VOL. 15. BAIRD, CALLAHAN COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, OCT. 9, 1902. NO. 45.

The above cut is an actual reproduction of the way T. E. Powell conducts his business. Business is always in the lead, a very close second is Honesty, third Up-to-date, and in the same group will be found New Goods, Low Prices Promptness and Courteous Salesman. For it is by Honest treatment, Up-To-Date business methods, a large line of New Goods, and Low Prices, together with Promptness and Courteous Salesmen that we have captured the immense Business in the past. Far in the rear comes competition, results is too plain to need comment. It makes little difference how large an up-to-date business man gets his business he always wants it larger. Far in front, like the Fox, business is leading him, for it makes no odds how well it is done it may be better. In the last three years our business has run over $350,000, and in this same strain we hope and believe we can exceed this amount this year. On hand to-day we have the largest line ever come to Baird, over $60,000 in New and Up-to-Date Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Millinery, Etc. We kindly ask that you inspect this immense stock and see if all the above statements are not true. Thanking you for past favors and soliciting a continuance of the same, we are yours to please,

T. E. POWELL, Baird, Texas.

THE BAIRD ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.,

Seems to have figured their schedule of rates down to a basis much cheaper than is being charged in other points over the state. When asked why this was done, the officers of the Light Co. informs that their aim is to meet the ability of the people, so far as possible, and hope to make up for the low rates by having a greater number of consumers on a permanent basis. The following comparative schedules are published.

Do You Want to Yawn?

Feel cold shiverings, aching in the bones, lack of energy, headache, and great depression? These symptoms may be followed by violent headache, high fever, extreme nervousness, a condition known as malaria. Herbine cures it. Take it before the disease gets a fair hold, though it will work a cure in any stage. J. A. Hopkins, Manchester, Kan., writes: "I have used your great medicine, Herbine, for several years. There is nothing better for malaria, chills and fever, headache, biliousness, and for a blood-purifying tonic, there is nothing as good." 50c at R. Phillips & Son.

When you wake up with a bad taste in your mouth, go at once to R. Phillips & Son's drug store, Baird Texas, or Y. A. Orr's drug store, Putnam Texas, and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. One or two doses will make you well. They also cure biliousness, sick headache and constipation.

MARRIED.

GANNON-TRIPLETT.

At the residence of the bride's grandparents, Judge and Mrs. J. V. Cockrell, Esq. Ensign Sinclair Gannon to Miss Dell Triplett.

On Thursday evening, September twenty-fifth, in the presence of a few loving friends and devoted relatives, these two young people were united in marriage.

At 9 o'clock, amid a hush of expectancy, the folding doors of the parlor were thrown back and the venerable grandfather of the bride advanced to the center of the room, accompanied by their beloved pastor, Rev. C. E. Brown.

Immediately following them came two fairy like little figures gracefully forming a half circle of white ribbon leading from the bower of roses, under which the ceremony was performed.

Following them came the beautiful little cousin of the bride, Jane Woodruff, bearing the wedding ring on a pillow of roses. She wore a gown of mousseline with medallions of white satin baby ribbon, as she gracefully advanced to her position, her childish features having an expression so sweetly earnest, would lead one to believe she realized the import of the lines:

"Oh you that have the charge of love—Keep him in rosy bondage bound, As in the fields of Bliss above—He sits with flow'rets fettered round."

With her came her brother Vardeman Woodruff, his noble face bright with good wishes.

Just preceding the bridal couple, came the maid of honor, Miss Edith Cockrell, with Mr. Phillips, of Baird, as best man. Her gown of white mousseline was especially becoming to her fresh young beauty.

This loving fulfillment of a childhood's pledge was a fitting crown to an affection that has grown as these fair cousins grew from infancy to girlhood and womanhood.

Then as the happy couple came forward to pledge their solemn vow, their listning loved ones were reminded of: "Love pledged on earth and sealed above.

