CHERYL GAY WESTER
Mr. and Mrs. Sammie Wester announce the birth of a daughter Cheryl Gay, on Friday, June 20. Weight 8 lb. 5 oz. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Wester.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sefcik had as guests last week their son Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sefcik and son Gordon of Denver City, Texas.

Annette Waller, Keith Keeter Wed in Oklahoma Church Rites

Miss Annette Waller and Keith Keeter pledged their nuptial vows in an impressive double ring ceremony, solemnized at 4:00 p.m. Sunday, June 15, in the First Baptist church of Temple, Okla., before a large assembly of relatives and friends, with the pastor Rev. Roy M. Clayton officiating.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Waller of Temple. The bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Keeter of Iowa Park. Pink cathedral tapers were used for the candlelit ceremony read amid a setting of pink gladiolas and jade greenery. The white aisle cloth led up to the white lace covered prieu-dieu on which the couple knelt for the closing prayer.

Miss Janet Hope of Oklahoma City played a prelude of nuptial music and the traditional processional and recessional marches. She accompanied the vocalist Mrs. Charles Elkins of Temple, who sang "When I Fall in Love" and "Because."

The bride's attendants were: maid of honor, Miss Patty McKinney of Midwest City; bridesmaids, Miss Mildred Waller and Miss Sue Wilson of Temple, Miss Lendell Benson of Walters, Okla.; flower girl, Brenda Johnson of Walters; candelighters Karen and Phillip Keeter, sister and brother of the groom.

The attendants' dresses were fashioned of various shades of organdy. They wore picture hats and mits of tulle to match their dresses, and carried imported ivory fans laced with spring tone agapanthus corsages which contrasted with their gowns of coral, green, orchid, yellow, blue and pink.

Joe Stephen Keeter was ring bearer for his brother. David Davis of Denton served as best man. Ushers were Jim Williams and Charles Deitz of Dallas and Jerry Woods of Cedar Hills.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was fashioned of white imported sheer swiss organdy. The floor length dress featured a scalloped neckline, brief cap sleeves, fitted bodice and pale blue satin cummerbund overlaid with organdy and banded with seed pearls.

The back of the flowing skirt had insets repeating the blue satin motif in graduating lengths and finished with stylized bows of blue satin and pearls. Dainty organdy dregs added to her costume. The dress and mits were fashioned as a wedding gift to the bride by a family friend Mrs. Robert Heffler. Her fingertip length veil of illusion cascaded from a seed pearl crown, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias, white pom-poms and agapanthus with a satin shower.

For something old the bride wore a small gold bracelet which originally belonged to her maternal great grandmother, grandmother and mother, and was presented to each in turn on her sixteenth birthday.

Area Pioneer Buried at Electra

William Allen McClure, 60, of Sunshine Hill community, a former resident of Iowa Park, died Sunday night at his home following a heart attack.

Funeral services were conducted in Electra in the First Baptist church with Rev. Loyd Lester in charge. Burial was in the Electra cemetery.

Mr. Allen was an independent oil producer and drilling contractor and was well known here. He married the former Miss Lucille Womack of Iowa Park and they made their home here for several years before moving to Sunshine Hill.

Survivors include his widow; three sons: W. B. and B. M. and W. A. Jr., all of Electra; a daughter Mrs. Shirley Bounds of Wichita Falls; his mother Mrs. Vieda McClure; two brothers: W. D. of Electra and Robert of DeQueen, Ark.; a sister Mrs. Jewell Lytle of Crosbyton; and six grandchildren.

Service Held for Mrs. Young, 40

Funeral services were conducted for Mrs. Lola Bess Young, 40, of Wichita Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Banks of Iowa Park, at 3:00 p.m. Tuesday, June 24 in the Church of Christ here.

Those officiating were Wayne England, minister of Faith Village Church of Christ, where Mrs. Young was a member; Floyd Spivey, minister of the Lincoln Church of Christ and formerly of Iowa Park; and Ray Marcum, minister of the host church. Singers of the Faith Village church sang special music.

Burial was in Highland cemetery under direction of Tanner Funeral Home. Pallbearers were A. B. Burlison, Roy Dickey, Jerry Canafax, Reece Allday, Jim McClendon and Dr. Theron Baber, all of Wichita Falls.

