Local Couple Celebrates 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Jones celebrated their golden wedding anniversary and were honored Thursday evening, Dec. 26, with an open house at their home on East Alameda.

The Joneses have resided in Iowa Park since 1924. He is oil superintendent of the Perkins and Cullum Oil company.

The couple were married Dec. 28, 1907, in the Methodist parsonage at Carlton. They were residents of Olin community in Hammond county, near Carlton. The bride was Miss Florence Eudaly. They lived in Oklahoma and at Petrolia (Tex.) before moving to Iowa Park.

Their three children and families, all of whom were present for the celebration, are:

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Boyd of El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. George Jones of Wichita Falls; Dr. and Mrs. Lowell Spruiell of Laredo. There are seven grandchildren.

During party hours Mrs. O. E. Lochridge received guests. Judy Boyd and Kay Lynn Spruiell, granddaughters, presided at the guest book.

Meedames T. M. Thaxton, Sam Hill and Tommy Thaxton presided at the coffee and punch service. A beautiful 3-tier wedding cake with roses and "50th Anniversary" in gold, was also served from the refreshment table.

Others in the house party were Mmes. R. R. Brubaker, Henry Jones and Sam Jacks. All house party members wore corsages of white and gold.

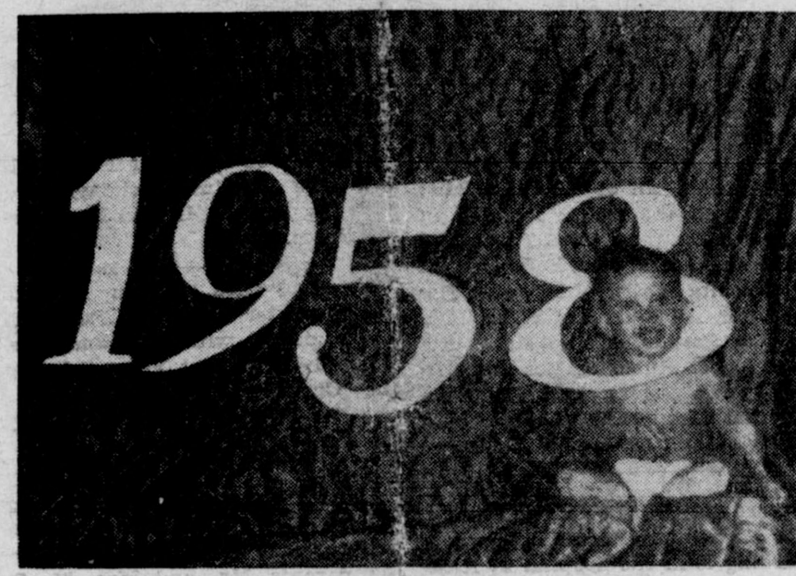

Throughout the party rooms arrangements of large mums and seasonal flowers were used. They were sent by friends, members of the family, and the Baptist church.

MOVED TO LITTLE ROCK
Mrs. Martha McSteen has been transferred to the social security office in Little Rock, Ark., where she has been promoted to claims supervisor. Martha has been in the Wichita Falls district office for several years.

Her mother Mrs. King Abernathy and Miss Frances Park accompanied Mrs. Steen to Little Rock last week to secure an apartment. She will begin work there next Monday.

Mrs. Ancil Baker returned home Sunday after being at the bedside of her mother Mrs. Ola Molder at Harrison, Ark. Mrs. Molder was quite ill but is now improved.

Happy New Year!

Kyle Wayne Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Williams, is not quite half a year old, but he greets the New Year with wide eyed interest.

It is the hope of every member of the Herald staff and of Kyle Wayne's parents that 1958 will not be a disappointment. With strong faith in our neighbors and friends in the Iowa Park community, we look forward to great things here.

The grown-ups will have understanding and interest in the problems of youth, and make development of their characters and personalities a full-time family and community project.

The young people, in turn, will give heed to advice and admonitions of their parents, teachers and spiritual advisers. They will care for their bodies and minds in a way to make us all proud and happy.

The business organizations will continue to serve their customers with quality of products and fairness of price. The patrons will reciprocate by dealing fairly with their local merchants, settling accounts promptly and telling their friends and neighbors about the advantages of trading in Iowa Park.

The civic and cultural clubs of the community will study and attack problems as they arise, not overlooking the fact that they have an important task to do—to set the pattern for Iowa Park's development in every phase of communal life.

The churches will seek the lost sheep and help them tenderly and lovingly to get back on their path and headed toward the ultimate good—the will of God.

For all of these, we pray, and pledge to work toward in our limited, puny way.

Gee Home Fire Is Total Loss

Last Sunday night about 10:00 the E. M. Gee home burned to the ground. Mrs. Gee and the two sons Jackie, 17, and Mike, 8, were awakened and escaped without injury but the family lost everything in clothing and household goods.

The volunteer fire department members answered the call but the fire was too far advanced to save anything.