Grows in the world's approving eyes, In friendship's smile and home's caress Collecting all the heart's sweet ties Into one knot of happiness."

The beautiful bride, the center of an unusually large circle of friends, looked her loveliest in a shimmering gown of softest silk. Fashioned in severe simplicity, it only enhanced her beauty by its lack of ornament. Sweet natural flowers caught up the filmy folds of her bridal veil and others like them composed the bouquet she carried. As we looked into her fair young face, we breathed a prayer that in future years

"One may never see her blooming brow Less young nor fair than it is now: Nay, rather, as the west wind's sigh Freshens the flowers it passes by, May Time's wing but seem in stealing o'er

To leave her lovelier than before." The handsome groom, a perfect picture of true manhood, and his face aglow with the reality of the happiness in store for him, spoke his "I will" in a voice resonant with courage, confidence and protecting love for her who was to double his blessings and divide his cares.

After a shower of good wishes for the bride and earnest congratulations for the groom, they were conducted to places of honor in the dining room. At the close of a joyous hour, the wedding cake was passed, causing much merriment, when Mr. V. Triplett, brother of the bride, "cut the ring" But "Softly falls the foot of time That only treads on flowers."

Train time came all too soon, after hurried leave takings, the bridal party, not escaping the traditional shower of rice, took the 12:20 train for Boston and other points. The bride came to Abilene from Sherman, when only two years of age and has spent her life here, being educated in our public schools and afterwards graduating with honors from the Sam Houston Normal. In youth and young ladyhood, Miss Dell has always been surrounded by many friends who now unite in wishing her a large share of life's choicest blessings.

Mr. Gannon is a graduate of Annapolis, is now ensign in the United States Navy, and with the North Atlantic Squadron with sailing orders for the West Indies. A GUEST.—Abilene Reporter.

Will Play When Cats Are Threshed.

Some time ago the Colorado ball team issued a challenge to the Baird Stars through the Clipper. After giving the Stars a most unmerciful roast the Clipper informed the Stars that a communication addressed to the manager of the Colorado ball team would receive a prompt reply. Manager Wilson, of the Baird team, promptly challenged the Colorados to play for a purse of $250, to be put up by the two teams. Since this nothing has been heard from the Colorado warriors, and judging from the following, Colorado either did not have a ball team or could not raise the dough. The following is taken from the Clipper of last Saturday:

"The baseball editor of the Clipper is not here now and it devolves upon the horse editor to explain the wherefore of the present situation. When the Colorado club challenged the twinkling orbs of Baird the boll worms had not got into our cotton, and we are figuring on a yield of about one bale to the acre. Since the worms have come the prospect has dwindled until we don't know just where we are.

"We are now waiting to see what time Jack Frost will put in his appearance. If he comes late, the cotton crop will still be pretty good, and when we sell our crop we are going to have a try for that $250 run over the Colorado boys by the hot stuff from Baird. Just as soon as we thresh our cats and sell our cotton Baird may expect to hear from us again. Men can't be expected to play ball when their crops are demanding all their time and attention, and that is the situation in Colorado at this writing.

Look Out For Fever.

Biliousness and liver disorders at this season may be prevented by cleansing the system with DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills never gripe. They move the bowels gently, but copiously, and by reason of the tonic properties, give tone and strength to the glands. Sold by Powell & Powell.

CENSUS AGENT.

Capt. J. W. Jones has been appointed local agent for Callahan County by Gen. Merriam, Director of Census. His duty is to visit each gin in the county and obtain a report of the number of bales of cotton ginned this season as to and including Oct. 15th. The object of the government is to procure an accurate report of cotton ginned by each gin and thus make a complete report of the cotton crop for this year. Capt. Jones has instructions to begin work promptly on Monday, Oct. 20th. The information given the special agent is strictly confidential and intended for the use of the government only.

The Worst Form.

Multitudes are singing the praise of Kodol, the new discovery who is making many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals it digests what you eat. Sold by Powell & Powell.