Honorary pallbearers were W. R. Bradford, A. D. Neal, Lynn Hammond, B. L. Bradford of Iowa Park and members of the I-Ye-Ga Camp Fire group, of which Mrs. Young was leader.

Mrs. Young died unexpectedly in a Wichita Falls hospital early Sunday after being admitted Saturday night.

Born Dec. 24, 1917, in Iowa Park, she attended school here and was graduated in 1934. She attended Harding college in Searcy, Ark., and later finished business college in Wichita Falls.

She had resided in Wichita Falls the past 18 years, where she was active in Camp Fire and PTA work in the Ben Milam school. She also did secretarial work for the church.

Survivors are her widower Herbert B. Young; a daughter Linda Ann, both of Wichita Falls; a son Jerry of Norwalk, Calif.; two brothers: Marvin Banks of Mexico and Horace Bank of Iowa Park.

Young and George and Bianton Young, all of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Banks of Lake Dallas; Mrs. Iva May Derryberry and Mrs. Ora Lee Pierson of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davis of Dallas; Mrs. Arthur Wilkerson and Misses Florence Davis and Rosa Lee McMurtry of Denton;

UNCLE DIES AT ATHENS
Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Owens attended the funeral services of his uncle S. L. Loughridge, 94, of Athens. Mr. Loughridge died suddenly at his home Friday, June 20. The funeral was conducted at 2:00 p.m. Saturday in Corsicana. Burial was in the family cemetery.

Lion W. E. Goss presented a program to the Evening Lions club Tuesday on "We Should Know Russia, the Largest Nation in the World."

He told of her climate, mountains, rivers and early history. Russia has had the coldest weather ever recorded.

Goss said: "Since 1945 Russia has been on the aggressive." He also told how that nation feels about the West.

Capt. Goss closed his program with a film "Armed Forces — Screen Report — The Soviet Universe and Its People." He was assisted by Sgt. Al Fluren of Sheppard AFB.

Everett Almond was introduced as a guest of Lion Al Bennett.

Lion E. L. Hartfield offered the invocation.

Bert Van Horn, vice-president, announced installation of officers will be conducted at the next regular meeting, Tuesday, July 8.

Lion R. E. Waters will be delegate of the club to the International convention in Chicago.

J. J. Dausen, dean of the business department of Midwestern university, spoke to members of the Lions club Tuesday on the economy of Wichita county and told of the work of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research maintained by MU.

Dausen said retail sales in 1954 in Wichita county totaled $135,461,000. He noted with surprise that people of the county spent more on automobiles than on food.

The survey also showed the population increase from 1880 to 1957 for the county was caused by the discovery of oil (deep and shallow) and from expansion of Sheppard Air Force Base. He noted an increase by 33.8 per cent from 1940 to 1950, the population going from 73,604 to 98,493.

Housing here has also increased. Most of the houses are 4 rooms and 73 per cent of them are one family units.

Since economics are so closely tied in with government, Dausen also had strong opinions on present day political activity. His most caustic remarks concerned the "Smiling General" and "Slippery Dick" and the current opponent of Senator Ralph Yarborough. He endorsed Yarborough and praised his work in the Senate.

Lion Homer Thompson offered the invocation. Pres. R. B. Faulkner presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Voyles and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brooks will attend the International convention next week in Chicago.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Duren of Malta. She is a 1958 graduate of DeKalb high school.

The groom is a graduate of Roxton high school and is employed at Sheppard AFB in civil service. He has been residing here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Todd on East Washington street.

The newlyweds have established residence in the Seark apartment on North Texowa street here.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robinson are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Linda to Larry Rex Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Christian, all of Iowa Park.

The Randolph Duval Clark Memorial chapel of the Methodist church will be scene of the Aug. 8 ceremony, with Rev. Addison Cutter, pastor, as officiating minister for the 8:00 p.m. nuptials.

Miss Robinson is a spring graduate, having attended Iowa Park High School until her senior year, which was completed by correspondence. She has been employed in Iowa Park the past year.

Larry attended Vernon high school before moving to Iowa Park three years ago and has since been employed in Wichita Falls. He is presently with the Kitto neon sign company of that city.

Five Wichitans Marooned on Lake Iowa Park

A cold front with high winds moved into this area Wednesday morning about 9:30.

