Mrs. Stegall's Niece Weds Tennessean Man At Church of God

Miss Wanda Ruth Stapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Stapp of Lockney, and Nick Ward of Shelbyville, Tenn., were married Saturday evening, Aug. 6, in the Church of God here, with Johnny Tate, Church of Christ minister from Wichita Falls, directing the exchange of vows.

Mrs. Holmes Stone of Holliday and Mrs. Lemuel Phillips of Burk Burnett, vocalists, and Miss Letha Pennington, pianist, provided music.

The couple stood beneath an arch entwined with greenery flanked by baskets of white gladioli, jade foliage and seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers. Palms were used as background. White candles tied with white satin bows and jade foliage marked the pews.

For the benediction the bride and groom knelt on a white satin covered predieu.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white chintilly lace over satin that was designed with fitted bodice and full gathered ballerina length skirt. The bodice featured a high neckline, Peter Pan collar, long fitted sleeves and covered button trim that extended to the waistline. The fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a halo-type headress which was trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a butterfly bouquet of orchid carnations.

Miss Louise Tomme of Lockney was maid of honor. Her costume was yellow. The bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Stapp of Olney, Miss Wanda Wiggins of Electra and Mrs. Irene Scoggins of Electra. They wore blue. All attendants carried crescent bouquets of yellow carnations.

Jerry Nordhus of SAFB was best man. Troy Dale Stapp of Lockney, Delano Robertson of Iowa Park and Leo Rodgers of Wichita Falls served as ushers and candlelighters.

The bride is a spring graduate of Electra high school and is a niece of Mrs. Roy Stagg of Iowa Park. The groom received his discharge from Sheppard recently and plans to re-enlist in the air force soon.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlor. The refreshment board was covered with white lace over blue. The centerpiece was a heart-shaped arrangement of white asters and a cupid nestled to the side.

The couple left after the reception for a honeymoon in Tennessee.

GRAVESIDE SERVICES HELD FOR G. E. SHAWVER INFANT

Graveside services were held for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Shawver, Wednesday morning in Highland cemetery under direction of Tanner Funeral Home.

Cleo Jones of Wichita Falls, former minister of the Church of Christ here, was in charge.

The infant was born Tuesday morning in a Wichita Falls hospital. He is survived by the parents, three brothers: Charles, Mack and Gene; and a sister Trudy, all of Iowa Park.

Methodist News

The Methodist church is holding a Youth Revival and Activities Week here which is being well attended. Rev. Elden Cole, pastor, and Rev. Jim Manning of Wichita Falls have been the speakers.

The worship services have been held on the church lawn and the adults have attended along with the young people.

All during August the church will conduct Sunday evening services out of doors.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Alvey and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kight had as guests this past week Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Alvey and daughter Sandra Lee of Aurora, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. David Shumake and children Patsy Ann and Raymond Lee of Monument, N.M.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Horine and son Buddy had as guests last week her twin sister and family Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell and children of Odessa.

Covington Attends Coaching School

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Covington were in San Antonio last week where he attended the annual high school coaches association school. Approximately 2000 attended the lectures and demonstrations on football.

They had the pleasure of seeing the all-star football and basketball games.

Outstanding college coaches present to give the coaches pointers were Bud Wilkerson of OU, Sauer of Baylor, Daugherty of Michigan State, and Darrell Royal of Mississippi State.

The wives were well entertained while the coaches attended the lectures. Mrs. Covington appeared on WOAI television, attended teas and other entertainments.

Leon Odom Starts Ministry Here with Church of Christ

Leon Odom has assumed his duties at the Church of Christ here as evangelist, and preached his first sermon last Sunday as the regular minister.

Mr. Odom and family came to Iowa Park from the Page and Cumberland church in Dallas with which he has worked the past five years. He was born in Dallas and finished high school there.

On January 9, 1944, he was married to Miss Dorothy Patterson, daughter of G. W. Patterson, minister of Northside Church of Christ in Weatherford.

The Odoms have two children: David, 7 years, and Ginger, 18 months.

Mr. and Mrs. Odom moved into the church parsonage last week after it had been completely remodeled. He said this week: "This is a friendly town. The members, businessmen and other people have really made us feel welcome."