People of Iowa Park are responding to the call for help for the Gee family to replace clothing and household articles.

Mrs. Gee and the boys have received a good amount of clothing but Mr. Gee needs work clothes. His size is:

Pants—34 in. waist, 32 in. length. Shirt—15½, 32 in. sleeves. Undershirt—42. Shorts—36 - 38.

If anyone would like to donate anything he can call W. C. North at 3281.

Mr. Gee was away from the time of the fire. He had been dismissed from the hospital a few days before the fire. He had fallen 18 feet from a scaffold, and fractured his heel, which required surgery.

It will be about 90 days before he will be able to return to his work with the Cohen Car Salvage in Wichita Falls.

Reflections from the Bible

By Ray Marcum, Minister Iowa Park Church of Christ

We continue with quotes from some great religious leaders concerning the importance of the followers of Christ wearing only the name "Christian."

Dr. Benson continues: "Indeed, we do not believe that practical union could be delayed much beyond such an event. Difference in name is one of the strongest walls of partition between Christian people which have been erected; and as long as it stands, there is bound to be division."

Albert Barnes, the noted Presbyterian commentator, on Acts 11:26 says: "The name was evidently given because they were followers of Christ. That it was given in derision is not probable. It was readily assumed by the apostles. It is the most honored name that can be conferred upon a mortal, a name which rises above every other name. It is a bond to unite in one family all those who love the Lord Jesus."

Joseph Parker, the great English preacher, says: "... by 'Christian' I understand Christ followers, Christ lovers, Christ worshippers, Christ ones. Were we what we ought to be in integrity, in simplicity, and in quality of soul, there would be no nobler designation known amongst men, and no other should be needed. The one name that we ought to have is 'Christian.'"

John Wesley said: "Would God that all party names and unscriptural phrases and forms which have divided the Christian world were forgotten, and that we, as humble, loving disciples, might sit down at the Master's feet, read his holy word, imbibing his spirit, and transcribe his life into our own."

Tests Demonstrate How Seat Belts Save Lives

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

IF YOU'VE EVER WATCHED stock car races, you're familiar with the hair-raising spills and collisions which many of these drivers experience—and then step out of their cars, wave to the crowd—and walk away, unharmed.

Likewise, in accidents affecting modern military aircraft, the personnel frequently walk away with hardly a scratch.

In both cases, the reason why occupants survive these accidents without injury is because they are protected by seat belts which prevent them from being hurled against instrument panels or through windshields.

Last month at Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, N.M., I saw how seat belts can also curb passenger car injuries. (Some estimates indicate that seat belts could prevent more than one million automobile injuries and 20,000 deaths per year.)

More than 100 automotive, medical and safety experts watched simulated car "crashes" at the third annual Automotive Crash and Field Demonstration Conference. The tests, which were conducted by Col. John P. Stapp, Director of Holloman's Aero-Medical Field Laboratory, involved humans, animals and dummies who were catapulted into quick, hydraulic braking stops similar to the impacts of auto collisions. (Col. Stapp has traveled faster on the ground than any other human—nearly 700 miles an hour.)

In one deceleration test, a bear wearing a safety seat belt was subjected to a measured impact equivalent to 25 times the force of gravity. Although the force of the impact threw the bear's head and shoulders forward, he was not thrown from his seat—thanks to the belt.

Air Force doctors, who examined the bear before and after the test, found that he had not been injured, either externally or internally, by the jolt.

In another test, an Air Force captain, restrained by a safety seat belt, went through a similar demonstration without injury. The "crash" in which he participated was equivalent to a car being braked from 17 miles an hour to a stop in six seconds, at a deceleration rate of 27 times the force of gravity.

The impact was similar to a car's head-on crash into a concrete wall at 30 or 35 miles per hour or a side-collision with another car at 50 to 55 miles per hour.

A third test duplicated the one in which the captain participated, except that it was manned by a dummy, without a seat belt. When subjected to the same shocking stop which the captain survived without injury, the unrestrained dummy was thrown 12 feet.

These, and other demonstrations, vividly point up how seat belts can be the solution to our traffic injury problem.

Take It Easy On Ice, Snow

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

"WINTERIZING" your driving habits as well as your automobile is the secret to safe driving on snow and ice.

Here are five important rules for safe winter driving recommended by the Committee on Winter Driving Hazards of the National Safety Council:

1. When pavements are slippery, take it easy while accelerating, braking and turning. Drive at a steady pace and get the "feel" of the road. To find out if the pavement is slick, try your brakes occasionally while driving slowly, away from traffic.
2. On snow or ice, stay well behind the car ahead. To avoid a rear collision, the distance between cars must be considerably greater than when the pavement is dry.
3. If you have to stop suddenly on ice, don't panic and jam or "freeze" on brakes. This may send your car into an uncontrollable skid. The best way to maintain full control of your car during a sudden stop is a fast up and down pumping of the brakes. If the rear starts to swing, release the brakes and steer in the direction of the skid.
4. Keep windshield wipers, heaters and defrosters in good working condition. You must see danger to avoid it.
5. Replace worn or smooth tires. Special snow tires are helpful and, for the worst ice and snow conditions, reinforced tire chains are necessary.