Five Wichitans were fishing in a boat on the new City lake and were caught out on the lake by the strong wind and high waves.

They reached the water gate and gage house and tied the boat to it. Then they climbed on top of the 10-foot in diameter concrete spillway to wait for the lake to calm down.

Instead, the wind changed and their boat broke away, leaving the five stranded.

After about three hours, Game Warden Morris Stallcup, while making a routine check of the lake, found them stranded. Their boat had washed up on the rocks near the dam.

Says Stallcup, "When a bad storm comes up, we check the lakes we are near to see that no one is in trouble."

Stallcup phoned the City Hill, Policeman Ross Chapman, Fire Chief Oscar Singleton and City Water Superintendent J. C. Keinringham assisted in the rescue.

Ed Holder, local businessman, took his large boat and life preservers and went to the water gate to bring in the five wet and cold Wichitans. Everyone praised Ed for the fine job he did in handling the boat in such rough waters.

Those stranded were J. C. Kennedy, 52; W. C. Stewart, 42, his wife Mamie and children Phillis, 7, and Mary Ellen, 5.

They were later taken to the Chapman home and given dry clothes.

LETTER TO JOHNSON

In reply to Sen. Lyndon Johnson's request for ideas, thoughts and suggestions from businessmen of our area concerning employment conditions, future outlook on business, foreign problems such as economic aid to other nations, Space Age problems and what we can do to meet the challenge of Communism in a free world, the Chamber of Commerce, after contacting a cross section of business men, sent him the following letter:

June 19, 1958

Dear Senator Johnson:

In this area, although we have suffered because of a cut in oil allowances, construction work has never been so good and a wonderful wheat harvest boosted business also.

Most oil men want to be able to produce more oil, need a market for oil, thereby putting more people back to work, but they DO NOT as a whole favor cutting out all oil imports, but are for tighter federal controls on oil imports, or for raising tariff on foreign oil to equal cost of production here in America.

People here feel that the less we tinker with the economic situation, other than practicing fairness and equal chances for the small businesses, the better off our country will be.

First, all are in favor of balancing the budget. Second, majority are against Social Security raise and increasing tax, because already Social Security, so they say, is in the red because more has been paid out than taken in. Over-taxation of the people and businesses always has led to the downfall of free economy. Third, as for foreign aid, they favor a gradual reduction of foreign aid donations, more foreign aid on an earn-basis.

As for meeting the challenge of communism, a nation strong economically and strong spiritually will defeat communism. Stable, Christian, secure homes make people of character and integrity, which people make a strong nation. The foundation upon which our country was built, that of faith in God, is still the foundation needed to keep it strong.

Keeping interest rates on money for home loans and small businesses within reach of the average persons, will help our area at this time.

Wishing you success in doing your best to represent people of this area in the above suggestions, ideas and thoughts, we remain, Sincerely,
R. Woodall, President
Esther Thornberry, Secretary

Portrait of a Senator: Ralph Yarborough

The picture of Ralph Yarborough most of his supporters hold in mind is of a campaigner — a bouncing, eager, earnest, tireless, handshaking campaigner. And that picture is an accurate key to his character.

Missing from the picture is a knowledge of things he refuses to do in a political race.

For instance, he will not hire high pressure hucksters to direct a campaign. He does not belittle their effect; he knows what they can do, and has the scars to prove it. But patently their job is to corrupt the judgment of the voters; and that, he sees, is evil.

Ralph thinks the candidate himself should go out and see the people—and be seen by them—not cast in a play-actor's role and herded by publicity agents like a movie star on a public appearance tour, but plain, with the people free to ask him, free to tell him, and free to choose. That way government of the people, by the people and for the people, is reality.

So that is how he campaigns. The long road and the dusty way-side, among the people — big or little, rich or poor, friendly or aloof, city or farm—that is Yarborough's way in campaigns. And he loves it.

Yarborough has never been a Don Quixote tilting at windmills. He has been a dedicated man, using all his strength of mind and character in a fight against evil forces at large in the world, the nation and Texas.

In early 1952, with his life re-established after World War II, friends suggested to Ralph he should run for attorney general. He put out feelers among his friends—and as an indirect result, there occurred an apparently casual encounter in the corridors of the state capital which had historic consequences—for it certainly set the shape of Texas for the following half-dozen years, and is certain to go echoing down the years for a spell to come.

