1933 Challenges the Churches

by Dr. Frank D. Adams

Pastor, Unity Church, Oak Park, Ill.

(Following is the first part of a sermon delivered by Frank D. Adams and published in the January 1933 issue of The Christian Century Pulpit. It is printed here to remind the older folk of conditions in America after four depression years under a national administration which could only say "Prosperity is just around the corner"; and to warn the younger folk that the same catastrophe could happen again.—The Editor.)

Nineteen thirty-two! What a year it has been! A year of superlatives, new highs and new lows—albeit the lows involve the greater suffering and present the sternest challenge.

This year has produced one of the most abundant harvests in history. No droughts, no destructive storms over wide areas, no premature frosts to blight and kill. The fields smiled with ripened grain, the gardens overflowed, the orchards and vineyards yielded their increase. The bins are bulging, the farmers are piling their surplus corn upon the ground.

Industry has lagged, to be sure, but there is yet more manufactured goods than the present market can absorb. Plenty of shoes and clothing, plenty of fuel, plenty of food in packages and tins, plenty of raw material waiting to be worked up into things needful for men.

Yet this same year has seen more hunger in our land than ever before since we became a nation. Breadlines have stretched literally for miles in our city streets. Soup kitchens have flourished wherever the wherewithal could be secured. Outdoor relief in staggering volume has been administered by harassed social agencies and departments of welfare. Citizens' committees and church benevolent societies have extended themselves to overtake some of the bitterest need.

But in spite of it all, millions are undernourished, with hundreds of thousands actually suffering from hunger. Cases of actual starvation have occurred all over the land. Families are shivering in unheated rooms, or huddling on the sidewalk beside a few sticks of miserable furniture, victims of an eviction notice. Winter finds multitudes with only the pitiful rags of summer to cover their poor bodies, while children without number have no shoes for their feet.

Twelve million men and women, able and frantic to work, are unemployed, walking the streets in despair or sitting dully in homes without heat or light. Why seek for work where there is none? And this vast army of enforced idlers is being recruited day by day as winter settles down over the land. Those who know are not misled by specious reports of pick-ups in industry. Thousands who have been able to battle through for the last three bleak years are now at the end of their resources. Homes are lost, savings are gone, furniture and bits of personal property have been sold piece by piece until nothing is left. So these brave fighters are at last compelled to throw themselves on public charity if they and their children are not to perish.

Poverty in the Midst of Plenty

Meantime the land groans with plenty. Granaries are full of wheat, while children cry for bread. Corn rots on the ground or is used for fuel by farmers who can find no market for it, while millions of cupboards are empty. Fruit has fallen neglected from the trees and potatoes decay in the earth because it does not pay to gather and dig them. Bales of cotton lie on the wharves and at railroad stations because the people are not able to buy clothing. Miles and miles of empty freight-cars are rusting on sidings—because there is so much food and raw material to be hauled from producer to consumer! Railroads are going into bankruptcy—because of an unprecedented tonnage of freight waiting to be transported!

And the end is not yet. The coming weeks of winter will bring a need more appalling and a situation more baffling than anything we have yet had to face.

The inevitable accompaniments of this paradoxical situation have not been lacking. The last few months have seen the downfall of mighty business houses and the humiliation of countless captains of industry. Bankruptcies, assignments, receiverships, foreclosures—what a staggering list! Banks by the hundreds have closed their doors, crumpling like a house of cards in a storm, wiping out the life-savings of millions of their trusting patrons. Business that has managed to survive is mostly being done in "the red." Men cannot pay taxes on property which has lost its value or power to produce a revenue; so municipalities are bankrupt and schools are hampered for lack of funds. Even churches are piling up staggering deficits in spite of budgets cut to the bone, while every orphanage and charitable institution in the land faces the threat of ultimate extinction.

So it is not surprising that the recent election was also a record-breaker. The greatest popular majority and the greatest electoral vote since our present political system became established was rolled up for the new President-elect.

Can We Be Thankful?