Mr. Odom invites all our people, members of the Church of Christ or not, to call upon him whenever they need him.

Iowa Park ESA Wins Two State Awards

District VI had its regular meeting at the Lions club building in Decatur on August 7. Epsilon Delta chapter of Decatur was hostess to Epsilon Sigma Alpha members of the district.

A luncheon was served buffet style and all the food was prepared by the Decatur girls. Decorations of yellow daisies mingled in dainty greenery adorned the U-shaped tables with a beautiful arrangement of daisies centering the head table.

Each member was greeted with a corsage of a single daisy attached to her name tag.

Mrs. Eloise James and three high school freshmen presented a musical program.

The meeting was conducted by the new president Imelda Roberts of Abilene. The group was honored to have Jean Beasley, state president from Austin, as a guest. Other guests were two members from District II.

Fifteen chapters of District VI were represented with a total attendance of 55. Iowa ark sent Louise Berry, Mildred Mills, Rayden Brown, Billie McCullough, Evelyn Farris and Louise Clapp.

A report was given by Marjorie Irby, state 2nd vice-president from Fort Worth concerning the state convention held in San Antonio and the international convention in Wichita, Kans.

Four awards were won by District VI at state. Two of these came to Epsilon Eta of Iowa Park.

HE'S A JUNIOR ALREADY!

In 1961 a distinguished young man of 6 years will enter Iowa Park school in the first grade (if his folks think to have his birth recorded and have him inoculated against certain diseases!). He is Sharron Swim's new brother Keith D. Swim jr., born Wednesday, August 3, at 11:41 p.m.

His father happens to be superintendent of schools here and his mother was typing and shorthand teacher here last year.

Congratulations to the Swims!

1st Lt. James Roby, son of Mrs. J. C. Roby of Iowa Park, is with the 5th Air Force stationed in Korea. His brother Capt. Harold Roby is with the communications department there. They are in different outfits but are at the same base and share the same bunkhouse. Their brother Capt. Charles Roby is at Dayton, Ohio, attending Wright-Patterson aeronautical school.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robinson and Linda spent several days last week in Northwest Lodge at Postville Kingdom lake, returning on Wednesday. Mrs. Robinson's mother Mrs. L. E. Davis returned with them for a short visit.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina length dress of white dotted swiss with sweetheart neckline and off-shoulder sleeves. The bodice was embroidered with seed pearls. Her net veil was attached to a white box hat trimmed with pearls.

BILL MILLS WILL SPEAK NEXT SUNDAY MORNING AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Mr. Mills was converted behind prison bars and now he is serving the Lord by going from church to church helping to prevent crime and juvenile delinquency.

His program has been carried into over 3100 churches and is recommended by many pastors in Texas such as Dr. Wallas Basset of Dallas, the sheriff of Dallas County, Bill Decker, and the Attorney General of Texas, George Ben Shepperd, also recommend his message and program. His program is fighting crime, offering Christ as the remedy. He does not glamorize sin but shows how disgraceful it is. He will show a real electric chair, the Red Heifer, or the whipping bat.

I had Brother Bill Mills in the Church at Sentinel and they felt that his program was helpful. Invite others to come and hear him at the 11:00 o'clock worship service next Sunday, August 14.

The way that we will take care of his expenses is by a love offering.

"Light" Snack For Ducks

Coming back from Balesville the other night I noticed a powerful light at Whitey Fisher's Duck Farm. Seemed to be shining out over the water.

I stopped to ask Whitey what went on. He took me down to his pond and pointed out a 200-watt bulb—rigged up on a pole about three feet above the surface. The light was attracting thousands of insects for the ducks to eat.

Seemed kind of odd to me—but Whitey was enthusiastic. "Best idea I ever heard of," he claims. "Keeps the feed bill down—and the bug population, too. Why do you suppose I never thought of it before?"

From where I sit, Whitey's the type who's always ready to pioneer a worth-while new trick. Me, I stick to old methods. Just a case of personal feeling, I guess... like the way you may prefer coffee with meals while I always prefer a traditional glass of beer. Not that I'd claim you're wrong—respect for the other man's opinion is my "guiding light."