One day a man stopped him and told him to stay out of it . . . the next attorney general had already been selected, so it was useless for Yarborough to run.

A simple little conversation — and yet to Yarborough and to increasing numbers of Texans — it was telltale with a great finality.

The scene was the rotunda of the state capitol. The time, six months before the election—long before any aspirant had announced, long before the people knew who might be offered, much less whom they'd choose. The man, of course, was Allan Shivers, a public office holder of 20 years continuous experience in Texas, and at that time governor.

Yarborough understood the man did not speak merely for himself—he spoke in behalf of a group, as a sort of general of a political "Wehrmacht."

The statement had been a quiet one; it simply made it clear (1) a small conspiracy of men were presuming to select the men as well as decide the policies of Texas government long in advance of the people's knowledge, much less consent; (2) they were completely confident they knew what election results would be announced long before the election was held.

To them the elections were just a hollow shell with nothing inside . . . a false front intended to reassure a people who, to them, seemed merely lost in antiquated superstitions.

As the implications sank in on Yarborough, surprise gave way to shock and shock to anger—as had been the case with the American people following Pearl Harbor. In anger, fighting for the ideals of his heritage, he took his fight to the people.

He spent a week touring the state feeling out prospects. And somehow his intended route was known. Wherever he went, civic and business leaders he had felt would support him had received calls a few hours before warning them against helping them.

A corporate executive was "threatened with loss of his job; a merchant was reminded of what would happen if loans to him for carrying inventory were on reconsideration deemed a bad risk; an insurance investor was reminded of what reprisals might result if regulatory bodies were antagonistic.

Yarborough came home and announced—not for attorney general but for governor. "If I'm going to fight an organized machine, a conspiracy against democracy—then I might as well buck the lead dog."

Yarborough went to the people. He told them: (1) Texas government had fallen into the hands of a machine which made laws and revised the rules in ways that handicapped the people; (2) the machine was corrupting democracy and the nation; (3) the machine was financially corrupt—stealing from the public treasury and from the people.

A few years, later history had proved that each of these things he said was the exact truth.

In 1952 almost half a million people voted for Yarborough. He and his opponents were both surprised.

Ralph didn't quit there. He went right on campaigning for the national Democratic candidates. The machine, on the other hand, betrayed the party and threw its weight to the Republican candidate.

In 1954, Yarborough antagonists realized they would have to use every trick to defeat him. And so it was that they prepared and executed a campaign that would have excited the admiration of Aretino, the Venetian blackmailer who is "patron saint" of the public relations profession.

And so it was that Yarborough in 1954 encountered his first taste of the full treatment as designed by the modern fearmakers.

Following the principle that it is foolish to wait for a man to make a mistake before starting the blackmail—because it is just as effective to destroy a man's reputation with false accusations as true ones, as long as the lies are widely spread—the fearmakers gave Ralph a going over that left deep wounds.

In 1954 Yarborough's angered friends wanted him to reply in kind. They wanted an embryo PR man to advise. Yarborough brushed aside his suggestions. They worked up counter-smear sheets; Ralph flatly refused to let them be distributed and had them burned.

He went right on with handshaking and speechmaking. Win, lose or draw, he would conduct his campaign for democracy like a believing democrat.

Defeat by a narrow margin was the result that year.

As 1956 rolled around a flood of letters came pouring in demanding that he run again. A cheerful draftee, he began anew his stumping back and forth across Texas in his old-fashioned style — hand shaking, talking, listening and explaining what was at stake. And more than ever he enjoyed it. He missed the governorship in 1956 by 3,000 votes, but he didn't miss a beat in his steady stumping for democratic victory. As the votes were being counted, he went to work for the party and the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket.

And as a man who had sought office as exponent of a cause, not merely personal ambition, the developments of 1956 brought a deep satisfaction to Yarborough. If his candidacy had lost by a tiny fraction of a per cent, his cause had nevertheless won overwhelmingly.

In 1952 he had warned the people of corruption in state government and in 1954 he had outlined a program of reform. By 1956 the hacks who had denounced him for "mudslinging" in 1952 were campaigning on promises of a clean-up and wholesale reform. The people had heard him and the politicians at least had to give lip-service to the things he advocated.