It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that the President of the United States, in the past year of grace, did not really issue a proclamation of Thanksgiving. Perhaps he did not have the courage. Maybe he was restrained by a grim sense of humor. At any rate, Mr. Hoover contented himself with quoting a proclamation issued by George Washington nearly a century and a half ago. A mute yet eloquent commentary on the times upon which we have lately fallen!

(Space does not permit publication of the entire sermon at this time. Maybe we can finish it later if there is demand.)

BANQUET PLANS
The annual All-Town Banquet plans are just about complete — Speaker Reagan Brown, rural sociologist with the Agricultural Extension Service, has assured us he is looking forward to being here.

The C of C will have a helping hand in developing Iowa Park only if every citizen speaks up for improvement, and then takes an active part to see those improvements materialize. Soon it will be election time for eight new directors and officers. If it is your turn to give leadership in one of these offices for development of your own hometown, which also means dividends for your business, your time will be well spent.

Eagle Scouts

Boy Scout Court of Honor will be held at 8:00 next Monday night in the Christian church.

Drew Sawyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sawyer, and David Vestal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vestal, will be presented Eagle badges. The Eagle rank is the highest honor that can be achieved in scouting.
Other advancement and achievement will be recognized.
Refreshments will be served and everyone is invited.

Soil Conservation

W. F. Harlin of Iowa Park has 21 acres of NK 37 bermudagrass, according to Elvy Sargent, soil conservationist with Wilbarger-Wichita SCD.

NK 37 is an improved grass that can be established by seeding. Mr. Harlin got a good stand and cattle have grazed it freely. Production as compared with coastal bermuda isn't known for this area, Sargent said. One observation has been that it made fewer runners than coastal this year. Winter hardness and quantity of production will be checked.

Harlin also has a trial seeding of winter hardy Rhodesgrass, a salt tolerant grass which makes good growth and which cattle like. Winter hardness for this area is yet to be proved.

W. E. Karstetter of Iowa Park has completed 12 miles of terrace and is fertilizing 80 acres of wheat. He has some check plots to determine results under various rates of fertilizer application.

Walter Peters of Electra has seeded 20 acres of alfalfa. C. E. Jones of Iowa Park has leveled about 7 acres of land. V. I. Sells of Electra has good land protection from stubble mulching.

KEVIN MICHAEL ECHOLS

Iowa Park has a new lumberman in town. He made his appearance Sat., Oct. 15, at Bethania hospital.

Kevin Michael Echols weighed 6 lb. 15 oz. and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Echols.
His daddy is manager of Gary-Nees Lumber company in Iowa Park.

Our congratulations to Royce and Velda and Kevin Michael.

School Board Asks $365,000 Bond Vote

Iowa Park Independent school board has called for a $365,000 bond issue, to be voted on next Tuesday from 8:00 a.m. till 7:00 p.m. in the high school building.

Judges will be Fred Parkey and Curtis Sewell. Clerks will be Mrs. R. R. Brubaker and Mrs. E. E. Wallis.

To qualify to vote in the election a person must have resided in the school district 30 days, in the county six months and in the state one year; must own property rendered for taxation, and must hold a poll tax receipt or be exempt from poll taxes.

The bonds will be paid off in 20 years. They will be sold to finance construction of a new wing for the Ethyle Kidwell elementary school and later for construction of another building as growth of enrollment demands.

Approximately $75,000 will be used for the new wing, along with $37,500 in federal funds received on the per cent of students of Sheppard AFB personnel who attend the Iowa Park schools.

70 to 80 bonds will be sold to finance this addition, while the remaining bonds will be held in reserve. Present bonded indebtedness of the school district is about $312,000.

Sealed bids for this work will be accepted from contractors until Nov. 21, when the contract is expected to be let.

Each of the seven classrooms will be 28 feet by 32 feet. Plans have been approved by the state and are now in the state health department office in Austin for approval.

The new wing will be completed in time for the 1961-62 school year. Elementary classes will also be maintained at the old school site.

School officials are anxious to have all qualified voters take part in the bond election.