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

BY SHIRLEY STUART

I'll risk a sirlon steak against leftover hash that next weekend across the country there will be at least 25 thousand picnic menus identical to the following: hot dogs, hamburgers, mustard, onions, buns, deviled eggs, assorted fruits, plenty of coffee.

By Monday morning 25 thousand homemakers will be wondering how to remove the above menu from more than 100 thousand picnic clothes! To ease the washday job, try taping this chart (or even better and more complete, the Whirlpool washer instruction booklet where the information was obtained) near your washer.

Stain	Whites	Colors
Grease (hot dogs, hamburgers and the like)	Rub with soap and sponge with carbon tetrachloride if necessary.	Sponge with carbon tetrachloride.
Mustard	Wash in hot soapy water and chlorine bleach.	Sponge with wood alcohol.
Egg	Soak in cold water.	Sponge with cold water.
Fruit	Stretch material over a bowl, pour boiling water through stain. If stain remains, bleach with hydrogen peroxide.	Sponge with cool water; apply warm glycerine for several hours.
Coffee	Four boiling water through stain.	Sponge with warm water. Apply warm glycerine.
Grass (not on the menu but bound to sneak in)	Wash in warm suds and rub. If yellow stain remains bleach with hydrogen peroxide.	Wash in lukewarm suds. If necessary, treat with alcohol except on acetate rayon.

You'll note we left common old dirt and mud off the list. Junior doesn't HAVE to know they are a breeze in an automatic washer!

Alexander-Williams Wedding Rites Read In Westover Church

Last Sunday afternoon at 5:00, Miss Betty Jo Alexander, member of the Fannin school faculty of Wichita Falls, became bride of David Charles Williams, Dundee rancher, in an impressive ceremony performed in the Westover Methodist church.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Alexander of Megargel. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Williams of Dundee are parents of the groom.

Rev. R. E. Porter, pastor of the Megargel Methodist church, performed the double-ring rites. Miss Marcia Emsoff of Wichita Falls did the vocal numbers and Mrs. H. A. Talbot of Megargel played the wedding music.

Baskets of white gladioli and cathedral candelabra holding white tapers were arranged with huckleberry foliage for the wedding scene. Candlelighters were Misses Marjorie Hall and Delores Pittman of Wichita Falls.

When given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length dress of white embroidered organdy over taffeta. The colorless yoke of the fitted bodice was edged with seed pearls and extended over the shoulders for brief sleeves. The bodice was outlined with scalloped embroidery and a similar effect was used above the hem of the full skirt. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was caught to a cap of organdy and taffeta embroidered with pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of white stock on a white ribbon belonging to her mother.

The bride was attended by her sister Miss Doris Alexander of Wichita Falls, Kenneth Williams of Dundee was his brother's best man, Lee Allen Arthur of Wichita Falls and Wayne McCloud of Dundee were ushers.

Immediately following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander entertained with a reception at their home. Miss Joline Hall served the cake and Miss Sue Hall the punch. Both are of Westover, Mrs. Alvin Wigington of Wichita Falls, sister of the groom, secured signatures of guests.

After a wedding trip to Wisconsin the couple will make their home in Wichita Falls, where Mrs. Williams will resume teaching duties. A graduate of NTSC, she is a member of the American Association of University Women.

The groom is a graduate of Holiday High School and is a rancher at Dundee. Plans include building a new home on the Williams ranch at Dundee.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Jones are visiting their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Morris Boyd and Judy in El Paso.

The children enjoyed the playground equipment placed in our City Park by the ESA.

Next Monday evening at 7:30 the wives will treat the fireboys to an ice cream and cake supper in the park. This will be the fourth get-together for the firefighters and their wives this year.

Mrs. Stegall Reports Reading Conference Highlights at Sul Ross

Again we Stegalls combined a vacation with professional interests when we were guests of Sul Ross State college at Alpine during the annual conference of Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading.

From 9:15 until 3:30 each day, I attended most interesting and challenging discussions and lectures on all phases of reading—from pre-primer through high school—including such general topics as:

1. The reading program.
2. Meeting individual needs in teaching reading.
3. Fundamental methods of teaching reading.
4. Making gains in reading permanent.

