vest and bow tie. His boutonniere was a fresh peach rose and baby's breath.

Attending the groom were Berry Kaiser as best man, Stanton Coker, Glen Hopkins and James McIlroy. All male participants and father of the bride wore black tuxedos with regular length coats, white shirts, black cummerbunds and ties. The groom's father wore a black suit and each of them wore a peach silk rose boutonniere.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McIlroy chose a peach brocade faille street length suit. The bodice was overlaid with lace and accented with pearl buttons down the front and on the sleeves, and was bordered with pearl teardrops. She wore matching shoes.

The groom's mother wore a navy blue tailored linen suit and navy blue shoes. Both wore corsages of peach silk roses and baby's breath made by the bride.

The wedding reception was hosted by the bride's parents in Fellowship Hall of the church where the decorations and appointments emphasizing the bride's chosen colors of peach and navy were combined with white and silver to create a beautiful setting.

In the hallway leading to the reception area, a large framed picture of the bride in her wedding attire was displayed on a table which held a crocheted bride doll, the handiwork of the bride's maternal grandmother. Helium balloons marked "Just Married" were arranged for guests to release into the air when the newlyweds left on their wedding trip.

Pure white in the lace cloths that covered the tables underscored the classic simplicity in the reception area.

The beauty of the bride's table, draped with lace over white taffeta, was accented by distinguishing appointments.

In the center of a long table was the bride's cake, a four-tiered white delicacy that featured two sets of sugar posts accented with a cascade of flowers, drop garlands and fancy borders.

The tiers were adorned with cascades of peach roses, petunias, agapanthus, forget-me-nots and stephanotis. The same floral decorations were used in the top piece.

One table extremity held the silver punch bowl and the other featured the bridal bouquet, lace covered Bible, and the bride and groom figurines that topped her parent's wedding cake. Forming the background for the table was a white trellis decorated with trailing ivy.

Table attendants were Mrs. Mary McIlroy, Mrs. Melba McIlroy, and Mrs. Linda McIlroy, aunts of the bride. The newlyweds used the glasses her parents had used at their wedding to toast one another.

The groom's table was laid with navy blue iridescent taffeta and skirted with white lace. It was centered with a chocolate cake in the shape of a grand piano, and marked with a large "G".

Also on the groom's table was a silver coffee service, navy blue napkins engraved with "One Love Shared By Two" and names of the bride and groom and their wedding date. A trellis back of the table was entwined with grape vines. Mrs. Mary Thompson and Mrs. JoeAnn Lucy, sisters of the groom, served at his table.

The long food table was laden with silver and crystal appointments and a variety of hors d'oeuvres. Mrs. Covie McIlroy was the table attendant.

Hostesses were Mmes. Wanda Singer, Beverly Yeakley, Patti Hughes, Deanna Swanson and Cheryl York.

The chapel adjoining the hall was decorated and open for view. The platform area featured a swan theme in decorations which displayed a large spagham moss bird filled with pampas grass and several ceramic swans filled with flowers and plants.

Other points of interest in the room were picture displays that consisted of selected collections of photographs of the bride and groom from infancy through highschool graduation, and a small round table covered with a cloth crocheted in pineapple design by the bride's paternal grandmother.

During the reception, rice roses filled with bird seed were distributed to guests, and a water fountain on the outside of the church held extra seeds to shower the newlyweds when they left the church. They left in their wedding clothes in a 1928 Model T Ford chauffeured by Gen McIlroy, uncle of the bride.

Special wedding guests were grandparents of the bride and groom, Mrs. Margaret Fisher of Muenster, Mrs. Claude Cantrell of Mesquite and Mr. and Mrs. Claud McIlroy of Electra.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner on the eve of the wedding.

The bride and groom are graduates of Iowa Park High School. She received a degree in accounting from Midwestern State University last fall.

Galloway is a senior at the University of Texas at Denton where he is majoring in advertising art. Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will live at Denton.

TAKE DRUGS AND TURN A PARTY FOR SIX INTO A TABLE FOR ONE.