10TH ANNIVERSARY TRICK OR TREAT FOR

FOR UNICEF

1960 A REALLY SPECIAL HALLOWEEN FOR THE WORLD'S CHILDREN

This year Halloween in Iowa Park and in thousands of other communities in the United States has been given new meaning. No longer do little ghosts and goblins ring your doorbell, call out "Trick or Treat" and ask for candy and cookies.

This year many children and youth will call out "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" and ask for your pennies, nickels and dimes to aid UNICEF.

United Nations Children's Fund last year gave 55 million mothers and children the most precious gift it is possible to give—the desire to live, and the means of achieving it, by medical treatment to cure their ills and by providing proper food to start them on the road to health.

It does not take a large sum of money to help those less fortunate than we. What we consider pocket change can mean a great deal to needy children of the world.

1c provides the vaccine to protect a child against tuberculosis
2c provides 10 glasses of milk
5c provides enough penicillin to cure one case of yaws
$1 provides sulfone tablets needed to treat a young leper successfully for three YEARS
Plans for the local UNICEF drive are being made by United Youth of Iowa Park under leadership of Miss Linda Helms. Members of this interdenominational organization believe that with the co-operation of all citizens here, we will surpass the $150 raised last year.

First Christian church has been designated headquarters for the UNICEF drive this year. At 7:30 p.m., Oct. 31, have your children come there and if possible you come with them. We need all the drivers we can get so a greater number of homes will be canvassed that night.

At the headquarters you will receive official UNICEF containers and after the children finish their part in the drive all of them are invited to a party at the church, complete with games, costumes and refreshments.

The drive will last from 7:30 to 9:30. At the end of that time, if no one has called or if you still have money left to contribute, call the Christian church and someone will come immediately for it.

When the children of our community ring your doorbell and call out "Trick or Treat for UNICEF," help them share their Halloween fun with millions of needy children — open your door and your heart.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

YOU CAN CHANGE THE WORLD

From the moment Christ was born, the earth was changed. In a short time news of His birth spread. Shepherds abandoned their flocks to come to His birthplace. Wise men traveled for days across desert sands, following His star.

And thirty years later, when Jesus began His ministry, the world was changed again. His tradition-breaking doctrine of a loving Father who is concerned about His children swept across the nations like a burning fire across a prairie. The words and teachings of Christ were burned indelibly on the minds of a group of people who believed in Him. These words and teachings have been recorded and passed on to us today.

Who can count the millions of people who have been illumined and lifted by them?

Christ is not the only individual whose life has made a lasting mark on society. Many other men, by their personal lives, have shared the destiny of mankind. But unlike Christ, their influence was not always for the best.

Alexander the Great will never be forgotten because of his conquering armies which swept over the world. Napoleon had such great power that all the nations of the world trembled before him. Hitler so cruelly made his mark that the wounds have not healed to this day. The lives of these men testify to the power of single individuals.

You and I, working with Christ, can change the world. Even as He brought healing, love, understanding, and freedom from the chains of sin and tradition, we can change the world we live in today for the better.

Christ said to His followers: "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do. . . ."

Perhaps you have thought that what you do has no effect on the world, but your actions and attitudes are important. What you do affects your community, your church, your town, your social contacts and, above all, your family. You have a personal contribution to make—a important one. It could win the world for Christ.

As you use your actions and influences to work for the Kingdom of God, an amazing thing will happen to you. You will experience abundant life.

You can change the world!

Lions entertained a large delegation of visiting Wichita Falls Lions at their luncheon meeting Tuesday. Invocation was offered by Claude McDonald. D. O. James acted as tall twister in the absence of Ben Hildebrand.

Taylor George introduced guests: Jim Robinson, Pop Work, Paul Pond, C. L. Murph, Bob Cole, Walter Coleman, Monroe Levrets and Noel L. (Tiny) Goding. Tiny expressed appreciation of the group for the hospitality and good food.

C. L. Vaughn, high school band director and member of the Wichita Falls Symphony orchestra, told Lions of that outstanding musical organization which opens the season this Saturday with a concert for which Benny Goodman will appear as guest artist.

There will be five concerts this season. Tickets are sold only on a seasonal and may be had from Vaughn or Mrs. James Sewell.