In the afternoon the college museum and swimming pool were opened to our families. Bill and Nancy took daily advantage of these.

In the evenings there were two receptions, a barbecue at Prude's Dude Ranch which also included horseback riding, swimming and group singing, and another barbecue at Kokernot Lodge on the site of a historically famous Indian site.

There was also a post conference tour of Big Bend national park during which we spent one night in the basin of the Chisos mountains at an elevation of over a mile.

From there we went to El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, for a hurried tour before returning home. Recent rains made the entire eight days — and 1900 miles — delightfully pleasant.

The conference was indeed a privilege and a pleasure. One of the two featured speakers was Dr. Guy Bond from the University of Minnesota and head of the child study center there. In June he returned from a world tour, the object of which was a study of educational problems in Europe, Asia and New Zealand.

Other speaker was Miss Gwen Harsman, supervisor of reading in Detroit (Mich.) high schools and supervisor of auditorium in the Detroit elementary and junior high schools.

There were also speakers from Texas and many roundtable discussions of our reading problems and methods of teaching in our schools today.

The book "Why Johnny Can't Read," was, I believe, generally condemned because it, allegedly, does not present a true picture of what is actually being done in our schools in the field of reading. Personally I find much to condemn in the book, but I am glad that it has swept the country. Controversy on any subject makes the opposing sides more alert to their difficulties, and as a rule progress results from the discord.

Miss Harsman, who held me spellbound with her dynamic delivery and her down to earth teaching methods, impressed me tremendously with the statement: "If a teacher does not believe in a certain method of teaching, she will not be successful trying to use that method." When the educational pendulum swung away from phonics a generation ago, some teachers went overboard for sight reading and completely neglected phonics. I believe that the majority of the 300 teachers attending the conference were in favor of using a combination of both methods.

One of the healthiest signs for the promotion of good and effective teaching that I saw at Alpine was presented by the resolutions committee to our group in the last general session. The resolution was to commend all of the administrators who had shown interest and concern in our reading problems by sending many of their teachers to the conference with all or most of their expenses paid by the schools.

From one school came 23 teachers, each with $40 to help defray expenses. I met personally three of these ladies, and seldom have I seen more interested and enthusiastic teachers. Each was bent on taking back interesting and practical methods and ideas that would make their school a better one. It was easy to detect their pardonable pride in their school.

Another healthy sign of the conference was the almost universal emphasis placed upon the teaching of reading in junior and senior high schools. The assumption is that any child with average intelligence can be taught to read well. If a child cannot read at his own grade level, the fault lies at the door of the home, the school, or both!

Parents who read and provide a reading atmosphere and interesting books within the home rarely have a child with a reading problem. The child who has been read to regularly the five years before he enters school is much farther advanced in reading readiness than is the child who knows little of books. In this modern world of distractions, the parents who refuse to allow radio and television to crowd out good books have gone a long way in providing a good setting for their children in reading.

Many homes that can well afford a good home library are completely devoid of this fundamental device for encouraging their children to read.

The school, on the other hand, has its responsibility. If a child has an IQ of 100 and has no physical defects, it is assumed that he can be taught to read well at his own grade level.

If he doesn't read well, it is the teacher's responsibility to take him at his own level and teach him to read by whichever method is most effective for that child. If he can read on a fifth grade level and yet is in the ninth grade, he should be given material on a fifth grade level to read. Who of us teachers or parents could read third year Spanish if we had not first learned first and second year?

If the child has a low IQ, then he can learn just so much and there isn't anything anybody can do about it. Our percentage of poor readers in the higher grades is higher now than was true a generation or so ago for a number of reasons. One reason is that our compulsory school laws compel the youngsters to remain in school.

Once, these same youngsters dropped out of school when the going became rough. Another reason is that in earlier days the youngsters were retained regardless of effort and accomplishment in other fields. Now the general idea seems to be that if a child is working up to his full capacity, he should be promoted on effort and given opportunity to find his niche in a related field. When a child with low IQ works up to his capacity, teachers and parents alike, it is agreed by many, should be content with his efforts.