Alcohol is the most abused drug among teenagers today. Reports indicate nearly 100,000 ten and eleven year-olds get drunk at least once a week. It is currently estimated that 4.6 million adolescents age 14 to 17 either have a serious drinking problem now or will in the future.

The numbers are staggering. To some people the numbers don't matter until their own number is up. Some teenagers are paying attention to the statistics. But the facts remain: Licensed drivers age 16 to 24 account for 42% of all fatal automobile accidents involving alcohol.

Obviously, it's smarter - and healthier - to say NO to drugs.

HERE'S WHY WE RECOMMEND A PRE-NEED FUNERAL PLAN FOR EVERYONE - RICH OR POOR.

If you're wealthy enough to be concerned about inheritance and estate taxes, you'll see that our pre-need funeral plan is just good business. The benefits of this plan do not become part of your estate, and your family will receive them tax free.

But, if just being able to meet each month's bills is a bigger concern for you, it makes even more sense for your family to be protected by our pre-need funeral plan. You can't afford to be without it, so we've made it especially easy for you to own it.

We've outlined only a few of the plans' most important benefits in the list below. For your family's sake, whether you're rich or poor or in between, we hope you'll consider them carefully - then contact us for the additional information you need to make a cool, calm and unemotional decision.

It's a decision you'll never regret, because this plan solves in advance many of the major emotional and financial problems that all families must one day face with absolute certainty.

By selecting in advance the funeral service you'd prefer, and by paying for it in advance a few dollars each month, you will have done your family a great service. We know, because we've watched far too many families suffer through the agonizing decisions when they were overcome with grief.

At Dutton Funeral Home you can spare your family these problems with our preneed funeral plan. And you'll never find a better day to do it. Call or come by our office while this important matter is fresh on your mind.

*The plan is inflation-proof. The cost of the funeral service you select is frozen at today's cost - regardless of length of time before the service is required.

*The plan becomes paid in full. You do not pay endlessly, the way you do with most insurance.

*You are eligible - Regardless of age or physical condition.

*You never lose the money you pay in - even if you are forced by circumstances to discontinue the payments. The money is held in trust for the day your family needs it.

*You get the big advantage of being able to transfer this plan to any member of your family - a feature insurance policies cannot give you.

*You can make a small down payment and take up to 60 months to pay - with no interest or carrying charges. Every dollar counts against the balance.

*The choice is yours. We'll conduct the service anywhere in the Iowa Park area (Burkburnett, Electra, Holliday, Kamay or Wichita Falls - up to a 50 miles radius of Iowa Park - at no additional charge) in any chapel, church, cemetery, or arrange for an out-of-area service.

Old Testament workshop Sunday

Dr. Toni Craven will conduct an Old Testament workshop Sunday beginning at 6 p.m. at First United Methodist Church.

Dr. Craven is professor of Hebrew Bible at Brite Divinity School, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth.

The seminar is intended to make the Old Testament "come alive" for youth and adults. It is jointly sponsored by the United Methodist Churches of Iowa Park, Burk Burnett, Electra, and Holliday/Dundee.

All churches are invited to send pastors and laity to this evening of fellowship and learning.

A nursery will be available. Topics for discussion include "Who Did God Make Us to Be": Gen. 1-2; and "Who Am I God?": Ecclesiastes.

Dr. Craven is known for teaching Old Testament in exciting, practical ways which can be applied to everyday life.

Dr. Craven has published extensively on the Hebrew Scriptures. She currently is working with Dr. Walter Harrelson on "Interpreting the Hebrew Bible" for Westminster Press.