Keith Swim spoke briefly on the coming bond election. More details of the proposition are found in the bond election story in this issue of the Herald.

Mrs. Esther Thornberry and Mrs. Joe Singer provided luncheon music for the club meeting.

This week on Wed. Oct. 19 the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers celebrated its 51st birthday. In 1909 the PTA was founded to promote the welfare of children in home, school, church and community.

Hundreds of millions of men and women have united to carry on the PTA program since the first meeting. Mrs. T. W. Whaley, state president, said in her September message to the members: "Let PTA's throughout the land lend a helping heart, hand and head wherever and whenever needed."

Mrs. James C. Parker of Grand Rapids, Mich., national president, declared: "There is need for all, room for all, and a pledge that all will find opportunities to strengthen the home, source of our nation's greatness."

Texas is third among the states in membership, exceeded only by California and Ohio. Membership now stands at 720,792. There are 2784 local units in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Marquart sr. visited last weekend in Houston with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Marquart jr.

Q—We're thinking of buying a big, old house for our expanding family. We've found one that's a good buy and seems structurally sound, but the roof looks pretty old and worn. How can I tell if it's still sound?

A—A fairly good rule of thumb to follow is that if a roof looks in bad shape, it probably is. A practical way to find out is to wait for a rainy day and go into the attic with a flashlight. Look for tell-tale damp spots (darker areas) on rafters and on the underside of the roof deck. If you find these, or see any pinpoints of light, it's probable that the roof leaks and a new one is in order. This doesn't mean you should give up the house if it's a good buy otherwise. A new roof of asphalt shingles can be applied directly over the old roofing material, and probably will cost a lot less than you think. You'll also have the advantage of years of protection from weather, a fresh new look for the house, and greater resale value.

THE EYES OF PLANT-SITE CHOOSERS ARE UPON The Opportunity Frontier OF TEXAS

SHE'S ONE IN A MILLION IN
The Opportunity Frontier
OF TEXAS

In fact, she's one of the 1,127,650 citizens served by the Texas Electric Service Company in THE OPPORTUNITY FRONTIER OF TEXAS—America's most exciting growth market today.

Here is a land rich in resources. The area's more than $1-billion annual production of oil and natural gas brings basic prosperity. Cattle ranches, cotton and chemicals, gypsum and grain sorghum, packing and canning, automotive, aircraft and electronics—all contribute to the growth future of THE OPPORTUNITY FRONTIER, much of which is served by Texas Electric Service Company.

But the greatest asset of all is the area-building Texans with their energy and buying power. Within the past 20 years, population in our service area has tripled. And there's room for a lot more. Economic progress has been equally impressive. For example, in the past 12 years retail sales in the area have nearly doubled.

Genial climate, rich soil, mineral wealth—THE OPPORTUNITY FRONTIER OF TEXAS has these natural advantages—plus water, excellent transportation, and a cooperative, friendly Texas attitude toward industry.

If reaching a growing market is in your future plans, consider a site for a new plant, warehouse or branch office in THE OPPORTUNITY FRONTIER OF TEXAS.

Rugged Roofing Has Many Roles In Construction

Asphalt roofing products are designed primarily for roofing but they have become among the most versatile building materials available today. Chiefly, this is because asphalt is the best waterproofing agent known. Asphalt roofing products also are pliable as well as tough and long-lasting.

Here are just a few of the non-roofing uses for these asphalt products: Asphalt roll roofing makes an attractive garden walk, and is effective as a lining for swimming pools and gutters. Farmers often use it as temporary flooring for livestock shelters, and to construct temporary grain cribs.

Asphalt-saturated felt, designed as underlayment for roofs, is used widely between sheathing and exterior siding on all kinds of structures, and is an effective ground cover in crawl spaces, keeping moisture in the ground and out of the house.

In roofing, there's an asphalt product to fit every possible need. Asphalt shingles provide color and soft-textured richness for homes. They are available in wind-resistant applications, and are fire-resistant. Asphalt roll roofing is ideal for farm buildings and many industrial structures. Built-up asphalt roofing is used for most flat-roofed structures.