'23 Study Club

"Christmas is the grandest season, full of joy and mirth, gay bells ringing, children singing, 'Peace, good will on earth.'"—Mrs. F. A. Tate.

Further carrying out the imaginary upward movement in the programs of the 23 Study club, members paused at the 13,400-foot point on Mount Ararat (the home of Mrs. Earle Denny) to worship under the Religions of the World department, Christianity division, last Thursday.

Mrs. Lester E. Brooks was leader for the day, and presented Mrs. King Abernathy, who gave a beautiful meditation titled "What Is Christmas?" prepared by Mrs. Noel Troutman, a fellow clubmember.

Roll call was answered with "What Christmas means to me." The Christmas story "If I Had Not Come" was told by Mrs. Homer Thompson, after which the Christmas carols were sung.

The Denny home was artistically arranged to carry the theme of the season. Additional beauties and surprises were in store for guests, when they were led to the basement, where Santa met them at the foot of the stairs. They found a furnished recreation hall complete with tree, and a fireplace with socks in place. In this seasonal fairyland, gifts were exchanged and refreshments served.

Through Dec. 30, contributions from Iowa Park totaled $627.50. While the season for using the seals is past, it is not too late to send in contributions.

ABUNDANT LIFE BY ORAL ROBERTS

HOW TO DEFEAT AN INFERIORITY COMPLEX

According to an old legend a certain Greek city lay under the heel of a cruel king. But the old men of the city kept up the hopes of the people by telling them the story of a man in the rock mountain that looked down on the city. "Some day a conqueror will rise up among our people. He will look like the man in the mountain. He will deliver us."

A little boy believed this story. Each night he would pray to God to make him look like that man in the mountain. One day when he was a grown young man, it came in his heart to deliver these people. The people gathered to hear him speak of the coming liberation. While he spoke the old men cried out, "Look! He looks like the man in the mountain." They followed him to victory.

If you will tell me what you are thinking about most, I will tell you what you are and what you are increasingly becoming. You think about what you believe and in believing there is creative power. That creativeness is dedicated toward bettering or worsening the affairs of life.

Many people suffer from an inferiority complex. That is because they believe they are inferior. They have a sense of inadequacy, of not being able to compete, or be on a par with others. Others feel that their physical ugliness cannot be remedied. But beauty and charm have an intangible quality. They come from inner resources.

Mrs. J. D. said that for years she had felt "quite plain" around her sisters. They were so charming and she felt unattractive.

But one day a friend said, "You are not ugly. And if you will pray for God's help, you can really become the attractive person that you want to be."

And so this young lady began to think and believe positively. She tried to be friendly and thoughtful of others. Right thinking and radiant living was a continuous ambition of her life.

She painted a mental picture of her hopes and continued to affirm them over and over, believing that these would come into being. And, of course, in her prayers she asked God to help her.

These things happened as she wished them. Today she is married, happy and very popular.

Something wonderful can also happen to you. You may be sick, crippled, ugly, afraid or badly worried. But get a faith-image in your heart of what you want to be. Continue to visualize this and tell yourself over and over that through God's help the things you need and desire will happen to you.

Then believe them. If you can't believe too forcibly at first, believe as much as you can. Your faith will grow. And as you keep the image in your heart, that reality will begin to take place in your life. Jesus said, "According to your faith so be it unto you."

How To Make Cycling Safer

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

YOUNG MOTORCYCLE and motor scooter enthusiasts came in for considerable discussion in Michigan recently, but it took a police commissioner to do something about their driving habits.

Police Commissioner Dallas E. Hay, of Livonia, Mich. (population 17,534) proposed that a city sponsored club be organized for the young cyclists of the fast-growing Detroit suburb. The club, known as the Youth Cyclists Club, evolved from a meeting of police chiefs from neighboring communities.

"At the meeting there wasn't a chief present, except myself, who didn't complain about the number of accidents involving cyclists in the 14 to 16 age group," Hay told me. "Livonia hasn't had much trouble with teenage cyclists, but we decided it would be a good thing to get a club going before anything serious did happen."

Membership in the club now totals 30. Commissioner Hay believes it will soon number more than 100 members, all of whom must adhere to three basic rules:

1. Be a safe operator and obey all traffic rules and regulations.
 2. Stunt or trick riding, except during authorized contests, is banned.
 3. Club members must aid any motorist stranded on the road.
- "The club is not being formed to dampen the fun of its members, but just to keep them in line," Hay points out. "The most important benefit I can see from membership is the education of future automobile drivers who will know and instinctively obey traffic laws."
- Hay also believes that the young cyclists could be used as messengers in the event of an emergency.
- If the club is a success, Hay hopes it will be a model for other communities in Michigan and throughout the country.