EVERYONE IS AT RISK
The sports world was shocked a few months ago by the news that a star basketball player, "Magic" Johnson, was diagnosed as having the HIV virus which leads to AIDS. His multi-million dollar career has ended. The national networks interviewed the physician who discovered "Magic" had the HIV virus, the head of the NBA, and other basketball players. All individuals interviewed were sympathetic to "Magic's" plight. Certainly none would wish this dreaded disease upon anyone.
There was a statement made that day that was amazing. "Everyone is at risk." Several stated that we had previously thought that AIDS was a disease only homosexuals acquired. Almost all know that some have been given the disease through blood transfusions. There are also some unfortunate babies born with the disease because their mothers were infected with the HIV virus. Some have been infected with needles that were shared while shooting drugs, but the largest percentage of those infected with AIDS in the United States are homosexuals.
It is becoming increasingly aware that more and more heterosexuals are contracting the disease because they had many bed partners for sexual activity. This observation led many on television to make the sweeping generalization "everyone is at risk."
"Everyone is at risk" is simply not true. I know thousands of people who believe in the Bible's teaching concerning sexual relations between man and women and none are at risk. Why aren't these folks at risk? The reason is simple: God has always decreed that men and women should not have sexual relations before marriage and after marriage you only have sexual relations with your marriage partner.
The Bible's teachings are not believed by our society or most of the world. Note the illicit sexual activity in today's society. Multiple sex partners have spread AIDS, SYPHILIS, GONORRHEA, and other sexually transmitted diseases. The media is telling us we must educate our high school students about "safe sex." Many advocate free condoms should be given out.
It is interesting that the students who have spoken on network television said that many would not take the time to use condoms. One girl stated everyone is having sex in high school. Some statistics indicate at least 75% of high school students actually have sexual encounters.
Next week "EVERYONE IS AT RISK" part two.

Erin Elizabeth Borrego

Services for Erin Elizabeth Borrego, 3, were at 11 a.m. Saturday and a Christian wake was held at 7 p.m. Friday at Christ the King Catholic Church.

Rev. Patrick Burke, pastor, and Rev. Ivor D. Koch, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church of Wichita Falls, officiated. Burial was in Crestview Memorial Park under direction of Hampton-Vaughan Funeral Home.

The child died Wednesday at her home in Iowa Park.

She was born Sept. 5, 1988 in Wichita Falls and was a member of the Catholic church.

Survivors include her parents, John and Cynthia Borrego of Iowa Park; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Borrego, and Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Garcia of Wichita Falls.

Memorials may be made to Hospice of Wichita Falls.

Nannie White

Services for Nannie White, 91, of Electra, mother of Lonnie Shaw of Iowa Park, were Saturday at Totten-Day Funeral Home in Electra.

Rev. Pat Mahle, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiated. Burial was in Electra Memorial Park.

Mrs. White died Friday at her home in Electra.

She was born Feb. 1, 1901, in Shannon and had been a resident of Electra since 1920. Mrs. White and was a member of First United Methodist Church.

Others surviving are a son, Thurman Noe of Henderson; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Marvin M. Robinson

Services for Marvin Monroe Robinson, 88, father of Edna Ohm of Iowa Park, were at 10:30 a.m. Monday at Hart-Wyatt Funeral Home in Walters, Okla.

Rev. John Jacuk officiated and burial was in Walters Cemetery.

Robinson died Friday in Wichita Falls.

He was born in Indian Territory, now Bryan County, Aug. 2, 1903. He and Nell Fielding were married in 1938 in Grandfield, Okla.

Robinson farmed near Cookietown, Okla., until moving to Burkburnett in 1959. While there he worked for an oil-pipeline cleaning company.

Robinson retired in 1969 and had lived in Wichita Falls the last two years.

Other survivors are three daughters, Phyllis Tomah of Walters, Pat Wood of Pittsburg, Okla., and Linda Redden of Burkburnett; 14 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank everyone for all the prayers, cards, flowers and love shown us during the loss of our precious granddaughter and niece. May the Lord bless and keep you.

FmHA accepting applications

The county supervisor of Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) in Wilbarger County, Thomas Spencer, has announced the agency in Texas is now accepting applications through approved local lenders for rural housing loan guarantees.

The new program offers loan opportunities to families who by themselves are unable to afford a commercial loan, thereby extending the possibilities available to rural residents to obtain housing.

Guaranteed single-family housing loans may be made for up to 100 percent of the value of a property, for which FmHA guarantees 90 percent of the amount for the lender.