Don't Waste Time Repairing Old Roof

It's foolish to try to repair an old, weather-worn roof, says Andrew C. Lang, author of many books for the home handyman. Research has shown, says Lang, that walking on an old roof to make spot repairs here and there only opens up new leaks. "Before long, you have more leaks than you started with."

A new roof of asphalt shingles costs less today than most homeowners think and can be financed under an FHA Title I home improvement loan because it adds value to any house.

Aging Roof Invites Woe Into House

Here's a tip for owners of homes ten years old or older: a house is only as sound as its roof.

A house may have solid foundations and sturdy walls and floors, but if the roof has begun to wear out or look shabby, beware! Rain, or melting snow and ice seeping through a leaky roof can seriously damage walls, floors and ceilings. Clothing and furniture may mildew or be badly water-damaged.

A leaky roof also may lead to a serious fire. Leaking water can seep into electrical wiring, causing dangerous short circuits. A new roof on an old house adds beauty as well as many years of protection from weather. Asphalt shingles are an especially good choice for re-roofing, for several reasons:

1. They can be applied directly over most old roofing materials, with resulting savings in time and money. The mess of removing old roofing is avoided, and the house and contents are protected in case bad weather strikes while the job's being done.

2. Asphalt shingles are available in many colors, from white to black, with many pastels, deeper tones, and blended colors in between. White and pastel asphalt shingles are popular with modern architecture. Deep-toned asphalt shingles go well with traditional architecture and help make a tall house look lower and longer.

3. Asphalt shingles provide a roof that is free of harsh glare. Millions of rock granules embedded in the surface of the asphalt diffuse sunlight, giving the roof a rich, soft texture that resists weather like granite.

4. Asphalt shingles are low in applied cost. Any qualified roofer can apply them quickly and efficiently without waste or trouble.

5. Many years of actual use, plus laboratory research, have proved that asphalt shingles are weatherproof and durable. Scientific studies lead to continuing improvements in materials and manufacturing methods.

6. Asphalt shingles are fire resistant. Flying sparks and fire brands burn out harmlessly on the protective rock granules.

Caused 62,000 Fires in 10 Years

Homes With Flammable Roofing Endangered By Flying Sparks

Flying sparks on roofs caused more than 62,000 serious fires in the U.S. in the five-year period of 1955-59, resulting in a total of nearly $40,000,000 damages. The National Fire Protection Association, in compiling the above figures, says the worst tragedy of these fires is that practically all of them could have been prevented with fire-resistant roofing material. The real danger of flying sparks is that they come from so many sources common to every neighborhood and community—a neighbor's trash burner, a brush fire, incinerators, fireplaces, fire in a nearby home, a defective furnace, and many others.

Sparks from an incinerator ignited the flammable roofing on this historic home in Bloomfield, Conn. Only quick action by firemen prevented flames from destroying the $50,000, pre-Revolution structure, a gun mill in the early 18th century.

Firemen Puzzled
Firemen who have fought roof fires never can understand why homeowners are willing to gamble with combustible roofs when fire-resistant roofing—such as asphalt shingles—is so readily available.

Asphalt shingles get additional fire-resistant qualities from millions of rock granules embedded in the surface of the waterproof asphalt. These tough granules make sparks and flaming brands harmless to the roof and the rest of the house.

Unlike other types of fire-resistant roofing, asphalt shingles can be applied quickly and efficiently by roofers everywhere, resulting in low application costs. They also can be applied directly over old roofing. This saves the mess and extra labor of removing the old material, and provides a measure of protection in case of rain while the new roof is being applied.

Insurance Costs Less
Of further importance to the homeowner is the fact that fire insurance premiums may be lower on houses with asphalt shingle roofs than on homes roofed with flammable materials.

Another home-building material that helps make a house more resistant to fire is mineral wool insulation. This efficient insulation is made from molten glass or slag spun into millions of fireproof fibers.

Installed Easily
Properly installed in walls, ceilings, and floors of a home, mineral wool not only provides more year-around comfort and heating economy, but acts as a fire block, preventing flames from burning through from one surface to another, and keeping the fire from shooting up through wall spaces.