By 1957 Yarborough's long, earnest and personal campaign had enabled the people to know him—and knowing him to trust him. In every election as more and more came to know him, his vote had grown, in total and percentage-wise. It was obvious that his old-timey, slow-but-sure type of campaign would make him another 3,000 friends before another election.

As the special election of 1957 neared, there was some frenzied maneuvering on the part of the political machine Ralph had challenged. There were several frenzied attempts to change the election code or in some way forestall the inevitable.

As before, the democrats had come and asked him to run. He ran and was elected by a 67,000-vote margin.

Today Yarborough is still a man in the prime of life. He has probably exchanged talk and a handshake with more Texans than any other living man.

With Yarborough going out to meet folks is no pose; it is a genuine and sincere intent. And people respond to him much in the same spirit.

Yarborough is the only man in Texas politics today whose supporters feel strongly enough about him to want to fight for him. People feel instinctively that Ralph is one of them—no sham or hypocrisy or putting-on-airs.

His strength is in the people, and it is in the people that he puts his faith.

Hot Weather Driving Hints

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

A BOILING RADIATOR, overheated engine or flat tire in hot summer traffic can cause your temper to soar as high as the thermometer.

Last summer, a mid-western automobile club received 112,240 road service calls for stalled cars or overheated engines and 61,000 calls for tire troubles. Such exasperating predicaments can be avoided, say AAA officials, by these few simple precautions.

First of all, make sure that the radiator and fan belt are in top working condition. In heavy traffic, drive in high gear as much as possible, not second or low, to prevent overheating the engine.

Check the water level in the radiator and liquid in the battery each time you buy gas. Both evaporate quickly in hot weather.

If the radiator should boil over, pull off the road and wait until the thermometer gauge drops before removing the radiator cap to add water.

Since tire tread wears much faster in hot weather, keep tires inflated to the exact specifications recommended by the manufacturer.

Overheated gasoline may cause a temporary vapor lock in the gasoline line (a condition in which the car acts as if it is out of gas even though the tank may be full).

If this happens, don't waste time and battery power grinding the starter. Let the engine cool a few minutes and then try it. As the engine cools, the vapor lock dissipates. And during the few minutes' wait, your temper will probably cool down a bit, too!

Married 50 Years

If you should see the files of the Archer county court records, this item would appear in 1908: "Issued marriage license to Jim King and Miss Willie Fuller."

Yes, just 50 years ago, June 18, the Jim Kings married and settled in Buffalo Springs. They moved to Archer county in 1932 and went into the grocery business at Dads Corner.

Later they moved to Holliday and went into the grocery business, selling a few years ago to their partner H. S. Pankhurst.