The program offers opportunities not only to low-income families with incomes of approximately $18,000 to $38,000, but also to moderate-income families with incomes of $23,000 to $47,000 who are unable to obtain credit elsewhere.

Areas eligible to receive FmHA funding include open country, communities with populations of 10,000 or less, and under certain conditions, towns and cities with populations between 10,000 and 20,000.

Applications for guaranteed rural housing loans should be submitted to local approved lenders of FmHA.

In Wichita County, Spencer may be reached at 303 N. Jackson here in Iowa Park, from 9:30 a.m. to 12-noon each Wednesday.

He also is available from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each Monday in Vernon, at 5015 College Drive, Room 5.

Lady Hawk fans are likely to remember Cooper's tall and talented Kristina Edwards, who helped knock Iowa Park out of the playoffs last year in bi-district. She has signed to play for Wayland Baptist's Flying Queens.

SS SS SS SS SS

Dist. 4-AAA baseball champion Graham is to play 3-AAA runner-up Brownfield. The Cubs surprised everyone in that area by making the playoffs, because they were 4-14 going into district play, and finished the regular season 8-16.

SS SS SS SS SS

Skip Hicks, Burk Burnett athlete who has competed against the Hawks in football and basketball the past two years, set a school record of 23-1/4 in the long jump at region, but only placed third. However, the jumper who had the second-best jump broke his leg on his final attempt, so Hicks got his ticket to this weekend's state track meet.

Hawks meet Denver City today in bi-district game

Iowa Park's Hawks will face the Denver City Mustangs at 7 this evening in Snyder for the bi-district title.

The Hawks are Dist. 4-AAA runners up, while the Mustang, 16-6, are champions of Dist. 3, where they finished conference play with four wins against two losses.

Snyder's Scurry County Park is in the southwest part of town, about two blocks south of the high school. Iowa Park played there in 1988.

Coach Daryl Frazier is hoping the third time is the charm for his club to advance beyond the first game of the playoffs.

The Hawks lost 12-9 to Seminole last year and 5-3 to Abilene Wylie the year before. They had to stay at home in 1989.

Iowa Park's regular season ended Friday, when the Hawks lost 5-4 to district champion Graham. It was a two-game sweep for the Steers over Iowa Park, just the reverse of last year.

The loss left the Hawks at 7-3 in district competition -- their only other defeat was to Bridgeport -- and a respectable 18-7 on the season.

After a 1-1 first inning, Iowa Park took a 4-1 lead in the third frame. The Steers narrowed the score to 3-4 in the fourth, and scored two more in the fifth. Iowa Park scored one run in the bottom of the fifth. And neither team was able to get a runner across home plate after that.

Pitcher Robert Denton was relieved in the fifth inning by Brent Brown. In all, Graham had eight hits, and Iowa Park seven. Both clubs were credited with two errors apiece.

Denton had the hottest bat for Iowa Park, with hits, including a double, in three official at-bats.

Patric Kennedy pounded a double in the first inning. But he was intentionally walked in his two following trips to the plate, and struck out once.

The other hits, all singles, were credited to Todd Pulley, Jason Miller and Tony Lozipone.

Palmer's grades recognized

An Iowa Parkan is among three Midwestern State Univ. athletes to have been selected to the Academic All-District 8 Team for the 1992 spring sports season.

Bruce Palmer, along with 42 other athletes, was named to the elite squad comprised of men and women from Austin College, Hardin-Simmons, Howard Payne, Lubbock Christian, McMurry, MSU, Sul Ross State, Tarleton State, the Univ. of Dallas and Wayland Baptist.

The Iowa Park graduate participated in the triple jump and 800 meter run for MSU's track team this spring. He has a perfect 4.0 grade point average in political science.

The other two MSU athletes named, Jeff Killian and Tonya Wright, are on the school's tennis team.

Those selected Academic All-District must have had at least a 3.25 grade point average on a 4.0 scale as of the last academic reporting period and made a significant contribution to the team.

Olmstead home

Olmstead has always enjoyed woodworking and the first thing he did after retirement was start looking for a storage house to turn into a woodworking shop.