Fireproof mineral wool can be installed in walls, ceilings, and floors of existing homes through a special pneumatic process that forces insulation into cracks, corners, and around wires and pipes. In new homes, batts or blankets of mineral wool generally are installed during construction.

The National Fire Protection Association points out that most home fires are avoidable through such things as fire-resistant building materials, regular clean-up of basements, attics, and garages, and an awareness by all members of the family of the hazards of fire.

MATURE VISION AND ITS CARE

Few people pass the age of 50 without experiencing some changes in vision. The most common of these is "presbyopia" — or the inability to focus on close work. This can be easily corrected by seeing your optometrist about bifocals.

The American Optometric Association has drawn up a few rules for the bifocal wearer who is unaccustomed to the new lenses: Wear them continually for the first week, try to move your paper or book rather than your head while reading, and see your doctor about any irregularities you notice.

Another vision change that takes place requires more light to see properly. Try increasing your 75 watt bulb to 100, avoid night driving on poorly lit roads when possible; or reduce your usual speed. Make sure your windshield is always clean.

Give S & H Green Stamps

Baxter Cleaners will close each Saturday at 1 p.m.

The nearly four million projects completed by 2,300,000 4-H Club boys and girls in a single year is further proof that the "learn by doing" system is keeping young minds and hands busy. As a matter of fact, youth specialists say that the hundred or so categories of 4-H projects are the very backbone of the organization which has grown steadily for more than a half century.

During the past three decades the number of girls enrolled in 4-H has topped the boys in just about the same proportion, according to figures supplied by the USDA. There are presently some 300,000 more girls than boys in club work. Ages range from 10 to 21 years.

Originally planned to help farm youngsters, the voluntary educational program now claims nearly half its membership from city and non-farm rural homes. Apparently "pride of accomplishment" is a key factor in the success of this particular brand of youth organization.

Right from the very beginning of 4-H, interested parties have donated awards in recognition of top performance in citizenship, leadership and project achievement. This fall more than a thousand expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago will be given to state, sectional and national 4-H award winners. In addition about 200 teenagers will receive college scholarships, and one out of 15 members will win medals in local competition.

Six persons now engaged in Extension work and who are former 4-H'ers will share $18,000 in educational grants to be used in graduate study.

Business firms that sponsor programs and awards include: Ford Motors, achievement; Olin Mathieson Chemical, alumni recognition; E. I. du Pont de Nemours, beef; Standard Brands, bread demonstration; Oliver, dairy; Carnation, dairy foods demonstration; Simplicity Pattern, dress review; Hercules Powder, entomology; Arcadian Products Dept. of Allied Chemical, field crops; Betty Crocker of General Mills, food preparation.

Also, American Forest Products Industries, forestry; Whirlpool, frozen foods; Eli Lilly, health; John Deere, recreation; Moorman Mfg. Co., Singer Sewing Machine, clothing leader training; Wm. Wrigley Jr., community relations; Ralston Purina, dog care and training; Pure Oil, public speaking; Chicago Board of Trade, grain marketing.

College scholarships and fellowships in amounts from $800 to $2000 each are provided by: California Spray-Chemical, Homelite Division of Textron, Sperry and Hutchinson, Massey-Ferguson and the National 4-H Service Committee.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Gene Brusenhan, Manager

FIRST PHONE CALL VIA SATELLITE!

The day isn't too far off when you and your family, relaxing in your home right here in Iowa Park, may watch a royal wedding in Europe or a tennis match in Australia by live television. Or you may place a call to Singapore or Calcutta—by way of man-made satellites thousands of miles in the sky.

These things were only dreams a few years ago. Now they are much closer to reality, all because of "Project Echo." It was the first successful attempt to "bounce" a voice off a satellite.

Perhaps you've seen the silvery "Echo" satellite orbiting the earth. To think of "bouncing" a phone call off it staggers the imagination. But that's what happened when a Bell Telephone Laboratories engineer in New Jersey talked by way of outer space with an engineer in California. They said they could hear each other as clearly as if they were talking across town.