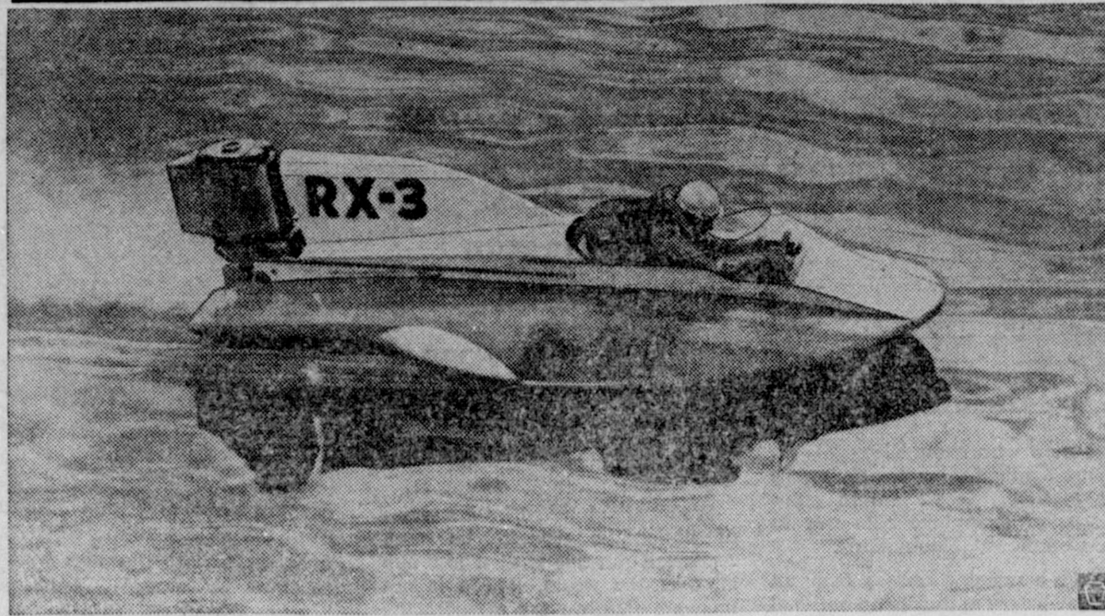

Here to help them celebrate the golden anniversary were their three children and families, and five grandchildren, and two of their three great-grandchildren.

The day was spent at their cabin at Lake Kickapoo. Friday night the honored couple were feted with an ice cream supper on the lawn of their son Mr. and Mrs. Orville King.

They were presented a 400-day clock and complete set of stainless steel silver by their children. The beautiful tiered cake was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller.

Pictures were made at the anniversary celebration, but the one we have was not suitable for reproduction.

NEW WORLD'S SPEED RECORD FOR OUTBOARDS

SEATTLE, WASH. — Skimming across the one kilometer course on Lake Washington here, a specially designed boat powered by a production 60 horsepower Mercury set a new world's speed record for outboards of 107.8 miles per hour. This is the highest speed ever achieved by an outboard-powered boat, and brought the world mark to the United States for the first time since 1937.

Seattle's Hugh Entrop was at the wheel of the highly streamlined craft as it captured the Union of International Motorboating (UIM) Class X Outboard Hydro world mark. Entrop became the first American ever to exceed 100 miles per hour in an outboard. He also broke the old record of 100.3 miles per hour, set in 1956 by Italian Massimo Leto Di Priolo on Idroscalo Lake outside of Milan, Italy. Di Priolo's boat, however, was powered by a specially super-charged 160 horsepower 4 cylinder 4 cycle Leso engine in comparison with Entrop's 59.6 cubic inch 60 horsepower 6 cylinder Mercury. Fastest American time before Entrop was 78.121 miles per hour by Clint Ferguson of Boston in 1933.

Mercury's Mark 75H powered a craft Entrop built from an early design of Ted Jones. It is the competition version of the six-cylinder-in-line outboard which was introduced just two years ago by the Kiekhaefer corporation of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin. Only last December it set a new endurance record when two of the family models each completed a 50,000-mile continuous run in 63 days at an average speed of 30.3 miles per hour as certified by the U.S. Auto Club.

Entrop's record performance culminated six months of effort. The craft went over the water at 100.129 miles per hour on its first run and then came back over the course at a speed of 105.522 for its record average of 107.821. Observed and timed by the American Power Boat Association, the new international record is subject to UIM official certification, the only world sanctioning organization in the marine field.

Commenting on the record, Ted Jones and Mercury president Carl Kiekhaefer said that information gained by this engineering project "would aid in future design of conventional recreational craft for the higher cruising speeds which are inevitable in the near future." They stated that the high speed of the craft and engine confirm design solutions to problems that had not been possible to check at lower speeds.

Bridal Shower

Mrs. Hershell Gullatt was honored with a bridal shower Monday, June 23, in the home of Mrs. N. W. Callaway on North Yosemite. Co-hostesses were Meses. Della Craft, Billy Solomon, Hoy Butcher, Everett Stephenson, Fred Toller, James Yarbrough, John Pennington, W. I. Lynn, Doyle Koonce, James Cates, and Miss Rebecca Callaway.

Mrs. Callaway greeted guests between the hours of 7:30 and 9:00. At the bridesbook, Miss Bonnie Callaway secured signatures.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with spring flowers and greenery.

Mmes. Lynn, Stephenson and Pennington presided at the punch and cake services.

Miss Barbara Jo Stephenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Stephenson, became the bride of Hershell Gullatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pearce, all of Iowa Park, in a double ring ceremony performed at 7:00 p.m. Friday, June 6, in the home of Rev. and Mrs. George Shropshire on West Aldine. Mr. Shropshire directed the exchange of vows, with the parents and Miss Rebecca Callaway present.

The bride is to be a senior in Iowa Park High School this fall. She has been a member of the girls basketball squad and of the school band. At present she is attending summer school in Wichita Falls.