Mary has always been a housewife. She used to sew a lot and for five years she did ceramics. She had a special interest in owls. There is a representation of her work throughout the house in ceramic owls, including an imposing owl lamp.

She also made ducks, rabbits, planters, and various objects to use during the different seasons and special holidays of the year.

In addition to the porcelain dolls and wooden block dolls, Mary also has a collection of Precious Moments dolls and Gerber Baby dolls. She has Cabbage Patch dolls, and grandma and grandpa dolls.

She has a small collection of thimbles. She doesn't like just any thimble, it has to have a special appeal for her before she adds one to her collection.

The Olmsteads and their sister and brother make many trips to Arkansas and Missouri together. Since they all have the same interests, it makes for very pleasurable traveling companions.

They like to go to the Eureka Springs area, and to Branson, Mo. They all enjoy country western music and like to go to shows in the two areas. But their real love in going to the two places is to go to the craft places and for the scenery.

Mary's brother doesn't do woodworking, but he likes to help his wife look for the things she wants or needs to execute her hobby.

Cecil and his sister get ideas they share and then add their own touch. "I like the challenge of working things out," Cecil said.

He might find something in Branson to start a woodworking project, and finish up with something he finds in Wichita County.

the bed and the dressed doll that reclines there are products of Cecil's sister's handwork.

Cecil has made an art out of the pieces of doll furniture he has constructed. It all is precision workmanship. "I have been asked many times for my pattern for a piece I've built. I don't know if they believe me or not, but I have to tell them I don't have a pattern. I just get an idea of my own, or see something at a craft show that gives me an idea and then add to it to make it mine," Cecil said. One of the headboards of a bed he made was originally a cutting board.

He does not sell any of his work. He says if he worked for money it would not be a hobby, and he would be committed to work more than he might want.

Most of his clocks are made of wood in a design that he has dreamed up in his mind. One of the most unique is a large clock in their den that is made from a slab of wood he got at a motel where they stayed on their first trip to Branson. It is highly polished and painted to look like a piece of rock. The pendulum swings in a knot hole that was in the wood.

He also has made some clocks to keep and some to give as gifts that are under a picture frame. One in particular he used pictures of their two sons and their children, placing their faces where the numerals are on a clock.

Another is made in the shape of a highly polished guitar, with the clock in the center. He doesn't have the strings on it yet. He has another clock that is an oxen-drawn covered wagon.

Olmstead especially likes to buy wood in Branson for his shop, because he can find so many different kinds.

They have some exotic woods, in addition to pine, oak, maple, cherry, redwood and others. He especially likes to work with white oak because he says it finishes out so well.

In addition to working for the gas company, Olmstead laid carpet as a side job. Also he was teaching a Sunday School class at the Church of Christ in Ardmore and Wilson was without a pulpit minister. The Wilson church asked him to fill in for two or three weeks. He was minister there four years while working full time at his regular job.

He has served as an elder for almost every congregation of which they have been members.

When their two boys were in school, one in particular was "very good at offering my services for anything anyone needed done," Mary said. "One time he offered my services by saying I would be glad to serve as PTA president. I declined, but I told them they might ask Cecil." Cecil, in his typical manner, agreed to help out.

The Olmsteads are members of Loop 11 Church of Christ where he has served as an elder.

Both Cecil and Mary love animals and children, especially babies, and usually have one or two who think they might be their grandparents.

They have two poodles, a black and a white one, in addition to what they say is a still a puppy, but looks like a full grown dog. It is three-quarters Siberian Husky and one-quarter collie.

Mary did volunteer work at the animal shelter until Cecil retired. They wanted to be free to leave any time for pleasure or when their family needed them.

They might decide at 12 midnight they want to go somewhere. If they do, they just get ready and leave.

One of their sons, David, lives in Midland and works for Enserth Corp. Exploration. The other one, Paul, lives in Euless and is supervisor of shipping and receiving at Home Interiors.

The Olmsteads also have six grandchildren. "I had to wait a generation," Mary said, "but finally I have some girls in the family." They have four granddaughters.