Project Echo relied heavily on telephone science and technology. Bell Laboratories scientists not only participated in the first test of voice communications via satellite, but Bell Labs provided the guidance system that directed the satellite into its selected orbit.

This test opens a new era of worldwide communications. The Bell System has already proposed a plan for using satellites as relay stations to carry telephone calls and television programs throughout the world.

HOW TO "HOLD THE PHONE"

You and your family may be among the many that believe the color wall phone is the handiest thing in your kitchen.

You probably realize how it brightens up the room and saves you time and steps. You probably like the way it saves space—doesn't take up valuable room on a kitchen counter or table.

But did you know there is a handy way to keep the receiver from dangling if you are called away from the phone for a minute?

A number of people have told me they were surprised to learn they can hook the receiver over a notch on the top of their color wall phones until they return to the phone. The illustration shows how it works.

I thought you might be interested in hearing about this added convenience of wall phones in color.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Over the Spillway

This area has received its share of rain during the past week.

Last Thursday night we received almost an inch of rain. Then Saturday night it rained four inches north of town. Also some hail was reported.

Rains fell again Monday and by Tuesday morning we had experienced another nearly four inches of precipitation.

Highways to Electra and to Wichita Falls were covered with water and most of the traffic stopped.

By 2:30 p.m. Buffalo Creek had started to leave its banks, and by early Wednesday in some places it had risen higher than since 1941. Traffic was halted on Kamay road.

The Wichita river is causing some damage in the lowlands.

Virgil Woodfin reports from the experiment station the rains have caused erosion to many fields in this area, as well as damage to unpicked cotton, alfalfa fields and wheat crops.

Lake Iowa Park rose about four feet and water was escaping in the spillway. The old city lake also caught a great amount of water.

During the high water several families were waterbound but no damage has been reported to the homes.

A cool front moved in Wednesday and temperatures dipped into the 30's, but Thursday is a clear, warm day.

Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Warner are in Dallas this weekend. Dr. Warner is attending a chiropractic seminar put on at the Baker hotel by the Texas Chiropractic college. While in Dallas the Warners will attend the fair.

Coordinated Color Scheme Newest Look for Homes

Carefully-coordinated color scheme adds beauty and distinction to this Hawaiian ranch-style home in Southern California. The basic color, beige, predominates on sidewalls, 1. The roof of asphalt shingles is a rich black, 2, that sets off the beige as well as the olive-green trim, siding, and garage door, 3. The accent color is a muted yellow on the entrance door, 4, and fascia.

Brighter, more attractive homes inside and out are resulting today from a growing color trend—the coordinated color look.

Lee Childress, New York color counselor, advises families building, buying or remodeling a house to start by deciding on one color scheme for the entire house, interior and exterior.

"By taking plenty of time to choose a single basic color plan for everything from asphalt shingles to kitchen utensils before buying one thing, you'll save shopping time and avoid expensive mistakes," she points out.

First, pick a basic color that pleases the whole family, then choose a second and a third color that are compatible with the theme color as well as with the family's taste.

If beige, for instance, is the theme color, the second might be green, and the third, yellow. Beige could be used on the siding and garage doors; green asphalt shingles on the roof, and yellow on the entrance door and shutters.

Inside the house, variations of the three basic colors will add interest and variety without creating a hodge-podge.

Color serves many purposes, Miss Childress says. Take the roof, for example. A roof of white or pastel asphalt shingles will make a low house look higher. Deeper colors will make it appear lower and longer. Black and other dark asphalt shingles go well with traditional houses; white and pastels, with contemporary architecture.

"Whatever the family's color preferences—warm or cool colors, strong or subdued—start with a scheme, not a sofa," warns Miss Childress. "And remember," she adds, "an asphalt shingle roof will last for years, so be sure it's a color you all like as well as one that will harmonize with the other colors you choose."

MIND READER?

Sometimes we wish we were when it comes to deciphering the signature on a check. Not only is it time-consuming but it ties up elaborate bookkeeping equipment with always the possibility of error.

We would surely appreciate it if folks would take the time to make their signatures more legible. We know, too, that the girls in the bookkeeping department would be eternally grateful.