Hershell also attended IPHS and presently is employed with Lone Star Gas company in Wichita Falls.

The newlyweds are making their home in Iowa Park.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis have had as guests recently their son Rev. and Mrs. Harold Lewis and children Debbie and Nova of Chandler, Ariz.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

CHARLIE MET THE MASTER WEAVER

Once I saw one of the most expensive rugs in the world. It was worth more than $50,000.

I picked up a corner of it, turned it over and looked at the other side. The threads were running crazily in every direction. There was no order, beauty or design. Then I flipped it over again; on that side was a beautiful design woven by the hands of a master craftsman.

God's hand is like that. He can pick up a human life that is all mixed up, confused and flowing out in a hundred different directions. He can fit the affairs of our life into something of exquisite beauty.

Charlie C— of Glendale, California, stood looking down upon the slowly moving bosom of the Mississippi River. Just one quick jump over the handrail and the "father of waters" would enfold him in a dark embrace. A few months before, he was heading for the top of his chosen profession—a stock and bond salesman. But suddenly his entire world lay at his feet in ruins. He was left absolutely penniless.

As he stood that day on the bridge he realized that he was a total failure. Now the question—what should he do? Should he jump? It was a way out! But maybe he could find another way.

He walked by a mission on the back side of town. Perhaps this thing called "religion" would help. So he joined the others present in the outward form of worship. When the offering plate was passed, he dropped the last two dollars he had in the plate. Eagerly he waited to see what would happen. Nothing happened. As soon as the service was over, he returned to his apartment. The experiment in religion had failed.

But suddenly it dawned on him that if God had the answer for his life and his problems, he couldn't buy that answer for two dollars or two million dollars. But if he would only believe and have faith, God would give it to him.

He leaped to his feet and rushed out. It was ten o'clock; at the little mission the lights had been turned out. But he shouted to the little group who were still talking out front, "Turn your lights back on. Let's go back into the church. You have a red-hot prospect here!"

The language of the salesman was the only language that he knew. But the preacher understood what he meant. Together they knelt at the altar.

From that moment he was a new man. His attitude toward life was completely changed. He loved God, and he loved all of God's creatures.

Things began to break again for him in the business world—not overnight—but with a steady climb. Today Charlie is an outstanding real estate and building contractor.

He found that when we let the "Master Weaver" take the tangled strands of our lives, the pattern begins to assume a wonderful shape. Suddenly life comes into focus, revealing to us the beauty and steadfastness of God's love.

"Live Better Electrically" Medallions soon will be available for use in this area to identify new homes meeting modern requirements for Better Living Electrically.

Purpose of the Medallion Home Program, a national program recently announced, is to establish standards for "Live Better Electrically" homes, and to provide permanent recognition markers for those homes which meet qualifications announced locally in connection with the national program.

Only newly constructed homes with basic electrical appliances for comfort and convenience . . . homes that meet modern requirements for light-for-living . . . and those equipped with full HOUSEPOWER wiring will qualify for the Medallions. Full details of the Medallion Home Program can be obtained from your builder or from Texas Electric Service Company.

Medallion Identifies Homes Meeting Modern Standards for Electrical Living

When you build or buy, check with your builder or Texas Electric Service Company and see that your home qualifies for the "Live Better Electrically" Medallion. This 3-inch metal medallion, set into the sidewalk, steps or a wall of a home, identifies it as one equipped for Better Living Electrically. It is a national "hallmark of excellence" in electrical living.

Reflections from the Bible

By Ray Marcum, Minister
Iowa Park Church of Christ

Man is the enemy of God until he is reconciled to God. God gave His Son to die on the cross for man, while man was yet the enemy of God. Man has the opportunity of reconciliation but only through the blood of the cross. Many people accept the fact that we are saved by the blood which was shed in His death, thus saved by His death as well as by His blood, and the reconciliation which it accomplished. Can we not also accept the fact that after reconciliation "we are saved by his life"? (Rom. 5:10)

Christ lived a life which offers to man an example of perfection. He was guilty of no sin. He did always the will of the Father. Is not this the way in which he saves us by His life? By showing us what to do and how to do it, he has set us such an example that following it can be saved.

Paul's statement harmonizes perfectly with the statement by James "Ye see then how that by works a man is justified and not by faith only." James 2:24.