It is greatly retarded without full co-operation and sympathetic understanding existing between parent and teacher. It is indeed a partnership business. I sincerely believe that in the grades where reading is being taught, our school compares favorably with average schools in Texas. I do believe that we can all do a much better job if parents and teachers will get together on their problems.

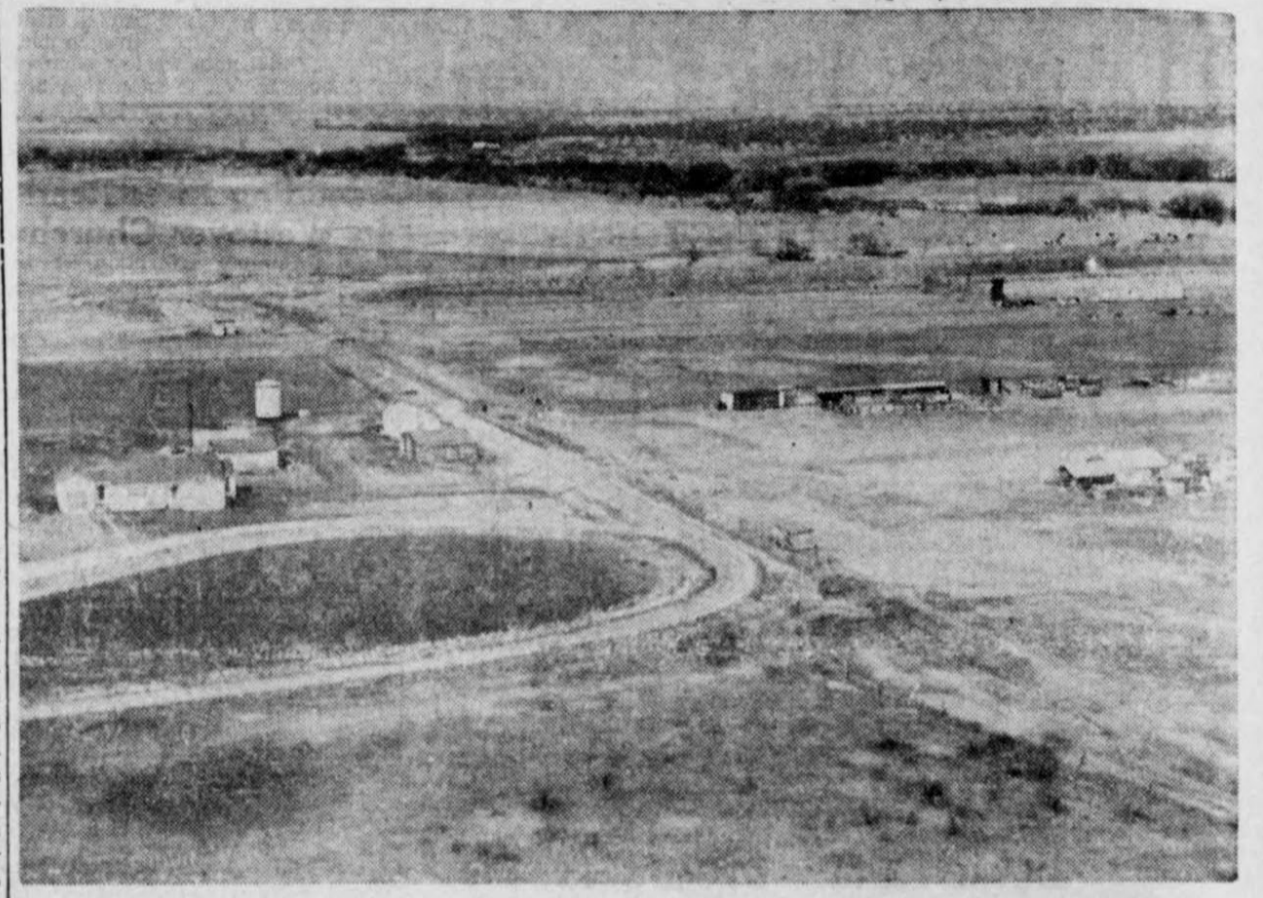

If any of you would like to ask me any further questions about the conference — or even about "Why Johnny Can't Read," I shall be glad to answer them if I can. If I can't I'll attempt to find the answer for you.