Is man justified by his own works? Certainly not! Man is saved by the works that he does in following the example of Christ; the works that he does in obeying the commands of Christ. Herein is the righteousness of God which man is to seek first. Mat. 6:33.

ARE WE LOSING THE COLD WAR?

A man who should know—Sen. Stuart Symington—solemnly warns the Nation that we are in grave danger of losing the cold war to the Communist Bloc nations.

Such a warning coming from an acknowledged authority on national defense carries tremendous weight. It should shock and alert every American. It shocked the Senate into almost a billion dollar increase in the defense budget.

Sen. Symington of Missouri probably knows as much about national defense as any man in Washington. Before being elected to the Senate he was Assistant Secretary of War for Air, and Secretary of the Air Force. He is a member of the Armed Services Committee and the Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee.

When it became known that he planned to address the Senate on national defense, other Senators came to listen and the galleries were packed. His warning, however, needs more emphasis than press reports gave it.

Our Survival Threatened

"If," he said, "we continue to drift as we are drifting, the question of our survival as a great Nation will become as important to us tomorrow as it is to the people of France today."

"We still have the right to choose the way, but if we continue to drift and dream, that choice will not be ours for long."

The greatest threat to our survival in the conflict with communism, Sen. Symington declared, is the smug complacency with which we take for granted that we can win all wars because we never lost one.

We already have suffered a series of diplomatic defeats, he said. American prestige is at a low ebb all over the world. Russia is not unaware that we are experiencing serious economic difficulties.

"Russian military superiority is more than idle boast. Russia alone has 175 divisions that are combat-ready. We are in the process of reducing our Army to 14 divisions, at least 4 of which are largely equipped with World War II weapons," Symington said.

Soviets Are Gaining

"Russia is at least 2 or 3 years ahead of us in missile development, and gaining. She has put into orbit a 3,000-lb. missile, more than 100 times as large as anything we can send up."

"The United States cannot air-lift and properly support over-seas a single division. We would have to depend upon some miracle to transport troops where needed."

"We knew as far back as two years ago that Russia had a modern fleet of some 500 submarines, more than 10 times the number Hitler had. Russia has the capacity to launch missiles from nuclear-powered submarines."

"The facts show clearly and incontrovertibly that the military strength of the Communists is growing faster than our own. The survival of the United States demands that we embark immediately upon an all-out, top-priority research and development effort in the field of new weapons."

Those attending were Mmes. S. T. Buzzard, Rollin Roberts, Gilbert Steele, Juanita Garrison, LeRoy Carter, Grady Henderson, Al Reed, John Barbour, J. W. Cantrell, T. M. Clark, T. W. Blackburn, Forest Bates, Rollins Woodall, Ralph Sisk; Miss Hazel Crites and the honoree.

Former Principal Now Head of VV Schools

James R. Taylor has accepted the position of superintendent of schools in the Valley View Independent School district.

Taylor is a graduate of ETSC and was in the air force three years during World War II.

Mrs. Taylor has accepted a position with the VVHS faculty. A graduate of ETSC, she has 19 years experience in the teaching profession. She has taught in the same schools as her husband plus Ladonia, Randolph, Washington, D.C., and last year in the Graham elementary school.

While the Taylors were on the faculty at Edinburg junior high, they served as exchange teachers to Sussex county, England, and taught in the Boshom school, a secondary county primary and grammar school.

Taylor served as principal of VVHS for four years before accepting a similar position with Bryson high school two years ago. He replaces C. C. Wilkes and expects to move to Valley View the first of July.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are members of the Baptist church.

Park Area club met Wednesday, June 18 at the home of Mrs. Gale Lowrance. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. W. E. Karstetter. Mrs. China B. Smith gave the devotional which was followed by roll call, the question being "Does your kitchen cabinet fit you?"

Mrs. H. B. Jones, council delegate, read the council report.

Mrs. Lowrance gave a lesson on "Kitchen Cabinets."

Mrs. Brooks gave a craft lesson on braiding plastic on coat hangers.

The hostess served refreshments to Mmes. Karstetter, Smith, Jones, Ray Low, Jerry Whitaker and visitors: Mmes. James Mullins, John Clapp sr.; and Carla Weaver, Ysidra Smith, Cindy and Kerry Jeter.
